CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS MAY BE TAKEN OVER FORGED NAME ON SCHOOL DISTRICT WARRANT

STATE CLERK IS REMOVED FROM OFFICE

Robert C. Pickit, Clerk of Investment Board, Is Discharged.

Admits Other "Irregularities" Connected With State School Loans.

Amount of Forged Warrant Paid By State Treasurer Smith.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—As the result of the discovery of a forged indorsement on a warrant for $18,000 in favor of the treasurer of School District No. 46 of Aitkin county, Robert C. Pickit, clerk of the state board of investment, has been removed from office by State Auditor Preus, and the matter has been laid before County Attorney O'Brien of Ramsey county to begin criminal proceedings, if he finds that such action should be taken.

The school district voted to issue a 4 per cent bond for $18,000 last spring for sale to the state investment board. There was opposition to this action, and the district court issued an injunction restraining the school board from using the proceeds of the loan. An appeal was taken to the supreme court, which dissolved the injunction last Wednesday. Then the school authorities applied to the state auditor for the money, and were told a warrant for $18,000 had been issued to the district.

Indorsement Forged.

Investigation showed that Pickit had drawn the warrant and presented it to Deputy State Auditor Brown, who had executed it. Subsequently the name of the school treasurer had been forged as payee and the warrant cashed. Pickit said State Treasurer Walter J. Smith had the money, and State Auditor Preus made a demand on the latter for the $18,000. Mr. Smith gave his personal check last Thursday for the amount, but there were not sufficient funds in the bank on which it was drawn. Deputy Attorney General Stevenson was consulted by Mr. Preus, and

ARMOR PLATE MAKERS THREATEN ADVANCE

Washington, Feb. 8.—Private armor plate manufacturers notified the senate naval committee today that they would raise the price of armor plate $200 a ton if congress decides to erect or purchase armor plate factories for the government. The committee nevertheless voted to recommend government plants.

After brief consideration the committee ordered favorably reported the bill authorizing expenditure of $500,000 to equip Mare Island navy yard for battleship construction and $100,000 to enlarge facilities of the New York navy yard and the bill to add 300 midshipmen to the first class at Annapolis next July. These two bills passed the house yesterday.

INDIANS ARE THREATENING

Hopi Tribe of Navajos Declare They Will Kill Whites.

United States Officers to Organize Posse to Prevent Outbreak.

Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 8.—Joseph Dillon, United States marshal, left today with Thomas Flynn, United States district attorney, to organize a posse to go to Tuba and try to prevent a threatened outbreak among Indians on the western Navajo reservation.

Five thousand residents of the northeastern portion of Arizona, are alarmed over the reports that the Hopi tribe of Navajo Indians were threatening to go on the warpath, according to reports reports received here tonight.

Approximately 25,000 Indians are living on the Navajo reservation, but it was not known what proportion of them were involved in threatened uprisings.

The Hopi Indians became angered, it was said when one of their number was shot and killed several days ago by police officers. The Indian opened fire on the officers when they attempted to arrest him, and was killed by one of the German Papers Review Conduct of Campaign Up to Date.

Tell of Oratorical Preparation for Advance in April, 1915.

Various Claims of Coming Victories Reviewed and Their Excuses.

Berlin, Feb. 8, wireless to Sayville.—Reviews of the Franco-British offensive movements on the western front in German newspapers are summarized by the Overseas News agency as follows:

"These offensive movements were ushered in by formal announcements of coming victory, immediate and certain, as Lord Curzon declared in August, 1914, when he already saw the Bengalese and the Russians entering Berlin. Similar announcements were made when France, after the success on the Marne, regained her spirits. The third announcement came when, in October, 1914, the German advance in Belgium was stopped by inundations.

"According to Anglo-French newspapers the great offensive movement started in November, 1914. According to some of their reports the French reconquered Lille on Nov. 15. The French also shelled Metz, it was declared, and the Germans prepared for the defense of Strassburg. In the spring of 1915, Italian newspapers announced the arrival of 700,000 Hindus and 500,000 Japanese. It was likewise

State Treasurer Smith Offers Explanation of Aitkin Warrant.

Irregularities in Connection With St. Louis County School Loans.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Secretary of State Julius A. Schmahl, member of the state audit board, said today that immediately upon the return of the governor a full examination of the books of the state treasurer's office would be ordered. The statement made by Mr. Smith deals entirely with the alleged forged Aitkin county school district warrant. Mr. Smith made his statement orally. He said that some time last year the Cooper-Myers company, a Duluth bond house, received an auditor's warrant for $18,000, and that Fred B. Myers of that company immediately wrote him a letter thanking him for the deposit, which Mr. Myers took to be meant for

WILSON EXPECTED TO ANNOUNCE CANDIDACY

Believed He Will Approve Use of His Name at Ohio Primaries.

Washington, Feb. 8.—President Wilson's closest advisers expect him to make the first formal announcement of his candidacy for renomination within the month, when they believe Mr. Wilson will notify the secretary of state of Ohio that the voters of the state will have his consent to use his name in the primary.

Under the Ohio law a candidate is required to notify the secretary of state before Feb. 25 of his willingness to have his name used in the primary. The president has been formally notified of the law's provisions.

The president has made no definite announcement of whether he would be a candidate, even to his friends, so far as known, but they all take it as settled that he will be.

Name on Indiana Ballot.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 8.—On the authority of Secretary Tumulty, President Wilson's name was placed on the Indiana primary ballot as the only candidate for the Democratic nomination for president on Jan. 7, the last day for filing by candidates. The petition to place the name of President Wilson on the ballot had been circulated previously. The primary will be held March 7.

VON PAPEN'S DOCUMENTS PUBLISHED

Interesting Correspondence and Other Matters Given Out in London.

German Admiral Favored International Intervention in Mexico.

London, Feb. 8.—Interesting additions to the von Papen correspondence are contained in a parliamentary paper issued last night. The paper gives the translation of all the documents taken from Capt. Franz von Papen, the former German military attache at Washington, and the full entries of his bank account with facsimiles of checks and stubs. The only revelation of importance is that Admiral von Hintze, who was German minister to Mexico in 1914, favored international intervention in Mexico.

Col. Herwarth of the German staff wrote that the American military attache at Berlin, Maj. Langhorne, who left Germany early in 1915, was the bearer of letters to German officials in America.

A letter from Edward Lyell Fox, an American correspondent in Berlin, contained an unfavorable opinion of the American ambassador, James W. Gerard.

Prinz Hatzfeld and Rehld Zeidenburg of New York wrote concerning the stupidity of Americans, whom the letter termed "Yankees."

Thoroughly Ashamed of Country.

George Sylvester Viereck went on record as "thoroughly ashamed" of his country.

George Con Val, former commissioner of accounts of New York city and a newspaper correspondent, who was on Capt. von Papen's salary list, wrote to Maximilian Harden, the noted German editor, lauding Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador at Washington, and describing the widow of Count von Sternburg, the former ambassador at Washington, as decrying Count von Bernstorff's work and loathingly denouncing Count von Sternburg, who once was the official representative of Germany in America.

Capt. Boy-Ed wrote Capt. von Papen, who was then in Mexico, on May 25, 1914, that he "was specially pleased by what you wrote about Huerta, the only strong man in Mexico, in my opinion," adding:

STATUE OF THE FIRST MINNESOTA SENATOR IN THE HALL OF FAME

Memorial to Henry Mower Rice Unveiled in Statuary Hall.

Senator Nelson Tells of Early History of the State.

Pays Tribute to Able Services of the Pioneer Statesman.

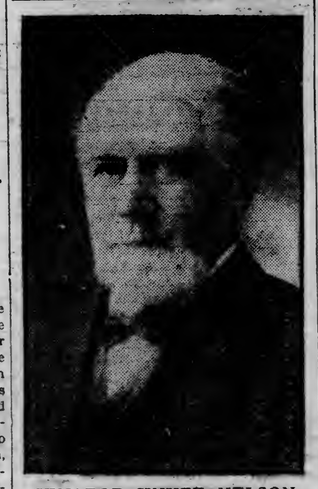

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, Feb. 8.—In the presence of a distinguished gathering, the statue of Henry Mower Rice, first senator from Minnesota, and prominent in the history of the state, was unveiled in Statuary hall in the capitol today. Miss Matilda Auerbach, the 18-year-old granddaughter of Senator Rice, unveiled the statue. It was presented to the state by Senator Knute Nelson, chairman of the statue commission, accepted on behalf of the state and presented to the Federal government by Senator Moses E. Clapp. Vice President Thomas R. Marshall accepted the statue as the representative of the United States.

The statue was designed by F. E. Triebel of New York and it was approved by the statue commission, composed of Senator Knute Nelson, Frederick G. Ingersoll and Mrs. Matilda Auerbach, daughter of the distinguished statesman. It is full life size, of Italian marble. The memorial, which is the first to be presented to the Federal government by the state of Minnesota, is the result of action taken by the

FEAR GEN. VILLA WILL ATTACK CHIHUAHUA

Bandit Vows He Will Not Shave Except in City.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 8.—Fears that Chihuahua City will be attacked by forces led by Francisco Villa, are general in the city, according to persons reaching here from the south. The fears, it is said, extend to the soldiers of the de facto government and many rumors concerning the activity of Villa are given credence.

Among the reports circulated is one that Villa has vowed not to shave until he can do so in Chihuahua City.

WOULD ADJUST CONTROVERSY

English Paper Says Envoy Should Be Sent to United States

With Full Powers to Settle All Troubles Over Blockade.

London, Feb. 8.—The Manchester Guardian, in an editorial, suggests that Viscount Bryce, formerly British ambassador to the United States, or Arthur J. Balfour, first lord of the admiralty, will be sent to the United States with full powers to adjust the blockade controversy with the government in Washington. It publishes a statement from its London correspondent to the effect that people close in touch with Anglo-American affairs express the opinion that some such step should be taken.

The Guardian says the blockade question is being pressed throughout the United States no less persistently than is the Lusitania question, and with the dispute regarding the phraseology to be employed by Germany once settled, exclusive attention will be given to the blockade matter. The Guardian dwells upon the fact that the British people are puzzled that purely trade subjects should create as much excitement as the question of human life, and says "British opinion has persistently overlooked the fact that German diplomacy possessed two great advantages over ours. The first is that the critical and even hostile attitude of the American navy towards British sea power, as well as the theories on which it is based, is almost as old as the American nation itself.

SITUATION IS DESCRIBED AS VERY HOPEFUL

Secretary Lansing Has Long Conference With President Wilson.

Secretary Will Have Another Conference With German Ambassador.

Washington, Feb. 8.—Germany's latest reply in the Lusitania negotiations was characterized as almost, if not entirely acceptable to the United States by high officials today after Secretary Lansing had conferred with President Wilson more than an hour and the case had been discussed at length at the cabinet meeting. The whole situation was described by administration officials as "very hopeful."

Later today Secretary Lansing will confer with Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador. It is expected he will communicate the American government's view of the latest proposal from Berlin which was substituted for the word "illegal" in the reference to the sinking of the Lusitania.

Practically Satisfactory.

The view reflected by the administration officials, while all of them steadfastly refrain from making any definite announcement, is that this declaration, with the assurances Germany previously had given and with the other features of the Lusitania agreement, already agreed upon, is practically satisfactory and that if any further changes are necessary the way is open to them without endangering the success of the negotiations. GERMANY HAS MILLION AND HALF PRISONERS

Does Not Include Those Taken and Left in Austria-Hungary.

Berlin, Feb. 8, by wireless to Sayville.—"A total of 1,497,171 enemy soldiers to date are prisoners of war in Germany," the Overseas News agency announced yesterday. "This is not inclusive of prisoners made by German troops and left in Austria-Hungary in order to shorten the transport.

"In addition 19,700 cannon and machine guns destroyed by the enemy before capture, and those used but once by German troops, 7,700 military carriages and 8,000 machine guns have been conveyed to Germany, these not including numerous cannon and machine guns destroyed by the enemy before capture, and used but once by German troops.

BIG STEEL COMBINE TO BE INVESTIGATED

Washington, Feb. 8.—The combination of the Midvale Steel & Ordnance company and the Cambria Steel company probably will be investigated by the department of justice as a matter of course. Information in possession of the department is that the two companies are engaged in different lines of manufacture and if that proves to be the fact no action is expected.

Officials had expected a combination between the Lackawanna Steel company, the Youngstown Sheet & Tube company and the Cambria company.

THE POLITICAL AUTO SHOW.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

The French have been making efforts to regain territory they lost some ten days ago south of the river Somme, but according to Berlin they were unsuccessful, their attack which was preceded by intensive artillery preparation being repulsed.

German headquarters admits that the French troops at one time during the recent fighting were able to occupy a small section of one of their old trenches. It is declared, however, that a counter-attack drove them out.

The airmen on this front again have been active, a squadron of German aeroplanes attacking British camps in Belgium and although attacked by the allied airmen returning without losses.

Petrograd has information that there have been recent transfers of large bodies of German troops to the western front which is held there to indicate that the Germans are preparing again to devote the greater part of their strength to the war areas in France and Belgium.

Russian armies are active in the Caucasus. The Petrograd war office reports continued advances there against the Turks, both north and south of Erzerum, the Russian forces having pressed further westward along the Black sea coast and along the northern shores of Lake Van.

Reports are current in London that Field Marshal Earl Kitchener is to take over the command of the British forces in Egypt and that the earl of Derby, who has been in charge of recruiting, is to be the new secretary of state for war. These reports are unconfirmed.

Gen. Polivanoff, Russian minister of war, is quoted as declaring that the Russian munitions crisis is now a thing of the past and that the system of handling recruits is such that the unit of the Russian army can now be kept up to their full strength with fully trained men.

Except for the continuation of the intensive bombardment along the Franco-Belgian front, there are few reports of military operations. Whether the notable play of the German, French and British guns on hostile positions is preparatory to important infantry operations, or is for minor purposes, is not apparent.

The current official statements, as well as independent reports, indicate quiet along the broad front where Russians and Teutons have been facing each other for months past.

PATRIOTIC SERVICES

Sons of Revolution Ask Clergymen to Join in Work.

Patriotic services in the churches on the Sunday preceding Washington's birthday are urged by the Sons of the Revolution and the Sons of the American Revolution in all the states of the Union.

In a notice received by The Herald this morning, Gideon S. Ives of St. Paul, president of the Minnesota society of the Sons of the American Revolution, asks the clergymen of the city to prepare a special patriotic sermon on Sunday morning, Feb. 20, dealing with the life, character and public service of George Washington. That this is an appropriate time, because of the European war, to stimulate interest in the life of America's great patriot, is the belief of Mr. Ives.

Appeal of State Society.

"A movement has been inaugurated by the societies of the Sons of the Revolution and Sons of the American Revolution in a number of states for the purpose of securing patriotic services in the churches on the Sunday preceding Washington's birthday, deeming this an opportune time when the world is being turned 'upside down' by the great conflict in Europe and when the people of this country need more than ever the stimulating influence of the life and character of that great patriot who was 'first in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of his countrymen.' The Society of the Sons of the American Revolution of Minnesota respectfully and earnestly request the clergy of this state to provide a special patriotic service for Sunday, Feb. 20, which shall include a sermon based upon the life, character and public service of Washington, and directing special attention to his service to his countrymen found in his memorable farewell address.

BOOM J. H. WORST FOR GOVERNOR

Bismarck, N. D., Feb. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—"We will endeavor to induce John H. Worst to resign from the presidency of the agricultural college and become a candidate for governor," was the statement made here today by a leader of the non-partisan movement.

That Worst would make a vote-getting candidate, backed by the farmers of the state, is generally admitted by the political leaders, and friends of Burdick, Fraine and Smith, the three candidates now seeking the Republican nomination, concede. Worst will be a hard man to beat if he decides to enter the race.

Dissatisfied With Candidates.

"The non-partisan leaders," said the member, "are not entirely satisfied with either of the other three candidates. Each has many qualifications and many good qualities. Neither is entirely objectionable. At the same time we do not feel they are thoroughly in sympathy with the objects of our organization. In looking over the situation in this state, Worst appeals to us as the ideal candidate, and will no doubt receive the indorsement of our organization if he will accept."

CALLS FARMERS' MEETING.

Waukeshae, Wis., Feb. 8.—I. M. Wright of Waukesha, Wis., secretary of the Farmers' Association of America, has issued a call for a farmers' congress to meet at Kansas City, Mo., on Feb. 21, 22 and 23. Marketing and financial problems of the agriculturists will be the topics to be discussed, and none but farmers will be admitted as delegates.

All counties in the country will be invited to send delegates, and all farmers' organizations will also be represented.

University professors and commercial men, who have dominated many of the previous farmers' meetings, will be absent at this gathering.

CROOKSTON AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL DEBATING TEAM TO MEET WAHPETON

Crookston, Minn., Feb. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Crookston agricultural school has a double debating team to meet similar aggregations from the Wahpeton School of Science this evening, to thresh out the question: "Resolved, That the United States Should Materially Increase Her Army and Navy." One debate will be a feature at the Farm Crops show at the Crookston armory and the other at Wahpeton. Walter Peterson, Chester Wilson and Conrad Clementson will defend the negative in the debate held here, while Thorval Tunheim, Martinus Stenseth and Willard Johnston will uphold the affirmative at Wahpeton.

SKATING PUTS DANCING INTO DISCARD

SAY PARK MEN

WINTER IS IDEAL FOR OUTDOOR SPORTS

Even King Boreas smiled when, last fall, the fashion dictators of the Eastern cities said dancing would be passed and skating would be the rage this winter.

To show his approval, he has given skaters the best possible weather, so that rinks not frozen artificially would be in good shape most of the time. At least, that is what Duluth park commissioners say.

So far this winter there have been sixty-five days of skating on public rinks. Some of the rinks have been open every day, and all of them have been available for two months.

"Two months is the average length of the outdoor skating season in Duluth," said Park Commissioner Henry Cleveland, "and we're lucky if the rinks are open that long. This year we have already had a season, and there are many cold days ahead."

The park department is busy keeping the eight rinks in good shape, and private individuals are caring for two or three auxiliary ones not supervised by the city.

BUCKET ORCHID IS FERTILIZED

BY THE BATTLE OF BUMBLE-BEES

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 8.—Photographic demonstration of the theory advanced by certain scientists that the bucket orchid—an extremely rare plant—is fertilized by the battle of bumble-bees which seek food from the flower, has been made by Dwight Davis, former park commissioner of St. Louis.

Mr. Davis had moving pictures of bumble bees at work on the bucket orchid taken at the Missouri Botanical garden (Shaw's garden) here.

This is what the moving pictures show:

Large bumble-bees gather on the edge of the cup of the orchid and struggle with one another for a foothold.

Some of the bumble bees tumble into the cup, which is half filled with nectar. This nectar sticks to the wings of the bees and prevents them from flying out.

There is only one way for the bumble bee to get out of the nectar, and that is to crawl through a tube-like passage leading to the lower end of the flower. The walls of this passage are covered with pollen and some of it clings to the sticky wings and backs of the bees. As they force their way out of the opening, some of the pollen which has attached to them is inserted into the stigma of the plant, and thus the flower is fertilized.

When the bees finally get out of the flower, they fly back to the edge of the cup and again battle for a foothold from which they can eat the lining of the labellum. The moving pictures that illustrate this method of plant reproduction will be shown at society entertainments in St. Louis, and later to the public school children.

Mr. Davis recently has developed a keen interest in the scientific side of moving pictures, and he has suggested that part of the money which cities spend on zoological gardens could be more profitably and entertainingly spent in sending camera expeditions to jungles and taking moving pictures of the habits of wild animals.

URGES ROAD TO HILLTOP

N. J. Upham Initiates Plan Which Arouses Interest of Charter Commission.

Duluth soon must prepare to grow "up and down" the hill as well as in an easterly or westerly direction, charter commission members agreed at a meeting in the council chambers at the city hall last night.

N. J. Upham, speaking in behalf of the Duluth Real Estate exchange, launched the idea, starting a two-hour discussion. Definite recommendations will not be made until the next commission meeting, as members could not agree on the best method of proceeding to empower the council to do the work.

"Duluth has grown east and west," Mr. Upham said, "while the hilltop district, which is only a stone's throw from the center of the city, has failed to be populated proportionately because of its inaccessibility. Duluth's future problem of city planning is to provide for direct, accessible routes to this section."

Route Outlined.

Arguing that street cars and traffic go many blocks out of the way in order to reach the hilltop, Mr. Upham presented a plan for an arterial highway starting at Third avenue west and Superior street. It would proceed from Third avenue to Second street, on Second street to Fourth avenue west, thence up Fourth avenue west to Third street, west on Third street to Mesaba avenue, up Mesaba avenue to Lake avenue and Seventh street and on Seventh street to the boulevard.

"In order to do this, two small parcels of land would have to be condemned," he said, "and grades would have to be lowered. I would suggest that all property benefited would be assessed, regardless of proximity to the roadway."

Some commission members maintained that such a road would benefit the entire city, and should be paid for by general taxation. They all agreed that the city would save much money by solving the problem now, and announced their intention of making a definite recommendation in the near future.

NAME COMMITTEE TO PREPARE PROGRAM

A general committee of the Sons of Norway, appointed at the last meeting of that society, will have charge of the entertainment program for the convention of that order which will be held in Duluth next June. The committee which has a membership of nine, represents all of the Sons of Norway lodges in the city. At the same meeting preliminary plans were formed for the reception that will be tendered the delegates. Hans P. Bjorge was elected president and L. A. Simonson, secretary and treasurer.

The lodges represented at the meeting and which will assist in the entertainment during convention week, follow: Nortun No. 16, L. A. Simonson, A. A. Ulsred, P. A. Nelson; Duluth lodge No. 30, Hans P. Bjorge, John Hogan, A. L. Hendrickson; Fram lodge No. 5, Gustaf Sordahl, Arlon Dahl and Paul Olson.

BONDING COMPANY ONLY WILL DEFEND

The American Bonding company alone will defend when St. Louis county's suit to recover $3,431.50 from W. A. Anderson and Thomas Clark, former deputies in the office of register of deeds, and the bonding company, which furnished a surety bond for the late M. C. Palmer, register of deeds, under whose administration the two deputies are alleged to have indulged in speculations totaling the amount sued for, comes on for trial.

The case as against Anderson and Clark, two of the defendants, is in default. Or at least it would so appear from affidavits filed late yesterday with the clerk of the court by Charles E. Adams, special county counsel. No answer or demurrer has been filed by either defendant within the time prescribed by the statute. No particular significance, however, is attached to this fact, as county officials desire to obtain judgment against the bonding company.

AVALANCHES FEARED; TRAINS CANCELED

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 8.—On receipt of the government flood and avalanche warning from Washington, the Great Northern railway discontinued operation of trains in the Cascade mountains. The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, and Northern Pacific continued to move trains with extreme caution. The number of track patrolmen was doubled. Workmen removing snow from the Great Northern track at Rock Island, twelve miles east of Wenatchee, Wash., left a switch open and the Great Northern fast mail train, westbound, ran into several box cars on a siding. Engineer Barry Dean was severely scalded.

An Attack of Grip Always Leaves Kidneys In Weakened Condition

Doctors in all parts of the country have been kept busy with the epidemic of grip which has visited so many homes. The symptoms of grip this year are often very distressing and leave the system in a run down condition, particularly the kidneys which seem to suffer most, as almost every victim complains of lame back and urinary troubles which should not be neglected, as these danger signals often lead to dangerous kidney troubles. Druggists report a large sale on Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root which so many people say soon heals and strengthens the kidneys after an attack of grip. Swamp-Root is a great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, and, being a herbal compound, has a gentle healing effect on the kidneys, which is almost immediately noticed in most cases by those who try it. Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., offer to send a sample size bottle of Swamp-Root, on receipt of ten cents, to every sufferer who requests it. A trial will convince any one who may be in need of it. Regular size bottles 50cts. and $1.00. For sale at all druggists. Be sure to mention this paper.

Charter commission members, at last night's meeting in the council chambers at the city hall, outlined and discussed the voting system which will be established in Duluth, replacing the preferential ballot, which the state supreme court has declared illegal.

Each member has a draft of the new system, which he will consider for several days, and a vote may be taken upon the question at a meeting next Monday, according to T. T. Hudson, chairman.

Provision is made for a general election on the first Tuesday in April, 1917, and on the first Tuesday in April of each succeeding second year, the elections to be held biennially.

A registration day is planned for the second Tuesday in March of each general election year, and a combined registration day and primary election the Saturday following the first registration day.

System of Elections.

Candidates at the primary, according to the plan, would file their candidacies with the city clerk at least thirty days before the election. All names so filed would be placed on the primary ballots and the two receiving the highest number of votes for each office would be placed on the ballots at the general election. The candidates receiving a majority of the votes cast for each office at the general election would be declared elected.

In case of a tie at the primary, the names of both persons in the tie would be placed on the ballots at the general election. The primary would be non-partisan.

Two tentative plans for voting, one providing for first choice and the other for first and second choice votes, were submitted.

"HALLELUJAH" WEDDING.

Salvation Army Leaders Will Wed on Valentine's Day.

The Scandinavian Salvation Army hall, 1631 West Superior street, will be the scene of a "Hallelujah" wedding on Valentine's day. Adjt. Tom Parkhouse and Lieut. Ellen Lightfoot will play the chief roles in the Cupid drama, and Col. Stephen Marshall of Minneapolis will be in charge of the ceremony.

There will be a number of interesting features in the line of music and religious services. These are now being arranged by the local Salvation Army officers. Adjt. Parkhouse has been in charge of the Duluth army for two years and Lieut. Lightfoot, his bride-elect, has been a prominent Salvation Army worker here for many years.

CATARRH LEADS TO CONSUMPTION

Catarrh is as much a blood disease as scrofula or rheumatism. It may be relieved, but it cannot be removed by simply local treatment. It causes headache and dizziness, impairs the taste, smell and hearing, affects the voice, deranges the digestion, and breaks down the general health. It weakens the delicate lung tissues and leads to consumption.

Hood's Sarsaparilla goes to the seat of the trouble, purifies the blood, and is so successful that it is known as the best remedy for catarrh.

Hood's Sarsaparilla strengthens and tones the whole system. It builds up. Ask your druggist for Hood's, and insist on having it. There is no real substitute.

ON TO DULUTH, ELKS' SLOGAN

"On to Duluth" is a slogan with which Minnesota Elkdom will become quite familiar before next June rolls around, according to R. F. Eldridge of St. Paul, editor of the Jolly Elk and secretary of the Minnesota State Elks' association, who is in Duluth today.

Mr. Eldridge declares that the Elks of the state are looking forward with considerable pleasure to the annual state association convention which will be held in Duluth on June 15 and 16 next. It is expected that at least 3,000 Elks will be in attendance as the guests of Duluth lodge, No. 133, B. P. O. E.

Mr. Eldridge is a member of St. Paul lodge, No. 59, which is also the mother lodge of James B. Healy, president of the state association.

"St. Paul lodge takes pride in being the home of two of the state association officers and will be well represented in large numbers. The On-to-Duluth club is now being organized," said Mr. Eldridge.

Lodges Coming in Force.

"Minneapolis lodge, No. 44, will also be well represented," he continued. "The Minneapolis Elks will be on deck with their uniform marching club, band and famous glee club. This glee club is one of the finest of its kind to be found anywhere.

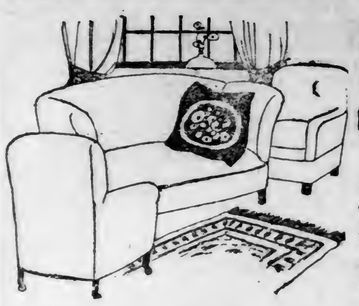

"Winona, No. 327, has already organized its On-to-Duluth marching club. The Winona boys have adopted the same uniform they used several years ago when they attended the national reunion at Atlantic City, N. J. Each member who has enlisted puts away a certain sum in the old tea kettle every week and in this way, the fund will be raised before next June.

"The boys of Stillwater lodge, No. 179, which is the home lodge of N. A. Nelson, past president of the state association, will also come to Duluth in large numbers. Mr. Nelson recently visited nine of the lodges in the southwestern part of the state where he is district deputy and he reports that the first and foremost thing right now seems to be to boost for the Duluth convention to be held next June."

Mr. Eldridge is here to confer with J. E. Samuelson, exalted ruler, and George V. Heathcote, secretary of Duluth lodge, No. 133.

MRS. M'ALPINE ON THE STAND

Tells Substantially Same Story as That in Former Trial.

Mrs. Sarah K. McAlpine, widow of John McAlpine, well known Duluth lumberman, the manner of whose death has been an unsolved mystery, took the witness stand in district court this morning at the trial of the $24,000 accident insurance case which she is prosecuting against the London Guaranty & Accident company.

Mrs. McAlpine was called by Theodore Hollister, one of the attorneys for the insurance company, for cross examination. The statute gives the defendant in a civil action this right. Mrs. McAlpine was asked to again relate her own history and the family history leading up to the tragedy which occurred on the early morning of Aug. 15, 1913.

Considerable time was spent in questioning Mrs. McAlpine with reference to what transpired at the McAlpine home when Mrs. McAlpine and her husband learned that Dale, the former's son by a former marriage, had married Miss Alice Spaulding of Big Rapids, Mich. At the former trial, Mrs. McAlpine testified that she was "certainly heart-broken" over the affair. This morning she said that she was "very, very sorry."

Mrs. McAlpine told substantially the same story that she related in the former trial, while on the stand this morning. Some of her statements as to her moods and feelings were qualified this time, but in all essentials the testimony as given in the two trials different but little.

MOTOR RACES POSTPONED

Heavy Snows Prevent Laying Out of Track on Ice.

Motor ice races, scheduled to take place on the bay tomorrow morning, have been postponed indefinitely, according to an announcement made this morning by Ray Buchanan, chairman of the racing committee of the Duluth Automobile Dealers' association.

Examination of the ice and snow yesterday, said Mr. Buchanan, disclosed the fact that it is impossible to lay out a track at this time. There is two feet of snow covering a thin layer of soft ice, he said, making it necessary to postpone the races until a later date.

Because of the deep snow directly in front of the Duluth Boat club the public would find it disagreeable to watch the races, unless the snow was removed.

According to the plans already made, there will be nine events, including a 50-mile race for high-powered cars for a stake of $500. There will also be races between medium cars, small cars and old-time machines, touring cars loaded with passengers, motor sleds, motorcycles and Ford cars.

As tomorrow is range day at the automobile show, it was planned to stage the ice races as an additional event for out-of-town visitors.

ILLINOIS BOWLING LEADER IS PASSED

Aurora, Ill., Feb. 8.—Joe Danek of Chicago had the leading score in the singles with the opening of the final day of the interstate bowling tournament here today. He had passed Harry Eldred of Somonauk, Ill., whose score of 637 was superseded by the new high figure of 645.

Eldred's score had withstood the attack of several hundred bowlers and it looked as though he were going to take a prize in this, the only event he entered.

With but one five-man team and a few scattering bowlers yet to play tonight, leaders in the tournament are:

Five men—Hotel Planters, Chicago, 2,852; two men, Rub and Robertson, Joliet, 1,232; individuals, Joe Danek, Chicago, 648; all-events, Paul Wilson, Chicago, 1,852.

Aitkin Boy Chosen.

Aitkin, Minn., Feb. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The closing contest by high school students who are members of the Discussion league took place Friday night when John Galarneault, Jr., was awarded first place and will go to Bemidji to take part in the contest there to be held this month. Miss Loretta Shutters was awarded second place and Miss Margaret Halligan third. "Preparedness" was the subject chosen by the students and all were for the affirmative.

LAST CHANCE TO CLEAN THE WALKS

If the sidewalk in front of your house is snow-covered, you had best "get busy" with a shovel when you reach the house after work tonight.

That was the edict issued by Safety Commissioner Silberstein today, in order to impress upon citizens the fact that it was the last day of grace before the "snow" ordinance was to be enforced.

Policemen, acting upon instructions from the safety division head, have prepared a list of sidewalks which need to be cleaned, and the list probably will be turned over to the public works division late today.

"We've given them lots of time," said Commissioner Silberstein "and now we're going to go ahead, clean the walks ourselves, and assess the property to pay the costs."

Commissioner Farrell will put a gang of men at work cleaning sidewalks tomorrow, it was said.

PITTSBURGH WANTS MORE ORE VESSELS

New York, Feb. 8.—The Pittsburgh Steamship company, a subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation, is in need of additional lake boats to transport ore from Lake Superior to Chicago, Cleveland and other lake ports. This was admitted here today by an official of the Steel corporation. The great demand for steel has taxed the capacity of the ore transports. Inquiries have been made among ship-owners on the Great Lakes for additional ore boats. It is understood that a number of offers have been made, but that no big deals are pending at this time.

"We need new boats but we have not found any available so far," said an officer of the Steel corporation. "The prices that are asked are exorbitant, and there is no disposition to buy at those prices. No plans have been formulated for the purchase of additional ships, but the Pittsburgh Steamship company will buy if suitable ships can be found."

The Treatment of Influenza or La Grippe

It is quite refreshing these days to read of a clearly defined treatment for Influenza or La Grippe. In an article in the "Lancet-Clinic," Dr. James Bell, of New York City, says he is convinced that too much medication is both unnecessary and injurious.

When called to a case of la grippe, the patient is usually seen when the fever is present, as the chill which occasionally ushers in the disease, has practically passed away. Dr. Bell then orders that the bowels be opened freely with salts, "Actolds" or citrate of magnesia. For the high fever, severe headache, pain and general soreness, one anti-kamnia tablet every three hours is quickly followed by complete relief. Ask for A-K Tablets. They are also unexcelled for headache, neuralgia and all pains.

FARM CROPS SHOW DRAWS

Large Crowd on Hand; Crookston Gathering Gets Down to Business.

Several Speakers Discuss Subjects Pertaining to Tilling of Soil.

Crookston, Minn., Feb. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—A great throng packed the armory this morning for the farm crops show's first day. The weather having moderated to the extent of 32 degs. since yesterday, convention enthusiasm was rampant and the yellow membership badges of the development association were everywhere in evidence.

In the formal address of welcome President Silverson of the Commercial club noted the wonderful growth of the farm crops show since its inception five years ago when it was housed in one small hotel room to the present time when a great armory, a big warehouse and the Presbyterian church are taxed to capacity. He emphasized the importance of the movement in which ten counties were banded together.

In responding, President James Culming of the Mallery Farmers' club declared that the object of the farmers' clubs should not be so much financial gain but the larger co-operation with the city; loyalty to community and state and the development of the social side, as it was a united people that proved really great in every emergency.

Selvig Presides.

C. G. Selvig, general chairman of the show, presided and he enthused the big audience with a recital of the certain success of the handling of farm problems when the people showed the interest manifested at the gathering and demonstrated the progress from year to year as shown by the exhibition.

"Farm Crops Rotation" was ably discussed by R. W. Porter of Fargo, who cited the great results obtained by farmers who followed a rotation. He was followed by F. W. Peck of St. Anthony Park, who had a related subject "Does Diversified Farming Pay?" making it emphatic that no other method could succeed permanently. C. E. Brown of Elk River illustrated "Some Lessons From the 1915 Corn Crops," in which he warned against too large types, care in seed selection and proper cultivation. T. A. Hoover of the Soo speaks on "Potato Production" this afternoon, followed by F. L. Kennard on "Smut."

COMPROMISE WITH CATHOLIC STUDENTS

In answer to demands by the student council, Dean J. S. Collie at chapel exercises announced that the compromise whereby Catholic students are excused from Sunday vesper services and freshman Bible study is only temporary. He said next year the faculty probably would make those exercises compulsory despite Archbishop S. G. Messmer's ruling that all Catholic students would have to leave if forced to participate in the exercises.

"We would hate to lose the Catholic students but they will have to go if their creed objects to such exercises. We made the present compromise arrangement so that no students would have to leave before the present year's work is ended," said Dean Collie.

N. D. Democrats Surprised.

Grand Forks, N. D., Feb. 8.—Alexander Morrison's appointment as Pembina customs collector came as a surprise to most Democrats of North Dakota, particularly in view of the fact that it has been generally accepted that D. H. McArthur was the choice of National Committeeman John Bruegger.

Reliable Laxative Relieved This Baby

Child Was Badly Constipated Until Mother Tried Simple Remedy.

In spite of every care and attention to diet, children are very apt to become constipated, a condition responsible for many ills in after life unless promptly relieved.

Mrs. C. W. Wilson of Shelbyville, Tenn., had trouble with her baby boy, Woodrow, until she heard of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. She writes, "I can safely say Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the best remedy of its kind on earth. It acts so gently and yet so surely. Little Woodrow was very badly constipated and we could find nothing that gave relief until we tried your Syrup Pepsin, which gave immediate relief."

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a compound of simple laxative herbs, free from opiates or narcotic drugs, mild in action, positive in effect and pleasant to the taste. It has been prescribed by Dr. Caldwell for more than a quarter of a century and can now be had for fifty cents a bottle in any well-stocked drug store. A trial bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can be obtained, free of charge, by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 454 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

SUPERIOR

NAUGHTON'S THIRD TRIAL UNDER WAY

Ten of the twelve jurors who will hear the case of Joseph Naughton in his third trial were chosen in the district court this morning. The case was brought before the court yesterday afternoon and, although fifteen men were examined, none of them were acceptable as jurymen on the case. Attorneys are of the opinion that the other two men will be accepted early this afternoon and that the case may begin late today.

Mr. Naughton is on trial on a charge of having made false returns while judge in an election precinct on November, 1913. At the former two trials the jury disagreed. Judge E. D. Belden of Racine, Wis., is presiding at the present trial.

Oratorical Aspirants.

Students who will aspire to take part in the Wisconsin state oratorical contest will have a tryout at the normal school tomorrow night. Ten are candidates, of whom five will be chosen to take part in the preliminary contest to be held Friday evening. The state contest will take place on March 17.

Clerks Will Amalgamate.

Grocery and clothing clerks will form into one large union in Superior, according to plans made last night at a mass meeting of the clerks held at the Cappa hall. Final plans for merging the two organizations will be made at a meeting to be held in the near future.

LORD KITCHENER MAY COMMAND IN EGYPT

London, Feb. 8.—The Weekly World says it hears that Field Marshal Lord Kitchener is likely to take over command of the British forces in Egypt and that the earl of Derby, the director of recruiting, will be the new secretary of state for war with a seat in the cabinet.

The World gives no authority for the report, but says it is gossip in line with recent intimations that Earl Kitchener might withdraw from the war ministry to assume more active duties.

Lord Derby has just returned to London from a visit to the British forces operating in Flanders.

SOUTH DAKOTA SOLONS IN SPECIAL SESSION

Pierre, S. D., Feb. 8.—The first special session of the legislature in the history of South Dakota, either as a territory or state, convened here today to consider amendment of the primary election laws. Aside from routine matters, no other business is expected to come before the session, which probably will last but a few days.

Under the present law, the date of the primaries for nomination of state officials and selection of delegates to national conventions is the first Tuesday of June. This year it would come within a day of the Republican national convention and because of this Governor Byrne will recommend to the legislators amendment of the law so as to make the fourth Tuesday of May the date of state primaries. Earlier dates, it is understood, will be offered in amendments by several lawmakers.

NOTHING LIKE DULUTH WEATHER, SAYS DE VICQ

"Duluth at 2 below zero is less uncomfortable than many lake ports at 33 above zero," was the pleasant greeting of John H. de Vicq, Buffalo, N. Y., United States immigration inspector, who arrived here yesterday for a few days. Mr. de Vicq visits Duluth on the average of once a month the year around, also other lake ports, and should be in position to know.

ASKS EXTRADITION OF VILLA'S BROTHER

Washington, Feb. 8.—The United States has asked for the extradition of Hippolito Villa, Gen. Villa's brother, to answer an indicting in Texas. Complicity in cutting the line of the Southern Pacific railway near El Paso in December in an attempt to hamper movement of Carranza forces through American territory to attack Villa forces in Mexico is charged. Villa has been arrested in Havana.

Opposed to Preparedness.

THEFT IS NOT PROFITABLE

Police Recovered 72 Per Cent of Stolen Property in 1915.

The profession of a burglar is not profitable in Duluth, thieves retain but 28 per cent of their loot, and it is estimated that a thief does not not earn the wages of a common laborer.

Seventy-two per cent of property stolen in Duluth during the last year and valued at $62,876.27, was recovered by the police, according to the second annual report made today by Pawn Shop Inspector Norman Terry and filed with Chief of Police R. D. McKercher. Thieves robbed Duluth people of most of this property, while visitors to the city lost property valued at $1,945.

The thieves thus retained only about $17,000, and this was divided among nearly 900 "jobs."

During the year there were 517 petit larceny cases, 189 grand larceny arrests, 30 larcenies from the person, 17 holdups, 123 burglaries and 1 swindle. Forty-two automobiles were stolen and all, but one, were recovered. Most of the machines were taken by joy riders, who, when they finished their evening's pleasure, left the machines in handy places where the owners or police could find them.

One watch, stolen eleven years ago in Duluth, was recovered in Minneapolis. Another watch lost on a Duluth, Missabe & Northern train in 1913, between Hibbing and Duluth, was recovered here.

The inspector's report shows the number and kinds of articles stolen during the year: Hand bags, 118; bicycles, 16; bracelets, 28; brooches, 21; chains, 115; charms, 74; coats, 665; compasses, 13; cuff buttons, 29; cutlery, 213; loose diamonds, 8; diamond pins, 83; diamond rings, 611; earrings, 14; men's furs, 57; women's furs, 20; eye glasses, 36; hats, 33; kodaks, 56; mackinaws, 521; miscellaneous, 264; musical instruments, 206; necklaces, 3; pants, 20; men's rings, 271; women's rings, 555; shoes, 356; shirts, 21; suit cases, 431; men's suits, 1,104; women's suits, 4; tools, 775; watches and guns, 6,170.

Pawn shops are on the wane, according to Inspector Terry. Since the recent wave of prosperity began to sweep over the country work has been plentiful, money easier and people are not forced to call on "uncle" for badly needed cash.

DULUTH GIRL IS PNEUMONIA VICTIM

Miss Gladys Goldsmith, eldest daughter of Mrs. Louise J. Goldsmith of 1111 West First street, died late this morning at her mother's home after a short illness. Pneumonia was the cause of death.

The Goldsmith family has lived in Duluth for many years, the father, Charles W. Goldsmith, being active in politics at one time. He was an alderman for a considerable period before the commission form of government was adopted.

Miss Goldsmith was a graduate of Central high school and of the normal school. She was very well known. In addition to her mother, she leaves two brothers and one sister. The brothers are Capt. Clive D. Goldsmith of Engine Company No. 1 of the fire department and Glen G. Goldsmith.

WOULD REDUCE INFANT DEATH RATE

In view of the fact that St. Louis county has the highest infant and child mortality rates of any county in Minnesota, Dr. I. J. Murphy, secretary of the Minnesota Public Health association, believes that the school authorities should be particularly interested in the matter of educating parents to properly care for babies.

Dr. Murphy has sent Supt. N. A. Young of the county schools 1,000 copies of a pamphlet entitled "Care of the Baby," which will be available for distribution among teachers of the schools of the rural districts, who will, in turn, give them out to parents of children attending their schools.

Infant mortality refers to deaths of children under the age of 1 year, and child mortality to deaths of children under the age of 5.

LARGE OIL CONSIGMENTS TO DRAINAGE WORK

The Northwestern Oil company is sending out two large consignments of oil to the northern part of Minnesota, which are exceptional in size anywhere, and especially for use in this state. The oil will be used on dredges working at Baudette and Kelliher, Minn., on drainage.

The consignments make up ten carloads of lubricating oil, greases and kerosene, consisting of 800 barrels, or 40,000 gallons.

It is probably the largest amount sent out for such work from any point in the state, and is said to be undoubtedly the largest sent out from this point.

"See Minnesota First."

"See America First" campaigns, popular in the United States since Aug. 1, 1914, have been localized by the state university under the guidance of Prof. E. M. Lehnerts, who is giving a series of "See Minnesota First" lectures.

In the words of the instructor, this course is designed "for teachers, especially those who teach the geography of Minnesota in the grades, and for citizens." It carries two credits towards the degrees of B. A. or B. S.

A class will be held in the Duluth public library lecture room Wednesday, Feb. 9, beginning at 7:30 p. m. The talk lasts two hours.

GRAND JURY STARTS PROBE AT CARLTON

Carlton, Minn., Feb. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The February term of district court convened here this morning, Judge Bert Fesler of Duluth presiding. The grand jury was charged and went out at 10 o'clock and will hear several cases that were held for investigation.

The calendar is light, only about twenty-five cases being up for trial. Several minor court cases were disposed of today and it is probable that the session will be short.

House Leaves for England.

Paris, Feb. 8.—Col. E. M. House, who has concluded his conversations here with various diplomatists and government officials, left today for England.

SCHOOL PLAY IS SUPERVISED

Director J. R. Batchelor Begins Duties Among City Pupils.

Leads Boys in Cross-Country Runs—Close Hockey Games.

Supervised play now is a reality in Duluth public schools for the first time in the city's history.

J. R. Batchelor, recreational director, has started making the rounds of the various buildings, instructing teachers and principals in the methods to be employed and directing children in ways of spending their recess periods to the most advantage.

At the February meeting of the board of education, to be held next Friday at the Central high school building, Mr. Batchelor is expected to present an outline of what he expects to accomplish for the schools this year, which is the first one during which supervised play has been attempted.

In his dual capacity as recreational director of the schools and supervisor of municipal playgrounds and skating rinks, Mr. Batchelor has been busy during the last few days, although winter weather has hindered the schoolwork to some extent.

Hare and Hounds.

This morning, clad in a jersey, he led boys from the Endion school on a "hare and hounds" race that brought them back to school at the end of the recess flushed and breathing hard.

Lester park boys had a similar experience yesterday afternoon, and this afternoon it will be the turn of boys at the Fairmont school in West Duluth.

"A little exercise of that kind, with a good run in the open air," said Mr. Batchelor, "is worth more than a long lesson in calisthenics held in the school gymnasium or in a stuffy hall."

The recess and after-school play will not be started on a regular schedule, it is believed, until late in the month.

Three of the "hottest" games played in the grade school hockey league were played yesterday. The Endion team defeated the Salters by a 1-to-0 score at Chester park, and the Washburn team won over the Lowells by a 1-to-0 score after playing five extra minutes. The Merritts defeated the Bryants 3 to 0 in the junior western division.

PROFIT-SHARING PLAN IS POPULAR

So great was the anxiety of employes of the United States Steel corporation to take up stock under its profit-sharing plan and easy terms of payment that the 35,000 shares offered for subscription last month are reported to have been largely oversubscribed. The subscription price was $55 a share.

No common or preferred stock was offered to employes in 1915 owing to the uncertain conditions then existing in the trade. In 1914, employes took 42,926 shares of preferred stock at $105 a share and 47,689 shares of common at $57 a share.

SALVADOR OPPOSES NICARAGUAN TREATY

San Salvador, Republic of Salvador, Feb. 8.—The government of Salvador today sent a dispatch to its minister at Washington requesting him to lodge a further protest with the department of state against the pending treaty between the United States and Nicaragua.

The government makes clear its viewpoint that this treaty violates the neutrality of Honduras, which it points out the United States guaranteed through conventions with the Central American states and that a committee of the senate at Washington approved this treaty previous to the conclusion of pending negotiations and in spite of previous protests from Salvador.

The proposed treaty between the United States and Nicaragua would give the former the exclusive right to construct any Nicaraguan isthmian canal and also a naval base in the gulf of Fonseca.

FAKE CANCER CURE CONCERNS ATTACKED

Chicago, Feb. 8.—Former Governor George H. Hodges of Kansas attacked what he called "fake cancer cure concerns" and quack doctors as "conscienceless monsters fattening on the pain-racked bodies of their stricken victims," in an address before the congress on medical education here today. He appeared as the guest of the congress.

Mr. Hodges lauded the steps taken by county, state and national medical organizations toward the betterment of the medical science, and predicted a new era of medicine in a comparatively few years because of these efforts.

Simple Way to End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.—Advertisement.

TELLS OF YEAR'S WORK ON THE WAR FRONT

Iowa City, Iowa, Feb. 8.—After a year's service with the British army medical corps, Dr. C. P. Howard today resumed his work as professor of internal medicine at the University of Iowa.

Dr. Howard was second in command in a hospital near Boulogne and forty miles back of the front. The hospital covered fifty acres, furnished beds for 6,700 patients and had a staff of 180 medical men, 360 nurses and 1,515 non-commissioned officers and men.

The British soldiers are unusually brave, Dr. Howard declared. He told of one "Tommy" whose legs had been amputated after they had been badly mutilated by a shell. The soldier calmly smoked a cigarette, although his pain was intense.

"They see so much suffering that their own hurts become insignificant," said Dr. Howard.

ROCK INTERRUPTS SALOON CONCERT

Crashes Through Window and Demolishes Bar—Heaver Arrested.

Mike Orich is neutral. He takes no sides in the world's war. But when he has money coming and he does not get it forthwith his policy of neutrality in his personal affairs ends.

Last evening while a crowd of jolly fellows were enjoying their steins and singing "Hi Li Hi Lo" in the buffet conducted by Ely Ratkovich, corner Fourth avenue west and Michigan street, their jubilance was rudely and abruptly stopped by a rock the size of a croquet ball that whistled past their musical ears and clashed against the decorations on the back bar. Said rock, in its passage, did $7.50 worth of damage to one of the windows that adorned the corner. And Ely Ratkovich knew who heaved the rock.

Earlier in the day Ely had had an argument with Orich anent some money with the latter claimed the buffet proprietor owed him. Ely refused to liquidate. Orich nursed his anger all through the day and, becoming pretty well "lit up" by evening, he picked out a fair-sized "hard-head" rock and slammed it through Ely's window. Orich was arrested. This morning he told Capt. Fiskett that Ratkovich owed him $5 for work which he had done in distributing intoxicating liquor in various Mesaba range towns. Orich did not deny destroying the window pane, but said it served Ely "bloody well right" for not paying him. Ely did not appear against Orich when the case was called and the hearing was postponed until this afternoon.

NAVAL MILITIA DIVISION FOR INTERNATIONAL FALLS

After a conference with Capt. Guy A. Eaton of the local naval militia yesterday, Joseph Lloyd, postmaster at International Falls, left for his home last evening to organize a branch of the service in the border city. Capt. Eaton has promised Mr. Lloyd his active support and the latter expects to muster in his new company sometime next spring.

"There are fifty or more young men at International Falls, who are interested in military service," said Postmaster Lloyd last night. "Right across the border from us is the Border Bull Moose battalion, as the 141st Overseas battalion is known. Col. D. C. McKenzie, who is well known in Duluth, has command. He is known as the 'fighting doctor' and numbers among his friends practically every lumberjack who ever worked in that part of the country. He is a personal friend of Col. Theodore Roosevelt, and when he asked the latter for permission to name the outfit the 'Bull Moose' it was readily granted.

"It is impossible that with the military spirit displayed at Fort Frances that our young men should not become interested. There have been a number of Falls residents who are of Canadian or British parentage, and these have returned to the colors under Col. McKenzie."

A Good Night-Cap for Croupy Children.

A little forethought in the care of croupy children will greatly lessen their chances of attacks of croup. At bedtime, give each child a teaspoonful of Foley's Honey and Tar. It can not possibly harm them, and has a wonderfully soothing, healing effect on the mucous lining of the throat. It cuts the choking phlegm, stops tickling and nervous hacking, and allows quiet, restful sleep. The nightly dose of Foley's Honey and Tar keeps many homes free from croup, saves the children suffering, and spares the parents a needless croup scare. Keep it always on hand. Sold everywhere.

EVEN BILLIARDS MAY BE ROUGH GAME

When Wallace West hit Gust Kroll over the head with a billiard cue at fire headquarters last May 18, Kroll claims that he was damaged to the extent of $440. Consequently he instigated legal proceedings to collect that amount. This morning the case was called for trial in Judge Smallwood's division of municipal court and a jury chosen to hear the evidence. This is the opening case of the regular February term.

In his pleadings Kroll alleges that when he and West were engaged in a friendly game of pool at fire headquarters last May, a dispute arose and that while he was seated in a chair, West struck him on the head with the butt end of a billiard cue, knocking him to the floor. He says that while he was prostrate West kicked him in the face and body, crippling him so seriously that he had to pay a doctor's bill of $39.25.

West does not deny the assault, but alleges that he paid the doctor's bill and bought all of the medicine necessary to mend his victim. West further alleges that he was adjudged a bankrupt last Sept. 7, and therefore is relieved of all responsibility for any debts which he might have incurred previous to that date. West says further that Kroll agreed to let the matter drop when he paid the doctor's bill.

ADDS TWO BOATS TO GRAIN FLEET

Owners of Winter-Defying Steamer Britton Buy More Vessels.

The Winnipeg Steamship company, of which Capt. C. A. Massey of Superior is head, has just increased its fleet by two boats for the coming season, and already has contracts ahead for quite a bit of grain hauling. The company sailed the Britton for the last two years, mostly between Port Arthur and Duluth, and made three trips with her after every other boat of its size was laid up in December, bringing loads of screenings to Duluth up to almost Christmas time. In the harbor of Port Arthur and Fort William, this company has the steamer Robert L. Fryer, which is used as a "hospital" ship for grain.

The two steamers added are the Schlesinger and the Panther, the former being purchased from David Vance of Milwaukee and the latter from Joseph Davidson of Milwaukee. The Schlesinger is 306 feet long and 43 feet beam and was built in 1891. The Panther is 248 feet long with a beam of 41 feet and was built in 1890.

Those forming the Winnipeg Steamship company are: J. R. Smith of Port Arthur, E. A. Woodward of Minneapolis, V. M. Jarrett of Superior and Capt. Massey. The boats are of American register, despite the Canadian name of the company.

MAKE CEMETERIES BIRD SANCTUARIES

S. George Stevens, Duluth bird lover and fancier, favors the plan of the National Audubon society to convert the cemeteries of the country into sanctuaries for birds.

"There can be no doubt that in the cemeteries, among the trees and shrubbery, birds would be in less danger from molestation and could nest and rear their young and multiply," said Mr. Stevens. "The small boy with his airgun and rifle would be less inclined to go among the tombs to seek his unlawful prey. It is also true that if birds were taught that in the cemeteries they would have a safe haven and food were supplied them there during the long winters, they would soon gladden these desolate spots with their songs and twittering. As an addition to the beautifully kept cemeteries of Duluth there can be no question of the birds greatly enhancing the charm of the sleeping places of our beloved dead."

BIG REALTY DEAL CLOSED

New Duluth Company Sells Its Residence Lots to Local People.

Lynott and M'Bean Interests Will Market Steel Plant Property.

One of the largest deals in residence property that has been made in several years in Duluth has just been closed, and may be taken as an indication of the quickening movement in real estate since the steel plant began operations.

The New Duluth company, owners of the townsite of New Duluth, which is a part of the city of Duluth, and which adjoins the steel plant, has large and valuable holdings of city lots, docks and manufacturing sites. This company has entered into a contract for the sale of all of its residence lots lying east of Commonwealth avenue in New Duluth, First division, with well-known real estate men of the city.

"These residence lots are the best in New Duluth and will be handled by the Alliance Real Estate company, Lonsdale building, and the McBean-Nesbitt company, Providence building," said T. T. Hudson, president of the New Duluth company, this afternoon. "These companies are two of the most reliable real estate firms in the city, and were very successful in handling Crosley Park and Exeter Farms.

"The New Duluth company is not equipped at this time to undertake a large real estate sale at retail, and believing firmly that there is going to be a great demand this year for all well-located property in the vicinity of the steel plant, the company concluded to sell this large number of lots to men who have made an acknowledged success in advertising and marketing suburban real estate."

NEW RECORDS FOR TRAFFIC

Twenty-One Roads Report 27 Per Cent Gain for December.

A growth in railroad earnings never before witnessed in a similar length of time has been reported. That development is accepted as evidence of the remarkable activity in all classes of business over the country.

Twenty-one of the larger systems reporting for December showed total gross operating revenues of more than $164,200,000, an increase of 27 per cent. Net earnings aggregated $52,476,474, an increase of $22,685,316, or 76 per cent.

A gratifying record was made by the Northwestern roads in consequence of the abnormal grain traffic and the return flow of general merchandise and manufactured products into the states mostly directly benefited. The Northern Pacific reported net earnings of $3,427,144, an increase of $1,715,553, and the Milwaukee a net revenue of $3,185,369, a gain of $1,358,884.

The Soo line in its December earnings statement reported a net revenue of $5,645,028, as compared with $3,807,203 last year, an increase of $1,837,825. The road's Chicago division did as well proportionately, showing a net revenue for the month of $2,136,481, an increase of $732,418.

MANY ENROLL FOR EFFICIENCY STUDY

Only a Few More May Secure Entry to "Y" Class.

Twenty Duluth business and professional men are enrolled for the Emerson personal efficiency course, which will open at the Y. M. C. A., Thursday night, Feb. 10, at 8 o'clock.

As developed in this course, personal efficiency means greater output with less expenditure of energy. This is the desired goal of every progressive man.

The results of Harrington Emerson's work in increasing the efficiency of machines and organizations are well known and the same principles are available and adapted to the individual person.

"To the man who feels the burden of rapidly increasing responsibilities," says Secretary Turner, "this opportunity comes as a welcome solution of how to do less and accomplish more."

A limited number of men may secure admission to this first meeting by applying for a ticket.

Transforms Complexion; Wins Social Favors

"Had I been unable to transform my complexion so quickly, so completely, by an unique process I had just learned of, I never could have attended the Charity Ball." A certain social favorite, a picture of loveliness at the great event, told me this. "I had been much run-down," she said. "When I beheld myself in the mirror after a night's troubled sleep, I saw I was becoming heavy-eyed and pale. I could not take, and attend the ball, the long rest my physician advised. A friend suggested I get an ounce of mercolized wax at the druggist's and use it as I would cold cream. I did—the result is apparent. In a week I had a new complexion. The wax took off the old skin so gradually, there was no discomfort. Now you see the fresh, bright underskin, with its youthful glow and expression.

"The worry lines and wrinkles, which had become quite numerous, I removed very easily by simply bathing my face every morning in a harmless lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint of witch hazel. You see the result—my skin as smooth and firm as a schoolgirl's"—Aileen in Town Talk. —Advertisement.

"Y" HUSTLERS CLUBS CLOSE FIRST MONTH OF THEIR ANNUAL CONTEST

The first month of the boys' department Y. M. C. A. hustler clubs' contest has closed, and the reports show that Clyde Peterson carried off the honors as supreme hustler for the month of January. He was awarded a pair of silver skates for making the most points. The Hustler club is for the purpose of developing all-round members. Points are given for good work at school, church, Sunday school, boys' department meetings, clubs, gymnasium, reading books, taking part in entertainments and getting new members. Nine teams have been organized with ninety-nine members. The big hustle will close April 13, and on Friday, April 14, all the hustlers will be guests of honor at the annual banquet. They will each receive the official emblem, and the boy getting the most points will receive a big boys' department banner made in the colors of the club. The next two highest will each receive a watch fob medal. To be a hustler a boy has to receive 450 points.

The boy who carries of the most points for February will receive a pair of silver cuff links, and the second boy a boys' department banner, and the third boy a Y. M. C. A. pin. The team with the most points will each receive a gymnasium jersey.

Saturday night at 7:30 all the hustlers are invited to participate in a hustlers' field meet, with the following events: Pull ups, five potato races, running high jump, three broad jumps, 15-yard dash and standing broad jumps. Each boy taking part will receive a diploma with his record, the boys over 15 years and the boys under 15 years making the best record, will each receive a stick pin. Each hustler will get five points for the physical test. At the close of the meet there will be a swim followed by a party in the Dutch kitchen.

Last night the minstrel chorus had its practice with nearly every member present. The show this year will be held Friday, March 10, at the Orpheum theater, and Stanley Lamb, who is directing the show, says it will be the best amateur show ever staged in Duluth. The committee expects to make enough money on this production to purchase a piano for the new boys' building now under construction.

Today at 3 o'clock the Sunday club and extension committee will hold an important meeting. Wednesday evening the High School club will entertain the girls' club at dinner at the boys' department clubrooms.

The Knights of Sir Galahad committee will meet Thursday at 6:30 p. m. Important business will be transacted. The cabinet will meet at 3 o'clock at the home of Duncan Frick, 2225 East Second street Friday evening at 6 o'clock. The Intermediate Bible Study clubs will meet at 7:15. The clubs will all meet and at 8 o'clock the regular Friday night social will take place. Saturday afternoon the camp and outing committee will conduct a ski and snowshoe trip.

DENOUNCING MEDICINES

Wholesale denunciation of proprietary medicines is no more justifiable than wholesale denunciation of the medical profession. It is no more true that there are reputable physicians who unselfishly devote their lives to an unending struggle with disease than that there are standard remedies which do as good a work; often where the work of the good physician cannot reach. A good example is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which has for forty years been alleviating the sufferings of women and curing the ills peculiar to their sex.

WISCONSIN MAN GIVEN $3,670 FOR ACCIDENT

Madison, Wis., Feb. 8.—One of the few cases of total permanent disability to come before the industrial commission for adjudication was the subject of an order by that body today. It awarded $3,670.21 to Anna Wohlgemuth, guardian for Eugene Wohlgemuth, who was injured March 17, 1915, while in the employ of A. J. Kaestner of Milwaukee.

The case has attracted considerable attention among medical men. Last March, while in the employ of A. J. Kaestner, Wohlgemuth, as the result of a gasoline explosion, sustained burns on his left arm, the side of his face and neck. He was taken to the hospital and four days later, while under a physician's treatment, he became unconscious and did not awaken for three days. When he regained consciousness the applicant had a total loss of power to speak and write and suffered from paralysis of the right side of his face. The function of the facial nerves was restored in about two months, but the loss of power to speak and write has persisted to the present time. The applicant has learned to say three or four words and to count to nine, leaving out three numbers.

Wohlgemuth is 46 years of age and has been a carriage painter since 14 years of age. Prior to the accident the applicant was in good health.

WAR ANOTHER YEAR.

Opinion of Col. Clough, Chairman of N. P. Board of Directors.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 8.—"I can see no end to the European war this year, and while the European nations are buying their food, munitions and steel of us there is sure to be prosperity," said Col. William P. Clough, chairman of the board of directors of the Northern Pacific, who is here from New York.

"As long as the war lasts the warring nations will supply their wants at the nearest open port," he said, "and as the United States is the nearest, they naturally will trade with us."

Referring to the congestion at the terminals of many Eastern cities, which for a time threatened commerce, Col. Clough said the condition practically is relieved, and business has resumed normal conditions.

Improve Aitkin Fire Hall.

Aitkin, Minn., Feb. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The firemen are making some improvements in the city hall and have provided sleeping rooms for six of the men which will insure enough men there to take out the team and equipment on short notice at night. About $700 have been expended by the fire department for improvements.

FOR at least a week, hearts, cupids and arrows have been used as decorations at parties, though St. Valentine's day will not be celebrated until Feb. 14. This is one of the most popular days with hostesses because its symbols offer many varieties of decorations and of entertainment. It is primarily a feast for young persons but older ones have borrowed it.

The origin of Valentine customs is uncertain. Some attribute it to St. Valentine, who was martyred Feb. 14, 270, and who was famous for his love and charity. Others trace the origin to the early Romans who celebrated the Lupercalia in the month which came to be called February. The Lupercalia were feasts in honor of Pan, the god of hunters, shepherds and rustic folk, and of Juno, the queen of nuptial rights. The girls were chosen by lot by the young men and this custom was honored in Rome as late as 496. There was a similar custom among the early pagans of Northern Europe.

Early in the Sixteenth century the day having lost its early pagan significance and its later religious one, became a "merrie" day in England and was observed in much the same way that it is observed now.

One of these early English customs provided that the young men and women draw for partners, each man to give a ball in honor of the woman who fell to his lot. This ball was often equal to the announcement of the engagement as the drawing was not altogether a matter of chance.

Ministers Will Speak at Suffrage Luncheon

In addition to the principal address, which will be made by Mrs. Maria McMahon, the state suffrage organizer, at the suffrage luncheon which will be held at 12:30 o'clock Friday afternoon at the Glass Block tea rooms, there will be short talks by Rev. Mrs. McMahon is a native of Norfolk, Va., but has been closely identified with suffrage work in Ohio and New York and is now doing splendid work in the southern part of Minnesota. Her plan to organize the suffragists of St. Louis county by townships, wards and precincts is modeled on the plan adopted by the New York suffragists. Mrs. McMahon was Minnesota's "loan" to the New York campaign and the grateful letters received from the Empire state suffragists showed to what large degree she helped them in their campaign.

Red Cross Work Must Be Carefully Done

Mrs. J. L. Washburn, chairman of the industrial committee of the Duluth branch of the Red Cross association, has written the following letter to the Red Cross circles of the industrial committee:

"It is very important that all Red Cross work should be done exactly in accordance with instructions furnished. Sometimes these instructions are not very explicit.

"It has been said that many supplies have been sent to European hospitals that were almost useless because of ignorance and carelessness in their preparation.

"In order to guard against any such catastrophe in the Duluth Red Cross work it has been suggested that the chairman of the industrial committee appoint a committee of instruction and inspection. This, after consultation with the vice chairman and secretary, she has done, naming as such committee: Miss Julia Moore, Fortieth avenue east and Gilliat street; Mrs. A. R. Macfarlane, Hunter's Park, and Miss Amelia Andrews, 1026 East Superior street.

"The members of this committee have had experience in the preparation of hospital supplies and will be glad to pass on their knowledge to others. It will be their duty to visit from time to time the various working circles and give such advice and suggestions as may be necessary. Circle leaders may feel perfectly free to call on them whenever they feel the need for further instructions than the published directions afford.

"It is especially important that surgical pads should be cut, folded and packed in just one particular way. No other will do 'just as well.'

"Let us see that every article sent by the Duluth Red Cross shall be both of the highest service possible and also a credit to Duluth and its branch of the American Red Cross.

"MRS. J. L. WASHBURN,
"Chairman Industrial Committee, Duluth Branch."

Efficient Housekeeping

This Little Pig Went to Breakfast

YOU remember the old adage, "For want of a nail the shoe was lost; for want of a shoe the horse was lost." This applies to the "no breakfast" fad; for want of a stimulating, strength-giving breakfast the morning is often lost, the day is ruined and night finds you still trying to make up for the lost meal.

There are so many good standbys for breakfast that it is hardly fair to single out any one for special attention. If the question of what is best for breakfast were put to the vote, doubtless, "eggs" would drown every other suggestion, but "bacon and eggs" would certainly prove a close second. Therefore, we will let the eggs have it and consider bringing home the bacon.

Since The First Little Pig Went to Market little pig sausages have played return engagements upon our breakfast tables, and how the Little Pig has grown! There are at least one hundred and fifty-seven varieties, if we believe Irvin Cobb, in Germany alone. Edna Ferber insinuates that all the German styles and some original creations are served daily in Milwaukee. Fine and dandy, and more power to the pig, say we. Whether the little sausages are really made of pork or are pork, veal and added cereal, or are the haughty importeu article, or selected for especial trade and packed in fancy cartons and sold at four times their worth, makes no difference. Any sort of sausage, or, as we said at first, even bacon, is the nail that starts the day right.

Both sausage and bacon are best when baked in the oven, instead of being fried, for this permits the fat to drain away and makes the meat more wholesome. Baked mashed potatoes garnished with little sausage cakes or rashers of bacon, sausage patties with tomato sauce, sausage and liver and sausage fried with dried salt beef are four splendid ways to serve this cold-weather meat.

To be right, sausage should be all meat, properly spiced and ground fine. All pork or two parts pork and one part tender beef or veal, with seasoning to suit your taste is a good proportion to use, if you have a meat-grinder and want to make your own. This may be packed into a stone jar and covered with boiling fat and be kept in a cool place for a week or longer.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

I used and enjoyed your directions for flank steak, and thank you for this new dish. Do you advocate scoring all steaks?—Reader.

Reply—Only flank steak is scored, but mangling or pounding tough, fibrous steaks separates the particles, so the meat seems more tender. Pounded steak should have flour rubbed into it and then be placed in a hot frying pan that contains a level tablespoon of dripping or bits of suet. It should be browned quickly on both sides and then cooked slowly. The flour and the quick searing prevents the loss of juices.

How is zephyr wool cleaned after it is made up; I do not wish to wet it?—Nellie.

Reply—Wash it in a bowl of dry flour, rubbing gently with finger tips; let it remain in flour over night and rub again. Hang out of doors until wool is free from flour. All light colored wools may be dry cleaned by this method.

Reply—Two cups dry bread crumbs, cold water to moisten slightly; one-half teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon rubbed sage, a sprinkling of pepper, four tablespoons diced bacon or butter and minced onion to flavor, if you use onion. Mix these ingredients and fill the fish, but do not pack the stuffing in, as it will swell in cooking.

Bed Time Tales

Freddy Graytop's Feast

FOR SOME days after Freddy Graytop moved from the park, where he had lived near Timmy Graytail, to his newly selected home by the alley, he fared very well. He ate choice titbits from the garbage cans; and he made a very jolly game of running up and down the alley.

Of course he was very careful not to be seen—very, very careful! For he was a timid little fellow. But he soon learned just what time of day was the best for his explorations, and also, when he would find the best food in his garbage-can pantries. You may be sure that he did all his exploring during school hours, for he was afraid of boys—he had not yet learned that many boys would be kind and helpful to him.

But one day there came a dreadful blizzard and snowstorm. The housekeepers wrapped their garbage up in papers and left it by the houses, for the paths to the garbage cans were deeply covered with snow. And such a cold wind howled and yowled around every house corner that nobody who could possibly stay indoors even thought of going out.

Freddy! You may be sure he was hungry!

He snuggled down tight in the hole he had found under the floor of a cement garage and he fluffed out his fur to keep the wind off. Ugh! It was cold!

And he had not one bit to eat! You see he had not lived in that new home long enough to store up anything for just such a storm as this, so he simply had to go hungry.

Finally he told himself that the wind was dying down—though really it is doubtful if it was; more likely Freddy's hunger merely got bigger than the wind—and that he could safely venture out for food. He stuck his slim little nose out from the hole in the garage and looked up and down the alley.

Now just at that very minute (would you ever have believed that anything would happen quite so fortunately?) Tom, the 10-year-old boy who lived in the big house across the alley, came running out of his back door and toward the alley. In his two hands he carried a big bowl of nutshells which he hastily threw out into the alley; and then, quite as hastily, he ran back into the house!

He stuck his slim little nose out from the hole in the garage and looked up and down the alley.

Such good luck for Freddy Graytop! He darted out from his warm hole; filled the pouch behind his mouth with the nut shells, and ran back to his corner. Four times he made the trip. Then he fluffed out his fur and settled himself to eat in peace and comfort.

"But it was only nut shells he had found," you say, "and where is a feast about nut shells?" That simply shows how little you know Freddy! For as he went carefully over those thrown-out nut shells he found delicious bits of nut that Tom and his friends had quite overlooked! Freddy Graytop's teeth were sharper than Tom's nutpicks and he made a fine meal off of what had been left in the corners of the shells. Aren't you glad?

Drama League Chooses Two Plays From Contest, for Presentation

The committee on the selection of plays has reported to the board of managers of the Duluth branch of the Drama league that two plays have been chosen for presentation out of the ten that were submitted in the Drama league contest which closed Jan. 1. The plays are "Her Sacred Duty" and "What It Gets Down To" but the authors will not be known until after the presentation, at which time the members of the Drama league will vote on the matter. When the votes have been counted and it is known which play is to receive the $50 prize, the sealed envelopes containing the names of the authors of both plays will be opened and the names will be announced.

The members of the committee that selected the plays expressed themselves yesterday as very much gratified with the results of the contest and said that the other plays had many points of merit. "Her Sacred Duty" and "What It Gets Down To" will be presented by the Drama league at a date which will be decided upon later.

The rules of the contest provided that the contest be open to members of the Drama league, that each play require between fifteen and thirty minutes for presentation, that it be a one-act production.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

The Sex Argument

A certain college debating team, composed of men, has refused to meet a debating team from another college because one of its members is a young woman. The captain of the team declining to debate issued this statement: "We are not afraid of losing because of the woman; it is simply that we do not want to see women participating in contests that were intended for men. We should feel that we must apologize before answering her argument because of her sex. Besides she would have the advantage from the start because the judges would immediately be prejudiced in her favor should she show any natural ability as a debater."

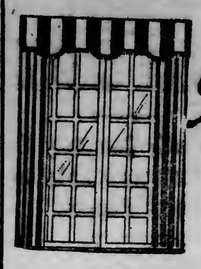

All these objections seemed based upon the sex. Like the racing board of an automobile association who have barred women from participating in races against male opponents and the ruling of the A. A. U. against women swimming in amateur contests against men, this captain of the college debating club would exclude women as opponents.

While I, from a timid woman's standpoint, might see the advisability of keeping women out of automobile racing, and from a moral standpoint preventing the one-piece bathing suit woman from mingling with men, I cannot see the reason for protesting against a woman debater in a team formed for that purpose. As for justice there is no more in one than the other. The woman debater must have ability or she would not have been chosen by her fellow students to represent them in a contest of wit and brains.

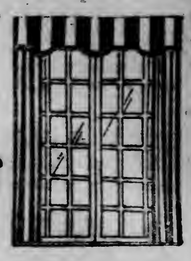

It often seems to me that men are really afraid of women in many respects. It is easier to excuse themselves upon the plea that they would not like to see a woman cut to pieces in a horrible automobile accident and that they would feel like brutes contradicting her and tearing her flimsy arguments to tatters. I am ready to agree that men being men do in their inmost hearts feel that they have a great advantage over women. But they have always taken that advantage.

Most men absolutely hate to have women win recognition in any line which has heretofore been held exclusively by men. I do not blame them exactly, but I do dislike to have them resurrect the sex argument when everything else fails.

Twentieth Century Club Conducts "General Store"

One side of the library clubroom was transformed into a general store yesterday afternoon, with a variety of merchandise that compared well with the stock of any flourishing cross-roads "emporium." All one had to do was to give a quarter and buy her way through, just as the dreamer who went to candy town ate his way through, and buying one's way through meant collecting various useful things for the comfort bags which the members took to yesterday's monthly social meeting of the Twentieth Century club. There were handkerchiefs, tablets, envelopes, playing cards, toothpicks, pencils, buttons, knives, milk chocolate, white and black thread, needles, combs, pipes and tobacco, which were put into comfort bags that ranged from sedate blue denim ones to gaily figured cretonne. The filled bags hanging on the backs of chairs made the room seem as if Santa Claus had paid a belated visit. A committee of the club members will make additional bags for the remaining articles which, with the bags filled yesterday, will be sent to the Red Cross. Mrs. R. A. Webster is in charge of the Red Cross work of the Twentieth Century club.

Suffrage Organizer Talks.

Mrs. McMahon, state suffrage organizer, gave a talk that was appropriate for a Red Cross afternoon, as she told of the effect the ballot for women has on war, contending that women should have the right to decide whether or not there should be war, because the greater amount of suffering falls to their lot in the home in the time of conflict. She said men were not supposed to set valuation on human life as only women have been trained to it.

She said the fundamental business of a woman is the ring to home and explained how the right to vote would help the home woman and that the pure food laws presented by the Federation of Women's Clubs would never be enforced without the votes of women.

Opposed by Vice and Greed.

Commercialized vice and commercialized greed were given as the chief forces against woman suffrage by Mrs. McMahon, who said that malicious elements, under the name of anti-suffragists, send out literature of which the antis know nothing.

The Valentine idea was carried out at the tea table, which was decorated with Valentine symbols and red carnations. Mrs. John H. Norton was chairman of the social committee in charge of yesterday's meeting. Mrs. A. R. Brocklehurst served and Mrs. David H. Williams and Miss Zaidee Gittleson assisted.

Says Ryndam Struck Mine.

Mrs. P. A. Sjosellus of 1016 West First street received a letter yesterday from her daughter, Miss Alice Sjosellus, who was a passenger on the steamship Ryndam when the accident to it occurred off the coast of England. The letter was written in England, Jan. 20, the day after the accident, and emphasized the fact that the vessel had struck a mine. Miss Sjosellus said the passengers secured life belts and that the boats were lowered, but that it was not necessary to make use of them.

In a letter written Jan. 26 to her brother, George Sjoselius, Miss Sjoselius told of being on her way to Schwerin, Germany, where she will fill a grand opera engagement. This letter also came yesterday.

SIDE TALKS

The Intimate Man

"Isn't he the most fascinating man?" raved the Authorman's Wife.

"Yes," said Molly, "he is; but I don't like him."

"Don't like him?" cried the Authorman's Wife. "Why not? He's a wonderful dancer and the most interesting talker, and he has wonderful manners, and you admit yourself he is fascinating."

Molly gave a little shrug. "All true," she admitted; "but I don't like him because I don't trust him. He's the kind of man it's fun to have around, but that it would be torture to be in love with, and double torture to be married to."

I wonder if you've ever met the man Molly is talking about? Of course I don't mean that particular man, but any one of the type.

He's the kind of man that I call the intimate man.

He Was Hoping He Would Have the Good Luck to Meet You.

That is, he creates an atmosphere of intimacy between himself and any woman with whom he happens to be. If he meets you on the street, his manner subtly conveys to you the impression that he had been hoping he would have the good luck to see you, and you pass on from the meeting with a warm, unanalyzed sense of pleasure and self-approval.

To each woman with whom he dances he gives the impression that he has been waiting all the evening for that dance. His conversation is full of subtle flatteries. He never insults you by the awkwardness of blatantly complimentary remarks, but he manages to express his admiration for you in his voice, his manner and in gracefully turned allusions.

Makes Women Like Themselves and Consequently Him.

Though he may never have heard of Colton's cynical advice, "Fill a woman full of self-love and all that runs over will be yours," he instinctively acts on it.

He is the kind of man married women love to have about. He supplies the touch of spice that their existence is so apt to lack. He adds zest and savor to gatherings otherwise composed of sane and satisfied husbands and wives. The women find themselves looking forward to occasions where he will be present and accounting for it by saying, "He is such a wonderful dancer," or "He is so amusing."

On the whole, it seems as though, even if Molly refuses to like him, the Intimate Man must be a very worthwhile person, since he gives pleasure to so many.

Some Poor, Foolish Woman Takes Him Too Seriously.

Yes, except that the pleasure he gives to many is sometimes overbalanced by the pain he gives to a few. There's the girl he's engaged to and the woman he marries (heaven pity them!), and perhaps some other poor fool married woman who takes his intimate manner too seriously and finds herself looking forward too feverishly to meeting him.

Is he to blame for being as he is? Could he be different, or is he just as much as other people the victim of his fatal fascination?

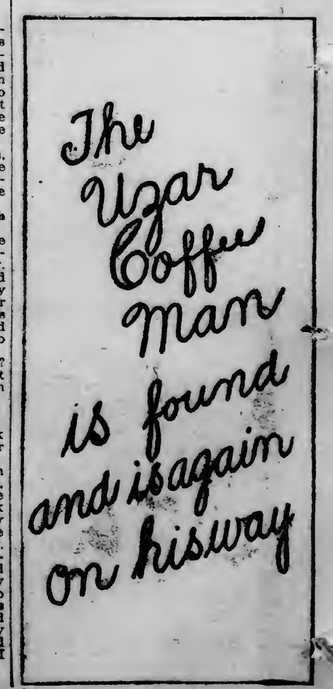

I wonder!

With My Letter Friends.

Question—How much do you think a working girl should spend on her trousseau?—Bride-to-be.

Answer—That depends entirely on her salary, of course. In my opinion, there is too much effort made by the average bride to lay in a large stock of clothes. In these days of rapidly changing styles one seldom gets the full good of the money in this way. My advice to the bride-to-be is to provide herself well with underwear and the little pretties she wouldn't buy at another time, but not to go in too heavily on the outer garments. As to the proportion of income one should spend for such a purpose, perhaps my letter friends would be willing to send us some estimates on this subject. I should be glad to hear from them.

Varied Activities of Women.

The duchess of Norfolk has a collection of parasols of all countries, said to be worth $2,500.

Mollie Fancier of Brooklyn, America's most famous invalid, has not been out of her bed for fifty years.

Two thousand women will serve as judges and clerks of election in Chicago this year, for which they will receive $7 per day.

Mrs. Ida McQuesten, recently elected head of the public schools of Tacoma, Wash., is the first woman ever to hold the position.

Through the genius and industry of Miss Lucile Smith, San Francisco now has a flourishing private school where women are taught to be private secretaries.

Mrs. Frederick C. Penfield, wife of the ambassador to Austria, is assessed to pay a personal tax on a valuation of over $5,000,000 in Philadelphia.

Miss Fanny Bixley, daughter of a millionaire land owner of California, has for several years acted as a special police and probation officer at Long Beach, Cal., where she lives.

The Colony club building in New York has inaugurated a novel feature for women. It is a checking room with maids and kennels for the safe and sanitary housing of the members' pet dogs while their mistresses are enjoying privileges of the club.

Mrs. Jennie Watkins is the only woman member of the exclusive $200,000 "club" of a leading New York life insurance company. To qualify for membership it was necessary for her to write $200,000 worth of insurance in one year.

Contending that women should not sink their identity in that if the man they marry, Mrs. Wallace J. Bennett of Milwaukee has dropped her husband's name and as a speaker for the suffrage cause is billed as Crystal Eastman, her maiden name.

Baby Welfare as a Business.

The following plea for a practical view of Baby week, which will be observed all over the country the first week of March, at the suggestion and under the patronage of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, is made in the Ladies' Home Journal for February:

"Social workers in every city find it difficult to interest people in baby welfare work. The reason for this is hard to understand. Life begins with the baby, and what we do with or for that baby before its seventh year determines the future man or woman. Baby welfare is really the manufacture of future citizens, and this takes it out of the realm of sentiment and makes it practical work—actually a business. If a little baby is not rightly fed or clothed or brought up within the most favorable environment, it means that we are neglecting a work at its real source. Child welfare work is finding hundreds of thousands of children suffering from bad sight or bad teeth or malnutrition or defective growth. Why? Simply because not enough emphasis is placed upon baby welfare work. We must begin with a child before it is a child, when it is a baby. If we get the baby right there is infinitely more chance that the child will be right. That is why baby welfare work is so vital and important; it begins at the beginning; it starts with the manufacture of a citizen at the very first. And that is why the work should command the interest of every man and woman, not because it deals with a baby, but because it has to do with a future citizen. We think of "baby welfare" as a charity, as a philanthropy, but it isn't. It is a business matter, with a return to society and the state that can be figured in actual dollars and cents. Let us all think of baby welfare from this angle."

You Will Have to Admit that Hot Steero Tastes Better

In many homes, hot, beefy, beneficial Steero is taking the place of coffee and tea.

Those people who say, "I like coffee simply because it's a hot drink"—if they mean what they say, will like hot Steero better, because it's more than a hot drink.

Neither coffee nor tea, no matter how well made, can ever have the rich, appetizing, "juices of the beef" taste of Steero. And the beef taste of Steero is skilfully blended with the flavors of various vegetables and a smack of spices.

No one will ever have cause to warn you against Steero. There is no Steero headache, you don't have trouble going to sleep, and you don't get "nerves" if you drink two cups of Steero at dinner.

Hot Steero is made in a minute by pouring boiling water into a cup that contains a Steero Cube.

You can buy Steero Cubes in boxes of 12, 50 or 100 Cubes from Druggists, Grocers and Delicatessen Dealers. Be sure you get Steero. There are imitations.

How to Gain or Lose Twenty Pounds

Every little while some desperate correspondent writes to us to say that she would give anything if she could only find some safe way to grow fat or lean to the extent of twenty pounds or such a matter.

WILLIAM BRADY M.D.

Here is the method, which we unqualifiedly recommend to any individual who is free from organic disease and wishes to add or subtract the sum of twenty pounds to or from an abnormal weight. There is just one drawback about this method of ours, like many of our prescriptions: "You can't have it rubbed in by a hired servant." And some persons might object that it is slow, but our answer to that is that it is sure.

The treatment takes one year.

That will at once reduce the class to a convenient size, for most fat and thin folk want to wither or expand in a few days or never.

Taken daily for one sober year any of the following articles will add twenty pounds to the weight—that is, if taken daily in excess of a normal maintenance diet.

1. Three slices of bread.
2. One-third of a quart of milk (three small glasses).
3. Three-quarters of an ounce of butter.

For fat persons, the problem is much easier. All that is necessary is to cut that amount of nutriment out of the daily diet.

For thin persons it is even a simpler problem. Just eat that amount as a fourth meal, at bedtime.

This is no theory alone. It is the tried and true method that has worked out exactly as described in many a case.

Just two things are essential for success in the treatment—faith and perseverance.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

The Dentist Ought to Know.

My dentist laughs at the emetine treatment and tells me pyorrhea is not due to amebas, but to streptococci. He advises scaling, vaccines, and local use of an iodine-zinc-iodide-glycerin solution every day or two.

Answer—In your case, the dentist ought to know best. If he found streptococci, and not amebas, under the microscope, he is competent to back up his version. As for scaling, that is practised by most dentists, and it is usually necessary. The emetine treatment does not mean neglect of the mouth; on the contrary, the dentist should co-operate with the doctor in the treatment.

Baked Potatoes.

Please inform me whether boiled or baked potatoes are preferable for an invalid.

Answer—Baked potatoes are more digestible, because more of the starch is converted into soluble dextrin.

Diet for Baby 15 Months Old.

Can you give me the proper diet for a baby 15 months old?

Answer—This is about right for a baby from one year to 18 months: Milk, stale bread soaked in milk, well-cooked oatmeal, arrowroot, or other porridge or ready prepared breakfast food, soft-boiled egg, beef broth or mutton broth, rice, tapioca (no raisins), orange juice, prune juice.

BRIGHT FEATURES AT GRAND.

There were a number of interesting features on the new show at the Grand theater yesterday, and the show was witnessed by large audiences as usual.

Probably the most entertaining act on the vaudeville program is that of Grace and Ernie Forrest, who present song, dance and comedy. Mr. Forrest was here some time ago in a musical single act and he made a big hit. This time he is assisted by Grace Forrest—wife or sister—and the act is doubly interesting. He is one of the higher class of banjo players and his work on the xylophone is almost as interesting. Miss Forrest sings a little, dances more, and entertains well all of the time she is on the stage.

The Troy Comedy Four, as a male quartet, are much above the average, and as comedians they dispel gloom whenever their infectious humor is turned loose.

"Two Ways to Look" is a comedy sketch by Hickman Brothers that has many bright lines, some clever situations, and is well acted. Emmett's Canines are cleverly trained dogs who do many interesting stunts.

"The Devil in Chief," a three-reel photoplay, featuring Tyrone Power, is an unusually strong film drama, but too gruesome to be especially entertaining. The story is that of a man who misplaces his love, is betrayed by the woman and vows vengeance on every living thing—man and beast. His career of vengeance finally is brought to an end when he jumps over a cliff. A number of comedy films keep the audience in good nature and offset the effects of the Power film.

Today and tomorrow will be shown another installment of the Stingaree stories.

Theater Gossip.

The motion pictures illustrating the twilight sleep treatment for maternity, being shown at the Lyceum this week, continue to draw good audiences. The pictures are the same as shown in the Eastern cities last summer by Dr. Kurt E. Schlossingk, associated with Prof. Kroenig and Glauss, the discoverers of the twilight treatment when he came to this country to demonstrate to physicians in hospital clinics. They aroused such interest that the Motherhood Educational society arranged for a tour of leading cities. At Minneapolis the engagement was extended another week and Mrs. Winonah Stevens Abbott, who delivers a lecture based upon Dr. Schlossingk's explanations, made trips each afternoon to St. Paul where she again addressed women audiences at the Metropolitan opera house there. She was formerly associate editor of "The Farmer's Wife," the author of fifteen books for women and girls, and well known as magazine writer. The pictures show twilight mothers and babies.

MARIE DORO PLEASES REX PATRONS

In "The Wood Nymph," a beautiful girl, carefully guarded from all men in the depths of a great forest, meets her ideal though he is not the Apollo she dreamed of. The scene of the plot is among the redwoods of California. According to the story, Miss Doro as the nymph has grown up under the care of a mother who has forsaken civilization to live in a finely furnished loghouse in the woods. There is a stalwart Amazon-like servant, who guards the girl jealously. The nymph knows nothing of men's society, and has been taught to distrust them, but in her studies of the Greek gods, Apollo is her ideal. There are some beautiful dancing scenes as Marie Doro (Daphne or the wood nymph) goes dancing through the woods, a pretty figure in her diaphanous robes of white. Miss Doro will be at the Rex today and tomorrow.

Peal after peal of laughter greets Harry Gribbon in "Perils of the Park," the Keystone-Triangle on today's program.

The patrons, employes and even the manager whistle "Between Us" since Charles Young began singing this song at the Rex.

TWO NEW STARS AT THE LYRIC.

Widely known to motion picture devotees throughout the country, Cleo Ridgely and Wallace Reid, both of whom frequently have appeared in casts of famous stars, will make their first appearance as co-stars in the Lasky feature production, "The Golden Chance," at the Lyric today and tomorrow.

Miss Ridgely's last appearance at the Rex was in the title role of "The Chorus Lady." Mr. Reid will be well remembered also in this production, but his chief claim of popularity has been by reason of his remarkable performances as Don Jose in support of Geraldine Farrar in the Lasky production of "Carmen". Miss Ridgely very truthfully portrays the poverty-stricken young woman, who at last has the opportunity to enjoy for a brief period the luxuries of life and to forget her own poverty, and grasps at the chance. Cinderella-like she meets a financial prince, Wallace Reid, who falls in love with her. For all she has to renounce, "The Golden Chance" ends happily.

ZELDA FILM REFUTES OLD SAYING.

"A Price for Folly," a remarkable five-part Big Four wonderplay, starring Edith Storey and Antonio Moreno, the two popular screen stars, will be the feature offered the motion picture patrons at the Zelda theater for three days, commencing tomorrow.

It has always been said that a "woman pays." "A Price for Folly" by George Dillenback refutes this statement. The story is unique, original and refutes the axiom that a woman "always" pays.

It took a strong personality to play the leading part in this feature—that of a coquette, premier danseuse and a woman of a marble heart, but Miss Storey handles each part well and shows she is one of the most versatile actresses appearing before the motion picture camera. Miss Storey is ably assisted by Antonio Moreno and an excellent cast. "The Price of Folly" is filled with pathos, love and hatred, and the story runs smoothly to its tragic climax.

"The Turmoil," Booth Tarkington's great novel, picturized in five parts and starring the gifted actress, Valli Valli, will show for the last time today.

TODAY'S BEAUTY HINT

It is not necessary to shampoo quite so frequently if your hair is properly cleansed each time by use of a really good shampoo. The easiest to use and quickest drying shampoo that we can recommend to our readers may be prepared very cheaply by dissolving a teaspoonful of canthrox, obtained from your druggist, in a cup of hot water. This rubbed into the scalp creates a thick lather, soothing and cooling in its action, as well as very beneficial to scalp and hair. After rinsing, the scalp is fresh and clean, while the hair dries quickly and evenly, developing a bright luster and a soft fluffiness that makes it seem very heavy.—Advertisement.

INTERVIEWED WITH PRESIDENT LINCOLN

Judge J. D. Ensign, dean of the Duluth bench and bar, is perhaps the only Duluthian now alive who has had the distinction of interviewing Abraham Lincoln.

Judge Ensign, then a young man in his twenties, spent about two hours with the great emancipator on the day before his inauguration as president. The interview took place in Washington in the apartments of a senator, with whom Judge Ensign was acquainted.

"My recollection of just what took place is now very hazy. I do remember, however, that Mr. Lincoln impressed me very much," said Judge Ensign today.

The Men's Club of the Endion M. E. church has invited Judge Ensign to give his Lincoln reminiscence at a special Lincoln day anniversary dinner which will be given Saturday evening at the Endion church.

Several G. A. R. men will be present at the dinner. Judge Smallwood of the municipal court, a veteran, will respond to a toast. Among other speakers will be Elmer F. Blu and Rabbi Lefkovits. The dinner will begin at 6:15 o'clock. Cards have been issued to 150 guests.

NO DISTRICT COURT HELD AT HIBBING

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—There was o session of the district court today, as the lawyers who were to represent their clients in two cases called for this morning were unable to appear, and Judge Hughes dismissed the jurors until tomorrow morning, when the case of Samuel Bowram vs. The Buhl Miner will commence.

A supper will be served at 6:15 o'clock by the women of the First church, after which the evening's program will commence. W. L. Smithies, president of the Methodist union and one of the leading members of the church in this state, will preside.

The occasion will be marked by the presence of Bishop William F. Anderson of Cincinnati, one of the foremost churchmen in this country. TODAY IN HISTORY.

General William Tecumseh Sherman born, 1820.

Born in Ohio, General Sherman was graduated from West Point in 1840, and during the war with Mexico was acting assistant adjutant general in California. Resigned from the army to go into business; tried the law; became superintendent of a military academy in Louisiana; when the war broke out was running a street railway in St. Louis. His gallant service in the Civil war culminated in the invasion of the South which split the Confederacy and cut off Lee. Was commanding general of the army in 1869; died Feb. 14, 1891.

READING (available in Duluth public library)—Sherman's Memoirs (clear, direct, free from rhetorical ornaments, abounding in anecdotes); The Sherman Letters (correspondence between General Sherman and Senator Sherman, 1837-1891); General Sherman, by Brig.-Gen. M. F. Force (especially interesting in its accounts of Sherman's relations toward his fellow-commanders).

COLOMBIA'S DISTRESSING BEHAVIOR.

But why should there be embodied in a treaty "a mutual expression of regret on the part of the United States and Colombia" for what happened at the time of the Panama incident? The United States regrets Colombia's unfortunate behavior at that time, to be sure, but why hurt Colombia's feelings by mentioning it in a treaty?—Kansas City Star, Roosevelt organ.

Colombia's conduct at the time of the Panama incident was most distressing indeed. Dear me, how sad it was to see!

Colombia, being selfish and sordid, wanted to keep this territory—or, if it parted with it, it wanted to be paid for it. The very idea! Why, if your neighbor wanted part of your lot for a garage site, you'd just let him take it and never say a word, wouldn't you? Bless your heart, of course you would—not!

Well, anyway, presently there was a "revolution." The Republic of Panama, embracing just the territory Roosevelt needed for his canal, seceded from Colombia and was immediately recognized by President Roosevelt—who, oddly enough, seemed to have had an advance tip on the projected "revolution," and to know all about it. A United States army officer in uniform, it is said, ran up the new flag when the Republic of Panama was declared.

Next—presto chango!—the land needed for the canal was United States territory—the Canal zone.

"I took it," boasted Roosevelt afterwards.

And Colombia had no finer instincts than to be mad about it, to think it had been cheated and robbed, and to protest with a loud outcry!

Certainly it was shockingly bad conduct on Colombia's part, and showed but a poor sense of the humility the weak ought to display toward the strong.

* * * * * *

Incidentally, the Kansas City Star is the very kind of paper that, if it were not for its delusions about Roosevelt, would be denouncing the Panama conspiracy with might and main.

One of the worst hurts Roosevelt has done his country is that he has blunted the fine edge of the moral distinctions of so many of his followers, and it's a great pity.

Now that Lakeside has produced a real wildcat, the world may go to sleep pending the announcement of a rival attraction by Woodland.

NO NEW CONDITIONS IMPOSED UPON GERMANY.

The St. Paul Dispatch, seemingly hard put to it for an occasion for criticizing the president, says that the administration made a very bad mistake in introducing new and harsher demands just when the Lusitania negotiations were drawing to a harmonious conclusion.

If that had happened, the Dispatch would be more than right. It would not only be a mistake, but shameful sharp practice.

Fortunately, the Dispatch is not correct. It has fallen into the strange error of accepting too readily the statement of Dr. Alfred Zimmerman, the German under secretary of state for foreign affairs, who is quoted as protesting against "new demands." It is much to be doubted that he said anything of the kind, for he certainly knows better.

What the United States was asking Germany to do was to "disavow" the Lusitania assassination; and this Germany refuses to do because it admits having given orders allowing such acts. It assumes full responsibility, and inferentially acknowledges its error by pointing out that it has issued orders forbidding such acts hereafter—issued them, indeed, immediately after the Lusitania outrage—and by agreeing to pay compensation for the American lives lost.

But this demand for disavowal is not new. It is as old as the first Lusitania note, dated May 13, 1915, in which this language appears:

> It (the American government) confidently expects, therefore, that the imperial German government will DISAVOW the acts of which the government of the United States complains, that they will make reparation so far as reparation is possible for injuries which are without measure, and that they will take immediate steps to prevent the recurrence of anything so obviously subversive of the principles of warfare for which the imperial German government have in the past so wisely and so firmly contended.

June 9, 1915, the American government swept aside the German subterfuges and in its second Lusitania note "very earnestly and very solemnly" renewed the demands of its first note.

July 21, 1915, in a third note, the American government repeated its original demands in the following words:

> In view of the admission of illegality made by the imperial government when it pleaded the right of retaliation in defense of its acts and in view of the manifest possibility of conforming to the established rules of naval warfare, the government of the United States cannot believe that the imperial government will longer refrain from DISAVOWING THE WANTON ACT of its naval commander in sinking the Lusitania or from offering reparation for the American lives lost, so far as reparation can be made for a needless destruction of human life by an illegal act.

So Dr. Zimmerman, if he is correctly quoted, is entirely wrong; and the St. Paul Dispatch, which has accepted his version as true instead of reading the plain record, is wrong with him.

Germany has admitted the illegality of her act by pleading the right of retaliation. Germany has conceded every demand of the United States except the one technical point of explicit disavowal. Germany has ceased the acts complained of, and has therefore substantially met the contentions of this country in every material respect. That the controversy seems likely to be settled finally on that ground is splendid news. It is news still more splendid that this great victory was achieved without firing a shot or leveling a gun.

Georgia is threatening to take some steps that may eventually lead to a possible means of ultimately discouraging lynching. Good for Georgia!

COUNTY ROAD WORK IN THE SNOW.

There has been a little discussion in the Open Court about the action of the county commissioners in sending out men to clear roads of snow drifts so teams can get by.

Why under the sun anybody—especially anybody in the country—should criticize this action it is hard to see. The cost is small and the good done must be great. The only trouble is that it would be a physical impossibility to clear the drifts on all the roads, but that shouldn't stop the commissioners from going as far as they can.

For doing what they can to make the drift-covered roads available for farmers the commissioners are doing work as needful and helpful as anything they do in the summer, and they ought to be applauded and not criticized for it, we should think.

At least it will be interesting to see along what line the preparedness idea is applied in the new styles.

THE SAME OLD AMERICANISM.

There is "the new freedom."

And there is "the new nationalism."

But it's the same old Americanism which President Wilson stands for, acts in harmony with, and summons to his aid in the high tasks confronting the administration.

Kansas high school students have translated "Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star" into Latin. If it takes, that might be a quick way to get rid of some of our popular songs.

Advertising As Protection

Chicago Herald: We hear a good deal of the advisability of legislation to protect this country against the "dumping" of European goods after the war. As for the argument in favor of more protection by means of a tariff readjustment, that is always with us. However, it has remained for C. E. Raymond, in one of the editorials on "Bigger, Better Business" which have been appearing for some time in the Herald, to call attention to the value of advertising as protection for the home market.

"The greatest function of consumer advertising campaigns in the present crisis," very acutely observes Mr. Raymond, "lies in the bulwarks they build against foreign competition. Habit is strong. If people once get into the habit of using a satisfactory article sold at a satisfactory price it is hard to make them change to another. By good, well-planned campaigns we can build for our products a protecting wall that will be better than any tariff we ever built. They will keep the foreign competitor out because the consumer doesn't want him—which is a better way of keeping him out than any that can be devised because the manufacturer does not want him."

There is assuredly merit in the idea. One has only to try to imagine a foreign product coming in and disputing with any success whtaever the market against any one of three or four of the most widely advertised and firmly established articles in America today to realize its genuine practicality. Perhaps some day this sort of protection may come to be recognized as the most important of all, and the real protective experts will be found not in congress but in the ranks of the progressive and scientific advertising men of the country.

A Philosopher's View of the War.

Hermann Keyserling in the Atlantic: History will probably consider this conflagration as the second chief act of that great drama of which the French revolution was the first. The latter inaugurated the emancipation of all nations, notwithstanding the fact that at first it brought oppression and even slavery to them; this war, horrible though it be, means the prelude to a still more wide-reaching emancipation. And the latter's process has already begun; even now the ideals we fight for are shaping the world. Whoever may be eventually the master between the Vistula and the Bug, free shall Poland become; Austria, once the stronghold of reaction, is developing, for fear of losing her Slav subjects, a capacity of ruling on liberal lines, which may become an example to all states inhabited by diverse races. Russia has started full speed on a process of entire renewal, the ultimate result of which none can as yet foretell.

A Wound From a Friend

By Savoyard.

Washington, Feb. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mr. Jacob H. Schiff ranks with the greatest and most successful business men the world ever saw. He is the controlling spirit of one of the most extensive banking houses in this or any other country. He has a genius for finance and for business and is a master of the difficult and intricate science of political economy. At a luncheon held at the Republican club in New York the other day Mr. Schiff delivered himself of the following:

"We have prosperity, and I believe it will last. We may have a slight setback at times, but it will continue after this terrible war is over. I am a man with a hyphen. I am a Republican-Democrat. I voted for Wilson, the first Democratic president I have voted for in fifty years. I want to say that my heart is with the Republicans, but my common sense is with the Democrats. We are prosperous and we will continue prosperous. Why, nothing can stop that great prosperity except tariff agitation. I feel this, and standing here on this holy Republican ground, I say that if you renew the tariff agitation in the next campaign and threaten the country again with a high protective tariff, the people will have none of it. I say this, not because I love the Republican party less, but because I love it more."

That was strange preachment in that society, the very aristocracy of the Republican party, coming as it did from one of the pillars of the party. But Mr. Schiff went further and astounded his Republican associates with this tremendous thought:

"If you think we need preparedness, I will tell you how we can avoid it—by stopping the necessity for war; and wars will never cease so long as custom houses exist. This is an economic war and an endeavor to find new markets. The fight for them will never stop until we have world free trade."

That was rubbing it in with a vengeance, and Mr. Chauncey Depew felt called upon to advocate the old worn-out dogma of protection. But nobody ever took Chauncey seriously, though he is the man who decided for Harrison in 1888 when James G. Blaine ordered the national convention to nominate either Harrison or Allison.

One thing is certain, and that is that the Republican party cannot get along if it alienate those of its number who act with and think as Jacob H. Schiff acts and thinks. He is not alone. He represents a numerous and a powerful class and here he is proclaiming himself an out and out free-trader. Garfield, chosen to the presidency by the Republican party, was free trader enough to belong to the Cobden club of London. Roosevelt, another Republican president, preached free trade in his voluminous writings. William B. Allison made the first free trade speech congress heard after the war of 1861-65. John Sherman stigmatized our protected manufacturers as "robber barons." Jonathan P. Dolliver, the greatest senator Iowa ever had in congress, died a free trader. James G. Blaine apologized for a protective tariff by suggesting reciprocity, which is free trade by treaty instead of by act of congress.

Our own marvelous career as a people is a vindication of the principle of free trade, which has been practiced for more than six score years by the states of our Union among themselves. But for that wise provision in our Federal Constitution there would be numerous nationalities carved out of the states of our Union. The war of 1861-65 was fought on the part of the North as much to preserve free trade among the states as it was to abolish African slavery. Nay, more. The North would not have shed a drop of blood to free the negro—it was to save the Union that the North fought.

Greater men than Mr. Schiff, some of the most powerful thinkers and profoundest sages of the world, have preached that the way to abolish war, disband armies, dismantle fortresses, and scrap navies, is to establish universal free trade throughout the world. Then will follow the brotherhood of man, and not till then. For ages wars in Europe were the fruit of quarrels, as personal as political, between dynasties. Frederick the Great spoke slightingly of a harlot at the court of Louis XV, and a long and bloody war came of it. Charles V, Francis I and Henry VIII set armies in the field to slay and be slain as the result of petty jealousies and quarrels among the three of them. But that sort of thing is impossible now. Wars are made by peoples and lust of trade is the great moving cause.

If every people enjoyed free trade with every other people as it exists between the states of our Union, each community would produce that it could fashion or grow cheapest and exchange it for what others could product cheapest. That is what caused our Union to become so powerful and so opulent. Bismarck saw it, seized it, and adopted it. Until he became supreme every petty and great German state had a tariff against every other petty and great German state, and Germany was as poor as poverty. Bismarck established free trade between all the states of the empire he created and Germany waxed in wealth and power even faster than we.

Proctor Knott used to set the table in a roar repeating a criticism Mr. Lige Pinkston passed on a dog that culminated this way:

"Men, that 'ar dog will set on his hanches till he wears out a thousand tails barkin' up a tree there's nothin' in."

I fear Mr. Schiff is barking up a tree there's nothing in if he imagines the Republican party is going to abandon the dogma of a high and exorbitant and outrageous robber tariff.

Men of Mr. Schiff's ideas will not make the platform. Penusylvania will fashion that.

Centralized.

Richmond Times-Dispatch: Grubbs—Do you think Congressman Hammfatt is able always to reconcile duty with performance?

Stubbs—Easily. You see, the congressman is profoundly convinced that anything that is good for him is good for the country.

Rippling Rhymes

By Walt Mason

Wind-Jamming

At all our modern colleges, where we are told true knowledge is, they train boys to orate: the student who can speechify, and paw the air and screechify, is hailed as something great. The country's needing workingmen, and not the loud-voiced shirking men who labor with their jaws; the list is ever narrowing of men who're fit for harrowing, for wielding plows and saws. The list is always lengthening of fellows who are strengthening their lungs by exercise; they talk to us eternally, they whoop it up diurnally, doggone their useless eyes. Methinks it's rather dangerous to take the young men grangerous, and make them orateers, to send them yawping, yammering, the poor old welkin hammering, through all their futile years. Of all the worthless oddities, of all the punk commodities, from here to furthest Ind, of all the things that clammily depress the human family, the worst is Speaker's Wind.

Afraid to Be Called "Tightwad"

James Schermerhorn, Editor of the Detroit Times, in Association Men.

I honor my Holland Dutch father for having been a "tightwad." To be sure, in his case necessity was the foster-parent of "tightwaddedness." He brought up a family of twelve on a Democratic weekly in Southern Michigan, published on the county line that marked the contiguity of two hopelessly Republican counties. Thus, while he did not have to wrestle with the encroaching seas as his ancestors did, there were plenty of facilities for beating the Dutch.

I have always had a responsive feeling for that self-made man whose autobiography declares that the family was so large it was always his fate to eat at the second table, and that he was 16 years old before he discovered there was any part of the chicken but the neck.

I never discovered that there was any kind of pocket money except what a boy puts in there himself from shoveling snow from the widow's corner lot, peddling handbills and horseradish and hoisting stovewood to the doctor's office on the third floor of the leading office building of the village (no modern steel structure has ever seemed to me so much like a skyscraper).

These comprised the "Boy Scout" or "physical culture" course, with which my vocational training in the printing office was supplemented.

Yet it doesn't come back to me now after the lapse of forty years as a thorny pathway—not at all! Rather, it takes the form of a flower-strewn boyhood, and the particular modest perennial of the moist lowlands that sends its delicate beauty and fragrance across the years was the golden cowslip. I gathered it by the basketful while it was still wet with the morning dew, and from the proceeds of many days' vending of the tender edible, in successful competition with dandelion greens, at the doors of the village epicures, I financed a trip to York state for my mother. You cannot convince me that the choice of a national flower does not lie between my two favorites—cowslips, that wafted my mother back to the scenes of her girlhood, and sweet peas, which the only other woman in the world wore at her wedding.

When I came to establishing a daily newspaper that wouldn't be out of place in a Y. M. C. A. reading room, I realized there was something providential in those early lessons of frugality and self-reliance. I had learned to labor, to be content with little and to wait.

Then here's to the disciplinary ecstasy of scrimping—of going without for conscience sake. Anyone can burn up money, but only to the provident is reserved the fascination of seeing how far a dollar can go without exceeding the speed limit. When luxury lures or the tip-seeker hovers near, it is more manly to hold the wad tight for those who have a just claim upon it for service or account rendered. It is better to be a tightwad than to be in a tight place when old age or the tax-gatherer comes. Better to be a Nevertreat or a Nevertip than to be a Ne'erdowell or a Neverpay!

To use the Detroit version of the Proverbs, "A good name is more to be desired than a large touring car." Let us abhor extravagance, of living beyond our means. Let us resist that slavish subserviency to custom that keeps up appearances when we cannot keep up our credit. Let us be braver than he that taketh an entangled trench by living our own lives as we can afford to live them uninfluenced by the extravagance next door. If the neighbor's children have a dancing master we have no right to keep the grocer dancing for his pay in order to educate the youthful feet of our household. The essential thing is to place those sprightly feet first in the path of simple living and systematic saving.

Then can we unite fervently in that verse for the thrifty in the family hymn—

We thank Thee, too, that Thou has kept
The best in store;
We have enough, yet not too much
To long for more.

The Farmer's Wife

Congressman J. H. ("Cyclone") Davis of Texas in the Congressional Record: You have read of heroes on the field of battle, or deeds devoted and glorious in religion. But the most self-sacrificing member of civilization is the farmer's wife. The government work is eight hours a day; a common laborer puts in ten hours and counts the tick of the clock on extra time. But around 5,000,000 farmers' homes, day by day, there is a farmer's wife who has no time limit to her toil. The farmer's plow stops on Sunday, but the farmer's wife

Must cook and scrub and wash and rub
And make up beds and sweep the floor
Just as she did the week before.

Yes, even more. For while the Lord's day brings a thrill of joy for her piously inclined heart, it also brings a vast amount of extra work. Yet, God bless her, she gets to church on time, and has an innocent, Virgin Mary smile that marks her as a consecrated Christian. We often find her weary and faint, tired of the cooking and cleaning, washing and bleaching and ironing. Canning, pickling and preserving add fuel to the flames that consume her. Nothing seems so desirable as to just turn loose and take a vacation, which she has read about but never enjoyed. The thought of lakesides and seashores gives her a veritable headache of longing; but one glance at her pocketbook tells how impractical such longings are. In the closing scenes of her life we see her as she really is. Dressed in the raiment of righteousness, she stands just this side of the jasper wall that separates us from the great beyond. The evening shadows fall thick and fast. Glintings of a well-spent and useful life glow in her countenance. The golden gates swing ajar and she is soon to leave this great, growing, greedy world. When her last lesson of life has been recited, she sees the glimmer of a crown shining in the gloaming of eternity, and when the night shadows fall, too heavy for further toil, the dear Lord giveth His beloved sleep.

In the name of 5,000,000 farmers' wives I plead for an honest system of rural credits.

An American Citizen.

Henry J. Fletcher in the Atlantic: The supreme court of Minnesota, as late as 1909, held a man fit for citizenship who, though 46 years of age, did not know whether the president of the United States was George Washington or Theodore Roosevelt, but thought it was Washington; did not know where the capital of the state was located, but thought it was probably Minneapolis or Duluth; did not know who was governor of Minnesota, the state in which he had lived for twenty-four years, or where the laws of Minnesota are made, or who makes them, but guessed it was the governor; did not know what it means to take the oath of allegiance to his country; did not know anything whatever about the Constitution, although he had heard of it; admitted that if he took the oath to support the Constitution of the United States he would not know what it meant. The court, with these facts in mind, considered that this man was "attached to the principles of the Constitution of the United States."

Dry Weather.

London Punch: A conversation in the trenches: Private Dougal McTavish (late of the Alberta police)—Mon, in ma section 'tis often fafty degrees below zero. But, bless ye, 'tis dry cold; ye'll never feel it.

L. C. Owen Tyrrell (late of Carpentaria Telegraphs)—Down-under it is usually 125 in the shade. But thin it is dry heat; you are nivir sinsible of ut.

Corporal James Brown (late tram conductor, Vancouver)—In B. C. we stake up 312 to 314 rainy days in the year. But it's dry rain; it don't wet ye.

Political Straws in the Minnesota Breezes

Campaign Subjects Discussed by Minnesota Editors.

Well, Rather.

Donnelly Star: The poor old Republican party is pretty hard up when it has to invade the United States supreme court to obtain a candidate for president whose record will stand inspection.

About Taxes.

Mankato Review: "If you don't like the stamp taxes which cause you a dollar's worth of inconvenience and two dollars' worth of irritation for every hundred cents' worth of stamps you lick, just spend 6 cents for three postage stamps and put them on letters to your senators and congressmen and tell them what you think about it. That use of stamps may bring a relief."—Bemidji Pioneer.

Better put it this way: If you object to paying $1 in stamp taxes, all of which goes direct to support the government, and would rather pay $15 or $20 in indirect taxes on the goods you buy, of which only $1 will ever reach the government, write the sort of letters the Bemidji paper recommends and ask for another Payne-Aldrich tariff law.

And It's Not Due to the War, Either.

Red Wing Eagle: "Money to loan on second mortgages in quantities and on terms to suit" is the way an advertisement in a Minnesota paper reads. And this is under a Democratic administration! How different from conditions under some Republican administrations we have known, when plutocrats wouldn't let go of money even on gilt edge first mortgages.

Evenhanded Justice.

Walker Pilot: It already begins to look as though both our next governor and lieutenant governor were to be men from the cities. The next United States senator will be a city man; the state auditor, insurance commissioner and three of the associate justices are from the cities. But the country towns need not despair—they furnish a big majority of the state's notary publics.

One Old Claim Nailed.

Shakopee Argus: We point to the manifest abundant prosperity throughout the land as a final and complete refutation of the Republican pretense of partnership with the divinity or Providence, and congratulate the Democratic administration upon the unexampled prosperity now prevailing and the certainty of its continuance and improving abundance.

Might as Well Put It This Way as Any.

Long Prairie Leader: There is a strong undercurrent of opinion that Theodore Roosevelt will be the next Republican nominee for president. The demand for his leadership is growing. No question about it.

Sam's Case Is Stated.

Roseau Times: It was the politicians who defeated Jake Jacobson, a true friend of the people, and it is the political organization of the Republican party that will try and defeat Iverson as they did Bob Dunn and Jacobson. Do not be deceived again, but do your own thinking and own voting. Iverson is going to be nominated and elected and if the people of this county have a spark of gratitude in their make-up Mr. Iverson will be indorsed for the nomination by the Republicans of Roseau county.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Romans xii, 9-18.

Love finds her joy in seeing others crowned. Envy darkness when she sees the garland given to another. Jealousy has no festival except when she is "Queen of the May." But love thrills to another's exaltation. She feels the glow of another's triumph. When another basks in favor her own "time of singing of birds is come!"

And all this is because love has wonderful chords which vibrate to the secret things in the souls of others. Indeed, the gift of love is just the gift of delicate correspondence, the power of exquisite fellow-feeling, the ability to "rejoice with them that weep." When, therefore, the soul of another is exultant, and the wedding bells are ringing, love's kindred bells ring a merry peal. When the soul of another is depressed, and a funeral dirge is wailing, love's kindred chords wail in sad communion. So love can enter another's state as though it were her own.

Our Master spake condemningly of those who have lost this exquisite gift. They have lost their power of response. "We have piped with you, and ye have not danced; we have mourned with you, and ye have not lamented." They lived in selfish and loveless isolation. They have lost all power of tender communion.—From Daily Meditations.

Dayton, Ohio.

The Evidence in the Case.

John Koren in the Atlantic: In case of well-defined criminality, it seems easy to fix a relation between it and alcohol, provided we are willing to accept the personal statements of offenders at the face value. It is characteristic of humanity generally, and particularly of the criminal, to offer excuses for wrongdoing; and when questioned about his drink habits he eagerly offers them as a palliating explanation of his offense. Thus it happened not long ago that more than a thousand convicts in the Eastern penitentiary of Philadelphia declared drink to have precipitated their downfall, and solemnly petitioned for the enactment of national prohibition! The affair would not deserve serious mention except as a sample of the evidence offered, and doubtless accepted by many as proof of the intimacy between drink and criminality.

The Children's Hour.

Between the dark and the daylight,
When the night is beginning to lower,
Comes a pause in the day's occupations,
That is known as the Children's Hour.

I hear in the chamber above me
The patter of little feet,
The sound of a door that is opened,
And voices soft and sweet.

From my study I see in the lamplight,
Descending the broad hall stair,
Grave Alice, and laughing Allegra,
And Edith with golden hair.

A whisper, and then a silence;
Yet I know by their merry eyes
They are plotting and planning together
To take me by surprise.

A sudden rush from the stairway,
A sudden raid from the hall;
By three doors left unguarded,
They enter my castle wall.

They climb up into my turret
O'er the arms and back of my chair;
If I try to escape, they surround me;
They seem to be everywhere.

They almost devour me with kisses,
Their arms about me entwine,
Till I think of the Bishop of Bingen
In his Mouse-Tower on the Rhine.

Do you think, O blue-eyed banditti,
Because you have scaled the wall,
Such an old mustache as I am
Is not a match for you all.

I have you fast in my fortress,
And will not let you depart,
But put you down into the dungeon
In the round-tower of my heart.

And there will I keep you forever,
Yes, forever and a day,
Till the walls shall crumble to ruin,
And molder in dust away.

—Longfellow.

Blushing For Americans

Editorial in the Boston Globe.

Somewhere midway in most war correspondence expect to read: "Americans are hated here more than they were at this time last year." It has almost become a formula. We are told that the French hold us in disdain for not rallying to them in memory of Lafayette; that the British scorn us for allowing them to fight for us "the battles of democracy;" that the Russian grand dukes regard us with contempt and that the Germans hate us for making shells for their enemies.

One would infer that hate had become a staple of the European export trade; "American hates are quoted at, par today. They are strong in Saxony; in London they have fallen off two points;" * * * The daily hate reports have become almost as grotesque as this, and the English, who have a much keener sense of humor than we give them credit for, know it. One of the funniest pictures published in London Punch since the war began is that of the Prussian household (including the dachshund) "having its morning hate."

All this has produced among us the unpleasant reflex of people who, unduly sensitive to outside opinion, habitually "blush for America." They blush on platform and in print.

It is by no means denied that some such hatred of the United States does exist. It would be strange if it did not. But when we examine its origin it begins to wear a different hue.

In July, 1914, there was, between the peoples of Europe (as distinct from their government) nothing that could be called active enmity. But among their rulers enmities were active enough. To read the records of diplomatic intrigues during the first fifteen years of the present century is to understand whence came all these hatreds.

Anglo-French hate versus Prussian hate in Morocco in 1905; Anglo-French-Italian hate versus Teutonic-Turkish hate in Tripoli in 1911; Anglo-Russian hate versus German hate in Persia in 1910; and a whole witches' caldron of hates in the Balkans—these were the evil legacies which descended from diplomats to peoples in July, 1914.

The mischief is done; the dragon's teeth are sown and the armed men have sprung up out of the furrows to destroy one another. Hatred is as contagious as good will. With the European caldron so full of hate, it is no wonder that some of it spills over on us. But here is the curious part; hatred cannot harm those who refuse to hate in turn.

This is a good cure for us. That people in the depths of suffering, with broken lives and broken hearts, should resent the comfort of a neighbor is only human. All the more reason, then, that the neighbor should not reply in kind. Besides, it is through no peculiar merit of ours that we have, thus far, been spared the ordeal.

Further, insofar as the Germans do hate us for making the shells which kill their soldiers, we have no reply except possibly, that they might try to remember that this trade does not by any means include the whole or even the majority of the American people.

By one means or another we are part inheritors of the poisonous crop sown by European diplomacy, which has sprouted in hate and death all over the world. Our best attitude toward it is that of the manly, honest Banquo in "Macbeth," who strides boldly up to the witches and tells them that he neither begs their favor nor fears their hate. The result is that the witches have no power to harm him.

This hate-talk is evidently designed to either make the people of the United States ashamed of something for which they are not to blame, or else to frighten them into taking sides. The latter object has evidently succeeded with a few who are now blushing in italics and clamoring for a navy larger than Britain's and an army stronger than Prussia's own.

The rank and file of the American people, however, decline to respond to such treatment. They have too much self-respect.

To hate anybody in Europe today is very much like hating the victim of a railroad wreck.

If we do our share in the rescue work to come, whatsoever hate against us there is will probably evaporate soon enough.

Insulting a Community.

Howard, Kan., Courant: Gib Childers is snorting. A new man has moved into his neighborhood and he hadn't been there three days till Gib ascertained that he kept his coal-bin and chicken-house locked every night. "It's an insult to the community for a newcomer to be as suspicious as that," says Gib, with a great show of righteous indignation.

On his arrival in Duluth in 1870, he established the Pioneer store and continued in the business until 1889. THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. WANTS OLD ARMORY SOLD.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I notice in the news columns that the opponents of the sale of the old armory are planning on going ahead with their referendum petition, though their first effort to work that game failed. Isn't there some way, Mr. Editor, that that can be choked off? It seems to me there must be some means of avoiding having the city put to the trouble and expense of an election on that issue. Elections are necessary sometimes, but it is one of the misfortunes of American politics and American nature that every election leaves its mark in the shape of an undesirable division of the public. It always means a splitting into two factions, and there is always an after-feeling that isn't a good breeder of city unity.

Now this armory sale proposition, like all others, has two sides, I know. But our city council considered both sides, and decided to sell the armory. If that sale meant a perpetual cutting off of any meeting place such as opponents of the sale want, I would say not to make the sale. But it means nothing of the kind. There are places available, I am sure, where meetings can be had for a year or so, at least as readily as in the past. And when we build our new city hall provision can be made there for such quarters.

Let's avoid a useless expense and trouble here, and by getting rid of a building not fitted for our use, secure that much of a fund toward supplying ourselves with the kind of building we need. R. F. BLAINE.

A TIP ON THE CITY CHARTER.

To the Editor of The Herald:

While our charter commission is working on the city charter, it seems a good time to give them suggestions. I am glad, very glad indeed, to see that they propose extending the terms for paying improvement assessments still further. In that same section, it seems to me, it would be well to change the wording to read thus (nine lines down in Section 68):

"Within said thirty (30) days after the publication of said notice, upon application in writing to the council by any owner of real estate against which the assessment is made, when such assessment exceeds THE PROPORTION OF fifteen dollars ($15.00) for each four thousand (4,000) square feet of property benefited" etc.

This, to my mind, is undoubtedly the intention of the present provision, but since some dyspeptic judge might rule, if the question ever came before him, that it meant a man must have a lot with 4,000 square feet to get the benefit of the provision, it would be as well to have all possible doubt removed. Since the granting of extended time for payment is optional with the council in every case anyway, the unqualified statement of such a provision as this would be amply protected.

Yours truly,
A CHARTER READER.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This department does not pretend to be infallible. It will endeavor, however, to answer questions sent to it by readers of The Herald to the best of its ability, reserving the right to ignore all that are trifling or of concern only to the questioner, or that ask for advice on legal or medical questions.

To receive attention, every inquiry must bear the name and address of the person sending it. This is not wanted for publication, but as an evidence of good faith.

"M. D. R.," Grand Forks, N. D.: (1) Did the United States guarantee the neutrality of Belgium? (2) Does that mean to protect against invasion?

Ans.—(1) No. (2) That is the general interpretation of guarantee of neutrality.

"E. F. K" Duluth: (1) Is the immigration bill, commonly known as the "literacy test," to be brought to a vote in congress at this session? (2) Do any of the departments at Washington issue pamphlets on house heating? (3) If the temperature yesterday was zero and it is twice as cold today, how cold is it today? How do you figure it?

Ans.—(1) An effort is to be made to bring about such action. (2) Yes. Address "Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C." (3) This reads like a catch, but as a flyer we'll suggest that the answer is "32 degrees below zero," since zero itself is 32 degrees below freezing (Fahrenheit).

Ignor. Amus, Duluta: (1) What languages are the dead ones, and why are they called dead? (2) What is the religion of Russia? Can it in any way be called a part of the Holy Roman Catholic church? (3) Was Russia ever a Catholic country? (4) What is the standing of that church in Russia at the present day? (5) What is the correct way to pronounce George Ade's last name?

Ans.—(1) "Whenever a language is alive, it grows," wrote Lowell, and it would be hard to hit upon a neater definition or explanation. The dead languages are the languages that have been crystallized into permanent form through literature, and which maintain that form without growth. These include Greek, Latin and Anglo-Saxon, and probably others. The two former are generally the ones referred to by the term "dead languages." (2) The national religion is that of the Greek Catholic church. The second part of this question is indefinite. No country can be called "a part of" any church. (3) No. (4) The people have religious freedom, at least in theory. (5) The same as "aid."

To the Editor of The Herald:

I think the time is ripe for a general crusade, in the line of education, instilling in the people of this country a reverence for the American flag. I attended the twilight concert given in the new armory last Sunday afternoon and the concert was fine. The new armory was decorated beautifully, with most every color except the national colors, but to my great surprise not a yard of American bunting, not a single American flag, could I see. Now of all places that we should decorate in our national colors and emblems it should be the armory, where our young men receive their training to uphold the honor of our country. This was my first visit. I do hope when I go again I will not only see a good display of bunting and flags, but when the concert closes for the day I will hear the national hymn sung by the entire audience, led by the orchestra.

POEMS ASKED FOR.

"I'll Paint You a Sign, Rum Seller," from "A. A. F." of Ironwood, Mich.

"The Robin's Sweet Song Reminds Me of You," from William McGowan of Duluth.

Requests have been received for the following:

"Someone Thinks of Someone," from George Thompson of Duluth.

"The Irish Jubilee," from William McGowan of Duluth.

"The Lass of Mohee" and "The Face on the Barroom Floor," from Roberta Ritchie of Thomaston, Mich. (The last named was published in these columns Dec. 2 last. It is too soon to repeat it.)

From "A. G. M." of Duluth, the song or poem containing these words:

"God pity us all as we jostle each other—
God pity us all for the triumph we feel."

I'll Paint You a Sign, Rum Seller.

I'll paint you a sign, rum seller,
And hang it above your door—
A truer and better sign board
Than ever you had before.
I will paint with the skill of a master,
And many shall pause to see
This wonderful piece of painting,
So like the reality.

I will paint yourself, rum seller,
As you wait for the fair, young boy—
Just in the morn of manhood,
A mother's pride and joy.
He has no thought of stopping,
But you greet him with a smile,
And you seem so gay and friendly
That he pauses to chat a while.

I will paint you again, rum seller,
I will paint you as you stand
Holding a glass of liquor
Sparkling in either hand.
He wavers, but you urge him—
"Drink! Pledge me just this one."
And he lifts the glass and drains it,
And the hellish work is done.

And next I will paint a drunkard.
Only a year has flown,
But into this loathesome creature
The fair, young boy has grown.
The work was sure and rapid;
I will paint him as he lies
In death-like, drunken slumber,
Under the wint'ry skies.

I will paint the form of the mother,
As she kneels at her darling's side;
Her beautiful boy who was dearer
Than all the world beside.
I will paint the shape of a coffin,
And label it one word—"Lost!"
I will paint all this, rum seller;
I will paint it free of cost.

The sin and the shame and the sorrow,
The crime and the want and the woe,
That was born here in your rum shop,
No hand can paint, you know.
But I'll paint a sign, rum seller,
And many shall pause to view
That wonderful, swinging sign board,
So terribly, fearfully true.

"The Robin's Sweet Song Reminds Me of You."

Away down East on a summer's day,
beneath a sunny sky,
A young man kissed his sweetheart fair a loving, fond good-by.
"I'm going way out West," he said, "to seek for fame and gold
That we may wed and happy be; not want when we grow old."
The maid then said, with voice so sad, while her eyes were filled with tears:
"I'll ever wait for your return and constant be for years."
And as she waved a last good-by, a robin sang on high,
Whereupon the lovely maiden softly murmured with a sigh:
Chorus:
The robin's sweet song reminds me of you,
As he sang in a tree when I bade you adieu.
My mind ever dwells on that last interview,
And the robin's sweet song reminds me of you.

And there wrought quite a fortune for the girl whom he loved best.
And after years, with plans so bright, he came back home again
To claim his lovely promised bride. But alas! 'twas all in vain,
For having never heard from him his sweetheart thought him dead.
And though she loved him best of all, another she had wed.
And as one eve they met once more, she sadly turned away.
With broken heart the young man said while the robin sang his lay:
Chorus:

Little Orphant Annie.

Little Orphant Annie's come to our house to stay,
An' wash the cups an' saucers up, an' brush the crumbs away,
An' shoo the chickens off the porch, an' dust the hearth, an' sweep,
An' make the fires an' bake the bread an' earn her board an' keep,
An' all us other chillen, when the supper things is done,
We gets around the kitchen fire an' has the mostest fun,
A-listenin' to the witch tales 'at Annie tells about,
An' the gobble-uns 'at gits you
Ef
You
Don't Watch
Out.

An' oncet there was a little boy 'at wouldn't say his prayers.
An' when he went to bed at night, away upstairs,
His mammy heered him holler, an' his daddy heered him bawl,
An' when they turned the kivvers down—he wasn't there at all.
An' they seeked him in the rafter-room, an' cubby-hole an' press,
An' they seeked him up the chimbley-flue an'—everywheres, I guess;
But all they ever found was just his pants an' roundabout.
An' the gobble-uns 'll git you,
Ef
You
Don't Watch
Out.

An' one time a little girl 'ud allays laugh an' grin
An' make fun of everyone, an' all her blood an' kin.
An' oncet when ther' was company, an' old folks was there,
She mocked 'em an' she shocked 'em, an' she said she didn't care.
An' 'ist as she kicked up her heels an' turnt to run an' hide
The' was two great big black things a-standin' by her side.
An' they snatched her through the ceilin' 'fore she knowed what she's about.
An' the gobble-uns 'll git you,
Ef
You
Don't Watch
Out.

An' Little Orphant Annie says, 'at when the blaze is blue,
An' the lamp wick sputters' an' the wind goes "Woo-oo-oo-oo,"
An' you hear the crickets quit, an' the moon is gray,
An' the lightnin' bugs in dew is all squenched away,
You'd better mind your parents an' your teachers, fond an' dear,
An' cherish them as loves you, an' dry the orphant's tear
An' help the poor an' needy ones 'at clusters all about,
Er the gobble-uns 'll git you,
Ef
You
Don't Watch
Out.

WOMAN SHOOTS TEXAS MINISTER

Rev. H. M. Cagle Victim of Mrs. Faust Who Declares He Slandered Her.

Sherman, Tex., Feb. 8.—Rev. H. M. Cagle, a prominent North Texas Baptist minister, was shot and probably fatally wounded on the public square here late yesterday by Mrs. Annie Faust, wife of Finis Faust, a prominent farmer, who lives near Denison, Tex. Charles Barton, a bystander, sustained a flesh wound in the left arm from one of the bullets.

Mrs. Faust, who was arrested after the shooting, was later released on $1,000 bond and returned home with her husband, who had been summoned after the shooting.

Physicians last night said there was slight chance for Mr. Cagle's recovery.

Mrs. Faust, who, it is said, came to Sherman with friends early yesterday on a shopping trip, had just left a local store when she encountered the minister, and, according to bystanders, pulled a revolver from her handbag, firing five shots into his body. As Mr. Cagle fell to the sidewalk, he gasped, "Take me to my wife; I have but a few moments to live and do not want to die until I have talked with her."

When arrested, Mrs. Faust said, according to deputy sheriffs, that the minister had slandered her and she shot in revenge.

Thin People Gained Weight Quickly

By Following This Simple Suggestion.

Thin men and women who would like to increase their weight with 10 or 15 pounds of healthy, "stay there" fat should try eating a little Sargol with their meals for a while and note results. Here is a good test worth trying. First weigh yourself and measure yourself. Then take Sargol—one tablet with every meal—for two weeks. Then weigh and measure again. It isn't a question of how you look or feel or what your friends say and think. The scales and the tape measure will tell their own story, and many thin men and women we believe can easily add from five to eight pounds in the first fourteen days by following this simple direction. And best of all, the new flesh stays put.

Sargol does not of itself make fat, but mixing with your food, it aims to turn the fats, sugars and starches of which you have eaten, into rich, ripe fat-producing nourishment for the tissues and blood—prepare it in an easily assimilated form which the blood can readily accept. Much of this nourishment now passes from your body as waste. But Sargol works to stop the waste and do it quickly and to make the fat-producing contents of the very same meals you are eating now develop pounds and pounds of healthy flesh between your skin and bones. Sargol is safe, pleasant, efficient and inexpensive. Boyce Drug store and other leading druggists in this vicinity sell it in large boxes—forty tablets to a package—on a guarantee of weight increase or money back as found in each large box.

FIFTH SON OF THE KAISER IS SLIGHTLY WOUNDED IN HEAD

PRINCE OSCAR.

Amsterdam, via London, Feb. 8.—Prince Oscar of Prussia, fifth son of Emperor William, has been slightly wounded in the head and on the upper part of the thigh by shell splinters during the fighting in the eastern theater of war, according to a Berlin dispatch received here.

Prince Oscar was wounded at Virton, Belgium, in September, 1914. He was ill for a long time, and was declared to be suffering from an affection of the heart. He returned to the field in November, 1914, and narrowly escaped capture the following month during the fighting in Poland.

CLARK AND MANN URGE NATIONAL DEFENSE

Party Lines Obliterated and Two Navy Measures Pass House.

Washington, Feb. 8.—Speaker Clark and Republican Leader Mann fought side by side in the house today for adequate national defense. With party lines obliterated, most of the members followed their leaders and two navy measures passed without a dissenting vote. One, to provide for adding 300 midshipmen to the entering class at Annapolis next July, passed 173 to 0, and the other to equip navy yards for construction of battleships Nos. 43 and 44, passed without a roll call.

Mr. Mann tried to put the anti-preparedness advocates on record by calling for a division on the naval academy bill, but there were no negative responses.

The appearance of Speaker Clark on the floor to champion preparedness measures aroused wide interest. Rumors persisted that he would take active charge of the fight to increase the army and navy, Majority Leader Kitchin having joined the opposition.

LIEUT. HANS BERG NAVAL RESERVIST

Man Who Captured Appam, Captain of Tramp in Peace Time.

Berlin, Feb. 8, via London.—Lieut. Hans Berg, commander of the prize crew which recently took the British steamer Appam into Hampton Roads, has been identified as Hans Berg of Apenrade, a naval reservist and master in peace time of the tramp steamer Gamma, belonging to the Ahrenkiel & Clausen line.

Berg served as a one-year volunteer in the navy and was called to the colors at the outbreak of the war, and promoted to be a lieutenant six months ago.

While on furlough last year, Berg told his wife in Apenrade not to be disturbed if she heard nothing from him in a long time. As a matter of fact, his wife has had no letter from him and been unable to write him for many months, as his address was unknown.

"MEN OF THE WORLD" ARE AGAIN SCORED BY WRITERS IN VICES AND VIRTUES CONTEST

Religion and Devotion to Home and Family Are Essential for Ideal Man, Women Say—Gambling, Loafing and Ill-Temper Are Deplored—Woman Should Be Neat and a Good Household Manager, Man Says.

Cowardice in men is held responsible, by many women throughout the Northwest, for the poor showing made in a moral way. They aver that if a man is staunch and true to his best and most sane convictions, that if he has an ounce of common sense and a fair smattering of Christianity, he is bound to travel through life a credit to himself, his relatives and friends, his city and his country.

This conclusion is reached after the perusal of a number of letters received today in the vice and virtue contest, which The Herald is conducting. If a man is brave, his fair sisters are firm in the opinion that he cannot and will not go wrong—at least not very far. The women believe if men possessed the right kind of a backbone they would not care to loiter around saloons, gamble, flirt or deceive the dear ones that are most interested in their welfare.

Most of the correspondents believe if men were thoroughly imbued with religion that a majority of their more grievous faults would be speedily eliminated from their lives. Virtuous men, they agree, do not gamble, get intoxicated, nag their wives, loiter around the street corners and in barrooms, and do provide for their wives and children and others dependent upon them. Men of the religious type refrain from profanity, are always polite and courteous, unselfish, considerate of the feelings of others, and remember their loved ones with little special acts of kindness that always radiate happiness.

Two Pictures From Life.

Mrs. C. W. M., Duluth, writes:

"Fear is man's greatest fault. The poisonous dragon of fear does more to hinder man's progress than all other faults combined, and may be classed as the foundation of degradation. Fear of things, fear of what other people would say or think, lack of self-confidence and worry are the dragon's claws which pin thousands of men down, and lead them to a lower life, as that of a gambler, who loses his money at cards; then a thief in the night is another who, with his gun or knife takes some innocent life. The man who takes to drinking whisky, rum or rye, and comes home in a fit of anger, and a temperature very high, is most bad. Then the one who is always chewing tobacco or smoking cigarettes is sure to go from bad to worse. Then the one who will desert his home and family for some beautiful, wicked face, and this makes me think of an old saying, 'The wages of sin is death.' Though they will claim 'twas the wiles of a demon that so artfully had lead him astray.

"Now we will turn to another picture of a sweetheart who was always true, and who started saving his money for a home of his own some day. He loved his little lady, and took her for his bride, and always did remember what the parson said that day: 'God bless you—be a good man to her, Joe.' Long years have passed, that love has never died, and they sit in the evening by the fireside, while around them the children do play, and never a harsh word is spoken, nor an evening spent alone, and what finer virtues of a man could any woman ever have known."

Miss E. D., Duluth, writes:

"Virtues of a man—

"1. A man is a good husband when he carries a considerable life insurance policy to protect his wife and children.

"2. He is kind-hearted when he helps those in need.

"3. He is virtuous when he does not nag at his wife when his meals are not on time, or when the baby or some one else is ill.

"4. Appreciation for what is done by his wife for him.

"5. Cheerful and always a kind word for those who are in trouble.

"6. Temperance and self-control.

"7. Honesty, for it is the best policy.

"8. Industriousness.

"9. He is self-sacrificing when he thinks of his wife by sending a box of candy or a bouquet of flowers when economizing on his own cigars.

"10. When he spends the evening by the fireside reading a book to his children while his wife does a bit of mending or darning.

"Vices of a man—

"1. When a man troubles his wife over business matters and financial affairs when she asks for a new dress.

"2. When he is a spendthrift in regard to his fellow companions.

"3. When he smokes and swears.

"4. When he sets a bad example to his children by not attending church.

"5. When he is hard-hearted toward those in need.

"6. When he drinks, gambles and keeps late hours.

"7. When he is hot tempered.

"8. When he is disrespectful at times.

"9. When he is unfaithful to his wife and children.

One Woman's List.

Lillian Anderson, 6309 Elinor street, West Duluth, writes as follows:

"1. Jealousy.
"2. Gambling.
"3. Drinking.
"4. Wickedness.
"5. Selfishness.
"6. Stupidness.
"7. Cowardice.
"8. Dissatisfaction.
"9. Despicableness.

"4. Unselfishness.
"5. Generous and home-loving.
"6. Ambitious.
"7. Merciful.
"8. Contentment.
"9. Self-possession.
"10. Heroic."

Virginia Woman Writes.

Mrs. J. Janesky, Virginia, Minn., writes:

"1. Kindness.
"2. Respect.
"3. Charity to the poor.
"6. Love for his old mother.
"7. The one who likes to see his wife enjoy herself.
"8. The single man who sees that his parents are provided for.
"9. The man who goes to church once a month at least.
"10. The man who can see his own faults."

Worst Faults.

"1. Laziness.
"2. Drunkenness.
"3. Cursing.
"4. Abuse of his wife and children.
"5. Neglectfulness of his aged parents.
"6. The one who always hates to see another have a little more than himself.
"7. The man who thinks there is no God or no hereafter.
"8. The one who knows it all.
"9. The one who thinks he is so much better than any one else.
"10. The married man who thinks some other woman is more charming than his own wife."

Mere Man Enters.

L. A. H., 315 West Third street, Duluth, writes: "A woman's good qualities:

"1. Trueness to husband and family.
"2. Economy and thrift in household management.
"3. Loyalty to religion and country.
"4. Self respect.

ARMORY SALE UP TO COURT

City Commission Refuses to Receive Cash From Shriners.

Court Will Be Asked to Order Sale; Merritt for Referendum.

Courts will decide whether Duluth is to have a referendum election on the sale of the old armory, or whether it is to be turned over to the Aad Temple building association.

City commissioners, at yesterday's council meeting, formally refused a tender of $7,000 in gold and currency made by John Jenswold, Jr., as the remainder of a $12,000 initial payment on the property, in order to have it tested. Mr. Jenswold said that today he would ask the district court to issue an order compelling the proper authorities to execute a contract and deed transferring the land and building to the Masonic organization.

"The city charter provides," argued Mr. Jenswold before the council, "that a sufficient petition must be filed with the city council—not with the clerk—within thirty days after last publication of the ordinance.

"I submit that this provision has not been complied with. The petition was not filed with the council until today, although it was in the clerk's hands Friday, the day before the time limit expired, I believe. The petition is not signed by 10 per cent of the qualified voters, and there is nothing in section 52 of the charter, under the head 'referendum' to provide for an amendatory petition.

"We are ready to take this matter into any court," he concluded. Initiative and recall provide for amending petitions, but referendum does not. In the first two instances, nothing is pending."

"I would advise that the matter be taken into the courts," said City Attorney John E. Semuelson. Commissioners concurred in this opinion, although Commissioner Merritt, in explaining his attitude, took occasion to pledge his support to the opponents of the sale.

"The old armory property belongs to the people, and I have maintained from the start that they should be consulted in regard to selling it," he said. "They certainly should have a voice in the matter. I have not signed a petition asking for a referendum, nor have I been asked to do so. I now am ready to sign one, and to ask my friends to do likewise."

Opponents of the sale, led by State Senator Richard Jones and Postmaster W. E. McEwen, continued their campaign last night, and announced that they were confident of obtaining enough additional signatures to make the petition valid.

"We have no money to involve ourselves in a court fight," said Mr. McEwen. "It is up to the city attorney to oppose this action and we can only trust that he will fulfill the duties of his office. We shall go ahead with the petition. Irregularities in certification, which were the cause of barring twenty of the thirty-four petitions, can be easily remedied."

About 100 voters went to the postoffice and to the Labor World office last night and signed the petition, Mr. McEwen said. Commissioner Merritt's signature was affixed shortly after the council meeting.

MOVING ORE TO FURNACES FAST

Shipping From Lake Erie Heaviest on Record—Low Balances.

Iron ore shipments from Lake Erie docks during January were the largest ever reported. The shipments for the month totaled 887,426 tons, which compared with those of 1915, 249,123 tons, appear extremely large. In 1912 the docks shipped more than 800,000 tons, but something under 850,000 tons.

The dock balance Feb. 1 was 7,071,275 tons, which is small compared with what is normal under the larger facilities and business. A year ago Feb. 1 the docks held 7,802,806.

If the same proportionate business is done through the rest of the ore year, which ends May 1, the docks at Lake Erie ports will have under 4,000,000 tons May 1. Their capacity is more than 10,000,000 tons.

The balances reported Feb. 1 follow:

CHICAGO EXPERT TALKS ON COAL TAR

The first joint meeting of the two science organizations at Central high school yesterday was featured by an address by W. S. Adams of the Barrett Manufacturing company of Chicago. The students listened to an exceptionally interesting lecture on "Coal Tar and Its By-products."

The lecture was interesting, not only to the boys of the school, but to the girls as well. Mr. Adams traced the history of the coal and of its by-products and explained the various processes by which the latter is extracted. He also explained the cause of the rise in price of some of the products, due to most of them being made in Germany.

The meeting of the Science club yesterday afternoon was the first joint meeting of the chemistry and physics departments of the organization. In addition to securing several prominent men to speak to the club throughout the year, the members plan trips to several factories and other places of scientific and commercial interest in the city.

Renews Fight on Rublee.

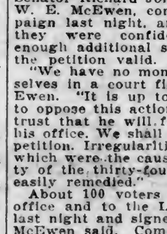

Washington, Feb. 8.—Renewal of the fight against George Rublee of Cornish, N. H., now serving on the Federal trade commission as a recess appointee, was forecast when Senator Gallinger, during an executive session of the senate, demanded a committee on the appointment. Senator Gallinger, who led the opposition during the last session of congress, has declared that Mr. Rublee, is personally obnoxious to him.

Maternity! The Word of Words

It is written into life's expectations that motherhood is the one sublime accomplishment. And if there is anything, no matter how simple, how apparently trivial it may seem, if it can aid, help, assist or in any way comfort the expectant mother, it is a blessing. And such is a remedy called "Mother's Friend." You apply it over the stomach muscles. It is gently rubbed on the surface, and makes the muscles pliant; this relieves the strain on ligaments, natural expansion takes place without undue effect upon the nerves. And as the time approaches, the mind has gone through a period of repose, of gentle expectancy, and this has an unquestioned influence upon the future child. That this is true is evidenced by the fact that three generations of mothers have used and recommended "Mother's Friend." Ask your nearest druggist for a bottle of this splendid remedy. He will get it for you. And then write to Bradfield Regulator Co., 407 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a most interesting book of information to prospective mothers. It is mailed free. Write today. DRAGNET OUT FOR CLEAN-UP

Police Gather in First Grist in New Campaign Against "Bums."

Three Sent to Work Farm—Two Will Have Hearing.

In combing the city yesterday afternoon for hangers-on at saloons and poolrooms, the police arrested five men, who were brought before Judge W. H. Smallwood on charges of vagrancy. This was the first step in the movement inaugurated yesterday noon by Chief McKercher, who has a hearty desire to rid the city of non-producers and "bums."

William Ross, a lower-class saloon habitue, who makes a speciality of "spearing" drinks, was the first to be hauled in. He was given thirty days at the work farm.

Walter Gravell, a young man who has resided in Duluth eighteen years, and who is well known to the police, talked loudly of hiring attorneys and putting up a stiff defense when he was led into the station. When searched he had no money. However, he made a strong plea to Judge Smallwood, relating among other things, how respectable his people are. The court asked him how much money he contributed toward the support of his parents and learned that the young man was negligent in this respect. A thirty-day sentence at the work farm was imposed. Gravell has a prominent scar across the lower left cheek which Capt. A. J. Fiskett says he received several years ago when he issued a blanket challenge to a number of laborers who were celebrating a national feast day. Gravell, the captain says, offered to whip anyone in the saloon and emphasized his remark by walloping a member of the party. The victim promptly pulled a razor and slashed Gravell across the cheek.

Card-Sharp Arraigned.

Wearing a diamond of several carats, his hair neatly trimmed and his face showing the glow of health, John Hill, gambler and general hanger-on, was also charged with vagrancy, but pleaded not guilty. His bail was fixed at $25 and his hearing set for 2:30 this afternoon.

"Hill can deal cards with both arms tied," said Chief of Detectives Gus Lahti. "He picks on innocent Finnish countrymen and trims them for all the money they show. He is most proficient with the pasteboards and can deal you any kind of a hand he wants to—and with you looking right at him, too."

Clarence Grover of New York city, possessing a wealth of wavy gray hair and a fine countenance, asked that he be sent to the work farm for thirty days so he could get sobered up and earn a little money. His wish was granted.

Tony Wasalski, a young man with a torso like Zybysco, was highly indignant when he was accused of being a vagrant and entered a plea of not guilty. His hearing was set for 3 o'clock this afternoon.

"There is no good reason why any man should be idle in Duluth," said Chief McKercher. "There is plenty of work. The woods are calling for men, the street car company is looking for laborers and, in fact, every other industry wants men. The police will not stand for idlers and the city is going to be cleaned up, and, furthermore, will be kept clean. The bums will have to go. There are a number of young men in Duluth who wear white collars and tailor-made clothes who would be insulted if called a bum. But they are, and they will be brought in the same as the tramps in the overalls."

"FEED THE BIRDS"

CITY TAKES UP JOB

"Feed the birds," says Henry Cleveland, superintendent of parks.

"Even if you remember to have your wife shake the tablecloth out of the dining room window, so that the crumbs will fall onto the snow, the chickadees will appreciate it."

So if you want to have a friend in Mr. and Mrs. Chickadee, the thing to do is to see to it that some bread crumbs are placed conveniently on the snow, where the lawn was last summer.

The city has branched out as a restaurant proprietor since the coming of winter, Mr. Cleveland says. Throughout the year Duluth feeds lodgers at the city jail, but now they have undertaken the task of feeding some of the birds.

In five or six parks there are regular feeding places, where Supt. Cleveland scatters crumbs daily.

TRAINS ARE ON TIME AGAIN

Railroads Have Finally Cleared Yards and Tracks of Snow.

Passenger and freight traffic at the Head of the Lakes, insofar as running conditions are concerned, is back on a normal plane, according to operating officials of the railroads.

Practically every foot of track at the Head of the Lakes has been cleared of snow. There is still a shortage of cars, but for the first time in nearly a month, operating officials can sit back and feel quite reasonably satisfied that trains will keep close to their running schedules.

Railroad men estimate that approximately 4,000 laborers have been employed in clearing the yards and tracks of snow. In addition to the heavy expense of extra labor entailed by the cold weather and unusual snow fall, during the coldest days, extra engines and crews were employed in pulling out cars that were frozen to the tracks. Shipments were held up and the size of trains had to be reduced by nearly 50 per cent, as engines cannot get a full head of steam in intensely cold weather, and on top of all this came a heavy rush of business demanding extra cars.

"From this point on, if the weather remains the way it is at the present time," said a freight operator, "the railroads will be able to remain on a normal basis of operating. During the last few weeks we have been up against a tough proposition. Freight trains ran away behind scheduled time, and then we could only take out half train loads. The moderating of the weather will give us a chance to catch up."

James Maney, general passenger agent of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic declared today that passenger operations had been seriously interfered with during the last few weeks.

"The cold weather has thrown running schedules into the discard," said Mr. Maney. "Our company has shoveled every foot of track between here and the Copper country. The other roads have been up against the same conditions. If the weather behaves from now until the winter is spent, we are going to try to get back on a regular time schedule."

MILDER WEATHER; COLD WAVE COMING

Snow Promised at Intervals Into Wednesday—Eighteen Degree Rise.

The first change of weather that looks like a real break in the cold spell since Jan. 12, occurred this morning. But it must not be supposed that the very limber back of winter is broken; far from it, Weather Forecaster Richardson says, for another cold wave is developing, will hit Montana from the West tonight, and colder weather is already forecasted for tomorrow, some time, for North Dakota and the northern part of Minnesota.

However, between 7 o'clock yesterday morning and the same hour this morning, the temperature went up 18 degs., it being 20 degs. below zero yesterday morning and 2 degs. below this morning. It will be above zero during the day. Mr. Richardson says tonight the mercury will be at zero to 15 degs. below in this district.

The snow which started to fall during the night will continue today, tonight and tomorrow, at intervals, but Mr. Richardson does not look for more than an inch of the fluffy stuff at the outside.

UNITED STATES AND GERMANY SUBSTANTIALLY IN ACCORD

formal announcement indicating a satisfactory conclusion of the long controversy is expected soon.

Later, high administration officials authorized the statement that the "United States and Germany are substantially in accord."

Another high administration official said that the case could not be considered finally settled but that it was hoped a settlement might be reached during the conference between Secretary Lansing and the German ambassador, although that was not absolutely certain. It was understood that the exact wording of the communication submitted by Count Bernstorff was not in entire accord with the views of the president and the cabinet.

Formal Document Next.

With the two governments substantially in accord the next step in the proceeding will be to put the settlement in a formal document to be presented to the state department in behalf of the Berlin foreign office.

In addition to the declaration that reprisals must not be directed against others than enemies, the promise of indemnity for American lives lost on the Lusitania and a declaration of Germany's desire to keep with the United States to secure the freedom of the seas, it is understood that the document will either incorporate, or attention will be directed to, the assurances Germany gave in the Arabic case that liners would not be sunk without warning, provision being made for the safety of those on board unless they resisted capture or attempted to flee.

The inclusion of all these points is understood to embrace everything for which the United States contended.

Under the surface there were intimations that some further correspondence may be under way while President Wilson and Secretary Lansing consider Germany's latest proposal. It has not been disclosed whether it may be with the American embassy in Berlin, or with Col. E. M. House, the president's personal representative, who recently was in Berlin where he discussed the situation with German officials.

The statement that a mere question of words would not be permitted to block a settlement of the case at this stage, which came from the highest authority, has thrown an atmosphere of optimism about the situation which continues to lead officials in close touch with the negotiations to believe that a successful termination of the case is close at hand.

New Method Beautifies Teeth, Gums, Remarkably

"Girls must have good teeth if they want to be kissable," said Dr. Harvey B. Wiley to a Chicago News reporter. He added: "Women may be safely kissed on the cheek—unless they are beautified with poisonous paint or rouge." Interest attaches to the subject because of recent revelations. Statistics indicate that about 95 per cent of adults have pyorrhea, though this can now be successfully treated. Serious systemic ailments are also known to originate in the mouth, where millions of germs congregate. This is the reason for Dr. Wiley's advice concerning osculation.

Increasing knowledge in this direction, druggists say, has increased the demand for avatol, known to be remarkably effective in keeping the mouth in a healthy state. It is used like tooth paste, and if the teeth be brushed with it regularly, no dentifrice is necessary. It has been found that avatol destroys the "ameba," discovered last year to be the cause of pyorrhea. The user soon finds that teeth and gums become firmer, inflammation or bleeding ceases, recession of gums is arrested. Not only that, this harmless substance is wonderful for removing discoloration, keeping the teeth sparkling white and beautiful. A tube of refined avatol in the household may save lots of trouble.

worthy admiral about the timeliness or possibility of international intervention in Mexico. Von Hintze's attitude toward this subject will be familiar to you from one of the embassy reports."

A letter from Col. H. Herwarth of the general staff, dated Berlin, March 10, 1916 says:

"I strongly advise you to see Langhorne. Of course you know he is returning. Everybody regrets his departure. He is quite exceptionally popular with everyone here."

The letter continues.

"The bearer of this letter, Lyell Fox, can give news of Berlin. He is reliable and understands how shamefully dependent on Great Britain the United States has become. Pro forma, of course, he is a neutral. I think there will soon be a big change in American opinion."

Another Herwarth letter dated March 22, says: "I hope you and Boy-Ed received the letters I forwarded through Langhorne and Fox.

Due to Poor Advice.

A letter from Edward Lyell Fox, dated Berlin, July 28, says: "It is my sincere conviction, and in behalf of many other American correspondents here, that the misunderstanding between our countries are due to the poor advice and warped standpoint of the American embassy in Berlin. President Wilson cannot know the German viewpoint under the existing circumstances."

An undated letter follows—"Dear von Papen: A secret agent who returned from Washington this evening made the following statement:

"The Washington people are very excited about von Papen and are having a constant watch kept on him. They are in possession of a whole heap of incriminating evidence against him. (This sentence is underlined). They have no evidence against Count B., and Capt. B. Tours, B. E."

"While I am thoroughly ashamed of my country at present, I nevertheless intend to stay here, and fight for justice and fair play."

state legislature in 1913. Governor A. O. Eberhart appointed the commission, whose labors were completed today.

Senator Nelson's Speech.

In presenting the statue, Senator Knute Nelson said:

"During the century which elapsed from the time Radisson and Du Luth first visited Minnesota until France relinquished her sovereignty and title to Great Britain of the territory east of the Mississippi river in 1763, our state remained an unexplored wilderness, visited only at long intervals by a few, missionaries and fur traders, who made no settlements and who, because of the transitory character of their visits, secured but the scantiest knowledge of the character of the country. And while nominally under English and Spanish rule from then until the end of the eighteenth century, little progress was made in settlement or exploration. A few missionaries and a few fur traders were the only white occupants of this vast domain. English law was technically paramount east of the Mississippi, and Spanish law west of the Mississippi. It was not until the English had abandoned their posts in the Northwest territory and France had ceded Louisiana, that the Federal government proceeded to explore and take an inventory of and occupy its great possessions in the Northwest.

Fur Trade the Attraction.

"In 1805 and 1806 Lieut. Pike ascended the Mississippi river and explored its source, and in 1819-20 Col. Leavenworth located Fort Snelling at the junction of the Minnesota river with the Mississippi. The fort soon became the nucleus from which radiated a few straggling settlements in the vicinity—the feeble beginnings of that mighty wave of impouring settlers that soon were to transform the wilderness into a Canaan of human habitations. The fur trade was the first great attraction, and it is a noteworthy fact that two of Minnesota's greatest and noblest men came here in the early years of their youth as representatives of fur trading companies—Gen. Sibley, the first governor of the state, came in 1834 as the representative of the American Fur company, and Senator Rice, one of the first United States senators of the state, whose statue we are today unveiling, in 1839, and soon thereafter became the representative of the Chouteau company and its successors.

"At this time there was a considerable military reservation around Fort Snelling, extending on both sides of the river up beyond the falls of St. Anthony. This reservation had been secured from the Indians through Lieut. Pike. All the rest of the state was nominally Indian country, occupied by bands of Sioux and Chippewas, although the Sioux had, by the treaty of 1837, relinquished their interest in the lands east of the Mississippi.

"Between 1812 and 1830 Lord Selkirk had made efforts to colonize what is now the province of Manitoba with Scotch and Swiss settlers. From various causes these settlements had proved dreary failures, and many of the poor and wretched settlers, with a contingent of French-Canadians, had made their way to Minnesota, some settling at Mendota, on the south side of the river, others—the major portion—settling within the bounds of the military reservation. These people, with the troops and the employes of the government at Fort Snelling, and a few fur traders and missionaries among the Indians, constituted, practically, all the white settlers and settlements in Minnesota at this time.

"No Man's Land."

"The country west of the Mississippi was nominally attached to and under the jurisdiction of the territory of Iowa, and the country east of the Mississippi under the jurisdiction of Wisconsin, but it was really a sort of 'no man's land.' Practically the only organs of law and order were the military, the fur traders, and a few missionaries, who, between them, maintained a truce between the settlers, and between them and the Indians. The military, after a while, wearied of the settlers on the military reservation, and in 1839 expelled them therefrom, and some of these expelled settlers located at and became the founders of what is now the great and prosperous city of St. Paul.

"Such was the situation and such were the times when Senator Rice reached Fort Snelling in 1839. And he came there well equipped and highly qualified for the great task of participating, as a leader, in laying the foundations of a great commonwealth. He soon became a most prominent factor in all public affairs, locating first at Mendota and afterwards at St. Paul. When Wisconsin became a state in 1848, it practically left Minnesota in the air, without any valid government, and he became an active participant in the movement which resulted in the election of Gen. Sibley as a delegate and in the establishment of Minnesota as an organized territory, with its western boundary extending to the Missouri river.

Of Welsh Descent.

"Senator Rice was of Welsh descent, his family tracing back to Lonk Kedwelly Wales. Sir ap-Thomas Fitz Urian was the founder of the English family. Edmund Rice, 'the Pilgrim,' as he was called, was the founder of the American family; he was born in Barkhamstead, England, in 1594. His wife's name was Tamazine. The parish records of Sudbury and Barkhamstead record the birth of seven of his children. He and his family landed in Massachusetts in 1638 and settled at a place which he called Sudbury, part of which is now Wayland, then called 'The Plantation.' He was one of the thirteen petitioners who besought the court for a new plantation; this was granted and the plantation was called Marlboro. He was selectman and deacon, and was intrusted with many important positions by the general court. He died May 13, 1663, in Massachusetts.

"Henry M. Rice was fifth in descent from Edmund Rice, 'the Pilgrim,' and his ancestor moved after some years from Massachusetts to Connecticut and New Hampshire. Mr. Rice's father, Edmund Rice, was born in Charlestown, N. H.; he married Ellen Durkee of Royalton, Vt., and moved to Waltsfield, Vt., where Henry M. Rice was born in 1817. Among his ancestors he numbers the Spauldings, Hastings and Williards. Mr. Rice attended common schools and an academy; his father died when he was quite young. After his death the family moved to Kalamazoo, Mich. From there he went to Detroit and made the first survey of the Sault Ste Marie land made by the state of Michigan.

"In 1839 he went to Fort Snelling; was post sutler for the United States army at Fort Atkinson and Iowa territory for a short time. He afterwards, for many years, represented Chouteau & Co., and their successor, in the Northwest fur trade. When Iowa demanded the removal of the Winnebago Indians, Mr. Rice went with a delegation of chiefs to Washington and concluded a treaty for the sale of the reservation; he signed the treaty in place of the chief, a distinguished mark of confidence by the Indians.

Negotiated Treaties.

"In 1847 he negotiated treaties with the Chippewas of the Upper Mississippi and of Lake Superior for cessions of their lands in Northern Minnesota.

"In 1849 he married Matilda Whitall of Richmond, Va. In 1852, when the confirmation of treaties of 1851 with the Sioux for their vast possessions in Minnesota was in danger of failing, he secured the consent of the Indians to modifications of the treaties required by the senate of the United States, and though he was not a beneficiary under the treaties, his great tact and ability secured the consent of the Sioux to the senate amendments, and thus in 1853 all of the lands of the Sioux in Minnesota west of the Mississippi river, except a narrow strip of land on both sides of the Minnesota river, were opened to white settlement.

"In 1853 he was elected delegate for Minnesota territory and re-elected in 1855. With the assistance of Douglas, he framed the act authorizing Minnesota to form a state Constitution preparatory to admission and to fix the boundary line. He was elected United States senator for Minnesota in 1857; was admitted to his seat in 1858 and served until March 3, 1863.

"As a delegate he secured the passage of the act making liberal and extensive grants of land to the territory and future state for the construction of our system of railroads. He also secured the passage of a law establishing a surveyor generals office; also acts for the establishment of several land offices for the convenience and accommodation of the settlers. At this time there was no homestead law and the pre-emption law of 1841 did not recognize settlement on unsurveyed land. To promote the settlement of the state and give the settlers a chance to settle and acquire rights on unsurveyed land, he secured the passage of a law by which settlement could be made on unsurveyed land, permitting the settlers to file a declaratory statement in the local land office and giving them the preference right to purchase the land as soon as it was surveyed.

Liberal Grant Secured.

"He was also largely instrumental in securing passage of the act admitting Minnesota into the Union as a state, and by this act two sections of land in every township were granted to the state for public school purposes; and seventy-two sections of land were granted to the state for the state university. Five hundred thousand acres were also granted to the state for internal improvements, as well as all the swamp lands in the state, together with six sections of land for each of twelve salt springs in the state; altogether a most liberal and generous grant of land to the state. It is to be noted in this connection that prior to this law no state had secured more than one section of land per township for school purposes.

"As senator he was a member of the senate's special committee of thirteen to report on the condition of the country and to report some mode of averting the threatened rupture between the North and the South. He was also a member of the following standing committees: Indian affairs, postoffices and post roads, public lands and military and finance. He served as United States commissioner in making several Indian treaties. Was a member of the board of regents of the university, president of the Minnesota Historical society, president of the board of public works, and treasurer of Ramsey county.

"Just before the outbreak of the war of the rebellion, $875,000 of certain bonds held by the government in trust for the Indians had been extracted from the safe of the secretary of the interior. Mr. Rice was instrumental in recovering these bonds. A committee of the house was appointed to investigate the matter, and reported that Mr. Rice was entitled to the thanks of the house and the country.

"He was elected a member of the Loyal Legion, chosen from those who in civil life during the rebellion were especially distinguished for conspicuous and consistent loyalty to the national government, and who were active and eminent in maintaining the supremacy of the same.

Last Public Service.

"His last public service was when he acted in conjunction with Governor Ramsey and H. S. Fairchild in fixing values of the land taken by the state for a new state capitol. Mr. Rice gave for the city of St. Paul, two acres of land on which are now erected a church and hospital, and a fine library of historical books, relating to the government from its foundation up. Rice park, Rice county, Rice lake and Rice street are all named for him. He died at San Antonio, Tex., Jan. 15, 1894, in the 77th year of his age.

"When the Chippewa Indians heard of Mr. Rice's death they paid him a beautiful compliment through their interpreter, who said among other things that all the Chippewas knew Mr. Rice was in a better place, but they would like to have him still here. They called him White Rice on account of his honesty of character.

"The work done and the results obtained by Senator Rice, as a delegate and as senator, were of the most far-reaching and momentous consequences to our young state in its infancy. The vast railroad land grants, though encountering many vicissitudes, were in the end the foundation and great promoter of our extensive network of railroads. These railroads, endowed by these land grants, advanced side by side with the settlers, and in many instances preceded them and thus greatly hastened the settlement and development of the country. The generous grant for educational purposes has given our liberal, progressive and comprehensive school system a financial foundation such as few, if any, of our sister states possess. The first essential step in the progress of our state was obtaining the cession of the Indian lands and the removal of the Indians. It was not until this had been secured that the influx of settlers began; and in this great work, by reason of his business relations and acquaintance with the Indians, Senator Rice rendered most valuable and efficient service.

"But let it never be forgotten that in the midst of these leading events there were a multitude of minor, though none the less essential, affairs that demanded attention. Land offices, postoffices and mail routes, as well as the speedy survey of the public lands, were needed. There were counties and legislative and judicial districts to be established, settlers to be helped in securing their homes, Indians to be placated and kept at a safe distance, and transportation routes to be opened. In all these matters Senator Rice was most active, efficient and helpful.

A Great State Builder.

"The progress and welfare of the territory and young state was ever near to his heart, and his zeal and activity never slackened in its behalf. He was emphatically a great state builder, whose vision and the effect of whose work extended into the distant future. We of the present generation have reaped, most bountifully reaped, where he, under many drawbacks and difficulties, sowed. Three great men cradled our state in its infancy—Rice, Ramsey and Sibley. They were a trinity of great men such as few embryo states have been blessed with. They towered above their times and environment, as beacon lights for future generations, to admonish us and to guide us in our duties and obligations.

"Senator Rice was not the least of this great trio. He was a handsome man, of commanding presence, genial and kind-hearted, always ready to help and serve—none so poor and humble but that in him they found a friend in the hour of need, and none so great that they towered above him. He was not an orator in the common acceptance of the term. He was an orator of action and not of words. Deeds, not words, are in the wake of his life. His love for his adopted state and for the Federal Union was paramount, pure and untarnished. In the hour of the nation's great distress, he never faltered in words or in deeds. That Union, into which in his earlier manhood he had inducted our young state, was ever uppermost in his love and affection. He bore no divided allegiance.

"Scarcely more than three quarters of a century has elapsed since he first cast his lot with our embryo state. At that time there were less than two and a half thousand white people within its borders. There are now over two and a half millions of thrifty and happy people; and there is ample room for four times that number. By the end of this century Minnesota is likely to find itself with a population of ten millions of industrious, prosperous and fully assimilated Americans, as loyal to the flag and the institutions of this country as the best type of American citizenship. To these millions who succeed us, Henry M. Rice will loom up over the vista of the passing years as one of the great men who cradled and nursed our state in its infancy and breathed into it the spirit and life that matured it into a great commonwealth."

Senator Clapp Speaks.

In accepting the statue on behalf of the state of Minnesota and transferring it to the vice president as the representative of the United States, Senator Clapp said:

"Mr. Rice was a type. It is said that men make institutions and give them form and spirit. On the other hand, it is contended that men in their character reflect the character of the institutions under which they live. Like most questions presented by extremes, the real truth lies between the extremes. Mr. Rice and men of his day gave color and form to the institutions which were developed in their time. It is equally true that men like Mr. Rice were, in a measure, the product of their time and of the institutions under which they lived.

"As our civilization moved westward in the first half of the last century and, at the same time, developed toward a higher plane, the conditions called for men, strong men like Henry Mower Rice, and, at the same time, molded their character. It was a condition which required strong men and made strong men stronger. Thus it was that Mr. Rice, strong by nature, grew stronger under the conditions of which he was a part, and in turn added to the strength, character and ideals of his time."

Vice President Marshall, in accepting the statue on behalf of the United States, made a short but eloquent address.

Minnesotans Present.

Among those who attended the ceremonies were Former Governors William R. Merriam and John Lind; all the members of the Minnesota house delegation; Oliver S. Newman, commissioner of the District of Columbia; Senator Frank Clague, chairman of the legislative committee that appropriated funds for the statue; Ranson Powell of Minneapolis; Former Congressman and Mrs. Frederick Stevens of St. Paul; H. A. Swanson of Brainerd, and many former Minnesotans now living in Washington.

Mrs. Charles R. Davis, wife of the representative from the Third district of Minnesota, presented a wreath on behalf of the Minnesota Daughters of the American Revolution.

arose out of what was regarded by America as an abuse of our power at sea. We have forgotten the details, but the United States has not, and both then and now the United States government regards itself as the natural champion of neutral rights. It is impossible to exaggerate the influence of these historic facts on American policy.

"Secondly, it will be remembered that at the conference of Paris, fifty years ago, which abolished privateering, the United States refused to agree on the ground that although the abolition might aid the cause of humanity in war, it favored the great naval powers of the world at the expense of the powers with a large mercantile marine but a small navy. Something of this principle influences America's attitude towards Germany's use of the submarine as an instrument of war."

Touches History.

The Guardian declares that the controversy touches one of the strongest currents of American history with which Great Britain must deal and while there is little conservatism among the American people, in no other country in the world is the force of tradition in the conduct of foreign relations so strong.

"We take a very grave view of the difficulties into which the whole of this controversy may lead us," says the Guardian.

"There is great work to be done and it is work that cannot be done too soon," the newspaper says in conclusion. "This is not merely a problem of the war, it may affect the whole future of the English-speaking people."

officers a moment later, according to information received by Thomas Flynn, United States district attorney.

Word Brought By Runner.

Word of the threatened trouble was first brought to Flagstaff by an Indian runner.

Although instructions from the United States authorities at Washington were being awaited before taking any action here, a number of deputy United States marshals were preparing to make the journey to the reservation to investigate the reports.

Efforts probably will be made to have a troop of cavalry from El Paso accompany the deputies to the scene, it was said.

The Indian reservation is located in one of the most inaccessible portions of the state. Flagstaff, which is about 150 miles away, is the nearest point to which telegraph and telephone communication is available. Snow is several feet deep throughout this section.

Threaten to Kill All Whites.

Flagstaff, Ariz., Feb. 8.—The Indians on the Navajo reservation in Northeastern Arizona, were threatening to kill all the white inhabitants of Tuba and burn the government buildings there, according to William Dubree, superintendent of instruction of the Indian school at Tuba, who has arrived here with information concerning the threatened uprising. The few white families at Tuba have but a small amount of arms and ammunition with which to defend themselves, he said today.

Tuba is on the desert about ninety miles north of here. The Indian school and headquarters of the Indian superintendent are located there.

announced that Ostend would fall within a few days, while British newspapers declared that Germany virtually had asked for peace. These reports, however, were all purely fanciful and imaginative.

Real Beginning.

"The beginning of the real offensive movement was on March 10, 1915, when the English attacked and took Neuve Chapelle. The British lost 12,881 men and used more ammunition than in the whole Boer war. They halted their advance on March 12, because, according to Field Marshal French's reports, the weather was too bad.

"In April, 1915, the oratorical preparation for the French advance was begun. Former Premier Barthou announced in a speech at the Sorbonne 'I declare, I swear, that our hour has come. An unconquerable advance has begun; the hour of victory is near.' The Figaro said on April 14, 'Victory is no more a hypothesis or a probability, but an absolute certitude.'

Germans Advance.

"Before the beginning of the French advance, however, the Germans began advancing—at Ypres on April 23 and on the Dunajec on May 3 and also in the direction of Libau.

"The French advance was begun on Sept. 24. It was participated in by three-quarters of the French and a large part of the British force. The result was that the French lost 130,000 and the English 60,000 men, according to the German estimate, of which corroboration was furnished by a British statement giving the figures of their losses as 59,666 men, while on a front which is 840 kilometers long they advanced at two places respectively 23 and 11 kilometers long, taking defensive positions, but the German front itself was intact when the entire Anglo-French advance was halted. The French, British and Russians excused the failure as due to bad weather and now announce solemnly a victorious advance for the spring of 1916."

CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS MAY BE TAKEN

yesterday the president of the bank certified the check, and as a result the state has secured the $18,000 with interest.

Smith Ill With Pneumonia.

Walter J. Smith, state treasurer, went from the Minneapolis hospital today to the state capitol, where he issued a general statement in defense of the financial affairs of his office. He excused himself from further questioning by declaring that he is ill with pneumonia. He then left the capitol to return to the hospital.

Meanwhile Robert C. Pickit, employed until yesterday in the offices of the state auditor as clerk to the state investment board, issued a statement following a long conference with J. A. O. Preus, state auditor.

Mr. Pickit, it was said, admits complicity in the alleged forging of the $18,000 Aitkin county school district receipt warrant and added several other "irregularities" to the original announcement.

"Other Irregularities."

Late yesterday a certified check for $18,509 was deposited in the state treasury on behalf of Mr. Smith to make good the alleged $18,000 school district warrant forgery. Today relatives of Mr. Pickit deposited a check for $4,453 which, according to the story he has told, covers in full the amount of his own "irregularities."

Mr. Pickit, in addition, informed the state auditor, according to the statement made by Mr. Preus, that he utilized $6,000 of the proceeds of the alleged Aitkin county school district forgery to cover up a $6,000 peculation concerning a Pope county school district warrant.

Will Go to Grand Jury.

The facts as they are being obtained are being forwarded to the county attorney of Ramsey county to be considered by the grand jury of that county at its next meeting. W. J. Stevenson, acting attorney general, says that the question of criminal prosecution will be left with the grand jury.

Mr. Preus, following his talk with Mr. Pickit today, issued a statement in which he said that he was of the opinion that now all peculations in which Mr. Pickit was said to have been concerned have been disclosed. He pointed out that restitution has been made.

However, a meeting of the state investment board was held late today, and there also was held a meeting of the state audit board. This latter board is constituted of the governor, the attorney general and the secretary of state. The attorney general is in Florida and cannot delegate his authority so far as this board is concerned. The secretary of state was ready to meet this morning, but the governor was delayed in his return from Dayton, Ohio. His train arrived this afternoon.

Statement By Preus.

Following their visit to County Attorney O'Brien's office, Mr. Preus and Mr. Stevenson made public the following statement:

"When questioned about the matter, Mr. Stevenson and Mr. Preus stated that they had been devoting the last three days to ascertaining the facts and that a warrant for $18,000, payable to the treasurer of School District No. 46, in Aitkin county, was drawn last May to pay for a bond issue they previously had asked the state to take.

"The school district had been enjoined from acting by the district court and the case had been appealed to the supreme court. The name of the school district treasurer was forged and the warrant in some manner cashed. Walter J. Smith, state treasurer, when asked about the transaction, said that he got the money and was holding it for the school district, and delivered a check to Mr. Preus for the full amount. The check was certified and interest paid to date.

No Conclusion Drawn.

"We have no conclusions to draw until we hear Mr. Smith's version of the transaction. R. C. Pickit is and has been for a number of years the clerk of the investment board employed by the state auditor. He drew the warrant and had it executed in the ordinary way by Claude S. Brown, deputy auditor.

"Pickit knew, when he drew the warrant, that the school district was enjoined and what further connection he had with the transactions we are not prepared to say. Mr. Brown was imposed upon by Mr. Pickit. Mr. Pickit will not be permitted to return to the office.

"If there are any criminal proceedings to be taken, that is a matter for the grand jury of Ramsey county to settle."

Proper Way to Keep Your Hair in Curl

If you want your hair to grow and thrive, don't curl it with a hot iron. The regular use of this barbarous instrument is bound to keep the hair dried and parched looking, with broken, uneven ends. It's a lot more sensible to adopt the simple silmerine method, which will not interfere in the least with the growth and health of the hair. Moreover, it means a far more beautiful curly and wavy effect, with no evidence of having been artificially acquired.

A few ounces of liquid silmerine—which can of course be found in any drug store—will last a long time. Just try a little of this harmless liquid tonight. Dip a clean tooth brush into it and draw this down the full length of the hair. Silmerine, by the way, is neither sticky nor greasy; you will be simply delighted with it.

SUPREME COURT TO ACT ON IOWA'S DRY LAWS

Davenport, Iowa, Feb. 8.—Davenport saloon keepers, who are testing Iowa's dry laws, have agreed to submit to the granting of a permanent injunction against them without a fight, it was claimed today. They will then take the matter directly to the supreme court, where it will be fought out on its merits.

The matter had been scheduled to come up for a hearing on the permanent injunction Thursday of this week. The saloon men waived a contest on the granting of a temporary injunction early in January.

WOMAN WITH $13,461 IS ADJUDGED INSANE

Chicago, Feb. 8.—Mrs. Nana V. Haynes of Navasota, Tex., who was found two weeks ago in a Chicago railway station in a dazed condition and whose identity for a time was in question, was adjudged insane yesterday and transferred to the Chicago State hospital for the insane.

Jewelry, currency and bonds worth $13,461 were found sewed in her clothing. Her identity was established by her son, Earl N. Haynes of Victoria, Tex., who through an attorney will seek possession of Mrs. Haynes' valuables now in the custody of the county officials.

No More Desire for Tobacco

Arthur Krouse is a locomotive fireman who had been using tobacco since he was a boy. About two years ago he began to have spells of illness. His memory was getting very bad and his eyes bothered him a good deal. He had tried in vain to conquer the habit until he got a certain book and now he is freed from the thraldom of tobacco and his health is wonderfully improved. Anyone who desires to read the book can obtain it absolutely free by writing to Edward J. Woods, 899 P, Station E, New York City. It tells how the habit of smoking, chewing or snuff taking can be conquered in three days.

GOTCH and Stecher—will they meet? That's the first question; the second, who will win, if they do. We don't know, neither do you, but just put this down: If the two great grapplers ever meet, there will be a lot of Iowa farmers with mortgages on Nebraska farms, in the case Gotch wins, while if the lanky and languid Stecher wins, there will be some fertile Iowa acres come into the horny hands of Nebraska farmers.

Gotch is going to travel with a circus. That makes it appear as if Frank was slowly yielding to the temptation to take just one more whirl at the game he made famous and the pastime that made a wealthy man out of the Humboldt farmer boy.

While here J. F. Hetmanek confided to us his opinion that Gotch went to California to do some preliminary training.

"Frank hates to train in winter weather," said the manager of Stecher. "I honestly believe he has gone to California to do some training for Joe. If Gotch will wrestle Stecher, we are willing to make the match on a winner-take-all basis."

If Gotch, the acknowledged king of the mat, and this young heir apparent, do meet, there will be farmers by the thousands who will attend. Gotch is the idol of the farmers down through the state of Iowa, while Stecher is equally worshipped by the Nebraska tillers of the soil.

From the slow turn of events—from the general aspect of things—it begins to appear that maybe after all Gotch will come out of retirement and tackle this young Lochinvar. If he does, the contest should be a great one.

How Caine Views It.

WATT CAINE, match maker of the Capitol City Athletic club of St. Paul, declares that all bunk was eliminated and only facts used when it was given out that Mike Gibbons signed a contract calling for the receipt of $30,000 for engaging in three fights before the St. Paul club.

"Here is the way Mr. Dow figured it," said Caine, in explanation of why so large a wad of that old elusive material should be paid out for the services of Gibbons—"We believe that Dillon, Darcy or even Chip will draw larger houses than the Ahearn bout. In that case it will be seen that the payment of the sum of $30,000 for three fights would not prove so bad an investment.

"If Darcy does come to this country, then according to our contract with Gibbons, the Phantom will be obliged to meet the Australian right here in St. Paul. Can't you easily imagine what that match would draw? Maybe in the neighborhood of $50,000. In that case the Capitol City Athletic club would be a big winner.

"St. Paul is going to be the fight center of the country. The contract with Gibbons assures St. Paul of at least three big fights. When you come to think over that gamble, if you will call it that, there are some angles to it that make it look like a first class business proposition. Especially is that true, you know, if Darcy comes to this country."

Talking About Ketonen.

DOWN in the Twin Cities the fans are talking of Waino Ketonen, the great little Finnish wrestler. The beating the little Finn gave Walter Miller started the talk of his mat prowess. Then the feat of winning forty-seven matches in one season opened the eyes of the fans down that way.

If Ketonen defeats Carr he has been offered a theatrical engagement in the Twin Cities. The followers of the ancient sport want to get a look at the boy the Chicago sport writers pronounced one of the greatest little men of all time.

If Waino beats Carr, his growing fame will be radiated to other parts of the country, for the business men of Houston, Tex., are raising a purse to have the little Finn come down the Lone Star state way and meet "Pet" Brown.

What Will He Do?

What will Mike Collins do next? Maybe he will trek to this section of the country and engage in a couple of battles before starting the Eastern invasion. Rumors to that effect are being whispered.

One Classy Boxer.

Johnny O'Leary, Canadian lightweight champion, is one boy who has class all over him. The stocky youngster showed at the St. Paul show of Friday evening and he is one of the best boys we have lamped since the reign of Mike Gibbons started.

In the second round O'Leary dropped Wallace with a short right cross that did not travel over a foot. The German was felled like the crack the large butcher hits the ox—with an ax. In the second round O'Leary cracked Wallace with a loop-the-loop punch and knocked the Milwaukee boy flat. Any kid who can knock an opponent nearly kicking with a loop-the-loop punch, is some puncher, and O'Leary is all of that.

At one time he was matched with Brown, but it appears that some one heard of the class of O'Leary and McCue was placed on the card as a more favorable opponent for Pal's comeback trial.

SCHEDULE OF PLAY UPSET

Grade Hockey Suffers Delay From Severe Weather.

Batchelor Will Make Haste to Make Up Lost Time.

Snow and severe weather have upset the schedule in the grade school hockey league, some of the teams having played but two or three games, but Recreational Director J. R. Batchelor announced today that play would be hurried from now on in an effort to make up for lost time.

In the Junior Western league the Bryant, Merritt and Emerson sevens are tied for first place, while in the Senior Western the Lincolns are the leaders. The Junior Eastern league is topped by the fast Lakeside aggregation, while the Salter and Jefferson players have clean slates in the Senior Eastern.

MANY WILL BOWL AT MINNEAPOLIS

International Events Open Friday—Canada Well Represented.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 8.—Bowlers from Chicago, Sioux City, Winnipeg, Omaha and other cities have entered the tournament of the International Bowling association, which will open Friday and continue for twelve days.

Theodore Gronewold, secretary of the association, said today that the entry list indicated a large attendance. Nearly 250 teams have signed the entry blanks.

Chicago will send fourteen teams, including the O'Leary, Chalmers, Mineralities, Bryn Mawr, Brucks, Bowlers' Journal and Rol Tan combinations.

Despite conditions brought on in Canada by the war in Europe, a heavier entry has been received from the dominion cities than at any other meeting of the association. Winnipeg, which sent three teams last year, has doubled the number this year. As a contrast, the entries from this city and St. Paul have been unexpectedly few.

Unless present plans are changed, the singles and doubles will be rolled in the morning and afternoon and the five-man team events will be held at night during the tournament.

DRAW DECISION; READS HERMANWISE

Bantam Champion Williams Certainly Had Run for His Title.

New Orleans, La., Feb. 8.—Kid Williams of Baltimore, world's bantam champion, and Pete Herman of New Orleans fought twenty rounds to a draw here last night. The decision was given by William Rocap of Philadelphia, who refereed the fight.

Williams was the aggressor in the early rounds, but throughout Herman appeared to have the advantage at long range. Williams' work in the clinches apparently overcame Herman's cleverness in distance fighting.

In the fourth round Herman opened a slight cut under Williams' right eye, which apparently did not bother the champion. Herman staggered Williams against the ropes in the eighth round with a vicious right hook to the jaw. In the twelfth round the first blood was drawn, Williams bleeding from the mouth as the result of a right cross from Herman. Herman appeared somewhat unsteady when he went to his corner in the eleventh round.

During the nineteenth and twentieth rounds each tried hard for a knockout, but Herman appeared to have the advantage in both periods. They were fighting savagely when the final bell rang. Eight rounds were credited to each, with four even.

Frankie Burns of Jersey City and Pal Moore of Memphis before the fight challenged the winner. The betting was 3 to 1 on Williams.

Both made the required weight of 118 pounds, ringside.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 8.—Frankie Burns of Oakland, Cal., and Ad Wolgast, former lightweight champion, fought a ten-round no-decision bout here last night. Newspaper men gave Burns the match on points.

TWO CONTESTS ARE SCHEDULED

Commercial League Quints Will Play Off Semi-Finals.

STANDING OF THE TEAMS.

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Kelleys	3	1	.750
Big Duluths	2	2	.500
Fenton-Dubys	2	2	.500
Northerns	1	3	.250

The Commercial basket ball card offers two interesting contests for this evening at the Y. M. C. A. when the league-leading Kelleys meet the fast Big Duluths and the Fenton-Dubys take on the scrappy Northerns.

These games are the next to the last set of the season's schedule, and the teams are fighting hard for first place. At present Harvey Smith's crack Kelleys are in the lead, but should they lose to the Big Duluths this evening there would be a tie for first place. Because of this fact the clothiers will make a wonderful fight to pull the hardware men down from their lofty perch.

The Fenton-Dubys, should they defeat the Northerns, would also be tied with the Big Duluths and the Kelleys for the lead. The Northerns are at the bottom, but they will make a great fight to make a final landing some place higher up in the percentage column when the season closes. The Fenton-Dubys will do their utmost to win and thus make it a triple tie for first place. A large gallery is expected to be on hand to witness the games.

DOBIE TAKES CHANCE.

Washington Football Coach Signs for Another Year, Risking His Record.

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 8.—Gilmore Dobie, with eight successive undefeated years to his credit as football coach of the University of Washington football team, agreed late yesterday to coach another season. Previously he had declined to do so.

Until a few days ago, when Dr. Paul Withington of Harvard finally was selected as coach at the University of Wisconsin, Dobie was strongly favored for the position.

SCHEDULE AND PLAYER-LIMIT

Important Questions Coming Up Before National League Meeting.

Senior Baseball Organization's Fortieth Birthday to Be Celebrated.

New York, Feb. 8.—Adoption of a playing schedule for 1916 and an attempt to increase the number of players allowed to each team beyond the present limit of twenty-one players are the most important matters to be considered at the annual meeting of the National league here today.

Approval of the schedule is expected to be a matter of formality, as Barney Dreyfuss and John A. Heydler, secretary of the league, arranged it some time ago.

The movement to extend the limit of twenty-one players was inaugurated by Harry H. Hempstead, president of the New York club. Mr. Hempstead said he saw no reason why the league could not go back to the old rule of carrying twenty-five players during certain periods of the season, as he believed the lower limit has not helped any of the clubs and has in some cases impaired the playing strength. President Tener of the league said he did not believe the rule should be changed.

The meeting of the board of directors was called for 12 o'clock, and of the National league at 2 o'clock.

National's Birthday.

The National league's fortieth birthday will be observed with a banquet at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel tomorrow evening. On account of the unsettled financial condition of the Cleveland club, the American league schedule meeting which was to have taken place here today has been postponed for a week, and many of the junior major organization's club owners may not be on hand for tomorrow's festivities.

President Tener and his associates in the National league will welcome two new club presidents at the meeting today: Percy D. Haughton, who with his associates purchased the Boston Braves, and Charles Weeghman of Chicago, who represents the majority of stock in the recently acquired Cubs of that city. Undoubtedly Haughton will be selected to fill the positions on committees which were held by James F. Gaffney, former owner, but Weeghman will not be required to accept many new duties in this respect, as C. H. Thomas was not a committee member.

Ebbets Has Rules Revision.

President Ebbets of the Brooklyn club will submit to the delegates at today's session a revision of the present rules governing the drafting of players. The Brooklyn magnate has been working on the proposed plan longer than two years, and he claims its adoption will benefit the second division clubs in both major leagues.

When the player limit of twenty-one was adopted it was said to be a necessary precaution in view of the existence of the Federal league's war on organized baseball. With that obstacle removed now, some club owners believe that this measure of retrenchment is not desirable.

LOW BOWLING SCORES.

Iowa State Tournament Develops Nothing Startling on First Day.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Feb. 8.—Unaccountably low scores were the rule during the first day of the Iowa state bowling tournament, which opened here yesterday morning, the only remarkable mark hung up being that of Burns, a local player, who scored 257 for a single game and a total of 635 for the three games he rolled.

In making his high record in singles, Burns rolled thirteen balls, eleven going for strikes, one for a spare and the final one for eight pins.

Ralph Weiman, the Burlington man who week before last annexed a perfect score on his home alleys, participated in the competition Monday, but the best he could do was 223, a mark which stood until Burns got into action.

Many well-known pin men are present here. With Burns came Frank Bruggeman, who in 1910 met Larry Sutton with the American Bowling congress in Pittsburgh for the individual championship of the world. "Daddy" Hopkins of Grinnell, also known in the pin world, is among those who will compete today.

Kenosha, Wis., Feb. 8.—Watertown, Wis., has been awarded the 1917 state bowling tournament. The present tourney here, which will continue until Feb. 15, is the largest in point of attendance yet held in Wisconsin.

Sensational Chess Game.

New York, Feb. 8.—The match between Oscar Chavez and Jose R. Capablanca of Havana was the sensation of the second round of the final stage of the Rice memorial chess masters' tournament yesterday. Chavez capturned his opponent's queen on the twenty-ninth move. The game was not completed after six hours of play and was adjourned to next Thursday. At the close of play Capablanca was apparently at the mercy of Chavez. They had made fifty-four moves. Kostic and Kupschick had a drawn game after sixty-three moves. Janowski had a bye.

ST. PAUL HOCKEY TEAM TO MEET DULUTH ALL-STARS

Ray Johns Athletic Club Seven Will Oppose Team Made Up of Players Chosen From All Amateur League Teams—Duluth Players to Practice Team Work.

Ray Johns' strong St. Paul Athletic club hockey team will meet a Duluth septet chosen from the four teams of the amateur league, Thursday evening at the curling club.

Mahan, Oulette, Bartlett, Alder, Stahl, Pierson, Bastion, Arnie Olson, Sullivan, Owens, Harris, Langren and Roberts are requested to be at the curling club rink at 10 o'clock this evening and begin practicing for the game with the strong Saintly city aggregation.

The players chosen are believed to represent the very pick of the league stars. If the Duluth boys can acquire anything resembling team work between now and Thursday evening, the St. Paul team may be given a real battle.

Because of the game of Thursday evening, there will be no game Friday evening. The game left over this week will be contested next Tuesday evening.

Uncle Nick Kahler, former member of the Duluth hockey team, is captain of the St. Paul septet Bert Mohan, one of the stars on last year's Duluth Curling club team, is another local player who is showing great form with the Saints.

During the present season the St. Paul septet has made a great record. There are several strong Canadian players on the team, while several of the best players that St. Paul has ever turned out, are also on the playing list. The team that is this year wearing the colors of the St. Paul Athletic club, is declared to be the strongest aggregation ever turned out by the down river town.

Against this rather formidable team, Duluth will hurl the best individual collection of players that can be assembled among the city's star players. The contest is expected to prove interesting and to determine how the class of hockey being played here this season compares with that being played by the semi-professional players of other cities.

DRAW MADE FOR HANDBALL

Class A. Tourney Will Begin on Y. M. C. A. Courts; Wendlandt Favorite.

Drawings have been completed for the class A handball tournament that is to be held on the Y. M. C. A. courts. The tourney play will begin Monday, Feb. 14, and all the star players of the association have been entered.

Later the class B men will be paired and entered in the tournament. As there are a very large number of B men playing this season, it is desired to get entries in as early as possible.

Bill Wendlandt, the greatest handball player ever produced in Duluth, is entered in the class A tourney, and in the light of past performances may be expected to cop the tourney honors.

Should Wendlandt win again this year, as he has in the last few seasons, a determined effort will be made to get Bill on with the winner of the tournament now in progress on the courts of the St. Paul Y. M. C. A.

Following is the draw for class A players:

Wendlandt vs. Lavine.
Olson vs. Hanson.
McLean vs. Kingston.
Hall vs. Tom Clark.
Lohmar vs. Dr. Clark.
Pinneo vs. Denny.
Hayden vs. Honnigman.
Bishoff vs. Foster.
Johnson vs. Wisted.
Sturm vs. Dreves.
Whitehead vs. Cronk.
Strong vs. Bartholdi.

RED SOX NOT FOR C. MOLL

Superior Business Men to Run Baseball Team Without His Help.

Charles Moll will not lead the Superior Baseball club during the 1916 season.

This fact was definately settled when the business men interested in rehabilitating the great national game on the other side of the bay stated that in their opinion the game should be financed with less expense without the services of the former president of the W-I league.

It was the understanding that in the event of Moll going to Superior, he would simply transfer his St. Boniface franchise to the other side of the bay, also taking the St. Boniface players there. The Superior business men in return were to raise $3,000 and give Moll stock in the club.

After canvassing the situation and thinking the matter over from many angles, the Superior men have arrived at the conclusion that they could get along without Moll's assistance and close co-operation. That's the way the case stands right now.

There is a semi-deadlock between Superior business men and the Northern league. The league has said that the Superior club owes the league $1,500, while the Superior band of progressive business men declare with compressed lips that they will never, never pay one farthing of said amount.

There you have it! The outcome is not yet.

In the meantime it is generally believed among Northern league baseball men that Charley Moll will hook up with John Burmeister and become the manager of the Winnipeg club.

PLANK NAILED TO ORGANIZED BALL

National Commission Refuses Former Athlete His Free Agency.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Feb. 8.—The national baseball commission has denied the application of Pitcher Eddie Plank to be declared a free agent. Plank based his request on a paragraph in the players' fraternity agreement, which relates to an unconditional release after a player has served ten years on one team and because the Federal league no longer has a claim to his services.

The commission ruled that the first contention did not hold, because Plank left the Philadelphia Americans before waivers had been obtained upon him and before he had been released by that club, which was contrary to the players' fraternity agreement.

In answer to the second contention, the commission says:

"His transfer to the St. Louis American league club is a matter of record, and his salary for 1916 is a matter for negotiation between him and that club."

New York, Feb. 8.—The New York Nationals announce that they had purchased Outfielder Edward Rousch from Harry Sinclair of the Federal league. Rousch was one of the leading players with the Newark Federals last season.

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 8.—Claude Herrick, last year shortstop for the Louisville American Association Baseball club, has been sold for an unnamed price to the Indianapolis club of the same league, it is announced.

CENTRAL QUINT TO PLAY IN SUPERIOR

Annual Contest Next Friday Promises to Be Exciting.

Elated by their brilliant victory last Friday evening over the much-touted Cathedral high school basket ball quint, the Central high school team is going through a stiff workout all of this week in preparation for their big annual battle next Friday night with their old rivals, the Superior Central aggregation.

Superior high recently held Virginia high to a 23-to-18 score. Virginia defeated Duluth Central 40 to 15. According to the dope on scores the men from across the bay should have little difficulty in defeating the locals. Coach Blake has made a big improvement in his men since the Virginia defeat, and with the addition of Karon and Shaw, two of last year's stars, who have been out all season due to delinquency in their studies, the Duluth quint should put up a creditable showing against the haughty Superiorites. Superior high has the same team it had last year and should be exceptionally hard to beat on home grounds.

The game will be played in the Superior "gym" and a large delegation is expected to travel over with the rejuvenated Red and White aggregation. The memorable "egg shower," which greeted local rooters last year when they went over to Superior, is expected to be lacking this year, for if the Superior management does not give the Duluthians more courteous treatment this year than it did last, athletic relations will undoubtedly be severed between the two schools.

Following the Superior game the local five will be on the road for the two following weeks. The fast Virginia and Hibbing quints, the very classiest of the range teams, will be met on this trip. The local team will attempt to revenge the defeat which they suffered at the hands of the Virginians earlier in the season, although they will be handicapped by playing in a strange gymnasium.

WIDESPREAD INTEREST IN KETONEN-CARR CONTEST

BY BRUCE.

More than $2,000, it is said, will change hands on the result of Friday evening's meeting between Waino Ketonen, world's middleweight wrestling champion, and Joe Carr of Minneapolis, challenger for the title.

A long distance message from Minneapolis last evening declared that wrestling followers down state, convinced that Carr was in grand shape, believe that the iron Pole is unbeatable and that he will take the measure of the great little Finn, a wrestler many followers of the game declare to be the best little man since the days of Ed Adamson.

The match will be a blood one. Carr has been in the wrestling game for the last five years. Always he has been a contender for the middleweight title. His one great chance will come on Friday evening, when he meets the title holder. As for Ketonen, the Finn in his sensational mat career of seven years in Europe and the United States, has been made to look bad but once. Joe Carr, possessed of great strength, crushed Ketonen to the mat and nearly put him out of business. To become recognized throughout the country as the one greatest wrestler in all the middleweight division, Ketonen must beat Carr.

Little Ketonen is prepared to wrestle the greatest match of his career to beat Carr. Joe Thomas, the well-known trainer, went over the Finnish boy last night from head to toes, and pronounced Ketonen in great shape.

From Minneapolis come glowing tales of the remarkable form Carr is showing in his workouts with big Henry Ordeman. Great as Ketonen has shown himself to be, down state there is a belief that Carr will beat the Finn in a gruelling contest that will be rough from start to finish.

Carr Is a Bear Cat.

Of Joe Carr it has ever been said that when right he was the greatest middleweight wrestler in the world. Carr had the contest that is to be fought out Friday evening put ahead two weeks in order that he would be right.

Louis Zorbas has been matched to wrestle in Lincoln, Neb., Washington's birthday, for the lightweight title. The little Duluth Greek is to meet Owen Dailey. For the last ten days little Loule has been working out with Ketonen. On Friday evening Zorbas will take on Pete Petkoff, the Bulgarian strong boy, as a preliminary to the world's championship contest.

Olaf Johnson, the boy who represented Norway in the Olympic games and won several medals in the big grappling game, will also appear in the all-star wrestling show and will take on Billy Nivers of St. Paul.

Many Finns Coming.

Interest over the coming match is intense among the Finnish people of Duluth and the range country. Knowing that Waino Ketonen is the greatest Finnish wrestler ever produced, and believing that the match with Carr will prove the greatest test of his remarkable mat career, the countrymen of the little fellow will be on hand in large numbers to cheer him on to victory.

Yesterday Waino put in an hour on the mat. Today the little Finn will begin to taper off. His last work will be done tomorrow, then he will rest Thursday and take on a couple of pounds for a long and hard battle.

Carr, accompanied by big Henry Ordemann, will arrive here early Thursday and will take a workout here before the big battle.

ARTHUR E. BROWN COMMENTS ON FRIDAY NIGHT'S FIASCO

To the Sporting Editor of The Herald:

Since the unfortunate and disgraceful affair at the curling club last Friday evening, at which time five of the players of the Universal team, Harry Parsons, Earl Harris, Ward Brown, Jim Donald and George Anderson, were more or less seriously injured (all of these injuries being in the face or on the head), I have been so beset by questions and telephone calls from personal friends and friends of hockey, that I wish to make a statement through the columns of your paper.

This is not in any respect official.

The questions asked the most are: "What is the trouble?" "How could such a thing happen?" To the latter question I will say frankly that I do not know. Feeling my responsibility keenly to those who were hurt, to their parents and to the people who were helping the league by their patronage, I think, perhaps, the following explanation is due:

My love for the game, and my loyalty to the Duluth hockey players, have been so well known that early in December I was urged to take an active interest in helping to bring about a schedule at the curling club and establish amateur hockey firmly on its feet. I did not at first consent, but took the matter under advisement for ten days. In the meanwhile, having been very close to the manager and players of the Universal team for the last six years, I saw them as a team and individually, and they pledged to me and to the league their undivided loyalty, and promised that they would at all times stand for the highest and cleanest grade of play. They promised that they would, by their own example and influence, discourage what is known as dirty and vicious play.

I saw Mr. Larson, manager of the Northern team, and arranged to see his men, but before I could get to this I learned that their captain, Andy Grgenet, had taken a firm stand for just these things, and I wish at this time to express to him and his team my personal appreciation. I had the same pledge from Mr. Swanstrom, manager of the Bagley team. This team was late in getting organized and has not been able to help as much, except in the spirit in which they have gone about their team building.

Regarding the Universals and Northerns, whether in finances or along other lines of helpfulness, our slightest wish has met with the heartiest response.

Our trouble was from the start with the Big Duluth team, and how to get them started along right lines. I had a plain, frank talk with the majority of their players, including their manager and captain, at my place of business, and explained patiently in detail just what our problems were, and how anxious we were for the success of the league. We had the kindliest feeling towards them and tried to be helpful to them in their effort to get together. Pinning my faith to all of these boys, I consented to act and induced some of my friends to lend their assistance. I went to the directors of the curling club and gave to them unreservedly and without hesitation, my personal pledge that they would have nothing to regret. I said it in so many words. I further pledged to them my word, that all financial obligations would be met in full. This latter pledge will be kept to the letter. I found them interested, kindly and responsive.

The Duluth Amateur Hockey association has had in the main a free hand at the curling club, and has no complaint to make. The public has also been sympathetic and responsive, and we reached the high water mark in attendance and financial success Friday evening, when failure came through the flagrant acts of a few. I do not wish to shirk my share of responsibility, and will say plainly that I, with other parents and friends of the Universal players, flatly refused, under the circumstances, to allow them to go back on the ice after George Anderson was injured. We could not afford to take the risk, and there was a principle at stake higher than rules and regulations. A technical defeat for them and an empty victory for their opponents was not to be set over against the possibility of young men being maimed or disfigured for life.

I am not in accord with the idea that hockey is of necessity a rough game. I have yet to be convinced that it is impossible to play clean, fast, scientific hockey with risks of play reduced to good-natured happenings and pure accidents. I have yet to be convinced that such a team as the "Big Duluth," less Bogan and his kind, under proper influences and leadership, could not redeem itself, and be a credit to its backers, its league and to Duluth.

There are clean players on the "Big Duluth" team. One of these boys, to my knowledge expressed regret at what happened, and inquired after his injured opponents. This was young Sullivan of Two Harbors. There may have been others. I have the assurance to believe that I could take the management of such a team, and with them win high honors in clean, scientific hockey. I have yet to be convinced that the four teams cannot get together in clean, high-grade hockey. This may be too late, and the next few days only will tell.

Within the next few days, the incorporation of the Duluth Amateur Hockey association would have been completed and its affairs would have passed under the absolute control of nine directors. In due time thereafter, there would have been formulated a set of by-laws and playing rules governing hockey in Duluth. It is a matter for a majority of those interested to decide whether this plan is to be carried through. Every player had the honor of signing the charter, and most of these signatures were taken at the curling club last Friday evening. This new organization not having been completed, the present crisis will probably have to be cared for by the present officers and managers. Yours very truly,

ARTHUR E. BROWN.

BIKERS CLOSE AND FINISH IS NEAR

Six-Day Racers at Chicago Begin Final Spurt Bunched.

Chicago, Feb. 8.—With more than 1,300 miles to their credit, contestants in the international six-day bicycle race at the Coliseum here today started the final sprint of the race, which closes at 11 o'clock tonight. Beginning at 11 a. m., the nine contesting teams who are bunched within four laps of one another will ride in short relays for eleven hours in a battle for first place. At 10 p. m. the race will be stopped and the issue decided by what is known as the "Berlin finish," based on the position of the teams at the end of the eleventh hour.

Following is the standing of the teams:

Second—Wohlrab-Kopsky; distance, 1,302 miles 6 laps.

Third—Grimm-Ruddi, Russe; distance, 1,302 miles 4 laps.

Sensational sprinting at the close of last night's riding failed to change the position of the leaders. Madonna, who was paired with Ohrt, was unable to continue the grind on account of injuries received when he fell, and Ohrt paired with Corry when Lawson, Corry's partner, quit with a sprained knee.

LINER SINKS SCHOONER IN HARBOR OF FRISCO

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 8.—The Pacific Navigation company's fast passenger turbiner Harvard, inward bound from San Pedro with about 500 passengers, ran into and sank the steam schooner Excelsior last night in San Francisco harbor in a dense fog. The Excelsior, outward bound in ballast, was struck on the starboard beam and went down slowly, giving all hands ample time to find safety in the launches that were quickly alongside. A report that one member of the crew was missing could not be confirmed. The Harvard was undamaged.

Chief Engineer Dorward of the Excelsior was painfully burned about the hands and legs by escaping steam. A fireman and night watchman also were scalded, but not seriously. The Excelsior is a wooden vessel of 261 net tons.

Constipation is Cured

by a return to regular habits of eating and exercise, by breaking off the laxative habit, and by the use of Nujol as an internal lubricant.

Nujol

REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

A PURE WHITE MINERAL OIL

Is odorless and tasteless, absolutely neutral, and is not digested or absorbed into the system. It acts merely as a mechanical lubricant.

Nujol is not a drug. Its use will not give quick, temporary relief. But Nujol is a genuine remedy in that it relieves constipation in the most natural way by lubricating the lining of the intestines, softening the intestinal contents, and thus promoting healthy and normal bowel activity.

The mineral oil treatment for constipation, first advocated by Sir William Arbuthnot Lane, the distinguished English surgeon, is now being successfully prescribed by doctors all over the world.

Write for "The Rational Treatment of Constipation," an informative treatise on constipation. If you cannot get Nujol from your druggist, we will send you a pint bottle prepaid to any point in the United States on receipt of 75c—money order or stamps.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than al other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. OLD FOLKS NEED "CASCARETS" FOR LIVER, BOWELS

Enjoy Life! Don't Stay Bilious, Sick, Headachy and Constipated.

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles.

So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets, and they cost only 10c per box at any drug store.—Advertisement.

INDIAN TOWN TO SOON BE VACANT

Squatters Living on Property at Manistique, Mich., Must Move.

Manistique, Mich., Feb. 8.—Indiantown, a picturesque settlement inhabited first by the Indians and later by squatters, will soon be only a memory. The Consolidated Lumber company, owner of the land, has notified the squatters on the land that they must move off as it is soon to be sold for a manufacturing site.

A heterogeneous assembly of fifty-two houses will have to be moved off the land as a result of this order.

Once Big Indian Village.

Indiantown received its name from the fact that it was once the location of a large Indian village and headquarters for the grand chief of several Indian tribes. In 1872 the Indians still had possession of the place and after that large numbers of the red men came from the Beaver islands to fish for sturgeon and the location was also famous for its huckleberries.

At that time the land was owned by the Chicago Lumber company, which allowed squatters to build shacks on the land and charged them only a nominal rent. Later the Consolidated Lumber company obtained possession of the land, and as Manistique grew it was realized that Indiantown would have to be vacated to make room for new factories.

OFFICER IS WOUNDED BY ANOTHER OFFICER

Ashland, Wis., Feb. 8.—One Indian officer was accidentally shot by another officer while trying to make an arrest in the Norway house, a local saloon, when the officer who did the shooting was set upon by the accused, Fritz Weigan and Victor Alskovd, a bystander. Weigan, wanted for bootlegging among the Indians near here, resisted arrest and Asvo Alskvold joined with him in attacking the lone officer. The latter during the struggle drew his pistol and it went off just as the second officer arrived, inflicting a slight flesh wound in the latter. The man wanted was arrested and so was his companion who is charged with resisting an officer.

Two drums of cheddar cheese, weighing 350 and 500 pounds, respectively, exhibits of the N. Simon company, Appleton, form one of the leading features of the display.

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Farmers' Non-partisan Political league will hold a convention here the latter part of March to indorse candidates for various positions to be voted upon in the June state-wide primaries.

That the league will not confine its attention to any single party, and that it will not bring forth a slate of its own candidates is generally accepted.

Instead, the league will indorse some Republican candidates and some Democratic candidates and will urge all its members, totaling over 36,000, to go into the primaries of their respective parties and vote for the men the convention indorses.

IF BACK HURTS TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS

Says Backache Is Sure Sign You Have Been Eating Too Much Meat.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Advertisement.

ALIEN INHERITANCE LAW IS HELD VALID

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 8.—North Dakota's inheritance law, attacked in the Cass county probate court on the plea that it acted against the interest of alien beneficiaries, and therefore was unconstitutional, is upheld under the decision of Judge Hanson.

Judge Hanson matained that it was the state's right to discriminate between alien beneficiaries living outside the state and beneficiaries residing in the state. The case arises in the Martin A. Hagen case. The two heirs were given the same portion of the estate, the resident heir paying only about $500, while the alien heir must pay $8,311.

Why Is an Auto Show?

Why is an auto show?

Why should there be brought together in the form of a show, all this aggregation of machines and incidentals representing a value into the hundreds of thousands?

Many persons ask these questions as they wander about the large armory building this week studying the 1916 automobiles placed on display by local dealers.

The answer is found in the interest of all the people in the automobile, the steady march of invention, the constant addition of new features for speed, comfort or convenience, the introduction from time to time of a new car and the changing in some degree of all the cars from year to year.

Through the medium of the automobile show every maker is enabled to exhibit the best he has and from the standpoint of beauty alone and as an exhibition of mechanical progress, such a show is well worth while. Thousands who are interested in mechanics also attend.

More Auto Show Facts.

The thinnest dealer—J. W. Arnold.
The busiest man—Manager Daly.

Selling the First Car.

Leonard McNamara, the Studebaker man, claims the distinction of having sold the first car at the show. He said he sold a car just before noon yesterday.

And right back, Fred Kleyn says he sold the first car last Saturday night while talking to a neighbor at the McCormack concert. The sale took place in the armory and should stand, he claims.

Of course, the Editor refuses to take any stand, but is of the opinion that Mac should get first mention, while Fred can come in on the honorable mention row.

Cars at the Show.

The history of the Knight type sleeve-valve motor, which is seen in action on the chassis of a Willys-Knight automobile in the exhibit of the Willys-Overland company, is international, according to E. J. Filiatrault of the Mutual Auto company. The motor was invented in 1903 by Charles Y. Knight of Chicago and installed in an automobile in 1905. The next year Mr. Knight was invited by the Daimler company of England to submit his motor for demonstration. The test which followed was gruelling but the Knight motor passed it successfully and the Daimler company adopted the motor for installation in their cars.

A sunroom on wheels has resulted from the efforts of one auto company's designer to make the electric more livable. The Detroit Electric shown at the auto show by the R. & R. garage, comes near being a traveling home. The rear corner panels that once gave an air of gloom to the machine are now made of high-grade curved glass, while the top of the car is of aluminum. The machine has a 100-inch wheelbase, double door locks to insure the locking of the machine and new control devices.

For any one who is looking for speed and lots of it, Martin Rosendahl is recommending the Stutz "Bearcat," being shown at the automobile show. The "Bearcat" is capable of making seventy-five miles an hour, and Mr. Rosendal said today this is fast enough for any one who doesn't want to break records at the risk of breaking his neck.

Among the advantages listed in the specifications of the Overland Model 75 is the cantilever type of rear springs with which the Overland car is equipped. The springs are so designed as to reduce to a minimum the jolts and jars caused by driving over rough roads.

The Hudson Motor Car company, in its patented 76-horse power super-six model, has changed the principle of carburetion from the old type where the driver regulates the mixture by the throttle to one pneumatically controlled.

Among the noticeable features of the automobile show are the great number of roadster and cabriolet models seating three persons. Formerly these models were built to accommodate two passengers. When room was required for three persons, a rumble seat or chauffeur's seat was often supplied by the makers. Today automobile makers are providing room for three persons by making seats wider.

So satisfactory were the lines of the White automobile last year that the builders decided to make no body changes this year. According to Earl Bradley, in charge of the White exhibit, the White automobile is comparable only to the "perfect 36" of the garment trade in the perfection of its lines. All the cars in the exhibit are four cylinder. One of the particularly attractive models is the new town car, which is designed along French lines.

There is a new car on the floor at the less-than-$500 price. It is a model of the Chevrolet roadster which has not been seen here before and it is found in the exhibit of John M. Ford. There is a touring car also at about the same figure and all the Chevrolet line has the now famous Chevrolet motor. This is of the valve-in-head type and is of 30 to 35-horse power.

The Dodge cars, practically unknown one year ago, have proved one of the stellar attractions at the show. J. W. Arnold, local agent, says that people now consider the Dodge just as if it was one of the older makes of cars. The reputation of the Dodge Brothers and the extensive advertising campaign carried on before the cars made their appearance are given as the reasons for the widespread interest.

The LOCOMOBILE and its OWNER

The Locomobile provides the most luxurious and the safest means of getting about. In addition to this it yields a satisfaction that is apart from any material consideration—that comfortable feeling one always has who owns the very best.

The owner of a Locomobile esteems it not only because of what it does, but perhaps even more for what it is and will be.

The family that owns Locomobiles knows that quality instead of quantity is a past, present, and future policy of the Company.

The Locomobile owner has the satisfaction of knowing that the car will always be a high quality car, an expensive car, the car of cars to own. He knows the price will not diminish, may even increase. He knows his car will not depreciate because of radical changes in the design, price, or quality of the Locomobiles that are to be.

MAYOR OPENS AUTO SHOW

About 2,000 Persons See Exhibits on Opening Day.

America Great Motor Nation of World, Says Mayor.

The doors of the armory were opened to the public shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, but the official opening followed the address by Mayor Prince at 8 o'clock and a musical program by the Helmer concert orchestra, which will play every evening this week.

Alex Davis, chairman of the executive committee of the Duluth Automobile Dealers' association, and W. F. Daly, manager of the show, estimate yesterday's attendance at 2,000.

"The age in which we live," said Mayor Prince in opening the show last evening, "is emphatically an automobile age. The nation which we are a part is the great automobile nation of the world, in both its manufacture and use.

"No more remarkable and significant development is known to modern time than that of the motor-driven vehicle. Life's interests have been developed thereby, distances set at naught, the world narrowed and made smaller, a new industry of enormous proportions created and the cause of good roads and agricultural development generally tremendously promoted.

"More than 3,000,000 cars are in use throughout this world, more than three-fourths being in use in this country. Minnesota has 100,000 machines. Ten years ago there were but sixty-five cars in Duluth, while today there are 1,600. The automobiles of the country consume 1,000,000,000 gallons of gasoline per annum and during 1915 the machines in use saved $1,000,000 worth of time to the people of the country. It is estimated that during 1916 1,000,000 cars will be manufactured at a value of $1,000,000,000."

During the evening Miss Maybelle Messersmith and Miss Dare, both entertainers at the Holland, sang several song numbers, with the assistance of the orchestra. The musical program rendered by the orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Helmer, follows:

March—"Stars and Stripes Forever" ..... Sousa
Selection—"Ziegfeld's Follies, 1915" ..... Hirsch
Waltz—"Minor and Major" ..... McKee
Trumpet solo—"Because" ... D'Harletot
Charles Helmer.
Fox trot—"Alabama Slide" ..... Foster
Selection—"Princess Pat" ..V. Herbert
Potpourri—"Selections From Uncle Sam" ..... Hosmer
March—"America, I Love You" ..Gottler

INVOLUNTARY BATH IN FOUNTAIN FOR DULUTH MAN

An involuntary bath was taken last night in the Blackstone hotel, Chicago, by George E. Robson, grain man of Duluth, who, with his family, is on his way to Palm Beach, Fla., to spend some weeks basking in the warmth of that clime.

It happened while the Duluth board of trade man was standing beside the fountain in the Blackstone lobby, talking to friends. He moved backward, evidently not realizing how close he was to the edge of the fountain, which is one of the decorative features of the lobby.

His knees hit the edge of the fountain, his heels slipped on the treacherous tile floor, he made a wild clutch for support, with nothing but air to embrace, and then,

"Splash."

Mr. Robson was momentarily submerged. As soon as he could gain support, with the assistance of others in the vicinity, he arose from his chilly and embarrassing position, not refreshed, but very damp from his plunge, and hustled to his room to change.

Fortunately his destination is warmer than his present abode and no evil effects are looked for.

LEGISLATURE HIS HOPE.

If Oscar Joki of the firm of Joki Brothers, Kelsey, wants to have the system of letting contracts for county ditch jobs changed, he should turn to the state legislature, according to Charles E. Adams, special county counsel, to whom was referred a letter which Joki has written to a county official.

"Mr. Joki should direct his protest to the legislature, as it alone has the power to change the provisions of the law. The duties of the county officials in letting ditch contracts are plain and are fixed by law," said Mr. Adams.

PAVING MAY BE HELD UP

Court Appeal Threatened on West First Street Paving.

Men Opposed to Improvement Say Petition Is Not Valid.

A court appeal is threatened by property owners who do not want West First street, between Twentieth and Thirtieth avenues, paved the way the improvement petition provides.

Works Commissioner Farrell yesterday told interested property owners that the city faced an injunction suit, in case they went ahead with the work. John Jenswold, Jr., and George M. Jensen appeared at the council meeting to ask why the work had not been ordered.

The original petition was circulated three years ago. Property owners who do not want the improvement say that the petition is not valid now because of deaths or removals of persons who signed it.

"Less than 25 per cent of the property is represented on the petition now," they assert.

"The city attorney is looking into the matter," Commissioner Farrell told his audience, "and he will give us an opinion in a day or two. If he says the complainants have no basis for action, we will go ahead and order the paving."

"This has been pending about three years," said Mr. Jensen, "and we should like to have it settled. I understand that some of them now want a thirty-foot pavement from Twenty-second to Thirtieth avenue, and a forty-two foot one only from Twentieth to Twenty-second. They also want brick instead of creosote."

Mr. Jenswold argued that the fact that original signers of the petition had since disposed of their property, or had died, did not make the petition invalid.

Paint Without Oil

It comes in the form of a dry powder and all that is required is cold water to make a paint weather proof, fire proof and as durable as oil paint. It adheres to any surface, wood, stone or brick, spreads and looks like oil paint and costs about one-fourth as much.

Write to Mr. A. L. Rice, Manuf'r., 318 North St., Adams, N. Y., and he will send you a free trial package, also color card and full information showing you how you can save a good many dollars. Write today.

"NOT GUILTY," IS HIS PLEA

Albert Olander Tells Court He Did Not Beat E. Anderson.

"Was Drunk," Says Attorney; Formerly Admitted Charge, Says Detective.

Albert Olander, dock laborer, accused of having brutally assaulted Enoch Anderson last Friday evening while the latter was walking with his wife and two daughters near the F. A. Patrick Knitting mills, in the West end, was arraigned on a second-degree assault charge before Judge W. H. Smallwood yesterday afternoon and entered a plea of not guilty. His attorney, Andrew Nelson, asked for an immediate hearing, but this was denied by the court after the judge was informed by Capt. of Police A. J. Fiskett that Anderson is still in the hospital suffering from a fractured leg and other injuries and could not come to court. The hearing was then set for next Monday afternoon at 2:30.

"This is a fine surprise for the police," said Detective Herman Toewe. "This fellow practically confessed to us that he was guilty and said he would pay all of Anderson's hospital and doctor bills. Now that he is beginning to put on a bold front I will have Anderson's two daughters, who were also beaten up for screaming when they saw their defenseless father kicked unto unconsciousness, prefer third-degree assault charges against Olander."

"There is no doubt in my mind but what Olander is the man who did the job. And further, I believe that robbery was his motive. About a year ago a pedestrian was held up at identically the same spot where Anderson was cruelly beaten and received a bad whipping and was relieved of his money."

Andrew Nelson, attorney for Olander, stated to a Herald reporter yesterday afternoon that Olander was so drunk on the night he is accused of assaulting Anderson that his mind is a blank regarding everything that occurred that evening. "As a matter of fact, Olander doesn't know whether he assaulted Anderson or not," said Mr. Nelson. "He had been drinking whisky since early in the afternoon of that day and his mind was wandering. He might have committed the crime. He cannot say. He remembers nothing that happened that evening."

Olander is built like Sam Langford. He is short and stocky and weighs 197 pounds. His hands, arms and legs are unusually large.

Any Case of Tuberculosis

will be helped in some measure by prompt and proper attention to right diet and hygienic living. Eat pure, well-cooked food and avoid excesses. Live in the open air as much as possible and always sleep with windows wide open. If such measures do not arrest the progress of the disease, the wise course is to try effective medication. For while science has not yet proclaimed a specific for tuberculosis, it is agreed that the best chances for recovery rest in a strengthening of all normal body functions.

In many cases Eckman's Alterative has helped in this needed upbuilding. In any case it may be tried without risk, since it contains no poisonous or habit-forming drugs. And when used as an adjunct to right living, it produces the best results. From your druggist or direct from DEATH ENDS LONG ILLNESS.

The funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family residence with interment in Oneota cemetery. A. Hallgren of Minneapolis will have charge.

Held Up at West End.

Peter Peterson reported to the police last night that he had been held up at about 11 o'clock by two masked men and relieved of a gold watch and chain and a few cents in change when passing the corner of Twenty-fifth avenue west. The robbers, he said, ran toward the railroad yards after having taken the valuables.

This Will Remove Hair or Fuzzy Growths

(Toilet Tips)

A safe, certain method for ridding the skin of ugly, hairy growths is as follows: Mix a paste with some powdered delatone and water, apply to hairy surface about 2 minutes, then rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This is entirely harmless and seldom requires repeating, but to avoid disappointment it is advisable to see that you get genuine delatone.—Advertisement.

ON THE IRON RANGES

VIRGINIA VOTING DURING SNOWSTORM

Many Votes Being Sworn in and Large Vote Is Expected.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Instead of snowing the day after election Old Boreas is getting in his work here today, and Virginia voters are going to the seven voting places in the six wards through a miniature blizzard, which may keep some from the polls, but the general expectation is a full vote will be the case, as many who did not register are swearing in their votes. Up to noon about 500 votes had been cast. The registration is 1,800, but it is expected despite the storm more than that number will vote.

Not Voting for Mayor.

It is reported that many voters today are not voting for mayor. Whether this is so cannot, of course, be told until the ballot boxes are opened at 9 o'clock tonight, when the polls close. Just why the people are not voting for mayor is not stated. It is evident there is a stiff fight on for municipal judge between Judge Carey, the present incumbent, and Gellispie and Onkka, with chances about even between any two of them.

Former Mayor Eaton and Mayor Boylan, who are striving after the mayoralty, are both sanguine of election. Up to noon the best of feeling prevailed, although some bitterness developed between the Boylan and Eaton forces during the closing hours of the campaign. Besides voting for officials the voters are passing on some charter amendments so that altogether it is one of the most important city elections ever held here and is absorbing much attention all over the range.

HIBBING LOSES TWO LAW CASES

Fails to Win Suit on Bond and Is Stuck for Damages.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The trial of the village of Hibbing vs. the American Bonding company came to a sudden ending yesterday afternoon in district court when Judge Hughes dismissed the action.

The bond which was supposed to have been signed by J. L. Stuart, the alleged embezzler of funds belonging to the village of Hibbing was not allowed in evidence, the judge contending that the bond did not lay the proper foundation for its entrance into the case and that it had to be signed by the principal unless this right was waived by the bonding company. The evidence Judge Hughes contended did not prove this, and he declared the case no cause for action.

The case of John Perrault vs. the village of Hibbing resulted in a verdict for the plaintiff, the jury yesterday afternoon awarding Perrault $325 for the loss of his horse and damage to the harness when he drove into an open ditch owned by the village.

VIRGINIA SCHOOL TEST.

Three Cases of Supposed Tuberculosis Are to Be Further Watched.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—School Physician Dr. Michelson has just completed a survey of the local schools to determine the number of cases of tuberculosis among Virginia school children. The Vin Pirquet reactionary system of diagnostic innoculation was applied to twenty doubtful cases and in three of them developed positive cases.

Of the three positive cases developed one will be sent to the University of Minnesota for treatment, a second will be isolated at Nopeming sanitorium and the third will be isolated and treated at the home of the patient in this city.

Dr. Michelson of the city schools and Dr. John H. Crowe, head of the city health department, are preparing to co-operate in advertising and securing the co-operation of the public in a general observation of baby welfare week in March.

VIRGINIA'S FIRE LOSSES ARE LIGHT

Fire Chief Stickney Makes Good Showing for His Department.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The total loss from fire in this city last year was only $7,300 on buildings and contents, while buildings and contents valued at $506,609 were menaced by the fire fiend, according to the annual report of Fire Chief Stickney, presented to the police and fire commission last night. The chief reported there were eighty-two calls, of which five were false; there were no alarms turned in during February and October, while in all forty-two buildings were inspected. The report was considered a good one.

Buy $6,300 Fire Truck.

The commissioners felt so pleased over the showing made by the department that they decided to purchase a 75-horse power chemical fire truck, one of the latest kind, for $6,300 from the La France Tire Truck company. There were two other bids, the Seagrave company of Columbus, Ohio, and the Range Motor company of Ely-Iwawik, representing the White machine, but the La France bid was considered the best one.

IS BUSY WINTER ON MESABA RANGE

More Men Are Working and More Mining Is Being Done.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—More men are working in the mines of the Mesaba range than ever before and more mines are being worked than in any previous winter season.

The production of ore at the underground mines at this time is on a larger scale than ever before in a winter season on the Mesaba range. Mine payrolls have been increased and with a voluntary increase in wages recently granted to all mine employes the iron mining industry may be said to be again on its feet after a period of unusual depression.

Less stripping is being done on Mesaba range properties during the present winter than for several years; all available labor is being used in the undergrounds. At the same time attention is called to the fact that stripping operations have not been up to the usual standard of activity for several years and that next season practically every ton of overburden that can be moved will be moved to prepare pit properties for heavy shipping.

Ore Sales Closed.

Ore sales for the season have been practically all closed. The vessel situation is the only feature of the present condition that is giving mining men any concern. With the indications that a heavy tonnage of ore will be moved from the range it is also indicated that there will be a heavy movement of wheat down the lakes and a heavy movement of coal to the docks in the Twin Ports harbors. Lake tonnage will undoubtedly be taxed to its capacity.

HAD SONS ON RANGE.

Mother of Two Hibbing Men Is Called in Negaunee.

All of the children, with the exception of Elmer, were at their mother's bedside when the end came. Elmer, who was recently married at Two Harbors, is traveling with his bride in the Southwest.

FARMERS ALL WANT ROADS MADE CLEAR

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—From every section of the Sixth commissioner district, according to County Commissioner Charles Pentilla of Eveleth, calls are coming in from farmers to assist them in clearing country roads blockaded by snow.

"I had dozens of calls, last week," said Mr. Pentilla, "for assistance from the farming districts, which I was unable to heed. There is no money available for work of this nature and to successfully overcome these obstacles we would require several snowplows in service constantly. We are endeavoring to give assistance wherever possible, but our resources are limited. We have neither the money or the equipment to satisfactorily take up the work. It would be inadvisable to buy such equipment for the reason that we may not again in twenty-five years experience a winter like this."

CREAMERY ASSURED.

Eveleth, Minn., Feb. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eveleth's creamery is assured as the Commercial club was notified last night that Jenkins Bros. of Two Harbors, who sought a location for a plant here, have secured the Real-Bedford building and will open the creamery about April 1.

Solomon Sax, J. N. Trevarrow and J. E. Manthey were appointed a committee to name an overseer of roads in the Eveleth district. A resolution was passed asking the Missabe Railroad company to put on an additional train to connect with the night train from Duluth at Wolf. Eveleth is now without night train service from the Head of the Lakes.

C. R. McCann, C. M. Dorway, A. G. Kingston, Frank Malloy, L. O. Magee and Solomon Sax were appointed to arrange for the annual banquet of the club to be held March 1 at the Park hotel.

Indoor Life Makes Fat

TAKE OIL OF KOREIN TO KEEP WEIGHT DOWN, OR TO REDUCE SUPERFLUOUS FAT.

People who are confined within doors and who are deprived of fresh, invigorating air and exercise must take precaution to guard against over-stoutness, as fat acquired by indoor life is unhealthy and a danger to the vital organs of the body. Lack of exercise in the fresh air weakens the oxygen-carrying power of the blood, so that it is unable to produce strong muscles and vitality and the formation of unsightly and unhealthy fat is the result.

If you are 15 or 20 pounds above normal weight you are daily drawing on your reserve strength and are constantly lowering your vitality by carrying this excess burden. Any person who is satisfied in their own mind that they are too stout should go to Boyce Drug Store, 331 West Superior St., and get a box of oil of korein capsules, and take one after each meal and one just before retiring at night.

Even a few days' treatment should show a noticeable reduction in weight, digestion should improve, energy return, footsteps become lighter, and the skin less flabby in appearance.

Oil of korein is inexpensive, cannot injure, helps the digestion and this is designed to increase the oxygen-carrying power of the blood. Any person who wants to reduce their weight 15 or 20 pounds should give this treatment a trial. There is nothing better.—Advertisement.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

COLDER

The temperature this morning presented a much more comfortable feeling than that of twenty-four hours before, for there was a rise of 18 degs. during the time, the record at 7 o'clock this morning being only 2 degs. below. The snow that is falling will continue at intervals today, tonight and tomorrow, it is announced; and then back of it all, another cold wave is threatened. The air today, however, is comfortable, by comparison, of course, so why worry about the coming cold wave? Duluth's used to them by this time. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.

A year ago today was cold and cloudy. The sun rose this mroning at 7:24 and will set this evening at 5:21, giving nine hours and fifty-seven minutes of sunlight. The ten-hour day will begin tomorrow.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The disturbance centered over the Rocky mountains has caused a rise in temperature over that section, the eastern slopes, the Northwest, Missouri, Red River and Upper Mississippi valleys and Western lake region, and snow over most Northern districts except rain in Pacific states. Much colder weather prevails in North Atlantic states. Cold wave conditions are developing in the Far West and which will reach Western Montana Wednesday."

Iowa—Unsettled weather tonight and Wednesday, probably snow; warmer in east portion tonight; colder in west portion Wednesday.

North Dakota—Unsettled weather tonight and Wednesday, probably snow; colder Wednesday.

MANY TO ATTEND MAHONING HEARING

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Many local people are going to Duluth Saturday when the hearing on the injunction secured by the township of Stuntz to prevent the organization of the village of Mahoning comes up before one of the district judges there. It is reported that Victor Power, attorney for the township, has been authorized to hire Fryberger, Fulton & Spear of Duluth to assist him in the case, but this is not verified. Town Clerk Benoe of Stuntz said:

"The farmers living south of us will be up against it if we are prevented from building roads. The greater part of our taxes will be taken away from us on this proposed Mahoning incorporation, so no wonder we are all anxious as to the result of the decision to be handed down Saturday."

TO CURE CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness and head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can be successfully treated at home by an internal remedy that in many instances has effected a complete cure after all else has failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear a watch tick have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear.

Therefore, if you know someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrh, or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand to them, and you will have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home, and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmint (double strength), about 75c worth. Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and 4 oz. of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

The first dose should begin to relieve the distressing head noises, headache, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., while the hearing rapidly returns as the system is invigorated by the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell and mucus dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms that show the presence of catarrhal poison, and which are often entirely overcome by this efficacious treatment. Nearly 90 per cent of all ear troubles are said to be directly caused by catarrh, therefore, there must be many people whose hearing can be restored by this simple home treatment.

Every person who is troubled with head noises, catarrhal deafness or catarrh in any form, should give this prescription a trial.—Advertisement.

SEACOAST INFESTED BY MEXICAN BANDITS

Americans Under Constant Fire From Mexico City to Vera Cruz.

New York, Feb. 8.—A party of four American mining engineers who arrived here today from Vera Cruz on the steamer Esperanza reported that the train on which they traveled from Mexico City to Vera Cruz had been under constant fire from bandits throughout the entire journey.

The engineers said they left Mexico City two weeks ago and traveled in an armored car which carried four 3-inch guns. According to their story, the whole territory between the Mexican capital and the seacoast is infested with bandits.

Dr. John R. Davis, an American physician at Mexico City, was quoted as saying there were several thousand cases of typhus fever in the capital and that smallpox was raging at Tampico. The engineers asserted that Carranza's power was waning and that Gen. Obregon was the man of the hour in Mexico City.

Quickest, Surest Cough Remedy is Home-Made

Easily Prepared in a Few Minutes. Cheap but Unequaled.

Some people are constantly annoyed from one year's end to the other with a persistent bronchial cough, which is wholly unnecessary. Here is a home-made remedy that gets right at the cause and will make you wonder what became of it.

Get 2½ ounces Pinex (50 cents worth) from any druggist, pour into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Start taking it at once. Gradually but surely you will notice the phlegm thin out and then disappear altogether, thus ending a cough that you never thought would end. It also loosens the dry, hoarse or tight cough and heals the inflammation in a painful cough with remarkable rapidity. Ordinary coughs are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, winter coughs and bronchial asthma.

This Pinex and Sugar Syrup mixture makes a full pint—enough to last a family a long time—at a cost of only 54 cents. Keeps perfectly and tastes pleasant. Easily prepared. Full directions with Pinex.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, rich in guaiacol, and is famous the world over for its ease, certainty and promptness in overcoming bad coughs, chest and throat colds.

Get the genuine. Ask your druggist for "2½ ounces Pinex," and do not accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

GEN. VILLA WOULD FORCE INTERVENTION

Declares He Will Cross Border and Hold Up Train.

El Paso, Texas, Feb. 8.—A declaration that he would force intervention by the United States within six weeks, attributed to Francisco Villa by a Mexican from Madera, was brought to the attention of American officials here and Mexican authorities at Juarez today. According to the Mexican informant Villa declared he would cross the international border and hold up an El Paso and Southwestern railway train, if intervention could be produced in no other way.

Gen. Gavira, commandant at Juarez, was without word early in the day on the progress made by Carranza troops in their search for Villa. The last word received at military headquarters in Juarez reported Villa with twenty-five men in Canyon de el Nido.

MY TIRED FEET ACHED FOR "TIZ"

Let Your Sore, Swollen, Aching Feet Spread Out in a Bath of "Tiz."

Just take your shoes off and then put those weary, shoe-crinkled, aching, burning, corn-pestered, bunion-tortured feet of yours in a "Tiz" bath. Your toes will wriggle with joy; they'll look up at you and almost talk and then they'll take another dive in that "Tiz" bath.

When your feet feel like lumps of lead—all tired out—just try "Tiz." It's grand—it's glorious. Your feet will dance with joy; also you will find all pain gone from corns, callouses and bunions.

Get a 25 cent box of 'Tiz" at any drug or department store—don't wait. Ah! how glad your feet get; how comfortable your shoes feel. You can wear shoes a size smaller if you desire.—Advertisement.

ARTHUR TROMBLY SENTENCED AT LAST

Bench Warrant Brings Man Before Municipal Court.

Arthur Trombly, who was arrested by Sergeant L. H. Andree and Patrolman David Perry on a bench warrant issued by Judge H. Lanners, was fined $5 and costs on his appearance in police court yesterday. Trombly was found hiding in a livery barn under a pile of blankets. The officers were informed that Trombly was in the city and probably could be found at the barn. On the appearance of the officers, Trombly hid under the blankets. Patrolman Perry gave the blankets a kick and this caused Trombly to squirm. He was then pulled out.

Trombly was out on his own recognizance following a row on Central avenue that took place early in December. When arraigned in police court, he promised to put in his appearance for trial on Dec. 15. He failed to keep this promise and as a result a bench warrant was issued.

MISREPRESENTATION ALLEGED IN PAVING

Works Commissioner Holds Up Letting of Contract—Will Investigate.

City commissioners have postponed action on the paving contract for Fifty-eighth avenue west from Main to Roosevelt street for two months.

Works Commissioner Farrell told his colleagues yesterday that he was not satisfied that the men who circulated the petitions for the improvement had done their work properly.

"I have heard," he explained, "that they told prospective signers that the work could not cost them more than about $40 a lot. If they did that it isn't a fair proposition, and I want some time to look it up."

The contract which was to have been acted upon calls for concrete paving and curbings, with a 24-foot street. It's cost has been estimated at $7,217.87.

"NINE-POUND BOY" IS FARRELL'S REPORT

Outsiders visiting the city hall today might have thought it near election, and that Works Commissioner Farrell was running for office.

Cigars were much in evidence, and the commissioner's well known smile was even more so. It evidently was a most auspicious occasion, for Mr. Farrell even refused to be downhearted when he glanced outdoors and noticed that it was snowing.

Municipal engineers are given to warm language when it commences to snow, for snow means lots of work. At this particular time snow is very unwelcome in Duluth's work division.

Nevertheless, Mr. Farrell continued to smile and distribute cigars.

There is a prospective commissioner at the Farrell home, and he weighs nine pounds. That's the reason.

"I think he'll be a governor at least, and maybe president," said Mr. Farrell.

BUILDING ACTIVITY SHOWS 50 PER CENT GAIN

Building activities during January showed a 50 per cent increase over January, 1914, according to Building Inspector S. W. Kielley's report to Mayor W. I. Prince today.

Sixty-three permits, involving an expenditure of $113,733, were issued during the month. This compares with fifty-six permits, calling for improvements valued at $90,155, in 1914.

Six new brick buildings, costing $55,500, are responsible for the increase. Last January there were two permits issued for brick buildings, at a cost of $5,000.

Building permits issued, 63.
Electric meters tested, 50.
House moving permits issued, 3.
Electric sign permits issued, 1.
Elevator licenses issued, 9.

STEEL BOOM IS UNABATED

U. S. Corporation Has Sold Entire Output for First Half of Year.

Railroads Place Big Orders; Finished Steel Prices at High Tide.

Boom conditions are unabated in the iron and steel trade, and manufacturers agree that present earnings of plants are excelling all previous records.

So congested are the mills with orders that it is reported they are being forced to refuse a large proportion of the business being offered. That a famine exists in raw material is said to be evident on account of some plants being obliged to curtail operations through inability to obtain steel. The United States Steel corporation, for example, has, according to reports, sold its entire output for the first half of this year, and the available capacity for the last half is narrowing as the orders on its books increase. In other words, bookings are much larger than shipments, and very little relief is in sight.

Railroads Buying Heavily.

The feature of the market is said to be the heavy demand for steel and equipment, particularly for cars and locomotives from the railroads. Mentioned in this connection is the placing of a contract by the Illinois Central railroad last week for $3,000,000 worth of passenger equipment.

It is believed that a new high record in railroad construction of steel will be reached this year. Inquiries for freight cars are pouring in, and it is said that steel plates are in greater demand than at any time in history. Premiums as high as $20 a ton are reported to have been paid recently for plates for immediate delivery.

The abnormal situation in the steel trade is heightened through the fact that Great Britain has largely suspended her export business in those lines. A bar against the development of foreign trade is, however, interposed through the high ocean freight rates and the scarcity of ships.

Steel Prices Soaring.

Finished steel prices are now $2 a ton above the highest level in a dozen years, that being the level reached in 1907. Excluding steel rails from the reckoning, current steel prices for shipment at mill convenience are about $12 a ton above the estimated prices at which the Steel corporation's shipments were invoiced in the final quarter of last year, and for which period the corporation reported net earnings of $51,232,738.

The following advances in quotations have been reported during the last few days: Bessemer billets, from $32 to $33 a ton; open hearth billets, from $33 to $34 a ton; iron bars, from $2 to $2.15 per 100 pounds; steel bars, from $2.10 to $2.25 per 100 pounds; beams, from $1.80 to $2 per 100 pounds, and steel hoops, from $2 to $2.10 per 100 pounds.

Scarcity of unskilled labor is a drawback that is being more acutely felt in all sections of the country. Operations of the plants are being retarded to a great extent through it. The Jones & Laughlin Steel company, which is building a large mill at Woodlawn, Pa., reports that it is being held up through inability to obtain labor.

EUROPEAN WAR WILL BE LAST

Europe Will See Uselessness of Strife, Says Bishop Anderson.

That the European war will prove the death blow to war and greatly stimulate enthusiasm for the Christian religion is the opinion of Bishop William F. Anderson of Cincinnati, Ohio, who is in Duluth today and will speak tonight at the First M. E. church on "Deterioration of Religion as a Result of the European War." Bishop Anderson is extremely optimistic over the prospects for better conditions following the war, and believes the nations of Europe will come to appreciate the need of real religion.

Bishop Anderson was in Europe when the war broke out, and passed six months in Germany, France, England, Scotland and North Africa. He made a special study of conditions, and bases his conclusions on what he saw in Europe and events that have followed since he left the Continent.

"The terrible experiences of the war will bring all of the nations involved into a realization that what real religion should do, and in my opinion the almost utter uselessness of the present war will cause all the nations to see that war brings little good," he said. "Conditions will be ripe when the war closes for the church as a whole to spread the gospel as never before, and it is up to the churches to be prepared to carry on the work."

WILL IMPROVE STREET.

City Will Let Contract for Work on Forty-Fourth Avenue East.

Works Commissioner Farrell today announced that a contract for paving and otherwise improving Forty-fourth avenue east through from Superior street to McCulloch street would be let within the next few days.

Bids are being advertised for now. The street will be paved with concrete. The contract is a small one, the section to be improved being but three blocks in length.

WHEAT TAKES GOOD UPTURN

Market Advances on Export Demand and Urgent Short Covering.

Flaxseed Still Slumps on Heavy Selling; Crushers Hold Back.

May wheat closed 2½c up and July 2¼c up.

May durum closed 2½c up and July 2¼c up.

Oats closed 1¼c up at 46c for on the track; rye 1c up at 97c, and barley unchanged to 1c off at from 65c to 73c for on the track.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed 1½c up at 46⅝c bid.

At St. Louis, May wheat closed at $1.25⅞, and July at $1.19⅞ bid.

At Kansas City, May wheat closed at $1.21⅛ bid, and July at $1.16⅝.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.27½ and calls at $1.31⅜.

A marked reversal of form was recorded in the wheat market today. After dropping 1c below yesterday's close, the May future bulged to the extent of 3¼c during the next couple of hours' trading. The muscle power was furnished in active bidding by exporters, and the reported working of a substantial tonnage at the various markets. It was said, for example, that 700,000 bu of wheat was sold for export at Minneapolis during the morning. Omaha reported sales of wheat to go out via the gulf and from New York. It was advised, too, that the Greek government had come into the market for 1,500,000 bu durum. This news led to urgent short-covering demand, and that was an initial factor in turning the market upward early in the session.

While Liverpool closed ½d lower for spot wheat, that market failed to reflect yesterday's weakness in the American markets. Support came over there on account of renewed apprehensions on the question of supplies in view of the light shipments estimated from Argentina and the scarcity of vessel capacity to bring any substantial tonnage of grain from down there in the near future.

That conditions led to further expressions of opinion that Europe will be compelled to buy over here upon a more liberal scale in the near future. Other experts take the view, however, that the weight of the world's stocks of wheat, estimated as the heaviest in several years, must in the end result in bearing prices down. Armour was reported to have been a seller of the May future on the upturn at Chicago today.

Receipts of bonded grain are increasing, and it is predicted that they will assume good proportions as soon as the weather becomes more settled and the Canadian railroads are able to move grain more freely. Today thirty cars of bonded wheat were on the tracks here.

May wheat opened ¼c off at $1.26¾, sold off ¾c more, and then moved up to $1.29 at the noon hour. July opened unchanged at $1.26 and advanced 2¼c.

May durum opened ¼c off at $1.21, broke ½c more, and then bulged 3c. The July future advanced 1¾c to $1.23¾.

Flax Slumps Again.

Fresh liquidation appeared in flaxseed and its market tumbled to the extent of 6c at one stage. It was again intimated that too much company had gathered on the bull side, and that the break that has been under way during the last two weeks was the inevitable result. From a statistical standpoint, conditions are regarded as favoring holders, but in the meantime experts express themselves as not at all certain that prices will not sink still lower.

May flax opened 1c off at $2.30, broke 5c more, and closed 2¾c off at $2.28¼. July opened 4c off at $2.27, and closed 5c off at $2.28.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed ¼c up at $2.09.

Millers and elevators were both good buyers of cash wheat on the Duluth market today. Cash No. 1 northern sold at the May price and cash No. 1 durum also on the May basis.

W. J. McCabe, George Robson and James Graves of the Duluth board of trade are away upon vacation trips to be spent at Florida resort points. The two first named met with misfortune en route. A report came from Chicago today to the effect that Mr. Robson fell into the fountain at the Blackstone hotel last night and was fished out with difficulty. Mr. McCabe had his luggage rifled at a Cincinnati hotel, and a suit of clothes was abstracted.

World's visible supply: Wheat, 246,485,000 bu; last year, 182,523,000 bu; decrease 2,547,000 bu. Corn, 18,752,000 bu; last year, 40,606,000 bu; increase, 1,442,000 bu. Oats, 41,495,000 bu; last year, 43,851,000 bu; increase, 159,000 bu.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "The general market was steady in the face of weakness in America and Buenos Aires yesterday, as Manitoba offers were scarce and spot situation here firm. Spot market was steady, unchanged to ½d lower.

Cargoes were easy; Manitobas 3d lower, winters 7½d lower and Plates 6d lower. Plate offers are increasing. Arrivals are inadequate, but buyers are holding off awaiting freer shipments from Argentina and Australia, and therefore purchases are being sparingly made. It is expected that Argentina will merchandise freely when conditions of freighters become more favorable."

In Argentina the weather was fine. At Buenos Aires wheat closed weat, with America and lowered export bids. Corn was steady, unchanged, with export inquiry insistent.

At Minneapolis there was a good cash demand for fair milling wheat. The general run of receipts showed poor quality. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at 1⅛@6c over May, and velvet chaff at 1@2c over May. Flour sales were reported very limited. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from $1.29½@1.32½, and No. 2 northern at from $1.25@1.29½.

A Chicago wire said "The inquiry for cash wheat from the seaboard this morning is very insistent. If they cannot get ocean freights, it seems remarkable that exporters should be pressing for offers."

Foreign crop summary:

Italy—Weather and crop accounts are not favorable.

Australia—Weather continues favorable.

France—Acreage to wheat is placed at 12,500,000 acres against 14,200,000 last year. Normal acreage, 16,000,000. Crop outlook is fair. Weather is again the best for development.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Firmness in Liverpool Quotations Gives Wheat Prices Strength.

Chicago, Feb. 8.—Strength developed in the wheat market today owing to comparative firmness of Liverpool quotations despite yesterday's severe break in values on this side of the Atlantic. Arrivals of cargoes in Great Britain were still inadequate to meet requirements. Smallness of domestic receipts in the Northwest, where an increase had been expected, was a factor also against the bears. After opening ⅛@¼c off to ⅝c up, with May at $1.28 to $1.28½ and July at $1.20¾ to $1.21, the market here underwent a moderate sag, and then scored a decided upturn all around.

Reports that the Greek government was attempting to purchase 1,500,000 bushels led subsequently to further gains. It was said also that today's cash sales here for the seaboard amounted to more than 500,000 bushels. The close was unsettled, 1⅞@2c to 2⅜@2½c net higher, with May at $1.30¼@1.30⅜ and July at $1.22⅞.

Favorable weather eased corn. Prices rallied, however, when wheat showed strength. The opening, which ranged from ⅛@¼c decline to a like advance, was followed by moderate general gains.

Additional gains were made later in consequence of seaboard reports that Europeans were after corn and especially so representatives of Holland, Denmark and Sweden. The close was nervous at 1¼c to 1¾@1⅝c net advance.

Oats were governed by the action of corn. Shorts covered freely after upturns began.

Rye, nominal; barley, 68@80c; timothy, $5.50@8.00; clover, $10.00@18.50.

Pork, $19.25@20.25; lard, $9.85; ribs, $10.37@10.87.

DECLINES IN STOCKS

Market Seeks Lower Levels Owing to Lusitania Negotiations.

Lowest Figures Recorded in Final Hour—Closing Irregular.

New York, Feb. 8.—Gains, for the most part fractional, were registered at the outset of today's moderate trading. Among the few exceptions were American Car, which rose a point, and Willys-Overland, which declined as much. Uncertainty was shown by Mercantile Marine preferred and Lackawanna Steel, while Crucible Steel and some of the Petroleum issues were subject to pressure. United States Steel held around yesterday's closing quotations and rails were again relegated to comparative obscurity. Secondary prices inclined towards lower levels.

Rumors dealing with the international situation, which seemed to emanate from professional quarters, contributed to the irregular tendency of prices in the first hour. Selling was light but converged around such speculative issues as Baldwin Locomotive, Crucible and Marine preferred in which recessions averaged about 2 points from initial maximums. United States Steel, American Smelting and a few distinctive specialties were also affected. Recoveries were quite general in the second hour, another rise in independent steel issues and in Colorado Fuel and Great Northern Ore, influencing general steadiness. Bonds were irregular.

With few exceptions the market sought lower levels today, the pending Lusitania negotiations tending for restraint.

War shares and oils as well as other specialties made further price concessions in the final hour. The closing was irregular.

MONEY PUT IN THE BANK AT BIWABIK

the First National bank of Biwabik, of which he is president. Mr. Myers inclosed a certificate of deposit for the $18,000, Mr. Smith said.

Forget About It.

The treasurer said he had laid the letter aside and placed the certificate of deposit in his private vault and dismissed the matter from his mind, until the supreme court rendered a decision in the Aitkin county school district case and the treasurer of the district made application for the $18,000.

Then, said Mr. Smith, Mr. Preus made demand on him for the money. He said he went to his books and saw recorded there that the warrant had been deposited with the Biwabik bank. Mr. Myers, he says, came to the Twin Cities, and last Friday afternoon a meeting was held in the offices of Wilson & Force of Minneapolis, the firm on a portion of Mr. Smith's bond.

Was Much Excited.

Mr. Smith said he was much excited at that meeting. Mr. Myers, he said, did not care to give his check for the Aitkin county funds until his certificate of deposit was returned. Mr. Smith says he handed Mr. Myers the key to his private vault in the treasury office and told him to get it. He says Mr. Myers got it and then wrote out the certified check for $18,509.

Pickit Was at That Meeting.

Mr. Pickit was at that meeting, says Mr. Smith, and informed Mr. Myers that he had forged the name of the school district treasurer to the warrant for the $18,000.

Did Not Answer.

Mr. Smith was asked if it was true that he had checked against the $18,000 warrant. He did not attempt to make answer to this. He was asked, also, if it was true that, on last Thursday when Mr. Preus made demand on him for the $18,000, he wrote a personal check against the Biwabik bank, and that it had been found that he had not the funds to meet it. He did not attempt to answer this, pleading that his illness forced him to return to the hospital.

Mr. Pickit lists the following as further irregularities:

A $1,200 warrant cashed in a manner much similar to the Aitkin county proposition. This warrant was payable to school district 31, St. Louis county.

Interest amounted to $152 from Independent school district No. 176, Roseau county.

St. Louis County Deal.

The St. Louis county deal goes back into 1913. Mr. Preus would not say whether Mr. Pickit had connected the name of Mr. Smith with these transactions.

The bond companies made examination of the books of the state treasurer only a few weeks ago and pronounced them to be all right. Last November Andrew Fritz, state public examiner, made the last examination.

SMITH MAY TENDER HIS RESIGNATION

In Sanatorium and His Condition Said to Be Serious.

St. Paul Detective Now on Guard Outside Treasurer's Room.

Investigation of State's Finances Begun By Examiner Fritz.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Developments have followed in rapid succession in the investigation into irregularities in handling trust funds of the state.

Robert C. Picket, investment clerk in the state auditor's office, was arrested last night and according to County Attorney O'Brien confessed to forging the warrants, implicating State Treasurer Walter J. Smith.

State Auditor Preus, before the investment board, testified that Picket had told him that he (Picket) and State Treasurer Smith had shared equally in the money obtained by the forgeries.

County Attorney O'Brien said Picket would be held to the Ramsey county grand jury without a preliminary hearing.

Investigation Is Begun.

While criminal proceedings marked time today, pending the meeting tomorrow of the Ramsey county grand jury, the state board of audit met in the state capitol building and initi-

COAL MEN OFFER TO RENEW WAGE SCALE

Mobile, Ala., Feb. 9.—Coal operators and organized mine workers from Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois resumed their joint wage conference here today discussing business conditions in the soft coal mining country. The operators instead of accepting the miners' demands for an increase in wages offered to renew the present wage scales on April 1.

The coal companies today maintained their position that business conditions in the bituminous coal fields did not justify the mine workers asking for an advance in wages. The United Mine Workers pointed out that prosperity was general and that it was being felt in the coal business as in the steel and other industries.

WILSON TOUR WON ALL THE MIDDLE WEST

His Appeals, Carrying Unexpected "Punch," Captured Eight States.

Indulging in Less Bluster About Outcome of the Contest.

New York, Feb. 9.—The World publishes the following special dispatch from a staff correspondent at Chicago: "A close range scrutiny of eight Middle Western states, casting 126 out of the 435 electoral votes, has failed to reveal a single weak spot in the Democratic national organization.

"The same observation has not brought to light any strong spots in the two wings of the Republican army.

"The Democratic state organizations in each of these states—Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Missouri, Nebraska and Ohio—are confronted by no end of local disturbances, yet each faction is committed in advance to the support of their party president, immeasurably strengthened by the proof of his popularity resulting from his nonpartisan appeals to patriotism during his tour of the Central West. The strongest asset that each and every faction claims is its loyalty to the president.

"The Republican opposition—'straight goods' and 'Progressive'—on the other hand, is divided as hopelessly over a presidential program as they are over local issues.

Wilson Surprised Republicans.

"No one doubts that the Democratic voters will reflect their unanimous desire to have Mr. Wilson for their candidate when it comes time to indicate their wishes in the party primaries, the first of which will be held on March 14 in Minnesota.

FIVE SHOTS FIRED AT THE CANADIAN

New York, Feb. 9.—Capt. J. Mitchell of the British freighter Canadian, which arrived here today, confirmed the story brought here some days ago by the steamer Guiana of the holding up of the Canadian off Martinique by the French cruiser Descartes.

Capt. Mitchell said five shots were fired at his vessel by the cruiser, two of which struck the pilot house. The Canadian is built something on the lines of a torpedo boat and Capt. Mitchell said he believed the Descartes mistook her for an enemy warship. After an officer from the cruiser had examined his papers he was allowed to proceed.

BOSTON BASE OF ACTIVITIES

Hostilities Toward Canada Said to Be Directed There.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 9.—Federal authorities were engaged today with reports that Boston was being used by German sympathizers as a base for the direction of hostile activities in Canada.

Reports of this character have been current for a long time but lacked official confirmation. Today for the first time it was admitted by a government employe that typewritten copies were made of dictagraph records alleged to have been obtained at a meeting place of men under suspicion.

This admission was coupled with the assurance that it would be denied if the identity of the author was made public.

George W. Anderson, United States district attorney, went to Washington on Monday. Yesterday Edmund Billings, collector of the port, followed Anderson to the capital. Their local offices would not disclose the nature of their missions.

BERLIN TO ACT ON CHANGES IN WORDING OF LUSITANIA NOTE SUGGESTED BY UNITED STATES

SUBSTITUTION SUBMITTED TO AMBASSADOR

Would Have "Recognizes Liability" Instead of "Assumes Liability."

Substance of Agreement Is Satisfactory to Washington Government.

Von Bernstorff Cables Changes Desired to His Foreign Office.

Washington, Feb. 9.—One of the changes in the Lusitania agreement suggested by Secretary Lansing to Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, is the substitution of the words "recognizes liability" for the words "assumes liability" which were employed in the tentative draft.

Germany's latest proposal in the Lusitania case having proved, in substance, satisfactory to the United States, final settlement of the controversy is expected within a few days.

Some alterations, however, in the form of the agreement, regarded as minor ones, are to be made to meet the wishes of the American government and involve the dispatch of the proposal again to the Berlin foreign office. One of the changes, it is stated, is that the communication shall specifically include the statement that it was in answer to the last American note.

Minor Changes Needed.

While the substance of the proposed communication admittedly is satisfactory, minor changes to clarify the wording and in connection with the form which the special document shall take, were suggested yesterday to Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, by Secretary Lansing. The desires of the United States in this connection were made known to the ambassador after President Wilson had discussed the subject with his cabinet. Count von Bernstorff immediately informed the secretary that he saw no reason why the changes could not be made, but explained in effect that, as a precaution, he thought he was justified in submitting the entire matter to his government for final approval.

CHAIRMAN OF IOWA R. R. COMMISSION ARRAIGNS BRANDEIS AT HEARING

Appears Before Committee to Oppose Nomination to Supreme Court.

Inquiry on Nomination Is Held in Public for First Time.

Washington, Feb. 9.—Investigation of President Wilson's nomination of Louis D. Brandeis of Boston to the supreme court bench was begun today by a senate sub-committee which first heard Clifford Thorne, chairman of the Iowa board of railroad commissioners, who was associated with Mr. Brandeis in the fight against giving the Eastern railroads increased freight rates. Mr. Thorne assailed the conduct of Mr. Brandeis in that case.

"I believe the nominee before this committee was guilty of infidelity, of breach of faith and of unprofessional conduct in connection with one of the greatest cases of this generation," said he.

Thorne charged that Brandeis, as an attorney appearing for the shippers, conceded that the rate return to the railroad was inadequate and that Brandeis in his opening oral argument to the interstate commerce commission conceded that the returns were inconsistent with prosperity of the railroads and welfare of the public.

"I was simply dumbfounded," declared Thorne.

Sub-Committee Favorable.

At the beginning of the hearing the sub-committee voted down a proposal to have the full committee hear the case. That was regarded by some as a first victory for Mr. Brandeis on the ground that the sub-committee was favorable and the full committee hostile. The full committee, however, will

VILLAGE OF AFTON IS STILL WITHOUT POWER

Beloit, Wis., Feb. 9.—The village of Afton, seven miles north of Beloit, is still without electric power as a result of backwater from the river and the schoolhouse there has been closed for three days.

Beloit's city council is planning for the construction of a dike on the west bank of Turtle creek to cut off the danger of flood on one side of the city. If the present cold weather continues a few days longer, danger from the ice gorge in Rock river on the other side of the city will be removed by the natural flow of water.

ASKS MAYOR TO REPLACE MONEY

Mayor of Sheboygan, Wis., Charged With Selling Supplies to City.

Sheboygan, Wis., Feb. 9.—Charging that Mayor H. E. Boldt of Sheboygan Falls had illegally sold lumber and other materials to the city of which he is the chief executive, Joseph Osthelder today made written demands upon Mayor Boldt and the Sheboygan Falls common council that the executive replace the money in the treasury.

Mayor Boldt refuses to discuss the matter.

A state statute prohibits an official of any municipality from selling anything to or entering into a contract with a municipality.

The matter will be taken up at the next council meeting.

ATTACK MADE NEAR BORDER OF BELGIUM

Eight Hundred Yards of Positions Taken According to Berlin.

Near Place Where Teutons Won Big Victory Last Month.

Over 600,000 Germans Said to Have Been Sent to the West.

Berlin, Feb. 9, via London, 3:12 p. m.—Capture of the first line French positions over a front of 800 yards to the west of Vimy was announced today by the war office.

The German attack was made near the western end of the French front, a short distance below the Belgian border in the region which has been the scene of pronounced activity recently.

Vimy is two miles northwest of Neuville, near which town the Germans late last month made an infantry attack capturing, as reported by Berlin about 1,500 yards of French positions.

600,000 German Troops Sent West.

London, Feb. 9.—Reiterating the report that large numbers of German troops have been transferred recently to Northern France, the Amsterdam correspondent of the Central News telegraphs that it is reported from the Belgian frontier that 600,000 men have been sent to that front.

The message also says the Germans are planning to extend the Belgian port of Zeebrugge so that it will shelter more ships.

SERBIANS MAKE NIGHT ATTACK ON PURSUERS

Scatter Albanians and Capture Over 100 Hungarian Prisoners.

Corfu, Feb. 9, via London.—A Serbian official statement issued here says that on Feb. 2, during the retreat southward from Alessio of the Serbian troops, a night attack was delivered on the pursuing Austro-Hungarian forces who were aided by armed Albanian bands and that the latter were put to flight after many had been killed and a hundred prisoners were taken, mostly Hungarians. The statement follows:

"The Austrian troops, after occupying Alessio, which we evacuated, are continuing their advance on Durazzo. The Fourteenth mountain brigade on Feb. 1 with the co-operation of a number of armed Albanian bands came into contact with some troops of the rear guard of one of our divisions. Violent and bloody fighting occurred on Feb. 2 near the village of Blaama. The enemy succeeded in pressing our troops but when reinforcements had come up a night attack was delivered and our forces retook all the positions they had just lost and put the enemy to flight. The battlefield was covered with bodies of the enemy. We took about one hundred prisoners, mostly Hungarians."

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

New gains for the Germans between Lens and Arras, not far from the Belgian border, were announced today by Berlin, which reports the capture of first line French positions along nearly a half mile front on the west of Vimy.

The gains were made on ground over which the French advanced in the allied offensive of last September and near area northeast of Neuville-St. Vaast, in which the Germans late in January reported the storming of 1,500 yards of French positions.

In some quarters the recent German assaults in this region are regarded as primarily defensive operations designed to win back commanding positions which would give the Entente forces an advantage in any forward movement they may attempt in the future. It has been persistently reported, however, that the Germans were on the point of launching a determined offensive in northern France and Belgium in which the operations in the present area of activity would have an important bearing.

The predicted German offensive on the Franco-Belgian front has not yet developed but reports of preparations for it persist. The latest advices concerning these supposed preparations come today from Asterdam in the shape of a report that 600,000 men have been sent by the Germans to the Belgian frontier.

From the Balkans comes news indicating that there is no longer the former apparent unanimity of opinion that the Teutonic allies are shortly to begin an advance on Saloniki. It is even declared in one unofficial quarter that the Entente allies are preparing to take the offensive. The more definite statement is made in Athens, however, that the decision reached by the Central powers is to maintain their entrenched positions at present, leaving mainly Bulgarians on guard, the Austrain troops for the most part being employed elsewhere.

Constantinople advices report setbacks for the Russians in their Caucasus campaign and in Persia. Russian attacks have been repulsed in the former field of operations, where Erzerum has been the main Turkish base of defense, the Ottoman war office declares. In Persia tribesmen fighting against the Russian forces are unofficially reported to have inflicted a severe defeat near Sand Shulak.

Petrograd, while not reporting on the Persian operations, declares that the engagements in the Caucasus have continued to result in advantage to the Russians.

The British miners in a resolution adopted at their conference in Lancaster today did not expressly declare themselves against the military service bill. The attitude adopted was one of opposition "to the spirit of conscription" with an expressed determination to scrutinize vigilantly, "any proposed extension of the military service law."

BALLOT PREPARATION DIFFICULT MATTER

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 9.—Because of the legal necessity for rotation of names of candidates certified for delegates and alternate delegates-at-large to the national nominating conventions, the office of Lewis G. Stevenson, secretary of state, here today faced an almost insuperable task in the preparation of fifty-one different ballots for 102 counties.

"Regardless of difficulties, this office will perform cheerfully the work necessary," said Secretary Stevenson today. "Everything will be done in strict conformity to the letter of the law."

Nearly 300 men, women and children from Duluth, Superior, the range towns and surrounding cities entered The Herald automobile guessing contest, which closed this morning. Each of the twenty-five winners published above is entitled to four tickets for the automobile show, which will be distributed tomorrow morning from the want ad window at The Herald.

The first correct answer was received from Clifford Spindler, 623 East Fourth street, who brought his correct list of cars early Saturday evening, just three hours after The Herald appeared on the street. The correct list follows:

1. Chevrolet, 490.
2. Chalmers, 6-30.
3. Franklin, 6-30.
4. Buick, Model 45.
5. Ford, town car.
6. Hudson, 6.

One distinctive feature of the automobile guessing contest conducted by The Herald is that boys ranging in age from 12 to 16 years showed the best knowledge of automobiles. They not only know the cars when they see them, but are able to explain the chief characteristics of every make. Many of the answers turned in by the youngsters contained a list of the machines, with the number of cylinders, the model number and other advertising features.

Only three girls guessed the correct list. A number of women, who entered, failed to land in the winning list.

The youngest entrant was Marvin Gollinger, 9 years old, who lives at 721 Twelfth avenue east. Marvin failed to guess the list correctly, but he looks like a winner in years to come.

Jane Anderson of rural free delivery route, No. 2, is the only out-of-town winner, although a number of lists were sent in from Virginia, Superior, Eveleth, Moose Lake and Cloquet.

Of course, many other entrants had the correct list, but the automobile editor selected the first twenty-five perfect ones received, according to the provisions of the contest.

WILL SPREAD LAYMEN WORK

Central Continuation Committee Formed for Local District.

Result of Recent Laymen's Convention; Executive Secretary Appointed.

The Laymen's Central Continuation committee has organized for furthering and spreading the missionary movement throughout this territory, recently started when the touring clergymen and laymen held a convention here for a whole week; and will soon hold continuation meetings in towns and cities surrounding Duluth.

When the laymen's convention was over, the continuation work, which is a part of the movement, was planned and a committee appointed, consisting of a clerical and a lay representative from each of the denominations which took part in the movement, these constituting the Central Continuation committee. Certain laymen of Duluth, interested in the work, have donated the money necessary for the employment of an executive secretary for the furtherance of the work, for one month, and Frank Downing, formerly connected with the Y. M. C. A. here, and more recently with the association work in Walla Walla, Wash., who has returned to Duluth, has been engaged. He is now preparing for the continuation campaign, and has an office in the Y. M. C. A. general building. Rev. J. A. McGaughey, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, has been elected chairman of the committee.

Delegations Will Tour.

The work will be carried on by delegations of clergymen and laymen going to towns and cities in this district and holding series of meetings similar to those held on a larger scale by the traveling speakers here recently.

Committees have been or are being formed among the laymen of the various places to be visited, and the "every man canvas" is being now carried on in preparation for the continuation work.

FRANK DOWNING Executive Secretary.

The central continuation committee is formed of the following:

Presbyterian—Rev. J. A. McGaughey and J. W. Walker.
Methodist—Rev. John W. Hoffman and Bert N. Wheeler.
Episcopal—Rev. Canon Thomas W. MacLean and A. C. Le Duc.
Swedish Mission—Rev. J. J. Daniels and H. T. Lundgren.

INTO THREE DISTRICTS.

Wisconsin State Plumbing Work Divided Among Three Inspectors.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 9.—Following the recent appointment of two additional assistant state plumbing inspectors, the state has been divided into three districts, for more efficient inspection service. It is likely that Assistant Inspector John H. Owens of Racine will be stationed at Racine to serve the southern portion of the state; that Assistant Inspector Robert E. Hasselkus of Milwaukee will serve the eastern part of the state, with the northern boundary as the limit, and that Assistant Inspector Eugene Morse of Green Bay will be in the western district. The state plumbing inspector, Frank R. King, stationed at Madison, will serve the state as a whole and supervise the work as the state board of health may direct.

More efficient and prompt service and less loss of time and traveling expense are sought by this rearrangement. The salary and expense of the inspectors are met by the license fees paid by plumbers. No part of it is paid from the state funds.

G. O. P. LEADERS MEETING HERE

Deciding on Who Will Be Supported for Delegates to Chicago.

C. A. Congdon Favored—Cummins Will Be Supported for Nomination.

Eighth district Republicans are holding a meeting this afternoon at the St. Louis hotel to try to decide on whom they will support for delegates-at-large and district delegates in the presidential primaries of March 14. Decision must be made quickly, for Saturday will be the last day for filing.

James S. Arneson, secretary of the Cummins committee in Minnesota, is here today and will meet with the Eighth district men.

Aside from the general support of Chester A. Congdon for district delegate, the others to be chosen are yet to be determined. Former State Senator D. M. Gunn of Grand Rapids filed yesterday with the secretary of state for a place on the ticket, and he may be one of those decided upon at today's meeting.

D. D. McEachin of Hibbing, Victor Power's first lieutenant, sent his filing papers to the secretary of state yesterday, naming Senator Cummins as his choice for the presidential nomination by the Republicans.

Cummins the Favorite.

That those chosen at today's meeting will file as Cummins delegates is regarded as a foregone conclusion.

In view of the fact that there is but little controversy over the matter, except in one or two particulars, among certain ones who are demanding the honor of going to Chicago as delegates, it is expected that the meeting will not be protracted.

It was declared today that nothing but the matter of delegates will be considered at the meeting, for Cummins has been tacitly accepted as the candidate to be supported, at least during the first ballots of the convention.

A fairly large representation of Republicans from various sections of the district are present at the meeting. Senator O. H. Griggs of Virginia arrived last night in response to the call, and others from the ranges came today. The leaders of the party from almost every large town or city in the Eighth district are present.

DISPOSES OF MANY CASES AT ONCE

Decision of Interstate Commerce Commission Settles Ninety-One Contests.

The Duluth traffic commission has received a copy of the decision in the grain, class and coal rates case of Holmes & Hallowell against the Great Northern and other roads, recently handed down by the interstate commerce commission. The complaint was to the effect that rates from Duluth to other points in the Northwest are unreasonable and unjustly discriminatory, and reparation was sought.

The commission decided that, except in the case of the coal rates, the allegations of the complaint were not well founded. In the matter of coal rates from Duluth, the commission decided that while they are not unreasonable, they are unjustly discriminatory, and withholds these cases for future investigation and adjudication. Grain and class rates are declared neither unreasonable or discriminatory.

An interesting feature of the decision is that it covers not only the case in point, but ninety-one others of a similar nature, among them being those of the Superior Manufacturing company of Superior, Wis., against the Great Northern, the Northern Pacific and the Soo lines.

MEDICAL AID FOR THE NEEDY

Methodists Will Open Free Dispensary at Deaconess' Home.

Governing Board Will Cooperate With Charitable Bodies.

Free medical aid for the needy will be supplied by a free medical dispensary, which will be opened at the Deaconess' home, 405 East Third street, on Monday, Feb. 14.

Dr. A. C. Taylor, at a meeting of clergymen last night, made an announcement that the Methodist organization had been planning to do work of this kind for several weeks and that arrangements had been completed.

Although the work will be under the auspices of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist church, the work will not be confined to persons of that sect, Dr. Taylor said. The dispensary will be open an hour or two each day, with a trained nurse in charge all the time.

A governing board of three physicians is to be appointed and they, in turn, will select physicians who will assist them in the work. The governing physicians are to take turns in attending the dispensary at open hours.

The Associated Charities and similar organizations will be given cards which they are to distribute to needy persons and the card will be honored at the dispensary, Dr. Taylor said.

"It will not be a hospital, although we probably will have two or three beds to be used in emergency cases," Dr. Taylor said. "We are to be allowed a small fund, which we can use to maintain two or three beds at St. Luke's or St. Mary's hospital.

"The nurse, in addition to her duties during dispensary hours, will visit homes and persons applying for aid and make an investigation of their conditions. This will be necessary in order to make sure that the cases are of genuine need."

Ample funds are in sight for the expenses of the first quarter, Dr. Taylor said in making his announcement.

LUTHERAN CHURCHES LOSE MANY MEMBERS

Is Claim Made By Grand Forks, N. D., Norse Publication.

Grand Forks, N. D., Feb. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Statistics, revealing a net loss of 146,343 in the membership of the three leading Lutheran churches in the United States, are published here by The Normanden, a Norse publication, along with an extended article by Rev. N. J. Lohre, general secretary of the Haughes Lutheran Synod of America, who has coupled with his article a statement by Prof. J. M. Gillette, socialogist of the University of North Dakota.

To leaders in the three denominations, Rev. Mr. Lohre points out that the loss in membership presents a problem of unparelleled important to the Lutherans of the United States, the solution of which is highly important to the future of the church.

Minister's Figures.

Rev. M. Lohre's statement shows the net loss to the Hauges Lutheran synod at 9,646; that of the United Lutheran church at 104,344, and that of the Norwegian Synod of America at 32,454.

In arriving at these figures, Dr. Gillette, who is responsible for the various estimates, has accepted the Federal estimate on the natural increase in population for the northwestern states at 9.2 per cent, over a period of fifteen years. It is in these states that the bulk of the Lutherans reside.

With this as the basis for the natural increase in population, Dr. Gillette shows the actual increase in the Hauge synod from 1902 to 1914 to be 2,816, or from 36,932 to 39,742. The natural growth would have been 5,060, which, coupled with new members added outside the natural growth, through immigration, etc., should have boosted the total increase to 14,712.

In the United Lutheran church, the latest statistics available cover 1902 and 1912, the membership in 1902 being 259,474, while in 1912 it was 275,870, an increase of 16,496. The natural increase should have been 36,587, which should have been raised to 120,840 through new memberships, immigration, etc.

In the Norwegian Synod, the gain from 1899 to 1914 was from 107,622 to 142,160, whereas the total gain should have been 55,480.

WORK FARM FOR WOMEN URGED

Chief McKercher Declares Farm Brings Better Results Than Jail.

A work farm for women is being strongly urged by Chief of Police R. D. McKercher, who believes that women as well as men, should not be housed for long periods in steam heated jails. The chief expresses his approval of the farm for men, in his annual report, and says that the results are the best imaginable.

"Understand me correctly, I am not slamming Duluth's county jail; but I take exception to all jails where men and women have to be kept for long periods," said the chief. "There is nothing like the open air, healthful employment and good, substantial food to bring derelicts back to their senses. Some prisoners which the police bring in, have been drunk for months. They are, consequently, all run down, have lost all their ambition and care little what happens to them. You take this class of man and put him in a big steam-heated building for several weeks or months and he is about as bad off when he comes out as he was when he went in.

"Take the same man and send him to the work farm, where he has to work in the open all day, eats three big square meals and gets a long quiet rets at night and you have a different man altogether in a few weeks. Then when he leaves the farm he not only has his health and ambition but he has real money in his pockets so he does not have to start bumming when he returns to the city.

"I do not think it will be long before some arrangements can be made so that a farm for women can be established. It would be one of the greatest blessings ever bestowed on the county.

ST. PAUL CHAUFFEUR FATALLY SHOOTS SELF

Monticello, Minn., Feb. 9.—After an informal investigation of the shooting of Lawrence Carr of St. Paul at the home of his father-in-law, W. A. Lippe, here, Coroner Moffat of Wright county decided an inquest was unnecessary giving it as his opinion that Carr committed suicide.

Carr, a chauffeur, committed suicide after breaking into the Lippe home about noon Sunday, according to a statement by W. A. Lippe. He said Carr and his wife had had frequent disagreements and Mrs. Carr had come to the home of her parents.

HELP FOR WORKING WOMEN

Some Have to Keep on Until They Almost Drop. How Mrs. Conley Got Help.

Here is a letter from a woman who had to work, but was too weak and suffered too much to continue. How she regained health:—

Frankfort, Ky.—"I suffered so much with female weakness that I could not do my own work, had to hire it done. I heard so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I tried it. I took three bottles and I found it to be all you claim. Now I feel as well as ever I did and am able to do all my own work again. I recommend it to any woman suffering from female weakness. You may publish my letter if you wish."—Mrs. JAMES CONLEY, 516 St. Clair St., Frankfort, Ky.

No woman suffering from any form of female troubles should lose hope until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.

All women are invited to write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for special advice,—it will be confidential.

ECZEMA WOULD ITCH AND BURN

On Chest and Back. Scratched and Little Blisters Would Come. Could Not Rest at Night.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"I had eczema on my chest and back for about a year. The first appearance was a scarlet rash and it would itch and when I rubbed it or scratched it little blisters would come, and if rubbed open would run water and then dry up and have a fine scale. It would itch and burn so I thought I would go out of my mind and I could not rest at night or do my work in the day.

"I got no relief until I tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I washed the affected parts with Cuticura Soap and then gently rubbed on the Ointment, and in two weeks I was healed." (Signed) Miss Ella M. Yates, Coleman, Mich., July 14, 1915.

POLICE CONTINUE "CLEAN-UP" WORK

John Hill, 30 years, is a sport. He gambles for a living, shows his women friends a good time, occasionally, parades a solitaire diamond as big as a cranberry and wears a smile that never comes off. When he was arrested yesterday he had $26.30 in cash. But John's ideas on gambling are said to be of a kind not practiced in the best of society.

When John took the stand yesterday in municipal court to testify in his own behalf and try to prove to Judge H. W. Lanners that he was not a vagrant, he told of working in a gambling house at Superior and another one at Hibbing. He frankly admitted he is a professional gambler. Judge Lanners told the prisoner he would give him twenty-four hours to get out of the city and that if he returned within two years he would have to serve a sixty-day sentence at the work farm.

Tom Ross, saloon habitue, told Patrolman Callahan that he did not have to work and that he would not go to work. He was ordered to leave the city and may not return inside of two years. John Gascinski, a husky young man, who has shown a great aversion for manual labor, was sentenced to thirty days at the work farm, but was given a chance to leave the city, which he said he would do right away.

Improving Ashland Dock.

Ashland, Wis., Feb. 9.—The city engineer has started work on the improvement of the approach to the new city dock. This approach is 700 feet in length and the city plans to expend $1,500 on its repair and improvement. This dock was leased in the fall by the city from the Riess Coal company. The tieup of the traffic last summer, due to the lack of dock facilities, made the lease of the dock by the city necessary.

A Cold—a Cough—Bronchitis—Catarrh—Perhaps Pneumonia Or Consumption Gets a Start

Tells of Mentho-Laxene.

It is claimed that England, France and Germany consume over twenty million bottles of concentrated essence mentho-laxene during the season of colds, coughs, catarrh, etc., and perhaps this explains the low death rate from pneumonia and tuberculosis. It is a question for scientists to decide. A whole volume of "explanation" is set forth in the above headlines.

The public in this country is just awakening to the extraordinary virtues of this wonderful ESSENCE MENTHO-LAXENE. It is sold by every well-stocked druggist in 2½ ounce bottles with full directions for making a full pint of the most delicious and effective cold and cough medicine in the world. It checks a fresh cold in five minutes by the clock; relieves a bad cough with the first dose, overcomes nasal and throat catarrh; is laxative and tonic in action and even has been known to cure whooping cough when all else failed. Every home should have this fine medicine to ward off conditions which open the way for pneumonia, la grippe or consumption. Each bottle bears a guarantee by The Blackburn Products Co., of Dayton, Ohio, and Windsor, Ontario, that makes it satisfactory or money back. Don't try any substitute. Get the best in the world.—Advertisement.

CLEARINGS SET RECORD

H. S. Macgregor Elected Head of Association for 1916.

Record clearings for the twelve months were reported at the sixth annual meeting of the Duluth Clearing House association held yesterday afternoon.

Aggregate clearings were $287,902,594.93 as compared with $255,931,838.44 in the preceding year, making an increase of $31,970,756.49.

In the election of officers for the ensuing year, H. S. Macgregor, cashier City National bank, was elected president; W. G. Hegardt, vice president American Exchange National bank, first vice president; David Williams, vice president First National bank, second vice president; J. W. Lyder, cashier Northern National bank, secretary and treasurer, and I. S. Moore, vice president American Exchange National bank, manager.

Optimistic views regarding the outlook for business in all lines are entertained by local bankers. Said I. S. Moore, manager of the clearing house association today: "Reports regarding the operations of our commercial and industrial establishments are very encouraging. In some cases increases of output appear to be largely a case of ability to obtain labor. Skilled labor has become scarce all over the country."

PRONOUNCED DEAD; COMES BACK TO LIFE

Tulsa, Okla., Feb. 9.—Twelve hours after he was found hanging from a cell in the county jail here and pronounced dead, Thomas Murphy revived in an undertaker's shop. Physicians said he had an excellent chance to survive, and stand trial on a charge of first degree murder, which caused his incarceration.

Murphy was found hanging from the ceiling of his room Monday night, an improvised rope twisted so tightly about his neck that officials ordered his body prepared for burial.

How to find your sensible cigarette

The cigarette that you'll stick to when you find it must "make good" to you in three different ways.

It must delight your taste.

It must be cool and friendly to your throat and tongue.

It must leave you feeling as fit as a fiddle at the end of a hard-smoking day.

On the last two points we match Fatima against any cigarette in the world—it can't be beaten. You can prove that by these two tests.

But when it comes to taste, that's up to you. There's no telling—until you try them—whether Fatimas will just suit your taste or not.

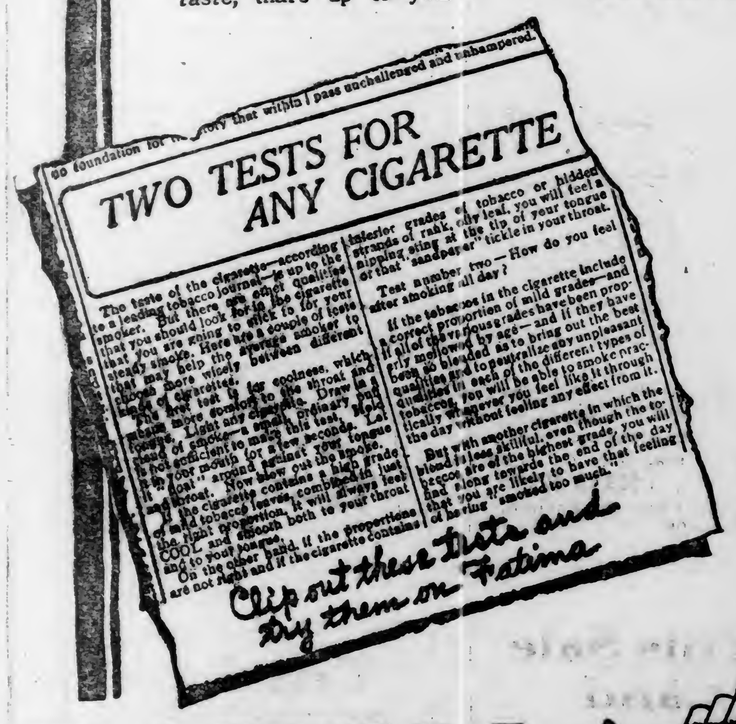

They are the biggest selling cigarette in the world costing over 5c. If so many thousands of men prefer Fatima's taste, it's pretty sure that you will, too.

Try them?

And if you do like their taste as well as most men, you'll agree that Fatimas are the most SENSIBLE cigarette you can buy.

ELEVEN JOBS FOR EVERY MAN

Wages Go Up and Loggers Still Face Labor Famine.

Heavy Snows Handicap Woodsman; High Water Expected.

"There are just about eleven jobs open for every unemployed man in Duluth," said an employment agent on Michigan street today. "The result is wages are going up and men are increasing their demands of their prospective employers. It is next to impossible to fill orders for men, although wages are better now than any time in two years."

Employment men say it wasn't half so difficult to hire men a year ago at $20 a month for woods' work as it is now to get them at $30 and $35. Offers of work go begging now for days at a time.

The logging companies, however, are facing a serious problem in the deep snows. While roads to camp are fairly good because of constant travel, the snow lies nearly four feet deep in the timber and makes it extremely difficult to get logs out to the roads. The snow has settled some and conditions are improving, but new snowfalls keep the loggers guessing.

In the spring, however, the loggers expect no difficulty in having water enough to float logs. High water on the contrary may be looked for and the companies are eager to get the logs all out ready to send down the streams when spring opens. Last year logs were held for weeks because of insufficient water.

The heavy snows in the cities have given work to thousands of men in the Northwest and this has kept the loggers from securing the number of workmen needed. Much higher wages are predicted before the logging season closes.

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.—Advertisement.

To Prevent The Grip

When you feel a cold coming on, stop it by taking LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE. It destroys germs, acts as a Tonic and Laxative and keeps the system in condition to throw off Colds and Grip. There is only one "BROMO QUININE." E. W. GROVE'S signature on box. 25c.

INTEREST BELONGS TO THE DEFENDANTS

Will Make Up Sum Needed By Hatters to Pay Judgment.

Hartford, Conn., Feb. 9.—Accumulated interest of $30,000 on the attached savings deposits of the 180 defendants in the famous Danbury Hatters' boycott litigation belongs to the defendants, according to a decision by Judge E. S. Thomas of the United States district court. The plaintiffs, D. Loewe & Co., claimed they were entitled to all the interest that had accrued since the attachments were made thirteen years ago.

This sum, it is said in union circles here, will practically complete the amount needed to save the hatters' homes from being auctioned off to satisfy the judgment of the $252,130 awarded D. E. Loewe & Co. by the United States supreme court.

Organized labor throughout the United States recently undertook to raise the entire sum by subscriptions, but it is said that the amount was about $30,000 short.

NIGHT SCHOOLS IN RURAL DISTRICTS

Naturalization Examiner Takes Matter Up With Supt. Young.

N. A. Young, county superintendent of schools, has been formally asked by R. K. Doe, naturalization examiner for the Duluth district, to take steps towards establishing night schools in the rural districts, where it is found practical to do so.

"I heartily approve of the idea," Mr. Young stated yesterday, "and I know just what the beneficial results to be attained are. There is no way, however, to compensate the teachers for the extra work without special appropriation, and I want to be sure that our teachers will take hold willingly, as they have elsewhere."

WEST END

BEGIN SAWING ON THURSDAY

Scott-Graff Mill Will Start on Seven-Months' Run.

Only One Mill Then Idle—Will Open in Spring.

The Scott-Graff Lumber company's sawmill at the foot of Twenty-third avenue west will begin operations tomorrow morning at 7 o'clock. Fires have already been started in the boiler rooms and this afternoon it is planned to turn the machinery over to test it out.

The company has in sight about seven months of log cutting. A large supply of the logs is already on hand stored up in the company's yards, and regular shipments to be started soon will increase this supply.

The opening of the sawmill will give employment to about 100 men. About half of this number have already been hired, and it is expected that no difficulty will be experienced in obtaining the rest of the needed quota.

With the resumption of operations of this mill all of the sawmills of the West end will be cutting timber. The Rice's Point sawmill of the Alger-Smith company started during the holidays, and the Mullery-McDonald mill started early in January. Only one other sawmill in the city is now idle, the West Duluth Alger-Smith mill, which officials of the company say will start as soon as the ice in St. Louis bay breaks up.

DETERMINED TO HAVE BATTLE royal

Street Railway Employes Arrange Another Athletic Program.

An interesting program of sports is being planned by a committee of car men representing the Duluth Street Railway Employes' Athletic association, for Monday evening, Feb. 28. The principal event of the program is to be a boxing match between Ole Salem of Superior, who claims to be the "best ever" of the Superior crew, and Raymond Smallidge of the Duluth crew.

In addition to the boxing exhibition, it is planned to have other features such as wrestling and a "battle royal." The latter affair was to have been held during the program on Jan. 31, but owing to numerous "accidents" which the participants claimed to have sustained during the day it was called off.

A "ladies night" is being planned, to be held within a short time. To this the employes will invite the members of their families. Musical and literary numbers will be included on the program and refreshments will be served. The date for this affair will be set within a day or two.

ADA M. COX SUED.

Chicago Woman Asks $17,475 for Alienation of Affections.

Chicago, Feb. 9.—Ada M. Cox, who attained notoriety by obtaining a judgment for $17,475 for breach of promise in a suit against William Rufus Edwards, a wealthy St. Paul, Minn., lumberman, was herself sued for precisely that sum here yesterday by Mrs. Samuel E. Brown.

Mrs. Brown charges Miss Cox with alienating the affections of her husband, a teaming contractor. Miss Cox was the complaining witness against Mr. Edwards, who was indicted under the Mann act. Trial of this case has been postponed from time to time because of ill health of the defendant. It is said his defense will be an allegation of blackmail.

MERCHANTS INDORSE PLAN

Steel Corporation Promises to Conduct Company Store on Fair Basis.

Spring Opening Will Be Held on April 3, 4 and 5.

The Duluth Retail Merchants' association, at its monthly meeting at the Rex hotel last night, indorsed the plan of the Minnesota Steel company to operate its own store at Morgan Park, decided to hold the spring opening on April 3, 4 and 5, and to look into the matter of donations for bazars, card parties and other events of a similar nature.

Almost a full attendance was present. The committee appointed at the last meeting to investigate the matter of the Steel corporation operating its own store at Morgan Park made a report in which it thoroughly concurred with the ideas of the Steel corporation and indorsed the proposition in every way. The committee reported that it had received assurance that the store would be operated to give the greatest service to the people it was intended to serve, and would not admit of unfair competition.

The merchants were of the opinion that the coming of the steel plant to this city, with subsidiary and kindred organizations, will so largely increase the retail trade of this community that the business done in the store at the Model City, no matter how large a volume might develop, will not offset the other advantages which will accrue.

Spring Opening.

It was decided to hold the spring opening on April 3, 4 and 5. Plans are being prepared to make this opening a notable event.

A communication from the Matinee Musicale relative to the forthcoming symphony orchestra engagement March 2, brought forth expressions of hearty approval from the merchants, and a resolution was offered to the effect that the association is in sympathy with all meritorious events of this nature, and is willing to do what it can to help the good work along.

A committee was appointed to look into the matter of donations. Requests for donations for bazars, prizes for card parties and other requests for merchandise and financial assistance are growing at such a rate as to become alarming to the merchants, and some steps will be taken by the association to standardize the matter. In all probability all requests of this nature will in the future be referred to the secretary of the association, who will be empowered to investigate and take such action as seems advisable under the circumstances.

The necessity of keeping down the cost of business in order that Duluth stores may successfully compete with outside concerns makes it imperative that all items of expense and wastage of profit be carefully considered, according to the ideas expressed by some of the retailers.

A protest will be made to the city commission against the tax on hardware stores, which has recently been levied by the police department to cover the expense of registering the sale of firearms. This and similar taxes place the local retailer at a disadvantage against outside competitors, who pay no such tax and who solicit trade in the market.

A good roads committee was appointed to confer with the county commissioners relative to matters pertaining to the interests of this community.

WILL BUILD NEW FACTORY

Duluth Company Will Spend $30,000 on First Unit of Plant.

Has Site of Three Acres—Old Quarters Are Outgrown.

With the passing of title deeds yesterday from the West Duluth Land company to the Hugo Manufacturing company of a block of three acres at Forty-ninth avenue west and Halifax street, West Duluth is assured a new industry employing a large number of hands.

The realty transaction had been pending for some time and it was negotiated through the office of the Field-Frey company.

The decision to build a new factory was reached by the Hugo Manufacturing company through the fact that its operations had far outgrown the capacity of its present premises on Second street west, making additional room absolutely necessary. The new factory plans, as prepared by Kelly & Williams, architects, provide for an ultimate of seven units covering, after making allowance for yardage, the entire area purchased. The building of the first unit will be begun as soon as the contracts can be let. The main building will be 50 by 185 feet in size, two stories high, of concrete construction, and at the same time a brick office building facing on Halifax street will be erected. An estimated outlay of $30,000 will be entailed.

The factory structure is designed to be as complete as possible in every detail. On the ground floor will be the boxing and crating department, pressroom and locker and lunchrooms for men and women. The press to be installed for dieing sheet metal will be the largest in the city and in conjunction with an electric spot welder to take the place of riveting, the cost of production will be brought down to a low basis.

Good Shipping Facilities.

On the upper floor of the premises will be located the main machine shop and the assembling department. The factory will be admirably served with railroad shipping facilities, the tracks of the Northern Pacific and the Canadian Northern being located on two sides.

Operations of the Hugo Manufacturing company have shown remarkable expansion since it began business in the fall of 1913, according to R. T. Hugo, its manager. Gas appliances and a ventilating gas and combination radiator steam and hot water heater are its main products. It also manufactures a garage heater and other specialties.

"Our business increased three-fold last year," said Mr. Hugo today. "Last fall we were so rushed that we operated our factory the full twenty-four hours. We are now covering the entire country, having recently got a foothold in the New England states. We have found ourselves so advantageously located here that we have been able to beat out all opposition on the Pacific coast and we are especially pleased to find now that we can sell our goods in the East as well."

Another development that Mr. Hugo reported was the receipt of export inquiries from foreign countries, including from England, Australia and Japan. He is confident that a large export trade can be worked up as soon as the company is in a position to branch out. The Duluth-made gas and combination heater has attracted attention in England, it being regarded as especially suitable for that climate.

NEW BREED OF WOLF.

Munising, Mich., Feb. 9.—A new breed of wolf, a cross between the coyote and the timber wolf, is increasing in such numbers in the upper peninsula of Michigan that unless some measures are taken to exterminate it, it will soon outnumber the deer, was the prediction of Paul Opitz, veteran hunter and trapper, who lives near Hanley.

Opitz was in Munising collecting the bounty on the last of a pack of twelve wolves he had killed near his land.

"There is one point in the game laws that is not receiving the attention it should," said Opitz, "and that is the increasing number of wolves. It isn't the timber wolf any more that is causing all the trouble either, but it is a new breed.

"The new wolves, slightly larger than a coyote, not so large as a timber wolf, but containing the daring of the latter, probably originated from the bunch of coyotes which escaped from Presque Isle some years ago. Government experts say they are coyotes, but if they could see some of the full-grown ones, they might change their views."

Duluth Girl Writes of Accident to Ryndam

The following is an extract from a letter which George Sjoselius received Monday from his sister, Miss Alice Sjoselius, who was a passenger on the steamship Ryndam when it struck a mine off the coast of England, Jan. 19, the letter being written when the passengers were delayed on the Thames, a short distance from London:

"There is really no necessity in feeling anxious about me. I always seem to get through all right and the experience is great.

"We struck the mine shortly after 10 o'clock. A torpedo boat had just left us after giving direction regarding which course to take. The band was playing and I was sitting in my steamer chair when it happened. After a terrible moment of silence all the passengers and crew, except the brave stokers at their posts, were out on deck. Life-saving belts were put on and the boats were lowered and we were ready to leave if they saw the ship would sink. The explosion happened in the bow. Little water came in and the compartment was closed."

Lalasiewicz-Koneczny.

Miss Mae Lalasiewicz and Laurence Koneczny were married yesterday at St. Peter's and St. Paul's Catholic church by Rev. Frank A. Schultz. Miss Therese Koneczny, sister of the bridegroom, was the bridesmaid, and Charles Lalasiewicz, brother of the bride, was the best man.

Mrs. John Koneczny played Mendelssohn's wedding march as the processional and the "Lohengrin" march as the recessional and Miss Elizabeth Walczak played "Meditation" during the marriage service. Miss Minnie Schultz sang "O Salutarus" at the offertory and John Koneczny sang "Ave Maria."

Evergreens and white roses were the decorations in the sanctuary.

The bride wore a gown of white crepe de chine, made round length and trimmed with rose point lace. Her veil was arranged in cap effect with lilies of the valley and she carried a shower bouquet of Bride roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid's gown was of peach taffeta combined with silver lace and her white lace hat was trimmed with Tea roses. She carried an arm bouquet of Tea roses.

Following the ceremony there was a wedding breakfast for the immediate relatives and a few intimate friends at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Lalasiewicz, 109 Wicklow street. A reception was held last night.

The out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Koneczny of Two Harbors, Minn., and Stephen Lalasiewicz of Seattle, Wash.

Mr. and Mrs. Koneczny will be at home in the West end after Feb. 15.

Mrs. Jean Hobart of St. Paul illustrated the talk which she gave last night at the Y. W. C. A. to the members of the city training school by hand work done in the beginners' and primary classes of Sunday schools. She explained that this work, which is similar to that done in kindergartens, impresses the children, who soon grow tired listening to the explanation of a lesson, but who get much benefit from cutting and pasting holy pictures and by making the animals mentioned in the Bible stories.

She said also that the singing of hymns is important to children and that often on their visits to gospel missions she found that the songs which the men knew as children brought them back to the beliefs they had when in Sunday school.

Mrs. Hobart is a Sunday school worker under the direction of the Minnesota State Sunday School association. She will return to Duluth Feb. 20 to give another talk to the teachers of elementary departments of Sunday schools.

Our Daily Worries

LORDY massy, how prosperous everything does seem here; different from what 'tis to home. Hepsy she's all in a stew and I jest bought her 37 cents wuth o' nutmegs too, but she's allays as down on me as if I had a fault. Folks does lose much thet has sech dispositions."—Sam Lawson, in Oldtown Folks.

Heaven bless the woman who can face her daily worries with a smile and turn them into the nutriment of patience. There is no end to the trouble you can have, if you will only take notice of it. The ink bottle upsets, the door catches and tears your best apron, the baby has carried away the good spoons and little John smashes the lid to the china butterdish. Frown at the beginning of your troubles each morning and by noon they will overpower you.

When the children are grown, they will have forgotten they broke your treasures, spoiled your carpets and linen, or finger-marked your doors and windows. But their lives will show whether you forgot these things and laughed away your troubles or whether you, like Sam's Hepsy, "acted as though they had a fault." A mother who can keep her voice level and sweet, her forehead smooth and unlined, and give her children kindly glances from amid her daily worries, is the sort whose family will "rise up and call her blessed" in years to come.

"It's not the thing you do, Dear,
It's the thing you leave undone,
That gives the bit of heartache
At the setting of the sun."

It is a heaven-sent privilege to be able to forget your work in looking after your children. Mothering is an instinct that can be improved with study. Scarcely a magazine, book or paper is issued today that does not urge mothers to make their children happy. The advice is not all good—trash can be written about this subject, too—but it is good enough to be useful to some mother.

We all read a few days ago about the "Champion Mother" of this state. The article said she had borne twenty-eight children, but only eight lived to the age of twelve years. When interviewed as to amusing children, this "champion" sweepingly denounced picture-books, "movies," games or toys. "Let the children alone" she advised, "they will amuse themselves." She knew no better way than her own and no doubt is wonderfully self-satisfied with her "championship." However, experience without knowledge is of little value and it is better to be a friendly mother to your children than to be a "champion." Life is a long affair and before they are through with it, for all you know, your children may find it exceedingly tiresome, so, if you can, teach them to live it cheerily, bravely and honestly. When they are grown and in homes of their own, they will never tire of telling "how mother used to do."

More Than 400 Duluth Women Play Bridge for Charity Funds

Bridge at 110 tables and lotto at one large table were played at the card party which the Woman's Auxiliary of the St. Louis County Medical association gave this afternoon at the armory for their general philanthropy fund. This was the first affair of the kind to be held at the armory and the large, sunny assembly hall was an ideal place. American flags and festoons of red and green were the decorations. The score cards were ornamented with small cupids against red heart backgrounds and were tied with red ribbon.

The doctors' wives at the head of the twelve divisions who arranged the affair were: Mrs. E. L. Tuohy, Mrs. Arthur Collins, Mrs. Robert Graham, Mrs. E. L. Cheney, Mrs. F. F. Clark, Mrs. M. S. Hirschfield, Mrs. F. M. Turnbull, Mrs D. E. Seashore, Mrs. A. E. Walker, Mrs. F. J. Patton, Mrs. W. A. Coventry and Mrs. Frank W. Spicer.

In order to avoid confusion and to assist the guests to find their places, the name of one of the players was placed on each table. The tables were divided into seven sections with an usher to each section. The ushers were Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Turnbull, Mrs. Seashore, Mrs. E. W. Fahey, Mrs. Spicer, Mrs. L. A. Barney and Mrs. Tuohy.

At the close of the game there was a reception which made it possible for the women to meet others than those with whom they had played. Instead of being served at the card tables the refreshments were served from a long table in a corner of the assembly room. The valentine color was carried out with red candles, shaded in red, and red carnations. Presiding at this table were Mrs. Collins, Mrs. Spicer, Mrs. Graham, Mrs. Coventry and Mrs. Clarence Taylor.

The eighteen prizes and those who gave them were:

Half dozen nut dishes, Bagley & Co.; ton of coal, Clarkson Coal company; electric iron, Duluth Edison company; set of scissors, Kelley Hardware company; silk umbrella, Silberstein-Bondy company; silver picture frame, K. A. Klein jewelry store; sandwich basket, Cowan & Zimmerman; one pair silk hose, Leiser company and New York Oriental Importing company; hand painted cream and sugar set, Kelly Furniture company; royal Dresden compote, I. Freimuth; hand carved picture frame, Glass Block store; mahogany tray, French & Bassett; bronze bridge pad holder, French & Bassett; bridge cover, George A. Gray company; bottle toilet water, Dyer's pharmacy; one handkerchief, J. M. Gidding company; two corsage bouquets, Alpha Floral company.

Most of those who attended the party secured their places individually, as few entertained guests. The list represents the women who were responsible for the disposal of tables and whose names were put on the tables to help others to find their places. The number is less than 110, as several women were responsible for two, three or four tables. Three tables were reserved for Two Harbors women and three for the Incognito club. The names on the tables were:

Mesdames—
Kelly, Charles Roof, Baer, O. A. Oredson, Beatte, Polinsky, Max Oreckovsky, Hirsch, D. H. Clary, Kohler, Arminen, Sobotta, Scofield, A. G. Messer, Kreitter, McLaren, Sukeforth, Clow, Garreghty, Burroughs, Mannheim, Lepak, Karon, A. E. Kirby, Overmire, Trux, S. K. Abraham, J. M. Smith, Stilson, D. W. Stocking, E. L. Tuohy, Warren, F. H. Matinee Musicale Program.

The Matinee Musicale program yesterday afternoon, arranged by Mrs. Mary E. Thorburn, proved of unusual interest to those present. Gustave Jackson, a new addition to Duluth music circles, made a very favorable impression in the opening number "Rhapsody," by Gustave Lange, which is dedicated to Gustav Flaaten of this city. His work shows careful training and much promise.

"The Nightingale and the Rose," by Oscar Wilde, read by Agnes Johnson Specht to the accompaniment of incidental music played by Isabel Pearson Fuller, was interesting, and the group of songs by Miss Myrtle Hobbs were sung with delicacy and feeling. Mrs. Donna Riblette Flaaten accompanied the singer.

The program closed with a quartet for organ, piano, cello and violin, with Isabel Pearson Fuller at the organ, Elizabeth Morton Dworshak at the piano, Emily Smith, violinist, and Bernard Siegert, who took the place of Florence Lawson Ter Bush, cellist.

Violinist Will Reappear at Sunday Twilight Concert

For the next concert to be given by the Duluth orchestra at the new armory Sunday afternoon, Director Fred G. Bradbury has arranged an excellent program comprising selections by Scandinavian composers, and it promises to be the most pleasing of the series given so far.

Mrs. J. F. Finkelson will be the soloist and will again be heard in Ole Bull's beautiful setting of the old Norwegian poem, "Saeterjentens Sondag," which proved so popular last year that it headed the list of request numbers for the final concert. Mrs. Finkelson's artistic playing is always a delight, and she will no doubt be enthusiastically received on the occasion of her reappearance with the orchestra. The Svea Glee club will also be heard in several selections combining both the folk melodies of Norway and some of the more modern compositions.

The ever-popular "Peer Gynt" suite by Grieg will be one of the principal orchestral offerings. This suite, which is in four movements, is taken from the incidental music to Ibsen's dramatic poem, "Peer Gynt," the musical setting dealing with the events in the wanderings and adventures of Ibsen's hero. Other numbers on the program are the coronation march by Svendsen, written for the coronation of King Oscar II, Norwegian dances Nos. 2 and 3 by Grieg, "Triumphal Entry of the Bojars" by Halvorsen, "March Grotesque" by Sinding, and an old Swedish folk song arranged for string orchestra entitled, "Du Gamla, Du Friska, Fjellen Nord."

The South Wind Admires the Icicles

IF there is one thing more than another that I admire," remarked the South Wind to her neighbor, "it's an icicle."

"An icicle?" exclaimed the neighbor, "why admire an icicle? Icicles are not so wonderful. They are nothing but frozen water! And anyway, icicles don't live down here, so you can't see one anyway."

"That is just the trouble," sighed the South Wind sadly. "I never see them! Once," and she lowered her voice impressively, "I went up north in the middle of the winter and I saw icicles—oh, lots of them! They hung from the houses—along the eaves, you know—they hung from the trees, from the poles and from the wires. And oh, how beautiful they were when they glinted in the winter sunshine!"

"Well, then," said the neighbor wind practically, "if you thought them so beautiful, why didn't you stay with them?"

"Ah, that's just the trouble," sighed the South Wind. "I did stay, and I had not been there an hour till those icicles began leaking water, and before night they were gone. It was most curious, for, though I looked closely, I could not see where one of them went!"

"Why don't you go and see them again?" asked the neighbor wind. "This is the middle of the winter. No doubt icicles are hanging from the trees at this very minute. Why not go and see them, if you like their looks so well?"

"That's good advice," replied the South Wind, and without even waiting to say good-by, she blew off up north.

Of course she found icicles! Thousands of icicles! They hung from the eaves and from the branches of every tree and oh, dear, how beautiful they were! The South Wind was so happy to see them and so glad she had come! "Now this just suits me," she said to herself. "I'll stay right here by this biggest icicle all the rest of the winter!" And she settled herself down by a great icicle-loaded tree.

Now just there is where the story ought to end—but unfortunately there's more to be told! The happy

South Wind had not been by her favorite icicle an hour till that big and handsome icicle began to leak!

"Look out!" cried the South Wind warningly. "You are dripping water right on my back!"

"I can't help it," cried the icicle desperately. "I don't want to! But it's so warm here I don't stay frozen as I should!" And another great drop slipped down from the icicle's head and dropped off at the bottom of his little toe.

And at the same time all the icicles far and near began leaking too, till the ground was full of water and the trees and eaves were empty of icicles—every one was gone! And the disappointed South Wind had to turn back to the Southland and give the North Wind a chance to make some more!

Peggy Peabody's Observations

The Rent War Question

I know what they look like, these little, two, three and four-room homes into which the poor of large cities crowd themselves with their large families. I do not blame them for objecting to what is really an exorbitant rent. Into these little coops often as many as a dozen people are cramped. If the landlord sees fit to raise the rent a dollar a month they have little alternative except to pay.

These rents are exorbitant compared with what the payment of the same amount of rent in the country would secure. And they are exorbitant in that, besides paying the rent, those who occupy them are doling out their health in the dark, stuffy rooms into which fresh air really seldom penetrates.

The poor pay more than one price for their thronging into the large cities, where they cannot hope to have other than the barest and most miserable of existences. If more of them took pains and were careful and made any attempt to cultivate thrift they could simplify living and reduce its cost by taking up their abode far from the rookeries that rise above the city pavements.

But the poor, or a goodly portion of them, seem to utterly lack the power to take pains. Herein lies the reason for the high rents which rich and bloated householders demand of the poor. Herein lies my sympathy with the few property holders whom I know and for all who have to cater to the wants and carelessness of a class of people who give the impression that it never dawns upon them that they might better their own conditions if they would only give a thought to the preservation of the house in which they live.

The average tenant among the poorer classes does not take care of the conveniences and the repairs that were made in his interests when he enters an apartment. He apparently goes on the principle that the house is not his, therefore there is no reason why he should exert himself to preserve anything.

I know of two families to whom a landlord offered a reduced rental in order to get them to stay because they were the kind of people who took care of the paint, the plumbing and everything about the apartment as though it was their own. But they would not stay because they could not endure the actions of most of the other tenants sheltered under the same roof.

Here's Palate Joy for You—also stomach comfort beyond belief. Heat a Shredded Wheat Biscuit in the oven to restore crispness, then cover with sliced bananas and pour over it milk or cream. Sweeten it to suit the taste. A complete, perfect meal supplying more strength-giving nutriment than meat or eggs at a cost of three or four cents. A warm, nourishing breakfast—a delicious lunch. Acquiring the "Electric Look" at Duluth Automobile Show

Getting used to one of the new automobiles and acquiring the "electric look" must be very easy.

"All the comforts of home and none of the drawbacks" seems to be the prevailing idea in the new electrics and limousines on display at the Duluth auto show this year—and surely speed has its adherents too.

Could anything be cuter than the little smelling-salt bottles without any smelling salts in them; the little silver-encased memorandum books with nothing to remember in them; the flowerless flower-holders, cardless cardcases, not to forget the necessary clock, which is a new form of the old stop-watch, and seems never to have been started since its invention? These things, however, all add to the atmosphere of home, and then added to that is the biggest advantage—i. e., that you can so conveniently get away from home.

Of course, lots of people love their homes, and then there are lots of people who love other people's homes, and it is for these that "le dernier cri" in automobiles is of paramount interest.

The "Electric Look."

Have you, too, sat in a friend's electric or limousine and tried to look as if you owned it—or could run it? The latter, of course, is the much more difficult expression to assume, as a certain degree of intelligence must go with it—but when you have once sat in one of these cars tethered to the curb—with all your acquaintances swishing past, bowing to right and left, until you feel like the president's wife or some high official—don't you sort o' wonder how the owners of these cars acquire the automobile expression? They use it whenever they are swishing past you as you stand huddled to some street corner waiting for one of those street cars that people never use—(and that run all in a bunch so as to get it over with) and it is a look once seen never forgotten. You are the only one who is forgotten. How do they look so unconscious—it is almost a look of privacy—when they must realize that we can all see them seeing us. But at that, it is an art, and one must own a car before the secret of it can be acquired.

After sitting in one after another of these moving palaces of luxury at the new armory it is quite easy to understand why girls leave home—much harder to understand why they would ever go back if home hasn't a limousine.

The new electrics and limousines are indeed a joy or a despair, depending on the condition of the pocketbook.

SIDE TALKS

By RUTH CAMERON

On Whispering

WHISPERING is ill-bred. Anyone who knows anything at all knows that. And yet a great many people who are supposedly well-bred have the bad taste and the bad sense to whisper.

I don't mean that they do it at a social gathering. But here's an example of what I do mean.

A woman in our neighborhood has just lost a good maid through whispering.

This is how it happened: If any little thing in the food or service was wrong, the woman would comment upon it to her family in a whisper. The maid would frequently be conscious of the whispering, and of course thought the criticisms much worse than they really were. Sometimes the whispers were not criticisms at all, but merely mentions of family matters that the mistress did not wish her helper to hear. But the maid did not know that. And when one is given such an opportunity to use one's imagination, one usually uses it to good, or rather bad effect.

Eventually the maid left simply because of these whispers.

The mistress feels aggrieved because of her loss, says she treated her maid well and seldom criticized her, though there were plenty of things she didn't like.

Open Criticism Would Have Been Kinder.

If she only had criticized her openly she would have been kinder.

Women are queer that way. Many good women can't seem to treat their maids fairly and squarely. A man said to me the other day: "I don't wonder women have such a hard time to keep their maids. They don't seem to be able to treat them in a business-like way. There's my wife, she's a kind, intelligent woman; but when I see the way she nags her maids, fusses at them and interferes with them, well—'picks on them' is really the best way to express it—I wonder she keeps them as long as she does. My clerks wouldn't stay a week if I treated them that way."

How Whispering Sent a Fever Up.

To return to the main road, whispering within the hearing of a sick person is something that has been condemned a thousand times, apparently quite in vain. Just the other day I heard of a woman who was made much sicker by hearing her daughter whispering to the doctor in the hall. The doctor's responses to the whispering were reassuring, but it was impossible to convince the invalid that something wasn't being concealed from her. She was depressed, she was nervous, and consequently she was suspicious, and by brooding over her suspicions, fretted herself into a high fever.

A whisper is a sign-board—"This is something we don't want you to hear." When the sign-board is put up it instantly arouses the most dormant curiosity. And, as I said before, an imagination thus stimulated is apt to construct something much worse than the actual truth.

Never whisper unless you want to hurt people's feelings, embarrass them, arouse their curiosity and defeat your own purpose of keeping the thing quiet.

Women Would Check Infant Mortality

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Local club women have joined hands in a fight to reduce the mortality rate of babies under 2 years old, and an educational campaign has been inaugurated which local leaders of the movement believe will go far toward bringing about the desired results.

It was announced today that the campaign will continue until March 4, when "baby week," a national movement, will be observed.

"When the mothers of the country have been taught the proper way to care for babies, the mortality rate will be largely reduced," said Dr. Nellie W. Nelson, chairman of the Minnesota Federation of Women's clubs' hygiene committee, today. Other leaders of the movement declared that the stock-raising industry had developed to the point where cattle and sheep are cared for in a scientific manner, while little effort apparently had been made to fortify mothers with the same degree of knowledge for the care of their babies.

Exhibits showing the weight of clothing babies should wear at the different seasons of the year, the kind of exercise they should be given, the games they should be taught and the style of carriage most likely to permit of freedom and encourage good health will form a part of the local campaign.

In addition daily lectures will be given by child welfare experts and singers will teach mothers the proper way to sing lullabies and point out the ones most pleasing to the ears of the child.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

The Question of Surgery For Goiter

We regret to say that goiter operations in some cities have degenerated into a veritable fad.

If we had an exophthalmic goiter we would not accept as final the opinion of an operating surgeon as to the advisability of surgical treatment. We should desire the opinion of our attending physician, after he had observed the progress of the case at least a few weeks and preferably at least six months under medical and general treatment. In fact the family doctor's advice would take first place, the surgeon's second place in our decision.

WILLIAM BRADY M.D.

There seems to be an impression among a certain group of surgeons that endemic or exophthalmic goiter won't get well unless a portion of the diseased thyroid gland is extirpated. If this were correct, the surgeon's decision to operate would be entirely justifiable. But it happens to be incorrect. Fully one-third of the cases of exophthalmic goiter seen in private practice do ultimately progress to complete recovery after a period of years. If all patients could avail themselves of the physiological rest which is so helpful in the treatment of most cases of exophthalmic goiter, there would be but rare need of operation.

Surgical treatment frequently leaves the patient in an exhausted state (exhaustion caused by the disease, not by the operation) which requires many months of careful medical treatment after the operation, in order to restore fairly good health.

Of course there are exceptional cases of very severe exophthalmic goiter in which operation must be considered as a life-saving measure.

Nevertheless, too many surgeons are doing too many goiter operations, and too many patients are apparently anxious to submit to this fad. It appears to have taken the place of the former appendicitis fad. Nowadays, good surgeons do not insist upon an operation in every case of appendicitis.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Ventilator Flues.

Do you approve of ventilators near the floor, carrying the air out into a flue which conveys it between the partitions to a ventilator on the roof?

Answer—Yes, but since expired air is warmer than any other air in the room it will naturally rise, and hence the ventilator should be placed near the ceiling.

Arsenic.

(1) Is it true that when arsenic has been taken medicinally for a long time, it can't be given up without detriment? (2) Is it safer to take arsenic in solution than in solid form?

Answer—(1) No. (2) No. But sometimes easier.

"Girls of Yesterday and Today."

On Friday night at the Y. W. C. A. assembly hall the girls of the extension department will give a historical presentation of the beginnings of Y. W. C. A. work fifty years ago down to the present time. The general public is invited to attend.

There has been a great ransacking of garrets and overhauling of old trunks to find dresses of every period for fifty years back. Many treasured wedding dresses are being shaken and aired these days and will be worn that night. The two leading characters are "The Girl of 1866" and "The Girl of 1916." "The Girl of 1866" will wear the graduating dress of one of the board members, a handsome gown made by a very fashionable dressmaker in Philadelphia almost fifty years ago.

In one scene the stage will be set with the old-fashioned furniture. The girls would be much pleased to have all their friends and especially the older people come Friday night.

To Avoid Awkwardness Don't Think About Yourself

Chicago Tribune: Awkwardness is due to nervous tension. Think of the times that you have been conscious of an especially awkward moment. Wasn't it an occasion of extreme nervous tension with you? When you kicked your foot against the chair and made a half hysterical giggle of apology weren't your nerves just a bit "beside themselves"? Of course they were. If you had been relaxed and calm your would have acted quietly and gracefully.

When you were made especially conscious of an ungainly movement in passing food at table, say, weren't you thinking a good deal about yourself and of what some one else was thinking about you? That state of mind is always accompanied by constrained, tense movements. When you were dancing and stepped all over your partner's feet weren't your nerves all tightened up? Of course they were; otherwise your partner's feet would have remained unmolested.

When you have been guilty of an awkward remark where a graceful one would have been more becoming, again the cause was taut and high strung nerves.

No graceful gesture or poise is possible without a relaxed feeling. An angular hand loses its stiffness when relaxed. An angular figure loses its awkwardness when the mind is released from nervous tension.

The secret of grace, therefore, is to learn to relax. How is this most easily accomplished? By forgetting yourself. Forget whether you are going to do the thing right or not. Just do it with your mind on anything but the accomplishment itself. If you keep wondering whether you are going to do a thing right or not the chances are you won't but if you forget possible criticism the chances are you will.

Valentine Club Members as Fairy Godmothers

The Woman's Home Companion for February tells of a Valentine club in a Southern city that holds meetings all year to prepare for Feb. 14, when the members play fairy godmothers to old men and women, patients in hospitals and children in orphanages. Card parties, garden fetes and amateur theatricals are given to raise money for the substantial valentines that are left with only large red hearts to show they are gifts of the Valentine club. Each meeting is a sewing bee at which old clothes are made into garments for children and comforts are knotted.

The week before Valentine day the club holds almost daily meetings. One day is given over to making candy that is put into red boxes which are wrapped in white paper and sealed with red hearts. Another day is set aside for making cookies and loaf cakes which are wrapped in white paper and sealed with hearts. On another day glasses of jelly are collected and still another is devoted to wrapping books and magazines.

The members of the club provide each old woman with a box of candy, a glass of jelly, a cake or a package of cookies and a real valentine. Each child at the orphanage receives a box of candy and a valentine.

But sweets and valentines are not the only gifts that are distributed, for bags of coal, bundles of wood, clothing and provisions are left, the large red hearts on which the addresses are written making them seem like valentines instead of prosaic necessities.

After months of preparation the "Valentines," for that is what the young women call themselves, have the pleasure of knowing they have made many a sick, poor or lonesome old man or woman happy and have made the day bright for many a child, and then the Valentines themselves have a costume ball to complete the day.

The membership of the club is limited and there is always a waiting list. As each member announces her engagement she is given a Valentine luncheon, regardless of the time of the year. Amid the gay Valentine decorations of the luncheon table is always a white envelope, sealed with a huge black heart. This formidable-looking document asks for the resignation of the bride-to-be, whose place is filled by one of those on the waiting list.

See the Maxwell

at the Duluth Automobile Snow

WHEN you go to Niagara, you want to see the Falls.

For like reason, when you go to the Automobile Show you will want to see the Maxwell.

Not because it's a monumental car—it isn't.

But because you want to see the most astounding $655 worth of automobile exhibited.

The Maxwell has all the best features, refinements and equipment of far higher priced cars.

It has the power which makes "every road a Maxwell road."

It has the strength and endurance which far heavier cars are glad to boast about.

It has the beauty of design which is characteristic of foreign cars.

It has the lightness to be economical on tires, yet weight enough to hold the road.

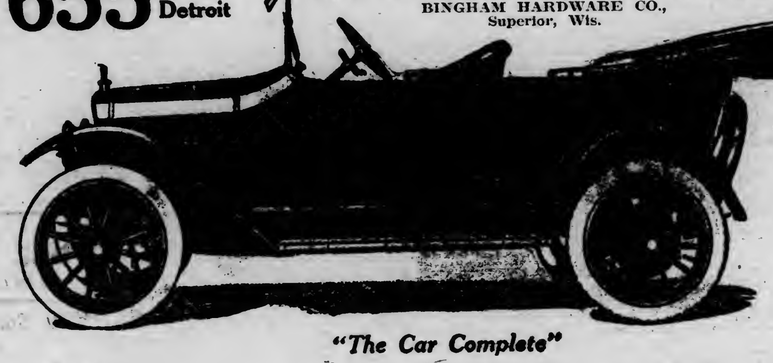

It has the all-round low maintenance cost which keeps the owner's pocketbook pleased.

Quantity production through high factory efficiency makes it possible to produce the Maxwell for so little as $655—this year, 1916, 100,000 cars.

See the Maxwell Exhibit. See particularly the "Sectional View" chassis which shows every vital working part in operation. See the "how" and "why" of Maxwell simplicity of operation and control.

Theater Gossip.

Does the woman always pay? Usually she does, especially in the motion pictures, but in one picture at least, "A Price For Folly," that standard old axiom gets a hard jolt.

WOMAN PROBLEM PHOTOPLAY AT ZELDA.

"A Price For Folly," which is being shown at the Zelda theater for three days commencing with today's performance and starring the versatile screen star, Edith Storey, in the role of a vampire, refutes this statement. Miss Storey has a very difficult role to enact, having three distinct parts, that of a vampire, a coquette and a demi-ouse. She is ably assisted by the well known star, Antonio Moreno, together with an all-star cast.

Miss Storey and Antonio Moreno will be remembered as the co-stars in "The Island of Regeneration," and from advance reports of "A Price For Folly," they outdo their former success.

Today's performances close the engagement of one of the season's most entertaining programs at the popular New Grand. Hickman Bros. and company, in offering their comedy skit, "Two Ways to Look," provide twenty minutes of uproarious laughter.

LAST APPEARANCE OF GRAND SHOW

Grace and Ernie Forrest, versatile entertainers, offering bits of music and dances; the Troy Comedy Four, harmony singers and comedians, and Emmett's Canines, animal actors, make up the vaudeville part of the program.

Tyrone Power, in "The Devil in Chief," a three-reel subject, toplines the photoplays. One of the Stingaree stories, "The Honor of the Road," a two-reel subject; "The Cold Feet Getaway," a comedy, and "The Vulture," a drama, balance up the film department.

Tomorrow the new bill will be headed by Doree's Beaux and Belles, a singing and instrumental melange with eight people, mostly girls. Agnes Kayne, eccentric comedienne; Walton and Vivian, offering songs and patter, and Campbell and McDonald, in a scenic singing novelty, are among the vaudeville offerings. "The Book Agent's Romance," a two-reel subject, with G. M. Anderson, leads the photoplays. Some excellent comedies, together with the Selig-Tribune News make up the remainder of the new bill.

Dainty Marie Doro will dance herself off the screen at the Rex tonight as "The Wood Nymph," but she will always be welcomed and well received by Rex patrons no matter in what play she may appear.

MARIE DORO CLOSES ENGAGEMENT AT REX

A peep at the "Four Hundred" is promised tomorrow in "The Conquerer," with Willard Mack in the leading role with Enid Markey. Financiers are shown at business, dinner and in the ballroom. Beautiful women wearing the latest modes and sparkling with necklaces and tiaras move through the scenes. The furniture, hangings and rugs are of the finest, and many other things that delight the eye are shown in "The Conquerer." The "wolf" pays no heed, and turns his back on society and women.

GETS VERDICT OF $1.

Gust Kroll Will Recover Nominal Damages for Assault.

Gust Kroll was awarded a verdict of $1 and costs yesterday afternoon by a jury in Judge W. H. Smallwood's division of municipal court against Wallace West. Kroll sued for $440, alleging that West assaulted him with a billiard cue and kicked him during a fight in the headquarters last May.

This morning an action brought by W. S. Ryder, a real estate man and broker, against J. M. Averbook and John Willander, former owners of the Diamond theater, 24 East Superior street, went on trial before a jury in Judge Smallwood's court. In his complaint Ryder alleges that the defendents came to him last Oct. 4 and asked him to find a purchaser for their theater. Plaintiff says he interested F. F. Halicki in the theater and that the latter purchased it for $3,600, paying $1,200 cash and the balance in installments. Ryder says he was to receive 5 per cent of the purchase price as his commission, amounting to $175. This, he says, has not been paid. The case will reach the jury by this evening.

VETERAN MARQUETTE MAIL CARRIER QUITS

Marquette, Mich., Feb. 9. — Henry Brittel, aged 67, for twenty-seven years mail carrier in Marquette, a member of the original force, has slung the leather strap of his mail bag over his shoulder for the last time. His resignation has just been presented to M. C. Scully, the postmaster, and he will spend the remaining years of his life on the retired list.

During the period of his service Mr. Brittel has lost little time because of illness, and his leaves of absence have been infrequent.

Mr. Brittel became a mail carrier in 1887, when Grover Cleveland was serving his first term as president. Vigorous representations that Marquette should have mail service were made to the postal department officials, and, with the assistance of the congressman for the district, it was obtained, Marquette being the first city in the upper peninsula to enjoy such service. The first appointees here were Mr. Brittel, Joe Dubie and Henry Erbelding.

CLUB WILL DISCUSS MILITARY TRAINING

The subject of military training in the schools will be discussed by the Lester Park Improvement club at the Lester Park schoolhouse next Friday evening. The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock. The discussion will be led by a West Point man. All members will be given an opportunity to express their views.

Others matters to be discussed are the armory referendum, new voting system, street car service on Fifty-fourth avenue east, and the most desirable site for the proposed library.

TODAY IN HISTORY.

William Henry Harrison born, 1773.

Born in Virginia. His parents intended him for a doctor, but he entered the army in 1791, serving under General Wayne. Secretary of the Northwest Territory, 1798; territorial delegate in congress, 1799; governor Indiana territory, 1801, when it embraced Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin; defeated the Prophet, Tecumseh's brother, in battle of Tippecanoe, 1811; commanded successfully in the West during War of 1812; congressman, 1816-1819; United States senator, 1819-1821 and 1825-1828; minister to Colombia, 1828-1829; unsuccessful candidate for president, 1836; elected president 1840, the oldest of the presidents at the time of inauguration, and died just a month later.

READING (available in Duluth public library)—McMaster's History of the People of the United States. There is no good biography, but there is a sketch in Wilson's Presidents of the United States, Vol. 2, and John J. Crittenden's autobiography throws light on the inside politics which controlled Harrison's election.

WHY? HOW LONG?

The St. Louis county commissioners have practically decided to erect a county hospital which will cost about seventy-five thousand dollars. The county now pays out $14,600 annually for the care of county patients in the private hospitals.—The Herald's "Twenty Years Ago" column, Feb. 7.

County or city—or both—so it was public and open to all as a right, there was grave need of a public hospital in Duluth twenty years ago, and there were good reasons for building it.

There is grave need of a public hospital in Duluth now, and there are vastly better reasons now than there were two decades ago why there should be one.

Yet there is none, and at present no proceedings are under way looking toward one.

Why? And how long?

It is suggested that platinum be used for filling teeth; which is all right if it does not lead to an increase in the number of platitudes.

NOT A PROPHET.

"Mr. Wilson's Western speeches," says George W. Perkins, Bull Moose "angel," "clearly show that he is utterly lacking in ability to forecast the future."

That wouldn't be surprising, especially as none of us except the weather man professes any ability to prophesy; and certainly President Wilson never has represented himself to be a soothsayer or a seer or a prophet or the son of a prophet.

But it was downright mean of the New York World to make this reply to Mr. Perkins:

> Mr. Perkins should not deal too harshly with the president's lack of foresight. Mr. Perkins himself, when he paid the money of the New York Life Insurance company's policyholders into the Roosevelt campaign fund by way of the Hanover bank, did not foresee Charles E. Hughes and the Armstrong committee.

Col. Roosevelt's cup will sure enough run over with bitterness if President Wilson, on concluding his terms in office, should go to Africa on a hunting trip—at a dollar a word.

THE ST. LOUIS COUNTY CLUB AT VIRGINIA.

The St. Louis County club is a forum representing all the community organizations of this great county, with an area greater than that of some states, with wealth greater than that of several states, and with potentialities of growth and development that many states might envy.

Before this club all problems of common interest to the county at large—and these are many and important—are discussed, and through this club the energies and activities of all the local clubs can be geared up to the attack on these problems.

Therefore, every organization in the county ought to be represented at Virginia, to the end that every ounce of energy and ingenuity in the whole county may be made available for the splendid work of developing this county which is an empire of possibilities and needs only work to make it a veritable empire of actualities and achievements.

It's almost impossible for the person of normal imagination to think that eggs imported from China haven't at least a slight flavor of joss sticks.

BRINGING THE UNIVERSITY TO THE PEOPLE.

A course in the geology and geography of Minnesota, in the extension work of the state university, opens tonight at the public library. As the future of university extension work in Duluth depends in part upon the patronage of this course, it is to be hoped many will take advantage of it.

As the future of university extension work in the state depends upon legislative generosity—or, rather, upon legislative breadth of vision—and as legislative perceptions depend very largely upon the strength of popular interest and support of such a movement as this, it is to be hoped that everybody who can will co-operate in making this course a success so that the legislature will not lack for evidences that the public wants this extension work continued and expanded.

Indeed, whenever the public wants it and makes the legislature pay for it, the university will be extended so widely that a large proportion of university work can be carried on in the home communities; thus enormously widening the usefulness and increasing the value of the university to the state and its people.

It is said that the war experiences have proved that "milk is the real stimulant," but every father of a young family will testify that the realest stimulant of all is lack of milk.

"THE GREATEST NAVY IN THE WORLD."

To the Editor of The Herald:

I observe with pleasure that while The Herald opposes militarism, it advocates the adoption of the president's program of preparedness, as I do, because it will make some people breathe easier and will head off the infliction on the country of a burden of militarism much more dangerous. So far, so good.

Now what do you say to the president's statement at St. Louis that the American navy ought to be "incomparably the greatest in the world?"

Very truly,

Duluth, Feb. 8. PAX.

As to that, sir, we choose to think that the president let the enthusiasm of the moment carry him far beyond what he believes when he is calmly planning for the nation's best interests.

What he is recommending to congress is a much better index to what he believes in than words spoken in the warmth generated by the splendid reception he met with wherever he went during his recent most successful tour in behalf of his program of preparedness.

The naval program laid before congress by the administration will make this nation second only to Great Britain on the sea; and it does not need a ship or a sailor more than that program calls for.

When the Filipinos read in the Congressional Record some of those arguments against the child labor bill, they will understand better why this country isn't unanimous in giving them their liberty.

BRANDEIS WAS RIGHT.

When the railroads were before the interstate commerce commission asking for permission to increase their freight rates, Louis D. Brandeis, whom the president has lately nominated to be an associate justice of the United States supreme court, said that the railroads did not need higher rates so much as greater economy and efficiency in management.

That is, the railroads could make as much money by studying economical and efficient management as they could by getting a rate increase at the expense of the consumers.

This statement brought down on his head the ridicule and abuse of railroad managers everywhere. So fierce was the onslaught that a good many people who did not profess to know much about the facts were inclined to argue from the heat of the attack that Brandeis must have hit pretty close to the truth. But railroad managers said he was a million miles off; that it couldn't be done; that the only possible relief for the railroads was higher freight rates.

The Railway Age Gazette now publishes some figures that are highly interesting in this connection. Comparing railroad earnings and expenses of the present with those of 1912, when the roads last handled a large traffic it finds these very significant facts:

That while the gross earnings have increased only 1.7 per cent, net earnings have increased TWELVE per cent. In other words, taking Mr. Brandeis's advice, which they scorned, they have held down expenses and increased the efficiency of their machinery until on gross earnings only slightly increased they have increased their profits twelve per cent. Which is precisely what Mr. Brandeis said they could do when he was so roundly abused for saying it.

Up in Canada they are saying, "Remember the Parliament House!"

The Inspiration of Being Normal.

Atlantic: There is a man up the street who works hard every day. He is habitually courteous, he is not nervous, he does not avoid people. I can tell by the way he says good-by to his family that he is no ogre in the house, but a beloved father whose return is already anticipated. This man does not complain of his job; he is too manly to be envious, too occupied with the day's work to be uncertain of the here and now. He represents the class that we are told is being "exploited." I have never seen the doctor's carriage at the door. He and his family are well. They work; afterwards they enjoy themselves and sleep in a way no prophets, least of all the celibate oracle, ever slept. I was sharply conscious the other day in passing the house that this laborer was a continual source of inspiration to me. I have an affection for him. We should have little to say to each other if we met. The weather, the tax rates and chances of candidates at election would exhaust us. But what the prophets prophesy in anguish of soul, and elaborate ideally in apocalyptic visions, this man is.

The Shamelessness of the Protectionists.

World's Work: Even if the simon-pure protectionists cannot unreservedly blame the reduction of the tariff for the lack of prosperity just before the war, the seekers of protection are quite active in blaming the Underwood tariff for the ruin which is to come upon our manufacturers when the stores of German goods shall be dumped upon us after the war is over.

If it were not that a thorough-going protectionist has no shame but, on the contrary, a pride in his assumed inability to compete with any foreign manufacturer in the American market, it would seem absurd for us, who are daily gaining in capital and new markets, to cry for help against the nations in Europe who are every day piling up death and taxes. But despite this, George W. Perkins, a director in two companies whose products do not need protection in any market in the world, except where they are produced, pleads for a higher tariff than we have now.

St. Patrick the Father of Leap Year Proposals

From the Kansas City Star.

To learn the origin of the leap year custom of women proposing marriage to men you must go back to Ireland. The Emerald Isle was the first home of originality.

There the legend still is told of the good St. Bridget going to the good St. Patrick in tears. The inmates of her nunnery, prototypes of the modern suffragette, by the way, had risen in anger because they were denied the privilege of popping the question, then solely appropriated by the men as has been the vote in modern times.

St. Patrick, says the legend, thought a while and proposed to allow the women every seventh year. But St. Bridget, throwing her arms around the neck of Ireland's patron saint, begged for every fourth year, to quiet her charges.

And it is recorded that St. Patrick not only yielded, but said he would give the women the longest year in the calendar, leap year. St. Bridget was so delighted that she proposed to St. Patrick on the spot, but as he had vowed celibacy, he was obliged to decline and in lieu of a husband St. Bridget received a kiss and a silken gown.

So for centuries the custom thus established continued, and the woman who proposed and was rejected was entitled to a kiss and a silk dress, unless the man already was engaged to marry another. As far as history shows, it was not until the prerogative was abused and designing women set out to replenish their wardrobes by proposing to one man after another, that the custom fell into disuse. Downtrodden man rebelled at last, and with the custom went woman's emancipation for one year in four.

But this leap year custom was by no means confined to Ireland. There actually was a law passed in Scotland in the thirteenth century which gave women the right to propose marriage in leap year and provided that the man who was free to marry but rejected such a proposal should pay to the woman a certain amount of money, in proportion to his wealth.

The law must have been popular, for in France one like it was enacted after it had been tried out in Scotland, and the king promulgated it in a royal decree.

The cities of Genoa and Florence in Italy passed similar laws later, and in the fifteenth century, it is said, they were still in vogue. Columbus himself is said to have received proposals from several women, but as he had already selected the woman who was to be his wife, he escaped.

There is no record that England ever dealt legally with the custom, but in the time of Henry VIII it was an unwritten law that woman had the right to propose in leap year and that the man who rejected a woman's proposal had to provide her with a kiss and a silk dress. As late as the eighteenth century homely men paraded English streets, wailing: "No lady will propose to us."

In America leap year has been kept only in jest, and the right conferred upon woman to propose every fourth year is regarded largely as a joke, but every bissextile year sees leap year parties of all sorts and leap year has come to be synonymous with feminine proposals, although the kiss and the silken gown have long since been forgotten.

Florida

Cleveland Plain Dealer: Never in history has Florida been so congested. The narrow strips of habitable land along the coasts are already overrun with vacationers and seekers of pleasure and warmth, and there is danger of an overflow into the swampy wilderness of the interior. The "season," as society knows it, is barely beginning; but the hotels are filled to capacity, and all the way from St. Augustine to Cocoanut Grove and along the west coast there is demand for makeshift lodgings of any kind.

All the Florida habitues have arrived or are about to arrive, and in addition there are crowds of people who have never before sought the expensive pleasure of a winter resort. Many of them are not golf players or motorists, and have only a passive interest in the polite aquatic sports of the elect. They do not even own yachts. Till this winter, probably, they never thought of going to Florida. But affluence, more or less substantial, has arrived, and Florida has called irresistibly.

The hotel men and the others who extract a livelihood from the winter pilgrims were not forewarned or adequately prepared. Now they are hastening to take advantage of the rush which is swelling day by day. In West Palm Beach, the commercial and hitherto despised adjunct of Palm Beach, every vacant room over the meat markets and hardware stores is being fitted up for a bachelor tenant; and where has a spare cottage or bungalow or non-essential edifice of any kind is preparing to receive, Florida is rubbing her hands in ecstatic expectation.

Such conditions have but one explanation. Prosperity is rampant. Business is booming, and quick earnings, or some considerable part of them, are being quickly spent. On the whole, though, the rush-to-Florida symptom is a good one. It indicates the growing American desire to get out of doors, and to spend superfluous money in a healthy way.

The Right Sort of Liquor Tax.

John Koren in the Atlantic: In dealing with the liquor traffic, the desire for revenue must give way to the employment of the tax-laying power as a means of minimizing the drink evil. Since the "curse of alcoholism" flows from spirits and not from beers and light wines, the heavy hand of the tax gatherer should in the first instance be laid on distilled liquors to the point of their utter repression. So drastic a measure would defeat its own purpose unless legislation at the same time encouraged the substitution of fermented drinks in place of the distilled, through a system of carefully graduated taxes upon fermented liquors in proportion to their alcoholic strength.

Rippling Rhymes

By Walt Mason

Spring Coming.

The winter wints and slings its snow, the wind is keen and frost is king. Cheer up, cheer up, for soon will blow the soft and balmy airs of spring. Your whiskers now are frozen stiff, it is a bleak and bitter day; your ears are cold, but what's the diff? Before you know it, 'twill be May. The tempest batters at the door, the night wind wails a dismal tune, but in three shakes, or maybe four, you'll wade around knee deep in June. And thus it is with every grief; it hurts our corns, but soon it's sped; the darkest, coldest night is brief, and sunshine glitters just ahead. My feet are frozen hard tonight, and yet I am a cheerful scout; I know that spring will come, all right, and April winds will thaw them out. It's true the wintertime is filled with things that bring my spirit care; but in the spring the birds will build their nests among my beard and hair. Let winter roar and do its worst, the gentle spring will soon be here, when winter griefs like bubbles burst, and in the azure disappear.

Humanizing the State

Editorial in the Springfield Republican.

In this country as well as in Ireland there should be interest in the discerning discussion of state and people which the Irish poet "A. E." (George Russell) contributes to the Irish Homestead. His sympathy is with the people; his judgment is that the state is triumphing. A year ago he prophesied that within a decade or two nobody in the British isles would be so isolated that he would not find the state striding in as overlord of life and industry. This drift the war has accelerated; he puts the time now at but two or three years: "Millions of people in these islands who had lived without bothering their heads about the state, who did their daily work, had their daily recreation, and never felt there was any great power about them in whose clutches they were held, are now indeed beginning to realize the state is indeed a gigantic deity, a jealous god, who will not be interfered with even by any god in the heavens, and who wants our lives and the labor of our hands to be at its absolute disposal."

To resist this great central drift is impossible, because the affairs of people are constantly becoming more closely linked: "How can we carry on personal and local affairs indifferent to the world outside Ireland when a long hand out of the world necessity seizes hold of our citizens and makes them into soldiers? How can we think only about our local affairs when a new invention neglected by us will impoverish us?" With all his admiration for the imaginative literature of Ireland he feels that something else is needed in this modern world where new discoveries are perpetually changing the character of industry, wresting control from one group and passing it to another; much that is noble and heroic in Irish literature is unrelated to modern life: "It found expression in the ancient clans; could it find expression in a modern factory?" The old world, he concludes, is gone, and the war has hastened its going: "No nation in future will be able to lead idyllic lives disconnected from world politics."

The question is no longer one of keeping the state remote and lethargic, for that is no longer possible; what thoughtful people must ask is whether it is possible to humanize the state, to remake it in the image of man so that it can be loved as well as feared. What, indeed, is the state but the sum total of the ideas in respect to it? "Whatever way millions of people regard the state, in that way the state, which is themselves collectively will act upon them. We can create a tyranny or a beneficent majesty as we will by our thoughts. If we regard it with fear, it will indeed be fearful. If we expect good from it, good will come. The state is the reflex of the most powerful mood among the people."

While this may seem a somewhat summary application of mental therapeutics to political ills, there is much in this way of putting it that is true and suggestive. How a dominant mood may react upon the state we have lately seen in the demand for preparedness. If that should conceivably lead to conscription, with the resultant reaction which a military education must have upon the mind of the people, we should have a fine example of the vicious circle that may be set up, a mood controlling the state, the state then controlling mood. Prussia has strikingly shown how far that process may be carried. But Germany, too, has strikingly illustrated the justice of "A. E.'s" view: "Nothing can bring about a unity among people of the social order, the happenings of every day, the economic system, do not daily impress upon the individual that his fortunes are bound up with the fortunes of his nation."

"How powerful an agency is put into the hands of the state in this growing dependence of the individual on the fortunes of the whole mass is obvious, and also the danger that in strengthening its hold by an appeal to selfish interests the state may make international antagonisms graver and more menacing and that, in turn, this peril from outside may force the people to submit to the sacrifice of their ancient liberties and the gradual establishment of a despotism not the less cruel and intolerable because originally based on the promotion of material welfare. In one of the eulogies of German efficiency which were the fashion just before the war, a writer in one of our best magazines declared that it was Germany's intention to make every German a skilled worker, with corresponding pay, leaving unskilled work to be done by a helot class of foreigners admitted for a limited time as they were needed. Like much that has been written for and against Germany, that may be an exaggeration, but even so, it serves to illustrate the peril to the world that may come from too close an identification of the state with the material prosperity of its subjects. Bad as trusts may be, they, at least, do not organize their workmen into armies to fight for supremacy or the assertion of economic superiority.

"A. E." is quite right; the state must be humanized; humanity must be put first. Corporations, it is said, have no soul; the state in its new form must not be allowed to become merely a bigger, more powerful and equally soulless corporation. Every day "the state strides in," and it is true of other countries than the British isles. The war has but hastened a process which modern conditions of life, industry and trade were gradually bringing about. If the drift is undirected or directed from above, it must result in the growth of a soulless state machine. The alternative is a democratic organization from below, a recasting of democratic principles and methods for the attainment of the unity and efficiency which the new times require, without impairment of liberty or the surrender of a nation's conscience to the keeping of bureaucratic officials. The reconstruction in England will be of a transcendent importance, and in a lesser degree the United States will be faced by some of the same problems which "A. E." sets forth.

Uncle Sam and Woodrow

Yes, sir, I was "all het up" and pretty near to boilin';
Seemed as if some thoughts inside of me were close to spoilin'
They were bad and they were bitter, and if I had spoken hasty,
I might have mentioned something which was rather tart than tasty.
There I was a-chewin' peppergrass and chile sauce and mustard
And wishin' I could catch some cuss and beat him to a custard,
And then I looked at Wilson and—he wasn't even flustered.

Yes, sir, there was Woodrow Wilson, going steady as a clock,
With an eye as soft as heaven and a chin like Plymouth Rock,
With a calmness all commendable
And sanity unendable,
So says I, "Well, I'm for Wilson, Woodrow Wilson the Dependable!"

I don't like women being killed and babies fed to fishes,
It makes me feel like callin' names and smashin' all the dishes.
And with all the world gone loony and a-cuttin' crazy capers,
The Ten Commandments gone to pot, among the scraps of papers,
I felt like cuttin' loose myself. Yes, sir, I 'most was ready
To jump into the whirlpool and flounder in the eddy,
But there was Wilson speakin'—and his voice was calm and steady.

Yes, sir, there was Woodrow Wilson, sitting tight and looking solemn,
As clear-eyed as a prophet and as clean-cut as a column.
Woodrow Wilson, the dependable,
The candid and commendable,
Yes, sir; today I'd almost say, he's Wilson, the Godsendable!

—Edmund Vance Cooke in the Detroit Times.

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Scattered Comments Taken From Minnesota Papers.

And You Can't Beat It.

Breckenridge Telegram: Wilkin county has had snow and cold, but its weather so far this winter has been ideal compared with the blizzards north and west and the floods south. For all-the-year-round weather it is hard to find the equal of Minnesota.

Showing It's Never Too Late.

Luverne Journal: A Rowena, S. D., man was kicked by a dead horse the other day and knocked unconscious. There is a story that ought to inspire many a supposed "dead one" to renewed activity.

Stay in Minnesota.

Sauk Rapids Sentinel: Oregon, the land of rain and roses, is not especially desirable as a winter resort just at this time. A paper published at Silverton, Or., has the following to say in last week's issue regarding the climatic conditions:

"With the mercury registering below freezing for several days and from ten inches to five feet of snow covering the ground in Oregon what can the letter writer say to his Eastern relative or friend about the Oregon climate? This is letter writing week in Oregon."

Minnesota has a climate as good as this, and what's the use of going 2,000 miles to wade around in slop and slush when a more invigorating atmosphere than Minnesota cannot be found at this time of the year?

Bet a Man Wrote This.

Lanesboro Levaug's Weekly: With present days' fashions it is often very difficult to decide whether a girl is dressed for an opera or an operation.

He's Very Cautious, in Some Ways.

Princeton News: It does not seem to have occurred to some blatant congressmen and blatherskite newspapers that it requires an act of congress to make war. President Wilson could not send the regular army into Mexico at once, nor could he send it all, without authority from the war-making power. Col. Roosevelt knows this, of course, but no one would suspect that he did from reading of his recent statements.

Overloading Poor Old Time.

Lancaster Herald: Time works wonders. It may even yet unearth a candidate or two for the vice presidency.

The Income Tax.

Warroad Pioneer: The income tax has passed the supreme court and been held constitutional, and will probably become the principal means for raising revenue for the national government. It is the best tax measure ever possessed by this country, in that it places the burden on those best able to bear it, and the present administration is entitled to credit for it.

An Annual Joke, But a Bum One.

St. Charles Union: Every year when the list of personal property taxes is published it is an additional illustration of the annual joke. Of all the hit and miss affairs, inequality and wild guesses, the assessment of personal taxes is so rank that it is in a class by itself. Probably it is no worse in Fillmore county than in most towns. The most unsatisfactory feature of the whole business is that there does not seem to be any remedy as long as there are personal property taxes.

Michigan Musings

Brief Paragraphs From the Wolverine State Press.

Rather Wild, Yes.

Calumet News: Our old friend, Dr. Frederick A. Cook, reports that the wild men of Borneo aren't wild at all. "Their only wild traits," he says, "are head hunting and polygamy." Well, we provincials call 'em fairly wild traits, yes, fairly wild.

Almost Universal, Indeed.

Marquette Chronicle: There is a widespread feeling among the office holders that if their salaries were advanced they could save the government a lot of money.

Tut! Tut!

Hancock Copper Journal: The young woman whose suitcase is alleged to have been opened and searched by Federal agents at Duluth, said to be looking for contraband whisky, would probably not worry whether or not neutral mails were being held up and searched if only Uncle Sam's agents would leave American females and their belongings alone.

A Hot Campaign.

Marquette Mining Journal: Meanwhile, it appears that interest in the gubernatorial campaign in Michigan is confined to the candidates and their respective managers.

Curious.

Calumet News: "Harvey Says U. S. is Hated by World."

So? Then how curious it is that people from all parts of the world flock to the United States as a place of residence! Do they love their own countries so very much that they wouldn't live in them on any account? Poor old United States! "Hated by all the world," hegged of by all the world, and emigrated to by all the world.

Here Are a Couple of Fine Jobs.

Houghton Mining Gazette: There ought to be a commission to prevent legislatures from passing fool laws. And in every state there ought to be a commission to kill off all the obsolete and ridiculous laws that have been on our law books and have been ignored for years and years and years.

Not So Much Since the Postal Banks Were Opened.

Bay City Times: The Michigan and Minnesota iron mining companies have announced an increase in wage. This ought to increase the foreign money order receipts.

A Comrade in Misfortunes

New York World: To gentlemen who concentrate their sympathies exclusively on the woes of capital and the persecutions of property we recommend the reading of the case of Henry Diehm in yesterday's World.

Diehm's life for many years consisted in getting up every day at 3 a. m., beginning work at 5 a. m., finishing work at 6:30 p. m. and getting home at 8 p. m. On Saturdays he went on working till 7:30 p. m. and got home at 9 p. m. He worked thirteen and a half hours a day, consumed three and a half hours a day in getting to and from his work, allowed himself five and a half hours of sleep and had for purposes of recreation one-half hour each day. He got no vacation and received as salary $15 a week.

Last Monday he wrote his wife: "Good-by to all. Forgive me for this act; I am tired of getting up at 3 a. m. for work and getting home at 8 p. m. Please, Emma, give me a grave."

Then, unmindful of the dignity and responsibilities of labor, he took a shotgun and blew out his brains.

It may cheer up harassed men of property to realize that men of labor sometimes have their troubles too.

Howling Success.

Life: "Was your bachelors' supper a success?"

"A success? Wonderful! Why, we had to postpone the wedding two days."

Mind Reading.

Harpers: Student (writing home)—How do you spell "financially"?

Other—F-i-n-a-n-c-i-a-l-l-y, and there are two r's in "embarrassed".

Talks on Thrift

Issued by the American Bankers' Association.

Getting Your Money Out of the Bank.

If the bank rendered no other service to the community than to protect its valuables it would render a useful one; but it would be a mouse-trap proposition, you could only go one way; but the bank makes it easier to get money out than in, and in the outgoing process assumes risks and renders benefits too often lost sight of in the busy whirl of business.

We take many things for granted and live in a matter-of-fact age. We want our morning paper at the breakfast table with never a delay and with little thought of what it costs to collect, transmit, type, print and deliver the news. We want our train on the dot or we get impatient. We want our milk and our coal, blizzard or no blizzard. We likewise expect the bank to do our business smoothly, efficiently, and without thought of the cost or the risks attending.

When your bank hands you a check book, it gives you license to draw as many checks, in as large or as small sums as you wish, with the only provision (except in certain cases where a minimum balance is required) that you do not overdraw, and promise to honor your checks as presented as long as your balance is sufficient to pay them.

Whether you want to pay your creditor in the next block, or a thousand miles away, the checking privilege of a bank account permits you to make your payment with ease, safety and despatch.

When you mail your check your trouble is over and the bank's has just begun, for the bank warrants to you three things, all for your own protection and at its own risk. It is well to know them.

It guarantees (a) That it will pay only the checks you have signed. If your name is forged and the bank pays the check, it cannot charge the amount to your account; (b) That it will pay only in the sum originally drawn. If some one gets your check and raises the amount, making it apparently a genuine check, the bank can only charge the amount in which you originally drew the check, unless it can show you were grossly careless in so drawing that you invited fraud. Therefore be careful to draw your checks properly; (c) To pay to the party to whom you ordered the amount paid and none other. If the check gets into the hands of strangers who forge the indorsement, so that the party to whom you ordered the money paid does not get it, the payment is at its risk, and you are harmless.

All this is ultimately for your good as a depositor. You know that your account cannot be drawn against except on your order. You know that the party you want to receive payment gets it. You get back the most perfect voucher known to the business world. Many a dispute has been settled and loss and law suit avoided by producing bank vouchers that told in no uncertain way that payment had been made according to the intent of the drawer. Therefore for your own good you ought to keep your money in a bank, and draw it out by check.

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Our Lord Jesus Christ, who died for us, that, whether we wake or sleep, we should live together with Him.—I Thess. v, 9, 10.

Be ours the faith that sees Thee stand
Beside the throne of God on high,
To succor with Thy strong right hand
Thy soldiers when to Thee they cry.

Be ours the love, divine and free,
Which asks forgiveness for our foes;
Which draws, in life, its life from Thee,
And, dying, finds in Thee repose.
—J. F. Thrupp.

"If He has done so much for me, what can I do for Him?" is the question which a Christian life should answer. He may ask little or much. He may demand heroic sacrifices, or He may require only punctual attention to daily and prosaic duty. But He has a right to make any demands He will, and it should be a point of honor with every Christian to satisfy Him. It is this simple self-surrender which makes death, whenever or wherever it may come, a "falling asleep in Christ."—Henry Parry Liddon.

Twenty Years Ago

From The Herald of this date, 1896.

Charles A. Towne, Duluth's representative in congress, delivered a speech in the house yesterday afternoon that was one of the sensations of the present congress. He won a triumph that has rarely been equalled by a new member. It was a speech in support of the restoration of silver as standard money and was illustrated with charts. He spoke for an hour and a half to a full house and crowded galleries, and when he sat down there was a rush from both sides of the chamber to the center aisle, where he sat, and for five minutes the chairman was unable to restore order, while old and young members overwhelmed Duluth's representative with their congratulations.

There are many West Duluth candidates for city offices. There are six acknowledged aspirants for the office of street commissioner of the Eighth ward. J. M. Martin is said to be after the office of assistant city attorney. A. J. Fillatrault is said to be seeking a position as detective. James Connolly would like to be a court officer, and W. J. Nelson is anxious to get Jailer Fredell's place.

Prof. R. B. Doane, formerly of Duluth, now Chicago, played on the large organ at the Auditorium before 4,000 people at the Burns anniversary celebration last week and was enthusiastically applauded.

Mrs. H. M. Backus has gone to New Orleans, where she will spend several weeks with friends.

Mrs. Bernt Johnson and family have gone to Tallapoosa, Ga.

Mrs. Charles Horton will leave next week for Bermuda.

Mrs. S. S. Williamson has gone to Washington, D. C., where she will spend the remainder of the winter.

W. E. Dorwin, the well-known contractor, and W. H. Smith of Duluth are considering a proposition from the fee owners to operate the Hale mine.

Joseph Z. Heltemes, special deputy revenue collector, states that in April a rectifying department will be placed in the wholesale liquor store of B. Heller, and some Duluth man probably will be appointed gauger.

THE PETITION AND THE CITY ATTORNEY

To the Editor of The Herald:

The city attorney has acted upon the request of some of the commissioners to make a diagnosis of the petition in conformity with his understanding of the charter. This he has done. He acts as doctor, nurse, coffin-maker and undertaker, and it is he who will try to inject the embalming fluid into what appears to him to be a corpse, so that it may never come back to life.

How he is able to mutilate the English language that is used in the charter to mean something that it does not mean, is beyond my understanding, as it is hard to understand what else is meant in the following than what is said:

"If during said thirty (30) days a petition signed by qualified electors of the city, equal in number to at least ten (10) per centum of the total ballots cast at the last preceding general municipal election, protesting against the passage of such ordinance."

There is nothing said about a voter voting at the last election. It is qualified electors. He may as well try to say that a person who did not vote at the last election cannot vote at the next one. There would be as much common sense expressed in the one as the other.

The question may be raised "Does the city attorney understand enough about the English language, to be able to render an opinion as to its meaning as used in the charter?"

I have secured 177 signers to the petition, these men were all voters, and yet under the ruling of the attorney 77 names have been stricken off the list.

Those you would destroy you must first make mad; the rest is easy.

POEMS ASKED FOR.

The Herald acknowledges with thanks the receipt of the following: "The Dying Nun" and "The Little Girl That Played Upon My Knee" from James M. Holt of Duluth.

Requests have been received for the following:

"Mother Machree" and "Young Charlotte," from Babe McCann of Gilbert, Minn.

The Curse of an Aching Heart.

You made me think you cared for me
And I believed in you.
You told me things you never meant
And made me think them true.
I gambled in the game of love;
I played my heart, and lost;
I'm now a wreck upon life's sea,
Alone I pay the cost.
Chorus:
You made me what I am today, I hope you're satisfied;
You dragged and dragged me down until my soul within me died.
You shattered each and every dream;
you fooled me from the start.
And though you're not true,
May God bless you—
That's the curse of an aching heart.

The dreams I dreamed of future plans
You smiled on, though you knew
Way down within your faithless heart
They never would come true.
Still farther on you dragged me
Till my paradise I saw,
Then, with one word, you finished all
My dreams forever more.
Chorus.

The Dying Nun.

Let the air blow in upon me,
Let me see the midnight skies;
Stand back, sisters, from around me.
God! it is so hard to die!

Sister Martha, Sister Martha,
You were kinder than the rest,
Hold my head, and let me lean it,
While I live, upon your breast.

Raise the pillow up, oh Martha,
Sister Martha, you are kind.
Come and stand alone beside me
Ere I leave you all behind.

Hold my hand so cold and frozen.
Once it was so soft and white,
And the ring that falls down from it
Clasped my finger round so tight!

Little ring, they thought so worthless
That they let me keep it there;
Only a plain, golden circlet
With a lock of Douglas' hair.

Oh, my father! Oh, my mother!
Will they not forget the past
When they hear some stranger tell them
How their stray lamb died at last?

I was thinking of some music
That I heard long, long ago.
Oh, how sweet the nuns were singing
In their chapel down below.

But that strain of heavenly music
Drowns that holy midnight dream,
And I hear the wild waltz pealing,
And I float away with him.

I am coming, Douglas, Douglas,
Where you are. I, too, am there,
Freed at last. I come my dearest!
Death brings back your little Clare.

Out of all who used to love me
Who's to weep when I am dead?
None but you, dear Sister Martha,
Kept the last watch beside my bed.

Sister Martha! Sister Martha!
Has the moon gone down so soon?
For my cell seems cold as winter,
Though I know it's only June.

Sisters, in your white robes lying,
Sleeping 'neath the June moonlight,
Comes there in your dreams a message—
"Clara dies alone tonight"?

"The Little Girl That Played Upon My Knee."

It's been many long years that have passed and gone
Since I left my own native home,
I left there the scenes of my childhood so dear,
O'er the dark, rolling seas for to roam.

I left an aged father there;
A mother that was dear to me.
I left a brother and a sister at home,
And a little girl that played upon my knee.

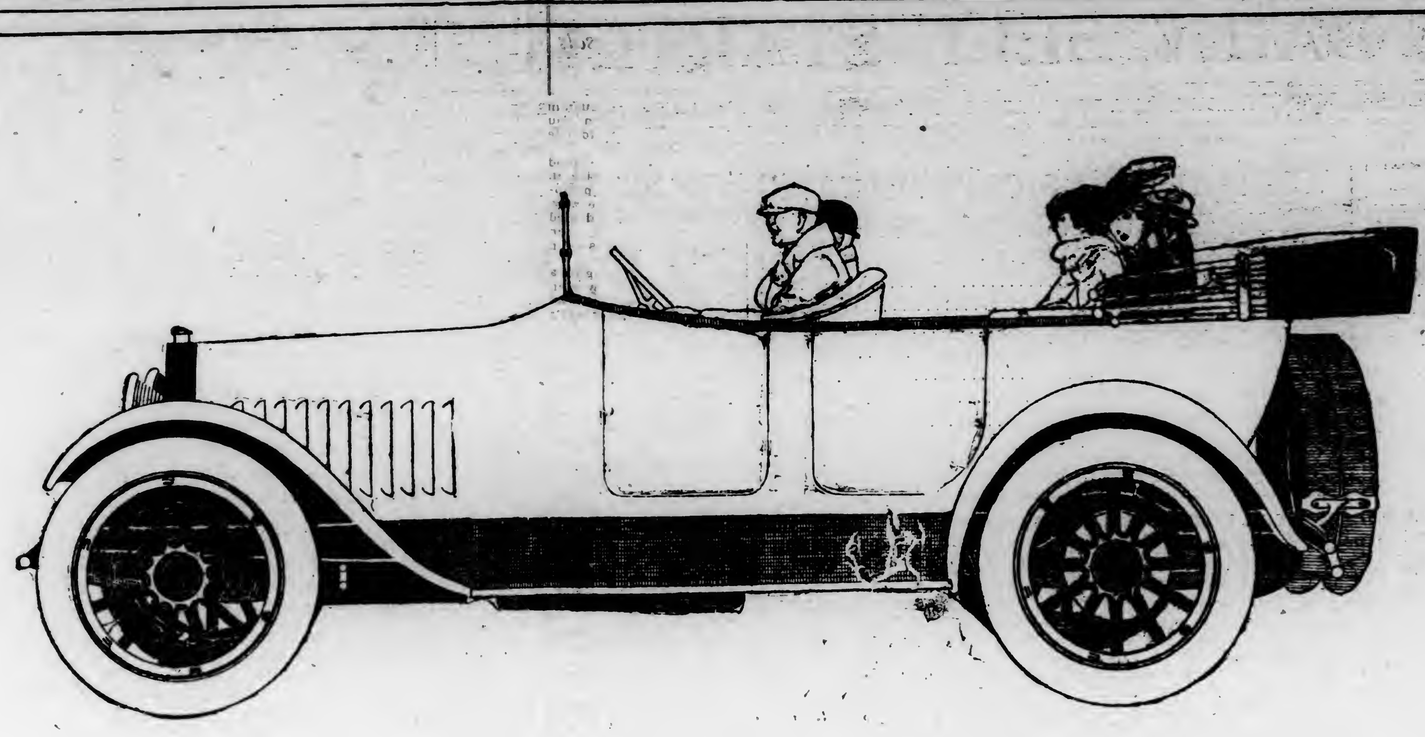

Kind fortunes had smiled on me for a while Until poverty came. Now I'm free,
For gold can ne'er buy the happiness for me
Like the little girl that played upon my knee.

Does she ever remember, or has she forgot
The hours of pleasure with me?
I sigh when I think of the many happy hours
And the little girl that played upon my knee.

I am homeward bound, with the thoughts of old Joy
Though rambling so far o'er the sea.
I shall soon see my own native home
And the little girl that played upon my knee.

What means that great long funeral train?
Sad faces, they all seem to be.
Yonder hearse bears the form of a maiden so fair.
It's the little girl that played upon my knee.

I'm tired now of life. I care not to live.
How lonely this world seems to me.
Go and bury me beside the one I love so dear,
The little girl that played upon my my knee.

CHALMERS CARS ARE RIVETED SECURELY TO THE REQUIREMENTS OF TOMORROW

Chalmers builds—I sell—you buy, not merely for today, but for tomorrow.

When I sell you a Chalmers car, I am looking into the many tomorrows that stretch ahead.

The struggle of motor engineering does not end with the production of speed, power, safety, comfort, beauty.

It is a battle with time itself.

Just how many years the Six-30 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers I am selling today for $1050 will stand up and obey your bidding, I don't know, Hugh Chalmers doesn't know. Nobody knows.

Time has not yet set an age limit upon this magnificent power beast.

The first Chalmers 30 was born back in 1909—seven years ago. And "Old Reliable," the first Chalmers 30 built, is still rolling up the mileage after over 300,000 miles of hardest road service.

But it is a greater and better car than its forefather. Into it has been bred and built a compact summary of motor eugenics.

This car delivers 45 H. P. at the former cost of 20 to 25 H. P. It gets twice the mileage per gallon of gasoline that many of its contemporaries get.

Here is high-speed, high power, high mileage, along with amazing fuel-thrift.

Engineering has taken a new, sharp turn. And Chalmers leads in wringing high speed and power from an engine with out sacrifice of operating economy.

The great 3400 r. p. m. engine is an insurance policy against the rising trend of gasoline prices.

Its engine strength is reflected in its car strength—it meets the shocks of hardest usage without faltering or complaint. Every gram of material is selected from the raw with always an eye to its lasting qualities. An army of 226 inspectors watches over every detail of construction.

Chalmers cars are riveted to the future with all the skill known to science.

TELEPHONE OPERATOR AT CAPITOL SUSPENDED

Washington, Feb. 9.—A telephone operator on the capitol switchboard was suspended from duty yesterday following charges made by Representative Neeley of West Virginia, in the Democratic caucus, that private conversations of Democratic congressmen were being reported to Republicans. Mr. Neeley said that, among other conversations of his which "leaked," was one regarding proposed impeachment charges against a West Virginia Federal judge.

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Thickness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant, remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggly and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.—Advertisement.

WHAT DULUTH IS READING

The Herald's Weekly Review of New Books in the Public Library and the Books That Are Most in Demand.

Library readers may have their fads and take up new lines of literature now and then, but literature on the European war and the new spirit of patriotism springing up in America is just as prominent and continuous in its appearance on the reading table as bread is on the dining table. The drama, fiction, poetry, and the short story are all relegated to the background except as they bear on these all important topics.

Presses Kept Busy.

Loads of books are being put out by publishers on these topics right now. Many writers who have gone afield after "dope" for their books, have had time to get manuscripts out, and the new books are beginning to come off the presses like bullets from a machine gun.

The year 1916 is still in its swaddling clothes, but already it has produced a number of books now on the shelves at the public library. These books are from the pens of good authors and look interesting. Some of them have appeared in magazine form.

That women are bearing a prominent part in the great conflict over the water is apparent from the number of new books handling this phase of the war. So great has become this phase of the war that there is renewed interest in "The Life of Clara Barton," who was called "the angel of the battlefield" during the Civil war. A new handsomely bound volume on the life of this famous woman is on the library shelves.

"The Red Cross in War" is the self-explanatory title of a new book by Mary Francis Billington. Red Cross work in all the war of the last twenty-five years is discussed in this interesting volume.

"New Women and the War" by Will Irwin is a new book by this popular author, and shows how prominent a place woman occupies in the new field of activity into which she has been thrown.

Robert Herrick, well-known novelist and historical writer, has just come out with "The World Decision," a good-sized volume that treats conditions in various countries involved in the European war. The attitude, relations, and activities of each country are discussed and many interesting sidelights are thrown upon this subject that appear new.

Book on Roosevelt.

The story of Julian Street on "The Most Interesting American" (Theodore Roosevelt), which has been published in magazine form, is now on the library shelves. Mr. Street was accused of being a political press agent when this story appeared in a magazine, but those who have read the book declare that the author has made a very accurate study of the personality of the "Colonel."

There is much interest in holiday literature just now, as February is the month of holidays. Lincoln's birthday is on the twelfth, Valentine's day on the fourteenth and Washington's birthday on the twenty-second. The schools especially are studying various phases of the topics involved, and books are being called for many times daily.

Entertained at White House.

Washington, Feb. 9.—President and Mrs. Wilson entertained formally at dinner at the White House last night in honor of the justices of the supreme court. In addition to Chief Justice White and the associate justices, the guests included Attorney General and Mrs. Gregory, several senators and representatives and their wives and Mme. Schumann-Heink, who sang after dinner.

THE "COME-BACK"

The "Come-back" man was really never down-and-out. His weakened condition because of over-work, lack of exercise, improper eating and living, demands stimulation to satisfy the cry for a health-giving appetite and the refreshing sleep essential to strength. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules, the National Remedy of Holland, will do the work. They are wonderful! Three of these capsules each day will put a man on his feet before he knows it; whether his trouble comes from uric acid poisoning, the kidneys, gravel or stone in the bladder, stomach derangement or other ailments that befall the over-zealous American. Don't wait until you are entirely down-and-out, but take them today. Your druggist will gladly refund your money if they do not help you. 25c, 50c and $1.00 per box. Accept no substitutes. Look for the name GOLD MEDAL on every box. They are the pure, original, imported Haarlem Oil Capsules.

JANUARY REPORT OF WORK FARM

Shows Low Cost of Meals and Excellent Earnings By Prisoners.

During January, 1916, 123 men were received at the county work farm, according to the monthly report of Supt. Fred Ward, which was yesterday afternoon submitted to the work farm commission at its February meeting. The report also showed that since the institution has been running—scarcely two years—the number of men received has been 2,419. The daily average population at the farm last month was 111. The daily population ranged from 97 to 129.

The report also shows that the cost of serving meals to the men at the farm was 7 cents per meal last month. The running expenses for the month are computed at $4,400 and the earnings of the institution $3,100. Supt. Ward now has a crew of seventy men working on County Ditch No. 5 and more than one mile and a half of ditch has been constructed by men serving sentences.

AMERICAN SURGEON WITH THE RUSSIANS

Has Performed More Than 3,000 Operations at the Front.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Petrograd, Jan. 10.—More than 3,000 surgical operations, most of them close to the fighting line and with the roar of artillery in his ears, is the past year's record of Dr. Eugene Hurd, until recently the only American surgeon at the front with the Russian forces. Dr. Hurd is chief surgeon in charge of the Twenty-ninth, known as the "Grodno Nobility" Flying Column. He has the rank of colonel in the regular army. His physique—he stands 6 feet 3 inches in height and weighs 225 pounds—makes him a conspicuous figure, even among the big fellows of the Siberian corps among whom he works. He has acquired a reputation among the simple-minded soldiers for doing the impossible. A soldier returning from the hospital told his fellows that the "big American surgeon could take a hand that had been shot off, patch it together and put it back on good as new."

Hurd has been reported several times killed, wounded or missing. He has made a number of hurried getaways, but he has always turned up with his outfit when the smoke cleared. His column was outfitted by the noble families of Grodno soon after the outbreak of the war. Then they looked about for a surgeon to take charge. About that time Hurd, who was in Seattle, was offering his services to Russia. Through the Russian consul in Seattle his offer was accepted and he sailed on Nov. 28 for Vladivostok. He was at once sent to Grodno with a contract to serve during the term of the war. He believed he was giving his services gratis, but several months later, when he had time to have his contract translated, he found that he was to receive 400 roubles monthly.

More Pay for Superintendents.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 9.—That the county school superintendents of this state must cease to be subjects of philanthropists and must demand of their county boards and of the state legislature a more reasonable salary was the opinion voiced by Supt. C. W. Meisnet of Manitowoc at the annual meeting yesterday of the county superintendents of the state.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy — If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle.

Your doctor will tell you 90 per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action, yet always effective.

They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

First Car Made Here in 1905.

J. J. Galway, who was killed in a sawmill accident in Idaho six years ago, built the first automobile in Duluth.

This is the claim made by his son, Earl Galway, who said this morning that the elder Galway built an entire car here in 1905, the two-cylinder, eight-horse power steam engine having been made by the National Iron works. Mr. Galway made the wheels and body himself and he drove the car for two years, according to his son, who said that the machine was sold in 1907 and has since disappeared.

Mr. Galway was employed as superintendent of the Leaure Lumber company at the time he built his steam car.

"Regarding service, we will do all that we can to please you, but the Reo cars do not seem to give their owners any trouble. I have handled them for many months and, outside of accidents, have not had one complaint. They seem to be foolproof. We claim that we have a perfect car and will be glad to show you our line at the show. I also handle the famous Stutz, the fastest car in the world, and it is attracting as much attention as any car. It is considered the best made car in America."

STUDENTS AT BELOIT HAVE MORE TROUBLES

Now Want Sunday Vesper Service at College Made Voluntary.

Beloit, Wis., Feb. 9.—Beloit college students want the Sunday vesper, which, with freshman bible class, Archbishop Messmer of Milwaukee proscribes for Catholic students, made voluntary. They expressed that sentiment by a large majority at a referendum, the vote from which was suppressed until editors of The Round Table, the student publication, made it known today.

Few students voted on questions relating to proposed changes in the hours of vesper service and bible class. The coeds were the only ones who favored continuance of the service as compulsory. By a tacit understanding, none of the Catholic students participated in the referendum.

This student sentiment will be submitted to President E. D. Eaton when he returns from a Western tour of several months' duration about March 10. Since it was President Eaton who introduced the vesper service into the college routine, it is thought that the student opinion will not have much weight.

Some members of the faculty object to the referendum, saying that the student council has no right to legislate upon such a matter which they assert is purely administrational.

President Eaton also will be greeted when he returns by a statement signed by hundreds of Protestants of Beloit, expressing the belief that the college should "stand firm on what always has been its platform of compulsory religious education."

ROBBERY CASE ON TRIAL AT ASHLAND

On Nov. 17, Waino Antille and Matt Hakola were held up near Marengo at the point of a gun. Hakola was shot by one of the highwaymen when he refused to throw up his hands and attempted to escape. Antille was relieved of his roll of about $90. The gun-shot wound received by Hakola nearly resulted in his death.

GRANDMOTHER SAYS:

Horehound or thoroughwort tea for the fever—goose oil and turpentine to rub on for colds and soreness of lungs or throat were the remedies used fifty years ago.

Now newer remedies have taken the place of the old—a tablet of aspirin or a capsule of quinine for the fever without the old bitter tea—and Goosolene to rub on the chest or throat, instead of the old goose oil and turpentine, gives quick relief, for the congestion, soreness or pain.

For the little ones Baby Goos-olene is the best to use when they have a chest cold—just rub on Baby Goos-olene, cover with a soft warm cloth and see how quickly they get relief. You can get either Baby Goose-olene or Goos-olene at any drug store in 25c tubes.—Advertisement.

SENDING AID BIG PROBLEM

Poles Will Discuss Best Means of Forwarding Relief to Sufferers.

Austrians Hold Up Ship—Contributions Foot Up to $1,227.

Just how the starving Poles in the war zone of Europe may secure the relief provided for them by people of the United States is the problem now confronting relief workers. Duluthians have now contributed $1,227 to relieve distress in Poland, and the report that the Austrians have plundered the ship bearing foodstuffs, has brought consternation among Poles in Duluth. It is also a problem according to the local committee as to whether England and France will allow food to be sent into Poland for fear the Central allies will take possession of it.

Protection From Germany.

According to Rev. Fr. Iciek, chairman of the committee on Polish relief in Duluth, the German government has given assurance that protection will be afforded local and imported supplies for Polish sufferers, so long as the food is distributed by a committee under the proper guarantee.

"Of a total of sixty-seven boxes recently sent to Poland through Austria, a greater part failed to reach their destination," declared Rev. Fr. Iciek. "Germany allowed food supplies to pass unmolested. It would be much cheaper to buy the foodstuffs in the United States if the provisions could be sent securely. Prices for food at the scene of Poland's distress are exorbitant."

"There are said to be some cereals and potatoes available in parts of Poland from which by mobilization a kind of a minimum ration might be provided, but a large portion of the items of dietary do not exist. The shortage of these foods in Germany has rendered the condition of Poland almost helpless."

New Funds Announced.

According to A. Grabarkievicz there are several funds that were raised by Duluth Poles that have not been reported to The Herald; also some contributions that have not been received yet by the Polish committee or The Herald. The total amount of the receipts will be available in a few days, and the committee will meet next Tuesday night to go over the work already done.

Mr. Grabarkievicz said today that St. Peter's and Paul's Polish churches had raised $214 at a celebration on Sunday, Jan. 23; also $390 on Jan. 30 by St. Mary's parish. Miss Victoria Russell also raised $165 from the sale of cushions, which she has donated to the fund.

Three dollars more was reported by Mr. Grabarkievicz that has not been acknowledged until today. The total fund follows:

ARCHBISHOP INSTALLED

Escorted to Cathedral.

This morning church societies in full regalia escorted him from his residence to the cathedral, but because of a possibility of bad weather no arrangements were made for a lengthy or elaborate procession. The ceremony of installation, however, was marked with pomp.

At the door of the cathedral Archbishop Mundelein was met by Rt. Rev. M. J. Fitzsimmons, who has been administrator of the archdiocese since Archbishop Quigley's death. Followed by bishops from dioceses throughout the country—about fifty in all, and more than 800 Chicago clergymen, Father Mundelein was escorted to the sanctuary with officers of the pontifical mass. Kneeling before the altar the new archbishop heard prayers by Monsignor Fitzsimmons, and ascending to the altar, gave his blessing and retired to the throne.

Papal Bulls Read.

Addresses by the apostolic delegate, Father Fitzsimmons, and John A. Lynch, one of the lay leaders of the church in Chicago, were followed by the reading of the papal bulls proclaiming the appointment of Father Mundelein as archbishop.

The 800 clergymen of the Chicago diocese, in procession then proceeded to the throne of Archbishop Mundelein and kneeling made their act of obedience, each kissing his ring.

Solemn pontifical high mass, celebrated by Monsignor Bonzano, assisted by the Very Reverend M. J. Fitzsimmons with Reverend F. O'Brien as deacon of the mass, Rev. David McDonald as sub-deacon, and Dr. D. J. Dunne as master of ceremonies, followed. Special music was provided by selected organists of Chicago churches and the Catholic College boys, under the direction of Prof. Benjamin Wortman, organist at Holy Name.

Takes Oath of Obedience.

Archbishop Mundelein then was vested with full pontificals and proceeding to the altar, knelt before the apostolic delegate and took the oath of obedience to the Holy See. Monsignor Bonzano cloaked him with the pallium, emblematic of his office of archbishop, closing the ceremony.

Because Holy Name cathedral seats only 1,800, it was necessary to provide tickets for admittance. The number of visiting clergy and officials of the diocese who took part in the installation made it impossible for any considerable number of visitors to witness the ceremony, yet crowds gathered outside the structure. Squads of police were detailed to prevent crushes at the doors.

Youngest Archbishop.

Archbishop Mundelein, who is 43 years old, is the youngest priest ever to be entrusted with an archdiocese of the importance of Chicago. He was born in Brooklyn and finished his preliminary education in Manhattan college, New York, in 1889, being the youngest man to whom this college ever granted a degree. He began his theological course at the Propaganda Elde in Rome in 1890, and was ordained into the priesthood in 1895.

In 1906 Pope Pius designated Archbishop Mundelein as domestic prelate, bringing to him the titles of right reverend and monsignor. In 1907 he was selected as a member of the Ancient Academy of Arcadi—the only man in the United States upon whom this honor ever was conferred. In 1909 the honorary title of bishop of Loryma was given him, and in the same year he was made auxiliary bishop of Brooklyn.

Heads Largest Diocese.

He assumes on behalf of the bishopric the ownership of property worth approximately $50,000,000.

He is ecclesiastical ruler of a Roman Catholic community of 1,400,000 men, women and children.

He holds religious authority over 700 priests and has executive control of 450 churches and missions, 250 colleges, academies, parochial schools and other educational institutions and nearly 50 hospitals, asylums and similar enterprises.

act on the sub-committee's report and senators who are not on one side or the other professed to see no particular significance in the action.

Within the memory of present senators such a nomination never has been inquired into except behind closed doors. Members of the judiciary subcommittee, however, deemed it advisable in view of the public interest demonstrated in Mr. Brandeis' nomination to hold the hearings in public with the consent of the senate. Senator Chilton, chairman of the subcommittee, made this announcement several days ago.

Protestants to be Heard First.

Protestants against the appointment of Mr. Brandeis are first to be heard, but the subcommittee also has a flood of petitions from individuals and organizations urging his confirmation. These will be considered later. Witnesses who have been summoned to appear in connection with protests, include Clifford Thorne, railroad commissioner of Iowa, who wishes to be heard with regard to Mr. Brandeis conduct of the railroad 5 per cent rate case; S. W. Winslow, president of the United Shoe Machinery company, with which Mr. Brandeis was once affiliated as counsel; P. J. Lennox and James J. Sparrow of Boston; C. W. Barron, of the Boston News bureau; Thomas C. Spelling of New York; Joseph M. Teal of Portland, Or., and Lieut. Governor John M. Eshleman of Califofrnia.

How long the hearings will be continued members of the subcommittee do not predict, but they say the inquiry would be a thorough one.

Thorne First Witness.

Clifford Thorne, chairman of the Iowa railroad commission, was the first witness. He told of his connection with shippers and state railroad commissioners' organizations opposing increases in freight rates to the Eastern roads before the interstate commerce commission in 1910 and 1913. He said that he was first asked to participate in the 1913 case by Mr. Brandeis. Thorne declined, but later agreed when Henry Martin of Kansas withdrew from the case to become vice governor of the Philippines.

The interstate commerce commission, he said, indicated the fundamental question to be determined was:

"Are the railroads entitled to more revenue and if so, where shall the revenue be secured?"

Mr. Thorne said his appearance before the committee was at the request of Chairman Chilton.

"At the outset two facts stand out, it appears to me," Mr. Thorne declared. "In the first place I believe the nominee before this committee is guilty of infidelity, of breach of faith and unprofessional conduct in connection with one of the greatest cases of this generation.

"In the second place, in open court hearing, while acting as special counsel, Mr. Brandeis committed himself to the proposition that the net return of 7½ per cent above all expenses, all interest on debts, on capital stock of railroads was inadequate, or to use his own words, 'negligible.' This had been held adequate by the commission in 1910."

Reviewed Proceedings.

Mr. Thorne said he was uncertain how far he should go into details, but began a review of proceedings in the big rate cases. Mr. Brandeis, he said, characterized his testimony as "wonderful" and suggested it be published at once, so the public could see the other side to the question.

Thorne said he suggested that Mr. Brandeis in view of his intimate relations with Senator La Follette, might get the testimony printed as a public document.

Mr. Thorne interrupted his narrative to say that in the 1910 case Mr. Brandeis had limited his activities to showing "if the railroads are entitled to more revenue, how shall it be secured?"

Returning to a description of his testimony he declared he was congratulated upon it by attorneys and representatives of many interests. Mr. Brandeis and he participated in cross-examination of railroad witnesses and their relations "were most friendly."

HAIR COMING OUT?

Dandruff causes a feverish irritation of the scalp, the hair roots shrink, loosen and then the hair comes out fast. To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a 25-cent bottle of Danderine at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it into the scalp. After a few applications the hair stops coming out and you can't find any dandruff.—Advertisement.

PICKET SAYS SMITH RECEIVED HALF OF PROCEEDS

ated an all-inclusive investigation of the state's finances.

This investigation is to be conducted by Andrew Fritz, state public examiner, who began proceedings the moment the order came from the state audit board by sending out a call to all banks which are carrying state funds or securities to make full report forthwith.

While the board of audit was initiating this investigation, Governor Burnquist and W. J. Stevenson, acting attorney general was in consultation, seeking some legal means for obtaining the resignation of Walter J. Smith, state treasurer.

Hundreds of inquiries are pouring into the offices of the state auditor and state treasurer, as to the status of various bonds, warrants and securities. Especially do these interrogations come from school districts which are awaiting money from loans applied for and approved.

The law, though it gives the governor arbitrary power to remove a county treasurer, provides that before the state treasurer can be removed complaint must be made to the governor by some citizen. Following this, the governor must appoint a commissioner to investigate and he can not act until that commissioner has reported back.

Hope Smith Will Resign.

There were suggested at this conference some drastic methods of obtaining the same results by a round-about way, but it was decided to await developments, it being hoped that Mr. Smith will solve the problem by tendering his resignation.

In fact, there was talk among the friends of the state treasurer of making arrangements for him to resign, and at the same time to arrange with the prosecuting authorities of Ramsey county for agreement for bonds for Mr. Smith, pending the action of the Ramsey county grand jury, the bond to remain in force should the jury indict Mr. Smith.

Mr. Smith is now being cared for at a Minneapolis sanatorium. His condition was said by his friends to be serious today. He is threatened with pneumonia, his friends announced. He is also said to be suffering from a nervous breakdown.

Guard at Smith's Door.

Last night Detective McKinley of the St. Paul police force sat outside the door of the treasurer's room and today Detective Conway was on guard. They had been detailed by Richard D. O'Brien, county attorney of Ramsey county.

The police guard over the state treasurer was initiated last night after Robert C. Picket, employed in the auditor's office as clerk to the investment board, had been arrested.

Picket is said to have made a clean breast of everything to Mr. O'Brien. He related five transactions, involving a little more than $28,000 and said that he and Mr. Smith had shared evenly in the spoils.

Today Picket was arraigned in municipal court in St. Paul but without a formal charge being placed against him. His case was continued to Feb. 16 and the court remanded him to jail without setting any bail.

Investment Board Meets.

The state investment board, which has charge of the permanent trust funds involved in the irregularities, met yesterday afternoon at the capitol and took no action. Governor Burnquist, as a member of the board, explained that as chief executive he can not do anything until some citizen files a complaint against the state treasurer charging malfeasance in office.

The attorney general's office, through its assistant, Mr. Stevenson, maintains that it would have to pass upon any such complaint, and therefore could not make a complaint.

Fred B. Snyder, another member of the board, declined to take action himself. Mr. Snyder declared that in his opinion the state treasurer should have resigned before this.

Mr. Preus thought that the treasurer should be given a hearing.

Commission Is Necessary.

The governor explained that in the event a complaint is filed, the procedure requires that a commission be appointed to take evidence and determine whether the evidence supports a charge of malfeasance.

At the investment board meeting, Auditor Preus told of an interview Preus and Assistant Attorney General Stevenson had with Picket. Preus said Picket forged the $18,000 warrant and turned it over to Treasurer Smith. In some way, Preus told the board, the warrant was cashed. Picket did not get any of the money, but was later loaned $2,000 by Treasurer Smith, and also was given 2,000 shares of stock in the Resilient Wheel company, a patent automobile wheel concern.

The $18,000 was supposed to be on deposit in the First National bank of Biwabik, and for this amount Treasurer Smith gave Preus a check on the bank. When Stevenson and Preus visited the bank. Preus told the board, they found only $9,000, but Fred Myers, a banker and friend of Treasurer Smith gave his certified check for $18,000, which guaranteed to the state of Minnesota the whole amount at issue.

What Picket Confessed.

The confession made by Picket stated that his first wrongful act took place in 1913, two years before Mr. Preus became state auditor. A warrant for $4,200 on a bond issued by School District No. 48 of St. Louis county had been cashed following his forgery of the signature of the treasurer of the district. This money was split, half to himself and half to Treasurer Smith, Picket stated. The warrant was destroyed. This warrant, Picket said, was cashed in the office of the state treasurer.

The next wrongful act of Picket, he confessed, was when he pocketed $150 which came in as interest on a bond held by the state board of investment for School District No. 26 of Roseau county.

The third illegal proceeding by Picket was in 1914, a year before Mr. Preus took office. This time there was a forgery uttered on a warrant for a $6,000 bond issued by School District No. 58 of Pope county. The warrant was cashed, and Picket declared in his confession that he split it evenly with the state treasurer.

The fourth wrongful act was that relating to the Aitkin county school district bond of $18,000, the irregularities relative to which brought about the investigation instituted by State Auditor Preus and Acting Attorney General Stevenson.

Picket stated that when the warrant for $18,000 became available for the personal use of State Treasurer Smith and himself, $6,000 of it was used to cover up the $6,000 deficit developing out of the Pope county warrant. He said he was to have had half the balance of $12,000, but instead he had received but $3,000 on the paper to which the name of the payee was forged by himself. Mr. Smith, he declared, got the balance.

WILSON TOUR WON ALL THE MIDDLE WEST

confusion of party problems, have neither a presidential program nor an effective organization in any one of the states named. Less bluster and extravagance of prediction now marks their discussion of the outcome of the contest. The tour of the president opened their eyes to the fallacy of their view of Mr. Wilson's place in the hearts of the people.

* * *

"They had looked for a 'frost.' They were confident their professional estimate of him as an "unpopular president' would be confirmed by unfriendly receptions. Beyond a certain deference usually paid a president, regulars and progressives alike were smugly convinced that his appeals for the popular support of his national defense program would not result in any personal indorsement.

"Most Popular Man" in America.

"Hence it was that the actual events swept the opposition leaders off their feet and made them revise their calculations. The daily sequence of personally flattering demonstrations, eclipsing in magnitude and sincerity of expression those accorded to Col. Roosevelt or Bryan—both experienced campaigners—struck the opposition leaders 'between wind and water,' as it were, and sunk them.

"For the first time they awakened to the realization that 'the schoolmaster' was 'the most popular man' in American public life. The awakening was a sad one for them, for business men, wage-earners and the constantly growing independent voters their approval of the president in wayside hamlets and important industrial centers alike.

"His critics, who looked for mere 'scholarly addresses' from him, were amazed at the amount of 'punch' he put into his appeals, and which aroused a greater volume of enthusiasm than they believed any man could arouse, with the exception of Col. Roosevelt.

"The president made no attempt to seek political advantage in his purely patriotic undertakings; he strove to prevent his supporters from doing so. That he failed in this plan is due to the ruling passion of the leaders, because politics comes first in everything with them."

Cocoanut Oil Fine For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonsful will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months. —Advertisement.

EIGHTY ZEPPELINS IN SERVICE OF GERMANS

Berne, Switzerland, Feb. 9, via Paris, —Eighty Zeppelins are now in the German service, it appears from information developed at Friedrichshafen, where the Zeppelin works are located. One of the latest type that is having a trial trip this week is the L-Z-95, which is taken here to mean that it is the ninety-fifth in the series dating from the beginning of the war, fifteen having been lost, it is said.

The newest model seems considerably longer than previous types. It is of fish-like shape, and gray tinted by the means of aluminum powder, it is explained. The gondolas are of plated steel. Each has six machine guns in its quick-fire battery and apparatus for throwing bombs and air torpedoes. It is reported that a new air torpedo more powerful than any previously used is about to be given a trial.

The motor works connected with the Zeppelin plant test each motor by requiring that it run forty-eight hours without stopping and without developing defects.

STEAMER TAKES FOOD TO VICTIMS OF FLOOD

Little Rock, Ark., Feb. 9.—Relief work among refugees from the flood continued today. A steamer loaded with supplies left here to distribute food and fuel among 2,000 or more destitute persons at Pendleton, Red Fork, Douglas, Watson and other towns in the inundated basin. The cargo was in charge of Murray A. Ambach, Little Rock, special agent of the American Red Cross. Reassuring reports of the strength of the levees from Helena to Arkansas City were given out by chairmen of various levee boards.

In Arkansas City a few merchants are conducting business from the second stories of their stores and from box cars on the levee. Relief reached 200 or more refugees at Gaines Landing yesterday, north of Lake Village. Residents continue to desert Clarendon, which was inundated to a depth of from 4 to 15 feet when the levee broke last Saturday. Only about 300 persons remained there today.

The flood's death toll increased to seventeen by a drowning last night and remained at that figure today.

SITUATION ACUTE IN DRYGOODS

Bentley P. Neff Finds East Very Short of Several Lines.

Convinced that the drygoods situation in the United States is at the most acute stage in its history, Bentley P. Neff, manager of the Glass Block store, has just returned from the East, where he has been spending some time in the New York and other markets.

Mr. Neff declared today that prices for drygoods will be much higher this year than ever before, and that there is no help for it, for the demand is immense and the supply nowhere near adequate.

"Some lines," said Mr. Neff, "are entirely sold out, and almost all of them are at a premium. The situation is so acute that while I was East I was offered, for certain lines which we have here, if we would ship them East, far better prices, f. o. b. Duluth than we are asking at retail sale. Prices in all lines of drygoods are advancing, and will go still higher before very long, I'm afraid.

"The dye situation is becoming drastic. The manufacturer in the East told me that he has just had to pay for a consignment of dyes $2,500, for which a short time ago he would have been charged only $225."

While in New York, Mr. Neff addressed the Wholesale Drygoods association at its annual convention, and, in Boston, spoke to the students of the Union School of Salesmanship.

Business in general in the East, particularly in New York, is active, Mr. Neff said.

SELFISHNESS UNDERLIES ALL VICES OF MEN, SAY WRITERS IN VICES AND VIRTUES CONTEST

Man Should Be More Considerate of Others, Women Say; Tobacco Chewing and Cigarettes Should Not Be Tolerated; Honor Is Put at Head of Men's Virtues.

Underlying all of the many serious faults possessed by mortal man is selfishness, according to the letters which are being daily received by the editor of the Vice and Virtue contest, now being conducted by The Herald. The women correspondents who have already contributed their opinions on the faults of men feature selfishness. They seem to believe there would be much more happiness in this world if men were just a little more considerate of the happiness of others.

Tobacco chewing and cigarette smoking are considered most obnoxious. The women, most of them, do not object to their husbands or sons smoking a cigar or a pipe and agree that it is perfectly proper. All of the contributers agree that bravery and honor are the cardinal virtues of man. They believe that man should be a governor of himself and that he should have sufficient will power to conduct himself as his conscience dictates. He should have perfect control of himself at all times and in all places. He should be ambitious to perform great things in a financial, industrial or moral way and should always keep in mind the highest ideals possible.

Writing from the La Salle hotel, this city, Miss Mona Daghner says that after a careful study of the habits of men, she would say that the ten worst faults of men are:

Men Often Brutal.

"1. Brutality. This fault makes a man a beast in the eyes of the public whether his brutal actions are imposed upon human beings or animals.
"2. Faithlessness. This fault opens the pathway to a multitude of sins.
"3. Vulgarity. This fault is a most detestable one and is principally caused through profanity.
"4. Alcohol. The use of same in any form is quite often responsible for the first and third faults herein mentioned.
"5. Tobacco. A man may smoke cigars or a pipe without being offensive to others, but the use of cigarettes and chewing tobacco is the reverse.
"6. Greed. This fault alone causes a man to lose the esteem of his friends.
"7. Conceit. What can possibly be worse than a conceited man. Usually he is an idiot in the eyes of the public.
"8. Deceit. A deceitful man is one to be feared.
"9. Squander. Such a fault usually brings a man into disrepute in time.
"10. Ill-temper. This fault brings sorrow into his home, causes enemies with the best of friends, and often results in crime.

Honor, the Leading Virtue.

"1. Honor. This one virtue in man, if properly adhered to, will free him of many, many vices.
"2. Cleanliness. Both morally and in appearance makes a man a man.
"3. Devotion. A grand virtue, especially when shown to those dependent on him.
"4. Politeness in his home as well as in public.
"5. Education. Without this virtue a man is practically helpless in our present day.
"6. Capability. The man who is capable of doing things that are beneficial to himself as well as others.
"7. Bravery. The man who has no fear and is always ready to protect.
"8. Ambition. Without this virtue a man is useless and lazy and undoubtedly void of the fifth and sixth virtues above mentioned.
"9. Entertainer. The man who can entertain in his home as well as in public.
"10. Provider. To his family and parents as well as to the needy. This one virtue makes a man a good fellow in the eyes of the public and often offsets petty faults he may have.

"MONA DAGHNER,
La Salle hotel, city."

Selfishness Man's Worst Vice.

Mrs. J. G. G. of Duluth writes:
"My idea of the ten worst faults a man can have are as follows:
"1. Selfishness, which covers a multitude of bad faults.
"2. Intemperance.
"3. Blasphemy.
"4. Laziness.
"5. Dishonesty.
"6. Boastfulness.
"7. Disloyalty.
"8. Ever-readiness to wrangle.
"9. Indifference toward his wife and children.
"10. Uncleanliness of character and personal appearance.

"The virtues are:
"1. Unselfishness.
"2. Self respect.
"3. Love of all little children.
"4. Broad-mindedness.

SEES WAR AS GREAT CRIME

Bishop Anderson of Cincinnati Tells of European Experiences.

Other Interesting Speeches at Methodist Union's Annual Banquet.

Bishop William F. Anderson, D. D., of Cincinnati thrilled an audience of 250 men and women last evening at the annual banquet of the Methodist Social union at the First M. E. church with an address on the European war, which he depicted as a crime against civilization.

Bishop Anderson said that he had been selected by the church officials in the summer of 1914 to go to North Africa to visit the Methodist missionary stations. His story was an account of "how we ran from trouble," for war signs were appearing everywhere in Europe. The bishop said that he had seen much of Germany prior to the war talk and he paid a fine tribute to German thrift, culture and enterprise.

Sees War Horrors.

On the urgent advice of Myron T. Herrick, the bishop declared, he abandoned his North Africa trip and returned to American soil. The speaker described the perils of his party and hundreds of other Americans in trying to get out of Europe when the war broke out. He saw hundreds of dead and wounded men, he said, and it was the recollection of just such scenes of carnage, horror and suffering that caused him to say that the European war is the greatest crime against civilization.

W. L. Smithies acted as toastmaster and introduced each speaker with a story to the point. Dr. A. C. Taylor gave a short account of the new free medical dispensary which the church people, through the Women's Home Missionary society, will open on Feb. 14 at 405 East Third street.

Report on Gospel Mission.

Supt. James Leary of the Lake Avenue Gospel Mission gave an interesting talk on the work of the institution among human derelicts, and Bert N. Wheeler, treasurer of the mission, submitted his annual report, which showed excellent financial progress during the last year.

Vocal numbers were contributed by Robert Drummond and Mrs. A. J. Frey. The young women served a five-course dinner. At the speakers' table were: Bishop Anderson, Toastmaster Smithies, Dr. J. W. Hoffman, pastor of the First M. E. church; Mrs. Hoffman, Rev. and Mrs. M. P. Burns, Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Wheeler, Mrs. W. L. Smithies and James Leary, superintendent of the Lake Avenue Gospel Mission.

The Methodist Social union, under whose auspices the banquet was given, represents 3,900 members of the Methodist faith in this city.

SURE WILSON WILL BE RENOMINATED

Committee Not So Certain About Vice President Marshall.

St. Louis, Feb. 9.—That President Wilson would be renominated without opposition, was the consensus of opinion of members of the subcommittee of the Democratic national committee, who met here to arrange details for the Democratic National convention.

The committeemen were not so certain, however, that Vice President Marshall would be renominated.

The committeemen agreed in advance of the meeting not to select a temporary chairman and that task probably will not be taken up until May. Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, however, is being discussed as possible choice for temporary chairman, the committeemen thinking it would be fitting that the state in which the convention is held should furnish the temporary presiding officer.

The committee met in executive session and in the afternoon inspected the Coliseum, considering desirable alterations.

MINISTER, SHOT BY WOMAN, IS DEAD

Sherman, Texas, Feb. 9.—The Rev. H. M. Mrs. Faust said the minister had "slandered" her, but has refused to go into details. She was released soon after the shooting on $1,000 bail. Her husband is a wealthy farmer.

Rubbing Cant Reach RHEUMATISM

YOU MUST GO BACK OF THE PAIN AND CURE THE CAUSE OF IT FIRST.

Rheumatism is not just a local soreness. The pain in the muscle or joint is merely a symptom---the cause is much deeper.

Rubbing the sore spot with oils or liniments brings a certain amount of temporary relief, but the disease is still in the system---and the pain will come back again.

Rheumatism is poison in the blood. That poison must be removed before the disease can be cured.

The wonderful successes attending the use of S. S. S. in cases of rheumatism are due to the fact that S. S. S. goes right to the source of the trouble.

It acts directly on the blood---purifies the blood and removes the poison that is the cause of rheumatism.

If you suffer from rheumatism in any of its forms, your first step towards health must be to purify your blood. Start now taking S. S. S. according to directions.

Our laboratory is the best equipped of its kind in the world. We have facilities for extracting the medicinal qualities from herbs and roots and ageing them---possessed by no other concern.

S. S. S. is not a drug---it is purely vegetable. It is Nature's own remedy---the blood purifying properties extracted from native roots and herbs.

S. S. S. has been known for half a century as a blood purifier, and for diseases arising from impurities in the blood. Druggists all over the Country carry it in stock---or can get it for you without delay.

Don't be satisfied with anything but the genuine.

JUMPS FROM TRAIN.

Ironwood Woman Has Close Call From Injury at Ishpeming.

Ishpeming, Mich., Feb. 9.—Mrs. Moses Ilminen of Ironwood, a patient in Dr. Henry Holm's hospital, had a close call from death when she jumped from the Northwestern passenger train at the Third street crossing, as it was pulling out of the city for Chicago.

Mrs. Ilminen came to Ishpeming on the train, arriving here at 6:30, but she did not know she had reached Ishpeming until after it had started to pull out. It had gone a block from the depot before Mrs. Ilminen realized that she was being taken away from the city. Then, without informing the conductor or brakeman of her predicament, she rushed for the entrance of the coach and jumped, striking a snow bank and rolling back to the track. It happened that there was a hollow space between the bank and the rail, otherwise Mrs. Ilminen would not have escaped injury. Several women, standing at the crossing waiting for the train to go by, screamed, and men rushed to the scene. They picked up Mrs. Ilminen and helped her to a nearby house. She went to the hospital later, but did not complain of being injured.

INCREASED BONUS FOR COPPER MINERS

Calumet, Mich., Feb. 9.—Employes of the Wolverine & Mohawk Mining company, numbering 1,200 men, have been notified that the bonus which has been in force since last July will be increased to 10 per cent, the premium for January wages to be distributed Feb. 29. The announcement was a distinct surprise to the employes, as no intimation of the increase was given previous to the posting of the notices. The Stanton mines have been paying a 5 per cent bonus each month since July, and it is understood the 10 per cent premium will apply as long as the price of metal keeps up.

TURTLE RIVER YOUNG MAN KILLS HIMSELF

Bemidji, Minn., Feb. 9.—Coroner Akerberg and Sheriff Johnson, who returned from Turtle River, where they were called by the death of Ralph Remmy, agent there for the M. & I. road, who accidentally shot and killed himself while in the depot, decided an inquest was not necessary.

A young man went into the depot from Puposky shortly before the tragedy to inquire about a train, and at that time Remmy was writing on a typewriter. The young man turned from the window to wait until Remmy finished his work. A short time later Remmy stopped writing on the typewriter and a shot was heard. Upon investigation it was found that Remmy was shot through his left hand and the shot striking him in the head. He died instantly. The revolver was found lying beside him.

The body was sent to St. Paul.

CHILDREN HATE PILLS, CALOMEL AND CASTOR OIL

Give Fruit Laxative When Cross, Bilious, Feverish or Constipated.

"California Syrup of Figs" Can't Harm Tender Stomach, Liver, Bowels.

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hate them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—Advertisement.

DRINK WATER TO AVOID SICKNESS, SAYS AUTHORITY

Glass of Hot Water Before Breakfast Daily Keeps the Doctor Away.

Sanitary science has of late made rapid strides with results that are of untold blessing to humanity. The latest application of its untiring research is the recommendation that it is as necessary to attend to internal sanitation of the drainage system of the human body as it is to the drains of the house.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast, the phosphated hot water is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

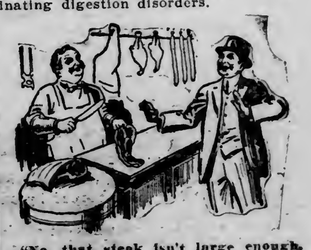

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatic stiffness; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.—Advertisement.

KETONEN HAS TRAINED TWO YEARS FOR CARR MEETING

Little Finn Has Endeavored to Learn Every Trick and Move of the Game in Order to Defeat Minneapolis Man—It's Difficult to Predict How Hockey Fuss Will Terminate.

BY BRUCE.

TWO years ago a little chap boarded a train here for the East. Just as the stocky little fellow swung up on the train steps, two men passing along the depot platform, paused long enough to shout in loud and no uncertain tones: "Beat it, you yellow guy." He did. But if little Waino Ketonen had been what a lot of persons thought he was, a coward and quitter, he would have never possessed the courage and grit to wrestle his way back into the very top place of the world's greatest wrestlers. Two years is a long time in the span of an athlete's life. But it is doubtful if once during the two years that have elapsed since Joe Carr crushed the wrestling ability out of Ketonen, this remarkable little fellow has not been working and planning for another chance at the one wrestler in the history of the game that ever made the Duluth boy look like anything but a champion.

Sentiment is but rarely discovered among athletes. Jack Dempsey died of a broken heart—died after his pathetic attempt to re-enter the ring and make a great showing against Tommy Ryan. Once in a great while you will find that pride and sentiment override the financial part of professional sport. If Waino Ketonen defeats Joe Carr, followers of wrestling the country over will acknowledge the Finn the greatest middleweight since Freddy Beell grew too heavy for that class. Waino knows this, and knows full well, too, that those who most bitterly assailed him will admit that there is not the least vestige of doubt of his ability or his courage.

Has Trained for Two Years.

KETONEN came to Duluth to complete his training for the Carr contest of Friday night. The Finn has been putting on the final touches here; the rough ground work has been going on during two years. For these two years Ketonen has been going back and forth across the country seeking workouts with the greatest wrestlers in the world, irrespective of their weight. All this was with one idea, the great idea, in view—a return meeting with the man who humiliated and shamed him.

Adolph Ernest, Yussiff Hussane, Farmer Burns, Joe Stecher, Earl Caddock, Charles Cutler and Wladek Zbyszko are some of the great mat men that Ketonen has sought out and worked hours with in gymnasiums in various sections of the country, all with the determination to learn every trick, every move of the game, and all with the idea of returning to Duluth and engaging in another battle, for battle it was, with Joe Carr, the strongest middleweight the game has yet produced, when it comes to brute strength.

KETONEN is today at the height of his sensational mat career. In the wake of his victorious mat pilgrimage are strewn the defeated figures of Chris Jordon, Carl Brown, Walter Miller, Sailor Jack, Loren Curtis, Walter Willoughby, Billy Myers, Otto Suter, Chris Hanson, from whom Ketonen won the famous Lord Lonsdale belt; George Turner and Mike Yokel.

Look over the list of great middleweight wrestlers of today and you will find just about one great one left that the sensational Finn has not pinned to the matt by his peculiar combination holds. That personage, squat of figure, huge of torso, the roughest, toughest and most fearless of them all, is Joe Carr.

Can Ketonen with his undoubted science, his remarkable knowledge of leverage, overcome the bull-like strength of Carr, a primitive mat creature who is coming all the time? That's the wrestling query of the season.

Ketonen is either a reincarnation of old Ed Adamson, who beat up heavyweights, or he is topped by one abysmal brute.

It is generally believed that a winner will be determined only after a struggle that will go down in Duluth mat history.

The Hockey Controversy.

IT'S hard to be calm and cool during all this hockey argument. The persons aligned on both sides of the heated controversy are so deadly in earnest and present so many apparently unshakable arguments to support their contentions, that one would wonder who in the very beginning started all the trouble.

If it had been a press agent, he would have been delighted with the amazing success that had crowned his efforts in securing wide-spread publicity for the league. But the sober-minded men behind the Duluth Amateur Hockey league immediately pounce upon this blithe suggestion with the statement that no such publicity is desired by the league, and then you slink into innocuous desuetude, protecting yourself in the clinches.

Perhaps as long as sport is played by vigorous youths there will be accidents. Some rude persons contend that a spillup now and then is the very life of the party. Whether Bill Bogan is as wicked as he has been painted, a pernicious soul with a decided penchant for swinging a club on the conks of poor and unoffending youths, we cannot say. In this nasty muss Bill has some standing with him in the trenches and many others assailing with him conversational gases of vitriolic adjective fumes. How it will all come out, it is at this juncture of the vociferous debate, indeed difficult to surmise or even predict.

The Duluth Amateur Hockey league has been a great little institution—and, we hastily add, is. We, for one, hope that the anti-pacific ending of last Friday evening will not cause a cessation of hockey activities for the season. This column has taken up the cudgels upon many occasions in behalf of the league. There are a lot of fine boys playing on the various teams and a lot of fine and square-dealing men associated with the desire to build up "big league" hockey here. Hockey is too great a sport to permit to go by the boards. Any sport isn't much of a sport unless it is worth fighting for. Perhaps the muddle will be patched up and both sides mollified. For the good of the league, it is to be hoped that an amicable understanding can be arrived at.

THRONES OF THE PROLETARIAT ARE THREATENED BY MAGNATE'S PROPOSAL

New York, Feb. 9.—A resolution introduced by President Ebbets of Brooklyn, limiting the number of 25-cent bleacher seats at the grounds of any club to 2,000 and several other propositions not reached at yesterday's session were before the annual meeting of the National league today. Representatives of some of the Western clubs expect to oppose the measure on the ground that it would deprive them of considerable revenue.

Mr. Ebbets also has a resolution to adopt a new system of drafting minor league players. This measure was defeated two seasons ago. The question of the regulation and distribution of passes was left unfinished at yesterday's meeting.

The most important action taken at the opening session was the investment of John K. Tener with absolute authority to decide disputes over protested games. The league race will start officially April 12 with New York playing in Philadelphia, Boston at Brooklyn, Chicago at Cincinnati and Pittsburgh at St. Louis. The season will close in the East Oct. 5 and in the West, Oct. 1.

At the meeting of the board of directors, which preceded the league meeting yesterday, Percy Haughton of Boston, automatically took the seat held by Former President Gaffney of Boston.

Schedule Is Adopted.

The schedule drawn up by Mr. Dreyfuss was adopted. It includes only three conflicting dates, all Sunday games in Chicago, which is the fewest conflicts ever scheduled.

The following umpires were appointed for next season: Robert Emslie, Henry O'Day, William Klem, Charles Rigler, Mal Eason, William Byron, Ernest Quigley, and Peter A. Harrison. The last named came from the International league. Al Orth will be retained as utility umpire. Injuries incapacitated him last season.

The league voted to continue a monthly pension to Mrs. Mary Johnson, sister of the former president of the league.

Restriction and legislation on passes was discussed but no action was taken.

It was voted to change the official diagram of a baseball diamond in the official rules to correct errors discovered by John Foster of the New York club, in regard to the pitching distance, batter's box and the proper location of the second base.

NEW CHAMPION DUE.

Skating Races at Saranac Lake Minus Title Holder, Who Is in War.

Saranac Lake, N. Y., Feb. 9.—A new international outdoor skating champion will be developed at the championships which began here yesterday afternoon, and which will continue for three days. Russell Wheeler of Montreal, who won the championship last year, is fighting in Europe and will not defend the title.

The international championship event on the card yesterday, was the 220-yard race, which was won by Lot Roe of Toronto, with Anton O. Sickey of Cleveland, second, and R. T. Logan of Montreal, third. The time was 21 2-5 seconds.

SIX-DAY BIKE RACERS BREAK WORLD'S RECORD

Chicago, Feb. 9.—Figures made public today showed that competitors in the international six-day bicycle race which closed last night, broke all records for seventy-two hours riding.

The McNamara-Spears team, winners of the race, covered 1,542 miles in seventy-two hours. The former record for that time was 1,487 miles, made in a race where the riders rode twenty-four hours at a stretch instead of twelve, as in the Chicago competition.

The average time of the winners of the Chicago grind was 21.04 miles per hour.

STEIGLER IS ALLEY STAR

Big Duluth Pin Man Hangs Up Score of 631 in Major Games.

Last evening in the Major league bowling schedule the Fitzgerald & Winchester team took three games in a row from the Sharkcrafts. The Big Duluths won two out of three games from the Elcoras, and the Oak Halls won two out of three from the Empress five.

The Oak Halls won their second game by the small margin of eight pins and would probably have lost the last game had not one of the Empress men fouled on his spare in the last frame of this game. The Empress team came back and won the third game by one pin.

Fritz Steigler of the Big Duluth team copped the high three game total by piling up a score of 631. Schultz of the same team made the high one-game score of the evening by hitting the wood for a 235 score.

Camel cigarettes

are wide-open for comparison with any cigarette at any price! Most sensitive smokers appreciate the pleasure Camel quality offers. They prefer it to premiums or coupons! Freedom from tongue-bite and throat-parch is as welcome as is the absence of any unpleasant cigaretty after-taste!

Camels are blended choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos; you'll prefer their new flavor and mild-smoothness to either kind of tobacco smoked straight! That desirable, satisfying "body" is all there—without any come-back! No matter how many you smoke!

Camels are sold everywhere in scientifically sealed packages, 20 for 10c; or ten packages (200 cigarettes) in a glassine-paper-covered carton for $1.00. We strongly recommend this carton for the home or office supply or when you travel.

The stamp placed over end seals the package, which keeps out air, thereby preserving the quality of the blended tobaccos. By inserting the fingers as illustrated, the stamp easily breaks without tearing the tin foil, which folds back into its place.

WILLARD-MORAN DATE ADVANCED

Will Fight Nine Days Ahead of Original Schedule.

New York, Feb. 9.—Jess Willard, world's heavyweight champion, and Frank Moran, will meet in a ten-round bout at Madison Square Garden here on March 8 for a purse of $70,000, it was announced last night, by Tex Rickard, promoter of the match.

The date originally agreed upon was March 17, but it was changed because Madison Square Garden, the only available place for holding the match here had been previously engaged for that date. Rickard said that the board of directors of the garden had agreed to accept $7,500 for its use, with no percentages.

While a tentative agreement already had been signed for the bout, by Tom Jones, maanger for Willard, and Ike Dorgan, representing Moran, Rickard announced that Jones and Dorgan would meet again today to sign the final articles.

The purse, which is the second largest ever offered for a match, stands as originally agreed upon, at $60,000, with a $10,000 bonus. Willard's share will be $17,500 and Moran's $22,500.

Seats will be constructed, according to Rickard, to accommodate 18,000 persons. Prices will range from $50 for boxes near the ringside, to $3 for rear seats. As near as it is possible to estimate, this will mean that the promoters will receive an average of probably $9 a seat, provided the garden is filled to capacity.

Sporting experts estimated that the total receipts would have to be in the neighborhood of $120,000 to return a profit.

DULUTH QUINTET TO PLAY HIBBING

Contest Will Be Staged in Range City Saturday.

Lawrence Duby, manager of the Duluth basket ball team, today scheduled a game for his quintet against the strong Hibbing five, the contest to be played Saturday in the range city.

Hibbing, like Virginia, has a very strong team and it is expected that the game will be a hard fought one.

On Feb. 22 the Minnesota University All-Stars may come here and meet the Duluth team on the new armory floor. This should prove one of the biggest basket ball events in the history of the city.

Virginia will play a return game here and Duby is also negotiating with the Keaton, Ohio, crack team. This aggregation has defeated the Oswego, N. Y., quintet and the New York Giants the present season, and to date has won all but one of a long list of games, the record standing 20 won and 1 lost.

Practice sessions are being held every evening by the Duluth players in preparation for the big games that are coming later on.

LAFE SAFRO WANTS TO SHOW WARES IN DULUTH

Minneapolis Welterweight Boxer Would Meet Any One Picked for Him Before Local Club.

Lafe Safro, crack Minneapolis welterweight boxer, is in Duluth looking for a place in the sun on the next boxing card of the Duluth Athletic club.

Safro is not altogether a stranger to Duluth followers of athletics. As halfback on the crack Marine football team Lafe has performed in stellar roles against the home guard. Safro is considered one of the greatest semi-professional football players in the entire West, his punting comparing with some of the great stars of Western collegiate football history.

Like Mike O'Dowd, Safro stepped from the football field to the boxing arena, and like the fighting St. Paul Harp, has achieved considerable success in both fields.

Some time ago Safro knocked out Jimmy Barry here. In Minneapolis Lafe is given credit with shading Johnny Salvatore at the last show of the Minneapolis Athletic club.

"I'll box any welterweight in the business," said Safro. "I think I can make a great showing against any of them. All I want is a chance."

INDICTMENTS FOR CONSULS

Prominent Foreigners on Pacific Coast Charged With Conspiracy.

Two German and One Turkish Official in the List.

Washington, Feb. 9.—Several weeks' investigation by agents of the department of justice resulted in the voting of indictments yesterday by a Federal grand jury in San Francisco against prominent figures in what are considered here to be two of the boldest plots involving questions of American neutrality that have been uncovered since the European war began.

Among those against whom indictments were voted, according to a message received here, are Franz Bopp, consul-general; Baron E. H. Von Schack, vice consul of Germany, and Maurice Hall, the Turkish consul general.

The names of six other persons included in the thirty-two indictments voted by the grand jury were made public by District Attorney Preston. They are:

John and Julius Rothschild, wholesale grocers; George and James Flood, steamship agents; J. E. Bien, attorney; Robert Capelle, general agent North German Lloyd Steamship company.

It is alleged by the government that the six persons were involved in the furnishing of supplies to German warships in the Pacific.

Consular officers do not enjoy the diplomatic immunities which ambassadors, ministers and attaches are given by international law, but are subject to the jurisdiction of the country in which they are resident, and may be treated by the law as are other persons.

First of Kind.

The indictments voted, however, are the first which the American government has attempted to secure against any foreign representatives. This fact was taken to mean that hereafter the administration means to prosecute wherever prosecution will lie against any offender against American neutrality.

Bopp and Von Schack are charged with complicity in the plot which was first uncovered several weeks ago, with the arrest of C. C. Crowley, alleged to be a pro-German agent who had undertaken to cripple the American output of munitions of war, and in other ways to help the cause of the Teutonic allies. Bopp is accused of being the head of a conspiracy which hoped to accomplish this end by interfering with trade in munitions and preventing railway shipments, by blowing up two tunnels on Canadian roads.

The German officials are being proceeded against under the Sherman anti-trust act in connection with their alleged activities against American plants and under a section of the penal code aimed at the setting on foot of military expeditions against a friendly nation in connection with plans to blow up Canadian railway tunnels.

Indictment of the Turkish consul general was voted in connection with the use of the steamer Sacramento to supply German ships of war in the South Pacific which ended in the internment of that vessel by the Chilean government many months ago. According to officials here, the Sacramento case is one of the clearest that has come to their notice of the use of an American port as a base of supplies for belligerent warships and of false clearance papers to get the supply ship past the customs authorities.

PACIFICISTS APPEAR BEFORE COMMITTEE

Oppose Appropriations for Military Preparedness.

Washington, Feb. 9.—Pacificists, who said they represented the farmers, working people and voting women of the country, yesterday warned senate and house military committees against being stampeded into what they termed unwarranted appropriations for military preparedness.

An anti-preparedness committee of which Lillian D. Wald of New York is chairman, introduced itself to the committees as an organization of American citizens formed to protest "against a dangerous program of military and naval expansion, to divert the public mind from those preparations for that world peace which it might be our country's privilege to initiate at the close of the war."

In addition to Miss Wald, opposition to war preparations was voiced by John B. Lennon, treasurer of the American Federation of Labor; James H. Maurer, president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor; Mrs. Florence Kelly, Frank Dornblazer, a director of the National Farmers' union, and Sarah Bard Field of the California Women Voters' association. A message also was read from Governor Capper of Kansas indorsing the plans of the committee, which include an investigation of past appropriations, investigations of the sources of the present demand for an increase in military expenditures, and the elimination of private profit from armament manufacture.

Overland

Lets You Forget Your Gear Shift

A six cylinder motor is superior to a four only in that it is possible in a six to have greater range of speed on direct drive—requiring less gear shifting.

But not all sixes are superior to all fours.

We build both sixes and fours.

We build fours that have greater flexibility than many sixes.

Our only purpose, therefore, in building a six is to satisfy with Overland finality those discriminating buyers who demand well nigh miraculous performance in an automobile.

So the Overland Six is equipped with a motor so flexible that it almost lets you forget that you have a gear shift.

Except for the start from an absolute standstill, you will drive the Overland Six under even the severest traffic and hill conditions with seldom a need to shift a gear.

And not only is the Overland Six motor a marvel of flexibility.

It has great reserve power.

Its range of speed on direct drive or "high" is therefore coupled with reserve power which enables you to accelerate with lightning rapidity from the slowest to the highest speeds.

And our enormous output enables us to offer the Overland Six equipped with our vastly superior six motor at a price hundreds of dollars less than you must pay for equal performance in any other car.

We are the world's largest builders of sixes and fours, producing virtually two cars for every one of any other concern building similar types and sizes of cars.

Obviously, the Overland Six is underpriced—is dominant Six value—comparable only with very much higher priced cars.

The rush of spring buying naturally centers upon such excess value, taxing even our unequalled production capacity.

See us at once and order your Six now.

18 POUNDS OF BLOOD

is the average quantity in a healthy adult, but it is the quality of the blood that determines our strength to resist sickness. With weak blood we find cold hands and chilly feet; in children an aversion to study, and in adults rheumatic tendencies.

In changing seasons get abundant fresh air and take a spoonful of Scott's Emulsion after meals, because Scott's Emulsion is a rich blood-food that will increase both quantity and quality of the blood while it warms the body and helps carry off the impurities.

When multitudes of people are today taking Scott's Emulsion to avert winter sickness, and are giving it to their children, it is careless to neglect its benefits. Look out for substitutes.

BOYLAN WINS CLOSE FIGHT

Re-Elected Mayor of Virginia Over Ex-Mayor Eaton By Thirty-Seven Votes.

Judge Carey Re-Elected By Seventeen Votes Over Closest Competitor.

THE VIRGINIA WINNERS.

Michael Boylan, mayor, re-elected.
James Carey, municipal judge, re-elected.
F. J. Verville, treasurer, re-elected.
R. J. McGhee, Dan Coffey, Charles Olson, aldermen.
Clarence A. Graham, special judge.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mayor Michael Boylan succeeds himself as the city's chief executive, having won in yesterday's election over his sole opponent, Former Mayor W. H. Eaton, by thirty-seven votes, one of the closest results scored for that office in years. Boylan's total vote of 837, and Eaton's, 800. Judge Carey was re-elected municipal judge, while City Treasurer Verville will succeed himself. Clarence Graham was elected special judge.

The mayoralty fight was close in the third and sixth wards. Mayor Boylan led in the third ward by seven votes, while his majority in the sixth ward was four. Eaton took the fourth ward by thirty-two votes, his largest ward majority. The fifth ward gave Boylan a twenty-two majority.

Carey's Close Finish.

No walkaways were expected in the judgeship race. Judge Carey polled 570 votes, getting a plurality of seventeen votes over Special Judge Harry S. Gillespie, his nearest opponent. Attorney Carl A. Onkka made a disappointing showing. He had been expected to poll more than 300 votes, but only 223 votes were cast for him.

John A. Prince polled 117 votes, while Attorney Edward J. Larsen went into fifth place with 106 votes. Axel E. Carlson, veteran of a number of political campaigns, brought up the rear and was a poor sixth, polling fifty-six ballots.

The aldermanic fight was one of the hottest of the campaign. Charles C. Olson sprung a surprise by winning over Alderman A. D. Heritage, who was a candidate for re-election. William Treloar also surprised the field, polling more votes than Alderman Heritage. The fight centered on Heritage and he was defeated. Adolph Keller and Charles W. Lundstrom were tied for seventh place. Both were former councilmen, but did not make very active campaigns for the aldermanic offices. William Eddy sprung a surprise by running ahead of them.

Alderman McGhee led the field in every ward but the Second. The vote on the North side, the First ward and the Sixth ward, gave Olsen the third alderman-at-large office. Mr. Keller ran well in his own ward, the Fourth. The surprise of the election was the naming of Clarence E. Graham as special judge. It is a coincidence that an undertaker succeeds an undertaker. Joseph Kindred, the barber, had been conceded the special judgeship by political wiseacres and he gave Graham a merry battle, Graham polled 478 votes, having a plurality of 45 votes over Kindred and his other opponents. Charles L. Eaton was a poor third, while P. J. Gannon was fourth. The former polled 287 votes and the latter 283 votes.

Verville Easy Winner.

City Treasurer Fred J. Verville justified the pre-election predictions by polling the largest vote of any of the twenty-three candidates and the largest plurality. He ran away from Arthur Morrell, a newcomer in local politics, and George I. Williams, who was one of Treasurer Verville's opponents two years ago. Morrell polled 461 votes, while Verville was given more than twice that number. His vote was 963. Williams was a poor third with 186 votes. Verville led in every ward in the city, being the only candidate to do so.

Vote Less Than in 1914.

The vote was less than in 1914 when 1,925 votes were cast. The total vote yesterday was 1,689. The registration was 1,759 but probably 200 of the registered voters did not make known their choices at the polls. Almost 200 votes were sworn in at the polls.

Two Matters Carried.

Two of the four propositions voted on carried, the primary election amendment to the charter, 934 to 428 and the itemized account amendment, 1,056 to 307.

The ordinance providing for the payment of water and light bonds by general direct taxation was defeated, 563 for to 884 against. The Commercial club amendment providing $5,000 per year to support the Commercial club was beaten, 69 for, 809 against.

WOODSMAN BLAMES DRINK FOR TROUBLE

Tells Eveleth Chief How Liquor Brought About Downfall.

Eveleth, Minn., Feb. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The story of a promising career ruined by drink was related in the jail here when a woodsman who had been sentenced for drunkenness wearied of the life of a fugitive from justice and unburdened his mind to Chief of Police R. L. Mitten.

William Johnson was the name given by the prisoner when put in the lockup on a charge of drunkenness. His appearance branded him as somewhat different from the ordinary lumberjack and the chief undertook to look into his record.

Is Wanted in St. Paul.

In the confession made to the chief of police, Johnson stated that he was wanted in St. Paul for the forgery of a check and by jumping board bills. His refuge, he said, had been in the lumber camps of the North woods and it was probably his guilty conscience which led him to believe that plain clothes men watched him when he made his occasional visits in the towns, where he dissipated his earnings in the woods.

A few years ago Johnson stated, he had a good name and a good position in Chicago. Drink cost him his position and he moved to St. Paul, where he obtained another position. Drink again cost him his chance to make good and with a forged check to answer for he fled to the woods.

It is probable that the St. Paul police will claim him when his 20-day term at the work farm is completed.

Salo and Lampi arrived on a late car from Buhl and were making Central avenue resound with their yells. When they were ordered home by Grams they became so offended at the interference that both attacked the officer. FOOD FACTS.

What an M. D. Learned.

A prominent physician down in Georgia went through a food experience which he makes public:

"It was my own experience that first led me to advocate Grape-Nuts food; and I also know from having prescribed it to convalescents and other weak patients that this food is a wonderful rebuilder and restorer of nerve and brain tissue, as well as muscle. It improves the digestion and patients gain, just as I did in strength and weight, very rapidly.

"I was in such a low state that I had to give up my work entirely and go to the mountains, but two months there did not improve me; in fact I was not quite as well as when I left home. My food did not sustain me and it became plain that I must change.

"I began to use Grape-Nuts and in two weeks I could walk a mile, and in five weeks returned to my home and practice, taking up hard work again. Since that time I have felt as well and strong as I ever did in my life.

"As a physician who seeks to help all sufferers I consider it a duty to make these facts public."

Trial 10 days on Grape-Nuts when the regular food does not seem to sustain the body will work wonders.

"There's a Reason." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

COLDER

This weather seems almost too fine to last; but such pessimism is probably due to what this territory has been accustomed to for the past few weeks, reviving the philosophy, "expect little, and you will not be disappointed." Mr. Richardson says that it will still be fair, but somewhat colder. As long as it is fair, that will help.

A year ago today was bright and snappy. The sun rose this morning at 7:22 and will set this evening at 5:23, giving ten hours and one minute of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Colder weather prevails throughout the Northwest, and Rocky mountains, the lowest reported temperature being 24 degs. at a number of places in Saskatchewan. Temperatures have risen over Central, Southern and Eastern states, and the extreme Northwest. Light snow or rain fell during Tuesday or last night over the Mississippi and Ohio valleys, Lake region, North Atlantic states, extreme Eastern Canada, Utah, Nevada, Idaho, Oregon, Washington, Alberta and British Columbia."

EARLY MORNING FATIGUE

When you awake in the morning feeling tired out, feeling worse in fact than when you went to bed, you are confronted with one of the characteristic symptoms of neurasthenia. It is due to the run-down condition of the nerves that rest does not bring renewed strength and sleep refresh the tired brain. Overwork and worry are the most frequent causes of this condition.

The treatment is one of nutrition of the nerve cells, requiring a non-alcoholic tonic. As the nerves get their nourishment from the blood the treatment must be directed toward building up the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood and with proper regulation of the diet have proved of the greatest benefit in many cases of neurasthenia. A tendency to anemia, or bloodlessness, shown by most neurasthenic patients, is also corrected by these tonic pills. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes $2.50. Begin the treatment at once before your condition becomes worse as there is a chronic form of neurasthenia.

Two useful books, "Diseases of the Nervous System" and "What to Eat and How to Eat," will be sent free by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., if you mention this paper.

RIGHTS OF NEUTRALS DO NOT COUNT MUCH

So Taft Says in Address Before Rockefeller Bible Class.

New York, Feb. 9.—Former President W. H. Taft, in an address here last night at the annual dinner of the Young Men's Bible class of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church, of which John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is honorary president, declared that "the United States is in the European war, to the very struggle itself."

"The rights of neutrals do not count for much," said Mr. Taft. "England has violated international law, and coursed out a policy which she was insistent we should not do when we established a blockade in the South. Germany has violated our rights by attacking steamships with noncombatants on them, and even neutrals."

The success of all great industrial enterprises in the future will depend on profit sharing with their employes, said Charles W. Schwab, who also spoke.

"I trust men according to their deserts," he declared. "I pay one of my managers half a million dollars a year, and I only wish it were more. He is earning that for me as well as for himself. In my economic schedule, each man is rewarded according to his merits, and the larger the sum he gets the greater is the encouragement to him and those under him because they see the justice of it."

Mr. Schwab said his idea is to give the individual some important part in the industry to stimulate his interest. He says he makes his managers feel they are the prime factors in the enterprise they control. "If that is true of the manager and salesman," he added, "it is equally true of the laborer. In every establishment of mine I carry out this principle. I have arranged it so that each employe is so placed that he is able to earn $1,100 a year. I wish it were more."

GOOD ROADS DAY'S THEME

Crookston, Minn., Feb. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The arrival of the Minneapolis delegation coupled with the St. Paul contingent, President Vincent of the state university, and a big delegation of newspaper and farm journal representatives, together with the county commissioners, good roads experts and township boards from ten counties swelled the crowd on good roads' day, at the farm crops show, to the biggest of the week thus far.

The program started at the armory with an address by C. U. Forbes of the state highway commission, who discussed the Dunn law in relation to county commissioners, going into the practical application of the law in detail. A splendid discussion was led by County Commissioner Marcus Christianson of Polk county, in which many difficulties were cleared away by exchange of views and how practical work had been accomplished.

"Aboriginal Road Builders" was the subject of the address of Robert Carmichael of Farmington, followed by a discussion led by E. H. Harding, superintendent of highways of Polk county.

Federal Official Talks.

Immediately after noon J. J. Tobin of the United States bureau of good roads at Washington, D. C., discussed "The Good Roads Movement From a National Standpoint," and discussed some of the great projects, such as the Lincoln highway and the proposed Jefferson highway from New Orleans to Winnipeg. Discussions followed in which township supervisors told their troubles, getting right down to the meat of the local good roads proposition.

The hotels are jammed and hundreds of city homes had to be thrown open last evening. There are close to 4,000 visitors in the city today and a terific jam for admittance is expected at the armory tonight to hear President Vincent.

The women were addressed today at separate meeting by Mrs. W. T. Coe, president of the Minnesota Federation of Clubs, President Vincent and others.

COMMERCIAL TRAVELERS WILL PRESENT "THE ISLE OF SALES"

The dress rehearsal for "The Isle of Sales" will take place tomorrow evening.

In past years the commercial travelers have staged an annual minstrel show, but this winter a change was decided on and a musical comedy has been prepared. The play was written by George O'Sullivan of this city, while the music was composed by Charles Helmer, who will also direct the orchestra for both performances. W. J. Ryan has been in charge of the cast and will also play one of the leading roles.

Dream of Salesman.

"The Isle of Sales" tells about a dream that a traveling salesman has when he falls asleep in his room at a local hotel. The first scene shows the bedroom and later the action of the play shifts to a battleship and thence to the Isle of Sales. On this island the salesman, together with his party of friends, finds an old-time sweetheart, who had been shipwrecked. In addition, he makes a number of sales, netting him a commission of $1,000,000. At this point the scene changes back to the hotel bedroom, where the salesman wakes up to find that it was "all a dream."

Matt Hughes will play the part of the salesman and Mr. Ryan will appear as Pat O'Grady, the comedian of the production. In addition, there will be a large cast of principals, a chorus and a special list of cabaret performers. The cabaret show will take place on the island, where the performance is given in honor of the king and queen.

MAY EXPLAIN BURGLARIES

C. M. Levard Held at Rhinelander, May Have Operated Here.

Police Expect to Clear Up Numerous Cases in West Duluth.

The mysterious burglaries at a number of West Duluth residences, which took place last fall, will probably be cleared up with the arrest a few days ago of Charles M. Levard, aged 18, of West Duluth, at Rhinelander, Wis. Levard was taken as he was in the act of burglarizing a Rhinelander residence at 3 o'clock in the morning after he had successfully gone through four other houses during that same night.

Duluth police were yesterday informed of the arrest of Levard and the Rhinelander police asked for further information concerning him. His record is now being looked up by the local police and it is expected that he can be connected with a number of burglaries that took place in West Duluth during September, October and November.

Identified as Albert Johnson.

Levard has been identified as the young man who, under the name of Albert Johnson, was arrested on May 22 on a charge of stealing a horse and buggy from a local liveryman. He was arrested with the rig at the Point of Rocks and sentenced to the work farm. He was released from the farm on June 22. Just before leaving the place he injured his fingers.

Levard is believed by the police to have been the assailant and burglar who entered the home of N. L. Winner, 104 South Forty-sixth avenue, on Sept. 28 and while in the house assaulted Mrs. Nysen, who was staying with the family. The house was ransacked, but nothing of value taken.

The police also are of the opinion that he entered the residences of William Mallough, 5501 West Eighth street, and Judge H. W. Lanners on the evening of Oct. 9. A small sum of cash was secured at each place. The day that this robbery took place the boy's foster father had made complaint that he was unable to control the boy's actions and he requested the police to frighten him or send him to the state reformatory.

On Oct. 28, Levard is believed by the police to have entered the home of Carl J. Erickson, 627 North Central avenue, where a small sum of cash was stolen. He is also thought to have been the prowler who was reported in the vicinity of a number of other residences during the early hours of evenings last fall.

He has been away from West Duluth since Nov. 30 as far as the police are able to ascertain, and since that time there have been no reports of attempted housebreakings.

Injury Received at Farm.

At the time of being discharged from the work farm Levard came home with his injured hand and told his guardians that he had received the injury while working for the railroad at Two Harbors. They were then unaware that he had served time at the farm. His foster father then wanted to take him to Two Harbors and take the matter of the boy's injury before officials of the company, believing that he had a just claim for damages for the injury. It was not until after considerable time had been lost and several attempts made to make the boy take the trip that he owned up to having received the injury while serving time at the county farm.

MOTHERS AND SONS MEET AT BANQUET

Nearly 100 Are Present at Unique Event at Denfeld School.

Nearly 100 mothers and their sons attended the first "mother-and-son" banquet ever held in the city at the R. E. Denfeld high school last night. The supper was served by members of the domestic science class, following which a program of music and speeches was given.

The principal address of the evening was given by Mrs. T. J. Davis, member of the Duluth school board, who spoke of the development of the boy and made a plea for a better understanding between mother and son. Talks were also given by Rev. R. Edward Sayles, pastor of the First Baptist church; S. A. Foster, principal of the Denfeld school; J. R. Batchelor, city recreational director, and Chester Rosborough, who spoke on behalf of the boys' club.

Norman D. McLeod, secretary of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A., was toastmaster. The musical numbers included selections by Gustav Jackson, the Denfeld Girls' Glee club and the Boys' Glee club.

BLOWING IN OF FURNACE DELAYED

Steel Corporation Unable to Secure Equipment for Two Weeks Yet.

Unforseen delays in the arrival of machinery necessary in completing the equipment of the No. 2 blast furnace at the Duluth Steel plant will delay the blowing in of the furnace for at least another two weeks. It had been planned to blow in the furnace the latter part of this week.

The heavy demand for machinery of all kinds on Eastern manufacturers is said to be the cause of the delay. Only small parts, but those of vital importance to the furnace, are said to be lacking.

The first furnace to begin operating early in December is working in first class shape, it is said. Steel is also being produced daily from the four open hearth furnaces that have been in operation since December. Three other furnaces that are complete and ready to operate will soon be given their basic lining, and three others, which will complete the complement of ten furnaces for this building, will within a month or six weeks be completed.

ICE HARVEST IS NEARING HEIGHT

The annual ice harvest on St. Louis river, above Commonwealth avenue, New Duluth, is rapidly reaching its height. Ninety men are now employed there by the East End Ice company.

The company has met with considerable difficulty in storing the ice owing to the severe weather. The handling of the ice from the river, as well as storing and transporting it to the storehouses, has been delayed owing to the handicap in the slow car movement, according to E. H. Falgren, general manager of the company.

So far, about 30,000 tons of the ice have been cut. Of this amount about 20,000 tons have been stored. The company will cut nearly 100,000 tons for storage this winter.

WILL ENTER LOCAL SPIEL

Western Curling Club Will Have Several Rinks in Contests.

The Western Curling club will be represented by at least five and probably six rinks at the annual Head of the Lakes championship contest to be held at the Duluth Curling club on Saturday. The first of the games is to be played Friday night.

Among the skips who will probably enter rinks in this event are Frank H. Wade, Richard F. Wade, Melvin Olson, Walter M. Evered, T. F. Olsen and Thomas Quinn. The Donald rink, present state champions, will not enter owing to the serious illness of James Donald, who is at home suffering from an injury received a few days ago in a hockey game between the Big Duluths and Universals.

Preparations for the state 'spiel, which will take place on Washington's birthday, are being rapidly made by local club officers. The games, according to present plants, will take place in West Duluth, the home club of the state "champs". F. H. Wade, president of the club, said last night that the invitations to outside clubs to take part in the play would be issued probably tomorrow and that he expected between forty and fifty rinks to enter the event.

Only two of the four games scheduled for last night were played. Mallory won from Quinn, 13 to 9, and F. H. Wade won from M. Olson, 16 to 8. T. F. Olsen was awarded a forfeit from Charles Iltis in the Bagley event.

This evening games are scheduled between Zauft and Mallory, and Iltis and Evered in the Patrick event, and K. A. McDonald and R. F. Wade in the Bagley event.

MAY PASS HAT TO RAISE FUND

Opponents of Armory Sale Ready to Make Fight in Court.

McEwen Declares Referendum Is More Important Than Armory.

Opponents of the old armory sale to the Shriners today said they might "pass the hat" to finance a court fight which will determine who is eligible to vote, or to sign a referendum petition.

"The entire referendum, which, with the initiative and recall, is the most democratic feature of the city charter, is at stake," said Postmaster W. E. McEwen, one of the leaders of the fight.

City Attorney John E. Samuelson ruled that signatures of none but "qualified registered electors" would be acceptable on the petition asking for a referendum, and more than four hundred names were barred on that account.

"We are more interested in saving the referendum than we are in saving the armory building," Mr. McEwen said. "We can buy a new armory, or a new site, but it is pretty hard to get a new referendum.

"City Clerk Walter Borgen found the names of 400 voters on the petition who were not registered apparently. Their names could not be found in the city directory under the address given on the petition, and so they were stricken out.

"I have furnished Mr. Borgen with a postoffice directory, which is much more complete and up-to-date than the city directory, and he has found that about nine out of ten of the 400 names were O. K. Of course some of the new voters cannot be found.

"I am confident that Mr. Samuelson's ruling would not stand up and we are anxious to learn the difference between a 'qualified registered elector' and a 'qualified elector,' as far as eligibility to sign a referendum petition is concerned."

John Jenswold, Jr., attorney for the Aad Temple Building association, told the city commissioners at Monday's council meeting that he was ready to take the matter into court in order to compel the city to execute the contract of sale. Commissioners agreed to this in order to test the case.

Despite the pending suit, opponents of the sale are going ahead with the work of bringing up the petition to the required ten per cent of the voters.

"I have not asked a man to sign a referendum petition," Pastmaster McEwen said, "but voters have besieged the Labor World offices since Monday asking to sign a petition or to be given one to circulate.

"Eighteen voters have volunteered to circulate petitions since Monday and there is no question but that we will have from 2,000 to 2,500 names before the 10-day extension period ends."

Cannot Levy Assessment.

Bismarck, N. D., Feb. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—City councils are without authority to levy special assessments for improvements on street adjoining city park property, the park board itself being supreme in the matter of providing for such improvements, according to a decision of the supreme court in the case of the city of Fargo against the park board of Fargo.

WITNESS IS UNDER FIRE

Dr. McAuliffe Grilled on Gun Evidence in McAlpine Case.

Defense Will Rest Case Soon—Mrs. McAlpine Testifies.

When Dr. James J. McAuliffe, deputy coroner, took the witness stand in district court this morning in the McAlpine insurance case, and undertook to testify that the gun which was found beside the body of the late John McAlpine, in his opinion, had been recently discharged, he was confronted with five guns borrowed from the police department and asked to point out the ones from which bullets had been discharged recently and give his opinion as to how recently the shots had been fired.

Dr. McAuliffe was evidently taken by surprise. He refused to take the guns for the purpose of determining whether all or any had been recently discharged and declined to pass his opinion without first having had an opportunity to make a scientific examination. He declared that it would be necessary to make such an examination before he could express his opinion in the matter.

Makes Positive Statement.

Earlier in the trial, Dr. McAuliffe was called as a witness for the insurance company and during his examination, he testified that he had made an examination of the McAlpine gun shortly after it had been handed to him on the morning of the McAlpine tragedy. From this examination, he said, he satisfied himself that the gun had been recently discharged. He determined this fact, he said, from the examination of smoke marks on the barrel and from other evidences.

Attorneys for the defense cross-examined Dr. McAuliffe with reference to other testimony he had given and reserved the right to further cross-examine him. This morning, he was called and was submitted to a severe grueling by C. O. Baldwin, of counsel for the plaintiff in the case.

Dr. McAuliffe testified on the former trial held in September, 1914, that he had no definite recollection of whether he made an examination of the gun. Today his testimony was that he was positive that he had made such an examination and that from such examination he had come to the opinion that the gun was recently discharged.

Reads Former Evidence.

The doctor's testimony on the former trial was read and he was asked if he so testified. He admitted that he had. His testimony in September, 1914, was as follows:

Q. "Did you after you got it (the gun) make an examination of the barrel of that gun to see whether or not it had been recently discharged?"

A. "I will not say positively, but my recollection is that I did."

Q. "Did you make an investigation?"

A. "That is my recollection."

Q. Well, is that only just a dim recollection, or do you have a well defined belief?"

A. "I would not swear positively that that is correct, but that is my recollection."

Q. "If you did make any such investigation, you have no recollection of it particularly?"

A. No, not positively."

Fuces Five Guns.

The sensation of the morning session, however, was sprung when Attorney Baldwin confronted the witness with five guns furnished by Capt. A. G. Fiskett of the police department, and asked the doctor to tell the court and jury whether or not they had been recently discharged. Dr. McAuliffe stated that he could not do so unless he made a "scientific examination." Attorney Baldwin asked him if he made such an examination with reference to the McAlpine gun and he said that he had looked at the barrel with a magnifying glass and had also used a cleaner and cotton gauze. He was asked to make a similar examination of the police department guns and testify as to the results.

Dr. McAuliffe stated that such an examination might require some time—several days in fact. The matter stood this way at the noon adjournment of court, the attorneys for the plaintiff offering to submit the guns to the deputy coroner for his inspection at any time.

Defendant Nearly Through.

The London Guaranty & Accident company, defendants, will probably rest its case this afternoon. Mrs. McAlpine was on the stand again this morning and her cross-examination was concluded. Her testimony differed but little from that given on the last trial. As before, she was confronted with the testimony of several witnesses which was at variance with that given by herself and she maintained that she was in the right and they were in the wrong. Among these were Miss Alice Spaulding, Dr. James J. McAuliffe, Chief C. H. Troyer, Capt. C. H. Henry of Eau Claire; County Attorney Warren E. Greene, P. E. McCormick and others.

OFFICIALS AT STEEL PLANT ON VISIT OF INSPECTION

John Reis, vice president of the United States Steel corporation, and a brother of George L. Reis of Duluth, vice president of the Minnesota Steel company; George J. Thorp of Chicago, second vice president of the Illinois Steel company, and M. G. Vreeland of New York are spending the day inspecting the Duluth steel plant. The visit of the officials is said to be entirely informal.

John Reis is directly in charge of the furnaces of the United States Steel corporation. Vice President D. G. Kerr is at the head of the transportation and mining branch of the company's business. Mr. Reis and the other officials arrived this morning from Chicago and will probably leave this evening after having spent the day at the plant.

The visit of the officials revived a rumor this morning to the effect that plans for a possible immediate enlargement of the local plant would be considered. It is intimated that plans for a third blast furnace are already drawn and that that it will be only a short time before consruccion work on it will begin. George L. Reis stated this afternoon that the visit of the officials had no special significance.

The officials paid a visit to the plant of the Universal Portland Cement company during the latter part of the afternoon.

COUNTERFEIT BILL PASSED BY FARMER

Spurious Bank Notes Are Traced to Duluth Hotel Lobby.

Counterfeit Federal reserve bank notes traced in a Duluth hotel lobby and passed in this city, Superior and Minneapolis have caused the arrest of Max Voeth, a young farmer of Pindell, Wis., who is being held by government officials in St. Paul.

Voeth gave a Minneapolis pawnbroker one of the $20 notes in payment for a $5 watch, and when the merchant felt the bill, it didn't "feel" right and he immediately called the police. Voeth escaped, but was halted by Patrolman McCarthy after the latter had fired two shots in the air to frighten the fugitive. Voeth has admitted his guilt and confessed to the officials of the department of justice at St. Paul.

According to his story, Voeth traced one of the $20 notes "just for fun" while sitting in the lobby of a Duluth hotel, after which he secured thin paper better adapted for the purpose. He said he was so surprised at the striking imitation that he finally changed one to see if he could pass it.

None of the counterfeit notes have turned up either in Duluth or Superior, but the authorities in the two cities have been instructed to be on the lookout for the spurious money.

HANDY THING TO KNOW.

Gary Man Can Spit and Just Miss His Man Every Time.

Andrew Moratti of Gary, "spits funny." His peculiar manner of expectoration got him into serious trouble yesterday, when Tony Druzich, also a resident of Gary, and employed at the steel plant, gave him a fine cuffing. Druzich pleaded guilty to a third degree assault charge before Judge H. W. Lanners in municipal court this morning and paid a fine of $12.50. Peter Medvedt, arrested with Druzich, charged with complicity, was absolved from any connection with the row.

"Moratti spits at me every time he passes," Druzich explained to the court in giving his reason for having whipped him. "He has the funniest way of spitting I have ever seen. He just misses me. I have grown tired of dodging, and yesterday, when he pulled off the same old stunt, I picked him up by the collar and slapped his face, at the time reminding him that he must cut out spitting when near me."

HID FURS IN SNOW.

Mike Simok Just Walked Into Room and Took Garments.

Mike Simok, 32 years, a native of Russia, walked right into Miss Mary Doe's room at 21 Mesaba avenue at 9:30 o'clock last night, stole her furs and walked right out again. The theft was immediately reported to the police, and less than half an hour afterwards Simok was picked up by Patrolman Kreager and marched to headquarters.

When asked what he had done with the furs, Simok said he would tell if the police would let him go. An agreement was reached, and he led the officers to a huge snow bank on the westerly side of Mesaba avenue, where he had buried the stolen property. The furs are valued at $125.

This morning, when Simok entered a plea of guilty in Judge Lanners' court, he was fined $52.50. He could not pay, and was sent to the work farm for sixty days.

Robert Not Worrying.

Robert McLean, aged 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McLean of 24 West Second street, went out for a stroll last night about 10 o'clock without telling his mother where he was going or how long he intended to stay. When Mrs. McLean failed to find the boy in the home she instituted a search which was futile. She then asked the police to help her find the youthful Robert. While the mother was undergoing all kinds of mental anguish, Master Robert walked into the house and asked his mother why she was crying.

FATHER TIMOTHY DEMSEY OF ST. LOUIS

AND HIS HOTEL FOR THE WORKINGMEN

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 9.—Father Timothy Demsey, priest, social worker, strike arbiter and friend of the poor and homeless, gave free lodging to 6,248 men at his hotel for workingmen here during 1915, according to his report, which has just been made public. In addition the hotel received $16,585.85 during the year for "10-cent beds" and "nickel meals."

More than 100,000 men, since scattered to all parts of this country, and others, have been guests of Father Demsey, for stopping at his hotel means being his personal guest.

In nine years Father Demsey has given free lodging to 38,562 men and has furnished 100,613 free meals. Employment was obtained for 6,981 guests in those nine years, 59 were sent to hospitals for free treatment and the bodies of twenty who died at the hotel were buried—not in the paupers' field—but in "The Exiles Rest" of Calvary cemetery.

That, in spite of all this charity, Father Demsey's hotel is almost self-supporting is indicated by the report, which shows that of total receipts during 1915 of $21,[illegible] more than $16,000 came from the nominal charges to guests. Private subscriptions help support this institution.

Recently Father Demsey opened a hotel for workingmen and a day nursery, which are run on the same basis. Last year when a teamsters' strike here was at its height and seemed hopeless of settlement, Father Demsey quietly worked among the strike leaders and among the team owners and then suddenly announced both sides were ready for peace. A few days later the strike was settled to the satisfaction of both sides.

SILVEY CLAIM IS SETTLED

Attorney Says Amount Will Be About 20 Per Cent of Original Claim.

Claims made by the W. B. Silvey estate on the White Star Steamship line, owners of the ill-fated steamer Titanic, have been settled and will be paid to Mrs. Alice Silvey in the near future.

E. P. Towne, attorney representing the estate, announced today that a settlement had been made. He refused to give the amount of the claim that was paid, but said that it was about 20 per cent of the amount sought originally.

W. B. Silvey, former owner of the Spalding hotel and one of Duluth's most prominent real estate operators, lost his life when the Titanic, struck by an iceberg sank in the North Atlantic ocean. Mrs. Silvey, with him at the time, was placed in one of the lifeboats by her husband and was picked up some hours later.

Claims amounting to between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000 were presented to the White Star line after the wreck, and litigation has been pending since that time. The company at first offered to pay salvage and additional claims aggregating about $500,000, provided that all of the claimants combined.

Some of them refused to agree to this and the Silvey estate was one of those who accepted an alternative offer and settled separately. Claims involving about $150,000 still are outstanding.

Mr. Silvey's body never was found.

Building Managers Meet.

The Duluth Building Owners' and Managers' association held a meeting during the noon hour today at the Commercial club and discussed subjects of interest to the members. Aside from the report of progress of the association's committee which forms the general committee working on the new building, electrical and plumbing code, the chief matter discussed was the method of computing the cost of operation on the basis of per square foot. This rule, which is being adopted universally by organizations having to do with building, was formally adopted at today's meeting. With the square foot as a basis, a person writing to a member of the association to find out the cost of operating buildings here, is told how much per square foot, and from that can compute the desired information.

GERMAN CRUISER SAID TO HAVE BEEN TAKEN

New York, Feb. 9.—Advices received here today assert that the German warship Roon, alleged to be the captor of the Appam, has been captured by the British armored cruiser Drake after a three hours' fight 200 miles east northeast of Bermuda, according to a story printed by the New York Evening Globe.

The capture of the Roon is said by the Globe to have been followed by the seizure of two merchantmen flying the German flag, one of which was armed.

MERCHANTS CUT OUT DISCOUNTS

Retail merchants have decided that the 10 per cent discount to preachers and people in other lines, which, for years, has been the rule, will be no more.

At the meeting of the Duluth Retail Merchants' association, held last night, this was discussed and determined upon. Today it was emphasized at a meeting of certain retail clothiers who were unable to be present at last evening's meeting. The gathering today was at the Commercial club, where luncheon was served.

Clothiers are said to be the most affected by the new rule, and they have agreed that all such discounts in purchases will hereafter be cut out. The system of such discounts has been discouraged for some time, but the rapid increase in price which the war had brought in high-grade goods has brought the matter home to the merchants more emphatically than ever before, according to George W. Peterson, secretary of the Retail Merchants' association. That is the reason that this step was formally taken.

There will be about thirty-five teams in the field when the campaign opens and Rev. Father Floyd will have general supervision of all the committees.

SORE ARMS IN FASHION

Sore arms will be the fashion in Duluth during the next several weeks, if members of the city health department staff have their way.

"This is the time to be vaccinated," said Dr. E. W. Faley, director of public health, and Dr. J. R. Manley, head of the contagious disease division, agreed with him.

Smallpox begins to spread at this time of year, doctors say, because of weather conditions, and because of the danger of infection from laborers who have spent the winter in the woods or lumber camps.

"Later on in the spring typhoid becomes more prevalent," Dr. Fahey said, "and during March, when it is thawing, persons are more liable to infection of this kind than at any other time. All typholds can be avoided if a person takes the precaution of being vaccinated."

One hundred and twenty men at the joint city and county work farm will be vaccinated by Dr. F. E. Clark, county jail physician, today, in order to prevent the possible spread of smallpox. This step was decided upon by Supt. Fred Ward when he learned that one man, discharged from the institution a day or so ago, had been taken to the pest house with a well-developed case of smallpox.

"We have isolated one man, who is suspected of having the disease," Supt. Ward said, "and we are not going to take any chances with the rest."

Recently Dr. Manley, in commenting on the excellent record made in Duluth last year towards preventing contagion, said that difficulty was experienced in having persons submit to vaccination, and that that was one of the main reasons why the record was not even better.

Brainerd Horse Shot.

Brainerd, Minn., Feb. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dodging a switch engine, John Gilmer checked his team of black horses at the South Broadway railway crossing of the Northern Pacific. One horse reared and limped after his foot had caught between a crossing plank and rail. The foot had broken near the fetlock and the animal had to be shot.

TWO LAY CLAIM TO WIDOW'S SHARE

Whether Edward Anderson, who was killed in a mine accident at Virginia on March 6, 1915, was leading a double existence at the time of his death, is a question which will be raised on the trial of an appeal filed yesterday afternoon in district court.

Probate Judge Gilpin recently signed a decree of distribution disposing of Anderson's estate to Mrs. Flina Anderson of Virginia, who represented herself to be his surviving spouse, and to their child, Hilja Marie Anderson. The estate is worth about $2,500.

Since the decree of distribution has been filed in probate court, Prlita Saralampi and her child, Kusti Saralampi, have asserted their rights to the estate, claiming that they are entitled to receive it in spite of the representations made by the widow in Virginia. Their appeal from the probate court order states no particulars, but these will be supplied by papers to be filed later.

WHEAT AGAIN TURNS WEAK

Market Declines With Selling on Absence of Export Inquiry.

Crushers Pick Up Flaxseed on Break—Quotations Are Advanced.

May wheat closed 2¾c off, and July 2⅝c off.

May durum closed 2¼c off, and July 2½c off.

Oats closed ½c off at 46c for on the track; rye unchanged at 97c, and barley unchanged at from 65c to 73c for on the track.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ½c off at 46⅛c bid.

At St. Louis May wheat closed at $1.23⅜ bid, and July at $1.17⅝ bid.

At Kansas City, May wheat closed at $1.18⅜, and July at $1.14¼ asked.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.23¾ bid, and calls at $1.28⅝.

Bullish enthusiasm manifest in today's wheat market during the early trading, ebbed as the session advanced. At the start quotations held at around yesterday's closing basis and then they worked down on persistent selling.

There were intimations of export buying at the opening and some business was reported to have been worked at Southwest points. Later, the market was called upon to absorb considerable realizing on denial of rumors that any export trade in spring wheat had been put through at the seaboard. Liverpool was easier on expectations of increased shipments from Argentina and lower freight rates from that country. Additional steamers are said to have been placed at the disposition of grain shippers down there and grain from that country is expected to be more of a factor in the Liverpool market from now on.

A sustaining influence was furnished in light receipts in the Northwest and reported limited offerings by growers at interior points. Receipts of wheat at Duluth today were 34 cars against 119 last year. Minneapolis had 172 cars against 176 last year and, Winnipeg only 136 cars compared with 422 a year ago. It is noted that grain from the Canadian West is finding its way to the terminals here in increasing quantities. Today 76 cars of Manitoba wheat came in and the number of daily arrivals is expected to show a material gain for some time now. In view of the tieup in the movement of grain all-rail to the seaboard, receipts of bonded grain are becoming a problem for the local elevators to take care of, as the houses are rapidly filling up.

May wheat opened ½c off at $1.29, advanced ⅝c, and then eased off to $1.28¾ at the noon hour. July opened unchanged at $1.28¼, bulged to $1.29, and then broke to $1.27⅞.

Trading in durum was in good volume, with some inquiry from foreigners reported. May durum opened ½c off at $1.23¾, worked up to $1.24½, and then broke 1½c.

Flax Shows Recovery.

A reversion of form was evident in the flaxseed market. Crushers came in on the severe break recorded up till yesterday, and prices were advanced nearly $⅛c during the first two hours' trading. Marketings of the seed are limited at all points, and the trade is said to be taking extra courage in expectations of a heavy demand for oil developing in the spring. The market was strong around the close after passing through a period of weakness.

May flax opened ¼c off at $2.28, and closed 2c up at $2.30½ bid. July opened ½c up at $2.28½, and closed 3c up at $2.31 bid.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed 1c up at $2.10.

At Buenos Aires flax closed unchanged at $1.42⅝, and London ⅞c off at $2.83½.

MARKET GOSSIP.

Offerings of wheat were light on the Duluth market today and good demand developed for everything on the tables. Cash No. 1 northern sold at the May price, and cash No. 1 durum also at the May price basis.

Winnipeg wired: "Cash demand excellent this morning, but offers are very scarce. No. 1 northern is 3½c under May.

Russell's News, New York, said: "Early advices indicated some inquiries for gulf wheat and there are rumors of business doing. A further demand for corn was claimed. Relative to the big export sales of wheat reported by Chicago yesterday, it is known that the million bushels reported at the seaboard was made up largely of cash wheat sold out of Chicago, Omaha and Southwestern markets."

A private Liverpool cable said: "Wheat market is advancing steadily and the demand continues to exceed the supply. No. 1 northern Manitoba sold at 6d per quarter higher."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Argentine weather is reported as fine. Freights are easier. London is quiet, but steady."

Price Current says: "The weather was very cold for several days over the eastern half of the winter wheat belt during the past week and this being the second visitation of freezing weather, some damage was reported. It is to be expected when the growing season develops that the covering came too late to do very much good."

* * *

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Market was influenced at the immediate opening by steady American cables, but later it became easier, with freer Plate offers. Spot market was steady, unchanged to 1d lower. Cargo market was generally quiet, Plates unchanged, Manitobas 3d higher, winters 1½d higher. Arrivals are still moderate and native movement quiet generally. The spot market is generally steady, with demand taking care of arrivals, but Plates are approaching a parity with other qualities and buyers are holding off. Argentine freights are easier, with additional tonnage in sight. Weather there is fine, being clear and warm, and the movement of wheat and oats is increasing."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Chicago, Feb. 9.—Wheat gathered fresh strength today notwithstanding that at first some uncertainty was shown. Bulls relied chiefly on the fact that the demand at Liverpool continued to exceed the supply and on opinions that damage reports from the domestic winter crop belt were likely to become more numerous. Falling off in receipts northwest tended to handicap the bears. After opening ½@⅝c off to ¼c up with May $1.29¾ to $1.30¼ and July at $1.22⅞@1.23⅛, the market sagged a little, and then scored a moderate general advance.

Subsequently prices underwent a decided reaction as a result of what seemed to be a waiting policy in the export trade and because of free country marketing in the Southwest. Liquidation assumed large proportions. The close was steady but 2¼@2½c net lower, with May at $1.27¾@1.27⅞ and July at $1.20⅝.

Seaboard demand lifted corn. The rise was helped by the removal of embargoes on shipments to Baltimore and by bullish crop reports from Argentina. Opening prices, which ranged from ⅛@¼c to ⅜c higher, were followed by further upturns.

Later a break in wheat prices led to much weakness in corn. The close was heavy at ⅜@⅝c net decline.

Oats responded to the corn strength. There were reports of an improved domestic inquiry east.

Provisions advanced with hogs. On the bulge, however, packers sold and caused something of a reaction.

OLD-TIME BOOM IN COPPER STOCKS

Butte & Superior Touches New High Point—All Stocks Up.

Butte & Superior was a feature, advancing to $83.75, a new high point for it. The stock closed $4.50 up at $83.50.

American Zinc closed $1.25 up at $70.25, Calumet Arizona $2 up at $73, Butte & Ballaklava unchanged at 2¾, Copper Range $1.50 up at $66.75, Granby $3 up at $96, Greene Cananea $1.25 up at $48.50, Lake $1 up at $19, North Butte 50c up at $29, Osceola $2.50 up at $93 and Shattuck $1 up at $34.50.

Paine, Webber & Co. had the following from New York: "Copper stocks were again spoken of as being in shape for a good upward move and attention was called to the fact that sales of copper metal were made yesterday at higher prices than were touched in the copper corner of 1907."

Annual report of Tennessee Copper company, which will be presented to the directors at the coming monthly meeting is expected to show earnings of between 25 per cent and 26 per cent on the capital stock for the calendar year 1915, as compared with 13 per cent in 1914, 14.3 per cent in 1913 and 21.9 per cent in 1912. Much larger earnings are expected this year.

New York Metal—Copper, 28 cents for spot and 26¾ cents for June delivery; lead, 6.15 cents; spelter, 19½ cents. (St. Louis) quicksilver unchanged at $300 a flask.

A big bulge has materialized in Carnegie Lead & Zinc of late. That stock is now quoted on the Duluth curb market at $6.60@7.00 as compared with $2.87 three weeks ago.

Directors of the Copper Range will meet on Thursday to declare the quarterly dividend. The amount is thought likely to be $1.50 per share, or at the rate of $6 per annum.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Market Irregular at Intervals But Closes With Numerous Gains.

Average Prices Are at Highest in the Closing Hour.

New York, Feb. 9.—Washington advices that the Lusitania case had been virtually settled, with bullish news regarding the steel and copper industries, caused a cheerful feeling in financial circles here before the opening of the stock market, and prices at the start were substantially higher, with many stocks up 1 to 2 points. Canadian Pacific and New York Central were the strong features of the railroad list and scored gains of 1¼ each. American Car and Foundry, United States Alcohol, Crucible Steel and Beet Sugar and the coppers led the industrial division upward.

Stocks were offered on the advance and this together with sudden heaviness in some of the more speculative issues, notably industrial Alcohol, Cuban-American Sugar and Texas Company, resulted in general recessions in the stock market today. United States Steel fell off a substantial fraction and Crucible, Mexican Petroleum and other war and semi-war shares as well as Baltimore & Ohio and Rock Island, were under yesterday's close. Dealings dwindled to slender proportions in the second hour and irregular tendencies were again manifested at midday. Bonds were steady.

Leading stocks were virtually unchanged in the early afternoon, but minor coppers were strong, while People's Gas and Harvester Corporation were heavy. New York, Chicago & St. Louis first preferred rose 5 points on declaration of a 5-per-cent dividend.

Despite the marked absence of public interest, today's market was irregular at intervals, and closed with numerous material gains.

Activity was resumed in the last hour, average prices then being at their highest. The closing was strong.

SMITH INSISTS HE HAS DONE NOTHING WRONG

PASSENGERS IN SLEEPER ON U. P. SYSTEMATICALLY ROBBED BY LONE BANDIT

Collects Money and Valuables and Makes His Escape.

Forces Brakeman to Pass Hat Among Those in Other Cars.

Several Shots Fired By Robber to Intimidate Passengers.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Feb. 10.—A lone bandit held up and robbed twenty passengers in a Pullman on eastbound Union Pacific train No. 18 last night, between Green River and Rock Springs, Wyo., according to reports to railroad headquarters here. The robber escaped by leaping from the train when the alarm spread to other cars. A posse has left Green River in pursuit.

The bandit is supposed to have boarded the train at Green River. The first intimation of his presence was said to have been when he covered Brakeman M. Taylor in the sleeping car with revolvers. Taylor was compelled to pass a hat in which passengers deposited money and other valuables.

According to trainmen several shots were fired to intimidate the passengers.

Systematically Robbed.

According to trainmen the robbers first appeared in the observation car, intimidated a lone woman passenger and forced Brakeman Taylor to precede him into the buffet compartment. Here several men were ordered to throw up their hands and when one was slow about complying, the bandit fired two shots to obtain speedy acquiescence. Money and valuables were collected quickly and the bandit, following Taylor, proceeded into the sleeper ahead, where passengers in their berths were systematically robbed.

POSTOFFICE FLOATS DOWN WHITE RIVER

Mail and Postmistress Are Dumped in Water When Raft Breaks Away.

Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 10.—White River, Ark., a small town near the mouth of the White river, is minus a postoffice on account of the high waters, and the local office of the railway mail service has received an appeal for aid.

"My postoffice is now floating down the river. Unless it lodges against some trees, it will be a total loss," writes the postmistress.

The office was located on a raft which Sunday night tore from its fastenings, dumping the mail and the postmistress into the water from which they were rescued. Later, it was established on a barge, and again the wind demolished it.

Body of Girl Found in Woods.

Chicago, Feb. 10.—The body of a 17-year-old girl was found this morning in the woods near Lake Forest, a suburb. There was a bullet wound in her head and bruises about her body. Physicians believed the girl had been dead several hours. Partial identification led to the belief that the girl's name was Lambert.

ASKS AUSTRIA TO EXPLAIN

Washington Wants to Know About Attack on U. S. Ship.

Submarine Fires on Tanker and Seizes Provisions By Force.

Washington, Feb. 10. — Secretary Lansing announced today that he had sent to the Austro-Hungarian government through Ambassador Penfield, a dispatch asking for an investigation and an explanation of the attack by an Austrian submarine on the American tank steamer Petrolite.

The secretary said published statements that demands had been made upon the Vienna government were "not true," but that it was within the range of possibility that demands of some sort might be made in the future should the investigation and explanation asked warrant them.

One Man Wounded.

The secretary's dispatch called attention to affidavits of members of the crew of the Petrolite and to information from other sources, to the effect that the ship was stopped in the Mediterranean near Alexandria by an Austrian submarine which fired upon her and wounded one man in her engine room.

The submarine commander asked for food which Capt. Thompson of the Petrolite refused. He thereupon sent a boarding party on the American ship and removed one American member of her crew who was held as a hostage while the Austrians took the food they required from the Petrolite's stores.

NEW PICTURE OF KING FERDINAND WHO IS ON VISIT TO THE KAISER

KING OF BULGARIA.

FERDINAND IN GERMANY

King of Bulgarians Visits Emperor William at Headquarters.

Kaiser Praises Work of Balkan Ruler and His People.

Berlin, Feb. 10, by wireless to Sayville.—King Ferdinand of Bulgaria, accompanied by Premier Radoslavoff and Gen. Jecoff, commander-in-chief of the Bulgarian forces, have arrived at the German headquarters, according to the Overseas News agency. Dr. von Bethmann Hollweg, German imperial chancellor, and Gottlieb von Jagow, German foreign minister, were present when they arrived.

An offical communication gives the speeches delivered by Emperor William and King Ferdinand of Bulgaria at a luncheon given at the German main headquarters in honor of the Bulgarian monarch.

"The visit of King Ferdinand," Emperor William said, "may be regarded as a symbol of the unity existing between the two states. This unity is guaranteed not only by common political and economic interests, but also by a reciprocal feeling of sympathy, respect and confidence—confidence consecrated by the blood of soldiers of both nations in a common fight for the same ideals."

Emperor William concluded by proposing a toast "to the victorious Bulgarian army, the noble Bulgarian people and its illustrious leader."

King Ferdinand, in reply, said:

"It is of particular satisfaction to be able to express to the kaiser as the supreme war lord of the invincible German troops, on German ground and at German headquarters, my sincere admiration of the glorious feats of arms accomplished by the incomparable German nation with God's gracious assistance. The visit of the kaiser to Nish will be written in letters of gold in the history of the Bulgarian nation as marking the beginning of a new and promising future for the now united Bulgaria."

DROPS CASE AGAINST WOMAN WHO SHOT HIM

Settlement Marks End of One of Strangest Cases in Ohio Courts.

Findlay, Ohio, Feb. 10.—Just before Miss Ada Warner, 41, was to have been placed on trial here today on a charge of shooting Norris H. Powell, 43, Nov. 13, last, it was announced that the charge had been dropped by Powell on condition that Miss Warner drop her breach of promise action against him for $10,000.

This settlement marks the end of one of the strangest cases ever brought into the Ohio courts. Miss Warner was charged with having donned men's clothes and entered, at night, Powell's home, where he lived alone, demanding that he marry her and when he refused she is said to have shot him. He was found with a bullet in his lungs by neighbors and told his story.

Miss Warner was found an hour later at her own home, a mile away, with knife wounds in her throat, having evidently attempted suicide. Both hovered near death for weeks and finally recovered.

Miss Warner in her suit against Powell charged that he promised to marry her twenty-two years ago and had failed to do so, that she waited twenty years for him until his mother died and then discovered he had decided not to wed her.

ZIMMERMANN USED PHRASE

German Secretary Said United States Had Made "New Demands."

Cable Message From Berlin Verifies Correctness of His Statement.

New York, Feb. 10.—On Feb. 7 Secretary of State Lansing made the following statement in connection with the Lusitania case:

"All I wish to say is that this government has not increased its demands in the Lusitania case, as set forth in the notes of May 13, June 9 and July 21. I doubt very much if Mr. Zimmermann ever made such a statement, because he must know it is utterly false."

This was in reference to a statement attributed to Dr. Alfred Zimmermann, under-secretary for foreign affairs, in an interview with the Associated Press published on Feb. 4, in which he said:

"I do not understand America's course. We had thought the submarine issue settled and the Lusitania question on the way to an arrangement—had agreed to pay indemnity and all that—when the United States suddenly made its new demands, which it is impossible for us to accept."

Confirmed From Berlin.

When Secretary Lansing's statement was issued the Associated Press cabled its correspondent in Berlin for confirmation of the phrase attributed to Dr. Zimmermann. Today that correspondent has cabled the following statement:

"Berlin, Feb. 9.—The text of the interview with Under-Secretary Zimmermann was submitted to him and approved by him before it was cabled. Regarding the phrase 'new demands,' it is literally exact. The correspondent immediately countered with a question regarding the nature of these demands, without eliciting any answer."

SECURED $10,000 BY "FAKE" DEATH; CAUGHT

Wife Receives Money and Man Later Remarries Her Under Assumed Name.

Pueblo, Colo., Feb. 10.—John Alvin Brock has been arrested in Woodward, Okla., on charges of defrauding an insurance company by a "fake" death, according to F. R. Durham, counsel for the fraternal insurance society which has been investigating the case.

Brock, Durham said, disappeared eleven months ago, after a fire in Cuba, Mo., after which his wife collected insurance amounting to $10,000. Later Brock is alleged to have remarried his wife under an assumed name. Brock, according to the Pueblo attorney, has confessed, and is to be taken to Missouri for trial.

Bulgarians to Invade Greece.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Feb. 10, via London. —The government organ, Narodni Prava, publishes a leading article asserting that Bulgaria has the right to invade Greece for the purpose of attacking the French and British troops there. It declares Bulgaria is not responsible for the fact that her enemies have violated the neutrality of Greece and continues:

"Our enemies must not remain where they are. We have the right to seek our enemies there and destroy them in order that they may not threaten us.

"It may be hard for Greece to see foreign troops on her soil, but we cannot permit ourselves to be prevented from defending ourselves. We cannot possibly permit the enemy to remain near our border. He must be driven out. We are prepared to meet all possibilities with the fullest confidence in our power to win a final victory."

LINDBERGH IS OUT OF RACE

Congressman Will Support Burnquist for Governor of Minnesota.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Following a conference late yesterday between Congressman C. A. Lindbergh and Governor J. A. A. Burnquist in the office of the governor, it was announced today that Mr. Lindbergh is out of the race for governor, and will support Mr. Burnquist.

It also became known today that District Judge W. L. Comstock of Mankato had been picked by party leaders in the Democratic state committee as the "organization" candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor and had consented to run.

Mr. Lindbergh left last night for Washington and after his arrival there will issue a formal withdrawal statement, according to friends in Minneapolis.

SAYS HE IS MADE "GOAT" BY OTHERS

Declares That Pickit Has Not Given Him a Square Deal.

Grand Jury to Be Asked to Indict Smith and Pickit.

Smith's Physician Refuses to Allow Friends to See Him.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Insisting that he has been made "the goat" by others and that he has done nothing wrong, State Treasurer Walter J. Smith was still under care of a physician in a Minneapolis sanatorium today and is under close surveillance by St. Paul detectives who are held responsible for his appearance when wanted.

Action on the state treasury irregularities was expected to be taken by the Ramsey county grand jury late today. County Attorney R. D. O'Brien, it is understood, will ask the grand jury to indict State Treasurer Smith for grand larceny in the second degree. R. C. Pickit, the former clerk in the state auditor's office, whose confession implicates Mr. Smith, may be indicted for forgery and grand larceny.

Witnesses Summoned.

Witnesses summoned to appear late today before the grand jury are State Auditor J. A. O. Preus, Ed L. Erickson, deputy state treasurer; Matt Desmond, chief bookkeeper in the state auditor's office; W. J. Stevenson, assistant attorney general, and Fred B. Myers of Duluth, who arrived here this morning.

Mr. Smith's physical condition prevented a conference which friends were to have had with him late yesterday. His physician refused to allow anyone to see him. Newspapers are kept away from him, it is said, but he has general information of the charges that are pending, and issued a brief statement today.

"I have done nothing wrong," Mr. Smith said. "I have been made the 'goat' by others. Matters have been made to look worse than they really are. I am not guilty of any crime. It was foolish of me to lend money the Hamilton, Bermuda, Feb. 10.—If a battle has taken place between the British armored cruiser Drake and the German cruiser Roon off Bermuda, nothing is known here of the occurrence. PROF. FELIX FAKE VISITS THE AUTO SHOW.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

Signs that a military operation of importance may be impending in the Balkans are furnished by the Bulgarian government organ at Sofia which in a leading article asserts the right of Bulgaria to invade Greece for an attack on the French and British there. It declares that Bulgaria cannot permit these forces to remain near her borders.

Recent reports from the Balkans regarding the intentions of the Teutonic allies as to a move from Southern Serbia and Bulgaria on the Entente forces at Saloniki, such as the Sofia announcement would seem to indicate, have been contradictory. Dispatches announcing a notable concentration of troops and heavy artillery along the Greek border, however, have been frequent.

On both eastern and western war fronts the activity during the last few days has been more marked than for some time. Some movement of moment may be developing at the northern end of the Russian line, where the artillery play is reported as heavy and continuous, particularly in the neighborhood of Dvinsk. The Russians profess confidence in the security of their line there despite the German heavy guns. In Galicia they are on the aggressive and at one point report crossing the Dniester river.

In the west the initiative at present seems with the Germans, who were hammering on the French lines from time to time and making an occasional gain, notably near Neuville, not far below the Belgian border and south of the River Somme.

The visit of the French premier, Aristide Briand, to Italy, is engaging marked attention in the various capitals. On the eve of his departure from Paris, Premier Briand is quoted as declaring his confidence that he would obtain from Italian statesmen support of the strongest sort in carrying out the establishment of a closer and more effective co-operation among the allies.

Total Prussian losses in the war are estimated by an Amsterdam newspaper's statistician as 2,377,378.

Bombardment of Smyrna on the Asia Minor coast by a squadron of French aeroplanes is reported from Athens.

CUYUNA RANGE IS VERY BUSY

Mines in Shape to Ship 5,000,000 Tons of Ore This Year.

Big Properties Being Stripped and Much Drilling Is Being Done.

John H. Hill of Ironton, Cuyuna iron range, and his family are at the Hotel St. Louis, en route to San Antonio, Tex., where they will spend the remainder of the winter. Mr. Hill said this afternoon that more mining and more development work are being prosecuted on the range than at any time since its discovery and that the Cuyuna open pits and underground mines will be in shape to ship more than 5,000,000 tons of ore this year, a large percentage of which will be manganiferous.

"Most of the drilling is on the north range, extending from the east end of Rabbit lake to the west end of Little Rabbit lake," said Mr. Hill. "Men are scarce and mining operators do not yet know where they are going to get all of the men who will be needed with the end of winter.

"Stripping operations are being completed on the Mahnomen and Hill Crest pits adjoining Ironton and the great Cuyuna-Sultana property, also at Ironton, is to be stripped, operations to begin almost immediately. Ironton will then have six open pit mines, the others being the Pennington, Thompson and Armour No. 2. Another big open pit, the Rowe, is at Riverton, four miles away.

"Underground mines at or near Ironton which will ship this season are the Ironton mine in Ironton; Armour No. 2, at Ironton; the Meucham, Croft and Cuyuna-Mille Lacs close by, the Kennedy mine at Cuyuna, and the Iron Mountain mine five miles away. Other shipping underground mines will be the Adams, near Deerwood; the Wilcox mine, at Woodrow, six miles from Brainerd, and the Brainerd-Cuyuna mine, in Brainerd. All of the mines aforementioned are on the north range except the Adams, Wilcox and Brainerd-Cuyuna."

Mr. Hill is the founder of Ironton, owning two-thirds of the townsite and two-thirds of the ore underneath. Ironton is only four years old and has a population of about 1,500. It has all city improvements, two banks, a $60,000 hotel and is building a $100,000 high school.

SERVICE ON NEW CAR LINE

"Morgan Park and East Fourth" Appears on New Transfers.

Extra Cars Will Probably Run to Fifty-Seventh Avenue.

The Duluth Street Railway company has just received a new batch of transfers. That in itself probably would not be out of the ordinary, but they include a line which will be of great interest to West Duluthians and residents of the suburbs.

On the new transfers is included the proposed Morgan Park line. From the way in which this line is listed on the transfers the cars will be operated between Morgan Park and East Fourth street, probably terminating at Twenty-fourth avenue east.

Another new run is mentioned, that of Morgan Park to Fifty-seventh avenue west. This line will probably be operated to run during the rush hours of the day, the early hours of the morning and the evening hours.

Transfers will be issued from any line in the city and accepted on Morgan Park cars at regular transfer points, but they will not be good for a ride beyond Seventy-first avenue west. Transfers issued from a Morgan Park, eastbound car, at Fifty-seventh avenue, will not be good for a ride beyond Forty-ninth avenue. In other words there will be two fares collected from uptown to Morgan Park, the western dividing point being Seventy-first avenue, and the eastern one-fare point from Morgan Park being Forty-ninth avenue west.

The signs for some of the cars to be operated this summer to Morgan Park are already installed on the cars. These signs have the plain inscription "Morgan Park to 57th Ave." or "East 4th to Morgan Park." The service to be given has not yet been fully decided on, but officials state that it will be sufficient to take care of all traffic between the two points.

Construction work on the line will begin immediately after the frost is out of the ground, according to an announcement made this morning by officials. The rails have now been laid as far as Eighty-first avenue west, but these tracks beyond Seventy-first avenue are not in use now.

The company will receive its power for operating the extension from a substation located on the eastern side of the Smithville subway. Here the company has built a handsome station and the machinery is now practically all received. The station will redistribute power from the Great Northern Power company's sub-station, located at the Universal Portland Cement company's plant.

KOOCHICHING COUNTY NOW IN DRY COLUMN

International Falls, Minn., Feb. 10.—The saloons of Koochiching county that were voted out under the county option law closed at 11 o'clock last night at least they were expected to do so in conformity with a ruling County Attorney McPartlin received from the attorney general who said that Wednesday, Feb. 9, at 11 p. m., would be their last day and hour.

The returns of the canvassing board were filed with the county auditor on Aug. 9 at about 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Some held that the 10th would be the last day, while others contended that the saloons would have to quit on the 9th at the hour the returns were filed, the law reading "six months from the time" of filing the returns. The attorney general's office, with opinion by Mr. Hilton, chief assistant, interprets the law to mean at the close of the saloon's legal day, which is 11 o'clock, and on Wednesday, Feb. 9.

There were an unusual number of lumberjacks in town yesterday and this gave rise to rumors that they flocked here to see the death of the saloons, but investigation developed that many are leaving the woods because the heavy snow interferes with logging.

The sheriff's office notified all saloonkeepers to close last night and they did so here. The last hours of the saloons here witnessed a rushing business many laying in a supply of "wet goods."

ARTERIAL HIGHWAYS

Council Favors Plan of Charter Commission to Provide Means.

Duluth Must Grow Over the Hill, Is Claim of Backers.

City commissioners have gone on record unanimously as indorsing the action of the city charter commission in seeking to provide the council with the means of building arterial highways to open up the hill district.

"Surveys for the proposed arterial highways over the hill have already been made," Commissioner Farrell of the works division said, "but the council has been unable to tackle the work because of lack of money and absence of power to assess property benefited. "There are several routes where easy grades could be established at little cost," he said. "The city has barely enough money to pay for its share of paving and sewer improvements, however, so we have been unable to even consider the construction of these highways."

Commissioner Farrell believes the proper solution is an amendment to the city charter giving the city council the power to pay for the streets by "spreading" the assessment to include all the property benefited.

Those supporting the scheme say that Duluth now must "grow over the hill" and that the entire hillside would be thickly populated soon if easy grades were established.

The charter commission is expected to take up the problem of giving the council power to go ahead with work of that kind at an early meeting.

WILL BUY SEED IN CARLOAD LOTS

Hermantown Farmers Agree on Co-operation for Spring Planting.

Farmers of Hermantown will purchase the seed they need for their gardens and farm in carload lots. An agreement on co-operative buying of seed was reached at a meeting of the Farmers' and Producers' club of Hermantown last night.

Each farmer will make an estimate of what seeds he will need for his planting in the spring, and this list will be turned over to the executive committee of the club, which will, after having received all of the lists, purchase the seed in the best market. In this manner each farmer will save money, it is believed.

The present officers of the club are: James P. Grady, president; Gustaf Lueck, secretary, and Charles Wittich, treasurer.

The club proposes to take an active part in community work for the Hermantown district. The next meeting of the organization will be held on Feb. 21.

BELOIT LECTURER RESIGNS POSITION

Says College Is Victim of Too Much Self-Praise.

Beloit, Wis., Feb. 10.—Former Assemblyman C. D. Rosa has resigned his position as lecturer on law on the faculty of Beloit college. In speaking to the student body and faculty for the last time today he said that the institution is the victim of too much self-praise and that it must have an ideal of social service, rather than one of business or culture, if it is to survive competition with the university and other institutions.

Judge Rosa said that he did not wish to make public at this time the reasons for his resignation. But before the college convocation he did say that the college is subject to "other evils" which should be eradicated. Later he discussed the religious situation by saying:

Believes in Academic Freedom.

"I am an absolute believer in academic freedom, and I believe that the faculty should be allowed to legislate for that freedom without being hampered by any outside influence—financial or otherwise.

"The students had a perfect right to demand an explanation of the faculty's stand. They and the alumni had been placed in an extremely awkward position by the action of the faculty in compromising after it had announced a strong standpat attitude and then not making public the compromise. If the president actually believed that the compromise was the best thing for the college and the community, he should have made it public."

Judge Rosa refused to talk on other issues before the faculty.

DROP BOMBS ON KENTISH COAST

Two Women and One Child Injured in Raid of Germans.

London, Feb. 10.—Two women and one child were injured yesterday afternoon when two German seaplanes raided the Kentish coast, dropping bombs. Three missiles fell on the outskirts of Ramsgate, four near a school at Broadstairs. The material damage is said by the war office to have been confined to the shattering of glass.

The attack was made in broad daylight. At 3:30 o'clock two seaplanes were reported approaching the Kent coast, and a few minutes later they flew over Ramsgate and Broadstairs.

A number of naval and military aeroplanes and seaplanes ascended to attack the Germans, but they immediately retreated. As no engagement between the airmen has been reported, it is presumed that the Germans made good their escape.

Of the four bombs dropped in Broadstairs, all fell near a schoolhouse. Three of them exploded.

HOLDS OUT FOR FIVE-CENT RATE AND GETS IT

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 10. — The steamer Howard M. Hanna, Jr., in winter quarters in Milwaukee, has been chartered to load grain at Duluth within ten days of the opening of navigation at five cents a bushel. Cap. W. C. Richardson has refused to consider 4½ cents and has maintained that 5 cents a bushel is possible.

HANS SCHMIDT TO BE EXECUTED NEXT WEEK

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 10.—Hans Schmidt, the former priest convicted of the murder of Anna Aumuller in New York in September 1913, must pay the penalty for his crime in the electric chair in Sing Sing prison during the week of Feb. 13. Governor Whitman has declined to interfere with the execution.

Schmidt was convicted at his second trial, and the court of appeals confirmed the conviction, but called the attention of the governor to the claim made by the man's attorney that Miss Aumuller died from the effects of a criminal operation, and therefore Schmidt could only be tried on a charge of manslaughter. The governor granted Schmidt a respite of thirty days in which he investigated the claim.

SUIT AGAINST BREWERY.

Wisconsin Youth Wants Damages for Being Frozen While Drunk.

Appleton, Wis., Feb. 10.—Merton Fulcer, a minor, has brought suit against the proprietors of a Hortonville brewery for $9,500, the complaint alleging that he had been allowed to become intoxicated; permitted to go home without assistance when the thermometer was below zero, with the result that one leg and a foot were frozen and had to be amputated.

Inspector Acquitted.

El Paso, Feb. 10.—After 10 minutes' deliberation, the jury in the case of J. B. White, a United States customs inspector, charged with the murder of Francisco Perez, yesterday returned a verdict of not guilty. White killed Perez when, it was said, the latter attempted to draw a gun, after being placed under arrest. The shooting occurred at Ysleta, Tex., Jan. 28. Perez was alleged to have been a member of a gang of Mexican cattle thieves and was arrested by White.

THE WHOLE BODY NEEDS PURE BLOOD

The bones, the muscles, and all the organs of the body depend for their strength and tone and healthy action on pure blood.

If the blood is very impure, the bones become diseased; the muscles become enfeebled, the step loses its elasticity, and there is inability to perform the usual amount of labor. The skin loses its clearness, and pimples, blotches and other eruptions appear. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes pure blood. It is positively unequaled in the treatment of scrofula and other humors, catarrh, rheumatism, dyspepsia, loss of appetite, that tired feeling. Be sure to get Hood's and get it today. All druggists.

The Doctor's Advice
by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply in any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Ellwood Sts., Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

"Bad Cough" writes: "I have a bad cough and cold in my head. My ears ache and my whole system seems full of cold inflammation. Please prescribe."

Answer: There is nothing which will relieve your condition more surely and quickly than the use of mentho-laxene syrup. Secure from your druggist 2½ oz. essence mentho-laxene. Mix this with one pint of sugar syrup or honey, and take according to directions. You should receive immediate relief and benefit. The mentho-laxene is slightly laxative, and drives the cold inflammation out of the system.

"Rheumatic" writes: "I am a chronic rheumatic and am only 45 years old. Is there any chance of getting well? I am awfully worried."

Answer: Do not be alarmed over your condition. You will get almost immediate help, and with care, and the use of the following prescription you should shortly be completely relieved of rheumatism. Get 2 drams of iodide of potassium, 4 drams sodium salicylate, ½ oz. of wine of colchicum, 1 oz. comp. essence cardiol, 1 oz. comp. fluid balmwort and 5 ozs. of syrup sarsaparilla comp. Mix and take a teaspoonful at meal times and again before going to bed.

"Mr. W." asks: "What can I do for a long continued case of constipation? I have headache and dizziness and my complexion is sallow. At night I can't sleep. I'm so nervous."

Answer: Continued constipation affects the blood and makes it impure. You need a good blood purifier and laxative. Use three grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur). They aid digestion, act on the bowels and clean and purify the blood.

"S. E. E." writes: "I have a very severe case of dandruff. My scalp itches and my hair is coming out in handfuls."

Answer: Get a jar of plain yellow minyol at your drug store. Wash the hair and while still wet rub well into the scalp plain yellow minyol. Rinse out thoroughly and your scalp will feel clean and active. Repeat this treatment three or four times after washing and in a few weeks all your dandruff should disappear and your hair become healthy and soft.

"Corpulent" asks: "What will overcome corpulency? I am so fat as to be in my own way. I'm short of breath and cannot stand exercise."

Answer: To reduce safely, use five grain arbolone tablets. They are the most reliable reducers I could prescribe. Many are pleased with results from arbolone.

"Misery" writes: "I have been a wornout man for the past few months. My physical and mental forces are much impaired. I do not seem to be able to think clearly. I am much depressed all the time and my usual ambition and energy seem to have died. I have headache and pains in my back."

Answer: Your condition is identical to thousands of others brought to my attention yearly. Yes, your physical and mental forces are, as you say, much impaired, but you need not be alarmed over your condition. The use of three grain cadomene tablets should soon put you back in normal condition and fit to combat any troubles. Cultivate regular habits of living.

"Mite" asks: "I seem to be shrinking in size. I am very pale and thin. I do not feel sick, but I'm very weak. I want to increase my weight."

Answer: You are anaemic and the food you eat does not properly nourish your system; three grain hypo-nuclane tablets cause proper food assimilation and increase weight and strength. Take them with your meals. Sold in sealed packages.

"Mrs. Ella M." writes: "Please prescribe for me again. This time for my kidneys. I have chills and fever, look bad, have puffs under my eyes and my urine is dark in color and of bad odor. Sometimes my back hurts."

You should get almost instant relief from the use of balmwort tablets. I have prescribed these in numerous cases of kidney trouble and they have given excellent results. Most drug stores carry these tablets and they come in sealed tubes with proper directions.—Advertisement.

NAGGING HUSBANDS ARE GIVEN "WARNING" BY THE WOMEN IN VICES AND VIRTUES CONTEST

Drunkenness, Immorality, Gambling, Late Hours, Flirting and Neglect of Family Are Deplored By Fair Ones—Honor and Strength of Will Are Placed Among Leading Virtues.

The little things of life in the manners of men seem to be the hardships that wives, mothers and sweethearts have to contend with. The nagging husband, the one who comes home and insists that his meals should be perfectly ready when he arrives, receives a scoring from the feminine sex. Drunkenness is held responsible for most of these faults. The women seem to believe that if a man will refrain from drink most of his minor failings will speedily be done away with.

Laxness in the moral code, gambling, staying out late nights, unfaithfulness, flirting, neglect, absence of love of home and selfishness are the main traits in the average man that appear despicable to women. The man who brags also comes in for a "warming."

Miss Venla Carlson of Spooner, Minn., in giving her idea of the ten virtues and vices that a man should have, says:

Ten Faults.

"1. Hanging around public places drinking and making a fool of themselves.
"2. Gambling.
"3. Coming home late in the evening drunk and abusing his wife.
"4. Spending his money for his own pleasure and not thinking anything about clothes or food for his family.
"5. Flirting with other women and quarreling with his own wife.
"6. Spending his money on every other woman but his own.
"7. Taking other women out and letting his own stay at home.
"8. Always finding fault.
"9. Bring drinking men into the house.
"10. Letting his own wife do all the work."

Temperance Lauded.

Ten virtues of a man:
"1. Not getting drunk and hanging around public places and making a fool of himself, but staying home with his family, and enjoying home best.
"2. Not gambling, but depositing all spare money in the bank for future use.
"3. Not being out late in the evening drinking and coming home and abusing his wife.
"4. Not spending his money foolishly for his own pleasure, but buying clothing for his wife and family.
"5. Being true and faithful to his wife.
"6. Spending money on his own family and wife and thinking only of them.
"7. Taking his own woman out and not bothering with other women.
"8. Never finding fault.
"9. Keeping an orderly house.
"10. Doing all the outside work a man should do and not letting his wife do it for him."

VICES AND VIRTUES

1. What are the ten worst faults a man can have? What are the ten finest virtues in a man?

2. What are the ten worst faults a woman can have? What are the ten finest virtues in a woman?

Let's hear what the women have to say to Question No. 1, and what the men have to say to Question No. 2.

If you are a woman, write out the ten faults you think worst in a man, and the ten virtues you think are best.

If you are a man, write out the ten faults you think worst in a woman, and the ten virtues you think are best.

Write out your answers plainly, on one side of the sheet only, and your name and address, and send it to the Contest Editor of The Herald by Feb. 15, when the contest closes.

For the best answer from a man, The Herald will give a prize of $5; for the next best answer from a man, a prize of $3.

For the best answer from a woman, The Herald will give a prize of $5; for the next best answer from a woman, a prize of $3.

Man Should Be Thoughtful.

Mrs. H. H., Virginia, writes:
"1. Thoughtfulness.
"2. Temperance.
"3. Cleanliness.
"4. Cheerfulness.
"5. Industriousness.
"6. Manliness in all things.
"7. Generosity.
"8. A home lover.
"9. To allow his wife a sufficient income to run the household judiciously.
"10. To appreciate his wife and let her know it."

Selfishness Worst Vice.

"1. Selfishness.
"2. Lying, habitually.
"3. Excessive drinking.
"4. Cowardice.
"5. A masher or lady killer.
"6. Boorishness.
"7. Stinginess.
"8. To be effeminate.
"9. To be addicted to the use of narcotics.
"10. Continually finding fault."

Immorality Woman's Worst Vice.

Charles D. Pattison, Ormonde hotel, Duluth, writes:
"The ten faults of a woman are as follows:
"First—Immorality.
"Second—To make love to a married man for financial gain.
"Third—Pride and selfishness.
"Fourth—Untruthful.
"Fifth—Conceit.
"Sixth—Greed and deceitfulness.
"Seventh—Flirting.
"Eighth—Jealously disposed.
"Ninth—Use of intoxicants and nagging.
"Tenth—Smoking cigarettes.
"Now for the ten virtues:
"First—Morality.
"Second—Sociability.
"Third—Sobriety.
"Fourth—Love and devotion for husband and family.
"Fifth—Pleasing disposition.
"Sixth—Living according to the doctrine of the Bible.
"Seventh — Good housekeeper and cook.
"Eighth—Intelligence and education.
"Ninth—Industrious and courteous and religious.
"Tenth—Economy."

Weak Will Scored.

From M. M. B., Ironwood, Mich., comes the following:
"I think the question of vice and virtue in men and women is very interesting on account of the variety of opinions.
"In my opinion weakness of will power is the worst fault any man can have, because if a man has a weak will he may be easily tempted into any form of vice and even into crime.
"Cowardice is another fault which is a very bad one for no one has any use for a coward.
"Idleness or laziness lead to many other things such as immorality, gambling and drunkenness, which are qualities a man should not have.
"Greed and love of wealth can almost be considered as evil qualities, for they often cause trouble among the best of friends.
"If a man is greedy, he is also selfish, and selfishness is a terrible vice.
"Lastly, dishonesty and unfaithfulness are two faults which complete the list.
"The ten greatest virtues can almost be said to be just the opposite of the vices under consideration.
"First of all I would say strength of will power is the best quality a man can possess, for if a man has control over his will, he can overcome any other fault he may be conscious of.
"Bravery is a quality a man should have, for it brings other good things with it.
"Some of these are truthfulness, because a brave man is never afraid of the truth.
"Frankness and independence also accompany bravery.
"A man should be kind-hearted and charitable toward his fellow beings.
"Some of the other virtues are honesty, altruism, unselfishness, love of domestic life and lastly, but not least, faithfulness."

DULUTHIANS GO TO CEMENT SHOW

A Duluth delegation composed of L. K. Asrelf, D. C. Barr and Otis Birdsall will attend the annual cement show to be held at Chicago from Feb. 12 to 19.

For the first time in the history of the Chicago cement show it has become necessary to lease the First regiment armory in addition to the Coliseum in order to accommodate the many applicants for space. Such unprecedented demand is an indication of the faith manufacturers have in the promised business boom for 1916. It means that these manufacturers realize that concrete building operations will be carried on more extensively in 1916 than ever before. This means activity in all directions because today practically all construction depends largely on concrete. From small farm structures to huge silos, from sidewalks to roads and pavements, from cottages to skyscrapers, concrete is used as a foundation or for the entire structure. This extensive use of concrete is due to the growing realization that concrete construction means permanent construction.

But the cement show, while the largest single attraction, is not the only one. Among the annual conventions of the building interests, which will be held in the Auditorium hotel, are: Second national conference on concrete road building, Feb. 15-18; American Concrete Institute, Feb. 14-17; American Concrete Pipe and Tile association, Feb. 17-18; Illinois Lumber and Builders' Supply Dealers' association, Sherman House, Feb. 15-17.

FORMER DULUTHIAN PASSES AWAY IN ST. PAUL

News has been received in Duluth of the death of George W. Boyden, a former resident, in St. Paul on Tuesday evening, following a long illness. Mr. Boyden, who was 62 years of age, lived for a number of years in Duluth, leaving here about ten years ago, and has been connected with the railroad terminals in St. Paul ever since. In Duluth he was first with the Great Northern road and later traffic manager of Stone-Ordean-Wells.

Surviving him are his widow, four daughters and one son. Mrs. W. H. Gullingsrud of 508 East First street, a daughter, is in St. Paul to attend the funeral, and another daughter, Mrs. James Inglis of Kelly Lake, accompanied by Mr. Inglis, have gone to St. Paul. The funeral took place at 2 o'clock this afternoon from the family residence in St. Paul.

NOT TOO MUCH COAL ON HAND

Enough to Last Until Navigation Season Opens, Managers Say.

Strike in Spring Would Leave Northwest in Bad Condition.

The question of how much coal will be left on the docks at Duluth-Superior when navigation opens in the spring is pushing to the fore at this season, and there is some dispute as to the probable amount. That there will be plenty to tide matters over until navigation opens no longer appears to be in doubt, but there is the possibility that a strike condition will have to be faced, and that the opening of navigation will not offer much relief. If the strike that everybody seems to be fearing comes, and no coal is brought up the lakes in consequence, the matter of the amount of coal on hand now increases in importance.

One source of information gives the estimate that on Jan. 1, 1916, the amount of soft coal on hand on the Duluth-Superior docks was 4,467,000 tons, a decrease of 984,000 from the amount on hand on the corresponding date last year. If this be true, the shipments during January, which were, in round numbers, 808,000 tons, would leave a balance on hand of 3,659,000 tons.

More Optimistic Estimate.

Another source, local and usually pretty well up on the situation, gives the stocks on hand, soft coal considered only, at 5,650,000 tons, on which basis, with the January shipments of 808,000 tons subtracted, would leave a balance of 4,842,000 tons on hand. Out of this latter amount should be taken approximately 500,000 tons, which belongs to the Steel corporation and cannot be considered in the commercial coal estimates. It is also claimed that about 50 per cent of the stocks of soft coal on hand is railroad contract coal.

With the 500,000 tons mentioned taken out of the stock because of their inavailability, it would leave 4,342,000 tons on hand, as against 4,561,000 tons on hand a year ago the first of this month.

In any event, no matter which of the estimates is correct, there is enough coal to carry consumers over until navigation opens, as not much more than 1,000,000 tons a month is likely to be shipped out, and navigation usually opens about April 20.

To recapitulate, one estimate gives the amount of soft coal on hand at 3,659,000 tons, and the other, 4,342,000 tons, a difference of 683,000 tons.

It would seem that the latter estimate is more likely to be correct, for it comes from one coal man who has made a specialty of keeping track of the amount on hand, and gets his information direct from the superintendents of the various docks.

Hard Coal Condition.

So far as anthracite is concerned, it is estimated that on Jan. 1 the amount on hand was 959,129 tons. Shipments during January amounted to approximately 202,000 tons, which would leave the stocks of hard coal on Feb. 1 at 757,000 tons.

At the shipment rate of 1,000,000 a month, even figuring that the higher stock estimate is correct, stocks will be pretty well pulled down before navigation really gets under way, even without a strike to be considered, for there will be not much more than 1,000,000 tons of soft coal left on hand, about the smallest for several years. Last year over 3,000,000 tons were left over. A strike, and consequently shutting off of coal supply, would leave the Northwest in a precarious condition for soft coal supply, and might hit the railroads particularly hard.

At the present time dock superintendents find themselves up against it to fill orders. Cars continue to be scarce, although the situation has improved since the effects of the succession of storms of the last two weeks in January have begun to disappear. But not nearly enough cars are obtainable to carry the coal that is demanded. One coal company reported today that it has over 400 orders, and not a car to move them. Of course, that is not representative of the general condition, but every company is having a hard time of it in this respect.

BOYS' CLUB HOST TO GIRLS

Central School Organizations Enjoy Annual Joint Spread.

Members of the Boys' club and the Junior-Senior Girls' club of Central high school yesterday held their annual joint banquet at the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A., more than seventy-five representatives of each organization being present.

The girls were the guests of the boys and President Willard Thorp, in his address of welcome, explained to the girls the main purposes of the Boys' club. He showed how the moral standard of the school was being raised by the attempt of the club to advance clean sports, clean speech and clean habits. He also explained the courses of Bible study being offered by the club.

Clarence Thomas, Central yell king, led the boys and girls in several school yells. Marjorie de Forest, president of the girls' organization, responded to the address of welcome and expressed the gratitude of the girls in being so royally entertained. Donald Alexander sang "My Little Gray Home in the West" and responded to an encore with "A Perfect Day."

Lee C. Rasey, instructor of one of the Bible classes, gave an interesting talk. This was followed by a number of selections by the mouth organ band, composed of Neil Upham, Willard Thorp, Norman D. McLeod, with Erling Sodahl at the piano. Stanley Lamb rendered several humorous songs and dialogues.

The Boys' club has a membership of nearly 100 young men of the upper classes of Central high school and meets every Wednesday evening for supper and Bible study. Those in charge of the arrangements for the affair last evening were: Norman Tufty, Donald Alexander, Neil Upham, Howard Turner, Gordon Thompson, Max Goldberg, Irving Auld and John Ahlen.

PAVE WAY FOR NEW CITY CODE

Twenty-Two Civic and Trade Bodies Are Represented at Meeting.

Chicago Code Is Chosen as Model for Construction.

Representatives from twenty-two local civic and trade associations met in the council chamber at the city hall last night and decided upon details of organization, which are preliminary to the actual work of drafting a combined building, plumbing and electrical code.

Recommendations of a special subcommittee that the Chicago code be used as a model on which to frame a set of rules suited to local needs were adopted. The code was divided into nine parts and each of these parts will be assigned to a subcommittee, which will draft tentative sections of the proposed code and submit them to the general committee for approval.

Actual work of drafting the code will begin at the next meeting, Feb. 23, when the names of the men to comprise the subcommittees will be acted upon. The assignments now are in the hands of a special committee.

The nine divisions of the work are as follows: No. 1, organization of department, building and other inspectors, duties, qualifications, selection, authority, etc., permits condemnations and appeals; No. 2, classification of buildings; No. 3, general provisions, walls, foundations, strength of materials, etc.; No. 4, method of construction, fireproof, fire escape, chimneys, etc.; No. 5, miscellaneous provisions, docks and wharves, storage, signboards; No. 6, fire limits and fireproof districts; No. 7, complete plumbing code; No. 8, complete electrical code; No. 9, ventilation, heating, power plants and lift elevators.

Headquarters to be rented by the city will be established for the committee at some downtown location within a week or two. A clerk and stenographer will be hired.

UNCLE SAM TIGHTENS UP ON REGULATIONS

GOVERNING THE NATURALIZED CITIZENS

According to a new ruling by the Federal department at Washington naturalized citizens who return to their native land or to other foreign countries without first notifying a diplomatic or consular officer of the United States will lose their citizenship here if they stay abroad two years in their native land or five years in any other foreign country. This is an important ruling in the opinion of Officer Brown McDonald, and should be born in mind by naturalized citizens who are going back home for more than the time allotted.

It is all the more important since it reverses the practice that has prevailed heretofore. The decision also emphasizes the fact that the government at Washington is tightening up on its regulation of immigration and naturalization. The ruling follows:

"The department has recently announced that in construing the act of March 2, 1907, section 2, immigration laws, for the purpose of administering the immigration laws, it is the policy of the department that whenever any naturalized citizen shall have resided for two years in the foreign state from whence he came, or for five years in any other foreign state, without having presented satisfactory evidence (of intention to retain United States citizenship) to a diplomatic or consular officer of the United States, under such rules and regulations as the department of state shall prescribe, to presume that the expatriation is complete, and such persons presenting themselves for admission to the United States shall be dealt with in exactly the same manner as any other alien.

"The above will serve to reverse the practice heretofore prevailing."

"RANDOM SHOTS AT ROTARY" IS THEME OF McCARTER'S TALK AT WEEKLY MEETING

An address on "Random Shots at Rotary," given by W. C. McCarter of the Duluth Business university, featured the noon luncheon of the Duluth Rotary club at the Spalding hotel this noon. Elmer Whyte, president of the club, presided at the meeting.

"Men admitted to Rotary are usually past the impressionable age," said Mr. McCarter. "Their characters are so formed that teaching or preaching will avail very little. As we all, however, have more or less latent good in us, Rotary affords an excellent opportunity for the development of this good. Rotary is just what we make it, and will stand in the community for what we make it stand for.

"When we meet, there is always an imaginary melting pot in our midst. We are all giving to and taking from this pot. The more Rotarians present, the broader, more inspiring, more helpful and better flavored is the mixture. Here are some of the ingredients of the Duluth pot the spirited buoyancy and refined humor of A; the classical epithets of C; the hopeful, genial optimism of E; the infectious hilarity and original wit of T; the helpful, unifying persuasiveness of F; the profound wisdom of M; the sane, fearless, forceful utterances of V; the unpretentious, balanced business ability of three or four H's, etc., etc., all along the line. Each and every Rotarian in the club contributes to this mixture. Every time a Rotarian is absent from a meeting, this mixture is weakened. In the conservative language of the bulls and cons, the new sect of pious prophets, which has just lately butted into Rotary, there is enough of nerve in this pot to go up against the Prussian fighting machine; enough of oratory to move the Point of Rocks to rise in mutiny against its lingering treatment; enough of bluff to convince John D. that hades will be his future home if he does not cut Duluth gasoline to 5½ cents a gallon immediately.

"Yes, Rotarians, we have the brains here. The thing is to get them working. That's all we need to warrant club development, individual development and city achievement. What shall we do to get them working? Just what we have been doing since this club was organized, give them work to do, each and every one. Put them on committees, put a new face in the chair every other meeting, plan debates on municipal topics, a drill now and then on parliamentary procedure and impromptu speaking, get our entertainments from club talent.

"Whatever we achieve it is gratifying to know and feel as we do that there is one little word of five letters which is daily being engraved on the escutcheon of Rotary. The more deeply it is engraved, the more pronounced will our organization stand as that power for good in the world, which we hope to make it. The word is the last one in this line of the immortal Cowper, 'the only amaranthine flower on earth is virtue; the only lasting treasure, truth.' 'Truth' is the word. Let us continue to make it the cornerstone of Rotary."

LIGHTS AND SHADOWS OF POLICE COURT

SEEKING EASTERN ACCENT AND TURBAN

Little Brunette Quits New Job Suddenly; Accounts $30 Short.

A charming little brunette, with an Eastern accent, a dainty manner, a fur-trimmed turban and other distinguishing features, walked into a 5 and 10-cent store at 18 West Superior street early yesterday.

The following conversation between the girl and J. E. Wallace, manager, ensued:

"I am looking for a position."

"Name?"

"Harriet Ward."

"Age?"

"I am just 18, sir."

"Experience?"

"Oh, yes, sir! I was with the Marshall-Field company in Chicago for quite a while. I worked there until I moved away from Chicago."

Harriet went to work at a ribbon counter and dispensed colorful bits of silk until late in the afternoon, when a masculine voice telephoned to her.

"Oh, goodness!" Harriet said to the other girls, "I must leave right away. I can't wait until 6 o'clock."

When employes checked up the ribbon counter account last night it was $30 short and Mr. Wallace knew that Harriet was right when she spoke of being experienced.

When he told police about it today they began looking for an Eastern accent and a fur-trimmed turban.

DIDN'T LIKE "STOOL PIGEONS."

But John Meyers "Swung" Before He Was Sure of Identity.

John Meyers, 23, and William Cahill, 28, stood at the corner of Twenty-second avenue west and Superior street talking to Patrolman Magnuson, the "cop on the beat."

"I'm glad Boylan won out up at Virginia," said Meyers. "He's a good scout."

At this moment Cahill caught sight of Police Operator C. L. Nelson, who was standing near by, evidently listening to the conversation, as he had been talking to Patrolman Magnuson before Meyers offered his opinion on Virginia politics.

"I know you," said Cahill to Operator Nelson. "You're a stool pigeon. You can't slip anything over on me."

Resenting the remark, the operator stepped up, placed his hand on Cahill's shoulder and displayed a police badge. Meyers took a hand here, or rather a fist, and made a swing at Nelson. When the snow settled again, Meyers and Cahill were under arrest and the police operator was nursing a sore jaw.

In police court today Meyers paid a $17 fine and Cahill one of $12.

TONY IS EASY.

Detectives Get Evidence in Liquor Violation With Little Trouble.

"Beef steak, pork steak, ham and eggs or sausage?" said John Tony, 28, to Chief of Detectives Gustav Lahti and Operator Ralph Lutz last night.

"And," Tony went on, lowering his voice to whisper, "what'll yuh have tuh drink?"

"Beer," said Lahti, who never drinks.

"Beer for me, too," said Lutz, who also is a teetotaler.

When the beer came the officers arrested Tony on a charge of selling liquor illegally, and, accompanied by Detectives Toewe and Bradley, they called on George Sackas, 56, proprietor of the restaurant-rooming house at 121 West First street.

Both men spent the night in jail, being unable to furnish bonds of $100. This morning in municipal court Sackas pleaded guilty to a charge of running an unlicensed drinking place, and Tony did likewise, after some hesitation, to a charge of selling liquor illegally.

Sentence was deferred until this afternoon, by Judge W. H. Smallwood.

"We've been watching that place for some time," said Chief R. D. McKercher, "but I didn't think we would be able to catch them as easily as that."

FRIEND OF CHIEF.

Wilson, Larceny Suspect, Mispronounces Name of Milwaukee Head.

James Wilson, 26, a sailor, made a conversational faux pas at police headquarters last night, after being arrested as a larceny suspect.

"I'm from Milwaukee—lived there for years," he told Lieut. N. U. G. Terry.

"Know the chief of police?"

"Know him? Well I, guess I do! Just like two brothers was Smith and I. Great old fellow, isn't he? Been chief there for fifteen years or so?"

"Let's see," replied Lieut. Terry. "What was his name?"

"Smith," said Wilson, "George—or is it John—Smith."

"If you'd said Schmidt," replied Terry, "that wouldn't been such a crude guess, Milwaukee's German, you know."

Wilson is held as the man who stole a $24 green corduroy overcoat from Mrs. John Willette, of Alston, Mich., yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Willette was waiting for a train at the Soo station, and laid the coat over the seat for a moment.

Wilson was caught half an hour later when he tried to pawn it in a West Michigan street second-hand store. He claims that he bought it for 50 cents, and is held in $100 bail for a hearing this afternoon.

WOULD EVADE DEPORTATION

Deserter From the Canadian Army Puts Up Fight in Courts.

Around Mike Connor, deserter from the ranks of the Canadian army, who is now whiling away his time amid the lugubrious surroundings of the St. Louis county jail, centers an interesting story of a game fight with the United States immigration officials who are seeking to deport him to Canada. The account of how Connor successfully evaded the immigration inspectors for more than a year after they had warrants for his arrest and of the fine legal finessing which followed when he first sought his liberty was disclosed yesterday afternoon, when Connor, through his attorney, W. W. Barron of Grand Rapids, sued out a writ of habeas corpus directing Sheriff Meining to produce Connor in court tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock and show by what authority he was being confined in jail.

Connor is held a prisoner at the St. Louis county jail under a warrant of arrest directed to Charles W. Seamons of Minneapolis, inspector in charge of the immigration service of this district. The offense charged is that Connor entered the country without complying with the inspection regulations and he is being detained until an examination can be had before the immigration inspectors.

Says It Is Subterfuge.

Connor, through his attorney, declares, however, that this a mere subterfuge, that there is something "under the hay," and that the real reason for his apprehension and deportation to Canada is to deliver him to the authorities there who want him on a charge of being a deserter from the Canadian army. His offense in Canada, he believes, is a political one against the government of the country from which he fled and he maintains that he cannot be deported by the United States authorities on this score.

Connor was arrested at a lumber camp four miles from Grand Rapids on Monday by Inspector Davis of St. Paul. He was taken to the Grand Rapids county jail and there detained over night. While in jail, he consulted with his attorney, W. W. Barron, who determined to endeavor to secure his release on habeas corpus proceedings. Mr. Barron took the first train for Bemidji, where he sought out Judge W. C. Stanton of the district court and secured a writ directed against the sheriff of Itasca county. But when the attorney returned to serve the papers on the sheriff he found that his client had been removed to the St. Louis county jail in this city.

Gets Second Writ.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Barron appeared before Judge Dancer and secured a writ of haeas corpus directed against Sheriff Meining of this county. The validity of the warrant of arrest under which Connor is held will be determined tomorrow morning, when he will be produced in court. It is expected that the immigration service will be represented at the hearing by the United States district attorney's office to defend the position taken by the inspectors in handling the case.

Connor fled from Canada on Feb. 15, 1915, and has been a refugee since that time.

GETS HIS COMMISSION.

Agent Recovers $175 for Selling Motion Picture Theater.

A jury in Judge W. H. Smallwood's division of municipal court brought in a sealed verdict last night for $175 for W. S. Rider, real estate broker, against J. M. Averbrook, former owner of the Diamond motion picture theater at 16 East Superior street.

Rider, in his complaint, alleged that Averbrook appointed him agent for the property, and that he agreed to pay 5 per cent commission if he (Rider) succeeded in selling it.

F. F. Halicki bought the house for $3,500 some time afterwards, and Rider alleged Averbrook forgot about the 5 per cent.

The jury decided to give it to him.

AFTER MORE MOTOR WORKS EQUIPMENT

Bids Opened on Seven-Passenger Machine; More in Prospect.

Bids on the furnishing of the works division with a seven-passenger automobile were opened this morning, marking the first step of the year in acquiring new equipment for this department. The bids follow:

J. T. Armstead, Marmon, $2,750; Leonard McNamara, Studebaker, $1,095; Martin Rosendahl, Reo, $1,300; and Mutual Auto company, Overland, $1,195, and Chalmers, $1,400. Commissioner Farrell announced that he will make a careful study of the proposals before deciding on the machine.

In addition to the purchase of this car, the works head has under consideration the buying of another automobile truck, a small steam shovel, an automobile oil sprayer and equipment for a complete concrete testing laboratory during this year. The levy for this division includes $10,425 for new equipment and $23,000 for the building and maintenance of bridges, for which a great share of this equipment will be used.

The new truck, together with the one purchased last fall, will be used in hauling crushed rock and dirt wherever pavements are to be repaired and also the dumping of dirt underneath those bridges which are to be removed during the year. The steam shovel will also be used for this work, while a small locomotive and train of cars, purchased last fall, will help the department in make these fills. This work will begin as soon as the frost is out of the ground.

The automobile oil sprayer, which will cost approximately $4,000, will be used in oiling the streets next summer.

One of the small rooms at the city hall, according to the commissioner's plan, will be equipped for a concrete-testing laboratory. This work is now being done at the old armory.

FORMER TEACHER WILL BE BURIED FRIDAY

MISS GLADYS GOLDSMITH.

Funeral services for Miss Gladys Goldsmith, who died Tuesday at her parents home, 1111 West First street, will be held from Crawford & Sons chapel Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Miss Goldsmith was born in Duluth and attended school here. She was graduated from Central high school in 1908 and the Duluth normal in 1910, being very active in school affairs.

About two years ago, while teaching school in Northern Minnesota, Miss Goldsmith contracted a severe cold, and complications developing at that time proved the cause of her long illness and death.

In addition to her mother, she leaves two brothers and one sister.

Thin Folks Who Want to Get Fat

Increase in Weight Ten Pounds or More

"I'd certainly give most anything to be able to fat up a few pounds and stay that way," declares every excessively thin man or woman. Such a result is not impossible, despite past failures. Most thin people are victims of mal-nutrition, a condition which prevents the fatty elements of food from being taken up by the blood as they are, when the powers of nutrition are normal. Instead of getting into the blood, much of the fat and flesh producing elements stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste.

To correct this condition and to produce a healthy, normal, amount of fat, the nutritive processes must be artificially supplied with the power which nature has denied them. This can probably best be accomplished by eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is a careful combination of six splendid assimiliative agents. Taken with meals they mix with the food to turn the sugars and starches of what you have eaten into rich, ripe nourishment for the tissues and blood and its rapid effect has been in many cases reported remarkable. Reported gains of from ten to twenty-five pounds in a single month are by no means infrequent. Yet its action is perfectly natural and absolutely harmless. Sargol is sold by Boyce Drug store and other druggists everywhere and every package contains a guarantee of weight increase or money back.

NOTE:—Sargol is recommended only as a flesh builder and while excellent results in cases of nervous indigestion, etc., have been reported, care should be taken about using it unless a gain of weight is desired. —Advertisement.

LIEUTENANT NOT WORRYING ABOUT DULUTH'S "DEFENSES."

Lieut. F. J. Willie, Minneapolis, head of the naval recruiting district including Duluth, was in this city today, and emphatically denied having given out the interview recently given considerable publicity regarding the "defenses" of the Duluth port. Lieut. Willie says that his visit here early in the winter was to secure routine information and was not to report on the "defenses" of this port or to carry out any preparedness program of the Federal government.

While here today Lieut. Willie and Dr. B. J. Iden examined three applicants for enlistment, all of whom were accepted. R. E. Dully, Superior, was enlisted in the naval reserve, and L. A. Wilson and H. E. Johnson, both of Superior, were enlisted in the regular service.

Owing to the fact that there were so few enlistments in the naval reserve in the United States last year, a new bill has been introduced in congress to make the regulations more acceptable. The new bill provides for a new department for the merchant service, the appointment of officers and also seven or eight classes of seamen.

The Duluth district supplied twenty-two men last year out of 176 enlisted in the United States for the naval reserve.

The whole district has now been put under the direction of the Eastern official, Capt. R. E. Crank of New York, and taken from the supervision of Capt. W. A. Moffett for administrative purposes, said Lieut. Willie.

PEOPLE have often danced in front of and around automobiles—but never voluntarily, and now tomorrow night us pedestrians will have the auto just where we want it and Society with a big "S" is going to fox trot and one step (they can hesitate too—but don't have to) all around—in front of, and at the side of any one of these speed demons without the slightest danger to life, limb or dignity.

Efficient Housekeeping

Do You Know Beans?

DO YOU KNOW BEANS? An ancient Roman named Isodorus informs us through a long and carefully written report, that beans were the first food of man. Lentilus, Fabilus and Cicero were three great Roman families who held legumes so highly that they derived their names from these vegetables and today we still have lentils, faba a bean and cicer a pea. But nowhere in Roman, or any history, do we read of our staple luxury, pork and beans. Other nations have the misfortune to prefer the two articles separate and do not violently affect either. But the land of steady habits, New England, is nothing if not generous, and we are sending entire shiploads of this wholesome combination abroad. Pork and beans is rapidly becoming universally appreciated in trenches and in palaces.

The Boston method of baking beans is undoubtedly the best; they are baked very slowly with plenty of seasoning and sweetening, and a good-sized piece of salt pork browned over the top.

Scientists agree with the Romans that properly cooked beans furnish an almost perfect food in the amounts of carbohydrates and proteids. Little cares the average housewife for that; the reason pork and beans are so popular is because after they are soaked over night, seasoned, packed into bean-pot and put into oven, fireless cooker or ancient fireplace, they cook themselves. When the day is done, madame opens the crock with unruffled brow, knowing well the important article of the coming meal is done to a turn and that the family will all unite in praising her cooking.

Beans are like dried apples in one thing, they swell, and a quart will easily fill a three-quart bean-pot when cooked. However, they are like rainee pie too, they improve when reheated, so a quart is the amount usually cooked.

Soak the beans over night and drain. Mix one-fourth of a spoon of baking soda, one level tablespoon of salt, three tablespoons of light brown sugar, one cup of New Orleans molasses and half a teaspoon of pepper with a pint of hot water.

Mix this into the beans with half a pound of diced salt pork or bacon. Add boiling water to cover the beans and see that the lid fits snugly. Cook slowly, and when the water is all absorbed, they will be done. If tomato sauce or mustard dressing is wanted on the beans, it should be added when the beans are cooked tender and commencing to brown.

Suggestions for Valentine Hostesses

Suggestions for Valentine hostesses from various exchanges, follow:

A basket of red and white carnations tied with red tulle bow makes an attractive decoration, with red candles. Put a border of little hearts all around the edge of the table and have bonbons, motto crackers, decorated with faces and named thus: Sly Kiss, Forgotten Kiss, Stolen Kiss, Brotherly Kiss, Honeymoon Kiss, Naughty Kiss, Friendly Kiss, Lover's Kiss, etc. Hang up signs painted on big, red hearts reading: Frigid Heart, Aching Heart, Scornful Heart, Happy Heart, Palpitating Heart, Broken Heart, Mended Heart, etc., and if you have a clever friend who can paint, it will add to decorations to put an expressive face on each heart, so named, using white paint.

Send out invitations on Valentine postcards or red hearts and prepare tiny hearts in a variety of colors—half as many as you have guests. When they are made out, cut each one in half, keeping them separate. Give half a heart to each guest as they enter and let them match up and find their partner for the evening. This alone will cause much fun.

Another bit of fun can be had by tying a pasteboard heart to a string. Provide the guests in turn with scissors, blindfold them, turn them around three times and tell them to cut the string holding the heart.

Little cards are handed to each guest, half of a short quotation to the gentleman and the other half to the lady: "All's well" is written on one card, and "that ends well" written on the other half. "Love me little" on one half. "Love me long" on the other half, etc. Only well-known quotations should be used, otherwise there may be a mix-up.

"Two Hearts That Beat as One" is another source of delight. Fasten a large white pocket handkerchief on the wall or door. Paste on this a red heart, and provide each guest with a similar red heart. Each is then blindfolded and allowed to walk forward and pin the heart directly over the heart upon the wall. Of course this is not easy to accomplish, but the one coming nearest to it wins the prize.

* * *

Heart shaped cookie cutters will be in great demand for cakes and sandwiches for Valentine refreshments, but those who haven't them may serve heart shaped slices of cake by following these directions: Use any good white cake recipe, save one-third of batter and color it pink with vegetable coloring. Grease a large sized baking powder can, and with a spoon dip the white batter into the can, placing it around the outside and the pink in the center until can is two-thirds full. Bake in a moderate oven. Fold in half a stiff piece of paper cut the size and shape of bottom of can, and cut in heart shape. Lay this on loaf (removed from can) and cut with a sharp knife down the length of the loaf until it is heart shaped. Cover with white icing, turn and cover other side. When cake is cut slices are heart shaped with pink centers.

Bed Time Tales

Flitter Flying-Squirrel

IN A WOOD, not far from the creek where Bushy Beaver made his home, there lived a timid, beautiful little creature named Flitter Flying-squirrel. Like Bushy, Flitter did most of his eating and playing by night, so he was not seen by many—something that he was most thankful for, you may be sure.

Flitter was a small, graceful little fellow, not unlike his cousins, the gray-tailed squirrels, in appearance, except for one important thing—Flitter could fly. Not really fly up and down and all around as the birds do, of course; but fly downward from any tree or fence or bush that he happened to have climbed upon. Attached to his wrists and to his ankles were dark little pieces of hair-covered skin; when Flitter wished to "fly" to the ground, he simply spread out his fore and hind feet, and daintly "sailed" downward. So well did he manage his tail as a guide that he could stop wherever he wished without the least bit of jolting.

When Flitter was not using his wings for flying, they were folded neatly beside his body and did not in the least interfere with his neat, graceful appearance.

Sometime, when you are in a woods at twilight, you must sit quietly on a stump or on the ground and see if you cannot see some of Flitter Flying-squirrel's family—you will enjoy watching them play together, for they are jolly little creatures.

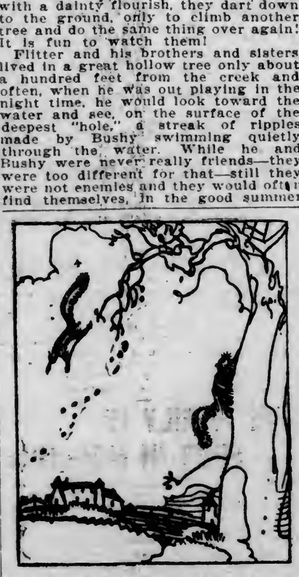

They climb up the trunk of a tree; run out upon a branch; and then, with a daintv flourish, they dart down to the ground, only to climb another tree and do the same thing over again! It is fun to watch them!

Flitter and his brothers and sisters lived in a great hollow tree only about a hundred feet from the creek and often, when he was out playing in the night time, he would look toward the water and see, on the surface of the deepest "hole," a streak of ripples made by Bushy swimming quietly through the water. While he and Bushy were never really friends—they were too different for that—still they were not enemies and they would often find themselves, in the good summer time, nibbling away at the same tender bit of root or twig. But so polite were they both that there was never a quarrel. Perhaps both had the good sense to know that there were roots and twigs and grasses enough for all!

Like Bushy, Flitter lived in quite a large family. Everybody in the family was good-natured and jolly and it seemed much pleasanter, especially in winter, when every squirrel made just a little more warmth in the hollow-tree home, to live all together. So Flitter and his three sisters and two brothers, his father and mother and a couple of relatives lived in the hollow tree.

Suggests "After School" Classes in Playing of Musical Instruments

Mrs. Ann Dixon, supervisor of music in the Duluth schools, presented a plan at the principals' meeting yesterday for "after school violin classes," which would provide for class instruction at a cost varying from 15 to 25 cents a lesson. She asked the principals to cooperate and to find out the number of children at each school who would probably wish to enter the classes. If the number is sufficiently large permission will be asked of the school board to introduce the plan of after school instruction on instruments that has become an important part of the musical life of many cities.

If the school board gives permission the city will be divided into districts to facilitate the organization and meeting of classes. Musicians of the city will give the instructions and will receive their regular rates for instruction, the expense to be divided equally among the members of the class. As many as can be handled successfully will be taken into a class.

Instruments Available.

"Many violins or other instruments not in use may be found in homes and these can be used," Mrs. Dixon said. "Students without instruments may provide themselves with them at wholesale price, governed by the number bought ranging in price from $5 to $7. Payments may be made on the installment plan."

Mrs. Dixon said this morning that Fred G. Bradbury and Gustav Flaaten, teachers of the violin, are heartily in favor of the plan and suggested some of their advanced pupils as instructors if the plan is carried out. Only violin instructions have been discussed so far, but if the violin classes are successful it is probable that lessons on other instruments will be given to promote interest in orchestra work.

MRS. ANN DIXON.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

Four Ways to Happiness

I have sometimes indulged in a Utopian dream concerning lodging houses. Every person desiring to keep a place for lodgers is usually compelled to apply to the municipal authorities for a license to operate the same as an innholder of a special class. I have figured out four rules or regulations and on each breach of the same such license shall be revoked. The following are the rules:

First — There shall be at all times a parlor open and ready for the reception of callers in which the lodgers shall entertain all visitors of the opposite sex. I would apecially stipulate that it shall not serve the double purpose of a drawing room and a bunking place for the landlady and her family.

Second—That lodging house keepers shall not advertise to purvey hot and cold water, and then furnish the former only when ironing day or a "big dinner" day compels a hot kitchen fire—but that it shall be in continuous supply.

Third—That the heating system shall be adequate to produce a temperature of 70 degs. in all rooms, save when there is an extreme inclemency of weather, and not be regulated by the flushness or the "hard-up-ness" of the landlady for the wherewithal to buy coal.

Fourth—That the windows and paint in each room shall be washed at least once a month and carpets taken up and beaten at least once a year. That vermin shall be conspicuous by its absence and that any room vacated by a person suspected of having a contagious disease shall be fumigated.

Some such uniform standard as above would perhaps seem to work hardship at first. I think, however, that it is not really too much to ask that persons letting out rooms shall furnish the essentials of comfortable and decent living. Many a landlord, by reason of cheap laundry service, deals out towels and bed linen with a lavish hand, but balks at clean paint.

I am of the opinion that too much of the profit derived from lodging houses (which I admit is not any too large) is eaten up by carrying out false ideas regarding furnishings. The showy, heavy mirrors and furniture, the thick gaudy carpets, almost impossible to keep clean, the everlasting lace curtains and inartistic pictures could be gradually replaced by bare floors and rugs, plain strong beds and furniture and muslin hangings to the immense relief of the purse and sanitary improvement.

Better Attendance Is Urged For the Twilight Concerts

There are many in Duluth who have not as yet availed themselves of the opportunity of hearing the Duluth orchestra in its series of twilight concerts being given at the new armory every Sunday at 5 o'clock. The present organization, due to the efforts of several of Duluth's leading public spirited citizens, is far in advance of any similar undertaking ever put forth locally, and upon the present venture will depend whether Duluth is to be numbered among the many progressive cities which take enough interest in musical affairs to maintain orchestras of like caliber. While the attendance at the weekly concerts thus far has been good, the receipts have not covered expenses, and in order to insure the orchestra becoming a permanent organization a more liberal response is needed. The prices have been made as low as the standard of the orchestra merits, and certainly no city of Duluth's size can boast a more pretentious orchestral body. The orchestra, in its series of concerts at the high school auditorium last year suffered many handicaps due to the lack of complete instrumentation but this has been overcome this year by the engagement of the general high class musicians who

SIDE TALKS

By RUTH CAMERON

What Not to Say

THERE are few things more astonishing than the bad taste people of otherwise good taste will sometimes show in conversation.

I think this is partly due to nervousness, partly to the intoxication of being listened to, and partly to lack of thought on the subject.

Somebody ought to get out a book to tell people what to talk about, or, more pertinently, what not to talk about.

These are some of the prohibitions I should like to see included:

Don't tell stories in which your prowess of one sort or another is the main theme, unless they are so intensely interesting in themselves that they are justified. Even in that case, one should slur over one's share as much as possible, instead of emphasizing it.

Don't Keep Making Chances to Say, "When I Was In, Etc."

Don't tell stories about your travels just for the sake of giving yourself a chance to say, "When I was in, etc." If you have any travel story to tell that would be intrinsically interesting, even if it happened to a stranger, tell it. Otherwise keep still on this subject.

Funny stories in which the joke is on you are permissible. Leave funny stories in which you, by your wit and humor, get the best of your antagonist to someone else to tell.

Food likes and dislikes are a vulgar and childish subject for general conversation. Such statements as, "I like onions, but they don't agree with me," "I can't eat pork," "Radishes are my favorite vegetable," etc., are of interest to the person who has to cater for you, but not to any general company. People will often talk animatedly on such subjects, because each is interested in what he himself is saying, not because anyone cares a rap for anyone else's statements.

Don't Care to Hear a Description of Your Disposition.

Don't confide your peculiarities of temper and disposition to a general company. Such confidences are flat and in wretched taste.

Don't tell stories about people with whom the company is not acquainted when the point and interest of such stories consists in knowing the people.

Don't spoil a good story or make a poor one more tedious by stopping to consider such details as, "Was it Tuesday or Wednesday? I think it was Tuesday—no, it was Wednesday, because I went in town Tuesday."

Don't Kill Your Hearer's Interest Before It Is Born.

Don't overweight a good story by too long an introduction and thus kill your hearer's interest before it is born.

Don't mistake the telling of anecdotes you have heard or read for wit.

Don't tell long stories.

Don't tell too many stories or talk too much. The most amusing talker I know almost always spoils her effect by talking a little too much.

Enough is as good as a feast. Too much, even of the best talk that ever was, is as bad as two feasts, one on top of the other.

ITCHING BLISTERS ON BOY'S HEAD

Got Worse. Affected Ears, Neck and Face. Scratched Day and Night. Terribly Disfigured.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"When four months old my boy suffered with blisters and a kind of scaly skin on his head. I got some salve and he didn't seem to improve but got worse and his ears, neck, and face were affected. He scratched day and night the itching was so intense, and we had to keep his hands pinned the whole time. The skin was sore and inflamed, and he didn't have a hair on his head. It was just a cap of sore eruptions, and his face was terribly disfigured.

"He got so bad we had to keep a mask on his face. The trouble lasted for months, when a lady told my husband about Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and we got them. The third day I noticed a big improvement and in two weeks my boy was healed." (Signed) Mrs. H. A. Thiele, 348 6th St., Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 25, 1915.

were brought here especially for orchestral work, and their presence is plainly apparent in the unusual tone quality and volume of the ensemble.

Scandinavian Numbers.

It may be that weather conditions have had much to do with keeping people away, but it is to be hoped that both the weather and patronage will improve and that at least expenses can be met as it is not the intention of the Duluth orchestral association to operate the venture for profit.

The programs are selected from the wealth of the world's best musical literature and rendered in a thoroughly satisfying manner.

The orchestra has been the means of giving to the city compositions that have never been heard here in addition to many of the older favorites which are always popular and those who are not musically educated can always find something on the program which they can appreciate and enjoy.

For next Sunday's concert Director Bradbury has drawn from the works of Scandinavian composers and the program as outlined promises to be the most interesting given during the present series, comprising, as it does the popular "Peer Gynt" suite by Grieg, the coronation march written for the coronation of Oscar II by Svendsen, Norwegian Wedding March, Norwegian Dances No 2 and 3 and "In the Mountains" by Grieg, "Einzugsmarsch der Bojaren," Halvorsen, March Grotesque, Sinding and an old Swedish folk song arranged for string orchestra.

Soloist for Next Sunday.

The soloist will be Mrs. J. F. Finkelson, violinist, always a favorite with Duluth audiences who will play Ole Bull's beautiful melody as a setting to the poem "Saeterjenten's Sondag." The Svea Glee club under the direction of Charles Helmer will also be on the program, rendering several selections typical of Norway's rugged mountain life, which furnishes the foundation for much of the folk music of that country.

Extra street car service will be provided which, so far has been one of the enjoyable features for the concert patrons provided by the management, and this is also to be extended for the benefit of Superior patrons beginning next Sunday and continuing during the remainder of the series.

The LOCOMOBILE and its OWNER

The Locomobile provides the most luxurious and the safest means of getting about. In addition to this it yields a satisfaction that is apart from any material consideration—that comfortable feeling one always has who owns the very best.

The owner of a Locomobile esteems it not only because of what it does, but perhaps even more for what it is and will be.

The family that owns Locomobiles knows that quality instead of quantity is a past, present, and future policy of the Company.

The Locomobile owner has the satisfaction of knowing that the car will always be a high quality car, an expensive car, the car of cars to own. He knows the price will not diminish, may even increase. He knows his car will not depreciate because of radical changes in the design, price, or quality of the Locomobiles that are to be.

VAMPIRE AT THE ZELDA

"A Price for Folly," a strong vampire feature play, starring the two screen favorites, Edith Storey and Antonio Moreno, will show at the Zelda theater today and tomorrow for the last times.

The story tells of how Jean, the young impulsive scion of a French family, had turned from the path of rightcousness and was in the power of a cocotte, Dorothea, premiere danseuse of the Follies Bergere.

Dorothea had no heart. The great god Gold dominated her. She lived for admiration, love, life. She had the soul of a painted woman. Jean wasted wealth, youth and happiness upon her. His father, realizing that the family fortune had dwindled has not the courage to face ruin and dishonor. He kills his beloved wife and falls himself by the hand of fate. The painted woman, realizing that her lover is no longer wealthy, spurns him. He meets her new lover, a duel foils and Jean falls.

Miss Storey in the role of the vampire is exceptionally good and the part of Jean is well handled by Antonio Moreno.

HAZEL DAWN AT THE LYRIC

Hazel Dawn will be at the Lyric tomorrow in a delightful characterization in "My Lady Incog." This play was written especially for the pretty little lady of the famous smile and the scenes were all made in Florida during early December. Nell Carrol, out for a lark, poses as Baroness de Veauz and is a guest at a big country place in Florida. One of the gentry around the place rather sees through the disguise of the supposed baroness, and posing as the husband of the baroness, he comes to the house party. Inwardly dismayed and perturbed, but outwardly calm and self-possessed, the "baroness" meets her husband and then ensues a lively play of wits. But Cupid sees that his dart catches the fair Hazel and all ends happily.

WILLARD MACK AT REX

The desire to be loved for himself rather than to win by means of his millions is shown in "The Conqueror," Willard Mack as Mark Horn, the wolf of Wall street, is a self-made millionaire. His ruthless methods have gained him the name of "The Wolf." He is invited to exclusive affairs because people of society wish to gain his favor on account of his great wealth. Horn despises the idle rich and goes out of his way to humiliate them. Some rare pictures of New York's "Four Hundred" as they dress and amuse themselves in their luxurious surroundings are shown true to life in "The Conqueror" at the Rex today.

Ups and downs of a "film idol" are the features in the Keystone-Triangle, "A Movie Star," on today's program at the Rex. Mack Swain, the great heroactor, goes to see himself in the pictures. He is given a seat beside Julia Faye and has a lovely time among the admiring lassies until his spouse comes along with Mack's seven children hanging to her skirts.

"Al Dawning" and "Grey Days" are Mr. Young's songs for today, tomorrow and Saturday.

NEW SHOW AT GRAND

In the slang of the day, there is "quite some" show at the popular New Grand this week end, which is headed by an aggregation of young men and women who style themselves as Doree's Beaux and Belles. Their offering is a miniature musicale comedy, a melange of fun, song and melody or a vaudeville novelty, whatever one has a mind to call it. There are seven people in the act, who offer their wares singly and ensemble and all in a charming and thoroughly enjoyable manner, some playing musical instruments, others singing and performing the latest society dances, while the remainder balance up the program with some good wholesome fun. The act is specially equipped with beautiful scenery and electrical effects and the costuming is said to be elaborate.

Then there is Agnes Kayne, "vaudeville's daintiest of dainty maids," who offers eccentric songs, talk and dances. Miss Kayne closes her specialty with a medley on the accordion.

Walton and Vivian in a polite and clever specialty embracing merry jest and pleasing vocalism are one of the particularly bright spots on the program.

Campbell and McDonnell offer a scenic singing and dancing skit which is a novelty in that it embraces folksongs from all over the world with the Scotch numbers featured.

"The Book Agent's Romance," a two-reel subject with G. M. Anderson in the title role, toplines the photoplays. "The Canimated Nooz Pictorial," a cartoon comedy; "Winning the Widow," a comedy-drama, and the Selig-Tribune News balance up the program.

ONE FAMILY IN FOUR IN MOURNING

William R. Gray of Toronto, registered at the Spalding, estimates that nearly every fourth family in that city is mourning the loss of a member or a relative killed in the European war.

"War is a grim and hideous business," said Mr. Gray today. "Here you can gain but little conception of the terribleness of it all. In Canada we have been brought in close and almost terrifying touch with the grimness of the struggle that is going on. We have seen the maimed and wounded soldiers return from Europe, and the list of Canadians killed has been appalling.

"Like the English, we Canadians are grimly resolved to see the thing through. I don't believe that the resolution offered in the Canadian parliament, which severely criticized the sending off so many Canadian soldiers to the front, has found any real response in the hearts of the majority of the Canadian people. Everywhere you will find that the Canadians are willing to send all the troops possible and do more than bear their burden of the great war."

According to Mr. Gray, there are immenso numbers of soldiers now training in Canadian camps. During the spring months, he declared, there will be a big movement of troops to Europe.

NEW FEATURES IN STUDY COURSE

Instruction in Personal Efficiency Will Begin at the Y. M. C. A.

The course of study in personal efficiency, which will begin tonight at 8 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. night school, offers a number of features that are entirely new in school instruction. The aim of the course is to help men attain the highest personal efficiency in the handling of their social and business activities.

The following brief outline by Secretary A. L. Turner includes some of the main points developed in the Emerson course of personal efficiency:

"What standardization means and its relation to efficiency, together with specific examples. Exercises in determining standards and finding out the quickest, easiest and best way to study. Also why the thirteen scientific principles of efficiency are the short-cuts to the most desirable things in life.

"Under lesson two the following principles will be developed: Records are the foundation of all progress. Making use of immediate, reliable, adequate and permanent records is the first practical principle. Some practical exercises and short-cuts.

"Lesson 3—Planning. The value of a specific program over haphazard procedure. Some practical problems worked out.

"Lesson 4—Schedules including their essential elements, as time, method, records and plans used. Must be definite, detailed and concrete, as to time, method and equipment.

"Lesson 5 deals with dispatching or living up to your schedule.

"Lesson 6 treats of standardized conditions as related to everything connected with one's life. Not to become a machine but to become a master of situations.

"Lesson 7 treats of standardized operations and displaces traditional uncertain guess work with proved and tested standards for time, method and material.

"Subsequent lessons treat of written standard practice instructions, major and minor ideals, common sense, competent counsel, discipline, nature's laws, physical and mental, efficiency rewards, health standards, memory, managgment, amenities, finances, self-education, leadership, organization, operation and ultimate essentials."

SALVATION ARMY MEETINGS.

Mill City Workers Will Open Services on Saturday Night.

Col. and Mrs. Marshall of the Salvation army of Minneapolis will arrive in Duluth Saturday and conduct a series of meetings opening Saturday night with a musicale.

Maj. C. Boyd of Milwaukee will also assist with the meeting. Maj. Boyd is said to be a good singer and an all-round musician. Ensign Bell, who has charge of the army work in Calumet, Mich., will also be present. Capt. Shute of Ishpeming, who is a noted cornetist, is coming and will be on the programs.

These meetings will be at the Salvation army hall, 608 West First street, Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 12 and 13.

MASS MEETING TO CLOSE RELIEF FUND

Jews of Duluth will hold a mass meeting at the old armory on Washington's birthday, Feb. 22, to terminate the campaign for subscriptions to the Jewish war relief fund of America.

Dr. Maurice Lefkovits, chairman of the Central Jewish War Relief association of Duluth, which began its city-wide campaign for subscriptions on national relief day, designated by President Wilson two weeks ago, this morning announced the mass meeting. Bernard Silberstein, city commissioner and treasurer of the war relief association, will act as chairman.

Among the speakers will be Bishop McGolrick, Bishop Morrison, Judge Page Morris and Dr. Hardy A. Ingham of Endion M. E. church. Addresses will also be made by Dr. Lefkovits and Rabbi I. Teplitz.

Since the campaign for subscriptions was instituted two weeks ago today, Mr. Silberstein has received a total of $4,493.24, not including several small checks that came in the mail this morning. He is confident that this amount will be increased to the $5,000 mark before the mass meeting on Washington's birthday.

This meeting, according to Dr. Lefkovits, will be open to the public, as many Duluthians will be eager to hear the speakers.

You'll Feel Like a Boy Again!

If you will only clean up your whole system, relieve it of the stagnation of blood and the consequent toxins that poison its action, and aid your breathing and digestion by gently clearing the way for their perfect working,

Colds, coughs and grip are the symptoms—not the cause—of catarrh, either acute or chronic, local or systemic. Catarrh is inflammation of the mucous membrane, that substance through which you breathe the air and absorb your food. If it is inflamed—filled with stagnant blood—whatever it absorbs must be tainted; and Nature gives warning and then fights to throw off the stagnation.

When this warning is given, by a cold, a cough, indigestion, or fever, it means the catarrhal process is getting the best of the body. Go to the rescue with a good, reliable tonic for the membrane, a helping hand that will aid digestion, restore appetite, overcome stagnation, relieve inflammation and bring back health.

MR. SYLVESTER E. SMITH, 2609 South Grand Avenue, St. Louis, Mo., writes: "Peruna is the best friend a sick man can have.

"A few months ago I came here in a wretched condition. Exposure and dampness had ruined my once robust health. I had catarrhal affections of the bronchial tubes, and for a time there was a doubt as to my recovery.

Health Restored

"My good honest old doctor advised me to take Peruna, which I did, and in a short time my health began to improve very rapidly, the bronchial trouble gradually disappeared, and in three months my health was fully restored.

"Accept a grateful man's thanks for his restoration to perfect health."

Peruna Has Done This

Thousands of people who have suffered long have been healed. Hundreds of thousands have prevented more serious troubles and been restored. Forty-four years of success have made Peruna the family remedy in the homes of America.

It invigorates. It clears up the mucous membrane, so that it may restore the breathing and the digestion to normal. These two functions are the body builders. Build your body to health, and you will "feel like a boy again."

Experience is the safest guide. Does anybody ever question the story of the many thousands who praise Peruna?

TODAY IN HISTORY.

Massachusetts Petitions, 1768.

During the gathering storm which led to the Revolution Samuel Adams wrote a masterly petition, which the Massachusetts assembly adopted by a large majority, declaring that under the spirit of the British Constitution no taxes could be levied in America except by colonial legislatures. This petition was scornfully rejected by the king, but copies of it were sent to the other colonies, with a circular letter urging them to co-operate, and this led to mighty events.

READING (available in Duluth public library)—Fiske's American Revolution; Bancroft's History of the United States from the Discovery of the American Continent to the Close of the Revolutionary War, (for the Massachusetts Circular Letter see Vol. 3; also Wm. MacDonald's Documentary Source Book of American History).

THE LAST MAN THAT OUGHT TO TALK.

Col. Roosevelt has been going up and down the country for months, madly denouncing Germany for violating Belgium's neutrality—in which most people agree with him—and as madly denouncing the Wilson administration for its failure to intervene the moment Germany threatened to invade Belgium.

The fact that there is no treaty, and no construction possible of any treaty, that required this country to intervene in a European struggle, didn't bother Roosevelt any more than it bothered him to call attention to the innumerable outrages that occurred in Europe when he was president without his taking a step to stop them.

Nor was he at all concerned by the fact that the invasion followed the threat of invasion so promptly that there wasn't a chance to get in even a word of protest. Nor is he bothered at all by the fact that almost in the same breath he has been declaring that this country is so impotent in its unpreparedness that it couldn't fight San Marino, not to speak of Germany.

But there IS a matter that Col. Roosevelt ought to remember when he finds himself tempted to talk in this way and that nobody else should forget, at any rate; and that is the matter of the burglary of the Panama canal zone from Colombia under his auspices as president of the United States. What he did when, as he himself has said, he "took Panama," is every whit as monstrous as anything Germany has done to Belgium.

Colombia was asked to ratify the Hay-Herran treaty conveying the canal zone, and it refused. That treaty was written by neither Hay nor Herran, but by William Nelson Cromwell, attorney and lobbyist for the New French Panama Canal company. When the "revolution" in Panama broke out it was financed by New York money, and Roosevelt refused to let Colombia suppress it. Hardly had the flag of the new republic of Panama been run up by an American army officer in uniform when Roosevelt recognized the "republic," and shortly thereafter the canal zone was ours.

And Roosevelt is now fighting the treaty whereby it is proposed to do the decent and gentlemanly thing to Colombia by paying her for Panama and expressing regret at what occurred!

If Roosevelt believes that there is nothing as bad as Germany's wanton crushing of Belgium, let him go anywhere in Latin-America and find out what the neighbors of the United States think of his brutal tyranny over Colombia. And wherever the facts are known in this country those who know them think exactly the same of it as these Latin-American neighbors do.

Roosevelt is the last man in the world that ought to talk about the brutality of the invasion of Belgium. His own highway robbery of Colombia, not only confessed but boasted, is surely not yet forgotten.

Col. Roosevelt once started a great sensation throughout the country by telling how he shot a bobcat. Think of the names he'll want to apply to that Lakesider who killed one with a club!

BRANDEIS AS AN ARBITER.

The Minneapolis Bellman, engaged in having a fit over the Brandeis appointment, says: "It is inconceivable that two men in dispute, the one a capitalist, the other a laborer, would agree to choose Mr. Brandeis as an arbitrator, for his decision would be a foregone conclusion."

That's what comes of talking without knowledge.

Hardly had the Bellman got this unfair comment out of its system before the associations of employers and employes engaged in the women's garment industry in New York issued a joint statement giving unqualified praise to Mr. Brandeis's usefulness in this very respect.

A few years ago the women's garment trade in New York was in a perpetual turmoil. Employers were greedy and grasping. Employes, often unrestrainedly violent in their methods, were perpetually resentful, and with good reason.

Three years ago they managed to get together, employers and employes, and formed an arbitration board with Louis D. Brandeis as chairman. Thus not one employer and one laborer, but hundreds of employers and thousands of laborers, did the very thing the Bellman thought nobody would do—engaged Mr. Brandeis as an arbitrator.

In the three years that has elapsed since this was done the women's garment industry has settled down to a condition of blessed peace. Employers have been convinced of the error of their former attitude, and have made concessions of rights that have completely contented their workers. One of the most turbulent industries in New York, under the practical, sensible and eminently fair auspices of Mr. Brandeis, has become one of the most peaceable.

And yet some people say that Mr. Brandeis lacks "the judicial temperament!"

Justice Hughes could hardly be expected to take the nomination proposal seriously when it was signed by such a name as "C. Bascom Slemp." The justice probably thought he was reading a Dickens novel.

DEMOCRATS AND PREPAREDNESS.

One very noticeable fact about the few Democrats who are fighting President Wilson's preparedness program is that they seem to have no thought whatever of the infinitely more dangerous proposals that come from Bull Moose and Republican sources. They are so bent on defeating the president's plans that they are able to take no heed of the fact that if they succeeded—which they will not—they would thereby invite the peril and poison of such a system of militarism and Prussianism as Roosevelt is urging.

And some of them make some odd arguments. One argument, attributed to Mr. Bryan, is that the president has no right to urge preparedness because there is nothing about preparedness in the Democratic platform of 1912. If that argument is good now, when since 1912 a vast world war has been unloosed, it would be good still if both coasts were menaced by invaders. The president could not take a step to defend the country, according to this reasoning, because an ante-bellum party platform gives no authority for it.

But the queerness of the logic isn't the queerest thing about it. The queerest thing about it is that the platform itself confutes it. Here is a paragraph from the platform which Mr. Bryan superintended, and which he largely wrote:

> We approve the measure reported by the Democratic leaders in the house of representatives for the creation of a council of national defense, which will determine a definite naval program with a view to increased efficiency and economy. The party that proclaimed and has always enforced the Monroe doctrine and was sponsor for the new navy, will continue faithfully to observe the constitutional requirements to provide and maintain an adequate and well-proportioned navy sufficient to defend American policies, protect our citizens, and uphold the honor and dignity of the nation.

That paragraph was in the platform Mr. Bryan wrote. Perhaps he did not write it himself; perhaps that's why he has forgotten it; but it is there, and it was there when he put his final "O. K." upon the platform.

Strange how every succeeding auto show brings out the same old set of puns, without even a new-shaped body in the current models.

VIERECK'S SHAME.

In an intercepted letter from George Sylvester Viereck, the fire-eating young man who edits the Fatherland, American organ of the kaiser, appear these words: "I am thoroughly ashamed of my country."

While anybody who had been following what Mr. Viereck has to say in his paper would naturally be in doubt whether by this he means Germany or the United States, the context of the phrase shows clearly enough that it is the United States he is ashamed of.

And the chief reason of his shame must be—if it has any reason at all—either that he is ashamed that he has been permitted to say things that in Prussia would have landed him in jail within the first twenty-four hours, or that he is ashamed that Americans have put America first instead of Germany.

That is, if there is any profit at all in speculating on the meaning of this young man whose utterances have done Germany more harm in the United States than anything else that has happened.

Of course the fact that the Philippines cost Uncle Sam better than twenty-six million dollars a year isn't any real argument for letting go of them as soon as possible.

The Hindoo's Death.

A Hindoo died, a happy thing to do,
When fifty years united to a shrew.
Released, he hopefully for entrance cries
Before the gates of Brahma's paradise.
"Hast been through purgatory?" Brahma said.
"I have been married!" and he hung his head.
"Come in! Come in! and welcome, too, my son!
Marriage and purgatory are as one."
In bliss extreme he entered heaven's door,
And knew the bliss he ne'er had known before.

He scarce had entered in the gardens fair,
Another Hindoo asked admission there.
The self-same question Brahma asked again:
"Hast been through purgatory?" "No; what then?"
"Thou canst not enter!" did the god reply.
"He who went in was there no more than I."
"All that is true, but he has married been,
And so on earth has suffered for his sin."
"Married? 'Tis well, for I've been married twice."
"Begone! We'll have no fools in paradise!"

A Sample of Prosperity

By Savoyard.

Washington, Feb. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—It was the fruitful and opulent year 1855 that Mr. Creedall Stovall, of Chicken Bristle, Barren county, Ky., advanced this profundity that none, not even the bravest, will challenge: "You can't skin a beef without a knife." And for the past half a century the Republican party has preached that we can't have prosperity without a highly protective tariff; but a great number of wise folks emphatically reject and conclusively controvert the dogma that a protective tariff is either sound in policy or correct in morals. And now events have justified the arguments of those who hold that low tariffs quicken industry and promote the public weal.

Compared with the measure it supplanted, the Underwood tariff verges on free trade; compared with the tariff of England, it verges on protection. One thing is manifest—the Underwood tariff encourages trade between the United States and foreign countries, whereas all the Aldrich tariffs depressed such trade, hampered it, and were designed to tax it out of existence. It is the Democratic idea that in all legitimate trade both buyer and seller reap a profit. The Republican idea is that if you sell you are bound to gain, and if you buy you must inevitably lose.

For many years such sophists as William D. Kelly, William McKinley, Nelson Dingley and Sereno E. Payne preached that there was one industry, iron and steel, that could no more get along without high protection than animal life could be sustained without food or vegetable life maintained without warmth and moisture. Donn Piatt gave Kelly the name "Pig Iron" in derision, but the old fellow accepted it and wore it as a badge of conspicuous honor. You couldn't please him better than to print it "Pig Iron" in your paper.

Andy Carnegie, who made more money out of iron and steel than any other man who ever lived, asserted a dozen years ago that the industry needed no protection, that it could stand free trade. Well, that horrified the interests, for if iron and steel were to turn free trader, the wool and cotton mills would be in danger. While the Underwood tariff was on the hooks in congress dire predictions were indulged to the effect that if it passed Pennsylvania would never do another stroke of work in an iron mill. All the wool and cotton mills were to close down and cease business unless the government taxed the people engaged in profitable pursuits to sustain a business that confessed it could not sustain itself.

The Underwood tariff became a law and today the iron and steel industry was never so prosperous. There is the Steel trust, a billion-dollar concern, more than half of it nothing but water—the Steel trust is now on a 5-per-cent dividend basis, and if it had an honest capitalization it would be on a 12-per-cent basis. Only the other day it materially increased the wage of more than 200,000 of its employes. It has more than $100,000,000 cash in bank for any emergency that may arise. Its earnings were never so enormous and constantly increasing, for the last quarter amounting to $51,232,788. In October the earnings reached $16,563,854; in November, $16,990,968; in December, $17,677,966. On Jan. 1 the unfilled tonnage of the concern was 7,806,220.

That is the "ruin" the Underwood tariff fetched to the Steel trust, and all the other steel concerns are just as prosperous as it. The cotton mills are even more prosperous. They are on a 12-per-cent dividend basis, possibly because there is not so much water in the stock.

The Republicans have preached since Hee was a pup that the only true test of a tariff is found in the computations of imports and exports. If the balance is "favorable"—that is, if we export more than we import—fortune is come with both hands full. Now, what do we find under this wicked Underwood tariff? In 1915 we exported goods and merchandise to the value of the stupendous sum of $3,555,000,000, which breaks all records. And we imported only $1,783,000,000, leaving a "favorable" balance of $1,772,000,000.

Fancy that under this unholy, ungodly, free trade Underwood tariff! When the big war broke out America owed an enormous debt to Europe, that held the stocks and bonds of our corporations, and here without shipping abroad a dollar of gold we have reduced that debt by the enormous amount of $1,772,000,000! At that rate the debt will soon be extinguished.

I have assumed that the balance of trade will be adjusted by returning to us our domestic securities held abroad. If not, gold will come to us instead, which is the same thing. Now 72 per cent of our imports come in free of duty, and that is what made the thing so big. It would have been much larger but for the British blockade of the Central Teutonic powers, from whom in normal times we import vast stores, all dutiable, or nearly all.

When our trade with Germany, Austria-Hungary and Turkey is re-established the Underwood tariff will yield all the revenue necessary and that war can't last many years longer.

Meanwhile, let congress raise all additional revenues required by an increase of the income tax. For fifty years labor has been supporting the government. Let wealth have a whack at it. Labor is tired.

It's the Wrong System, Too.

"Why not?"

"They have to be ill first; he's a doctor."

Writing Notes.

I am much too proud to fight; I, when I am in a plight, write a note; if some fellow kicks my shins; I submit with peaceful grins, and, when I have salved my pins, write a note. Follow up this splendid plan; do not be a martial man—write a note; if some scoundrel steals your wife, do not whet your bowie knife, or make threats against his life—write a note. If a neighbor burns your shack, do not climb upon his back—write a note; if he comes and twists your nose, if he treads upon your toes, don't resent such trifling woes—write a note. If the neighbor steals your hens, take your choice of fountain pens—write a note; if a villain climbs your frame, pulls your hair and knocks you lame, to resent it is a shame—write a note. Let your indignation sleep; ink is plentiful and cheap—write a note; be the football of your town; let the hoodlums knock you down; when you're done up good and brown—write a note. Paper, purchased by the ream, doesn't so expensive seem; write a note; fountain pens are cheap as dirt, anyone can make them squirt; so when some one steals your shirt—write a note.

R. Wilfer, the Cherubic Pa

From the Kansas City Star.

R. Wilfer was a poor clerk. So poor a clerk, through having a limited salary, and an unlimited family, that he had never yet attained the modest object of his ambition, which was to wear a complete new suit of clothes, hat and boots included, at one time. His black hat was brown before he could afford a coat, his pantaloons were white at the seams and knees before he could buy a pair of boots, his boots had worn out before he could treat himself to new pantaloons and by the time he worked around to the hat again, that shining article roofed in an ancient ruin of various periods.

If the conventional cherub could ever grow up and be clothed, he might be photographed as a portrait of Wilfer. He was shy and unwilling to own the name of Reginald as being too aspiring and self assertative.

R. Wilfer, though he was nominally the head of his family by virtue of the patriarchal scheme of society in which he lived, was far from being master of his household, nor did he desire to be. Mrs. Wilfer, Dickens tells us, was a majestic woman, tall and angular, "according to the principle which matrimonially unites contrasts." So when the cherub, at the end of a hard day of toil, approached his modest home, he was wont to pause and sigh:

"Ah, me! What might have been is not what is."

Life, as R. Wilfer saw it, was indeed prosaic. But the only complaint R. Wilfer is recorded in "Our Mutual Friend" as ever having made was that his wife was a little "liable to it," meaning by this that she often became disagreeable.

Bella, the "lovely woman," was the cherub's one joy in life. If his charming daughter was his boon companion, his one diversion from the daily grind of duty to employer and wife, he was in equal degree his child's best friend, her companion and father confessor. So when Bella was raised to a position of affluence by the generous Boffins, she was no less pleased than her "pa," who shared all her joys and sorrows.

A few weeks later we see the "lovely woman," now transformed into the very incarnation of that name, drive in a fine carriage to the door of Chicksey, Veneering & Stobbles' apothecary shop and inquire for R. Wilfer. That individual appearing, the focus of astonished gaze from his co-workers, Bella put a purse into his hands and ordered him to go to the nearest haberdasher and purchase a complete new suit. The cherub, having complied with the command, returned a transformed being, a fit companion for a lovely woman. In fact, "Bella was obliged to walk round him in ecstatic admiration twenty times before she could draw her arm through his and delightfully squeeze it." That likely was the happiest day the cherub ever experienced, this holiday of pa and Bella. As they floated down the river to Greenwich, Bella chatted gaily, and as they sat over their dinner she built air castles and placed herself as queen inside them, to the delight of the cherub. At the end she made the startling confession that she was the most mercenary wretch in the world, and that, inasmuch as she must have money, she had decided to marry it. To prove this extraordinary assertion, she crammed her pocketbook, after the bill was paid, into R. Wilfer's new waistcoat pocket, "to buy presents for them at home," warning him that that, anyway, was "not the fruit of any avaricious scheme."

But of course the lovely woman did not know her own mind as later circumstances proved. One day the cherub sat alone taking a late tea at the shop—for, he explained, if there were nothing interposed between the day and Mrs. Wilfer, why she was sometimes a little wearing—when Bella, whom he never suspected to be in the neighborhood, slipped up behind him and hugged and choked the startled cherub to her heart's content. And just as they were comfortably seated and Bella had prepared him for some awful news, which was that she had run away from the wealthy Boffins' because they had treated John Rokesmith badly, who should appear but Rokesmith himself. Of course, they rushed into one another's arms in the approved fashion while the cherub stood dumfounded.

There were other scenes of happy companionship between pa and Bella, but after this there was always a third member of the party. Not many days later there was an elopement to Greenwich in which R. Wilfer took a part, having escaped from the impressive presence of his wife while she slept. But of course Bella never "told of him" for he kept all her confidences. Then there were visits to the pretty little Rokesmith home at Greenwich which convinced the cherub that Bella indeed did not know her mind when she declared it her intention to marry money. But later there were visits to a large, fine mansion in the city, lately taken by Bella and John, such a castle as the lovely woman described on that first holiday at Greenwich.

> Pa had been sent for into the city on the very day of taking possession and had been stunned with astonishment, and brought to, and led about the house by one ear to behold its various treasures, and had been enraptured and enchanted. Pa had also been appointed secretary and had been enjoined to give instant notice of resignation to Chicksey, Veneering & Stobbles, forever and ever.

Canned Editorials

Omaha World-Herald: It is frequently said that the rural press is the only medium in which the real sentiments of the people find expression and then again it is asserted that there is where the editor expresses untrammeled, his own views. How that theory works out among Republican editors is shown in an article in an Eastern paper describing the sudden activities of political committees. It says: "Attention has been called to the Republican Publicity association, Jr., of Oregon is president. This association has been in existence for nearly a year and has been supplying between 1,700 and 1,900 Republican newspapers with news and editorial matter pointing out the advantage of Republican over Democratic policies." So it appears that the "editorial matter" that is appearing in the Republican country papers, instead of being written by the free and untrammeled editors of those papers, is written by ex-Senator Jonathan Bourne and his employes. If there is any Democratic editor publishing editorials written by some politician in an office in New York, it has not been reported. There is certainly no Democratic publicity committee furnishing editorials, for no such organization exists. How much influence the Republican country editorial will have among the people when they learn the facts in the case, may be easily imagined. No one sees precisely the same Democratic editorial appearing in a thousand or more weekly papers at the same time, but from this report we learn that that is the way the Republican weeklies are run.

From what appears in this report it seems that most of these Republican editorials are devoted to extolling high tariffs and assaults on the president's foreign policy. When a Democratic editor has anything to say on those subjects, he can write the article himself, but the Republican editors have to rely on Senator Bourne or some one else.

The Real and the Pretend.

Randolph Bourne in the New Republic: Widespread artistic taste would have had a better chance to develop in this country if we had not been so much concerned with knowing what we ought to know and liking what we ought to like. The movement has caught those whose taste happened to coincide with the canons. It has perverted a much larger host who have tried to pretend that their taste coincided. And it has left untouched the joyous masses who might easily, as in other countries, have evolved a folk culture if they had not been outlawed by this ideal.

The Whole Issue.

Wheaton Footprints: Republican leaders in congress and some newspapers are trying to discredit the president on account of his Mexican policy.

The Duluth Herald pertinently remarks "Is the country with these Republican-Americans or is it with the president of the United States? That's the whole of the Mexican issue."

Pine City Pine Poker: Jean Du Luth Beauty, the Duluth cow that made $2,000 last year, has proved that the milky way has a silver lining.

Come All Yez!

Faribault Pilot: The Duluth Herald has started a campaign for a new Constitution for Minnesota. The Pilot is ready and willing to enlist in such a campaign.

In every session of the Minnesota legislature for the past ten years the proposition to call a constitutional convention has been considered, but through fear of entailing the cost of such a convention on the taxpayers of the state or inability to comprehend the necessity for a new Constitution, no action was taken on the proposition.

Keep at It.

St. Cloud Times: The Duluth Herald believes Minnesota needs a new Constitution. We think so, too; in fact, we have advocated it for lo, these many years.

It Is Long Past Time.

Spooner Northern News: The Duluth Herald is out for a constitutional convention for Minnesota. We are back of that, as it is pretty nearly time that our state had a foundation to rest on, instead of trying to do business with that patched up affair that serves at present.

We Want Men Who Can Serve the State.

Dassel Anchor: The Duluth Herald makes an appeal editorially to the people to elect business men to the legislature and leave the "one idea" men at home where they belong. For the past three or four campaigns men have been elected to the legislature on both sides of the question of "county option" or "prohibition" with preference to their standing on these questions alone. Their qualifications as representatives of the people or their ability to transact the business of the state in a fair and impartial manner has been utterly lost sight of.

There is no place in the legislature for "one idea" men, and they must essentially be business men, broad-minded, able and successful in their own private lines. The readjustment of the state's business and the rearrangement of the departments to secure the efficiency and economy so long desired will be the great work before the legislature for the next few years, and it will demand members in that body that are high grade business men in order to get the best results.

America the Extravagant

San Francisco Bulletin: Why, asks a financial writer, have we so much money in our banks just now? He answers his own question: "It is because rich and poor alike have ceased blowing earnings in on thoughtless extravagance. Exports have been colossal and that money has gone into the banks instead of into jaunts to Europe and yachts and limousines."

Scene, a flat. Place, any large city in the United States. Housewife—flatwife, so to speak—getting supper. Enter husband, dressed in greasy overalls, battered dinner pail in hand. He sinks wearily down on the only chair. Nothing is heard for a moment but the sizzling of onions in the frying pan.

Husband—"I've decided to sell the limousine."

Wife—"Oh!"

Husband—"I don't think we ought to keep the yacht this winter!"

Wife—"Oh!"

Husband—"And I guess I'd better stay on at the factory instead of taking you abroad this spring. They're going to raise us to $1.85 next month."

Wife (letting onions burn)—"Oh!"

Husband—"Yes; I think it is about time that we Americans, rich and poor alike, stopped blowing our earnings in on thoughtless extravagance. That reminds me. How much did you and Willie make today? The baby ought to be able to turn out artificial flowers pretty soon!"

Wife (proudly)—"Twenty-seven cents."

Husband (getting up to kiss her, realizes that onions are ruined and sinks back sadly)—"Well, nothing to eat now till pay day."

An Englishwoman in Belgium.

Rebecca West in the Atlantic: There is one woman who visits all those battered Belgian villages where peasants still huddle in their bullet-riddled homes, and takes with her truckloads of a patent infants' food. Wherever there is a Belgian baby she goes, even if it means pushing a barrow full of tins to some stranded hamlet a quarter of a mile along a road raked by German fire. It is a work that is beautiful in courage and charity, and it supplies the overwhelming pacifist argument. Those gray babies whining in their cradles prove that the commonplace remark that the world is too far advanced for war is wrong. On the contrary we have not yet arrived at the stage of civilization where war becomes a possibility. For it is a cad's trick to declare war until one is absolutely certain that one is not cheating one single helpless baby out of its feeding bottle. If there were to be on some high place a record of this bravery, one can imagine how the picture would show a figure of the smooth surface and stillness which is found only in saints and the dead, moving to some benevolence with the deliberation of one who has fortified and specialized her will to this by prayer. And yet she is a brown and lively thing; a Jewess, one of a race that has forbidden its women to withdraw from the world to sanctify themselves; an actress, pledged to the service of pleasure, and vivid with that intensification of the flesh that comes to wives and mothers.

New Use for a Cook Book.

February Atlantic: There is a story of a man, desperately ill, who, having passed the crisis of his ailment, needed only, so the doctors asserted, an incentive to recover. He had had dire misfortunes and had lost all interest in living. Neither his business, nor his motor car, nor his children, nor his wife sufficed to lure him back to the trials of temporal existence. Then some inspired relative thought of the cook book. She put it into the hands of the sick man as he lay withering on his pillow. He turned it over languidly; then he fluttered the pages with transparent fingers; presently he asked to be propped up in bed. Before long he was whispering fervidly of what he was going to have to eat when he got well: those pighocks with dumplings; hot waffles and syrup; schnittbohnen with sour sauce. What were rissoles, and ramekins, and bannocks? And why had he never known about toad-in-the-hole? These were the sentiments that wooed him back to life.

Time and Money

Editorial in the Des Moines Register.

The funded war debt of the countries of Europe now amounts to something like $30,000,000,000, while the total cost of the war, direct and indirect, is hardly less than three times that amount.

But what does $30,000,000,000 mean to us? If this war debt were to be paid at the rate of $1 per minute, without interest, the payment would extend over a period of 57,059 years.

We are totally incapable of grasping the significance of figures which are set down in the form of a dollar sign and ten numerals every time congress foots up its bills, or when John D. Rockefeller strikes a balance.

Had a sinking fund been started in the year 500 B. C., and $1 a minute paid into it from that time to this, the total would be less than will be spent by the present congress if the preparedness measures go through.

Mr. Rockefeller's fortune represents an accumulation of $1 a minute since the birth of Christ.

The amount which J. P. Morgan is commonly reputed to be making off the war would be expressed by a salary of more than $1,000 a day from the time of Shakespeare.

This shows something of the vast stretches of time which would be necessary to accumulate some of the fortunes of today were they not recruited by means of commissions, interests and reinvestments.

The startling results obtained from modern financial methods may be illustrated by an exaggeration of the workings of interest. We have seen how long it would take to pile up Mr. Rockefeller's fortune if he received $1 a minute without interest. Suppose you wished to rival Mr. Rockefeller, or the Wilson administration, or any person or concern that is notable either for getting or spending. You would do better to trust to interest at the rate of 100 per cent a minute, for just one hour's time, than to try simple accumulation from the days of the cavemen.

Specifically, if you had $1 at 8 o'clock this morning, and made 100 per cent a minute on it for one hour, your fortune would amount at five-minute intervals to the following sums:

At 8:05 o'clock, $32.
At 8:10 o'clock, $1,024.
At 8:15 o'clock, $32,768.
At 8:20 o'clock, $1,048,576.
At 8:25 o'clock, $33,554,432.
At 8:30 o'clock, $10,737,741,832.

That is far enough to carry it in detail, but at 8:34 o'clock you would own the entire United States, at 8:36 o'clock every dollar's worth of personal and real estate on earth would belong to you, and from that time on you would begin to take mortgages on the solar system and outlying sections of the universe.

It is only because we cannot get through our heads the significance of rapid accumulations, and because dollars in billions are merely rows of numerals, that we look calmly upon the war debts of Europe, the grabs at our own treasury, and the vast fortunes which a few men have piled up as a threat against the safety of the nation.

Great fortunes have been acquired through a sort of compromise between straight accumulation and the 100 per cent interest method outlined above. Doesn't it make you wonder what will happen in another hundred years if we don't levy a good stiff inheritance tax?

The Greatest Wonders.

Hebrews xi, 30-40.

The greatest wonders are not in nature but in grace. A regenerated soul is a greater marvel than the marvel of the spring time. A transfigured face is a deeper mystery than a sun-lit garden. To rear graces in a life once scorched and blasted by sin is more wonderful than to grow flowers on a cinder heap. If we want to see the realm of surpassing wonders we must look into a soul that has been born again and is now in vital union with the living Christ. Even the angels watch the sight with ever-deepening awe and praise.

As the spiritual is the home of wonders, so also is it the field of brightest exploits. It is not what men have done by the sword that counts in the esteem of heaven—such deeds mean little or nothing; it is what they have done "by faith." Weak, frail men and women have put their faith in God, and have done the impossible! Faith unites the weakling with almightiness! Faith makes a lonely soul one with "the spirits of just men made perfect," and with them he shares "the power and the glory" of the eternal God.—Daily Meditation.

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 200 words—the shorter the better. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

CYCLONE CELLARS AND ENTHUSIASM, ETC.

To the Editor of The Herald:

A good citizen—who would be one of the first to offer his life to his country if the call came—was saying that this agitation for preparedness somehow left him cold. He thought he ought to be ashamed of himself.

He need not reproach himself. There is nothing thrilling about digging a cyclone cellar in case there should be a storm next summer. It may be prudent, it may be necessary and it may save the lives of the entire family. But it is not thrilling.

Whether it is necessary to turn the whole farm into a cyclone cellar in case there should be a storm next summer; whether it is a good idea to put the house under ground and live in a cave all our lives because there might be a storm, that is another matter.

However, that is not the point. The point is that the good citizen is not satisfied merely to take measures for safety in case of national peril. And he is right. That is a short measure of preparedness. It does not fill the bill and it does not contain any thrill.

If anyone will propose that we go out and conquer the world, that would be more like it. I could get up some enthusiasm for that enterprise. I believe it can be done. I believe America can win the world if we only think so and act on our belief. I would be willing to be one of 100,000,000 to try it. I'm not very brave but I have that much sand.

If there are risks attendant on such an adventure they would be risks worth running. I can imagine an early Christian might have found it quite thrilling to face the lions, and very uncomfortable to be crunched in their jaws. And yet I can imagine—though I don't suppose I would have done it myself—that the chance of being an early Christian was worth taking—apparently they were not all thrown to the lions. And it seems not improbable that the world is gainer because there were some who had the courage to be early Christians.

Starting on such an adventure, I dare say, would be more thrilling than digging a cyclone cellar against a possible storm next summer.

TAXES IN CANADA.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In your paper of Jan. 29, 1916, appears a statement by Dr. William J. Roche of Canada, that there is no war tax on land in Canada and never will be. And, by the way, there is another fellow of Canada, in the province of Ontario, district of Rainy River, township of Burriss, that would like very much to make the statement that the Dr. William J. Roche, minister of the interior of Canada, spoke falsely and the truth is not in him, if he made the above statement, and I have the goods to prove it in the form of a tax bill, duly signed by the tax collector of this part of Canada, which I am enclosing. You will see by it that last year there was a war tax levied on land in Ontario of 1 mill, which amounts to 78 cents on the bill inclosed. Be it far from me to find any fault with that way of raising the money needed for the war or for the revenue essential to carry on the affairs of state. A tax on land value, together with a just income tax, is to my mind the only fair way of raising revenue for the business of the nation.

Now, Mr. Editor, I would be the last one to put a straw in the way of any Americans who thought of coming to Canada to make a home; in fact it would please me all right if so many came that Uncle Sam would have to carry water in his own hat to water the eagle. But I like to know the truth myself in a case of that kind, and I am sure other people do too; so I am going to give you a few facts about this fair Canada of ours.

In the first place, take it as a whole, it is naturally a very rich country; it is soil, rich in timber, rich in minerals and an abundance of water power, nearly all of which has been put out of the hands of the nation for little or nothing, into the hands of the speculator.

Second, Canada is governed at the present time by what is admitted to be the most corrupt government in the English-speaking world.

Third, We think the tide has turned; the worst is here and better conditions are ahead.

Fourth. It is estimated on the best of authority that the tax on each farmer in the newer parts of Canada is at least $200 a year, most of which never finds its way to the national treasury, but by means of tariff legislation, etc., goes to help the poor millionaire speculators, manufacturers and railroad magnates, and, I might say, a little hand-out to our poor bankers.

Fifth. There are over 100,000,000 acres of the best land in Western Canada held out of use by speculators who have obtained it for little or nothing and are holding up the would-be settler for anywhere from $6 to $30 per acre. So you can see they plan to take toll from the incoming settler—the huge amount of $1,500,000,000, which has been earned by the pioneers of the country by increasing the value of the land, and which should be spent in building good roads and bridges, schools and public buildings, telephone lines, parks and public libraries for beautifying and making pleasant to live in one of the finest countries in the world. Instead it will find its way to the already rich of the big cities of Canada and foreign countries who have not earned one cent of it, and who will spend it on fine autos, champagne and cigars, and to further corrupt Canadian politics, if such a thing was possible. As to the above land being well worth the money there is no question. The big thing with those fellows being anxious to get more settlers is that it will still further raise the value of the land held by them, and thereby enable them to reap a still larger harvest of unearned wealth.

Since I do not like to say anything behind any person's back, Mr. Editor, I am enclosing 10 cents, and I want you to post to Dr. Roche at Ottawa and Premier Norris, Winnipeg, copies of your paper with publication of this letter. Thanking you in anticipation.

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

Written for The Herald By Rev. J. S. Kirtley, D. D.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: FEB. 13.

Philippians I. 1-11, Humbled and Exalted.

CONNECTION.

We haven't had anything about Paul yet, but we have had much about Jesus and we now take a lesson from Paul's statement about the pre-existence of Jesus, His humiliation in the flesh and His present exaltation. This is taken from a letter written out of the Roman prison to the church that had never forgotten him and had sent material help to him after he left Philippi, even sending it on to Rome. This was his favorite church, yet there was one fault to find with them, a disposition to exalt themselves. Two of the sisters were showing the self-seeking spirit. Euodia and Syntyche were in a strife for pre-eminence and there were signs of a wider dissension. That fact gives him the special occasion to speak of Christ. Though his tender relation to them all is very great he doesn't hesitate to speak frankly in warning. Epaphroditus, who had brought their greetings and gifts to him at Rome, now takes this letter back to them and their anxiety over the sickness that overtook the latter at Rome would make Paul's words still more effective.

THE LESSON.

I.

Harmony Needed at Philippi. 1-4.

"If there is therefore any comfort in Christ, if any consolation of love, if any fellowship in the spirit, if any tender mercies and compassions, fulfill ye my joy, that ye be of the same mind, having the same love, being of one accord, of one mind; doing nothing through faction or through vain glory, but in lowliness of mind each counting other better than himself; not looking each of you to his own things, but each of you also to the things of others."

1. UNITY.—The preparation for the work of suffering for Christ and enduring would be the spirit of unity and not the spirit of Sister Euodia and Sister Syntyche and perhaps of several of the brethren. Loving unity is the remedy for the trouble and the power that will conquer, having "the same mind."

2. MOTIVES.—The first motive is their own personal experiences. By his "if" he doesn't express doubt, but he does want them to test themselves and say "if we have the right spirit individually we shall surely treat each other right." The experience which they have claimed must prompt to unity. Here are four elements in their experience. They have a "comfort" from Christ that will be very valuable to each other. The result of that is always "love" and that should bring solace. In the one "Holy Spirit" do the saints find their communion and they have drank in the life of the Spirit. They abide in the Spirit and that produces "compassion." Jesus and the Holy Spirit are aiding them and the result is love and compassion, or sympathy, which must produce unity.

He also appeals to their desire to please him as a subordinate motive, a perfectly legitimate motive, for their unity is defective unless it does fulfill his joy. Their similar experiences and views of truth make them one. With unflinching trueness Paul tells them the things that mar peace and unity and tells them the cure for it is to repudiate self. Love will destroy factions. The one outstanding example of it is Christ and now Paul tells the most most wonderful story ever told.

II.

Christ's Humiliation. 5-8.

"Have this mind in you, which was also in Christ Jesus: Who, being in the form of God, counted it not a prize to be on an equality with God but emptied Himself, taking the form of a servant, being made in the likeness of men; and being found in fashion as a man, He humbled Himself, becoming obedient even unto death, yea, the death of the cross."

1. EQUALITY.—The Philippians in their sphere can do as Christ did in His. He was "in the form of God" before He came to earth. That means more than the shape of God—it means the very essence, before all time; as John puts it "in the beginning was the Word and the Word was God, the same was in the beginning with God." He was one with God in nature and glory.

2. SUBORDINATION.—But He didn't consider that position of equality a prize to be grasped at and held on to, but He "emptied Himself," exchanged that position for one of service and was sent to serve in the field of human life for the redemption of man and, in order to render that service, took on the nature of those whom He would redeem, even as Moravian missionaries once decided to become slaves in the West Indies in order to reach the slaves, and carried that obedience to the one with whom He was equal to the point of dying, dying the most base death of the cross, dying in the utmost dreadful sense of becoming separated from His Father. All of this was for others and that's the point of the teaching. The voluntary self sacrifice was the example, not the vicarious atonement. It was not forced but voluntary self giving. His birth in the flesh was His choice. His life in the servant's place was a "becoming." This reference to Christ brings us face to face with "the mystery of godliness." Becoming a servant to God in that wonderful way, rather than remaining in a position of equality, was unexampled, but it is our greatest honor to make ourselves servants of all. Only love can lead us to do it, as it led Him, and, if we say we have love, we should prove it by our self surrender to loving duty. But the example grows more powerful as we read on.

III.

Exaltation Resulting From Humiliation. 7-11.

"Wherefore also God highly exalted Him, and gave unto Him the name which is above every name; that in the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of things in heaven and things on earth and things under the earth, and that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father."

1. CAUSATION—The "wherefore" shows the connection between all the wonderful glory of the risen and ascended Christ and the humility that enabled Him to achieve His Father's will in the world. It came, not simply as a reward for a sacrifice but as the result of His service through the humiliation. Note all the elements in that reward. God makes His "nature" glorious as a result of His self giving; matches His nature with a "name," the name borne in His humiliation, the name Jesus, in which all worship, the name of the one to whom God shall make "all knees bow," whether willing or unwilling, loving or fearful. "All tongues" shall now tell of His previous glory as God's Son and equal, even the tongues that stung Him with hatred shall be compelled to make that confession.

2. APPLICATION—The illustration is complete. The Philippians shall be exalted if they surrender themselves to their calling as Christ did to His. They can afford to make any sacrifice in the interest of unity and service.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

These four letters written during Paul's first imprisonment of two years at Rome are a most powerful evidence that he had the mind of Christ.—Samuels.

The myths of Hindooism teem with countless tales of incarnations; the catalogue of the incarnation of Buddha is endless; there is not a god or goddess in Greek or Roman pantheon who did not, on occasion, assume human form. But none of these incarnations are in the least degree parallel with the central fact of Christianity. Jupiter, Juno, Mars or Diana, were never said to assume human nature, though they might appear in human shape. Their appearances were transitory; there was no wedding of the divine and the human; they were not for the uplifting or the benefit of the human race, but for the indulgence of those human passions with which their poets clothed and debased the divine idea.—Tristram.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1. How do we harmonize great varieties into unity?
2. How do you classify the various motives of life?
3. How may you so have the mind of Christ as always to put others on a level with yourself?

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This department does not pretend to be infallible. It will endeavor, however, to answer questions sent to it by readers of The Herald to the best of its ability, reserving the right to ignore all that are trifling or of concern only to the questioner, or that ask for advice on legal or medical questions.

To receive attention, every inquiry must bear the name and address of the person sending it. This is not wanted for publication, but as an evidence of good faith.

"G. F.," Duluth: Please tell through the Open Court the offices and present office holders of all St. Louis county.

Ans.—Following are the St. Louis county officers: Auditor, Odin Halden; treasurer, George H. Vivian; register of deeds, Charles Calligan; sheriff, John R. Meining; attorney, Warren E. Greene; judge of probate, S. W. Gilpin; surveyor, Andrew Anderson; coroner, Charles F. McComb; clerk of court, J. P. Johnson; court commissioner, J. E. Gardner; superintendent of schools, N. A. Young; county commissioners: First district, Alex Fraser; Second district, Thomas H. Little; Third district, Walter A. Swanstrom; Fourth district, U. S. Grant McMahan; Fifth district, Charles Kauppi.

J. R. De Rosier, Bessemer, Mich.: Will there be a ski tournament in your city this month or this winter, on what date, if at all, and what club?

Ans.—The Duluth Ski club has a tournament scheduled for Feb. 20. Efforts are to be made to secure the attendance of all the leading jumpers in the Northwest.

"A Subscriber," Corona, Minn.: I live at Corona, Minn., a flag station on the Staples branch of the N. P. R. R., thirty-eight miles from Duluth by the direct route through Carlton, or forty-five miles by way of Superior and Carlton, which is the usual route to Staples. The fare from here to Duluth is paid on the train. It was formerly 76 cents to either city, then they changed it to 81 cents, and now they demand $1.15. The fare, as I understand it, would still be only 81 cents if the passengers were taken over the shortest route wholly within the state of Minnesota, by transferring them to a St. Paul or Cloquet train at Carlton. Now, what I would like to know is: (1) Has the conductor the right to charge interstate fare over the longest route to Duluth amounting to 2.56 cents per mile, or 3.03 cents per mile when figured on the actual distance to Duluth over their shortest line? (2) Should he not inform the passengers to change cars at Carlton, and charge Minnesota rates only? (3) Is not 2.56 cents per mile more than is allowed under the latest interstate fare arrangement? (4) Would you advise me to take this matter up with the railroad commissioners at St. Paul, or with the interstate commerce commission?

Ans.—(1) The conductor has a right to charge interstate fare if you travel by an interstate route. The distance by any other route can, of course, make no difference. If you go by the shorter route, you should pay the conductor only for the distance you will travel on his train, then buy your ticket at Carlton for the balance of the trip. (2) The passenger is presumed to know by what route he wishes to travel. The conductor will answer any questions, but he could hardly be expected to suggest to passengers that they do not know what route they want to take. (3) The present interstate rate for passengers is 2.4 cents per mile; the intrastate rate is 2 cents per mile, except that for the first five miles it is 3 cents. The fare between Corona and Duluth, via Superior, is $1.11; via Carlton and Smithville, it is 79 cents; since Corona is a flag station, the conductor has no right to add anything to the fare from there to other points. (4) If you believe you are unjustly treated as regards travel and rates within this state, complain to the Minnesota railway and warehouse commission at St. Paul.

POEMS ASKED FOR.

The Herald acknowledges with thanks the receipt of the following:

"The Dying Nun," from Isabel McCarron of Taconite, Minn., and Mrs. S. H. Stevens of Saginaw, Mich. (This poem was published yesterday.)

"The Moneyless Man" and "The Indian's Lament" from William Campbell of Duluth (one version of "The Indian's Lament" was published on Jan. 19. The one sent in by Mr. Campbell will appear at an early date).

"The Irish Jubilee" from Isabel McCarron of Taconite, Minn.

Requests have been received for the following:

"I Don't Want to Play in Your Yard," from "F. J. C." of West Duluth.

"The Charming Young Widow I Met on the Train," "Sympathy" and "Last Night Was the End of the World" from Isabel McCarron of Taconite, Minn.

"The Killing of Dan McGrew" and "Bessie's Three Loves" from "A Reader of The Herald" of Moose Lake, Minn.

The Irish Jubilee.

Oh, a short time ago, boys, an Irish man named Doherty,
Was elected to the senate by a very large majority.
He felt so elated that he went to Dennis Cassidy,
Who owned a bar room of very large capacity.
He said to Cassidy, "Go over to the brewer
For a thousand kegs of beer, and give it to the poor.
Then go over to the butcher shop, and order up a ton of meat.
Be sure and see that boys and girls have all they want to drink and eat.
Send out invitations in twenty different languages,
And don't forget to tell them to bring their own sandwiches.
They've made me their senator and so to show my gratitude,
I'll give the finest supper ever given in this latitude.
Tell them the music will be furnished by O'Rafferty,
Assisted on the bagpipe by Felix McCafferty.
Whatever the expenses are, remember I'll put up the tin,
And anyone who doesn't come be sure and do not let them in."
Cassidy at once sent out the invitations,
And all of those that came were a credit to their nations.
Some came on bicycles because they had no fares to pay,
And those who didn't come at all made up their minds to stay away.
Two by three they marched into the dining hall;
Young men, old men and girls that were not men at all;
Blind men and deaf men, and men who had their teeth in pawn,
Single men and double men and men who had their glasses on;
Before many minutes nearly every chair was taken,
Till the front rooms, and mush rooms were filled to suffocation.
When every one was seated they started to lay out the feast.
Cassidy said, "Rise up, and give us each a cake of yeast."
He then said, as manager, he would try and fill the chair.
We then sat down and looked at the bill of fare.
There were pigs' head, goldfish, mocking birds and ostriches,
Ice cream, cold cream, vasaline and sandwiches,
Fish balls, snowballs, cannon balls and cartridges.
Then we eat oatmeal till we could hardly stir about;
Ketchup, hurry up, sweet kraut and sauer kraut,
Dressed beef, naked beef and beef with all its dresses on.
Soda crackers, firecrackers, Limburger cheese with tresses on,
Beefsteaks and mistakes were down on the bill of fare.
Roast ribs and spare ribs and ribs that we couldn't spare,
Reindeer, snow deer, dear me and antelope,
And the women eat so much melon the men said they can't elope.
Red herring, smoked herring, herring from old Erin's Isle,
Bologna and fruit cake and sausages a half a mile.
There was hot corn, cold corn, corn salve and honey-comb,
Red birds, read books, sea bass and sea foam,
Fried liver, baked liver, Carter's Little Liver pills,
And every one was wondering who was going to pay the bills.
For dessert we had tooth picks, ice picks and skipping rope
And washed them all down with a big piece of shaving soap.
We ate everything that was down on all the bill of fare,
Then looked on the back of it to see if and more was there.
Then the band played horn pipes, gas pipes and Irish reels,
And we danced to the music of the wind that shakes the barley fields.
They welted the floor till they could be heard for miles around,
When Gallager was in the air his feet were never on the ground.
A finer lot of dancers you never set your eyes upon,
And those who couldn't dance at all were dancing with their slippers on.
Some danced jig steps, door steps and Highland flings,
And Murphy took his knife out, and tried to cut the pigeon wing.
When the dance was over, Cassidy then told us
To join hands together and sing this good old chorus:
"Though old acquaintances be forgot, wherever we may be,
Think of the good old time we had at the 'Irish Jubilee.'"

FOR A BAD COUGH

Here is a fine old-fashioned receipe for coughs, colds or catarrh trouble that has been used for many years with great success. Get from your druggist 1 oz. of Parmint (Double Strength) and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and 4 oz. of granulated sugar. Take one tablespoonful 4 times a day.

No more racking your whole body with a cough. Clogged nostrils should open, air passages of your head clear up so you can breathe freely. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has a stubborn cough, or hard cold or catarrh in any form should give this prescription a trial.

MISSION ALL NEXT WEEK AT TRINITY

Nation-Wide Movement to Be Observed at Episcopal Cathedral.

Three mission services will be conducted dily at Trinity cathedral next week, beginning Sunday evening, with a sermon by Bishop J. D. Morrison.

Holy communion for the mission will be celebrated Sunday morning at 8 o'clock and at 11 o'clock Canon MacLean will give a sermon on "The Meaning of the Preaching Mission." The evening service and sermon will be in charge of Bishop Morrison.

The daily mission services will be held at 10 a. m. and at 4 and 8 p. m. throughout the week. This week of special service is being inaugurated in all of the Episcopal churches throughout the country.

Concerning the mission, Rev. Canon MacLean says, in the Trinity Messenger, the official publication of the parish:

"In every parish in our church in the whole country will be held, this year, a series of services, called in technical language a 'Mission.' In our own parish this mission will be held the first full week beginning Sunday evening. Sermon every evening by Bishop Morrison, 8 p. m. Instruction by Canon MacLean. Other services 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. They will be unusual in character and not the stated services of the prayer book. The service itself will be very brief. With the service will be either an instruction or an address on the spiritual life. A committee of men from our parish will be appointed to take charge of the general advertising. In the meantime the rector urges his people to prepare for the mission by earnest prayer that God will give it success, the success that means the arousing of all our people to full appreciation of the spiritual life in Jesus Christ."

How to Rid the Skin of Objectionable Hairs

(Aids to Beauty)

A simplified method is here given for the quick removal of hairy or fuzzy growths and rarely is more than one treatment required: Mix a stiff paste with some powdered delatone and water, apply to hairy surface and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and every hair has vanished. This simple treatment cannot cause injury, but care should be exercised to get real delatone.—Advertisement.

TODAY'S AID TO BEAUTY

An especially fine shampoo for this weather can be easily made at trifling expense by simply dissolving a teaspoonful of canthrox in a cup of hot water. Pour slowly on scalp and massage briskly. This creates a soothing, cooling lather that dissolves and removes all dandruff, excess oil and dirt. Rinsing leaves the scalp spotlessly clean, soft and pliant, while the hair takes on a glossy richness of natural color, also a fluffiness which makes it seem very much heavier than it is. After a canthrox shampoo arranging the hair is a pleasure.—Advertisement.

Columbia Records TRADE MARK — Note the Notes

COLUMBIA GRAFONOLA

THE Columbia Grafonola is a musical instrument of magnificent range and power, yet capable of the utmost delicacy of expression.

The wonderful Columbia sound-chamber, as responsive to every slightest vibration as the body of a 'cello; the sensitive Columbia reproducer; the perfected tone-arm and the tone-control "leaves" that operate on the principle of an organ's shutter—all exclusive Columbia features, representing the highest developments of acoustic science—give the Columbia Grafonola a clearness and flexibility of tone not even approximated in any sound-reproducing instrument heretofore devised.

The musicianly qualities of the Columbia Grafonola, and the matchless fidelity of Columbia records have made both pre-eminently the choice of musicians of discrimination. "Hearing is Believing." That is the final test.

Dealers will be glad to arrange for a demonstration in your home.

NEARLY 10,000 SEE AUTO SHOW

Record Crowd Expected By Manager on Duluth Day.

Saturday Will Be Free-for-All Day; Races May Be Staged.

Nearly 10,000 persons have attended the automobile show at the new armory since the opening Monday afternoon.

The estimated attendance to date follows:

Monday—2,000.
Tuesday—3,500.
Wednesday—4,000.

Manager Daly announced this morning that today is Duluth day at the show and that a record crowd is expected this evening. Tomorrow will be society day, he announced, and a special dance will be staged from 10:30 until 11:30 o'clock in the evening. The Helmer orchestra will play a program of popular music and the dancers will "trip the light fantastic" in the aisles and between the cars.

Saturday, the closing day of the show, the management announced this morning, will be a free-for-all day, with special attention paid to range visitors. If the ice on the bay is in good condition, it is probable that the motor races will be staged during the morning. Further announcement will be made tomorrow.

The largest crowd of the week was present at the show last evening. Miss Maybelle Messersmith of the Holland sang several selections during the early part of the evening, when the following musical program was rendered by the Helmer orchestra:

March—"Flag of Victory"....Von Blon
Overture—"Orpheus"....Offenbach
Barcarolle—"Tales of Hoffman"....Offenbach

PICKED UP ON HIGH

Sub-agents for the E. H. Whitney Motor company were guests of Mr. Whitney at a banquet at the Spalding hotel yesterday noon. There were twenty-five Dodge agents and representatives present at the luncheon, after which short talks were made by H. S. Macgregor, cashier of the City National bank; Mr. Whitney, J. W. Arnold of the local company, and A. C. Templeton, northwest representative for Dodge Brothers, who will be at the show all this week.

* * *

A "half and half" KisselKar arrived yesterday from Chicago, where it was on exhibition at the Windy City show two weeks ago. The novelty car was placed in the armory by the Interstate Auto company, and is now on display. The car is one-half finished and one-half incomplete, and shows the complete construction of the machine.

The novelty-striped Mitchell eight at the show was sold yesterday by Clifford Ford to the Dinsmore Livery company at Ely, and will be delivered to the range town immediately after the show Saturday. The Mitchell "6 of '16" was sold to Ralph Marotta of this city and delivery will be made after the show, said Mr. Ford.

* * *

The German Mercedes and the Maxwell racer, which have been entered in the ice racing contest to be staged by the Duluth Automobile Dealers' association this month, were placed on display in the basement of the armory yesterday afternoon.

* * *

R. W. Munzer of Minneapolis, who helped boost the King and Dort at the show, left for his home last evening.

Eleven delivery trucks, including the one manufactured by Hugh Miscampbell of this city, are on display in the armory basement.

The master spark, which B. F. Nickerson of San Francisco invented himself and which he is demonstrating at the show, increases voltage 17 per cent and decreases the ampere properties 18 per cent, according to a statement he made during a demonstration yesterday.

* * *

R. A. Wood and E. H. Barnes are at the show, representing the Pure Oil company of Minneapolis.

The Paige roadster at the show has been sold for $1,295, according to H. B. Knudsen. In addition, he said yesterday, two Republic trucks, three Paige touring cars and two Maxwells have been sold since the show started Monday. Twelve Maxwells have also been distributed to three new subagents, he said.

Hermon Johnson reports the sale of two Cole eights to Theodore Okman of Eveleth and Ed Johnson of Superior.

* * *

C. Erickson of Two Harbors yesterday purchased the Chevrolet touring car on display at the show, according to Clifford Ford.

Cars at the Show.

Three of the Maxwell cars are deemed sufficient to represent that line at the show. In the northeast corner the H. B. Knudsen company men will be found going over every point of excellence in the standard touring car, the roadster and the cabriolet, which are on view. Then there is the usual cut-open chassis wth electric lights inserted so that the moving parts may be easily and readily seen. There is a factory expert on hand to explain the technical points.

The eight-cylinder Oakland, exhibited at the show, has been one of the features of the exhibit of the E. H. Whitney Motor Car company. The "eight" is equipped with a special design of detachable limousine top. A cut-open eight-cylinder motor at the display has also interested the many visitors.

Out-of-town dealers have placed larger orders than ever before, according to Leonard McNamara, branch manager of the Studebaker corporation. Orders for 800 cars were placed this last week by Minnesota dealers, he says. The Studebaker corporation has made an allotment of 7,200 cars for this territory.

* * *

The entire Chalmers organization has been known for the "Chalmers pep." E. J. Filiatrault of the Mutual Auto company has shown lots of that "pep" during the past week. Lining up out-of-town dealers has been only a small part of his work. He has been explaining to visitors that 3,400 r. p. m. in the new Chalmers Six-30 means 3,400 revolutions per minute.

* * *

The fact that the Stutz cars have made such wonderful records at all of the speedway races throughout the country accounts in some measure for the extraordinary interest displayed in them by show visitors. The exhibit of Martin Rosendahl has been crowded all week. The Reo cars have also had their full share of attention.

* * *

The Hudson "super six" is attracting more than a usual amount of attention at the show. It is exhibited by the Fred G. Kleyn company, local distributers. The car is called "super six" because it smashed all American Automobile association class B speedway records from ten to 100 miles in November at Sheepshead bay.

* * *

Alex Davis, president of the Duluth Implement company, distributers for the Chandler and Saxon cars, says that it is foolish to talk about prosperity coming. He says it is already here. The interest displayed in the new Chandler six, announced to the public several weeks ago, is an indication, he says, that prosperous times have arrived and are here to stay.

Accessory Exhibitors.

Pure Oil company of Minneapolis, oils.
Patrick-Duluth, mackinaws and auto robes.
Willard Storage Battery company, auto batteries.
Cornplanter Oil company, oils.
B. F. Hickerson, the master spark.
Kelley Hardware company, all motor accessories.
Duluth Corrugated Roofing company, fireproof garage.

Heard at the Show.

"Isn't that red car a loud one?"

"Why this leather covering over the door?"

"Could a fat man get into a small seat like this?"

"I'm afraid my wife won't like a pale gray."

"Why is this piston rod on the left side of the engine this year?"

"Does this aluminum engine help the car any?"

"I should think that the engine shaped this way would be hard to get at in case I had any trouble."

"Why is this car cheaper than last year's?"

"What have you cut out to reduce the price of your car?"

"Could my young daughter drive that car?"

"Those stripes would match the new spring gowns."

"I never could learn to drive our old car."

"How long would it take to learn how to drive this machine?"

Out-of-Town Visitors.

M. Trewhilla, Hibbing, Minn.

Congratulations, Mac.

Leonard McNamara not only made the first sale at the show, but he had more honors come his way on Monday evening. Just before the closing hour Mac received word that a baby girl came to his home. This is the second and "some kid," according to Mac.

Welcome, Carl.

Carl Shapiro, formerly of Shapiro-Tucker-Faust company of this city and now of Virginia, has secured the range agency for the Dodge car from the E. H. Whitney Motor company and he is at the show this week to learn all about the machine and meet the local boys.

Touring Popular.

Among the exhibitors at the show it is said that inquiries for cars fully outfitted for touring predominate, and prospective buyers promise to "see America first" to an even greater extent in 1916 than in 1915, when touring records of this country passed every record for the past. The accessory dealers say they find a growing interest in articles fitted for touring.

AUTO PRICES WILL SOON GO HIGHER

High Cost of Materials Is Cause, Say Dealers at Show.

Automobiles are going to cost more.

The continual descent of prices during the last five years is about to stop, and in its place increases are sure to come, according to some of the most prominent dealers at the automobile show.

Price of materials is the answer.

Hugh Chalmers last week announced a $100 increase on the six-forty car, effective March 1, and indications are that other manufacturers will take similar steps during the next six months. The Winton and Detroiter companies, it is reported, are also planning to raise their car prices.

The unexpectedly large demands for motor cars, especially among the farmers in the Middle West, have caused inroads on the present supply of materials, and it is only a question of time, according to some of the local dealers, when the prices will have to be boosted.

"I thought I had all reasonable demands of the future discounted," Mr. Chalmers said. "At that, I guess I am in better shape than many. But demands have grown for the cars and they are being sold so rapidly, it is only a question of months when I, with the other manufacturers, will have to go into the market for more materials.

"Already the bare raw material cost in the cars we are selling is costing us $55 a car more than it did a year ago. I have assumed that loss because of the fact that we advertised our price standards far ahead last year, and I don't wish to 'welsh' on the deal.

"But all of us have been swept off our feet on sales. I'm going to work double shifts, and I know of many others who are doing the same, to get our present orders filled as rapidly as possible."

There Is a Real Risk in Waiting Too Long to Order Your Cadillac

Each year we have urged the public to guard against possible disappointment.
Each year, in spite of this warning, many have had to content themselves with some other make of car because they could not get a Cadillac.
In spite of the steady increases in production, the annual Cadillac shortage is almost a mathematical certainty. There is every indication that the current season will see this condition materially emphasized.
You can secure a Cadillac now, protect yourself and take it. If you cannot do better than arrange for delivery in a month or two, we urge you to take that precaution.

CONFERENCE FIXES SLATE

Delegate Favorites to G. O. P. Convention Chosen By Invitation Gathering.

Mesaba Range and Progressives Ignored; Larson Questions Gunn's Stand.

At a conference of thirty-three invited members of the Republican and Progressive parties, held at the St. Louis hotel yesterday afternoon, Chester A. Congdon was indorsed for delegate-at-large to the Chicago convention of the Republican party next June, and Milie Bunnell, publisher of the Duluth News Tribune, and Daniel M. Gunn of Grand Rapids, former state senator, were chosen as favorites for district delegates. Peter Schaeffer, publisher of the Ely Miner, who was a candidate for delegate, was selected for presidential elector.

The meeting occupied two hours, during which the chief subject for discussion was Senator Gunn's position as regards the Progressives. The senator had already filed with the secretary of state, anticipating the meeting.

This meeting, of course does not establish any bar against more filings for the delegateships, for, until Saturday, the lists are open and free to all who wish to try for the places. D. D. McEachin of Hibbing has filed as a Cummins candidate; and it is understood that still more will be found in the list from this district before the end of Saturday.

Mesaba Range Ignored.

Criticism among Republicans today ran to the complaints that the Mesaba range was wholly ignored, as were the Progressive Republicans and Bull Moosers of the district, the men named having been strongly anti-Roosevelt at the last election. Is was on these grounds that there was talk today of backing other candidates.

Mr. McEachin's filing for district delegate, an independent move, gives the Mesaba range representation on the ballot of March 14, but does not give the Mesaba range representation on the slate picked by the chosen sponsors of the party in session yesterday.

Progressives Neglected.

The Progressives, with whom the Republicans are trying to unite this year, came nearly being wholly ignored. O. J. Larson, one of the leaders of that branch of dissenters from the party four years ago, was not on the original invitation list, but later was asked to attend. John E. Samuelson, city attorney of Duluth, who was chairman of the Progressive county committee four years ago, was present, and was chosen chairman. State Senator George M. Peterson was secretary. Only St. Louis and Carlton counties were represented.

At the meeting yesterday, the name of Milie Bunnell, who, up to a few days ago, was understood to be a candidate for delegate-at-large, was presented by John H. Norton for district delegate, and his selection was urged by J. W. Nagel, managing editor of the News Tribune. He was unanimously indorsed. Mr. Congdon was also indorsed for delegate-at-large without division; but the real discussion of the day came when the name of Former Senator Gunn of Grand Rapids was presented.

Larson Denies Attack.

O. J. Larson questioned the advisability of Mr. Gunn's being on the ticket. In the morning paper it was declared that Mr. Larson attacked Mr. Gunn "bitterly." This morning Mr. Larson vigorously denied this and asked The Herald to set him right with the public on the matter.

"I attacked nobody bitterly," said Mr. Larson. "I cannot understand why Mr. Nagel, who evidently reported the matter for the News Tribune, should say I did. There was no bitterness in my talk, and I was really making a plea for harmony, so what his motive is in saying that I attacked Mr. Gunn, I cannot understand. My language was easy to understand yesterday. I merely questioned the advisability of putting on the ticket as favorites for the delegateships three men, all of whom represented the "stand-pat" element of the party four years ago. My idea of harmony was and is that for district delegates, one man should represent the element known as Republican four years ago, and one should represent the Progressives of that time. That would be balancing the ticket and giving it an appearance of compromise.

Questioned Gunn's Position.

"For that reason I questioned Mr. Gunn's stand. I knew that four years ago he was a 'stand-patter' of the most pronounced type, and I have not been informed of any change since then. I asked yesterday if there was anybody at the meeting who could vouch for Mr. Gunn's position, but nobody seemed to be able to. Then I proposed that a Progressive be put on the ticket with Mr. Bunnell.

"I can see no bitterness in that; it strikes me as only the logical thing to do. Mr. Gunn is undoubtedly a fine man, personally. Mr. Barnes of New York is too, but did he live here, you could scarcely say that he represented the progressive portion of the party and should be put on the ticket as such representative."

But yesterday it was evident that some did not like the talk, for Mr. Norton and County Attorney Warren E. Greene declared that if Mr. Larson called that "harmony," they failed to recognize the label. Dr. J. J. Eklund, County Commissioner Kauppi and others talked for harmony and urged the choice of Senator Gunn; and so it resulted.

Mr. Schaeffer of Ely, who was chosen for presidential elector, wanted to be a delegate, but was crowded out. Sievern Swanson of Moose Lake wanted to be presidential elector, but was "oozed out" as the Vermilion range had to have something, and Mr. Schaeffer was accorded that share. Carlton county was promised an alternateship following the election of delegates on March 14, and the Swanson candidacy was withdrawn.

Those present at the meeting were: John W. Nagle, managing editor of the Duluth News Tribune; Dr. J. J. Eklund, Warren E. Greene, Sievern Swanson of Moose Lake, U. G. Holliday of Virginia, J. P. Johnson, John H. Norton, W. I. Prince, Bernard Silberstein, Senator George M. Peterson, John E. Samuelson, A. D. Haish of Carlton, Charles P. Craig, A. P. Cook, John R. Meining, George Barrett of Buhl, Senator Charles E. Adams, J. S. Saari of Eveleth, Dr. Fred Barrett of Gilbert, Senator Fred D. Vibert of Cloquet, George L. Brozich of Ely, W. A. Swanstrom, E. A. Swanstrom, Charles Kauppi, A. E. McInnis of Gilbert; O. J. Larson, T. H. Little, William A. Kennedy, Alexander Fraser, J. V. Barstow of Carlton, Representative Spencer J. Searles of Carlton, Andrew Myles, Senator O. H. Griggs of Virginia.

See the Maxwell at the Duluth Automobile Show

WHEN you go to Niagara, you want to see the Falls.

For like reason, when you go to the Automobile Show you will want to see the Maxwell.

Not because it's a monumental car—it isn't.

But because you want to see the most astounding $655 worth of automobile exhibited.

The Maxwell has all the best features, refinements and equipment of far higher priced cars.

It has the power which makes "every road a Maxwell road."

It has the strength and endurance which far heavier cars are glad to boast about.

It has the beauty of design which is characteristic of foreign cars.

It has the lightness to be economical on tires, yet weight enough to hold the road.

It has the all-round low maintenance cost which keeps the owner's pocketbook pleased.

Quantity production through high factory efficiency makes it possible to produce the Maxwell for so little as $655—this year, 1916, 100,000 cars.

See the Maxwell Exhibit. See particularly the "Sectional View" chassis which shows every vital working part in operation. See the "how" and "why" of Maxwell simplicity of operation and control.

DULUTH BEAT MORE EXCITING THAN BORDER

STANLEY KRAWCZYK.

From a police beat on West Michigan street to a patrol beat on the Rio Grande, where he watches for Mexican "snipers" was the jump taken by Stanley Krawczyk, police patrolman, who resigned on June 2, 1915.

When Krawczyk turned in his star and gun and asked to be relieved from duty, Chief R. D. McKercher reluctantly complied, for the policeman had a high record as a member of the department. At that time he spoke of a commercial position in Galveston, Texas.

Since then nothing was heard of him until yesterday, when Telephone Operator Ralph E. Lutz received a letter from the "mysterious guy," as Krawczyk has been dubbed.

"Am in Laredo, Texas," he writes. "At present I am a member of troop M, Fourteenth cavalry. We are doing patrol duty along the Rio Grande. Although we have an opportunity to reply to a shot now and then, things are pretty dull. There is a live bunch of correspondents down here, and they paint things much redder than they really are. Really it's not half as exciting as some of the fights I had while a patrolman in Duluth."

hotel. On Wednesday, Feb. 23, a dinner will be served at the Spalding to the workers who are to take part in the campaign. The campaign will be started the following morning, and will continue for ten days. It is hoped that at least $50,000 will be raised.

The City National bank was designated as the depository. H. S. Macgregor, cashier of the bank, was chosen treasurer and J. L. Dorsey secretary.

Rev. Fr. Hugh Floyd, rector of Sacred Heart cathedral, has been chosen general chairman of the committee and will have from thirty to forty captains of teams under him.

AT CAPACITY IN THE SPRING

Products of All Departments of Duluth Steel Plant in Demand.

Vice President Reis Denies Reports of Immediate Additions.

Vice President John Reis of the United States Steel corporation declares that it is almost certain that the Duluth plant will be operating at capacity in April, or May at the latest.

"Business conditions throughout the country and the demand for steel products, make it certain that all the products of the Duluth plant will be in demand," said Mr. Reis. "The demand for steel is so great that there is every reason in the world for rushing operations here and starting all departments of the plant at their fullest capacity."

When Mr. Reis was here several months ago he stated that the steel mills of the United States Steel corporation were operating at approximately 80 per cent of their capacity. Today he stated that the mills were operating at their greatest capacity.

"There is a very great demand for steel now," said Mr. Reis, "and we believe this demand will continue for some time. The country appears to be very prosperous. Mr. Gary has stated that a very large percentage of this output is for domestic use and he is very well informed on such conditions.

"As for an extension of the Duluth plant, there is absolutely nothing to that story. We are far too busy getting the present plant ready to think of any expansion. We have a large force of men at work putting on the finishing touches. The plant will be operated at capacity and that's about all that I can say right now. The future of the steel trade appears very bright and we believe the present year will prove one of the very best in the history of the trade."

Mr. Reis with other officials of the Steel corporation will remain here for several days inspecting conditions at the Duluth plant.

ANDERSON WOULD FILE AN ANSWER

William A. Anderson, who was removed recently from the position of deputy registrar of titles by his chief, Charles Calligan, register of deeds and registrar of titles, when public examiners discovered discrepancies and shortages in his accounts from 1908 to 1913, filed notice in district court late yesterday that on Feb. 18 he would ask the court for an order permitting him to serve and file an answer in the proceeding instituted against himself, Thomas Clark and the bondsmen of the late M. C. Palmer, former register of deeds, to recover $3,431.40 claimed to have been misappropriated. Anderson engaged Charles Line of Virginia for his attorney when the case was begun against him, but his counsel did not serve an answer to the action within the statutory time, and Charles E. Adams, special county counsel, recently filed an affidavit of default asking for judgment against Anderson. Anderson now seeks permission to file an answer, claiming that he has a valid defense.

FOR BRONCHITIS, SEVERE COUGHS, COLDS AND WHOOPING COUGH

Make the Best Medicine at Home—128 Teaspoonsful for 50 Cents.

Money spent for the old style, ready-made medicine usually sold in bottles holding only 2 to 2½ ounces (16 to 20 teaspoonfuls) is largely wasted, because most of them are composed principally of sugar and water. Yet you have to pay the same price as if it were all medicine. Stop wasting this money. You can make a better remedy for bronchial affections, at home at one-fifth the cost. Merely go to the Lyceum Pharmacy and ask for 2 ounces (50c worth) of Schiffman's New Concentrated Expectorant, which they guarantee will give perfect satisfaction or money will be refunded. Mix this with one pint of granulated sugar and one-half pint of boiling water, which makes a full pint (128 teaspoonsful). This new, simple, pleasant remedy is guaranteed to relieve the worst cough or cold, Bronchial Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, Hoarseness and Whooping Cough. One bottle will make enough home-made medicine to probably last the whole family the entire winter. Children like it, it is so pleasant to take. It is unlike any other medicine, and positively contains no chloroform, opium, morphine or other narcotics, as do most cough mixtures. Keep it on hand in case of emergency and stop each cough before it gets a firm hold. The above druggist, in fact any druggist in this city, will return the money (just the same as is done with Schiffman's famous Asthmador) in every single case where it does not give perfect satisfaction or is not found the best remedy ever used. Absolutely no risk is run in buying this remedy—under this positive guarantee.

COUNTY TREASURER PAID OUT NEARLY NINE MILLION DOLLARS DURING 1915

Only Small Percentage of This Immense Sum Went for County Purposes—Decrease Is Noted Over Expenditures of Previous Year.

Disbursements from the county treasury during the year 1915 were $689,250.08 less than those during 1914, according to figures which are now available at the office of County Auditor Odin Halden. The various public funds in the hands of County Treasurer George H. Vivian, according to the auditor's books, were drawn upon last year to the amount of $8,766,652.98, as against $9,455,812.96 for 1914.

For the first time in a number of years a decrease in public expenditures is to be noted. A comparison of the statement of expenditures for 1914 and 1913 shows a gain for 1914 for $2,143,735. The increase shown in 1913 over 1912 was $468,102.08. A gain of $826,860.02 appears in a comparison of the 1912 and 1911 figures.

Comparatively small is the percentage which was paid out from the public funds for the running expenses of St. Louis county or for public improvements in which the county government itself was directly interested. A little less than 9 per cent of the total disbursements for the year went for the county's running expenses and about 6 per cent was expended for the improvement of present highways and the construction of new roads. The bulk of the tax funds handled by the county treasurer was turned over to proper officers of the state and various school and tax districts.

During 1915 the amount expended for county purposes alone was $1,332,656.13, as compared with $1,286,361.57. Of the remaining 85 per cent of the total of $8,766,562.98, the county government had nothing to do with it except to collect it in taxes and apportion it, the county merely acting in the capacity of a collection agency.

Decrease 1915 as compared with 1914, $689,250.08.

School Expenditures.

The most notable decrease to be noted is that shown in the expenditures of the various school districts of the county. During 1915 the total school district expenditures were $2,105,855.07 as compared with $2,607,657.08 for 1914, a decrease of $501,802.01. Ditch construction cost the taxpayers $106,010.93, which is $8,375.28 less than for the previous year. Decreases are also shown in the withdrawals from the county revenue fund and in the total amount of warrants drawn in favor of the state.

Watchdogs of the public treasuries of the various cities, villages and organized towns of the county were not particularly mindful of expenses last year, and as a result $3,404,805.04 was paid over in taxes to the various municipalities and tax districts to be spent in maintaining local government. This figure is an increase of $87,573.36 over the 1914 amount, which was $3,317,231.68.

The county poor commission made heavier demands on the tax funds last year than for any previous year. The amount expended for taking care of the county's pauper population and for public charity work in 1915 was $120,285.85, as compared with $92,905.54 for 1914, an increase of $27,380.31. The work farm commission spent $46,512.12 during 1915, as compared with $33,374.64 for the previous year, or an increase of $13,137.48, and there is also an increase shown in the expense of maintaining the county sanatorium at Nopeming. Last year the expenditures on this account were $83,920.96, as against $79,327.55 for 1914.

During 1915 County Treasurer Vivian made contributions in the following amounts to the various state funds:

State taxes	$1,101,623.81
State school taxes	376,462.22
State lands and interest	31,925.11
State loans	61,701.40
Inebriate hospital	140.00
Fish licenses	82.40
Hunters' licenses	9,819.21
Inheritance taxes	121,219.92
Total	$1,702,975.07

WITNESS SAYS THORNE KNEW THE ATTITUDE OF BRANDEIS ON RATE CASE

founded" when Brandeis at the outset of his closing argument conceded the contention of the railroads that existing rate returns were inadequate for the prosperity of the roads and the best interests of the public.

"There is one incident firmly fixed in my mind," said Mr. Carmalt, "regarding a conversation which Mr. Thorne had with me on the second day of the argument in the rate case. Mr. Thorne, I understand, stated that when the commission fixed the allotment of time for attorneys to argue the case, he had asked the privilege of being permitted to follow counsel for the shippers instead of opening the argument.

No Disposition to Conceal.

"Mr. Thorne asked me what Mr. Brandeis' position would be in the argument. There was no doubt in my mind what Mr. Brandeis' position would be. There certainly was no disposition to conceal it from Mr. Thorne, I am confident that I told Mr. Thorne that Mr. Brandeis would take the position that the net operating income of the carriers was not adequate, with special stress on the Central Freight association territory. Further, I said, he would take the position that the methods pursued by the carriers to obtain greater revenues through a horizontal 5 per cent increase was not the proper method of increasing their revenues.

"I am quite clear that it was as the result of this conversation that Mr. Thorne wrote Mr. Brandeis a note asking about a change in the allotment of time. It is very strongly my impression that because Mr. Thorne recognized the attitude Mr. Brandeis would take that Mr. Brandeis got the conception that Mr. Thorne wanted an opportunity to answer him in addition to his main argument in the case."

Mr. Carmalt was called to the stand on suggestion of George W. Anderson, United States district attorney, in Boston, who is attending the hearings. His testimony was regarded by friends of Mr. Brandeis as being very much in his favor.

Under cross-examination by Senator Cummins, Carmalt testified Brandeis did not merely state his view that the net revenue by the railroads was insufficient, but he announced that such would be his position in the argument of the case.

"Did Mr. Brandeis discuss the propriety of his making this concession which was the vital point of the case made up by Mr. Thorne?" asked Senator Cummins.

"No, it did not occur to me as being improper."

Carmalt's testimony then ended and the sub-committee had an argument over the conduct of the hearing.

For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. SMITH INSISTS HE HAS DONE NOTHING WRONG way I did. Pickit has not given me a square deal, and I do not see why he involved me in the matter. I am ready to appear at the office of the county attorney or any place else and tell my side of the story as soon as I am able to leave here."

Technically Under Arrest.

Confined in a room in the Gatlin institute, a liquor and drug cure institution at Fourth avenue south and Seventh street, Minneapolis, Mr. Smith is technically under arrest, according to County Attorney R. D. O'Brien.

It is only because the manager of the institute has advised Mr. O'Brien that Smith's condition is such as to make it hazardous to move him to St. Paul that the state treasurer has not been placed in jail here, according to the county attorney.

On Verge of Pneumonia.

The state treasurer is on the verge of pneumonia, according to Mr. Cardoff, the manager of the institution. He denied that Smith has been there previous to Tuesday night.

"Mr. Smith is an old friend of mine and we have had business deals together," said Cardoff. "He has been under my care at my home for several days until the officer was sent over Tuesday. As provision had to be made to take care of the detective, it was necessary to move Mr. Smith to the sanatorium and this was done Tuesday night.

"He was in a critical condition Tuesday and made the trip to the capitol against my wishes. But when he insisted on going, we bundled him up in blankets and took him over in an auto. I accompanied him."

Smith Still Denies.

Mr. Smith has again, through friends, denied guilt in connection with the irregularities. He denied Pickit's statement that there had been an equal division of the money realized from the forgeries.

On the other hand, Pickit, in a detailed statement to State Auditor J. A. O. Preus, declared that as early as Nov. 22, 1913, he had forged a signature to a $4,200 warrant and that when this warrant was cashed he had paid half the amount to the state treasurer.

The Merchants National Bank of St. Paul also has sent to State Auditor Preus three cashier's checks, aggregating $4,200. These checks were made out in favor of Walter J. Smith and were issued against state funds at Smith's direction. Two of them were put through the Miners' National Bank of Eveleth, and the third came into the hands of W. E. Prescott, a friend of Clerk Pickit. The authorities admit Prescott was an innocent holder. He cashed the check and turned over the proceeds to Pickit. The Merchants National bank has had on file for some time a letter written by the state treasurer introducing the clerk, Pickit. A dispatch from Eveleth says two cashier's checks of the Merchants bank were deposited on Dec. 15, 1913, in the Miners' bank to the personal account of Walter J. Smith, one for $1,000, and the other for $750. Mr. Smith has no direct connection now with the Eveleth bank, of which he was formerly president, and only fifteen shares of the bank's stock now stand in his name.

Two Versions Differ.

Contradictory stories are told by Walter J. Smith and Fred B. Myers, president of the First National Bank of Biwabik, and a member of the bonding firm in Duluth which received the forged $18,000 warrant. Smith in his statement says that the warrant was sent to the Duluth bonding house, but that he doesn't know who sent it. Myers says that he met Smith on the streets in Duluth, that Smith showed him the warrant and said he wanted to "split" it into smaller amounts and that the bonding house gave him four checks, totaling $18,000. It was these checks which, according to the men who have investigated the situation, were cashed in St. Paul by Smith.

The warrant was deposited with a Duluth bank which sent it to the Merchants' National bank of St. Paul for collection. This bank collected it from the state.

Canceled Checks Produced.

Mrs Myers at the conference here produced the four canceled checks. They all were the Cooper company's checks, one for $10,000, one for $5,000, one for $2,200 and one for $800. All were dated June 6, 1915, and all made out to Walter J. Smith personally and not as state treasurer. The checks were all cashed by the middle of July.

A statement by Mr. Myers revealed that the warrant had returned to the state capitol and there been cashed, so investigation was made in the offices of the state auditor and state treasurer. The warrant was found. It is No. 6043.

It shows that it was issued by Pickit on May 29, 1915, just after a district court judge had restrained the making of such a loan to the Aitkin county school district, and that it was issued in defiance of this injunction.

Claude Brown, a deputy state auditor, explained that when the forged warrant originally was issued the way was paved evidently for it to come back and be cashed without question. But all this completely upsets the impression that this $18,000 warrant lay in the vaults of the First National Bank of Biwabik since last May.

Investigation also has revealed that when Walter J. Smith last Thursday answered the demand on him for this $18,000 by drawing his personal check on the First National Bank of Biwabik, at that time there was $8,000 on deposit in his name in that bank. But the bank officials explain that this was a deposit of state money and not subject to Mr. Smith's personal check.

Books Tampered With.

Examination of books in the state treasurer's office yesterday showed in one instance at least the books have been tampered with. In the record of school district warrants kept by Deputy A. D. Smith the word "redeemed," which indicates that the school districts have paid the money borrowed from the state, has been erased from the record of the $4,200 warrant which Pickit forged in 1913. The job was so carefully done that it took the most minute examination to discover the erasure. The books show the warrant as not redeemed, and the public examiner, in examining the books, did not charge the amount to the treasurer. This permitted the misappropriation of the bond.

Deputy Smith said that Pickit did not have access to his books and the public examiner is trying to learn who made the erasure.

Says Interest Was Paid.

In his story, Pickit declared that by paying the interest on the loans each year he and Smith avoided detection by the state public examiners.

Pickit's story of his alleged collusion with Smith is corroborated by a witness found yesterday, who saw the two men in a long conference at Pickit's home last Thursday. It was on Wednesday that the McGrath school officers went to the auditor's office and started the chain of inquiry about the forged warrant. Pickit was at home, ill with tonsilitis. On Thursday morning, according to this witness, State Treasurer Smith went to Pickit's home and the two men had a long private conference, talking very earnestly. In his statements Tuesday, Mr. Smith said he had just learned of the trouble through the newspapers.

Pickit Gives Forgery Details.

Details of how the success that attended the first forgery led to the perpetration of similar forgeries when like chances offered were revealed yesterday by Picket to State Auditor Preus.

This, in substance, is the story:

School District No. 31 of St. Louis county on May 31, 1913, applied for a $4,200 loan from the state school fund. The application was approved by the state investment board. The bonds that the district was to issue were sent out by Pickit, signed by Ole Olson, treasurer of the school district, and sent back to the capitol. Everything was ready for the making of the loan.

Postponement of Loan Asked.

On Aug. 6, 1913, however, John B. Arnold, a Duluth attorney, wrote to the investment board urging a reconsideration of its approval of the loan. He said that the school district was about to be divided and that he feared the rights of the new portion would be jeopardized. He wanted the loan held up, at least temporarily.

Pickit wrote the reply to this letter, which was to the effect that the loan had been arranged for in the proper form and couldn't very well be held up and that the board was merely waiting until it had the necessary money on hand before making the loan.

District Asks for Money.

The files of the investment board and the state treasurer's office show that Ole Olson, treasurer of the school district board, and Alfred Olson, clerk of the board, wrote repeatedly to ask why the district didn't get its money on the loan.

Meanwhile, Arnold kept writing protesting against the making of the loan, and finally, on Aug. 13, 1913, Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith, in an opinion transmitted to Samuel G. Iverson, then state auditor, said that it would be proper for the investment board to reconsider its former action, because of the division of the school district into two districts.

Bonds Ordered Canceled.

A few days later the investment board reconsidered its former action, and the bonds were ordered canceled. It was thought by the members of the board that they were canceled.

On Nov. 22, 1913, however, Pickit, according to his story and according to corroboration obtained today in an examination of the records, issued a warrant for $4,200, the amount of the loan, made payable to the treasurer of the school district, and forged the indorsement of Treasurer Olson on the back of the warrant.

Warrant Cashed By Clerk.

Thereafter Pickit cashed the warrant. In his statement to Auditor Preus and to County Attorney O'Brien, Pickit said that the bonds covering the loan were kept in the state treasurer's office; that he gave Smith half the $4,200, and that on every interest date—July 1 each year—the interest on the $4,200 bonds was paid into the state treasury by Smith and himself.

An inspection of the books in the treasurer's office showed that the interest payments had been credited each July, the last one being made July 1, 1915.

Thus was the peculation covered up, Pickit said, and the books and records always looked all right. There was plenty of correspondence, he said, to show that the loan was authorized and unless someone who knew all the facts was tracing this particular transaction all the way through, there was no chance of exposure.

This suggested, Pickit said, that whenever a similar loan was first authorized and later ordered canceled there was a chance to put out a similar forgery, keeping the interest paid up, of course, and the books straight. So, he said, the same system was followed in regard to other bond issues and in each instance, he said, Smith shared the proceeds with him.

A Liberal "Spender."

Fellow officials of Mr. Smith have always considered that he had independent means in addition to his salary. He has been a liberal "spender" and was known as a "good fellow." Two years ago he was one of the men interested in promoting "Section Four" mine near Gilbert. He was an official of the company, but the mine did not operate successfully.

About a year ago Mr. Smith became interested in the Resilient Wheel company, a company which proposed to make automobile wheels which would permit the use of hard rubber tires. Stock was sold at $5 a share and Pickit, in his story, says that Mr. Smith gave him 2,000 shares of the stock.

Pickit told County Attorney O'Brien that the money realized from the forgeries had gone for "speculation." "Walter Smith and I expected to double our money and square everything up," he is quoted as saying.

Reynolds, the Chicago banker, who has been ill at Los Angeles, is dead at his home here, having committed suicide by shooting late yesterday. Ill health and despondency were given as the cause.

PRISON TRUSTY AND AUTOMOBILE GONE

Little Rock, Ark., Feb. 10.—W. Price Davis of Little Rock, a young electrical engineer, did not answer roll call last night at the state penitentiary, where he was serving sixteen years for forgery. Prison officials recalled that he urged a new supply of gasoline and oil for the prison automobile, which he drove as a trusty. Davis obtained adequate supplies at a city garage, it was discovered, and borrowed $5 from an old friend, Attorney General Wallace Davis, who happened to be there at the same time. Then trusty and automobile vanished.

U. S. BUILDING MANY SHIPS FOR NORWEGIANS

New York, Feb. 10.—The total number of steamships to be built in this country for Norwegian interests this year was brought up to twenty-seven by the announcement that contracts have just been awarded for building six vessels of 3,000 tons each at Manitowoc, Wis. According to shipping men, the Norwegians have been purchasing as many steamers as were available for several months. When they were unable to make any further purchases, they placed orders with American builders. C. Rayn, the Norwegian consul-general, said in explanation of the placing of the orders here, that formerly Norway obtained many of her steamships from England but that now British ship yards are busy building British ships. He said that "unheard-of" prices are being paid for vessels built in America. A Norwegian agent here said that prices for vessels were at least 50 per cent higher than before the war.

BOY SCOUTS SHOW GREAT INCREASE

Washington, Feb. 10.—An increase of 46 per cent in membership during last year was announced today at the annual meeting of the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America. The increase to 182,622 boys and scout masters made the year the most prosperous in the six years' history of the movement. Among the significant items of the chief scout executive's report were that scout troops had been organized in almost every church denomination in the country, that 3,489 troops met in churches and 3,886 troops met in school buildings, armories and community institutions and that the 7,067 scout masters included clergymen, physicians, lawyers, teachers and other professional men, all of high character.

Among the features reported were: A department of education provided by two special gifts; training courses in several universities and colleges, budgets provided in forty cities and a library department concerned with the influence of books on boys.

Late today President Wilson received the members of the national council at the White House and spoke to them of his high regard for the work they are doing.

BARCELONA TO BE MADE A FREE PORT

Madrid, Spain, Feb. 10, via Paris, 12:05 p. m.—The government is about to make Barcelona a free port.

Barcelona in Northeastern Spain is the principal port of entry of that country on the Mediterranean. Almost one-fourth of Spain's foreign commerce passes through Barcelona which is exceeded only by Cadiz in the volume of this business. In the year 1910, 1,662 steamships of 2,463,000 tons burden entered this port, exclusive of coastwise steamers. The principal imports are coal, grain and cotton. The chief exports are wine, oil and cork.

ABOUT 300,000 BABIES DIE BEFORE ONE YEAR

The Census Bureau estimates that 300,000 babies died in this country last year before the age of one year, and it is stated that one-half of these deaths were needless if all mothers were strong and infants were breast-fed.

Expectant mothers should strive to increase their strength with the strength-building fats in Scott's Emulsion which improves the blood, suppresses nervousness, aids the quality of milk, and feeds the very life cells.

DEMANDS OF TRAIN CREWS

Reply By Brotherhoods to Recent Statements By Railroads.

Overtime Due Almost Wholly to Railroads Overloading Trains.

Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 10.—The first official statement on the impending controversy between railroads of the country and their train crews over working hours was issued here last night. It was signed by W. S. Strong, grand chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; W. S. Carter, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen; L. E. Sheppard, acting president of the Order of Railway Conductors, and W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. These organizations claim to represent approximately 400,000 employes on 528 lines of railroad.

The statement was headed "Why the Eight-Hour Day?" and was in the nature of a reply to a statement issued Feb. 1 by the executive committee of the Association of Western Railways. The brotherhoods' statement said in part:

"The eight-hour day movement is based wholly upon the justice of a work day of reasonable hours that will permit the men further to separate the dead line between work and wages. The railroads say in effect that men who have put in a few years of railroad service have worked themselves out and will not be accepted if they lose their positions. If men are worked out in a few years under present service conditions, the demand to extend their wage-earning years is fully justified.

Cause of Overtime.

"Overtime in road service is due almost wholly to the practice of railroads overloading trains so that they can not make their mileage within their time limits. The railroads are doing this for profit; they do not deny it, and if they propose to demand extra service at the sacrifice of the health and future earning ability of the men they should pay extra for it. The payment of overtime applies with circular force to yards where the companies can regulate their work so that no overtime need be made."

The statement denied that "the men are not sincere in their demand for the shorter hour work day," or that they "want a wage increase rather than a time decrease." It also argued that any incentive to delay railroad work so as to obtain overtime payment would be impossible, pointing out that discipline is administered by the roads.

Rates of pay in the Eastern territory were quoted at length to illustrate wage conditions, the statement saying in part:

Small Pay of Brakemen.

"The pay of train service employes, other than passenger, is based on 100 miles or less, ten hours or less. In the Eastern territory, for instance, the brakeman will receive the munificent sum of $2.67 for regular freight train service, out of which he must maintain his family at home and take care of himself at the other end of the run. The 150-mile trip is what represents one day's work and means that at its expiration the man must lay away from home until he is dead-headed back or returned with a train. The conductors receive approximately one-third more than the brakesmen. Wages are a trifle higher in the Southern and Western territories.

"'Forty-five per cent of the earnings of the railway companies are paid in wages,' affords the opportunity to show the sum total of wages paid. What interests the railroad employe is not the bulk sum paid to all of the railway employes, but the individual amount that goes to each man.

"That there is not so much justification for the contention of the railroads that the eight-hour day is impossible is proven by the fact that at present there are seven roads in the Southeastern and one in the Western territory that pay overtime on an eleven miles per hour basis. Six roads in the Southern and two in the Western territory pay overtime on a twelve mile per hour basis. Eight in the Southeastern and five in the Western territory pay overtime on a twelve and one-half miles per hour basis. There is only one road in the United States of which we have knowledge that works more than the ten-hour work day."

Basis of Demand.

The statement denied that the present demand "is based on 'peak' earning of the railways, due to the present boom in business." It said further that the fact that roads in the hands of receivers had not cut wages should not be credited to the companies so situated but to the courts which have forbidden reductions.

The brotherhoods denied emphatically that other employes should suffer reductions to meet any extra expense that the eight-hour day for trainmen might involve. The fact that dividends might be reduced they said was "a matter with which we have nothing to do." They argued that freight rates need not necessarily be increased because of shorter hours for employes but said they favored such increases if the roads need the revenue. A question whether roads "should cut down expenditures for so-called non-productive improvements" is something "entirely within the judgment of the companies," according to the statement which added that a "$20,000,000 rail passenger station erected "in complying with public demand" bore the same relation to the men's wages "as so much watered stock." Questions relating to government ownership and national regulation of railway wages were declared extraneous to the issue.

Will There Be Strike?

Whether the controversy is to lead to a strike was pronounced a "question that at this time is not a part of the discussion." The organizations "are not opposed to arbitration, neither are they pledged to accept it," said the statement, which added:

"The railroad organizations are practically pledged to peace but that does not mean peace at any price. It means peace with honor and not peace at the sacrifice of justice.

"The organizations do not desire to take issue with the public; they have no disposition to take undue advantage of it in any sense; they accept every public responsibility. They challenge even the inference that they have not always been fair to the public and they ask only from the public that which the public holds fast as its absolute right, namely the liberty to make its own terms of service so far as it has the power.

"It is true that in the past arbitrations the men were disappointed and to some extent lost faith in that method of adjustment of differences, but there is neither warrant nor authority for saying that abritration will or will not be accepted. Circumstances will determine the position of the men when the need arises and they will then decide what shall be done."

BEAUTY DOCTOR TELLS SECRET

Gail Beauty Doctor Gives Simple Recipe to Darken Gray Hair and Promote Its Growth.

Miss Allee Whitney, a well-known beauty doctor of Detroit, Mich., recently gave out the following statement: "Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home, at very little cost, that will darken gray hair, promote its growth and make it soft and glossy. To a half pint of water add 1 oz. of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ oz. of glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It is also fine to promote the growth of the hair, relieve itching and scalp disease, and is excellent for dandruff and falling hair."

WAS SOLDIER OF REVOLUTIONARY ARMY

Name of Abraham Lincoln's Grandfather in Virginia's Records.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 10.—Evidence tending to prove that Abraham Lincoln's grandfather was a soldier of the Revolutionary war has been unearthed by Mrs. E. S. Walker of Springfield, an active worker of the Daughters of the American Revolution. According to Mrs. Walker more than 500 soldiers of the Revolution are known to be buried in Illinois. She dug out this information by slow degrees while engaged in compiling data to be used in connection with the Illinois Centennial celebration by the Daughters of the American Revolution.

"It has been my duty to ascertain the number of Revolutionary soldiers who lie buried in Illinois," said Mrs. Walker, discussing her achievement. "This research has covered a period of more than five years and, as a result, over 500 are known to be buried in our state.

"Of this number the large majority came here from Virginia. For that reason, the records of that state have been carefully studied. While pursuing this investigation, I was attracted by the name of Abraham Lincoln, who served as a corporal in the Virginia militia during the Revolutionary war, from Augusta county in 1777, and again in 1779 from Rockingham county.

"From the fact that President Lincoln's grandfather was a resident of Rockingham county at that time, and being of suitable age for service, and that the corporal bore the name of Abraham Lincoln, it seems quite probable that he was the grandfather of President Lincoln."

Mrs. Walker's discovery will be brought to the attention of the faculty of the University of Illinois, who are preparing the centennial history of Illinois, and it is understood they will institute a systematic search for corroborative evidence.

HUGHES OPPOSES USE OF HIS NAME

Says He Is Entirely Out of Politics; Does Not Want Nomination.

Washington, Feb. 10.—Representative Slemp, chairman of the Virginia Republican committee, yesterday made public a letter from Justice Hughes declaring:

"I am totally opposed to the use of my name in connection with the nomination and to the selection or instruction of any delegates in my interest directly or remotely."

Justice Hughes' letter, made public with his consent, was in reply to a letter from Mr. Slemp which informed the justice that Frank H. Hitchcock, postmaster general under President Taft, had inaugurated a movement in the South favoring the justice for the Republican presidential nomination.

Justice Hughes' reply is as follows:

"My Dear Mr. Slemp: Your letter of Feb. 2 has been received. I am entirely out of politics and I know nothing whatever of the matters to which you refer. I am totally opposed to the use of my name in connection with the nomination and to the selection or instruction of any delegates in my interest, either directly or remotely. Very sincerely yours,

"CHARLES E. HUGHES."

HUGHES PETITIONS NOW IN MARQUETTE

Marquette, Mich., Feb. 10.—Hughes petitions have made their appearance in Marquette, and it is said that they are also being circulated in other cities of the state.

They propose that the name of Justice Charles E. Hughes shall be placed on the Michigan primary ballot as a candidate for the nomination for president. All Republicans who have been asked to sign them here have willingly done so, and the men who have been in touch with local sentiment say it is strongly in favor of the nomination of Justice Hughes.

BLAME THE PROMOTERS FOR BIG BOXING PURSES

You Can't Censure Jess Willard for Taking All He Can Get, and Yet the Promoters Are Making the Boxers Greedy—It Is Rumored That Frank Gotch Has Started to Train for Stecher.

BY BRUCE.

YOU don't exactly blame Jess Willard for getting $47,000 for fighting ten rounds, but just the same the fact that a boxer is going to receive that rather stupendous amount for half an hour's work, makes a lot of persons weary. Why? Because the amount is so vastly far beyond what any fighter's efforts for ten rounds are worth.

If you were the fighter, you would take the money. You may criticize Willard and then hurl anathema at the bald head of Tom Jones, but, stop, pause and consider. You can't blame them for getting the dough.

Promoters the country over are complaining that boxers are getting it all. Whose fault is it? After piping the way the promoters of the forthcoming Willard-Moran fight have boosted the ante, and considering further that the meeting is a measly ten-round affair with not even a referee's verdict attached, it makes the average follower of boxing weary that Willard, a fighter who has not as yet demonstrated his class, should get a fortune for going ten short rounds.

Tom Jones must be possessed of the ability to spread the unguent. If tales of the purse offered are true, Willard will receive the largest amount of money ever offered for a short engagement. Yes, Bill, and there are persons all over the country verbally belting the boxers because they are money mad. Turn to some of the promoters—it appears that they are financially insane.

If Tex Rickard has really offered that vast sum, it would appear that a heavy loss for the promoters is about the only thing that will halt the soaring ring purses. Fifty dollars is a lot of money to pay to see a ten-round no-decision contest.

Gotch Coming Back.

FROM some of the crevices of sport come sneaking into stalwart being rumors that a meeting between Frank Gotch and Joe Stecher is as good as made. Gotch, whisper the rumors, is training in Santa Monica, Cal. If Gotch is training, then there is but one man he intends meeting, and that certain party is none other than Joe Stecher.

Wrestling grew to large proportions just as Frank Gotch grew into national prominence. Gotch's first Eastern trip was made after the defeat of Tom Jenkins in Bellingham, Wash., in 1904. From that time on down until 1911, when Gotch disposed of Hackenschmidt the second time, there have always been big matches to keep the public interest alive in the wrestling game.

Giovanni Raicevich was one of the first of the foreign stars brought over here to meet Gotch. Zbyszko, Mahmout and Hackenschmidt followed, and every one of these big matches was eagerly read and talked of throughout the country.

Now there is the talk of a meeting between the Humboldt farmer and the younger farmer of Dodge, Neb. Already the public interest in the contest is astir, while every authentic story of the probability of the men meeting fans the interest to the white heat of flaming enthusiasm.

There surely is a demand for a meeting between Gotch and Stecher. There was a riotous demand for a meeting between Jeffries and Johnson. A champion is a champion, in the public's eye, until the day he is ruthlessly dragged from his throne and hauled, a piteous spectacle, before the jeering populace.

Many persons considered Gotch so great that they give Stecher, despite all he has done, little chance with the champion. Great as has been the interest in all of Gotch's great matches, there seems little doubt but that a meeting between the king of the wrestlers and the sensational young Joe Stecher will eclipse all past matches, speaking from the point of interest.

It's Quite Different.

JOE WOOD and Tris Speaker have not as yet signed their names to 1916 contracts. Is Bill Carrigan or other of Boston American persuasion worrying over the matter? They are not. Would they have worried last year? The chances are that they would. Certainly they would have worried themselves into a white heat the year previous. The Federal league is out of the running, hence the casting aside of fears and blue funks and raw-edged nerves upon the part of the magnates.

Return to the yoke, ye baseball slave.

So That You May Know.

Joseph Carpinski is the real name of Joe Carr. He is a Pole and one of the strongest his race, a hardy one, has produced. If Joe takes the measure of Ketonen tomorrow night, he will go down in wrestling history with such great Polish wrestlers as Stanislaus and Wladek Zbyszko.

As to State's Supremacy.

Speaking of the state that has produced the greatest boxers, it occurs to one that Michigan with Stanley Ketchel, Kid Lavigne and Ad Wolgast as representatives of Wolverine fistic hardihood stands well along toward the front of the national line.

Some of the other states produced a cluster of great fighters, but the whaling abilities of this Michigan trio just about makes Michigan win. Ketchel, Lavigne and Wolgast—some tribe!

Kane Also Has a Masked Marvel.

Eddie Kane writes that he has a masked marvel. Eddie's hooded knight is a boxer, or at least Edward says he is, and according to the chirpings of Edward, this boy will give away pounds to get a contest.

Ed adds that the boy's parents don't know he is fighting. That mask thing, under the circumstances can be taken two ways. Maybe the boy isn't going to tell his parents.

TAFT TALKS TO MAGNATES

Former President at National League's Birthday Celebration Banquet.

Old Differences Evidently Forgotten By Baseball Owners.

New York, Feb. 10.—At the banquet held last night in celebration of the National league's fortieth anniversary, Former President William T. Taft, addressing the diners, declared baseball has been an important factor in civilizing the Philippines. He said American soldiers and sailors have taught the game to the natives, and that its influence has spread to the wilds of the island possessions. Baseball, he added, has been substituted for head hunting by the Igorrotes.

Mr. Taft said he was glad the umpire has the authority to send off the field those players who do not behave themselves.

"If I had my way, he said, "I would also shut the mouths of those fellows on the side lines. You may not approve of that now, but you will come to it, for if you let a mouth go, you do not know what it is going to bring about."

Enmities Apparently Forgotten.

At the banquet whatever enmity remained as the result of the recent war, was not revived when former foes joined in the merry-making.

President John K. Tener was toastmaster. In his opening address, he declared that "as we believe the United States is fitted to sit at the head of the table of internationalism, so we believe that baseball, our pastime, is destined to become the world's international sport."

No change was made in the rule limiting the number of players to twenty-one by the National league magnates, although Boston, Chicago and New York went on record as favoring an increase to twenty-two players for each club. All the other representatives expressed their belief that the twenty-one player limit was sufficient.

President Weeghman of Chicago said that while he intended sending twenty-six players to the training camp, the rule would cause no hardship to the Cubs as they would get through the season with twenty-one players eligible for the pennant race.

The word "manager" as well as "player," was read into the rule governing the deduction of salary during a term of suspension and it was agreed that any club guilty of an infraction of this law should be fined $250.

President Weeghman stated that he had not made any definite arrangements for the disposal of Roger Bresnahan's services. The Chicago club owner said he would be in this city all week, and would endeavor to place the former Chicago club manager to the best advantage.

UPPER CLASS MEN WINNERS

Junior-Sophomore Contest Is Even Break Until the Close.

The first games of the Central high school interclass hockey league were played yesterday afternoon on the rink at Twenty-fifth avenue east and Fourth street. The upper class septets proved superior, the seniors defeating the freshmen by the score of 8 to 4, and the juniors taking a hard-fought contest from the sophomores by the count of 1 to 0.

The senior-freshman contest was rather slow at times, but livened up at the end. Both aggregations changed their lineups often in order to get a line on their men. Hall and Jenswold did some especially good work for the fourth year septet, with their team mater not far behind. "Jimmie" Wall did the best work for the freshies.

The junior-sophomore contest was a thriller all the way through, the winner not being decided until the whistle blew. The playing on both sides was fast and some good team as well as individual work was noticeable. After a fast scrimmage, McIntyre slammed the puck into the net for the juniors' only score, and incidentally the only score of the game. Gow, the sophomore captain, played a wonderful game for the losing team. Both of these teams will make trouble for their opponents in future games.

Today the second set of games will be played, when the seniors meet the sophomores and the juniors take on the freshmen. There are a number of exceptionally good players on all of the teams, and there is no excuse for the school not being represented by a strong representative septet.

LEADERS KEEP UP FAST PACE

Central Business College and Peyton Paper Fives Win Games.

The Central Business college and Peyton Paper fives kept up their winning streaks last evening in the Intermediate Basket Ball league, the former quint taking the Cubs into camp by the score of 15 to 4, and the paper men defeating the Enn Kays by the score of 15 to 3. The Marines forfeited to the Dormitory Blues in their scheduled game.

The first game was featured by the team work of the collegians, the Cubs being swept off their feet. Patton did remarkably well on the offensive for his team, caging four neat goals. J. Moore played a good game on defensive.

The second contest was somewhat similar to the first, the Peytons making a runaway of it from the first. The Enn Kays put up a hard fight but they could not solve the team work of their opponents. Norski and Malnati did some especially good work for the winners on offensive, while Eacobacci did well on defensive. Stenberg put up a good game for the losers. The lineups and scores:

Peytons (15)		Enn Kays (3)
M. Norski	f	Stenberg
M. Malnati	f	Bailey

ST. PAUL HOCKEY SEPTET WILL PLAY DULUTH ALL STARS

Wellington, Whalen, Kahler, Mohan and Other Star Players in Lineup of Apostle Team—Duluth to Have Its Best Men in the Game—Visiting Team Is Rated Very High.

With one of the strongest hockey teams ever organized in the Northwest, a septet composed of stars that have shone on various American and Canadian teams in the last few years, the St. Paul Athletic club seven will oppose a team composed of the best players chosen from the local amateur league, at the Duluth Curling club rink this evening.

Manager Ray Johns and his players arrived late yesterday from the Copper Country. The Apostle team won one and lost one game in the series with the Calumet septet. St. Paul is leading in the race for the championship of the American Hockey association. But two games more remain in the schedule of the athletic club stars. Calumet is to be played in the big state fair grounds hippodrome on Monday and Tuesday evenings. The result of these games may determine the winner of the league for the present season.

Many Stars on Team.

On the team that is to oppose the Duluth all-stars this evening are some real hockey players. A. L. Whalen is a former Port Arthur player and has played against the Duluth Curling club team in the past. A. R. Wellington, better known as the Duke, is one of the best known hockey players in the Northwest. He has played on a number of Canadian teams and played one game with Duluth last season.

Bill Adams is another Canadian star, and then there is Bert Mohan, who played with the Duluth septet last season. Nick Kahler, one of the most popular players who ever played here, is with the Apostles, and so is Goheen, who played against the Duluth seven last year. Fitzgerald is another Saintly City star.

Great Goal Tender.

In Bonney the Saints possess one of the greatest goal tenders that ever played the game in the Northwest, according to all accounts. They say this chap is cool and nonchalant under a fusillade of shots and that he stops the puck with his feet, hands and stick with apparently little effort.

Bonney will be seen at goal point in the game of this evening. Adan will be at point and Goheen at cover point. Mohan will be stationed at rover and Wellington will perform in the center position. Henderson and Conroy will be on the wings.

Mohan, Alder, Stahl, Bartlett, Owens, Sullivan, Arnie Olson, Peterson, Bastien, G. Olson and Harris are the Duluth players that will make up the team to oppose the Apostles. The positions the home boys will fill have not been definitely determined as yet.

Fast Game Expected.

The best and fastest game of the season is looked for. While the dope leans leeringly toward a foreign victory, nevertheless it is expected that the home defense guard will make a strong showing against the invaders.

Ray Johns claims his team is better than the aggregation that represented the Duluth Curling club last season. If the statement of the former Duluthian is correct, then he has some team. Also it is claimed by Uncle Nick Kahler and the rest of the St. Paul boys, that they play a clean and scientific brand of hockey.

The game will start at the usual time and will be followed by skating and music.

DULUTHIANS MAY ASSIST IN SECURING BIG REGATTA

Plan Suggested for Having Duluth Residents Petition for Holding National Rowing Races of 1916 in This City.

The men, women and children of Duluth may be asked to assist in bringing the 1916 regatta of the National Association of Oarsmen to Duluth.

If the approval of Julius H. Barnes is secured, petitions may be circulated for the signatures of Duluth's residents. President Daniel Mahoney of the boat club favors the plan and it is believed that Mr. Barnes will lend his co-operation to the suggestion. James E. Ten Eyck, coach of the Duluth crews, is expected home in the near future to start the training of the 1916 crews. The return of Jimmy is expected to crystallize action and start the ball a-rolling. It is believed considerable pressure will have to be brought on the directors of the national association in order to secure the national regatta for Duluth. Also Duluth may be asked to contribute largely in transportation expense to assist the visiting crews in making the long trip from the East.

MAKING CHANGE ON STREET CARS!

CONDUCTORS REQUIRED TO BE ACCOMMODATING WHEN POSSIBLE!

We desire to again respectfully call the attention of our patrons to the necessity of providing themselves with change before boarding cars.

Conductors are required to be prepared to furnish change up to the amount of $2.

Some persons appear to have the idea that the offering of any piece of "good money" on a street car is "legal tender" and that on making such tender they have the right to be carried whether the conductor is able to make change for it or not. This idea is erroneous, as the courts have held that the tender of a $5 bill in payment of a 5-cent fare upon a street car is an unreasonable and therefore not a legal tender. It will therefore be seen that a person who gets aboard a street car with nothing less than a $5 bill is in the same position as one who has no money at all, so far as paying his fare is concerned, and that in such cases it is not as unreasonable as it may at first appear for the conductor to politely ask him to step off the car, procure change and take the next car.

INSTRUCTIONS TO CONDUCTORS

But while conductors are not required to furnish change for any sum in excess of $2, they are instructed by the company to do so as an accommodation to passengers when possible. A conductor is required to have $10 in change when first starting out, and it can easily be seen that the changing of $5 bills from two passengers would exhaust this supply.. If he accepted two such bills he would be compelled to stop the car and seek change himself while all his passengers waited.

MISTAKES IN CHANGE

When a conductor takes a piece of money from you from which you expect change, and passes on without returning change or audibly calling out the denomination of the money, you should not rely upon his having correctly read it and upon his returning your change to you later, but should call him back at once.

In order to prevent mistakes in change, misunderstandings and short change complaints, our conductors have been instructed to call out audibly the moment they receive a piece of money from a passenger, the denomination of the coin or bill, the number of fares which they understand are to be taken from it, and the change to be given in return, and to at once count out the change audibly as they hand it to the passengers. Co-operation of our patrons in insisting upon our conductors observing this rule will be greatly appreciated and will greatly assist us in preventing mistakes regarding change.

KETONEN CONFIDENT HE WILL DEFEAT JOE CARR

Finnish Boy Believes He Will Take the Measure of Mill City Pole After a Tough and Gruelling Mat Battle; Carr's Game Is to Beat Ketonen Quickly.

"I've waited two years for a meeting with Carr," said Waino Ketonen, the world's middleweight champion, today, "and the fans in Duluth and the friends I have made since I have been here may be sure that I am going to wrestle the match of my life against this fellow. If I win from Carr then I am going to force Pet Brown of Taylor, Tex., to meet me at the middleweight limit or admit that he cannot make the middleweight poundage. I expect to beat Carr, but the match may go a long way before I get him. I can't say what plan I will carry out. That will depend how he comes at me. They say Carr will tear at me and attempt to beat me in quick fashion. I figure that the longer the contest goes the better will grow my chances. I expect the hardest contest of my career, and nearly all my matches have been tough ones."

The stage is set for tomorrow evening's big mat battle. Waino Ketonen, the title holder, is ready to make the effort of his life in defense of his title. Joe Carr, the challenger, is working out today in Cook's Minneapolis with big Henry Ordeman. Immediately after his final work with the big Norsk, Carpinski, Carr's real name—will jump the rattler for Duluth, Minn.

Joe Carr and Ordeman will arrive here this evening. The husky Pole is in the pink, according to reports that come from Minneapolis. No one knows better than Carr himself what he is going up against in the auditorium ring tomorrow night. The Pole does not underestimate his Finn opponent in the least. Carr has never trained for any contest with the earnestness and vigor he has displayed in his work of the last three weeks.

Great Match Looked For.

The trail of the dope points to a great and gruelling struggle. Both boys are supremely confident. Carr is naturally sure of himself after that first meeting, but there is a quiet confidence about the little Finn that has imbued his followers with the belief that he is going to stake the Minneapolis iron Pole to a trimming.

Ketonen never has been given to talking. He is a vest pocket imitation of the Sphinx; and yet as the day of the most important mat battle in the career of the little Finnish boy draws near, a match that means more to him than any other in his long and sensational career in Europe and the United States, the little fellow seems cocksure of himself and confident of the outcome.

As the day of the match approaches interest in the bout increases. St. Paul and Minneapolis mat fans are coming to get a look at the match. It is generally believed that tomorrow's bout will prove one of the truly great matches in Duluth's wrestling history.

An All-Star Card On.

Before the fans settle in their seats and await the entrance of the two stars of the evening, they will be entertained by some near champion grapplers.

Little Louie Zorbas, who is matched to wrestle Owen Dalley, lightweight champion, in Lincoln, Neb., Washington's birthday, is to take on Pete Petkoff, the Bulgarian strong boy and the pride of the steel plant workers. This contest is expected to prove a corker, as both of the boys are real wrestlers.

Olaf Johnson, the Norwegian Olympic games medal winner, who has been working out with Champion Ketonen, is on the bill also. The Norsk will tackle Bill Nivers of St. Paul. Johnson is a bear for strength and in his native land is considered a star.

In the matter of nationalities, the card will present a wide range. Ketonen is a Finn and Carpinski, or Carr, is a Pole. Louie Zorbas is a Greek and Pete Petkoff is a Bulgarian. Olaf Johnson is a Norwegian and Nivers of St. Paul is of Irish extraction.

Charged With Counterfeiting.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 10.—John Roso, aged 30, and Joseph Martino, aged 34, of Chicago, were arrested yesterday on a counterfeiting charge. Thirty half dollar bogus coins, made of aluminum and lead, some melting pots and a bowl of molder's sand, were confiscated at their rooming house. The prisoners will be turned over to the Federal authorities.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Why Modify Baby's Milk?

The average constituency of human milk and of cow's milk is about this:

	Human	Cow's
Fat	4.00 per cent.	4.00 per cent.
Sugar	7.00 per cent.	4.75 per cent.
Protein	1.50 per cent.	3.50 per cent.
Mineral	0.20 per cent.	0.70 per cent.

Thus they are about the same in quantity of fat; human milk contains considerably more milk sugar than cow's milk, and less than half as much protein (albumin, cheese). The difference in mineral salts is negligible.

WILLIAM BRADY M.D.

Now when it is necessary to substitute an artificial food for a baby's natural food, cow's milk makes the nearest known imitation. But in order to make cow's milk still more like human milk, we dilute the milk, thus reducing the strength of protein, then we add milk sugar and possibly fresh cream to bring the other essentials up to approximate the proportions of fat and sugar in human milk.

One of the most practical ways of modifying milk to render it suitable for a baby is by taking a jar of pure milk, preferably certified, letting it stand in a cold place a few hours or until the cream rises, then dipping the upper third of the milk out by means of a Chapin milk dipper (a little dipper holding just one ounce and easily inserted in a milk jar) without disturbing the lower layers of the milk.

This fresh upper milk contains about 10 per cent fat. For a very young baby, the food should contain only about 2 or 3 per cent fat, which is as much as can be digested at first. In order to convert 10 per cent milk (the upper milk) into 2 per cent milk, you mix one part milk with four parts water, as any arithmetician will tell you. So let us put it in table form:

Remove the upper third (about nine ounces) from a quart jar of certified milk which has stood for about four hours in a cold place. (Use a Chapin milk dipper, never a tube and mouth suction.)

Of this upper milk take four ounces. Of milk sugar take one and one-half ounces (three tablespoonfuls). Of water (boiled) or oatmeal water or barley water take enough to make the whole mixture measure twenty ounces.

Week by week the strength of the food may be increased by using one more ounce of the upper milk, and one less ounce of water or dilutent. But keep adding the milk sugar in the same proportions. When made up the day's supply of food should be kept in a covered or sealed vessel in a cold place, stirred up when a bottle is to be filled, and the bottle warmed before feeding.

For a baby three or four months old twice as much of all ingredients should be used for a day's supply, and it would be proper to start in at a little higher strength of upper milk in the mixture, say nine or ten ounces in the forty-ounce mixture.

From the amounts of protein in human and cow's milk it is quite obvious that dilution is necessary until the baby's digestion is capable of caring for so much protein.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Fast Living, Gas, Insomnia.

Does gas cause insomnia? I retire about 10, but wake around 3 a. m. and sleep little afterward. I have unpleasant dreams. Think I have abused myself by eating too fast.

Answer—And too much. Hasty eating and overeating are the commonest causes of digestive disturbances, gas, autointoxication, and all the symptoms that condition covers. That is what the Bread and Milk club is for—to rest the metabolism Mondays. Better join. All you have to do is limit yourself to break or crackers and milk all day Monday of each week—some milk and a cracker or bit of bread every two or two and one-half hours from early morn till bedtime.

A PURE WHITE MINERAL OIL

Why Your Doctor Prescribes Nujol for Constipation

LAXATIVES can very easily do a great deal of harm.

Nujol can do no harm, because it is not absorbed into the system, but acts simply as a mechanical lubricant.

Laxatives give only a temporary relief, and by their after-effects aggravate the very condition they are meant to cure.

Nujol is odorless and tasteless, absolutely neutral, and is not digested or absorbed into the system. It acts merely as a mechanical lubricant.

Nujol is not a drug. Its use will not give quick, temporary relief. But Nujol is a genuine remedy in that it relieves constipation in the most natural way by lubricating the lining of the intestines, softening the intestinal contents, and thus promoting healthy and normal bowel activity.

Write for "The Rational Treatment of Constipation," an informative treatise on constipation. If you cannot get Nujol from your druggist, we will send a pint bottle prepaid to any point in the United States on receipt of 75c—money order or stamps.

NEW YORK SPORTING GOSSIP

Tabor, Holder of World's Mile Sprinting Record, Urged to Go After Three-Quarters Mark—Standing of Revolver Contest.

New York, Feb. 10.—If Norman S. Tabor listens to the call of his former trainer the holder of the world's record for the mile will make another attack upon running records during the coming summer. Ed. O'Connor, former Brown university trainer, who prepared Tabor for his successful race at the Harvard stadium on July 16, 1915, when he made new figures for the mile, is anxious that Tabor take a try at the ¾-mile record. O'Connor is confident that the former Brown and Oxford, Eng., university runner can easily lower the time now found against this event in the record books.

Tabor has a remarkable record as a middle distance runner both in this country and in England, where he studied at Oxford university as a Rhodes scholar. He was a pacemaker for John Paul Jones of Cornell when the latter lowered the one-mile amateur record at the intercollegiate games in 1913, after running a dead heat with Jones in the mile event the year previous. In 1914 he was a member of the Oxford university four-mile relay team which defeated the University of Pennsylvania team in the sensational event of the Pennsylvania relay carnival. In that event the first three relays ran comparatively even and Jackson of Oxford and McCurdy of Pennsylvania finished the final mile with less than a foot lead for the English runner. Last year Tabor surpassed all his previous efforts when he ran a special paced mile under A. U. sanction in 4:12 3-5, establishing a new world's record in both amateur and professional divisions.

Now O'Connor believes that Tabor can lower the ¾-mile record as well and the trainer's contention appears to be well supported by Tabor's performances in the past. The ¾-mile, which is equivalent to 1,320 yards, is an unusual racing distance and there have been few attempts made for the record in this event in recent years. The late Tommy Conneff made the outdoor amateur record on Aug. 21, 1895, when he ran the distance in 3:02 4-5. The indoor record is held by J. P. Driscoll, who hung up 3:07 at Buffalo, March 15, 1913. The professional record dates back to June 30, 1866, when W. Richards of England ran the 1,320 yards in 3:07. In his record mile Tabor ran at the rate of 3:09½ for three-quarters of a mile. O'Connor has reason to believe that Tabor can cut under Conneff's record if he will consent to train for the test, but securing the latter's consent to make the attempt is something else again, although O'Connor is confident that he will be successful in winning Tabor back to the cinder track for this special effort.

Jim Rice, the Columbia university rowing coach, is telling a good story on himself these days. Rice has been endeavoring to arouse greater enthusiasm for rowing at Columbia, and to down the report that he is about to quit because he can't get enough candidates to report for the crews he tells this:

"I went up to a big freshman and asked him why didn't he come out for the crew," said Rice.

"'What's the use?' he said. 'Haven't you heard the stories? Rice is going to leave.'

"'Leave? Who told you?'

"'Why, I got it from Rice direct.'"

DITZEL WINS LONG GAME

Ralph Bradley's Rink Is Beaten 9 to 7 in 14-Head Curling Contest.

Harley Ditzel has the honor of being the first Duluth rink to defeat Bradley's rink this season. It took Ditzel fourteen heads to turn the trick, but he finally accomplished it, winning by the score of 9 to 7.

Ditzel tied the score up in the twelfth head by laying one. The thirteenth head was a blank and in the next end Ditzel laid two and won the game, which was in the Bagley event.

Cleveland skipped Bradley's rink. All through the local season Bradley's rink has made a great showing. That it required a fourteen head to register the initial defeat of the season against this rink speaks well for its gameness in the face of a tough contest.

The contest last evening is one of the longest ever played in the Northwest.

Following is the personnel and score of the contest as well as the results of other games and tonight's draw:

MAY FORM NEW CIRCUIT

Duluth, St. Paul and Minneapolis Plan Three-Club Hockey League.

Negotiations are under way today toward the formation of a three-club hockey league to finish out the present season. It is planned to include St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth in the circuit.

Ray Johns, representing St. Paul, A. R. Wellington, speaking from the Minneapolis side of the case, and local followers of hockey representing Duluth, are expected to reach an agreement that will result in a three-city schedule being played out between now and the time that the Ides of March start the ice moving away in trickling streams.

Minneapolis is not in the American Hockey association. Like Duluth, Minneapolis is flirting with the amateur game. At the close of St. Paul's schedule Tuesday evening, Wellington goes to Minneapolis to lead the Mill city team. Therefore, if the three-club schedule is arranged, the league will be separate from the American Hockey association and complete in itself.

Also it might be stated that flimsy rumors have been started concerning the formation of a big team here next season. It is said Wellington was approached along this line.

PREPARE FOR HARD BATTLE

Duluth and Superior Central Teams Go Through Stiff Workouts.

The Duluth and Superior Central high school basket ball quints are both going through a hard workout preparatory to their big annual clash tomorrow night in the gymnasium of the Superior school. The game is expected to prove one of the most brilliant contests ever staged on the Purple and White floor as both aggregations are evenly matched and have been working hard on their team work and basket shooting all week.

Earlier in the season it was thought that the Superiorites would experience little difficulty in taking the locals into camp, but since the wonderful showing that the Red and White men put up against the Cathedral team last Friday night, the supporters of the team across the bay are not feeling so confident. Superior is favored in the contest, not only on dope of comparative scores, but also because they are playing on their own floor. They have practically the same team that they had last year and recently held the crack Virginia high school quint to a 23 to 18 score, the same team which defeated Duluth Central 40 to 15.

Since the Virginia game, however, the local Centralites have improved wonderfully under the careful tutelage of Coach Blake and they are confident of taking their hated rivals into camp. Karon and Shaw, two of last year's veterans, have been studying hard and have been able to make up scholastic difficulties and they will be in the game tomorrow night. "Ba[illegible]" Mason will play the other forward and Rosenberg will take care of the other guard. Capt. Goglins will hold down his old place at center.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Tony Canard of Hibbing and Carl Manelia also of Hibbing were arrested by Federal Officer Ellis and assistants last evening as they stepped off a Mesaba railway street car. The officers followed them into Hibbing from Buhl after discovering a suit case filled with liquor was carried by one of the men.

Henry Howard of Duluth was arrested last night as he stepped off a train carrying two suit cases filled with fifty pints of whisky.

He was brought to the Hibbing village jail and this morning all three men were taken to Virginia where they will be given a preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner Otto Poirier.

Howard, who is only a youth in appearance, lives at 206 West Superior street, and his parents live in the Zenith City. The fifty pints were of a bonded grade of whiskey. Howard, while in the village jail refused to talk for publication until he consults with friends in the Zenith City whom he notified. Howard refused to state who he was carrying the liquor for and to whom he intended to dispose of it.

HIBBING POLITICS ARE DECIDEDLY DULL

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—With the spring election only a month away only one candidate has announced himself. This is Fred McCombe, who ran for treasurer last year, being defeated by the present incumbent, Robert Geiselman.

That there will be opposition to the present administration is heard in some quarters while the argument is just as strong the other way, that Victor L. Power will not have an opponent.

Mayor Power refuses to state whether he will be a candidate, being noncommittal. "I am too busy with this term of court to talk politics," he stated. "Come around a little later. You will find out more information then perhaps." All other prospective candidates refused to state whether they would run or not.

DENTAL CLINIC IN HIBBING SCHOOLS

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. P. R. Acting on his suggestion the board decided to engage the services of Dr. W. N. Fike of Minneapolis, an authority on dentistry, who will address the school children on Wednesday of baby welfare week in Hibbing. The board also decided to allow the public to see without any admission the senior play, "The Elopment of Elvin," which will be presented in March. The board will pay $100 to the seniors and will buy the ticket right giving the Hibbing public an opportunity to see a clever presentation of a clever little play without any cost.

Mr. Matson is one of the janitors in the school building, and he and Mrs. Matson were among the very first families to locate in this village, coming here overland from Old Mesaba about 1892. They have lived here ever since and practically all of their children were born here. Funeral services were held here today and interment followed in Greenwood cemetery, Virginia.

Don't Merely "Stop" a Cough

Stop the Thing that Causes It and the Cough will Stop Itself

A cough is really one of our best friends. It warns us that there is inflammation or obstruction in a dangerous place. Therefore, when you get a bad cough don't proceed to dose yourself with a lot of drugs that merely "stop" the cough temporarily by deadening the throat nerves. Treat the cause—heal the inflamed membranes. Here is a home-made remedy that gets right at the cause and will make an obstinate cough vanish more quickly than you ever thought possible.

Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) in a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. This gives you a full pint of the most pleasant and effective cough remedy you ever used, at a cost of only 54 cents. No bother to prepare. Full directions with Pinex.

It heals the inflamed membranes so gently and promptly that you wonder how it does it. Also loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough and stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, rich in guaiacol, and is famous the world over for its healing effect on the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex," and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

The pulpwood shipments are light this year, owing to the fall in the price of pulpwood. Pulpwood is selling at $1.10 a cord less than last winter. The surplus of the wood last year is thought to have caused the drop in the price.

A Fine Aid For Mother-to-be

We are all greatly indebted to those who tell their experiences. And among the many things which we read about and are of immediate importance to the expectant mother, is a splendid external remedy called "Mother's Friend." This is applied over the muscles of the stomach. It is deeply penetrating in its influence. Mothers everywhere tell of its soothing effect, how it allays pains incident to stretching of cords, ligaments and muscles. They tell of restful comfort, of calm, peaceful nights, an absence of those distresses peculiar to the period of expectancy, relief from morning sickness, no more of that apprehension with which so many young women's minds become burdened. It is a splendid help. Get a bottle of "Mother's Friend" from your nearest druggist. Ask your husband to get it for you. Then write to Bradfield Regulator Co., 408 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a very handsome and instructive book. It is filled with suggestive ideas of great help to all women interested in the subject of maternity. And best of all are some letters from mothers that are real inspirations. Write today.

OLIVER ORDERS NEW DUMP CARS

Forty All-Steel, for Early Delivery, Are Specified.

An $80,000 order for mine equipment in the form of steel stripping cars has just been placed by the Oliver Iron Mining company.

The order is for forty 20-yard all-steel air dump cars and it specifies delivery at the earliest dates possible. It is intimated by officials of the company that the cars will probably be tried out in the Hibbing district. They are to be of the most modern pattern known and designed to save time and labor in their operation. They will be utilized in stripping material at the open pit mines.

The order has been distributed between the following companies: Western Wheeled Scraper company, Aurora, Ill.; Russell Wheel & Foundry company, Detroit, Mich.; Kilbourne & Jacobs Manufacturing company, Columbus, Ohio, and Ovenstein-Arthur-Koppel company, Pittsburgh.

ENORMOUS PROFIT FOR REPUBLIC CO.

The statement of the Republic Iron & Steel company for the year ended Dec. 31, last, has caused considerable comment in trade circles. The prospects for the future of the company are regarded as unusually bright.

The Republic came through the year with net earnings of record proportions, the gain over the previous high year of 1913 being almost $600,000. After making liberal appropriations for depreciation and mineral exhaustion and making deductions for preferred dividend requirements, there was left a balance of $2,300,000 to be appropriated to profit and loss surplus.

Earnings on the $25,000,000 preferred stock worked out a trifle more than 14 per cent as compared with 4.11 per cent on the same stock in the 1914 year. Allowing for dividends on the preferred shares at the yearly rate of 7 per cent there was left a common share balance of 6½ per cent. This showing would have been decidedly better had not the company been so liberal in its depreciation charges. The regular allowances for this purpose were well above those of the 1914 period and in addition a special fund of $400,000 was set up for extraordinary depreciation. The balance sheet at the close of the year indicated a strong financial position and showed net assets amounting to $13,500,000, more than one-fourth of which consisted of cash.

This report is to be considered most gratifying in that by far the greater proportion of the large earnings was made in the latter half of the year. Results during the last six months of the period showed a gradual improvement and it is just this fact that makes the outlook for the coming months so promising.

During the last quarter earnings are understood to have been at the rate of fully 25 per cent of the common stock, a slightly better showing than was made by the United States Steel corporation for the same period. This progressive increase in earnings gives promise of a most satisfactory statement for the current fiscal year and gives rise to the belief that directors may see fit in the near future to do away with the accumulation of dividends on the preferred stock, of which there is 11 per cent still due. Payment of those back dividends would place the common in line for disbursements and would greatly strengthen the position of the shares.

Dandruff Surely Destroys The Hair

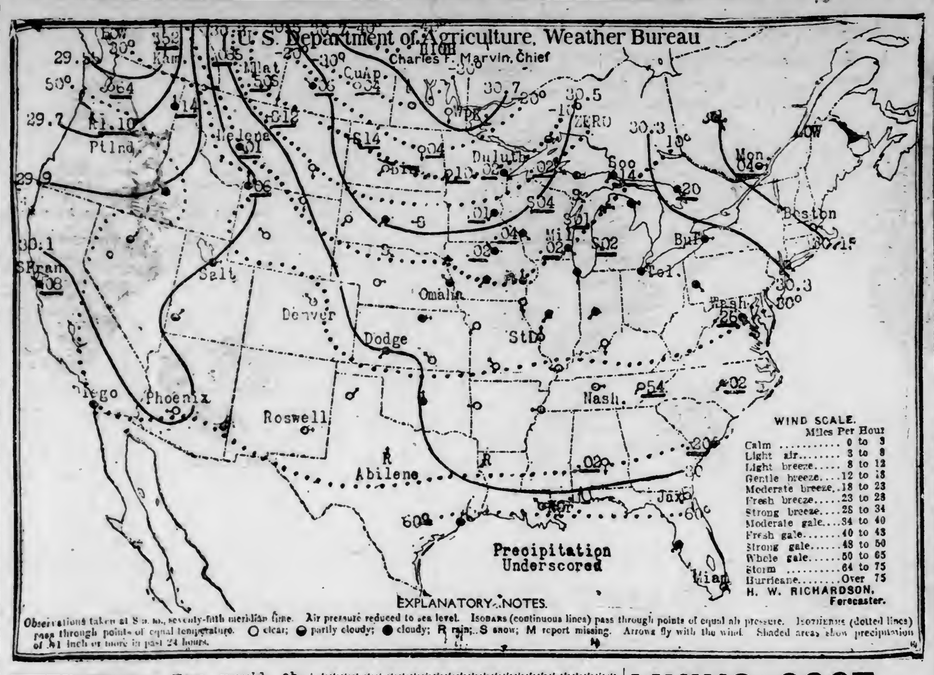

Girls—If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never falls. —Advertisement.

SNOW

Few would object to a continuation of this kind of weather for the rest of the season called "winter." Today is one of the prettiest that Duluth has enjoyed since winter set in, and the air keeps nippy enough to prevent a feeling of lassitude, which sometimes occurs when warm changes take place. A year ago today was cloudy and cold. The sun rose this morning at 7:21 and will set this evening at 5:24, giving ten hours and three minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Severe cold weather prevails in Saskatchewan, Manitoba and the Red river valley, the lowest reported temperature being 42 deg. below at Prince Albert, Sask. The temperature has fallen over those districts, the Ohio valley, Southeastern states and the Middle West, and has risen over Western North Dakota, and the greater portion of the Rocky mountain and Plateau regions. Rain fell over Southern states and snow or rain over Northern districts and the Far West during Wednesday or last night. Heavy rain occurred at Portland, Or."

LIVING COST IS MOUNTING

Prices of Staple Foodstuffs Show Advance Over Year Ago.

Wool Higher and Leather Firm—Little Prospect of Easier Conditions.

Living costs in nearly every line have been mounting up during the last two weeks, according to market reports.

General advances have been recorded in prices of foodstuffs with the exception that the flour market has declined 20 cents a barrel, in line with the drop in the wheat market. Sugar is higher to the extent of 15 cents per 100 pounds and coffee and meats are also on the ascent. Live cattle at Chicago, for example, advanced 40 cents per 100 pounds. Hogs are up 20 cents, and sheep 25 cents per 100 pounds.

Marked advances have been recorded in the metal markets during the last week. Spot copper was quoted in New York yesterday at 28 cents a pound compared with only 14½@15 cents last year. Quotations in all iron and steel products are soaring. Advances in drugs, chemicals, dyestuffs and oils outnumbered declines three to one.

Some declines have developed in prices in the hide market, but leathers on the other hand are firm. Union back leather is quoted at 53 cents a pound, as compared with 44 cents a year ago, but hemlock sole leather is just 1 cent up from last year at 33 cents.

Wool averages up over 6 cents a pound higher than a year ago, at 32.8 cents a pound, and Para rubber is 76 cents a pound, as compared with 57½ cents at this time last year.

As a rule, trade experts do not hold out much hope for any markeu easing up in prices of leading products as long as the war lasts. Export trade is so large and the demand from manufacturers for raw materials of all kinds so abnormal that supplies are not showing much leeway above current requirements. The cutting off of importations from Europe has affected all the markets materially, particularly as the development of trade with the South American republics, that might have been drawn upon more freely, has been retarded on account of inadequate shipping facilities and high freight rates.

STORAGE TAX LOOKED INTO

North Dakota Railroad Commission Considers Matter at Fargo Meet.

Hearing Held to Determine How Much Truth There Is to Charges.

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state railway commission held a meeting here to secure information relative to storage charges that have been made on grains at the elevators. The commission invited the elevator men and farmers of the state to the meeting but there were no farmers present other than those who were directors of farmers' elevators.

There has been a large number of complaints filed with the commission asking it to take action to put a stop to the practice of some elevators charging storage and others making no storage charge at all, of other elevators making a charge against one farmers' grain and not making it against another's and of line and other elevators in the same company making charges in one town and not in another, the charge being controlled by the competition.

Allege Discrimination.

It is claimed that such practices are an unjust discrimination and it is the desire of those making the complaint, who are largely line elevator companies, that the board fix a minimum storage rate that can be charged in addition to the maximum rate that is fixed by law in this state.

The commission obtained a large amount of information relative to the practice of various elevators in the state, the meeting being attended by a large number of elevator agents from practically every section and elevator men from the Twin Cities.

With this splendid record, the men students of the college are almost assured that their Y. M. C. A. building will be a reality in the near future. This object has been the dream of the students of the institution for over two years, when the movement was first started.

EAT LESS MEAT AND TAKE SALTS IF KIDNEYS HURT

Says a Tablespoonful of Salts Flushes Kidneys, Stopping Backache.

Meat Forms Uric Acid, Which Excites Kidneys and Weakens Bladder.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The momen. your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.—Advertisement.

BUILDING OF THIS SCHOOL AWAITS HIGH COURT RULING

PROPOSED GRAND FORKS HIGH SCHOOL.

Grand Forks, N. D., Feb. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Contracts have been let by the local board of education for the construction of a magnificent high school, but the execution of the contracts depends upon the decision of the supreme court of North Dakota, to which tribunal the legal status of the contracts have been submitted.

The building, complete, will cost approximately $200,000, and is designed as the first unit of a central high school plant that ultimately will provide facilities for three times as many classes as are provided for in this building.

Opposition to the construction of the high school is crystalized around the contention that the board has failed to properly handle its funds, and that it is not therefore in position to at this time proceed with the construction program.

In district court, the opponents of the board of education successfully pleaded their side of the case, Judge Pollock of Fargo, rendering the decision by which the contracts were held null and void. From such decision the board of education appealed.

BARRON'S CREAMERY LEADS IN ITS CLASS

Barron, Wis., Feb. 10.—The Barron creamery, the largest co-operative creamery in the world and by far the largest in Wisconsin, has set a new world's high record for production the past year.

There was 1,299,429 pounds of butter made for which the farmers were paid $324,061.32. As the creamery runs six days in summer and four in winter each week, the average paid the farmers is well above $1,000 per day. There are about 800 patrons and every bit of cream is gathered by twelve cream haulers on eighteen routes. On two of the routes automobile trucks are used which speaks volumes for the good quality of the roads and lands.

There was purchased last year 3,986,370 pounds of cream which produced 1,095,550.4 pounds of butter fat. The average price paid for the year was a fraction over 30½ cents.

HAVE ROSY CHEEKS AND FEEL FRESH AS A DAISY—TRY THIS!

To see the tinge of healthy bloom in your face, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, to wake up without a headache, backache, coated tongue or a nasty breath, in fact to feel your best, day in and day out, just try inside-bathing every morning for one week.

Before breakfast each day, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it as a harmless means of washing from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will cost very little at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, sweetens and freshens the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the blood and internal organs. Those who are subject to constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, rheumatic twinges, also those whose skin is sallow and complexion pallid, are assured that one week of inside-bathing will have them both looking and feeling better in every way.—Advertisement.

"Why Swear, Dear? Use 'Gets-It' for Corns!"

It' the New Plan. Simple. Sure as Fate. . Applied in a Few Seconds.

"Why, John, I never knew you to use such language! I've told you several times it's no use to try those bandages, salves, tapes, plasters, and contraptions for corns. Here's some 'Gets-It,' it's just wonderful how easy, 'clear and clean' it makes any corn come right off. Takes but a few seconds to apply. It dries at once. Put your sock on right over it,—there's nothing to stick or roll up, form a bundle of your toe, or press on the corn. It's painless, simple as rolling off a log. Now put away those knives, razors and scissors, use 'Gets-It' and you'll have a sweeter disposition and no more corns and calluses."

WILL ESTABLISH CATHOLIC SCHOOL

Chicago, Feb. 10.—Archbishop George W. Mundelein today took up actively his duties as archbishop of the Chicago archdiocese with the announcement that he would establish in Chicago the largest Catholic seminary in the United States. The school, he said, would be located on the North shore, where the church owns sufficient property for a site. A four-year course in advanced theology and a six-year course in philosophy would be provided.

The appointment of Mgr. M. J. Fitzsimmons as vicar general of the Chicago archdiocese was the first official act of the new archbishop.

DEFENDANT WOMAN PLEADS OWN CASE

Thief River Falls, Minn., Feb. 10.—Judge Grindeland has taken under advisement the divorce case of Edwin M. Stanton, a local attorney, vs. Fanny R. Stanton, his wife and also a lawyer, which was heard by the judge Tuesday, the defendant doing a Portia stunt and caring for her own case. A throng of women crowded into the courtroom to follow the unusual spectacle of husband and wife arrayed against each other in an action so vital to both. Mrs. Stanton, although opposed not only by her husband but by other counsel, handled her case with skill and won much praise from the spectators. She said afterward she did not care how many attorneys her husband had, as she felt confident she had won the case.

"I still love my husband," Mrs. Stanton cried during the trial, pointing to him. "I beg that this court refuse to grant him a divorce. I have not wronged him in any way, and in his heart he knows it."

Famous Movie Star Condemns Curling Iron

Little Mary Pickford, whose pretty curly locks have been so much admired, writes that she has never used the curling iron. She fails to see the wisdom of burning the life out of the hair.

That the heated iron is ruinous to the hair is being more and more appreciated. Many are discarding this instrument of torture in favor of plain liquid silmerine. This is not only harmless but is really beneficial to the hair. Instead of giving one's tresses a burnt-out, lifeless appearance, it gives them a bright lustre, and the curliness looks altogether natural. It is a simple thing to procure a few ounces of liquid silmerine from the druggist and apply a little at night with a clean tooth brush. The hair should be moistened the full length from root to tip. The beautiful way effect upon arising is agreeably surprising.

FIRED FROM ANOTHER GUN

Fatal Bullet Not From John McAlpine's Weapon, Is Claim.

Surgeon Testifies Regarding Experiments on Two Cadavers.

Testimony in support of a theory that the gun which was found beside the body of John McAlpine, well-known lumberman, who was found in the basement of his East end home by members of his family on the early morning of Aug. 16, 1913, was not the gun from which the bullet which plowed through his brain was fired, was given by Dr. T. L. Chapman this morning in district court.

From experiments which were conducted by Dr. Chapman, and from the testimony which the witness gave concerning them, the following deductions are made by plaintiff's attorneys:

That the McAlpine gun which has been identified as the one which was found beside the body of the dead lumberman was not the one which killed him, despite the fact that an empty shell was found in the barrel.

Killed by Another Gun.

That Mr. McAlpine was killed by another gun which has not been produced at the trial and which was probably held by a burglar.

That the muzzle of the gun from which the shot was fired was at least four to eight inches away from the skull and not in direct contact or one-fourth of an inch away, as has been testified to by Dr. A. A. Law, medical and gun expert, called by the insurance companies.

Dr. Chapman testified that he performed several experiments on the heads and limbs of two cadavers obtained at the state university.

Using the McAlpine gun, loaded with a Smith & Weston, U. M. C. special cartridge (which is of the same style and make of the kind found in the McAlpine gun) Dr. Chapman fired a bullet into the skull of a cadaver of about the same size as the late Mr. McAlpine at a distance of about one-half inch. The top of the skull was blown loose and the bullet passed not only through the head but also nearly through two three-quarter inch pine boards.

A second shot fired through the head of a second cadaver at about the same distance, using a 38-caliber short bullet and fired from another gun, fractured the skull and passed through, showing about the same power of penetration as was evidenced in the McAlpine case.

Different Velocity.

In view of the fact that the penetrating powers of the two bullets differed widely, it will be contended by the plaintiff's attorneys that in the first place it would have been impossible for the McAlpine gun to have been used because the bullet would have passed clear through the skull with such a power discharge, instead of being found lodged in the skin at the point of exit, as was the fact.

On cross-examination this morning, Dr. Chapman admitted that bullets of the same make might have varying penetration powers and that the penetrating power of the bullet was influenced to a more or less extent by its deflection and other influences.

MINNESOTA AGAINST AMATEUR VIOLATIONS.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The University of Minnesota football team candidates of 1916 voluntarily went on record against any infractions of the rules of amateurism and adopted the honor system for Minnesota football at a dinner last night, it became known today, thus taking the first step in what is expected to be a country-wide move to solve the summer baseball problem.

The dinner was attended by coaches, alumni football stars and candidates for this year's team. The following agreement regarding the rule breaking was signed:

"We, the undersigned men, undergraduate students at the University of Minnesota, and candidates for the varsity football team of 1916, do hereby affirm our belief in the principle of amateurism as the essential foundation for the successful continuation of intercollegiate athletic contests, and hereby pledge our word, on our honor as gentlemen, to Albert Baston, captain of the Minnesota football team, that we will refrain from committing any act which is forbidden by the eligibility rules of the Western conference, and that we will maintain our amateur standing pure and unsullied as a matter of principle, in order to donate our services to the advancement and prestige of our alma mater on the football field."

NEARLY FOUR FEET OF SNOW AT CALUMET

Calumet, Mich., Feb. 10.—Measurements taken today by the Calumet & Hecla meteorological observatory show a total of forty-five inches of snow on the level, an increase of six inches over the depth a week ago. Considerable difficulty is experienced in maintaining traffic.

Logging operations in the Copper country have been curtailed 30 per cent as a result of the continuous heavy snowfall since the first of the year. There has been a general suspension of cutting and skidding. The greatest difficulty experienced is in treating the logs that have been cut and getting them out of the woods. The loggers also are short of men, the mines taking many who otherwise would work in the camps.

TAKES JOY OUT OF LIFE

No Escape From "Exams" for High School Seniors.

All high school pupils will have to struggle through "exams" in June before they are given sheepskins.

Supt. R. E. Denfeld told teachers yesterday afternoon, when they met in Central high school, that the custom of allowing a child to graduate without taking an exam, providing he or she had an average of 90 per cent or more in a study, would have to be discontinued.

"In the future, we have decided," he said, "examinations will be required of all pupils. I find that many who graduate from high school and go to Eastern schools and colleges have difficulty after leaving, because they have to pass examinations before they are allowed to enter many of the better schools.

"They find themselves handicapped, after a summer's vacation, when they have to study for an 'exam,' and often have trouble in obtaining a satisfactory grade, even though they were good students while in school. If they all are examined here before they leave, it will be better for all concerned."

The "90 per cent" rule was abolished at Central high school last year, but it still is being used at the R. E. Denfeld school in West Duluth.

DANIELS URGES MERCHANT MARINE

Secretary Also Defends Administration's National Defense Program.

Washington, Feb. 10.—Secretary Daniels of the navy defended the administration naval increase program and advocated immediate building up of an adequate merchant marine in a speech here today before a session of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States devoted to discussion of national preparedness.

"We can no longer live unto ourselves," said Mr. Daniels. "On our farms we grow more than the republic can consume. We must feed much of the world. We have the right also to have a large share in clothing the world and supplying people in every clime with whatever is manufactured in our mills and factories. But how can we fill our larger mission? What avail teeming harvests and large production in factories without adequate and reasonable water transportation? The securing of an adequate merchant marine is a pressing problem and it is so tied up with enlarging and strengthening of our navy that the two cannot be wisely separated.

"The naval program offered by the administration is a constructive, progressive one, and if built according to the continuous five-year program—the first continuing program ever proposed by an administration—it will give us by the year 1921, thirty-three capital ships of the first line and twenty-five battleships of the second line, with ten armored cruisers, 108 destroyers, 175 submarines and smaller craft in proportion."

Mr. Daniels declared himself to be a disciple of Benjamin Franklin on the question of preparedness. "This philosopher - statesman declared that 'There never was a good war nor a bad peace,' but he did more to prepare for the impending revolution than any other man," he said.

"No man in the revolutionary period could be preferred before him in preparedness for defense. His achievements for preparedness may well be studied by the people of this day and generation."

USES SHOTGUN TO END LIFE

Charles Claus Presses the Trigger With Two-Foot Rule.

Charles Claus, 30, son of Carl Claus, dairyman at Pike Lake, committed suicide in the parlor of his father's home this morning shortly after 10 o'clock.

Sitting down in a chair, Claus balanced his shot gun, with the muzzle pointing toward him, until it was level with his head, and then he pulled the trigger, or pressed it down with a two-foot rule which he found in the house.

Other occupants of the house, startled by the report of the gun, ran into the room and found the body on the floor.

Coroner C. F. McComb took charge of the case and the body was brought to the Crawford undertaking rooms at Duluth.

Relatives of the dead man are at a loss to account for his deed, they say. They told Dr. McComb that he seemed to be in good health, and that they were completely mystified.

The coroner will make an investigation.

ORDERS BEING APPORTIONED

Iron and Steel Demands Require Allotment By Manufacturers.

Demand for iron and steel for the last half of the year is so large that the mills are making apportionments on the lines of what they consider should be the actual requirements of customers, according to a report from Pittsburgh.

In some instances allotments are 60 per cent of tonnage requested. All the big steel mills are said to be refusing new accounts, and in accepting orders they are fixing the time of delivery at their own convenience.

In some lines, large premiums are being paid for prompt delivery, that being especially the case in plates. Boat and car building materials are being contracted for at an enormous rate and plate mills are finding themselves unable to supply the demand. The Chester Shipbuilding corporation is said to have booked orders for six additional freighters and has contracted for the steel in Pittsburgh. Contracts for shipbuilding run far into 1917.

Heavy Bar Steel Demand.

The bar steel tonnage of the country is reported to be contracted for well up to October next. Inquiries for steel bars for munitions are said to be as numerous as at any time during the last six months, and contracts are reported to have been placed by the European nations for 400,000 tons of steel to be delivered during the last half of the year. J. P. Morgan & Co. have been buying machinery and various lines of material from all sections of the country. Judging from the shipments of machinery abroad, it is assumed that the warring nations intend going in for the manufacture of shells upon an enormous scale.

The Carbon Steel company is now working on its third and largest order for shells. The amount involved in this order is approximately $9,000,000, and it is expected to have the final shipment made before July 1 next. On its earlier orders the Carbon Steel company anticipated the contract dates of delivey, in one case by three months.

FIGHTING IS CONTINUOUS

Berlin, Feb. 10, via London, 3 p. m.—The capture from the French of a large section of trench northwest of Vimy, in the Artois region, was announced by German army headquarters today. A mine crater near Neuville, in the same sector, was retaken. South of the Somme the French gained a foothold in a small part of one of the German first line trenches.

French Statement.

Paris, Feb. 10, via London, 4:41 p. m. —The artillery duel between the French and the Germans is continuing in the Ancre district, according to an announcement made by the French war office this afternoon. German troops last night made a strong attack against the French positions between Neuville and La Folie. This was repulsed and the Germans were successful in holding only one mine crater.

BRIGHT OUTLOOK FOR MINING STOCKS

With heavy sales of copper metal reported at 26 cents a pound in the East this week, the future of the market in mining stocks is regarded as most promising.

Reports of the last few days recorded increased outputs by some of the leading operators, and the payment of extra dividends is predicted at their next quarterly declarations. Interest has been aroused through the statement that the Butte & Superior Copper company's January output was the largest in its history. The extent of the next quarterly dividend to be paid by the company, due to be declared this month, is a subject of considerable conjecture. As high as $10 a share extra has been predicted in some quarters.

Interest was shown yesterday in the statement that some of the largest copper metal producers had withdrawn their quotations in view of the heavy advances in the price of copper reported at London. That action was regarded as foreshadowing still higher figures for the metal in this country.

WHEAT TRADE IS NERVOUS

Market Rallies on Export Inquiry After Recording Sharp Break.

Flaxseed Again Advances With Good Buying By Crushers' Interests.

Duluth Board of Trade, Feb. 10.—The market was strong at the close with the day's declines nearly recovered. Export inquiry furnished the impetus.

May wheat closed ½c off and July ⅛c off.

May durum closed unchanged and July ⅛c up.

Oats closed ¼c up at 45⅝c for on the track; rye unchanged at 97c, and barley unchanged to 1c off at from 65c to 72c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ¼c up at 46⅝c asked.

At St. Louis, May wheat closed at $1.23⅜, and July at $1.17⅝.

At Kansas City, May wheat closed at $1.18⅛, and July at $1.14⅝.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.24⅛, and calls at $1.25⅜ bid.

The plug was pulled out in the wheat market today and prices tumbled unceremoniously. Heavy offerings appeared at the start and with no support appearing from exporters, sales were made only at sharp recessions. The catching of stop-loss orders on the way down intensified the movement.

At the low points set in the break, good foreign buying came in, and quotations were advanced 2c from the bottom figures. A dull period then ensued, with the market having every appearance of being ready to take another descent, provided it was pushed over a trifle. Fresh weakness later developed, and at the end of the first three hours trading, recessions extending to 1½c were showing.

New York reported that 600,000 bu of wheat had been taken for export on the break, and Baltimore advised the putting through of fair foreign business.

While Liverpool cables were steady, unchanged, a disturbing factor for holders came in fresh advices from Buenos Aires that freight rates from there had been again reduced, and predictions were for a better movement of grain to Europe.

In the meantime the shipping situation in the Northwest does not show any improvement with the embargoes still effective at all Atlantic ports. Dealers say that they are unable to obtain more than a few cars daily for the shipment of grain from the Head of the Lakes, and in the meantime Canadian wheat and oats are arriving in larger volume. Today 60 cars of wheat were on the tracks here from the Canadian West. Stocks of all grains in the Duluth elevators are now reported at 17,002,000 bu, an increase of 289,000 bu in the last four days.

May wheat opened ¼c up at $1.27, broke to $1.24⅛, recovered to $1.26, and stood at $1.25 at the noon-hour. July opened ⅜c up at $1.26, and broke a maximum of 2½c, recovering later to $1.24.

May durum opened ½c up at $1.22 and broke 2c with little life evident in that market.

Flaxseed Moves Up.

Trading in flaxseed was comparatively featureless, but an upward move was again recorded. Operations were light with dealers' attention largely monopolized by the wheat market. The close was strong on better support. Crushers were fair buyers and they picked up the seed in small lots at moderate accessions in prices.

May flax opened ½c up at $2.31, and closed 2¼c up at $2.32¾. July flax opened ½c up at $2.31½, and closed 2c up at $2.32½ asked.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed 1¼c up at $2.31⅝ asked.

At Buenos Aires, flax closed ⅝c at $2.43⅛, and London unchanged at $2.83½.

MARKET GOSSIP.

C. F. Lewis & Co. had the following from New York: "A Baltimore concern is credited with having sold twenty-four loads of wheat for export this morning. Local exporters did not claim any business on the break in wheat. It is said that more corn business would be doing but for the scarcity of freight room."

Regarding linseed, Broomhall cabled: "Argentine shipments are estimated at 1,125,000 bu. Weather is fine and freights are easier. Buenos Aires is firm with improved export takings."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Weakness in America was without material effect here as the spot situation remains firm and arrivals are inadequate. Spot market was firm, unchanged with scarcity."

* * *

Reports from Fort William state that the depth of the snow in the railroad yards is from five to seven feet and the loading out of cars is greatly hampered by these conditions. A good many New York receivers have Canadian oats bought at Fort William for which they filed application for cars at the close of navigation and still have several thousand cars ahead of them before the oats can be shipped. According to the Canadian law, application for cars are taken in the order in which the applications are made.

A Chicago wire said: "When the sharp break started in wheat, it was a repetition of the market that prevailed about a week ago. Every broker seemed to have stop-loss orders in large volume and buying orders were scarce. Our brokers used due diligence, but were unable in some cases to sell wheat on stop at the stop limits."

Argentine estimated shipments: Wheat, 750,000 bu, corn, 2,125,000 bu.

At Minneapolis there was a good demand for nice milling wheat. One northern blue-stem sold at 1½@6½c over May and velvet chaff at 1@2c over. Flour was quiet. Cash one northern wheat sold there at from $1.26¾ to 1.29¾, and No. 2 northern at from $1.22¾ to 1.24¾.

It is now figured that the total world's requirements of foreign wheat for the season will amount to 560,000,000 bu. Of this amount 203,000,000 bu has already been shipped, mostly from North America, leaving requirements for importers of 297,000,000 bu.

* * *

Firmness came at the close on a report from Baltimore of big export business there today. New York reported 1,000,000 bu. Winnipeg May wheat was bought through New York sources, No. 1 Canadian wheat at New York sold at 27½c over Winnipeg f. o. b. New York, the highest premium on the crop.

Cash one northern wheat sold at the May price on the Duluth market today. Cash No. 1 durum also sold at the May price basis.

Superior & Pittsburgh Copper company shareholders are meeting this afternoon to vote upon a proposition to sell the entire assets of the corporation and distribute the proceeds. It is thought that sufficient votes will be recorded to bring the remaining stock outstanding into the Calumet & Arizona Copper company and to effect a transfer of the shares.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Chicago, Feb. 10.—Stop-loss selling tumbled down prices rapidly today in the wheat market here. Attempts, however, by leading shorts to collect profits, led to an excited rebound. The selling flurry began after the market at the opening had shown a moderate advance in response to unexpected firmness in Liverpool, based on predictions that shipments from Argentina and Australia would remain light. Discouraged bulls who had been unable to unload on yesterday's decline here seized the new opportunity, and in doing so dislodged innumerable stop-loss orders to sell. The ensuing whipsaw fluctuations covered a range of 4¼.

Opening prices for wheat were $1.28 to $1.28½ for May, and $1.20⅞ to $1.21¼ for July, a rise of ⅛@¼c to ⅝@¾c. When comparative steadiness had been restored, the market stood at about 1½c under yesterday's finish.

Renewal of export buying brought about subsequently a further rally, but sudden transient breaks kept the pit nervous. The close was unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to ⅛c lower, with May $1.27⅜@1.27⅞ and July at $1.20½.

Corn and oats swayed with wheat. Corn, though, displayed relative firmness owing to a bulge at Liverpool. After opening ½@⅝c to 1@1½c up, the market dropped below yesterday's close and then again scored a moderate advance.

Bullish estimates of the Argentine exportable surplus tended later to hoist the market here. The close was steady at an advance of 1c to 1¼c net.

Continued demand for lard gave firmness to the provision market as a whole. The weakness of grain, though, acted as somewhat of an offset.

STOCKS HAVE AN ADVANCE

United States Steel and Coppers Are Leaders of Market.

Standard Issues Sold Toward the Close, Which Is Irregular.

New York, Feb. 10.—United States Steel and metal shares were prominent features of today's active opening. Steel in lots of 1,000 to 2,000 shares rose to 85⅝, a fraction over yesterday's close. Anaconda, Utah and Butte & Superior coppers were in further demand, the latter advancing 1⅝ to the new record of 86. Mackay companies rose an additional 6½ to 91, its best price since 1912. Lackawanna Steel was strongest of the war shares, with a gain of 1¾, some others trailing along to the extent of a point. Variable declines were registered by Mexican Petroleum, Industrial Alcohol and Crucible Steel.

Stocks with Mexican connections were reactionary on reports of possible cancellation of foreign-owned concessions in that country. The list made further gains, however, after some minor irregularity, coppers still pointing the way, with heavy dealings in Anaconda and Utah. United States Steel overcame the slight pressure following its initial advance, rising to 85½. Trading ran into other channels later, Canadian Pacific becoming suddenly active at an overnight advance of 3¼, while United F

SECRETARY OF WAR GARRISON RESIGNS FROM CABINET; SAYS HE WILL RETIRE FROM POLITICS

BRECKENRIDGE FOLLOWS LEAD OF SUPERIOR

Resignations of Both Secretary and Assistant Secretary Accepted.

Garrison Quits Because President Would Not Insist on Continental Army.

Maj. Gen. Scott Becomes Head of War Department Ad Interim.

New York, Feb. 11.—Lindley M. Garrison, former secretary of war, announced here today that he intended to retire "absolutely" from politics and public life. He said he would not discuss his resignation from any political angle.

Mr. Garrison intimated, however, that he might "do something" in the matter of giving support to the movement in favor of a continental army, the issue upon which his resignation hinged.

Mr. Garrison received interviewers at the home of George Leary, with whom he spent the night after his arrival here last evening from Washington.

"I will not discuss my resignation from the cabinet," he said, "from any political angle whatever. The facts will be disclosed to anyone who will carefully read the correspondence between myself and the president.

"I intend to retire absolutely from politics and public life. I do not care for any political consideration whatever. Get it out of your head that there was anything political in my action."

Resignation Accepted.

Washington, Feb. 11.—Secretary Garrison has resigned from the cabinet because President Wilson declined to insist without compromise upon the adoption of the continental army plan by congress. The resignation was tendered and accepted yesterday and with Mr. Garrison the assistant secretary of war, Henry Breckinridge, left the service of the government.

Today the president finds himself personally in charge of the administra-

BOMBS ARE DROPPED NEAR THAMES' MOUTH

Berlin War Office Reports Raid Made By Zeppelins on England.

London, Feb. 11.—An official statement issued by the German general naval staff is forwarded by Reuter's Amsterdam correspondent as follows:

"On the afternoon of Feb. 9 some of our naval aeroplanes dropped bombs freely on the harbor works, factories and barracks at Ramsgate, south of the mouth of the Thames."

The official British account of Wednesday's daylight raid said bombs were dropped in the vicinity of Ramsgate and the neighboring town of Broadstairs and that the material damage was confined to the shattering of glass. Two women and one child were injured.

MIDSHIPMEN INCOMPETENT

Secretary Daniels Approves Dismissal of Eighty-Two From Academy.

Says Navy Needs Officers But Standard Must Be Maintained.

Washington, Feb. 11. — Secretary Daniels today approved the recommendations of the academic board at the naval academy dismissing eighty-two midshipmen for failure in their studies.

Their names may be made public later.

Of those dismissed three are of the first class, nineteen of the second, twenty of the third and forty of the fourth class. In announcing his decision, Secretary Daniels said that while the navy needed more officers, only those who could meet the high standards and qualify by examination could be retained.

"To meet this need," he said, "the Sixty-third congress upon the recommendation of the navy department continued the law which had expired by limitation providing for the appointment of two midshipmen by each mem-

MIGHTY BRITISH FLEET IN NORTH SEA READY TO MEET GERMAN ATTACK

French and American Correspondents Allowed to View Great Squadron.

Huge Battle Cruisers Occupy Premier Place Among the Ships.

Famous Cruiser Lion There Little Worse From Battles.

Somewhere in the North Sea, via London, Feb. 11.—Great Britain's first line offensive fleet, an incomparable combination of speed and gun power, ready for instant action, was inspected yesterday by a party of French and American correspondents and a representative of the Associated Press was permitted to view from the bridge of a torpedo boat the naval unit which is expected to meet the first shock of a German attack.

In the fleet were virtually all the veteran fighting craft which have been in action in this war, but they showed few scars with the exception of an occasional dent in their armor. The pride of place was held by battle cruisers which, in engagements from the Falkland isles to the Dardanelles, have borne the brunt of the sea fighting.

Huge Fighting Machines.

Unpopular with officers and men before the war because they were constantly coaling, and never more than cautiously praised by the proponents of the superdreadnaught policy, these huge fighting machines hold the premier position in the British navy, in which warship speed is now regarded as the first and most important principle of naval strategy.

The correspondents left the naval base under a sunny sky but on reaching the outlying patrol of torpedo boats found the water covered with a

New York, Feb. 11.—An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed today in the United States district court against John H. Putnam, stock broker, who is being sought by postoffice inspectors and is believed now to be on his way to Europe on the steamship Baltic.

Putnam carried on business under the firm name of John H. Putnam & Co., and operated branches in Hartford, Conn., and Springfield, Mass. According to postoffice authorities he persuaded thousands of persons throughout the country to invest in oil stocks on an installment payment plan promising returns of 50 per cent.

At a hearing before County Judge Davis yesterday Walton was removed from office for wilful neglect of duty.

FOUR ATTACKS BY FRENCH ARE REPULSED BY GERMAN TROOPS

FIGHTING IS CONTINUOUS

Desperate Efforts to Recover Trenches Lost to Teutons Prove Futile.

French Assaults to South of the Somme Also Fail.

Berlin, Feb. 11, via London, 3:15 p. m.—The repulse of four successive attacks made by the French in efforts to recapture trenches they had lost northwest of Vimy, in the Artois, was announced today by German army headquarters. The French also failed in assaults to the south of the Somme.

Germans Strengthening Lines.

Amsterdam, via London, Feb. 11.—A dispatch from Ghent from the Echo Belge says that on the Belgian front between Ypres and Armentieres, a violent artillery battle has been in progress for ten days. The Germans are very busy strengthening their lines, but the opinion prevails that they have postponed the large offensive movement until the weather is more favorable.

Allies' airmen are developing unprecedented activity and constantly shelling camps, artillery parks and military buildings in the hands of the Germans. Camp Houthulst, the dispatch says, was visited during the last week by forty-seven raiding aviators who did considerable damage to German military property.

PRESIDENT DETERMINED TO KEEP UNITED STATES OUT OF EUROPEAN WAR

Declares Nation Is Merely Holding Trouble at Arm's Length.

Speaks on Neutrality at Banquet of Chamber of Commerce.

Tells of Advantage of Federal Reserve Banking Law.

Washington, Feb. 11.—Delegates to the annual convention of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States left for their homes today carrying with them a message from President Wilson, the outstanding feature of which was his determination to keep the United States out of the European conflict, although he declared that the nation merely held that trouble at arm's length.

The president was speaking on neutrality at the annual banquet of the chamber which was a concluding feature of a three days convention. The president also spoke of the need of a real scientific tariff board and a merchant marine.

"It is a cruel thing," said the president, "to have it supposed as it is in many quarters, that we have kept out of the war simply because we wanted to keep out of trouble and simply because we wanted to profit by the trouble of others, and yet misunderstandings for the time being are not to be reckoned as against the consciousness that we must ourselves have that we have pursued the right and only serviceable course. I am not afraid of the slow verdict of history with regard to the neutrality of the United States, and I believe that we are justified in exercising every degree of patience in making it clear what our position is and how sincerely we are determined not to allow this quarrel to become part of ours.

Hold Trouble at Arm's Length.

"I have only this to say, though. We hold this trouble at arm's length and Sheriff Wagener Will Secure Report on His Condition.

Sends Deputies to Sanatorium to Relieve St. Paul Detectives.

Pickit to Be Arraigned Monday on Charges of Forgery.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Late this afternoon it was announced that officials from Ramsey county had decided not to take State Treasurer Walter Smith to St. Paul from the local sanatorium where he is confined.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—R. C. Pickit, former clerk of the state investment board, faced arraignment Monday to answer to two indictments charging second degree forgery in connection with alleged irregularities in the handling of state funds. With these indictments, the Ramsey county grand jury also returned three secret indictments late yesterday, said to relate to the same irregularities.

The indictments against Pickit charge forgery in connection with a school warrant for $18,000, committed May 29, 1915, and another for $6,000, Aug. 21, 1914.

Smith to Be Arrested.

It was reported early today that before nightfall, Walter J. Smith, state treasurer, might be placed formally under arrest on indictments charging him with grand larceny in connection with state warrants forged by R. C. Pickit.

County Attorney R. D. O'Brien of St. Paul said that Mr. Smith would be arrested and arraigned as soon as possible.

Sheriff John Wagener of Minneapolis said he would send deputies to the sanatorium in Minneapolis, where Mr. Smith is undergoing treatment, to relieve the St. Paul detectives who have been on watch there since Monday, and to produce Mr. Smith in court as soon as possible.

He telephoned to G. E. Cardoff, manager of the sanatorium, that he would send a physician over today to examine Mr. Smith and report on his condition.

Pickit, it was announced, will not be

SUSPECTS ARRESTED BY CHICAGO POLICE

Believed to Have Been Called From New York By Bank Robbers.

Chicago, Feb. 11.—Two men said by the police to be New York friends of the four men on trial for robbing the Washington Park National bank of $15,000, were arrested in a downtown hotel here today.

According to the police they were Louis Cohen, a lawyer and Manny Weinstein. Capt. Nicholas Hunt, head of the detective bureau, said he believed the men were those summoned several days ago in a note believed to have been written by one of the four men on trial.

Examination of jurors in the trial proceeded slowly, many of the veniremen declaring that they had formed a settled opinion as to the guilt of the four indicted men.

A POLITICAL FLOOD THAT HAS BEEN SWEEPING THE MIDDLE WEST.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

Desperate battling between French and German troops continues along the western front.

Today's official statement from Berlin reports determined attempts by the French to retake the trenches they lost recently northwest of Vimy, not far south of the Belgian border. After prolonged artillery preparation French troops advanced to the attack, but four successive assaults were fruitless, according to Berlin, the Germans retaining the position.

South of the Somme the French also attempted to regain lost ground, but there, too, they were beaten off, it is declared.

The official bulletin from Paris contains no mention of any fighting along the western front, declaring the night was barren of important developments.

In Belgium, according to unofficial reports there has been a notable artillery battle in progress during the last ten days near Ypres but the opinion appears to prevail among military observers that the Germans have decided to postpone their predicted offensive until more favorable weather prevails. They are reported busy in strengthening their lines.

In Russia the artillery play on the Riga-Dvinsk front is notably heavy in character, but the infantry does not appear to have been active. In Volhynia the Russians report a forward movement in the capture of a hill between the fortresses of Rovno and Lutsk, but the latest Austrian reports claim that Emperor Nicholas' troops have been held to their old positions in Galicia and on the Bessarabian frontier, despite their desperate attempts to advance.

Belgian officials announce that there is no foundation for the recent reports that Germany recently made peace proposals to the Belgian government.

In Entente quarters the visit of Premier Briand of France to Italy is expected to result in closer military cooperation in the Balkans by the allies. The belief is held that Italy will shortly send troops to Saloniki, according to London newspaper comment.

TWO HUNDRED ARE POISONED BY SOUP

Banqueters at Archbishop's Dinner Dosed With Emetics and Soon Recover.

Chicago, Feb. 11.—Two hundred of a total of 400 persons who attended a dinner given last night to Chicago's new Catholic archbishop, the Rev. George William Mundelein, were taken ill of ptomaine poisoning after the soup course. The archbishop did not partake of the soup, nor did Governor Dunne, who was among those present, and both escaped.

"You will note that the church and state are safe," the archbishop remarked, looking at the governor, when it was possible to resume the meal.

There were several distinguished physicians present, and they agreed in short order on the treatment, namely, mustard and water. It was efficacious, and in half an hour the festivities were resumed.

No one at the speaker's table was affected. Doctors John B. Murphy, Hugh McKenna, and L. L. McArthur, who were active in administering the mustard and water, issued the following brief statement.

"Emetics relieved them. Practically all returned to the hall to hear the addresses."

The club chef, Jules O'Hanay was sought for an explanation, but he had gone home. The manager, W. J. Dougherty, stated that the soup was made from supposedly fresh chicken brought into the club this morning.

"If the chicken was tainted, as seems the case, ther is no speedier means of spreading the ptomaine poison than putting it in soup," said Dr. Murphy.

Among the victims were Archbishop Messmer of Milwaukee; Bishop M. J. Gallagher, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Bishop P. J. Muldoon, Rockford, Ill.; Bishop John E. Dunn, Natchez, Miss.; Manager Francis C. Kelly, Chicago; Manager J. J. Connolly, New York, and the Rev. John Whalen, Brooklyn, N. Y.

DOCTORS CONSULTED OVER THE TELEPHONE

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Vienna, Jan. 20.—So few doctors are left in Vienna that professional consultations over the telephone have become very numerous. Instead of calling the doctor to the house many people now seek his advice over the telephone, especially in cases where the patient has already been examined. The Vienna Medical association reminds the public of a legal decision, rendered some years ago, that such conversations are to be regarded as medical consultations and paid for accordingly.

MARSHALL COUNTY BOYS ARE RAISING CORN AND TUBERS

LEROY PETERSON OF WARREN AND PRIZE CORN.

Crookston, Minn., Feb. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Three Marshall county boys, Leroy Peterson of Warren, Oscar Larson of Viking and Andy Morksaal of Warren, who did well last year raising corn, potatoes and pigs under guidance of Mr. Neraal, agricultural superintendent of the Warren high school, have been presented with certificates of honor by the Red River Development association.

Leroy Peterson is 12 years of age. Last spring he enrolled in the pig and corn contests. He raised one litter of pigs that weighed 2,000 pounds at the end of six months at a cost of 3c a pound, thereby making $87 net, figuring that hogs would sell for 7½c. His acre of corn yielded seventy-three bushels. Of course all corn was more or less soft last year, but still he won first in the northern section of the state. Counting what the boy has made growing that acre of corn and the thirteen pigs, it amounts to over $200.

Oscar Larson is also 12 years of age. He raised 605 bushels of potatoes on one acre of ground at a cost of 12 cents a bushel. This entitles him to first place in the state of Minnesota and perhaps for the whole country.

Andy Morksaal is 16 years of age. He raised a litter of six pigs. At the end of four months, the best one was picked out and sent to the state fair. His litter had an average gain of one pound and a half a day at a cost of 3 cents a pound. The prize pig weighed at the end of these four months 182 pounds, thus winning second place in the state.

PRODUCE NOW MORE NORMAL

Shipments of Perishables Are Increasing as Mercury Rises.

Apples Are Chief Feature; Egg Market Depends Upon Weather.

Conditions in the local produce market are gradually becoming normal after the recent extended period of storms and cold weather. Receipts of perishables from the Pacific coast have picked up, and shipments from here through the district towns are back to about their usual proportions.

Apples are still the big noise in the fruit line, according to the Fitzsimmons-Palmer company, the Stacy-Merrill Fruit company and the Culbertson Bros. company. On account of the falling off in supplies of Florida and California fruits during the last month through the adverse shipping situation, consumers turned more largely to apples, and their sale expanded remarkably. At the present rate of the movement it is thought that supplies will be cleaned up within a comparatively short time, especially in the barrel fruit in which the run has been the heaviest up to the present.

Quotations in choice oranges are firm, but there is said to be considerable stock on the market that has been more or less damaged through frost en route. It is being offered at varying figures. Shipments of California oranges have been light up to the present, but they are expected to increase from now on.

Vegetable Supplies Good.

California and Louisiana green vegetable are now coming in freely. The variety of vegetables offering is widening and quotations average up at about the same level as a year ago when they were unusually low in consequence of the good yields at all producing points. Celery is said to be about the only item in the list that is selling higher, that being due to shipments having been curtailed through the weather.

In heavy vegetables the onion market is firm and no change in that respect is expected until Southern stock begins to arrive. Potatoes are still selling at $1.10 a bushel. Stocks of tubers in Minnesota and Wisconsin are said to be much larger than had been estimated last fall. A good outlet is at present being found by dealers at Southern points, and that is a factor in sustaining prices.

Butter Prices Firm.

Butter is quoted today at just the same figures as a week ago, 32@34 cents a pound for the dairy product. Information being received by the Bridgeman-Russell company and the Victor Produce company goes to show that production in this territory is increasing. While stocks of storage butter carried in warehouses in the East were much larger than a year ago, consumption has been so much heavier that they are being rapidly curtailed.

The egg market is very much a weather proposition, dealers say. While prices of fresh eggs are firm at from 37 to 40 cents a dozen, it is admitted that the incoming of a period of mild weather would soon bring about a drop in the market. Prices are already slightly easier at Chicago. Storage eggs remain at 23@24 cents a dozen. It is said that packers will be compelled to pocket a heavy loss on their operations in eggs this season. Their present price basis is estimated to figure up at considerably below their original cost.

BOY DEPORTED TO CARE FOR FAMILY

Alfred Cottrell Returned to Canada When Father and Brother Enlist.

Alfred Cottrel, aged 16 years, who crossed the Canadian line illegally last fall, was yesterday deported to Port Arthur, where he will help support his mother and sister. His father and brother are serving under the British colors and the boy's adventures as a traveler have been brought to a close for a time.

The boy began his adventurous career last fall and arrived in Duluth Dec. 29. After leaving Canada he went to a logging camp near Rainy River. From there he drifted around for a time and finally came to Duluth.

When he reached here he was virtually destitute and applied for help at the Y. M. C. A. He was given work by the association, but it was decided that the immigration officers were the ones who should have his case in hand. It was decided that the boy should stay here until conditions for employment in Canada should improve. Yesterday a letter was received from the father of the boy stating that the father and another brother had enlisted with the Canadian troops and the lad was urged to come home and take care of his mother and sister.

TRIED TO CONCLUDE PEACE WITH JAPAN

Germany's Offer Declined By Japan, Says Premier Okuma.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Tokio, Jan. 4.—Confirmation of reports that Germany has been unsuccessfully trying to conclude a separate peace with Japan was made by Count Okuma, the premier, in an interview with representatives of the Kokumin Shimbun on Jan. 5. The premier believed this indicated that Germany was showing certain signs of suffering, chiefly as a result of the weakened condition of her finances.

While no details of the peace negotiations were made public, the premier said it was hardly necessary to announce that Japan would adhere to the London peace declaration by which she had agreed not to make a separate peace.

Criticism in some quarters has arisen because Japan's adhesion to the London peace declaration was undertaken by the government without consultation with the privy council, but in defending the government's action, Count Okuma declared it was a natural result of the declaration of war by Japan upon Germany.

"The fact," he said, "that the anti-Japanese sentiment in Canada, the United States, Australia and other countries has gradually subsided and is being replaced with a favorable sentiment toward Japan is due to our acts of loyalty to pledges."

At the same time the premier made the important announcement that Japan is about to obtain from Russia certain concessions in forestry, mining and other industries in the northern half of Saghalien island, which is owned by Russia. The southern half of this island was acquired by Japan at the conclusion of the Russo-Japanese war.

"Russia," said the premier, "is very grateful for the material and moral support extended to her by Japan since the outbreak of the war." He referred also to the forthcoming visit to Tokio of the Grand Duke George Michaelovitch, a cousin of the czar, as another indication of the growing friendship between Japan and Russia, which many people believe will grow into an alliance.

Count Okuma made a plea for a united Japan in this period of war and earnestly urged the political groups of the empire to cease their conflicts and come together in an effort to improve the welfare of their country. He declared that recent Japanese diplomacy had not been a failure, as some of the government's enemies were insinuating.

Speaking of the relations with China, he pointed out that Baron Kato, the former foreign minister, was able to secure various concessions in Manchuria and Mongolia and to extend the railway and other concessions to ninety-nine years "without moving a single soldier or maneuvering a single warship," and he had done this "while conversing with Chinese officials with smiles on his face."

"Even if the present disturbances should spread throughout China," he continued, "our country need not mobilize troops there. If a portion of our fleet should take some action in the rivers, lakes, or along the coast of China it would be sufficient. In case of necessity we are prepared to undertake to protect Europeans and Americans as well as our own fellow countrymen."

ESCAPED CONVICT IS CONVERTED; CONFESSES

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 11.—Henry Dean, alias Jack London of Wausau, Wis., converted when a group of prisoners attended a revival meeting here, last night confessed that he was an escaped convict from the Tennessee penitentiary, where he was serving a sentence for holding up and robbing a freight train near Memphis in 1911.

He escaped July 20, 1914. He will be baptized tomorrow. He told county authorities that he has a wife at Detroit, Mich.

Steamships Collide.

Brainerd Aids Jews.

ARROWS OF CRITICISM STILL BEING SHOT AT MEN IN VICES AND VIRTUES CONTEST

Cigarette Smokers and Tobacco Chewers Are Hard Hit; Jealousy, Flirting and Unfaithfulness Are Deplored; Few Men Are Picking Flaws in Gentler Sex.

The common faults of mortal man are being paraded for public scrutiny by the women of the Northwest and only a few of the men, very few, indeed, have attempted to criticize their fair sisters. It must be understood the women are perfect or else the men have too much gallantry to say anything that would reflect in a slighting way on them. This has been strongly brought out in the vice and virtue contest which The Herald is conducting.

Cigarette smokers are scored by nearly every woman contributor and men who chew tobacco come in for a like amount of criticism. That the cigarette is in bad, there is no gainsaying. The little, inoffensive pill is cleaner than a pipe and has several other things to recommend it, but the women will have nothing to do with anybody who uses cigarettes. They are set against them.

The jealous man, the one who flirts with other women and the man who is always bragging about himself are in Dutch. Nearly all of the women correspondents abhor the man who boasts and who has a well-defined opinion that he is about as close to the perfection point as it is possible to be. The unfaithful man is despised.

Writing from Big Falls, Mrs. Earnest Cook gives the following vices and virtues of a man:

"Vices:
"1. Intemperance.
"2. Smoking cigarettes.
"3. Gambling.
"4. Jealousy.
"5. Laziness.
"6. Grouchiness.
"7. Mean to his family.
"8. Afraid to speak his own mind.
"9. Impolite.
"10. To tell falsehoods.
"Virtues:
"1. Be a man.
"2. To love God and honor His Word.
"3. To look out for the best interests of home.
"4. To be kind.
"5. Fearlessness.
"6. To stand up for what is right.
"7. To be a home-maker.
"8. Cheerfulness.
"9. Duty first.
"10. Industrious."

Mrs. J. O. M., Warroad, Minn.:
Vices:
"1. To be a pretender.
"2. To be a liar.
"3. Love for gambling.
"4. To smoke opium.
"5. To be a drunkard.
"6. To curse.
"7. To be untrue to one's family and friends.
"8. To be a grouch and nagger at home and all sunshine at the office.
"9. To be brutal.
"10. To be a felon."
Virtues:
"1. Man has virtues of untold greatness.
"2. A man's word is his honor.
"3. To be of a cheerful and loving disposition at times of sorrow and death.
4. To indulge in good thoughts and kind deeds.
"5. Man who loves a cheerful, loving and agreeable wife.
"6. God gave man a soul and mind as well as life did woman. Therefore, man is as thoughtful as woman.
"7. To help the blind and deaf on their way.
"8. Be kind to little children, 'for of such is the kingdom of heaven.'
"9. Remember man leaves his home and family all for his country's sake.
"10. Last, but not least, Man gave His young life that He might restore peace to earth and good will to mankind."

Mrs. E. Ophus, Crookston, Minn., writes:

"6. Industry.
"7. Faithfulness.
"8. Generosity.
"9. Preference for the society and pleasures of his own home to that of any other place.
"10. A loyal church member who scorns hypocrisy or any low mean act."
"The ten worst faults a man can have are:
"1. Unfaithfulness to his marriage vows.
"2. To strike or abuse his wife, or speak disparagingly of her to any one.

RUNAWAY COPPER MART

Large Sales of Metal at 28 Cents Are Reported.

Heavy Advance Orders Insure Strong Market for Several Months.

Particularly brisk buying of copper during the last few days has led to a runaway market in it. Large sales of metal at around 28c a pound for early delivery were reported yesterday at New York.

With the outputs of the Anaconda and the larger producers now sold ahead for several months, the situation in the trade is growing steadily stronger. While the domestic market is setting new records in the way of sales and prices obtained, interest has centered largely in foreign developments of late. Yesterday the standard copper quotation was advanced £4 per ton at London, that following other substantial bulges. The advances since Jan. 26 have mounted up to £11 per ton, and representatives of the allies are bidding freely for copper at the high price levels, as stocks in the hands of makers of munitions are said to be low.

Last year went down into history as the most prosperous copper producers have experienced in nearly a decade. Except where local conditions prevented, every individual company turned out copper to the capacity of its plant during the first six months of the year. The result was that thirty-seven companies operating in North and South America produced 1,440,000,000 pounds of copper, compared with 1,106,000,000 pounds in 1914, an increase of 293,400,000 pounds, or 26.5 per cent.

Production Heavy.

STATE SUPREME COURT DECISION

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The following decision was handed down today by the Minnesota supreme court:

LYON COUNTY.

Yeomen Lose Case.

Fred Wising, respondent, vs. Brotherhood of American Yeomen, appellant—

1. Defendant's contract provided that if any holder of a benefit certificate should become addicted to the excessive or intemperate use of intoxicants * * * the defendant should not be liable thereon. Held, following O'Connor vs. Modern Woodmen of America, 110 Minn. 18, 124 N. W. 454, that the excessive or intemperate use of intoxicants as used in this contract means: "That the conduct of a member in this respect was of such a nature, and the habit so intemperately followed, as to impair his health, mental faculties, or otherwise render the insurance risk on his life more hazardous."

2. The burden of proving the violation of such provision of the contract is on the defendant.

3. The trial court committed no error in its charge to the jury or in its rulings on the admission of evidence.

4. The evidence is not so conclusively against the verdict as to justify a reversal of the order appealed from.

Order affirmed.

JENKINS, MINN., HAS $8,000 FIRE LOSS

Jenkins, Minn., Feb. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—This small Crow Wing county town was visited by a fire which did approximately $8,000 damage, destroying a hotel, barbershop and store on the west side of the Minnesota & International railway track, near the depot, in what is known as the old business section. The new business section lies east of the tracks.

Fargo Police Woman.

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fargo will soon have a new police woman after being without one for a couple of months as a result of the resignation of Mrs. Erma Poppler in December. The city commissioners elected, on recommendation of Police Commissioner J. H. Dahl, Miss Alice Duffy of Bay City, Mich., and it is expected that Miss Duffy will be here as soon as it is possible to close up her work in the Michigan city. Miss Duffy, who has had wide experience in settlement and social work in Chicago, has been acting superintendent of the Children's Home of Bay City for the past year and comes to Fargo highly recommended for the work.

EAT IT! ENJOY IT! NO INDIGESTION OR BAD STOMACH

Never Any Sour, Gassy or Acid Stomach, Heartburn or Dyspepsia.

"Pape's Diapepsin" Makes Weak Stomachs Strong and Healthy at Once.

You can eat anything your stomach craves without fear of indigestion, acidity or dyspepsia, or that your food will ferment or sour on your stomach if you will take a little Diapepsin occasionally.

Your meals will taste good, and anything you eat will be digested; nothing can ferment or turn into acid or poison or stomach gas, which causes belching, dizziness, a feeling of fullness after eating, nausea, indigestion (like a lump of lead in stomach), biliousness, heartburn, water brash, pain in stomach and intestines or other symptoms.

Headaches from the stomach are absolutely unknown where this effective remedy is used. Diapepsin really does all the work of a healthy stomach. It digests your meals when your stomach can't. A single dose will digest all the food you eat and leave nothing to ferment or sour and upset the stomach.

Get a large 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from your druggist and start taking now, and in a little while you will actually brag about your healthy, strong stomach, for you then can eat anything and everything you want without the slightest discomfort or misery, and every particle of impurity and gas that is in your stomach and intestines is going to be carried away without the use of laxatives or any other assistance.

Should you at this moment be suffering from indigestion or any stomach disorder, you can get relief within five minutes.—Advertisement.

Claim and Counter Claim of Roommates Occupies Court.

Even room-mates sometimes disagree, it developed in municipal court yesterday, when C. P. Engel brought suit against John W. Snellman for $60.05 which, he alleged, was due him.

In a counter-claim, Snellman said Engel owed him $60.50, and so he asked that the jury award him 45 cents more than Engel was seeking to have given him.

"I nursed him when he was sick, and bought supplies for him, and helped him with his room rent," Snellman claimed, it was alleged.

On the other hand, Engel, the plaintiff, said Snellman had borrowed more than $200 from him at various times between 1911 and 1914, and that he had overlooked $60.05 in remitting.

The jury decided in Engel's favor.

Every Family Needs This Splendid Remedy

Compound of Simple Laxative Herbs Recommended for Constipation.

When a remedy has stood the test of critical analysis and strong competition for over a quarter of a century and establishes itself as the indispensable household remedy in thousands of homes, it is pretty good evidence of its efficacy.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has been on the market since 1889, its use being gradually extended until now it is generally regarded by druggists as the staple family laxative. It is a combination of simple laxative herbs, free from opiates or narcotic drugs, gentle in its action and positive in effect. It costs only fifty cents a bottle and can be purchased in drug stores everywhere.

Mr. Frank Klima, of 2309 Ashland Ave., Baltimore, Md., wrote Dr Caldwell recently that he had tried about everything without being helped until he got a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which he considers the greatest known remedy for indigestion, constipation and stomach troubles.

MR. FRANK KLIMA.

Get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin from your druggist and keep it in the house. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr W. B. Caldwell, 454 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

CLOSING DEAL WITH COUNTY

City Commissioners Prepare Way to Acquire City Hall Site.

Contract and Deed Will Be Executed at Once—Terms.

City commissioners held a special council meeting at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon and authorized the proper officials to execute a deed covering all the municipality's interests in the work farm and also to enter into a contract for the purchase of nine lots in Courthouse square for a city hall site, costing approximately $208,000, with $30,000, received as the city's share in the farm, as the first payment.

Immediately after the meeting, City Attorney Samuelson went to the regular session of the county commissioners to have the contract and deed signed. The mayor, attorney and city auditor will sign for the city, as provided for in the charter.

This action brings to an end the negotiations started by the city shortly after the first of the year to acquire a site for the proposed city hall.

Terms Agreed Upon.

At a conference recently the city and county officials agreed on the sale price of approximately $208,000, and the attorneys were instructed to draw up the contracts and deeds, the city also having accepted the offer of $33,500 for its share in the work farm. Of this amount $3,500 will pay a city debt and the remainder will be the first payment on the site.

As soon as the council closes negotiations for the sale of the old armory, the $12,000 received from the Shriners as the first payment will be transferred to the site fund, according to Mayor Prince, as will the remaining $38,000 as soon as it is received. In addition, the commissioners hope to appropriate certain amounts from time to time to reduce this amount, so that the entire sum can be paid by Jan. 1918.

It is up to the county to give a clear deed to the property and remove any possible cloud on the title.

Case in Jury's Hands.

The jury trying Joseph Naughton for the third time was given the case for deliberation at 12:30 p. m. today. The defense rested its case at noon and following a short address to the jury the men went into retirement. Two former juries have disagreed on the case. Mr. Naughton is being tried for an alleged falsifying of election returns, which took place during the election in November, 1913.

C. S. WORK WILL BEGIN.

Board Will Meet Wednesday and Arrange for Examinations.

Civil service work for 1916 will begin next week, when the board will hold its first meeting of the year and make arrangements for a series of examinations.

Ruben Johnson, secretary of the civil service commission, said this morning that the board would meet Wednesday and arrange for examinations to be given applicants for stenographic positions and the police department. Several other offices have to be filled and tests will be ordered held during the present winter.

Further announcement as to the examinations and the dates will be made by Secretary Johnson, he said this morning.

LODGES LAUNCH CAMPAIGN.

BIRTH REPORTS BELATED

Father Announces Birth of Girls Aged 12 and 13 Years Old.

Two Duluth girls, one 12 years old and the other 13, were born officially yesterday, despite the fact that they are now in California with their mother.

Oscar Anderson, the father, presented himself at the offices of the city health department and announced that he wished to report a couple of births.

One birth was at St. Mary's hospital on Feb. 3, 1903, and the other on Nov. 2, 1904, when the Anderson family was living at 612 East Sixth street. More recently they have made their home on Woodland avenue, but this residence was destroyed by fire some time ago.

Although both girls are nearly "grown up," they were not born, so far as the health department was concerned, until Feb. 10, 1916.

TO PROBE SUICIDE CASE.

Coroner Would Learn Facts Regarding Pike Lake Man's Death.

An inquiry into the death of Charles Claus, 30, son of a Pike Lake dairyman, who blew out his brains with a shotgun while sitting in the parlor of his father's house yesterday morning, so far has left authorities in the dark as to a motive for the man's act.

Dr. C. F. McComb, county coroner, will perform an autopsy at Crawford & Sons undertaking rooms this afternoon in order to investigate the case further.

In order to fire the gun, Claus aimed it carefully at his head and then pushed the trigger with a two-foot rule.

Funeral arrangements have not been made.

DIDN'T HAVE "NATIONALITY."

Charles Keonig, Born on Atlantic, Sentenced for Drunkenness.

"I wasn't born in no country," said Charles Keonig, 51, cigarmaker, when Jailer L. A. Root, at police headquarters yesterday, started booking him for drunkenness, on the "blotter."

"In a city, I suppose," said the jailer sarcastically, thinking he would head off a prospective joke.

"Naw—on the Atlantic ocean," said Keonig.

"My mother sailed from Germany on June 12, fifty-one years ago; I was born on June 18, and we landed at New York on June 24. What nationality am I? I'll give you three guesses."

Under "nationality" the blotter entry opposite Keonig's name is "Atlantic ocean."

Keonig was arrested at a grocery store across the street from police headquarters, where, he explained, he had gone to buy doughnuts.

Judge Smallwood fined him $7, in default of which he will spend seven days at the work farm.

TESTS WEAR OF CLOTH.

From Commerce Reports: A machine for testing the wearing quality of cloth has been produced in Bradford, England. It may be found of interest to American firms which manufacture, sell or use textile fabrics. Relative wearing qualities of different pieces of cloth may be determined by placing them in the machine and giving them a uniform number of rubs, pehhaps 200 each. This makes it possible to compare one kind of cloth with its imitation, or to compare cloth samples of the same character from different mills.

A piece of cloth is clamped in a rigid jaw and passes over a rubbing surface formed by dull blades set in a cylinder. This cylinder makes one revolution clockwise, then one in the opposite direction, and this is recorded by a counter as one rub. The other end of the cloth is clamped to a roller, on which is placed the quadrant, from which any number of weights can be suspended, and thus put the cloth in tension. The machine can be driven by an electric motor. When the cloth is worn through the machine automatically stops.

PUBLICITY AS AN ANTISEPTIC.

Philadelphia Inquirer: Comparing publicity to an antiseptic, Richard J. Beamish gave an address on the benefits accruing to humanity from the daily newspapers at the Central Y. M. C. A. He said in part:

"To destroy evil, make it public. To uproot social decadence, tear the roof off the building that shelters it and let the full light of publicity into the dark corners.

"This great war was made possible only through the virtual extermination of the press. If the people of England, Germany, France, Austria, Turkey, Italy, Canada, Australia, Bulgaria, and Serbia knew the real truth of the battlefields they now would be demanding peace.

"If the machinations of the imperial courts were laid bare through a fearless and enlightened press, these peoples would be at peace and free.

"Science of government that in the olden days was reserved for the elect now is brought into the humblest home through the medium of the daily newspaper. World issues and township problems alike are made clear to all who can read."

Lagrippe Coughs Known to Be Serious.

A persistent, exhausting cough is a real menace to one already weakened by la grippe. It lowers the vital resistance to such grave diseases as bronchitis, pneumonia and pleurisy. Foley's Honey and Tar heals the inflamed condition of the throat lining and stops those hacking, exhausting coughs, thus relieving the strain on the system. R. G. Collins, ex-postmaster, Barnegat, N. J., says: "Foley's Honey and Tar Compounds soon stopped the severe la grippe cough that completely exhausted me. It can't be beat." Sold everywhere.

DULUTH IS GROWING AT RATE OF 14,600 YEARLY

Directory Publisher's Estimate of 100,000 Is Believed Conservative.

The population of Duluth is increasing at the rate of eight families a day, according to builders and real estate men.

These declare that they are not simply "supposing"; but that they know that that estimate is safely within the facts.

Eight families a day, based on the average of five persons to a family, means 280 persons a week, 1,200 a month and 14,600 a year.

This increase estimate does not take in the increase represented by single persons of both sexes, but applies wholly to families, for it is through the renting of flats and dwellings that a line on this increase is found. If a canvass of rooming houses were feasible, the increase in single persons, it is believed, would be shown to be very large.

Some check on the latter is obtainable by the increasing demand for houses that can be used for room-renting and for boarding. Real estate men say that the growth of such demand is unprecedented.

Directory Man's Estimate.

A short time ago, Conrad J. Bonner, superintendent of the Duluth Directory company, in a communication to The Herald, declared that the city has increased its population by 6,000 since Oct. 1, and that it has now 100,000 residents.

Some people frankly doubted Mr. Bonner's estimate of growth, but real estate men now declare that the directory man was conservative.

"Few, if any, outside of the business which brings the new comers to it, realize in the slightest degree the way Duluth is growing," declared A. J. Frey, secretary of the Duluth Real Estate Exchange today.

"We know that there has not been a time in years, in fact, not in the memory of most of the men now engaged in real estate business in Duluth, when there has been such a tremendous demand for houses and flats. Places that have been hard to rent for a long time, because of the fact that they have been somewhat passed in the procession, been shaded, as it were by the newer type of houses and flats, are being taken now, because 'needs must.'

Constant Demand for Homes.

"Real estate men are constantly being petitioned for quarters for new residents; and it is because of that that the great building preparations now under way have been found advisable. Duluth is past the stage of standing still; and realty owners are finding that it is a very good time to begin to meet the demand for places to live and to prepare for the future. Holding vacant property for a rise is becoming unfashionable for the reason that it is now known that better returns may be attained by building on it and getting the good rents that are possible."

That an unusually large amount of building is forecast for this coming spring and summer, is now known to be a fact. It is claimed that the architects of the city have never before been so busy.

Contractors Rushed.

The Duluth Builders' exchange reports a demand on its members such as they have never enjoyed before in the history of the city, and more skilled mechanics are already being sought. More will have to be obtained before long if the building projects now planned are continued, which, it is believed, will prove the case. A large percentage of the building to be done will be of houses and flats.

It has been established by canvass of the city that during 1915 828 new dwellings, brick and frame, were constructed; and in the face of that the vacant houses decreased 20 per cent in number during the year. During the latter half of 1915, and in January of this year, the decrease in vacant houses was much heavier than during the early part of last year.

What the Corsetiere Said:

An expert corsetiere in a metropolitan city was heard only recently to say, "If half the women could see the ugly lines their corsets give them, more women would be more particular about securing correct corsets." It might be added, if more women knew the beautiful lines American Lady Corsets give, there would be even more women wearing this superior make of corset.
Of course, we carry many standard makes of corsets; but we like to recommend "American Lady" Corsets, because they invariably recommend us! We have them in both back and front lace styles for all figures. American Lady Corsets keep their shape, resist wear, never show undue stretching or loss of shape, even after hard wear. Won't you let us show you the new models for Spring? (American Lady corsets, $1 to $5; Madame Lyra corsets, $5 to $10.) (3rd floor.)

Carnival Finish Planned for Saturday Night—Society Night.

By the time the second annual automobile show comes to a close tomorrow night it is expected that 25,000 persons will have passed through the doors during the week.

More than 14,000 persons had attended the show up to last night, yesterday's crowd of 4,600 establishing a new record for the week. The attendance to date follows:

Last evening, E. J. Filiatrault, president of the Duluth Automobile Dealers' association, announced that dancing would begin promptly at 10 o'clock and continue until the close of the show at 11 o'clock each evening, for the remainder of the week. About fifty couples availed themselves of the opportunity last night, and the dance idea scored a hit with the 2,000 persons that packed the hall just before the close.

BANQUET GIVEN TO TRUCK DRIVERS

A. J. Hersey Is in Charge of Affair for Duluth and Superior Men.

Fifteen Republic truck drivers of Duluth and Superior met at the St. Louis hotel last evening for the first gathering of its kind ever held in this part of the state.

A. J. Hersey, manager of the H. B. Knudsen company truck department, was in charge of the banquet, addressing the drivers during the evening. Toward the close of the gathering Mr. Hersey presented each of the drivers with a gold-plated Republic watch fob.

The drivers present work for the following Twin Port companies: Duluth-Edison, Fred Erickson Grocery, Zenith Telephone company, Grand Avenue Bakery, News-Tribune, Duluth Marine Supply company, Malloy Auto Bus line, Duplex Manufacturing company of Superior and the Bingham Hardware company of Superior.

AUTO ICE RACES GO ON NEXT WEEK

Ice Conditions Prevent Carrying Out of Plan Now.

The automobile ice races will be staged early next week, according to an announcement made yesterday by Ray Buchanan, chairman of the ice racing committee.

"It will be impossible to stage the races tomorrow morning, as had been planned," he said, "but indications are that the ice will be in good shape by Tuesday or Wednesday of next week. Further announcements will be made Monday."

The races were originally scheduled for last Wednesday morning, but they were postponed because it was impossible to lay out a track on the ice in its present condition.

The cars already entered for the 50-mile race follow: National, Mercedes, Napier, Matheson, Case, American, Locomobile and McFarlene.

KNUDSEN IS HOST TO MAXWELL MEN

Dealers and Sub-Agents Are Entertained at Annual Banquet.

H. B. Knudsen entertained at the second annual banquet for his Maxwell dealers and sub-agents at the St. Louis hotel last evening.

During the automobile show last year Mr. Knudsen held the first meeting of his sub-agents and it was so successful that the annual gatherings were decided on. About fifty dealers, agents and factory representatives were present last evening.

Following the dinner, short talks were made by Mr. Knudsen and the following Maxwell factory representatives: R. S. Malkim, F. W. Warrington, I. Slavan, C. C. Codding, F. H. Storey, R. L. Melvin and P. W. Sharpe.

The factory men all lauded the Duluth show, declaring it to be the best of the smaller shows in the country.

Women Want to Know.

It has been a widespread notion among automobile salesmen that they could scarcely hope to sell to the average woman unless there was something "catchy" about the machine.

Luxurious points in equipment, they say, were more eloquent aids to salesmanship than cylinders, motor efficiency and the like. Now the salesmen's ideas are changing.

A woman went to the automobile show at the armory yesterday and told a group of demonstrators to remove the hood of a car that she might inspect the engine. They explained the mechanism in detail as they would explain it to a man.

One of the salesmen thought he shouldn't overlook the catchy points and he referred to the parcel box, the fine finish and the monogram. The demonstrator had taken the cue and drowned out the salesman with more engine talk. After the demonstration he sold the car.

"That's a new one on me," said the salesman. "I have always banked on the finish to sell cars to women."

"I used to do the same," said the demonstrator who was sent out from the factory, "but I noticed that this show is different and all shows are different this year. I saw a crowd of women listening to a lecture on a bare engine in the other part of the building and we've got to drop some of the older methods."

The Duluth show is remarkable this year for the interest women are taking in automobile construction. If the show is a marker for others that are to follow, the woman will no longer look critically over the upholstering, the card cases and finer things while her husband examines the engine. She will look over the whole automobile and then the two will compare notes.

The women at this year's show insist on knowing all about the car. They want to try the wheel, see the engine, and they want to know about the consumption of gas.

Many Cars Being Bought.

If there is one tendency more than any other that is featuring this year's automobile shows, it is the fact that the shows are proving occasions for heavy buying of cars. This is especially true in Duluth, according to dealer.

The importance of this is more fully realized when it is recalled that in past years the big crowds flocking to automobile exhibits came more out of curiosity than a desire to place orders.

The tendency to buy heavily at show times is taken as bearing out predictions made to the effect that there may be a shortage in cars this year in view of the heavy demand. It is ominous also because of the fact that the unprecedented demand at this season foretells a record year for the automobile industry.

Cars at the Show.

The automobile of ten years hence is receiving almost as much consideration at the Duluth automobile show as the 1916 models.

Scarcely a person really interested in motor cars who has given the show a thorough going over has failed to ask what the car of 1926, or of some other future year, is going to be like, demonstrators said today.

These questions, the experts said, merely indicate the trend of the automobile mind, for the makers are thinking of the same thing. Both automobilists and manufacturers believe that something is going to happen in the way of inventions that will be startling.

The change, experts all declared, will have much to do with automobile fuel.

"The engines of today are about as near perfection as they can be made," said one demonstrator, "for the advance to some extent is limited by physical laws. The big question is the fuel question."

The spectators who asked about the automobile of the future were told that it will have to be a machine with an engine like the present engine because the sudden overthrow of the gas engine after all the years of work, would be an economic catastrophe.

The costliest cars at the show are being displayed by the Locomobile company of America. There are two spaces in the armory devoted to the Locomobiles. There is a limousine for $6,400 and a touring car for $5,100.

The Cadillac exhibit has a victoria, a seven-passenger touring car, a roadster and a chassis. The victoria has seats for three. The top may be folded down by one person and the window sashes in the doors may be lowered. There is a place for parcels behind the driver's seat.

Three cars which appear to be of a certain well-defined type, representing "class" and sufficiently alike to be termed "congenial," are shown by the National Service company. They are the National highway twelve, the Scripps-Booth and the Locomobile.

Among the interesting items in a mechanical way at the automobile show are the special type aeroplane fans used on the Chalmers cars. Chalmers engineers claim that the new aeroplane fan with its two broad blades tilted at a sharp angle gives 65 per cent more efficiency than the standard type ordinarily in use.

The "Chummy" roadster, displayed in the Apperson exhibit at the Chicago show, failed to arrive for the Duluth show. It is a six-cylinder car and is of white enamel. An eight-cylinder touring car is shown.

The Whitney Motor company shows one eight-cylinder and one six-cylinder Oakland and a special chassis, all ranging in price from the neighborhood of $800 to nearly $1,600. The eight is a luxurious car of seventy-three horse power and is specially equipped.

TWO NEW DEALERS AT THE SHOW

J. F. STAFFORD.

MARTIN ROSENDAHL.

PICKED UP ON HIGH

Two more machines were added to the exhibit this morning. They are a Hudson 7-passenger touring sedan, and a Federal truck, both of which arrived yesterday afternoon. The former, which sells for $1,950, was placed in the Fred G. Kleyn exhibit, and the truck is in the basement.

* * *

Leonard McNamara reports the sale of eighteen Studebakers since the show opened last Monday.

Sixteen Overlands, eighteen Fords, four Chalmers and a Willys-Knight coupe sold, is the record of the Mutual Auto company, according to E. J. Filiatrault. In addition, he reports the sale of five second-hand cars since Monday.

* * *

Joseph Peacha is introducing a real novelty to auto show visitors this week, by pulling a Franklin touring car with a fish string. "That's how light the car is," adds Joe.

* * *

"Isn't Miss Campbell a darb?" asked her escort.

"Why, how dare you talk that way?" real angrily.

"I mean the Miscampbell truck," he concluded.

This happens every day at the show, and nobody's been killed for it yet.

Not a single Ford joke has been sprung so far this week. Gosh.

George Rosenblad reports the sale of an Apperson eight and a "Chummy" roadster.

Paul D. Carpenter of the John P. Snyder company of Minneapolis, is exhibiting the new Pathfinder twelve in the Spalding lobby. He calls the car the "king of the twelves." Mr. Carpenter is now negotiating for the establishment of a Pathfinder agency in Duluth.

* * *

R. S. Malkim of the Minneapolis Maxwell branch, arrived yesterday, and will be at the show the remainder of the week.

* * *

The most artistic exhibit at the show is that of the Pure Oil company of Minneapolis, in charge of R. A. Wood and E. H. Barnes. In addition to having an attractive booth, they are operating automobile parts by electricity to show the action of their oils and greases.

* * *

Fred G. Kleyn reports the sale of seven Hudson touring cars and two sedans since the show opened Monday.

* * *

Twenty-four Maxwells and five Paiges, including the distribution to sub-agents, is the record of the H. B. Knudsen company.

* * *

* * *

The Interstate Auto company has a Franklin car, with the hood removed, in front of the armory entrance. "Nothing to freeze," says the sign on the car.

RAY, MINN., FIRE.

Shapansky's Store and Watson's Residence Are Burned.

Ray, Minn., Feb. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire broke out in John Shapansky's candy store here Wednesday night about 11 o'clock, caused by a defective flue or an overheated stove, and consumed the entire building. Thomas Watson's residence, near by, also caught fire and was burned to the ground. R. N. Eastman's residence, a little to the west of Shapansky's, caught fire several times, but the steady work of the firemen saved it.

Placed in Children's Home.

Aitkin, Minn., Feb. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. J. W. Lowrey has returned from Minneapolis, where she took Arne Weijo, the 14-month-old child of Henry Weijo of the town of Salo, and placed him in an orphans' home. The baby's mother died a few months ago and, while the father has kept the older children, he was unable to care for the baby.

Sick People Sometimes Die From Lack of a Good Stimulant

Especially is this true in grip and pneumonia, for they are infectious diseases which attack weak and strong alike. Serious complications are liable to develop in the course of the disease, grip settles in the weakest part of the system, sometimes the kidneys, the brain, the stomach or the heart, resulting often in heart failure, but the most dreaded of all, pneumonia, which is particularly fatal when arising from grip. As one able medical writer says:

"In all severe types of pneumonia there are two sources of danger—heart insufficiency, and high temperature. A large portion of deaths from pneumonia directly result from heart failure.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

judiciously used is one of the most efficient means of preventing or overcoming it."

The reason it is a remarkable remedy in the treatment and relief of grip, coughs, colds, influenza, bronchitis, catarrh, pneumonia, and all diseases of the throat and lungs, is that Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey aids in keeping the digestive functions in healthy condition so that the body gets the necessary health and strength from food eaten—enabling it to throw off disease germs. For more than 56 years it has brought the blessings of health to overworked men, delicate women and the sickly, who find in Duffy's the strength-giving properties that are so necessary to them.

Relentless Vendetta That Kills All Men in Their Prime.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Paris, Jan. 25.—"Sahara is better known and Thibet is scarcely more mysterious than Albania," says one of the few authorities in Paris familiar with the fastnesses of Albania into which the newest ramifications of the European conflict have extended.

"A dozen and a half mountain ranges, from 500 yards to 3,000 yards high, a dozen and a half valleys with as many streams; twice as many ravines and gorges and as many different tribes as there are mountains, valleys, ravines and gorges; that is Albania," he says, "more primitive and more savage than the primitive and savage Montenegro that it resembles only geologically.

"The Serbians, fleeing before the Ottoman conqueror of the Serbian empire, took refuge in Montenegro (the Black mountain) because its roughness made pursuit difficult and its poverty made its conquest scarcely worth while. The same conditions have preserved Albania from outside influences and left it in all its primitive savagery. The Romans, Serbians and Turks ruled over them only nominally. They were unable, any of them, to either reconcile the population to outside government or conciliate the tribes between themselves.

Picked Off by Pot Shots.

"The last attempt to impose authority upon them was during the last days of the Turkish domination. The chief of a battalion, with 1,000 men, was charged with the collection of taxes imposed on the inhabitants; he returned with 100 men, no money and reported: 'I never had an engagement, never anything resembling a combat; my men were picked off, one by one, by pot shots,' he said.

"All encroachments upon the native speech have met a like fate. The Montenegrin has a language—even a literature that King Nicholas has perpetuated, if not immortalized, by his own dramatic compositions, but none of it has run over into Albania. The Albanian speaks a language that is never written. There is a little of everything in it, yet it resembles nothing else in the form of language, all it has borrowed from Turkish, Italian or Serbian having lost its original form. Every foreign word introduced became promptly so Albanian that its origin could not be suspected.

"A vest of wool that was once white, striped trousers and a cape over a shaved head identify an Albanian of whatever tribe. The Montenegrin, more picturesque with his red vest and gorgeous embroidered belt bristling with poignards, has some contempt for his wild neighbor's relatively primitive civilization and physical inferiority, but he has a deal of respect for his prowess. Neither ever quits his gun and both are walking arsenals.

Great Sharpshooters.

"Both are sharpshooters par excellence, as the Serbians learned in their epic retreat over the rough country of the Malissores and the Mirdites, toward Scutari. There in the north dwell the most ferocious of Albanian tribes, amenable to no overtures of conciliation. Centuries of constant conflict with their Turkish masters on one side, and their Montenegrin neighbors on the other, failed to master them, and thousands of unarmed Austrian prisoners of war, as well as thousands of the retreating Serbian soldiers fell under their precise marksmanship while struggling through the snow-blocked defiles on the road to Scutari. For these Albanians were destined the cargo of arms and ammunition of Austrian origin captured by the allies in the Adriatic.

"Manners and customs vary little with different tribes. Everywhere the real character of the people is illustrated by the relentless vendetta that kills off all the men, excepting the idiots, in their prime. There are no aged in Albania excepting women. In Southern Albania, however, there is somewhat more gayety and comradeship; the tribes are open to advances; it is from there Essad Pasha recruits the partisans who enable him to neutralize the hostility of the northern tribes to all efforts at civilization and development."

TAXI SHORTAGE HITS LONDONERS

Complain of Insolence of Drivers and Whistling Nuisance.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, Jan. 25.—The taxi shortage in London has caused the public to fill the mail bags of the local newspapers with complaints regarding the insolence of drivers and the whistling nuisance. During the rush hours, especially during dinner and theater times, drivers often refuse to take fares unless they chance to be going in the direction the driver favors. This is due to the rule that drivers, when not carrying passengers, must pay for their own gasoline. A movement for a law to prevent the use of whistles to call taxis is suggested, but while putting down a nuisance, it would not help transportation facilities.

The real trouble is traced to the enlistment of competent drivers. Because of this, some of the taxi companies have temporarily retired from business. Scotland Yard has hindered the substitution of new drivers by a refusal to relax on the strict geographical examination of former days. Then, every candidate had to show an intimate knowledge of London's streets and byways. Many women could easily qualify on the mechanical side and show a fair general knowledge of London, if the rules were relaxed. Meantime, Londoners who used to look down on plebian modes of travel are taking to the undergrounds and the buses, which maintain excellent services, notwithstanding the war.

Various Forms Of Headache

"It is necessary in order to treat headaches properly to understand the causes which produce the affection" says Dr. J. W. Ray, of Blocton, Ala. Continuing, he says, "Physicians cannot even begin the treatment of a disease without knowing what causes give rise to it, and we must remember that headache is to be treated according to the same rule. We must not only be particular to give a remedy intended to counteract the cause which produces the headache, but we must also give a remedy to relieve the pain until the cause of the trouble has been removed. To answer this purpose, anti-kamnia tablets will be found a most convenient and satisfactory remedy. One tablet every one to three hours gives comfort and rest in the most severe cases of headache, neuralgia and particularly the headaches of women."

When we have a patient subject to regular attacks of sick headache, we should caution him to keep his bowels regular, for which nothing is better than "Actoids," and when he feels the least sign of an oncoming attack, he should take two A-K Tablets. Such patients should always be instructed to carry a few anti-kamnia tablets, so as to have them ready for instant use. These tablets are prompt in action and can be depended on to produce relief in a very few minutes. Ask for A-K Tablets.

GERMAN AIR CORPS BETTER

Reasons for German Superiority in Supposed French Specialty.

French Aviators Reported to Accomplish More Tangible Results.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Paris, Jan. 25.—French aviation authorities agree that Germany has been able to entirely transform its aviation service since the war began, making improvements of a most important character, while it possessed certain advantages over the French flying corps at the outset.

The reasons for the superiority of the Germans in what was considered before the war a French specialty will perhaps become public in the parliamentary debate that is imminent. One aviator attributes the difference to the fact that while the French followed aviation as a sport, the Germans took it up seriously for practical application to the requirements of the army. He points out that the Germans were flying at night long before the war began, while the French began their nocturnal trips only after the war was several months old.

The same authority warns against the assumption that the results obtained by the French flying corps are negligible. Whatever may be the foundation for criticism of this branch of the service, he says, the results obtained in some ways have been far more appreciable than what the Germans have done. He recalls that during the battle of the Marne, Sept. 8, 1914, aviators destroyed half of the artillery of the Sixteenth German army corps in the region of Trinaucourt.

Experiments in Maneuvers.

This exploit was all the more remarkable since the French had never appeared to arrive at any results in experiments made with the combined maneuvers of artillery and flying machines before the war. One of the last notable attempts made in 1912 during the maneuvers resulted in the theoretic capture by the opposing army of an entire flying corps. During the French maneuvers of 1913, the flying corps, used under modified conditions, acquitted itself more creditably, but the experiments gave no hint of the utility of the corps in actual warfare. Consequently, as compared with Germany where it seems the experiments were more significant, aviation as a service in the army was apparently neglected. The idea of protecting flying corps with steel armor, at one time considered, was abandoned and was only taken up again after German armored flying machines had been captured.

The French also stuck to the monoplane until they had captured enough of the German biplanes to give them demonstrative proof that they were superior for most different kinds of air work. The French also learned from the Germans that security at great height is fallacious. Fragments of shells reach them even at a height of 3,500 yards, while at 1,800 yards it is often more difficult for the gunners to get the range. The fire at that point is generally too high.

Again, at the beginning, the French aviation service used the same type of machine for all kinds of missions. All at once they discovered that the German machine that made a raid on a metropolitan center or military point was not the same as the machine that regulated the fire of the artillery. The result of this was the beginning of a classification of aircraft with reference to special adaptability.

Difference in Tactics.

There was also at the beginning a marked difference in the tactics employed by the German and French airmen. The former appeared to avoid contact with the latter, either with a view of concentrating their efforts upon other objects than individual combats or with the idea that the encounter might not be equal. The explanation now given by a competent authority is that the Germans lost their best aviators at the very outset of the war. This fact was disclosed by the notebook of a German aviator killed near Verdun, Feb. 4, this year. As early as Sept. 12, 1914, the Germans had lost Furstenair, Neumann, Dallurg, Beaulieu, Gresch, Jahnow, Koch, Blutgen, Heyden and Baudissin. This is further confirmed by a German aviator, made prisoner, who said that they had found the greatest difficulty in replacing these men killed or captured.

This seems to explain the French claim that with less efficient material French aviators accomplished more tangible results, such as the destruction of artillery, the blowing up of ammunition depots, destruction of Zeppelins, and Zeppelin sheds, and damage to the enemy's field works. The French army is said to have ample proofs to this effect in orders of the day issued from the German general headquarters, impressing upon the officers and men carefully studied ways of avoiding dangerous arms of the French flying corps.

There seems to be more esprit de corps among the airmen than in any other branch of the service and greater mutual courtesy between officers of the different armies. The most recent manifestation of it was the dropping by Corporal Kandulski of the German flying corps, of a wreath upon the spot where he had brought the celebrated Pegoud to earth, bearing this inscription: "To Pegoud, our enemy, who died like a hero. Signed, his adversaries."

In September, 1914, a German pilot established this precedent by dropping in the French lines a courteous notice to the effect that Lieut. Fouret had been made prisoner at the camp of Chalons. Later on a German aviator dropped behind the French lines a letter from the pilot Senouque, who had been captured by the Germans. In May of this year when Thauron and Blanchpain were brought down by the German artillery, a German aviator flew over the lines and dropped a paper giving the circumstances, and terminating with these words: "Thauron and Blanchpain died the death of the brave. Military honors were accorded to them." When the well known artist Daniel de Losques was killed in an aerial combat during the return of his squadron from the attack upon Saarbruck, one of the enemy's flotilla dropped a notice stating "De Losques and his pilot fought bravely. They are buried at Harburg near Blamont. Their papers will be sent back to France by way of Switzerland."

The present crisis in French aviation is said in some quarters to be a simple conflict of individual preferences on the part of leading officials of the service. It does not mean, they say, that the flying corps is not in shape to continue efficient work. The question is as to a further development and strengthening of the service, so as to do much better work.

TEN CHILDREN KILLED BY BOMB EXPLOSION

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Amsterdam, Jan. 25.—Ten children are reported to have been killed by an aeroplane bomb explosion at Cologne. The youngsters were playing in a ditch near the flying ground, when they unearthed the bomb from a rubbish heap. A sentry nearby shouted to the children to go away, whereupon one of the boys picked the thing up and threw it at the man. The bomb burst, inflicting mortal injuries upon all the children, but the sentry was not hurt.

RATS BRED FOR BUDAPEST ZOO

Lions and Tigers Suffer From General Shortage of Food.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Budapest, Jan. 20.—Rats are being bred for the Budapest zoo in order to save the ration of horseflesh for the lions and tigers, whose constant roaring shows the extent they suffer from the general shortage of food. Eagles, vultures and the wild birds are fed exclusively on rats. At times when horsemeat has been unobtainable, goats and the less valuable animals have been sacrificed to save the lives of the beasts that once ruled the jungle.

But the herbivorous animals have also gone through hard times, as wild chestnuts have been substituted for expensive hay. They have small liking for chestnuts. A herd of ten seals had to be killed, as no fish could be obtained for them. The seal meat went to feed the wild beasts. Two roar bears were shot—one because he refused to eat war food and the other because he grew so weak on the new diet if was deemed a mercy to finish him off. The bears added to the zoo's revenue in another way, as the privilege of shooting them was auctioned off to local sportsmen, one of whom paid $60 for the honor.

MARKED DECREASE IN GERMAN BANKRUPTCIES

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Berlin, Jan. 20.—A noteworthy decrease in the number of bankruptcies was one of the more striking features of Germany's life in 1915. According to statistics just issued there were only 4,580 bankruptices, as against 7,737 in 1914. These figures are commented upon in the press as denoting the economic soundness of Germany's position.

WEST END

MAY STAGE CELEBRATION

Business Men Will Meet to Discuss Plans for Program.

Would Be Held for Three Days in Conjunction With Style Show.

A three-day celebration may be held by the business men of the West end April 3, 4 and 5 the dates set by the Duluth Retail Merchants' association for holding the annual spring style show. A "get-to-gether" meeting of the business men will be held within a few days to formulate plans for a program.

The meeting will take the form of a luncheon to be held at the Rex hotel. At this luncheon the plans will be discussed and committees named for taking a hold of the proposition. Whether a public demonstration should be held lasting three days or only one day will be decided at this meeting.

It is planned to have on at least one evening during the three, a celebration something like those held in the past by the business men. During the other two evenings band concerts are suggested by the merchants.

"The West end has never looked more progressive than at present," said S. W. Hill yesterday. "Next spring and summer will be a banner year. There are now more large buildings under construction or being contemplated than at any other period in the history of the district. The business and professional men in this part of the city will unquestionably wish to celebrate the opening of spring in some manner fitting to the occasion."

According to plans of the Duluth Retail Merchants' association the style show will take place April 3, 4 and 5. On the evenings of these days it is proposed to close the stores from 5 and 7 o'clock and open them against between 7 and 9 o'clock for style show purposes only.

FRIDAY OPENING TO BRING GOOD LUCK

Scott-Graff Official Declares That Day Luckiest for Lumbermen.

Every effort possible will be made to get the Scott-Graff lumber mill started before the close of today. Friday is according to belief among lumbermen, the luckiest day of the week to begin the operations of a saw mill.

The thawing out of the mill hot pond prevented the start planned for yesterday and when it was found that the ice could not be thawed out in order to start yesterday morning the work was set for this morning. There was still ice in large quantities in the pond this morning and it is expected that the mill will not begin to cut the logs before 3:30 o'clock this afternoon.

"We are going to get started today," said an official this morning. "Friday is the lumberman's lucky day. The thawing of the ice in the hot pond has been delaying the start."

HIBBING WOMAN SEEKS CHILDREN

Strange Family Mixup Being Heard in Beltrami County Court.

Bemidji, Minn., Feb. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Action on the part of the Children's Home Society of Minnesota at St. Anthony Park prevented, temporarily at least, Mrs. Emeline Collyard of Hibbing from getting the custody of one of her three children, whom she sought to be restored to her through the action of the probate court of Beltrami county. The case, which is attracting state-wide attention, came before Probate Judge M. A. Clark.

Four years ago the father of the children, William Sly, was sentenced to the state penitentiary on the charge of grand larceny. Their mother obtained a divorce and, three years ago, married Charles B. Collyard.

At the time of Mrs. Sly's divorce the evidence showed that she was not the proper mother for her children, and they were placed in the Children's Home society by Judge Clark.

One Legally Adopted.

In October, 1913, Etha, the 11-year-old daughter, was legally adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Andrew H. Rosenquist of Raymond, Minn., which places her beyond the reach of the probate court, and on Jan. 11 this year, since the beginning of the action by Mrs. Collyard to recover her children, Roy, the 6-year-old son, was adopted by Dr. and Mrs. Eugene G. McKeon of Edgerton, Minn., which, it is claimed, also places this child beyond the reach of the probate court.

The other child, William, a 12-year-old boy, was ordered restored to his mother by Judge Clark, the mother having proved herself now capable of caring for her children. The adoption of the 6-year-old son by Dr. McKeown will probably be contested by Mrs. Collyard, who is represented by Judge D. H. Fisk, while the Children's Home society employed County Attorney Graham M. Torrance.

HOT TEA BREAKS A COLD—TRY THIS

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.—Advertisement.

BRAINERD SCHOOLS IN SPELLING TEST

Brainerd, Minn., Feb. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—As a part of the local examination in Brainerd schools, the spelling test prepared by the Russell Sage Foundation was given in all grades of the schools, including the high school, and the results are being tabulated for future reference. These tests are furnished from a graded list of 1,000 words prepared after an exhaustive investigation, to find the words most frequently used by the school children of the United States. The purpose of the tests is to ascertain how a given locality, school system or grade ranks in the matter of spelling with reference to the normal standard of schools generally. The Brainerd schools, as a whole, ran somewhat above the normal average.

WAS PLANNED FIVE DAYS AGO

Emil Schnuckel Had Resolved to Take His Own Life.

Used Shotgun After Reading of Pike Lake Farmer's Act.

After contemplating his own death for five days, Emil C. Schnuckel, a bachelor living at 212 Gilbert street, followed the example of Charles Claus, a Pike Lake dairyman's son, and shot himself with a shotgun, dying almost instantly, in his rooms shortly after 9 o'clock last night.

A copy of The Herald, containing a story of how Claus, on the morning of the same day, held a shotgun to his head and pulled the trigger with a rule, was found in Schnuckel's apartments.

In bringing about his own death, Schnuckel partially undressed himself, removing his shoes and stockings, and after placing the muzzle of the gun over his heart, he pulled the trigger with his toe.

From a note to his brother, William Schnuckel, 208 Gilbert street, authorities learned that he had been planning to take his own life for at least five days, and that the story of Claus' death suggested a method. The note, saying good-by to his relatives and directing the brother to give his property to his mother, was dated Feb. 5.

Schnuckel lived alone in a four-room apartment, and was in the habit of keeping a loaded revolver under the pillow in his bed. Police Chief R. D. McKercher, with Capt. A. G. Fiskett, found the small gun there when then went to the rooms last evening to investigate the suicide.

"Emil had not been well for a long time," said William Schnuckel. "He has been worrying about ill health for several weeks, and I have no doubt but that was the cause of his act."

Schnuckel worked as a broommaker in the Zenith Broom factory. His brother, William, is the proprietor of the factory.

In addition to the brother, he leaves his mother, who is living not far from Milwaukee. To his mother he left everything, including a small bank account, a quantity of cash, in all about $200, and the furniture in his apartment.

Funeral arrangements have not been made.

MIGHTY BRITISH FLEET IN NORTH SEA READY TO MEET GERMAN ATTACK

light haze. There was no sea running, however, and the haze was not thick enough to prevent the newspaper men from this comparatively steady platform seeing that part of the fleet which could be safely brought together.

As the launch with the visitors on board turned toward the line of battle cruisers against the horizon they could see the "eyes" of the fleet, in the form of a few prowling destroyers which keep up incessant watch, not only to protect their mighty sisters from submarine attack but to catch the first view of any adventuresome German warship which might poke its nose into the open North sea.

Latest Type of Cruisers.

Looming through the mist could be seen the giant tripod masts which identified the fleet as including the very latest type of battle cruisers, and soon the launch was at the foot of the boarding ladder of a huge battle cruiser which got its baptism of fire at Helgoland bight and later bore an honorable share in the Dogger bank action.

The party lunched as guests of the divisional rear admiral who was using the cruiser as his flagship. After luncheon the correspondents were taken on board the famous cruiser Lion which was Admiral Beatty's flagship in the Dogger bank battle.

With the exception of a dent in her forward turret armor and a similar scar just above the water line, this show vessel of the British navy displays little sign of the terrific hammering she got when three German battle cruisers concentrated their fire on her.

Carefully mounted in the companionway is an 11-inch unexploded shell which the Seydlitz hurled through the Lion's armor below the water line.

No Evidence of Torpedo.

No evidence has ever been found to justify the story that the Lion was torpedoed.

No sign was left of the 12-inch shell which blew in the bulkhead of the admiral's quarters after going through the deck except the casing and cap occupying the place of honor among the Lion's trophies.

The officers of the Lion explained that the reason there were so few casualties was due to the fact that the men were so scattered about the ship during the action that an exploding shell was not likely to kill more than one or two at a time.

A torpedo boat picked up a portion of the party from the Lion and the remainder from the almost equally celebrated Tiger which looked like a newly commissioned ship despite the many times she is reported to have been sunk.

Not Applied to Home.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 11.—Attorney General Owen, in an opinion to the state engineering department today, declared that the province of that department did not apply to the Wisconsin veterans' home at Waupaca.

WALTER SMITH TO BE ARRESTED BEFORE NIGHT

Bench Warrants Issued.

Bench warrants based on the secret indictments returned late yesterday were in the hands of Sheriff John Wagener today and were believed to be for Mr. Smith, who has been under medical treatment in a Minneapolis sanatorium for some days. The grand jurors had nothing before them late yesterday other than the state defalcations aggregating $28,962.

It is not improbable that the jury will continue the investigation of the muddle in the state auditor's and state treasurer's offices. An adjournment was taken just after 5 p. m. yesterday until 2 p. m. today, and Fred B. Myers, president of the First National bank of Biwabik, who arrived at the courthouse just before adjournment, was instructed to hold himself in readiness to appear.

Clearing House Meets.

Believing that the irregularities in the state treasury will be for larger sums than are now reported a meeting of the St. Paul Clearing House association was held yesterday to check up all the state business in the St. Paul banks.

ROBERT C. PICKIT,
Former Clerk of State Investment Board, Charged with Forgery.

Several St. Paul bankers, including W. A. Miller, president of the National Bank of Commerce, and Roy Knauft, cashier of the Merchants' National bank, appeared before the grand jury to testify to Mr. Smith's dealings.

May Involve Politician.

Mr. Smith is a large borrower personally or by indorsement from banks all over Minnesota, including Minneapolis and St. Paul.

If the irregularities in the treasury department are found to be larger than now known, a prominent politician may be drawn into the investigation. Much of the money that Treasurer Smith is reported to have invested went out in commissions to the politician-promoter, it is said.

All St. Paul banks are checking up all state business and examining signatures. St. Paul bankers say that they will lose nothing.

Confirms Pickit's Recital.

Confirmation of a portion of Pickit's recital to the county attorney Tuesday was obtained when Matt Desmond, chief bookkeeper in the office of the state auditor, went to the Merchants National bank and obtained a note written by Smith asking the bank to turn over to Pickit cashier's checks for a state warrant deposited with the bank.

This warrant was on the state school fund for $4,200, and is the one for which Pickit is alleged to have said he received three cashier's checks, of which Smith got two and he the third.

The note, written by Smith on stationery of the Saint Paul hotel, follows:

"Mr. Parker:

"This will introduce to you Mr. R. C. Pickit. Will you kindly give him cashier checks for warrant?

"WALTER J. SMITH.

"Cashier's checks as follows:

$1,000
750
2,450

$4,200."

Meaning of Notation.

The notation which followed the signature of Mr. Smith was placed there to show that the state warrant was to be split into three parts, as indicated. The figures denoting the separate amounts wanted on the three cashier's checks were made with a pen, but the $4,200 figures, which was the sum of the three checks was put in with a pencil.

Regarding the connection of W. E. Prescott, a St. Paul attorney, with Pickit's transaction with the check he received at this time, J. A. O. Preus, state auditor, said yesterday that Pickit informed him that Prescott accepted the check in good faith, thinking it belonged to Pickit, and that the lawyer was in no way involved in any irregularities.

Says He Can Explain.

Walter J. Smith, lying in a bed in a room on the second floor of a sanatorium in Minneapolis, yesterday talked to a reporter.

"I am innocent," he said, "and I can explain everything satisfactorily. Take these warrants for instance—"

At this point, G. F. Cardoff, a close friend of Mr. Smith's, interrupted and advised Mr. Smith to make no further statement. "You are a very sick man," he said, "and the physician has refused to permit you to talk."

Mr. Smith took the advice of Mr. Cardoff. That he is ill is indicated by his appearance. He is thin and pale and his hands shook as he tried to tell his story.

Mr. Cardoff made the following statement concerning Mr. Smith's condition:

"Mr. Smith is not taking a liquor cure. He is here because he is a personal friend of mine. I have known him for a long time and he is under medical treatment for a condition bordering on nervous prostration and pneumonia.

"I have talked over the matter to some extent with Mr. Smith, and I am sure he can explain it. The public should suspend judgment. He is in no condition to make a statement at this time."

Mrs. Smith was allowed to see her husband yesterday and remained with him an hour, her visit doing much to encourage him.

To Examine Smith.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Examination into the condition of Walter J. Smith, state treasurer, was begun this afternoon by Dr. W. L. Brodie, deputy county physician of Ramsey county, who came to Minneapolis in company with two deputy sheriffs from Ramsey county. Dr. Brodie went to the sanatorium in which Mr. Smith is a patient and consulted first with the physician who has been attending the state treasurer.

It was the Ramsey county officers' purpose to take Mr. Smith to St. Paul in custody on bench warrants based on three indictments charging grand larceny, if his condition would warrant. If it would not, it was expected the deputy sheriffs would remain in charge of Mr. Smith in the sanatorium.

Cloquet Man Buried.

Cloquet, Minn., Feb. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Funeral services for Charles Reinke, who died Tuesday evening at his home on Ninth street, was held this afternoon from the Swedish Lutheran church, Rev. F. B. Lehman, pastor of the German Lutheran church of Wrenshall, officiating. Mrs. Dunner of Milwaukee, a sister of Mrs. Rehnke, and many local friends attended.

BURNQUIST TO SPEAK AT TAYLORS FALLS

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor J. A. A. Burnquist has accepted the invitation of Park Commissioner Hazzard to deliver the Memorial day speech at the Interstate park, Dalles of the St. Croix, at Taylors Falls, Minn., on Tuesday, May 30. The late Governor Hammond made the Decoration day address last year, which many claim was one of the marked efforts of his life.

St. Croix and Taylors Falls, being two of the oldest towns in the Northwest, accounts for sixty-seven mounds, which designate the resting places of those who volunteered from 1861 to 1865.

"Y" BOYS' CABINET OUTLINES ACTIVITIES AT MONTHLY MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the Y. M. C. A. boys' department cabinet was held last evening at the home of Duncan Frick. The monthly reports showed that the activities for January had been well looked after.

The membership report showed the membership to be 477, this being 107 more than a year ago, but a loss of nineteen during January. The cabinet will work during this month to make the membership 500 before its close. The piano fund now totals $171.50. The fund is growing and within the next six weeks, the cabinet expects to have the full amount. The minstrel show date was changed from March 10 to March 17. The following committees were appointed last night: Phil Mars, chief usher; Duncan Frick, stage and property man; Erling Sodahl and Herbert Miska, music; George Nelson and Russell Duncan, advertising and tickets.

Fund for Piano.

The advertising committee will dispose of all the boxes this week and on March 1 the boys' department members will start their sale of tickets. A former cabinet member is going to give a two-weeks' vacation at Camp Miller to the boy who sells the most tickets, and the entertainment committee will give a week at Camp Miller to every boy who sells 100 tickets. Through this entertainment the committee expects to make enough money to finish the fund for the purchase of the piano for the new boys' building. Rehearsals for the show are being held each week under the direction of Stanley Lamb. The next rehearsal will be held next Wednesday at 7:45 at the Orpheum. Herbert Miska was elected to a place on the cabinet and was formally welcomed last night. He will act as secretary to the music committee, succeeding Charles Fraker, who resigned last month, leaving the city to attend Hotchkiss school at Lakeville, Conn. March 24 was set as the date for the first mother-and-son banquet. Raymond Brenton and Irving Auld were appointed a committee to prepare a program and present a report at the next cabinet meeting.

The date set for the annual boys' department banquet is April 14. Willard Thorp and Robert Todd were appointed a committee to present a program for this big event at the next cabinet meeting. This banquet will mark the close of the Hustler club, at which time all the awards will be made. Boys qualifying for the efficiency emblem will also be decorated with the medal on this occasion.

Canoe Trip on River.

A three-day canoe trip down the Brule river will be one of the outdoor attractions this summer. Arrangements are being made with the South Shore railway, and definite plans for this trip will be announced at the next meeting. Saturday night the Hustler club will meet for an evening of fun in the gymnasium. The evening will be occupied in taking some athletic tests for which points will be given in the Hustler club. Only hustlers are invited for this occasion. After the meet there will be a swim and after the swim a party in the Dutch kitchen. Saturday afternon there will be a ski and snowshoe trip to which all the members of the club are invited.

TELL STORIES TO OLD PEOPLE.

From the Art of the Story-Teller, by Marie L. Shedlock: There is one development of story-telling which seems to have been very little considered, namely, the telling of stories to old people, and that not only in institutions or in quiet country villages, but in the heart of the busy cities and the homes of these old people. How often when the young people are able to enjoy outside amusements, the old people, necessarily confined to the chimney corner and many of them unable to read much for themselves, might turn to the joy of their childhood by hearing some of the old stories told them in dramatic form. Here is a delightful occupation for those of the leisure class who have the gift and a much more effective way of capturing attention than the more usual form of reading aloud.

THE FLAG.

By Walt Mason

Bright-hued and beautiful, it floats upon the summer air; and every thread of it denotes the love that's woven there; the love of veterans whose tread has sounded on the fields of red; and women old, who mourn their dead, but mourn without despair. Bright-hued and beautiful, it courts caresses of the breeze; and, straining at its staff it sports, in flaunting ecstacies; and other flags, that once were gay, long, long ago were laid away, and many men, whose heads are gray, are thinking now of these. Serene and beautiful it waves, the flag our fathers knew; in Freedom's sunny air it laves, and gains a brighter hue; and may it still the symbol be of all that makes a nation free; still may we cherish Liberty, and to our God be true.

TODAY IN HISTORY.

As a mere lad, a railway newsboy, spending spare hours in reading and in boyish experiments with mechanical and electrical apparatus; railway telegrapher, inventing a repeating instrument; later invented automatic telegraph system and the quadruplex system; invented phonograph, 1877; incandescent electric light, 1879, etc.

DULUTH AND ITS CONCERT ORCHESTRA.

Because the grade of talent hired is costly and the price of admission to the concerts low, attendance so far upon the Sunday evening popular concerts of the Duluth Concert orchestra, though gratifyingly large in numbers, is not yet what it ought to be.

Yet, considering everything, the way the community has risen to the opportunity thus offered it is splendidly encouraging to the hope for a great future for music in Duluth.

To be sure, there is good reason for this, the best reason in the world—the music is good. Duluth has an abundance of good musicians, and this abundance has been strengthened by a number from outside the city. Under Mr. Bradbury the orchestra is doing splendid work, and is growing still better with every performance. The programs are wisely selected—full of substance and real musical merit, and yet free of the music-puzzles which those who specially trained in music frankly confess they see no good in. Moreover, some of the best of the programs are yet to be given, and they will be found full of interesting variety. A good program of music, well played at an hour and a price convenient for everybody—there should be no great wonder that the concerts are proving successful, and that the success is growing with every performance.

If you are not attending these concerts, you are missing a real privilege. If you attend one, you will not let yourself miss the rest. Though the attendance is gratifyingly large, fortunately the hall is large—one of the largest in the state—and there is room for still more.

Duluth, by this intelligent patronage of good music, is building the foundation for a great future for music in Duluth. Those who attend, therefore, are not only giving themselves the pleasure of hearing good music, but they are performing a civic duty of the highest value to the community.

Another case of a "Garrison finish."

A REAL PREPAREDNESS.

It would be well if some of the militarists who are clamoring for quantities of ships and guns and soldiers that would turn the United States into that illogical and doomed thing, a military democracy, would listen to this true reflection by Baron d'Estourelles de Constant in the Atlantic Monthly:

> In France, what was lacking at the outbreak of the war was neither men nor transports nor brave and capable generals, but economic organization. If we had devoted to that organization the thousands of millions we have spent in building forts, useless superdreadnaughts, and the barracks required by our three-year military service system; if we had realized that a soldier can be sufficiently trained in a few months or weeks instead of three years, always provided that the whole nation had been supplied with the necessary officers, arms, ammunition, provisions and communications; if we had, in short, adopted a military organization forming the complement to a good economic and democratic organization, the Germans would not be occupying part of our territory.

What this far-seeing French writer is talking about is an efficient social and economic organization; an organization that develops national possibilities to the utmost; an organization that prevents such corrupting and corroding cancers as poverty and plutocracy; an organization that fits a nation, economically and socially, for whatever task lies before it, whether of war or of peace.

Such an organization, formed to realize the full potentialities of a nation and its people, is the first essential to full national success. It is needed whether the nation is to go to war or remain at peace. It is needed for the realization of democracy and the social justice that success in democracy involves. Germany had such an organization, and it found not only that it is a necessary adjunct to military equipment, but that it is more important even than the mightiest armament. Moreover, it found that people served by such an organization and recognizing its virtues are the most loyal and ardent of patriots, ready and willing to render any needed sacrifice. The flaw in Germany's organization, which some time must make itself evident, is that it is an autocratic, not a democratic organization. But in the mean time it has made possible a military efficiency that is the wonder of the world.

There are more factors to "preparedness" than shallow militarists who conceive of it only in terms of battleships and big guns and armies seem able to comprehend.

Now that Lindbergh is really out of the gubernatorial nomination race, about half the newspapers in Minnesota are in a position to say "I told you so."

THE DIFFERENCE.

At least, the Democrats had their preprimary conferences in public meetings, open to all party members and attended by many of them.

It was left to the Republicans to hold their conference in a hotel room before a small, select, handpicked assemblage.

The difference is characteristic and traditional.

The train robbers having moved northward into Wyoming, timid souls across the Canadian frontier will now renew their fears of an invasion.

THE GARRISON RESIGNATION.

Upon the contention on the one hand that the continental army, or ultimately universal service, was the nation's only reliance, and the position, on the other hand, that no one plan could be forced upon congress, President Wilson and his secretary of war parted company.—Associated Press report.

That is, offering his continental army plan—with universal compulsory service in the background—Mr. Garrison took the position that it was that or nothing.

President Wilson, on the other hand, while giving his approval to his war secretary's plan, has from the beginning taken the position that he is wedded finally to no fixed plan, but is anxious to get together with congress on the best plan they can agree upon.

Therefore Mr. Garrison has quit, and with him, no doubt, goes his continental army plan. Incidentally, too, Mr. Garrison is opposed to the idea of keeping the nation's pledge to free the Philippines.

But at bottom, the reason for this resignation is the reason for the Bryan resignation—that there is room at the Wilson council table for but one head; and that is as it should be. A cabinet minister who gets it into his head that he is greater than his chief has nothing but a falling-out ahead of him. Mr. Garrison is a capable man, though he has wild ideas on militarism that fit him more for a Roosevelt cabinet than a Wilson cabinet, and doubtless the president parts with him with regret—but will manage to make the best of it.

The continental army plan is weak in its neglect of the state militia, and the opposition to it roots in a large doubt of its practicality. The difficulty would be to get young men to serve two months every year—or, rather, to get employers to consent to such vacations. The militia, properly regulated under Federal auspices, can be made to serve the nation's needs, and should be made to do so.

What Germany says, in effect, is that a merchantman must be a merchantman in order to really be a merchantman. But Lansing said it first.

THE CONGRESSMAN'S BUSINESS.

"Congressmen," declares the Sioux City Tribune, "are employed to do business for the nation, and not to build political fences for themselves."

It might be a good idea to send a marked copy to each of them.

Some of them don't seem to know about it.

And somebody ought to take them aside, one by one, and instruct them in this first principle of practical politics: That the public official who labors most honestly, most earnestly, most single-mindedly for the public good thereby builds political fences that no amount of cunning can imitate, and that will stand fast without requiring frequent desertions of the post of duty for repair operations.

It's an exceptionally good year for Republican indorsement of favorite sons, because it really doesn't make any particular difference who is nominated at Chicago—and the G. O. P. bosses know it.

Creating Atmosphere.

Birmingham Age-Herald: "I judge this is going to be a problem play."

"What makes you think so?"

"During every pause in the dialogue the hero drinks a highball and lights a fresh cigarette."

The Ruins of Ottawa

From the Montreal Star.

There will be genuine sorrow throughout the country that the impressive Gothic pile after the effective fashion of Westminster—which crowned the imposing heights of Ottawa where they command the swirling river, has been tumbled into smoking ruins.

It was a brave venture for the little Canadian people before confederation to dare this imposing structure. Some of the statesmen of that day feared that it might seriously burden the country. But confederation came to broaden the base of its support, and ocean-to-ocean growth followed which lifted Canada to a much more prosperous and populous plane; and we have felt for years now that our parliament buildings were too small. Indeed, they were considerably enlarged a decade ago.

But their loss will cut keenly for all that. There is more lost than mortared stone and old-fashioned—and, as we learned last night, dangerous—woodwork. A cloud of national memories escaped in the smoke that poured from the pointed windows.

These buildings sheltered the upper and lower Canadian fathers of confederation before their promising child was born. The commons chamber—now unroofed to the sky—heard the voice of Macdonald—of the two Macdonalds, indeed, of Cartier, of Brown, of Tupper, of Blake, of Dorion, of Galt, of Mackenzie, of Darcy McGee, of all the genuinely great who tended the first years of our young confederation.

We will still have these memories, pressed like fragrant leafs within the books of our libraries; but we will no longer be able to visit the very chamber in which they played their unforgettable parts.

Parliament sits today—the king's business goes on. We shall rebuild our Westminster, grander, larger and more fitted to the needs and the greatness of our growing nation than ever. We shall doubtless have a more modern building. Ventilation, for example, will be more a science and less a miracle. Much of that tinder-dry woodwork will be eliminated. It might well be considered—now that the opportunity has come—whether the chambers of parliament could not be constructed more with an eye to encouraging real debate, short, sharp and pithy after the British style, rather than to serving as an annex to the smoking rooms where members may address their bluebooks and Hansard speeches to their long-suffering constituents. That is, there is no reason why accommodation should be provided in either house for men who are not either listening to a speech or making one.

Father and Son

E. W. Howe's Monthly: We all talk of the influence of a good mother on the life of her son; but a good father is of equal or greater importance. A father knows more of the real problems that will confront his son; some of the lessons instilled into a boy's mind by his mother are too sentimental, and he finds it necessary to unlearn them.

I often think, with as much fairness as I can command, that had my father taught me properly, I might have avoided some of the gravest mistakes of my life. Much that I did not know until I was 30—much that I was compelled to learn for myself, as the result of humiliation and injury—he might have taught me without much trouble to himself. He taught nothing except religion; the simple and important amenities of life he thought little of, and practiced few of them. And his conception of religion was keeping out of hell. He had the false notion that sin was alluring and pleasant, instead of the nasty thing it really is. He used tobacco himself, but didn't tell me the folly of it; he let me believe it was a pleasure he denied me. And of course I learned the habit, and have regretted it ever since. He was a good-natured man away from home, but around our house he was a glum avenger, and always had a stick handy for instant use. I may have been worse than other boys, but don't believe I was.

If this should meet the eye of a father of young boys, I hope he will think over the necessity of directing them in such a way that they will think of him gratefully and affectionately in manhood. Boys do not object to teaching if it is offered in the right way. A thing I greatly admire is real affection between father and son; and it is, I am ashamed to say, unusual. Every man knows how important a little common sense is, and should not neglect to give his sons the benefit of the little he possesses. A son who has not been properly taught by his father has a grievance he will never forget.

Waiting for the Democrats.

The New Republic: Up to date the policy of the Republicans in congress seems to have two planks: keep quiet and let the Democrats make mistakes; talk tariff as a patent remedy for all human ills.

The unhappy thing about a two-party system is that the opposition always gains by the weakness of the administration. Every criticism leveled at the Democrats helps the Republicans, though the truth may be that the Republicans are no less at fault.

Just now, for example, the preparedness issue is in a state of incredible confusion. A courageous, active, and intelligent opposition would relieve the whole situation. But it does not exist. The Republicans are assuming no responsibilities; they are playing the thoroughly discreditable game of gloating over failures which they will not lift a hand to avert. They show no sign of caring deeply about any national issue. They offer the country no honorable substitute for the Democratic confusion. They are hoping that the country when it grows tired of the frying pan will jump happily into the fire.

Rippling Rhymes

By Walt Mason

The Has-Beens.

I read the papers every day, and oft encounter tales which show there's hope for every jay who in life's battle fails. I've just been reading of a gent who joined the has-been ranks, at fifty years without a cent, or credit at the banks. But undismayed he buckled down, refusing to be beat, and captured fortune and renown; he's now in Easy street. Men say that fellows down and out ne'er leave the rocky track, but facts will show, beyond a doubt, that has-beens do come back. I know, for I who write this rhyme, when forty-odd years old, was down and out, without a dime, my whiskers full of mold. By black disaster I was trounced until it jarred my spine; I was a failure so pronounced I didn't need a sign. And after I had soaked my coat, I said (at forty-three), "I'll see if I can catch the goat that has escaped from me." I labored hard; I strained my dome, to do my daily grind, until in triumph I came home, my billy-goat behind. And any man who still has health may with the winners stack, and have a chance at fame and wealth—for has-beens do come back.

The Navy League

Speech by C. H. Tavenner of Illinois in the House of Representatives.

I believe in giving credit to whom credit is due. For instance, the gentlemen back of the Navy league, in my opinion, deserve full credit * * * for the sentiment that has been aroused in the large manufacturing centers and other parts of the United States for the proposed $500,000,000 bond issue for battleships that the Navy league has been advocating. I am in favor of giving the Navy league full credit and also full responsibility.

What is this Navy league? Who founded it, and who are its directors? I hold in my hand the bound Navy League Journal for 1904. In the opening number is the statement that this is "the official organ of the Navy league of the United States."

I turn now to page 32 of the issue of February, 1904, where I find a list of nineteen men who are named as the "founders" of the Navy league. Now, then, let us see who they are.

I note in the list of founders the name of the Midvale Steel company. The United States government since 1903 has bought from the Midvale Steel company 48,399 tons of armor, and we have paid for it an average of $420 a ton, or in all $20,375,858 for the single item of armor plate alone, not to say anything about other millions of dollars worth of contracts that have been given to the Midvale Steel company for other things used by the army and navy; and if the Navy league's proposed $500,000,000 bond issue goes through, Midvale will stand to draw down some more millions.

Let us see if there are any more war-traffickers here. Is Charles M. Schwab, whom I see listed as one of the founders, a war-trafficker? Well, he is president of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, and we have bought from Bethlehem 95,007 tons of armor at an average rate of $445 a ton, and have paid Bethlehem for armor plate alone $42,344,937. That is the second member of the armor ring.

Now, there is another member of the armor ring, and that is the Carnegie Steel company. Let us see if we find them also among the founders of the Navy league. Yes; I see here the name of J. P. Morgan. The late J. P. Morgan was the organizer and a director of the United States Steel corporation, which controls, according to Moody's Manual, the Carnegie Steel company. We have bought from the Carnegie Steel company 39,933 tons of armor plate, paying an average of $442 a ton, or a total of $39,783,497 for the single item of armor plate; and if the Navy league's proposed $500,000,000 bond issue for battleships goes through, they will receive still larger contracts. So that you see the three firms which have a monopoly of the manufacture of armor in this country are all founders of the Navy league, and we have bought from them 233,339 tons of armor plate, paying for it an average of $439 a ton, or a total of $102,504,292.

Remember that figure, $439! There have been ten official estimates by government officials as to the cost of armor plate in a government factory and the average of those estimates is $251 a ton; and had we manufactured this armor in a government factory, which the Navy league has cold-shouldered, I think I am well within the bounds of conservatism when I say we could have saved to the American taxpayers at the very least $35,000,000.

The Harvey Steel company, which owned the patent on a process for hardening steel which compelled all manufacturers of armor plate to pay it a royalty, was in on the ground floor at the organization of the Navy league, in the persons of S. S. Palmer, its president, and Benjamin F. Tracy, ex-secretary of the navy. Mr. Tracy was the counsel for the Harvey company and the Carnegie Steel company after leaving the navy department.

Throughout the existence of the Navy league there have been several distinct groups represented, made up of officers, directors, attorneys and employes. The most important of these are the J. P. Morgan group, the Bethlehem Steel group, the Carnegie Steel group, the Midvale Steel group, the Harvey Steel group, and last, but not least, Col. Thompson's International Nickel company group.

Culture.

D. M. C. in the Pennsylvania Punch Bowl: Culture is that which makes some men wear their hair long. The Germans spell it with a "K" and claim that it gives them the right to blow up ships and kill innocent passengers. The hotbed of culture is College Hall. It may be discovered lurking in almost all of the halls there. Red neckties and velvet coats are always associated with culture. Being properly endowed with the aforesaid culture, one is able to have a horrible desire to make America over, with the sleeves rolled up and the arm bared. If you have culture, it gives you a license to come into class late and to wear tortoise-shell glasses. Incidentally, it might be said that the acquiring of the T. S. specs is the first step in the process of culture. It has been hinted that culture is found in the library, but cultured ones claim that is not the real variety but rather the canned variety. We have seen and heard some of the cultured ones about our corridors and have come to the conclusion that if what we have seen is real culture, we will take fish.

The Winning Cause.

Hermann Keyserling in the Atlantic: The cause of the allies will win, somehow or other, sooner or later, immediately or mediately. It is unthinkable that that system of international politics which made possible this catastrophe should survive; it is altogether unlikely that the new treaties to be concluded will not reflect the aspirations and hopes of the whole world; the purgatory of this war will have consumed the decay, transmuted old forms into new ones, accelerated their development, cleared the minds of the nations. Even a victorious Germany, in her ancient mood, would not dare to dictate peace on reactionary terms; it would never be accepted by public opinion, and could not possibly last if pressed. But the Germany of tomorrow will be very different from that of yesterday; the ordeal will have changed her much. Like France, like England, like Russia, she will have found her new soul or at least be near to finding it. And this will be the soul of an intensely democratic nation.

Lincoln, the Boy.

Just a tiny wildwood blossom,
Burdened with a patriarch's name,
As if ancient racial problems
Should on him put every claim.

Toys of childhood play and pleasure
Were so foreign to his lot,
He was forced to find his treasures,
In some books he ne'er forgot.

Bible heroes, Pilgrim's Progress,
Lives of Washington and Clay,
Burns the poet, Lawyer Blackstone,
Filled his nights with music gay.

In the forest kindergarten,
Ax and gun are learning's kit,
Which his contemplations heartened
Into jokes and mother wit.

Self denial, truth and kindness,
Duty, courage, gentleness;
Faith in God, himself, his country,
And contempt of idleness:

These are lessons that his teachers,
Stars and trees, and God, taught him;
Giving to his soul a beauty
That no centuries shall dim.

What he lacked of our advantage
Made the soul of him grow great;
Great as all life's primal duties,
Racial rights and needs of state.

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Scattered Comments Taken From Minnesota Papers.

"A Bond Is a Mortgage."

Warrond Pioneer: Minneapolis pays nearly a million dollars a year for interest on its bonded debt, and that is about twice as much as they paid five years ago.

That is not an exceptional case. Practically every city in the country is traveling the same road. When there is anything they want they bond for it—mortgage the future.

The same is true of villages, counties and townships—in a smaller way. It is so easy to raise money by bonding.

Very often the money is used in a way that increases the value and productiveness of the community. Often it is used for improvements not needed and sometimes to pay off current expenses.

Some time there must come a day of reckoning, when no more bonds can be sold, and when the interest will take all taxes that can be raised.

A bond is the same thing as a mortgage—and the sooner people come to realize the fact the better.

What Kills Towns—and Cities.

Badger Herald-Rustler: Selfishness kills more towns than any other cause. When you find a town where its business men look only to their own aggrandizement, look out for the handwriting on the wall, for it is doomed. No place yet has ever prospered unless its citizens went to work upon a universal platform of the greatest number. One-eyed ideas won't win; neither will a selfish desire to monopolize some line of business. Work together for the common good, for unless your town prospers you can't prosper.

It's a Mighty Slim Everybody.

Mankato Review: "Everybody admits that the Minnesota primary law is a joke," says the St. Cloud Journal-Press. Then it proceeds to wonder if the next legislature will have sense enough to remove the joker. There wouldn't be any doubt about its removal, if the first statement of the Journal-Press were true. But the "everybody" that admits the primary law is a failure is the same body that opposed the enactment of a primary election law at the outset, and he does not happen to be quite as numerous as the Journal-Press would like to have the legislators believe that he is.

Astonished at Senator Nelson.

Rochester Post and Record: The Post and Record is astonished that Senator Knute Nelson should refuse to vote for the confirmation of Louis D. Brandeis, the president's nominee for associate justice of the supreme court, and for personal reasons only. If press reports are true, Nelson's opposition arises from the fact that Brandeis was his opponent in an important legal contest and was defeated. It is hoped this report is not true. Nelson has so far proved himself too big a man to let personalities enter into the consideration of so important a matter, especially when so peculiarly able a man as Brandeis is nominated for one of the highest positions in the country.

Needed on the Supreme Bench.

Little Falls Herald: The selection of Brandeis for associate justice of the supreme court, we believe one of the best things Wilson has done. There have been appointments and things done by this administration which Progressive Democrats have found it hard to swallow, but this appointment will surely be indorsed. It will redeem the unfit appointment of the present attorney general, for instance. Brandeis is known as a people's lawyer, and it is about time there were some of that kind on the supreme bench. The corporation organs in the East and in this state are having a bad time over the appointment, which is another proof that it is a good one. This was a case where the Wilson that was suported by Progressive Democrats in 1912 justified expectations.

Wisconsin Clippings

Things the Badger State Editors Are Saying.

And They Will Prove That Point.

Wausau Record-Herald: Neither the one-term nor the three-term argument is likely to have much weight with the public this fall. If the worst comes to the worst the people can be trusted to select the right man, and they should always have the right to do so.

Where the Saving Begins.

Chippewa Falls Independent: It is claimed that automobiles are as cheap as horses, but not many people who acquired old Dobbin a year or two ago find it necessary this spring to swap him off for a 1916 model.

He Certainly Is.

Ashland Press: We must not forget that Wilson is president of the United States and not merely president of the Democratic party.

"Poor Old Wisconsin!"

Manitowoc Herald: Poor old Wisconsin! Factional politics has been her lot for years and no state in the Union has suffered more through "political feuds" than the Badger state; and from all appearances the end is not yet. No one party appears to be the offender. Both Republicans and Democrats are warring most of the time, with the result that the public suffers, and the taxpayers foot the bills. When will we learn to work for Wisconsin and not for the politicians?

Something to Look Forward To.

New London Press: If gasoline keeps on soaring it will soon be so high we will be rid of the smell.

Or Hold an Elimination Convention.

Iron River Pioneer: Now, then, if Bosshard and McGovern are good sports they will draw cuts, run a foot race, engage in a wrestling match, or do any old thing to decide which is to pull out of the race for governor. Either one of them could trim Philipp to a fare-you-well, but with both running, it looks like a rather soft snap for Philipp.

Booming Washburn.

Washburn News and Itemizer: Washburn makes dynamite, dynamite makes Washburn; like father, like son; both are very forceful.

Well, Why Does She?

Fond du Lac Commonwealth: Hopkinsville, Ky., merchants offer a mule, $300 worth of premium tickets and a wedding ring to the first woman to acknowledge a leap year proposal. Now it is up to some skeptic to ask why she needs a mule if she is to marry a man.

No Scrap of Paper Here.

New York World: If Congressman Miller of Minnesota had read the treaty of Paris with more care he would not have concluded so hastily that relinquishment of the Philippine islands by the United States amounts to a flagrant violation of that instrument. The treaty has not a word binding this country to perpetual possession of the archipelago.

So far as guarantees of the religious, property and civil rights of Spanish subjects are concerned, they are common to all treaties and would naturally be assumed by a native government if the islands were given their independence. In any case, these provisions secure to Spaniards privileges no greater than those enjoyed by American citizens. The sovereign power of the United States to turn the islands over to their people is no more to be questioned than that of Spain to transfer them to the United States.

Philippine independence is a matter of time and expediency, and not of treaty rights or law.

Man and Trouble.

Milwaukee Journal: Only two kinds of people in the world, the man whose troubles are bigger than he and the man who is bigger than his troubles.

Bridge on a Par With Faro

From Commerce and Finance.

In an affidavit accompanying her application for alimony pending a suit in the supreme court of New York for separation from Joseph B. Elwell, Mrs. Elwell states that her husband has had an income as high as $18,000 a year from teaching "bridge" to society people; that his royalties from his books on the game run from $5,000 to $7,000 a year and that in play he has been highly successful, frequently winning from $1,000 to $10,000 a night, and on one occasion winning $30,000 in an evening. She estimates his wealth at more than $500,000.

There is more science to bridge whist than, perhaps, to any other game of cards, but it is not customary for a fine teacher to be a great player. One teacher who ranks as high if not higher than Elwell is not a brilliant success over the board.

It is the same in other games. The greatest analyst in the chess world is Dr. Tarrasch. He can lay bare the weak point in any game that is played. For years he took delight in showing how Dr. Emanuel Lasker, the chess champion, could have been beaten if his opponent had made a different move at a critical point in the play. Lasker chafed under the criticism, but held his peace. The chess world demanded a meeting between the great analyst and the champion. They met and Lasker won so easily that Dr. Tarrasch has been heard of little since then.

The greatest writer on poker has been kept poor by his losses at poker, and if any deviser of a system to beat faro has made a fortune with it the fact is not known.

Many reports have been current of high stakes at bridge but this is the first confirmation that has come through the courts. To win $30,000 in one night Mr. Elwell must have been playing in a game where the stake was $10 a point, at least, and at that he would have to run in remarkable luck or to be against poor players to score 3,000 points more than his opponents. Necessarily his partner would win $30,000 also, so the night's play meant $60,000 for the two men.

That puts bridge almost on a par with faro or roulette in a gambling sense. At Canfield's a little more than thirteen years ago the scion of a prominent New York house lost a little more than $100,000 in one night's play against faro and roulette, but the scandal that followed that event marked the beginning of the end of Canfield's career in New York.

Mrs. Elwell piques the curiosity in telling so much and yet withholding so much about bridge. If men with card sense knew the returns from clever play were so high as the affidavit indicates they might give more study to leads, to echoes, to the art of bidding and all the other fine points that make bridge so fascinating and so difficult.

The Lone Cry in the Big Crowd.

Mark x, 46-52.

Our Lord hears the cry of need even when it rises from the midst of the tumultuous crowd. A mother can hear the faint cry of her child in the chamber above, even when the room resounds with the talk and laughter of her guests. And our Lord heard the wail of poor Bartimaeus! That lone, sorrowful cry pierced the clamor, "and Jesus stood still." My soul, cry to Him! "Jesus of Nazarath passeth by."

And Bartimaeus knew what he wanted. He merged all his petitions in one. "Lord, that I might receive my sight!" And let me, too, come to my Savior with some great, dominant, all-commanding request. I trifle with my Master. I ask Him for toys, for petty things, while all the time He is waiting to give me "unsearchable wealth," "sight, riches, healing of the mind." "The Lord is great;" and shall I add, "and greatly to be prayed."

And how delicately gracious it is that our Lord should attribute the miracle to Bartimaeus himself. "Thy faith hath made thee whole!" As though the Lord had had no share in the ministry! He makes so much of our faith, and our endeavor, and our obedience. "If ye had faith as a grain of mustard seed!" That's all He wants, and miracles are accomplished.—From Circling Year, Dayton, Ohio.

Twenty Years Ago

From The Herald of this date, 1896.

There was a lively time at the city council meeting last night when the matter of confirming the appointment of D. A. Reed as a member of the board of public works came up. When the discussion ended, Reed was confirmed by a vote of 9 to 7, those voting for confirmation being Aldermen Barnes, Hale, Mitchell, Nelson, Ole, Olafson, Patterson, Trevillion and Harwood. The plans of Radcliffe & Willoughby for the new armory and market house were accepted and the board of public works was ordered to advertise for bids for the erection of the building.

The leap year party at the Spalding last evening was a great success. The ladies engaged all the dances, escorted the men to refreshments and managed the floor, but the reception committee was composed entirely of married men, including W. C. Sargent, R. B. Knox, Dr. Brown, James C. Hunter, A. B. Silvey and Clark Fagg. The floor managers were Miss Magoffin, Miss Comstock, Miss Sellwood, Mrs. R. B. Knox, Mrs. S. S. Bradley and Mrs. Clark Fagg.

Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today, 12 below zero; maximum yesterday, 28 above zero; minimum yesterday, 10 above zero.

Golden Rebekah lodge is now ready for institution, the final preliminary meeting having been held last evening at the home of Mrs. J. M. Smith, 125 West Second street. The officers nominated are: N. G., Mrs. Hattie Hoover; V. G., Mrs. Lottie Cox; recording secretary, Mrs. Frizell; treasurer, Mrs. Mary E. Medd; financial secretary, Miss Augusta Seipel.

Dr. William Alden appeared at the United States land office today and relinquished the portion of section 30 which was allotted to him under the decision of the secretary of the interior. A homestead entry was immediately filed upon the land by Ludwig Andreas Larson, an employe of Draper, Davis & Hollister.

A meeting of young men for the purpose of organizing a new social club was held last evening at the Duluth clubrooms, John G. Howard being chairman and L. R. Wilson secretary. Rooms will be secured in the Columbus block, it is expected.

The residence of A. E. Chantler at 5405 London road, Lakeside, was almost totally destroyed by fire this morning. The building was owned by J. M. Smith and was insured for $2,400, and there was $1,000 insurance on Mr. Chantler's furniture, the loss on which is nearly total.

Mrs. James Billings left today for Paris, France, where she will remain for some time.

NO "RETIRED LIST" YET FOR POSTAL EMPLOYES

To the Editor of The Herald:

I noticed a news item from Marquette, Mich., published in The Herald, referring to Henry Brittel, who for twenty-seven years was a letter carrier at that city. The article states that "he will spend the remaining years of his life on the retired list."

I wish to correct the wrong impression made by the above statement, as at present no postal employe receives a pension of any kind from the government.

The Hon. William R. Willcox, a member of the National Civic Federation and postmaster of New York city from 1904 to 1907, at a recent meeting of that organization drew attention to the fact that the government invited vigorous, ambitious and intelligent young men to enter the service and make it their life work, and then, after giving all the productive years of their lives, at a nominal salary, to upbuilding and perfecting the service, they are rewarded by being unceremoniously cast aside when their efficiency becomes impaired on account of age and the infirmities that go with it. Let us hope that public sentiment will soon demand the enactment of a law that will take care of these employes in their declining years.

Duluth has several postal employes who have been in the service for over twenty-five years, but fortunately these are still able to perform their duties, having entered the service when still in their "twenties."

MORE ON COUNTY ROADS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In your Feb. 4 issue of The Herald "A Farmer" writes in your Open Court column about how some county commissioner keeps the roads open for the farmers in his district this winter. That farmer doesn't like the way the work is done and therefore registers his kick, which he, as a taxpayer, has the right to do.

Then comes another gentleman who also calls himself a farmer, with a little note in the Monday Herald. He tells Farmer No. 1 to read the farm journals and get educated on modern methods as other gentlemen are doing.

Now, if shoveling the snow is a modern way of keeping the county roads open in the winter, then I, for one, would suggest that the snow be let alone, for the way it has been snowing and drifting this winter I should think it impossible to keep roads open with shovels. It will make a big hole in that $165,000 road fund. Better try to make that fund last the year.

Out here where I am living the farmers kept the county road open all winter—not with shovels, but with horses and snow plows—and it has not cost the county a penny. Yours truly,

TONY.

POEMS ASKED FOR.

The Moneyless Man.

Is there no place on the face of the earth
Where charity dwelleth, where virtue has birth?
Where bosoms in mercy and kindness will heave,
When the poor and the wretched shall ask and receive?
Is there no place at all where a knock from the poor
Will bring a kind angel to open the door?
Ah, search the wide world wherever you can,
There is no open door for the Moneyless Man.

Go, look in you hall where the chandeller's light
Drives off with its splendor the darkness of night,
Where the rich hanging velvet in shadowy fold
Sweeps gracefully down with its trimmings of gold,
And the mirrors of silver take up and renew
In long lighted vistas the wildering view—
Go there, at the banquet, and find if you can
A welcoming smile for a Moneyless Man.

Go, look in yon church of the cloud-reaching spire,
Which gives to the sun his same look of red fire,
Where the arches and columns are gorgeous within,
And the walls seem as pure as the soul without sin;
Walk down the long aisles, see the rich and the great
In the pomp and the pride of their worldly estate;
Walk down in your patches, and find, if you can,
Who opens a pew to a Moneyless Man!

Go, look in the banks, where Mammon has told
His hundreds and thousands of silver and gold;
Where, safe from the hands of the starving and poor,
Lies pile upon pile of the glittering ore!
Walk up to their counters—ah, there you may stay
Till your limbs grow old, till your hairs grow gray,
And you'll find at the banks not one of the clan
With money to lend to the Moneyless Man.

Go, look to yon judge, in his dark flowing gown,
With the scales wherein law weigheth equity down;
Where he frowns on the weak and smiles on the strong,
And punishes right while he justifies wrong;
Where juries their lips to the Bible have laid,
To render a verdict they've already made—
Go there, in the courtroom, and find, if you can,
Any law for the cause of a Moneyless Man.

Then go to the hovel—no raven has fed
The wife who has suffered too long for her bread;
Kneel down by her pallet, and kiss the death-frost
From the lips of the angel your poverty lost,
Then turn in your agony upward to God,
And bless, while it smites you, the chastening rod,
And you'll find, at the end of your life's little span,
There's a welcome above for a Moneyless Man.

—Henry T. Stanton.

The Indian's Lament.

Let me go to my home in the far distant West,
To the scenes of my childhood in innocence blest,
Where the tall cedar waves and the bright waters flow,
Where my fathers repose, let me go, let me go!

Let me go to the spot where the cataract plays,
Where oft I have sported in boyhood's bright days,
And greet my poor mother, whose heart would o'erflow
At the sight of her child—then to her let me go!

Let me go to my sire, by whose battle-scarred side
I have sported so oft in the morn of my pride,
And exulted to conquer the insolent foe;
To my father, the chief, let me go, let me go!

And, oh, let me go to my flashing-eyed maid
Who taught me to love, 'neath the green willow shade,
Whose heart, like the fawn, leaps as pure as the snow;
To the bosom I love, let me go, let me go!

And, oh, let me go to my wild forest home,
No more from its life-cheering pleasures to roam;
'Neath the groves and the glens, let my ashes lie low;
To my home in the woods, let me go, let me go!

SOLDIERS' WILLS CAUSE TROUBLE

Courts Have Great Difficulty in Passing on Validity.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Berlin, Jan. 20.—Questions of the validity of soldiers' wills, generally made in the field and often in the form of letters home, have given the civil courts some hard nuts to crack. In more than one case the perfectly patent intention of the devisor has had to be ignored because he did not know how to draw up a binding document.

Two such cases have just been passed upon, and the verdicts have been opposed to each other through sheer accident. The first is that of a soldier who wrote from the trenches of France to his fiancee telling her that if he should fall he wanted her to have one-half of his property. He sent a second letter to her parents which he signed "Your Son Fritz." The first was signed "Your True Fritz."

By accident rather than by design he wrote out in one of the letters his full name and address to indicate how letters to him should be made out. The court held that this accidental insertion of the full name legally established the identity of the testator, as his signatures did not, and therefore upheld the validity of the letter will.

A similar case went the other way because the letter was signed only by a Christian name. A mother sued in behalf of her daughter for half of a fallen soldier's estate, on the basis of a letter signed only "Heinrich" and not dated from any definite place. Though there seemed to be no moral doubt of Heinrich's intentions, the court ruled against his fiancee.

BREUGGER'S JOB CENTER OF FIGHT

Differences Among North Dakota Democrats Over National Committeeman.

Bismarck, N. D., Feb. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Inability of National Committeeman Breugger to "put over" his indorsements in this state, it is said, has led the Democrats into a three-cornered contest over the national committeemanship. Personally, Breugger is popular and his zeal for the cause of Democracy is generally considered, but it is contended he lacks the punch when it comes to landing his choice for place. So frequently have his indorsements gone awry that Democrats feel some other man should be selected.

Breugger has the backing of the McArthur element of the state Democracy. Chairman Perry of the Democratic state central committee is being boosted for promotion to the national committeemanship and the Doyle-McLean-Duis wing of the state organization is behind him most enthusiastically.

At the recent meeting of the farmers' organizations in Fargo, some Democrats not particularly aligned with either of the dominant wings, got together with some Equity and nonpartisan Democratic farmers and indorsed William Olson of Valley City for the place.

Plan Harmony Dinner.

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Effort is being made to bring the various factions of the Democratic party together in this state, and it begins to look as though the effort would succeed as far as a big "achievement banquet," which is to be held here on Washington's birthday, is concerned.

D. B. Holt of this city has been named head of the executive committee and Mrs. M. A. Hildreth, wife of United States District Attorney Hildreth, has been made head of the women's committee, the banquet to be for both members of the party and their wives.

RECIPE TO CLEAR A PIMPLY SKIN

Pimples Are Impurities Seeking an Outlet Through Skin Pores.

Pimples, sores and boils usually result from toxins, poisons and impurities which are generated in the bowels and then absorbed into the blood through the very ducts which should absorb only nourishment to sustain the body.

It is the function of the kidneys to filter impurities from the blood and cast them out in the form of urine, but in many instances the bowels create more toxins and impurities than the kidneys can elminate, then the blood uses the skin pores as the next best means of getting rid of these impurities which often break out all over the skin in the form of pimples.

The surest way to clear the skin of these eruptions, says a noted authority, is to get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of hot water each morning before breakfast for one week. This will prevent the formation of toxins in the bowels. It also stimulates the kidneys to normal activity, thus coaxing them to filter the blood of impurities and clearing the skin of pimples.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent drink which usually makes pimples disappear; cleanses the blood and is excellext for the kidneys as well.—Advertisement.

BROAD OCEAN FOR MILITIA

Minnesota Naval Reserves Included in Proposed Salt Water Cruise.

Plan Involves Immense Mobilization of Volunteer Corps of Nation.

About 300 members of the Minnesota naval militia, including all but the less experienced men, may have a chance to work aboard a real battleship and take a salt water cruise while the Atlantic and Pacific fleets are maneuvering next summer.

"The navy department has been planning for some time to show Minnesota cadets, as well as others, what conditions are like aboard regular battleships, on the high seas," said Commander Guy A. Eaton of the naval militia. "They will find it much different than on the lakes.

"A salt water cruise is being arranged for about 300 of the 450 men in the state organization. The less experienced men will remain here and take the usual cruise on the lakes."

Calls for Mobilization.

Josephus Daniels, secretary of the navy, recently announced plans calling for a mobolization of the naval forces of the country and it is believed they will be approved by congress. A fleet of reserve battleships will be placed at the disposal of the naval reserves and naval militia, if his plan is adopted.

An appropriation of $77,000 will be asked to cover the traveling expenses of the militiamen of the Great Lakes and other interior sections to the seacoast to join in the mobilization.

The old battleships Oregon, Kearsarge and Kentucky are to be turned over next month to the militia forces of the Atlantic and Pacific for permanent practice ships. The Oregon will be stationed at San Francisco, the Kearsarge at Boston and the Kentucky at New York. These three ships and the reserve pre-dreadnaughts, which carry the Annapolis midshipmen on their summer cruise, will make up the fleet, manned 40 per cent by regular officers and men, and 60 per cent by the reserve and naval militia.

The department also will turn over five of the older destroyers to the naval militia of the South Atlantic, and Gulf coast.

Will Assemble Many Reservists.

In all, the department is asking for $387,000 for the reserve, and militia this year, and expects to get together more than 4,500 reservists of both classes out for the summer mobilization. There are now 800 men in the regular reserve and 8,000 approximately in the naval militia.

The details of the plan which involves the first peace mobilization ever attempted by the navy, have not been made public. Militiamen and reservists from the interior will go to the nearest coast point to be picked up by the ships to which they are assigned.

Queen's Daughters Hear Talk on Mexico

"The Mexican Situation" was the subject of a lecture given by Rev. P. J. Lydon of the cathedral in the Bishop's club rooms last night. This was the first of a series of lectures which will be open to all Catholic young men and women of the city.

Rev. Lyndon made a careful survey of the history and causes of the reign of terror now existing in Mexico, his attitude towards the Mexican situation being similar to that taken by Dr. Fred Starr in his lecture before the Association of Collegiate Alumnae a year ago.

The persecutions which the Catholic hierarchy are suffering are due to the game spirit of anti-clericalism and infidelity which brought about similar conditions in France, the speaker said. The methods by which land was taken by the Indians and other Mexicans and centered in the hands of a few explains the present poor circumstances of the majority of the Mexican people, he said.

Rt. Rev. James McGolrick opened the instruction by interpreting the second chapter of St. Matthew.

The course is given in connection with the Queen's Daughters association, which holds regular meeting the second Thursday of each month.

A report was given by Miss Janet Haley on the work done in St. Clement's and St. Jean Baptiste gymnasium classes for young women, which are held every Thursday evening in the boys' gymnasium. The Queen's Daughters will teach classes of girls every Saturday afternoon in the gymnasium, in addition to the basket ball teams already conducted by the Cathedral high school classes.

The reopening of the course of instruction for lay Sunday school teachers was announced. Father Lydon will reopen the course.

The Queen's Daughters society is organized for general charity and is one of more than seventy branches originating in St. Louis, Mo., where a boarding house for self-supporting girls and women—seven Saturday sewing schools and five parish sewing guilds and a work house committee are maintained. In addition one of the brancnes—the Corona club of St. Louis numbering 700—maintains many activities for Catholic girls which the Y. W. C. A. offers.

Officers of the Queen's Daughters are: President, Miss Mary O'Brien; vice president, Miss Janet Haley; secretary, Miss Winifred Corcoran; treasurer, Mrs. Anna McLoughlin; Bishop McGolrick is director of the association.

Outlines New Plan for Organizing Suffragists

The plan for organizing the St. Louis County Suffrage association was launched by Mrs. Maria McMahon, state organizer, at the suffrage luncheon which was held at 12:30 o'clock today in the Glass Block tea rooms. Short talks were made by Rev. Hardy A. Ingham of the Endion M. E. church, Dr. Maurice Lefkovits of Temple Emanuel and Rev. George Brewer of the First Presbyterian church. Seventy-five covers were laid at daffodil and narcissus decorated tables.

Mrs. McMahon, who is thoroughly at home on the subject, has proposed that St. Louis county be organized by townships and that the towns be organized by wards and precincts, according to the plan that has been adopted by the state of New York and the southern counties of Minnesota.

The St. Louis county association will not take the place of the Duluth Woman's Suffrage association as the original club has decided to continue its existence. The county association will do extensive work, reaching every section in a way that is possible only by divisions according to legislative districts.

Mrs. McMahon has been in Duluth almost two weeks. She has addressed a number of women's meetings but most of her time has been devoted to consultation with the officers of the Duluth Woman's Suffrage association, in order that the new organization might be put on a firm foundation, for such an organization, as she has explained, will be useful for civic work even after the women of Minnesota have been enfranchised.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

Tte New Woman Is All Right

Which is there more satisfaction in being—the latter day woman, at whom those of the earlier generation are likely to sniff, or a woman of the old school, with her somewhat lofty and narrow and often false ideas of life?

The first has a recognized equality with man, and as a whole a broader sympathy and understanding in common with him. The other receives the flowery grandiloquence of an almost obsolete past which they endeavor to exact from the men of today. Not meeting with success these women of the old school vindictively seek to blame the new woman for the dearth of homage accorded their sex by men.

Now, while the stateller manner of the days that are gone and the gentler, more dependent character of the women of those times have much to recommend them it has never been a question in my mind that the change to a more businesslike method has been productive of good and developed us morally, mentally and humanly. The amount of attentions, chivalrous in their nature, grows painfully less each year, but the common ground of understanding which grows more and more apparent is worth the frills which, for all their ponderous attractiveness, were little short of meaningless.

Women still demand and always will continue to demand a certain civility and common sense homage from men. And men, sensibly enough, expect due consideration from women. Many women of the younger generation have been taught to respect gray hairs and old age whether they be in man's or woman's form. To such a one, for instance, it is particularly embarrassing to rise and offer a seat in a street car. She dislikes to decline because she can see plainly that the man's feelings may be hurt. Yet all the laws governing her bringing up have trained her to the idea of inconveniencing herself to insure the comfort of those who are advancing upon life's journey.

Now really, which would you prefer to be, the grand dame, who exacts homage and little else, or the woman who is a good comrade and who has a real human understanding of the man whose wife, sweetheart or companion in business she may be, and who pays for what strikes me as being a more desirable situation, by riding up in an elevator with men whose heads remain covered.

Kid-Glove Fruits

UNIQUE among the citrus fruits are the kumquats, tangerines and the limes. Long, sunny days, warm rains and mild breezes have filled them with as health-giving juices as we find in the orange and the grape-fruit. But the form, aroma and coloring, the loose skin and delicate beauty of the small aristocrats has given them the name of kid-glove fruits.

Very ripe limes seldom appear on northern markets, so above the Dixie line this useful fruit is little known. Instead, bottled lime juice is sold and used to give delightful "bouquet" to fruit salads and punches.

One of the most delectable preserves that can be made is from limes. The fruit is washed and gently simmered in hot water until tender enough to pierce with a broom-straw. Then it is drained and dropped into a syrup of granulated sugar and water that has boiled to the soft ball stage. After cooking five minutes in this, the preserve is taken from the fire and cooked and the next day is brought to the boiling point and cooked for ten minutes. On the third day, this process is repeated and the preserves are then put into glasses or jars and will keep indefinitely. The limes are sometimes sliced or cut fine when preserved, but the method described is the Spanish way and cannot be improved upon.

The dainty kumquat, like the tangerine, is an oriental fruit. Its rind is eaten as well as the pulp and its piquant, spicy, sweet taste makes it a pleasing novelty. The fruit hangs in clusters and is shipped still attached to the delicate branches that bore it, and is used to achieve extremely attractive table decorations. Kumquats are also used in fruit salads, marmalades and frosted fruits.

The tangerine deserves to be called noble for its form, color, loose rind and rich full flavor are nothing less than wonderful. It is so perfect that it cannot be improved upon by any addition of other fruit or process of preparation for the table. Nevertheless, it is used in fruit combinations, for its beauty adds to the daintiness of any dish and the juice itself is a fine flavoring extract.

Questions and Answers.

What will set the color in a red and white table-cover made of linen and cotton?—N. F. D.

Reply—Dissolve two tablespoons of borax in a gallon of warm water and let the cover stay in this over night, then wash as usual. If you prefer, you may use a teaspoon of sugar of lead in the first wash-water to set the color, but this is a poison, so I prefer to recommend the borax.

When making hot-water gingerbread should the soda be added to the dark molasses or to the water?—Beginner.

Reply—When making gingerbread, measure two cups or one pint of New Orleans molasses into a deep bowl, add three beaten egg-yolks, one cup of melted shortening one cup of sugar and one level teaspoon of soda. Beat this with a slotted spoon until it foams and then add one cup of hot water, beat again. Now sift in four cups of flour, one teaspoon of ginger, half a teaspoon of salt and a little cinnamon. Beat again and bake in a sheet.

When soda is very strong and acid-tasting it is mixed with boiling water to weaken it, but good brands of cooking soda do not require this.

Bed Time Tales

Flitter Flying-Squirrel's Game

COME ON, FLUTTER, and play with me!" called Flitter Flying-squirrel to his sister one moonlight night in the middle of the winter. "You know you have had plenty to eat and a warm night like this is not likely to come again for many a day and night! Jack Frost must have gone to sleep! Do come and play!"

"What do you want to play?" asked Flutter Flying-squirrel (though she very well knew what Flitter's favorite game was!). "I don't know any good game."

"That don't matter," laughed Flitter, "I do. Now you climb up that beech tree and I'll climb up this oak. Then we'll——"

"What will you do?" interrupted Big Brother Flying-squirrel. "Maybe I want to play too."

"You do! I know you do," cried Flitter gaily. "We're playing a game. Flutter is going to climb up the beech tree; I will climb this oak and you—well, why don't you climb up that taller oak just next to my tree?"

"All right!! That suits me," said Big Brother Flying-squirrel, and he started to run away.

"Wait a minute!" cried Little Brother Flying-squirrel. "I want to play too!"

So Flitter explained the thing all over again for Little Brother's benefit.

"Now, I guess everybody is ready!" said Flitter, and nobody said anything, so they must have been ready as Flitter said. "All right! Now run for your trees. When you get to the foot of the tree stop till I say ready," cautioned Flitter.

Flutter ran for the beech tree; Big Brother stood at the foot of the taller oak; Little Brother, who perhaps could not climb quite so rapidly, ran to the ash tree close by, while Flitter himself stood at attention at the foot of the oak he had selected.

"All ready?" he asked. "Then—one—two—three—Go!"

And what do you suppose those little flying squirrels did?

They climbed up their trees, helter, skelter, as fast as they could go! And as quickly as they reached the top of the trunk, they ran out on the first branch to the very end and then—they spread their curious wings and sailed slant-wise through the air right to where they started from! Wasn't that funny?

"Then—one—two—three—Go!"

"I beat!" cried Big Brother gaily, when he saw that the others were all there.

"No, I did," said Flutter, politely but firmly: "I know I did!"

"Then it was a tie and we'll have to do it over," said Flitter happily. "I want to do it over anyway!"

So each little flying squirrel climbed back to his tree again and they had the funny race up the tree and down to earth all over again.

Scandinavian Program for Fourth Orchestra Concert

The Scandinavian program which the Duluth orchestra will give at the Armory Sunday afternoon promises to be one of more than ordinary interest, the numbers including compositions of Grieg, Ole Bull, Svendsen-Halvorsen and Sinding, with a violin solo by Mrs. Valborg Gunderson Finkelson, who is always sure of a hearty reception. The Svea Glee club will give selections, and there will be a group of old Swedish folk songs which have been arranged for a string orchestra.

Both Norway and Sweden will be represented on the program, while perhaps the most familiar number will be the "Peer Gynt" suite by Grieg. Ole Bull's "Saeterjenten's Sondag," to be played by Mrs. Finkelson as a violin solo, will be remembered by those fortunate enough to have heard it played by Mrs. Finkelson last year, and the "Entrance of the Bojareu," by Halvorsen, is always an interesting addition to a program. The program should prove one of the most popular yet given, as most of the numbers are familiar to all. The orchestra has been rehearsing faithfully to make this the best concert yet given.

The program follows:
Coronation March .....Svendsen
(a) Norwegian Bridal Procession .Grieg
(b) Norwegian Dances Nos. 2 and 3.. .....Grieg
(c) "In the Mountains" .....Grieg
"Einzugsmarsch red Bojaren" .....Halvorsen
Violin solo—"Saeterjenten's Sondag" .....Ole Bull
Mrs. Valborg Gunderson Finkelson.
Old Swedish folk song—"Du Gamla, Du Friska, Fjellen Nord," for string orchestra .....
Selections by Svea Glee club.
"Peer Gynt" Suite No. 1.....Grieg
1. "Morning."
2. "Death of Ase."
3. "Anitra's Dance."
4. "In the Hall of the Mountain King."

Her Husband's Friends

DO you ever praise your husband's friends? You, in this case, means wives, of course, but as all women are potential if not actual wives, I hope no woman will lay this article aside merely because she isn't at present of the matrimonial estate.

As for the men—well, I know all husbands will prick up their ears when they read that question, and bachelors don't matter.

The great complaisance which the average American husband shows in permitting his wife to select the friends with whom they shall spend most of their leisure time, and in entertaining and associating with her family rather than his, is something I have remarked upon before. I think it exists partly because in this country (I believe the opposite is true abroad) the ties between a woman and her family are stronger than those between a man and his, and also because the American business man is so absorbed in his business that he leaves the arranging of all social relationships to his wife.

And This Is the Reward He Gets.

But one aspect of this matter I do not either like or understand, and that is the antagonism the average wife seems to feel for her husband's masculine bachelor friends. Surely his complaisance deserves some better return. And yet I know many otherwise kind, thoughtful, unselfish women who reward their husbands' complaisance in entertaining and associating with their friends by resenting the rare occasions when he wants to entertain his old-time friends.

Some Are Open in Their Dislike.

Some openly express this dislike; others, while pretending to have no objection to their husbands' friends, are always making deprecatory comments upon them; still others do not even admit the dislike to themselves, but cannot keep it entirely out of their manner. There is no real graciousness in their welcome of the bachelor friend; they cannot keep the atmosphere of constraint from being palpable, nor entirely conceal their relaxation and relief when he is gone.

It is a strange and unworthy kind of jealousy, this resentment of theirs. I do not like it. And they could give so much pleasure by a little tolerance.

One Woman Had Her Eyes Opened.

A young married friend of mine told me the other day of an experience of hers which gave rise to my first question. She had always disliked her husband's favorite bachelor friend—a man of great worth, unfortunately obscured by a diffident manner. Wifelike, she had taken no pains to conceal this dislike. By a circumstance of enforced propinquity she had grown to know this man better, and one day said something in praise of him to her husband. She said her husband's delight at the words of appreciation was really touching. "It opened my eyes," she said, "and since then I've tried to see the good instead of the bad in my husband's bachelor friends, and to see what a good time I could give them whenever they came instead of how few I could make their visits. I can tell you, virtue has been doubly its own reward both in my husband's pleasure and in what I get out of it myself."

I hope her experience may open some other woman's eyes, too.

Be Careful in Using Soap on Your Hair

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified cocoanut oil, for it is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats the most expensive soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.—Advertisement.

MERIT IN ALL ACTS.

Good Show Opens Week-End Engagement at Grand.

From topliner to tailender every act and photoplay on the New Grand show, which opened a week-end engagement at that popular playhouse yesterday, is a big hit, and far more merit is wrapped up in each offering than is usual. There is plenty of variety, fine stage settings and comedy enough to keep the audiences laughing most of the time.

The musical act entitled "Beaux and Belles," consisting of seven classy musicians, four girls and three men, is one of the most pretentious acts ever shown at the Grand, and everyone of the players is a good musician. The scenery and lighting effects give this act an artistic appearance and the costumes of the conventional Queen Anne period throw a romantic atmosphere over the whole setting. Several graceful dances, a mixed quartet, vocal solos, violin and cello solos make up the many bright features.

In Miss Agnes Kayne, "vaudeville's daintiest of dainty maids," the Grand registers a big hit. Of a remarkably attractive personality, a pleasing manner, and dressed to advantage, Miss Kayne sings and plays herself into favor. Her accordion number at the close came as a pleasing surprise.

Walton and Vivian appear in a clever bit of chatter and song. The former is a very clever impersonator and does several original stunts that were heartily received. Campbell and McDonnell in a scenic singing and dancing skit do a number of folk songs and dances in a charming manner.

The photoplay program is a good one. G. M. Anderson is starred in "The Book Agents' Romance" which is a strong feature film. "The Canimated Nooz Pictorial," a cartoon comedy; "Winning the Widow," comedy-drama, and the Selig-Tribune News are other film features of much general interest.

Theater Gossip.

Edmund Breese, the noted dramatic star, will be seen here at the Zelda theater for three days, commencing tomorrow, in the stellar role of "The Lure of Heart's Desire," a five-part metro wonder-play, produced by the Popular Plays and Players. It is a photoplay based upon an original manuscript written by Aaron Hoffman and Francis J. Grandon. Mr. Grandon also directed the production. The story is an unusual one, and abounds with intense and gripping situations. Part of the action is laid in the Alaskan wastes along the Yukon, and the remainder in New York city, among members of New York's society leeches and the Gay-White-Way throng. An Alaskan village was constructed in the Adirondacks at the height of the winter season to obtain the necessary atmosphere and setting of the extreme North. One of the big scenes was made in the famous Murray restaurant in New York city, while a New Year's eve party was in full swing. A group of notable dancers and entertainers are seen in this scene.

EDMUND BREESE AT THE ZELDA.

Mr. Breese is surrounded by a capable cast, which includes Arthur Hoops, John Mahon, Jeanette Horton, Evelyn Brent and other well-known stage and screen players.

As a result of experiments which he has carried on for more than a year and principles which he has applied in many productions, Cecil B. de Mille, director general for Jesse L. Lasky, makes the announcement that he has proved dramatic effects can be greatly heightened by the employment of different shading in lighting effects. Mr. de Mille's recent production closing a two-day showing now at the Lyric entitled "The Golden Chance," is given as an instance where he successfully used the new principles.

NEW COLOR EFFECTS IN LYRIC FILM.

Hazel Dawn, the real "Pink Lady" with the famous smile is the star in "My Lady Incog" at the Lyric today and tomorrow. Beauty, talent, three sisters, an adoring mother and father and a fat bank account of her very own—all contribute their share towards the carefree "pink dawn" smile so much in evidence in "My Lady Incog."

Willard Mack has again "kicked in" to the headlines of the amusement columns by his portrayal of the man who willed in "The Conqueror" at the Rex. With beautiful Enid Markey, Mr. Mack makes this Kay-Bee production an effective vehicle. The self-made man, having forced his way into a powerful financial position, hates his associates of superior early advantages. From an unworthy ambition and motive, he seeks to bring to his feet one of the most aristocratic families in the metropolis. But his triumph is short lived; the conqueror boasts of his power, and the high-spirited girl reverses her decision and refuses to marry him. Laughter holds full sway over the merry-making stunts of Mack Swain as the movie idol in the Keystone-Triangle on today's program.

SNOW COVERING WIDE TERRITORY

Depth and Extent Are Unusual, Says Government Report.

The latest snow and ice bulletin issued by the weather bureau, shows an unusually wide territory covered by snow, and most of it to a considerable depth. In Duluth, the snow has packed down until, according to bureau measurements, it is only 18 inches deep; it was much more than that a few weeks ago.

The bulletin states that the general cold weather of the past week in northern districts, has caused additions of from 1 to 5 inches in ice thickness in river and harbors, the harbors of the upper lakes being heavily coated and those of the lower lakes having been additionally covered recently. The ice thickness in Duluth harbor is given as 30 inches.

Concerning snow conditions, the bulletin says:

"Over practically all northern districts, from the rocky mountains eastward, there was an increase in the depth of the snow during the past week, and a heavy covering now exists from the lake region westward. In the Lake Superior region the depth ranges from 2 to 4 feet. The depth is only slightly less over much of Minnesota, while a heavy covering still persists in the Dakotas, Montana and thence westward to the plains of Washington and Oregon where an unusual depth has prevailed for a number of weeks.

"In the winter-grain regions snow covers a considerable area that was bare last week, and a large portion of the area is now under cover, although there is much ice mixed with the snow in the districts to westward of the Mississippi, and some apprehension is felt that injury may result. Over the North Atlantic states the ground is now covered from West Virginia and Maryland northward, but the depths are mostly slight, except at points in Northern New York and over the interior of Maine.

"From Kansas and Nebraska westward there was a general reduction in the depth previously reported, and a considerable body of snow appears to have melted over the coast districts of Oregon and Washington.

"In some of the northern mountain districts there appears to have been considerable additional snow during the week, and the amounts stored in the high ranges must now be greatly in excess of the average.

"Reports up to the end of January indicate that the snow throughout the mountain districts is nearly everywhere equal to or above the average, and that its condition at that time indicated a plentiful supply of water for all purposes during the coming summer."

CAPT. ANDERSON AND HIS DOG TEAMS.

Sleeping on a bed of snow with no covering except his clothing and a rabbit skin blanket when the mercury is 54 below zero is no unusual feat for Capt. B. Anderson, feature player for the Essanay Film corporation, who trotted into Duluth this morning after a little jaunt of sixty miles with his nine huskies and a bob-sled. Capt. Anderson has posed in frontier films in Alaska and recently on the range when the Essanay company photographed scenes for "The Snow Burner," a photoplay showing scenes in Northern Minnesota. He also posed in "The Lure of Heart's Desire," which will be seen at the Zelda for three days beginning Sunday.

Capt. Anderson, when he hit Duluth, was in the pink of condition and dressed like a real frontiersman. His leather suit trimmed with fur and his big fur cap made him a marked man as he drove down the street with his dogs and sled

Capt. Anderson is in the movie business for the sake of travel and not for money, he says. He possesses a big farm and a large herd of stock in Canada, but is having the time of his life on the road while his son wields the shepherd's staff.

Capt. Anderson was accompanied by J. Halderson, who is also posing for the Essanay company. Each drove a dog team.

STOREROOM AIDS HOUSEKEEPER.

London Times: Dr. Marion Vaughan, speaking at a drawing room meeting in Oxford Square, on household expenditure in war time, said she herself never bought fresh eggs but the cooking eggs she used were from her storeroom, as she pickled a large number of fresh eggs in the summer when they were cheap.

A storeroom, she declared, is a great advantage; for instance, by buying coffee by the sack for roasting one got it for eighteen cents a pound, and the same applied to almost everything that would keep. Sugar was a necessity to health, and even in these days of dearer sugar it was cheaper to make one's own cakes and jam, she added.

The FINE CAR and its Future

The future of the expensive motor car is the same as the future of any other fine thing. Persons of taste, able to afford the best, will never be satisfied with anything less than the best. Such families, who can afford the fine things of life, are never satisfied with any compromise. There is a satisfaction in owning an exclusive, aristocratic vehicle of the finest quality and in the best taste.

Human nature has always been the same and will not change in the future. The desire to own something better in a motor car, something more distinguished, something more remarkable, is unquestioned.

The matter of price has nothing to do with the future of the Fine Motor Car. The circle of those who are financially able to enjoy the ultra-luxurious motor car is growing larger, and this circle will always demand the best. The fact that the Locomobile is and must always be an expensive motor car is merely a measure of its merit, inasmuch as the price of any car is, or ought to be, merely a function of its cost.

Though it be expensive, the Locomobile is a great satisfaction. Because of this satisfaction, and because the Locomobile policy of limited production is and always will be strictly adhered to, its future is perfectly assured, like that of the fine home, the fine yacht, and other fine things of life.

The increase in the demand for the Locomobile can mean but one thing—a finer appreciation of the merits of the Car. The Locomobile is built with extreme conscientiousness. The production is limited to Four Cars a Day, and much individual time and attention is given to each Locomobile. There will always be a demand for a car conceived and executed in this spirit.

ber of congress, and the Sixty-fourth congress, as the first act in larger preparedness, has passed the bill giving three appointments to each senator and representative. This makes possible an increase of 531 midshipmen for the coming year."

Regretted by Secretary.

The secretary expressed regret that the eighty-two students had been found "unsatisfactory in such a degree as does not justify the hope of their graduation and training as officers in the navy."

Mr. Daniels said that he did not think any midshipman should be allowed to graduate unless he could make 62½ per cent, the standard average in his studies and for that reason he had refused to lower the passing marks.

"We want more officers, but not at the expense of the high standard long maintained," he said.

"The need of officers for the naval service," he added, "will not be met by lowering the standard for graduation. New developments call for varied ability and initiative and no man should be commissioned who does not meet the requirements of the modern academy."

SECRETARY OF WAR GARRISON RESIGNS

tion's plans for strengthening the army and working out a definite military policy. He has not selected a successor to Mr. Garrison and it is regarded as probable that even after the new head of the war department is named the president, who has made a careful study of the problem, will continue to handle the preparedness plans to a great extent himself.

The reasons for Secretary Garrison's resignation and its acceptance by the president are disclosed in correspondence made public between them. The correspondence revealed that while the secretary left the cabinet principally because the president would not "irrevocably" support the continental army plan, his opposition to the administration's program for setting a definite time for Filipino independence, as outlined in Senator Clarke's amendment to the Philippine bill, was an important factor.

Insisted on Continental Army.

Secretary Garrison contended that only a Federal continental army, instead of a reorganized national guard, could be the main military dependence of the country, while the president contended that no one plan could be enforced upon congress. It was upon these two contentions that the break between the president and his secretary of war came.

Assistant Secretary Breckenridge, who shares Secretary Garrison's views, resigned because of loyalty to his chief. His resignation also was accepted.

Maj. Gen. Scott, chief of staff of the army, automatically became secretary of war ad interim.

There was considerable speculation here today over a possible successor to Secretary Garrison. Those talked of most prominently in that connection included Representative Sherley of Kentucky, chairman of the house fortifications subcommittee; Secretary Lane of the interior department, and Assistant Secretary Roosevelt of the navy department.

It is expected that the president will appoint a successor immediately.

While Secretary Lane was being considered in official circles as a likely choice, it was understood that the president has under consideration the names of two or three other men.

Former Governor Walsh of Massachusetts, Secretary Houston, Former Governor Harmon of Ohio, Former Mayor Baker of Cleveland, were added to the names being discussed. Former Governor Adams of Colorado was talked of as a possible successor to Secretary Lane. It was understood, however, that at least one of the men being considered by the president has not been mentioned publicly for the position of secretary of war.

The cabinet met today with a vacant chair for the first time since Mr. Bryan's resignation. Reports that there might be other resignations from the cabinet were denied.

Supporters of the president declared that he and Mr. Garrison agreed on the underlying principles of both the military and Philippine questions, but differed on the methods of carrying out their policies. They pointed out that since Mr. Garrison wrote his first letter in January urging vigorous support of the continental army, the president had toured the Middle West in its advocacy and was still trying to get congress to adopt it.

Members of the president's cabinet generally expressed regret today at Mr. Garrison's resignation.

Circumstances of Resignation.

The circumstances which led up to the resignation are detailed in the secretary's correspondence with the president which was made public last night by the White House. The president, the letters disclose, believes that the training, organization and control of a military reserve should be under immediate Federal direction, but is not "irrevocably or dogmatically committed to any one plan." He wrote Mr. Garrison that he could not force any specific plan on congress, and added: "I must welcome a frank interchange of views, and a patient and thorough comparison of all the methods proposed for obtaining the objects we all have in view."

Mr. Garrison's contentions that only the plans of the war department could be considered, seemed to the president "wholly unjustifiable." Mr. Garrison considered "reliance upon the militia for national defense as unjustifiable and imperilling the nation's safety." In resigning, he wrote to the president:

"It is evident that we hopelessly disagree upon what I conceive to be fundamental principles."

Mr. Garrison characterized the Clarke amendment to the Philippine bill providing conditionally for the independence of the islands within four years, "an abandonment of the duty of this nation, and a breach of trust for the Filipinos."

The president said it was his judgment that the Clarke amendment "was unwise at this time," but added, "it would clearly be most inadvisable for me to take the position that I must dissent from that action, should both houses of congress concur in a bill embodying that amendment."

Must Withhold Judgment.

He said he must withhold judgment until the final action was before him in definite form.

On Jan. 12, Secretary Garrison wrote the president, "we are facing a critical juncture with respect to the military part of the national defense program" and declared he felt that "unless the situation is dealt with promptly and effectively, we can indulge in no reasonable expectation of any acceptable result."

He insisted that there could be no substantial solution which did not result in national forces under the exclusive control and authority of the national government. Admitting that there could be legitimate discussion over the means of obtaining these national forces, the secretary asserted that from the beginning of the government, the acknowledged weakness of the situation arose out of the lack of any system producing Federal forces.

"The situation was rendered worse," he added, "by the presence of state troops, raised, officered, trained and governed by the states."

Line of Cleavage.

There is a distinct line of cleavage, Mr. Garrison held, between reliance upon a system of state troops, and reliance upon national forces. "Upon this subject," he said in his letter to the president, "there does not exist, and there cannot legitimately exist, any difference of opinion among those who are unbiased and who believe in real national security and defense."

He declared that if a policy based upon the reliance on state troops was adopted, "not only had no advance been made from the deplorable and inexcusable situation in which we have been so long, but an effective block had been placed across the pathway toward a proper settlement."

The secretary severely criticized the national guard plans of Chairman Hay of the house military committee.

"In my judgment, the effect of the enactment of Mr. Hay's program would be to set back the whole cause of legitimate, honest, national defense in an entirely unjustifiable and inexcusable way. It would be, in my judgment, a betrayal of a trust of the people in this regard. It would be illusory and without reliability or substance.

"There is, unfortunately, very little knowledge and very little intense personal interest in any of the members of the house concerning military affairs."

Criticizes Hay.

Mr. Garrison declared further that Mr. Hay had the power of dealing with a subject concerning which "there is of the house has no knowledge, and about which it has never concerned itself," and suggested that Mr. Hay's proposal of settling this matter by voting money to the members of the state troops appealed to the "direct personal, political interest of the members."

Mr. Hay's proposal to include a draft provision so that at the outbreak of war, the national guard could be brought under control of the national government was characterized by Mr. Garrison as failing utterly to meet the essential objections to the perpetuation of a militia system. He insisted the difficulty did not arise out of the government not being able to take over these troops, but out of its inability, under the Constitution, to have "the essential unity of responsibility, authority and control in the raising, officering, training and governing of its military forces."

Following an interview between the president and Mr. Garrison on the army plans, the secretary again wrote the president specifically stating his position. The president informed him that Mr. Hay had told him a Federal volunteer system could not be obtained, and that the same end could be achieved by utilizing the state troops, and making appropriations to pay to the states on condition that the Federal government control the militia.

Systems Opposed.

Mr. Garrison then replied that the continental army plan absolutely discarded a militia system based upon state troops, and that the two systems were diametrically opposed to each other and are irreconcilable.

"We are challenged," he wrote, "by the existing system to declare ourselves promptly, openly and unequivocally, or be charged properly with lack of sincerity and good faith." He added that since Mr. Wilson's word was final, he did not wish to cause any embarrassment and would withdraw if it would relieve the situation.

The president wrote in reply, that he and the secretary agreed that the chief thing necessary for the army was "that we should have a trained citizen reserve, and that the training, organization and control of that reserve should be under immediate Federal direction." He declined, however, to take an irrevocable stand, on the ground that it would not be proper for him to say to a committee of congress that it would have to take his plan or none. He declared he did not believe members of the house dealing with military affairs were ignorant of the military necessities of the nation, but had found them well-informed.

He said he would welcome a frank interchange of views, but added, "no one will expect me to acquiesce in any proposal that I regard as inadequate or illusory." Should a bill be presented to him which he would not accept as accomplishing the essential thing sought, he said, it would be his duty to veto it, and go to the country on the merits.

The views of the president and Mr. Garrison were reviewed in other letters which culminated in the offering and acceptance of the secretary's resignation.

Garrison's Letter.

Secretary Garrison's letter to the president on Jan. 12, follows:

"My Dear Mr. President: In my judgment we are facing a critical juncture with respect to the military part of the national defense program.

"I am convinced that unless the situation is dealt with promptly and effectively, we can indulge in no reasonable expectation of any acceptable result.

"So far as the military part of national defense is concerned, there can be no honest or worthy solution, which does not result in national forces under the exclusive control and authority of the national government. Any other solution is illusory and not real, is apparent, and not substantial.

"There is a perfectly legitimate field of discussion and debate as to the means of obtaining these national forces. The proportion thereof, that should be regular standing army, that should be organized reserves of the regular standing army, or should be drawn from the body of citizens for shorter periods of national service than those in the regular standing army, are all legitimate and proper matters for consideration, analysis and discussion.

National Forces Necessary.

"But there is absolutely no dissent, from the military standpoint, from the conclusion that the only measure of national defense that possesses any virtue, is one which produces national forces. From the beginning of the government to this time, excepting during periods of actual war, the acknowledged weakness and defect of the situation arose out of the lack of any system producing these Federal forces. The situation was rendered worse by the presence of state troops, raised, officered, trained and governed by the states that were assumed to be a military reliance for the nation, when, in fact they are not, and can never be made to be. Under the constitution of the United States, these state troops must always be governed, officered and trained by the respective states.

"The very first line of cleavage, therefore, which must be encountered and dealt with by the student of the situation is between reliance upon a system of state troops, forever subject to Constitutional limitations, which render them absolutely insecure as a reliance for the nation, or reliance upon national forces raised, officered, trained and controlled by the national authorities. Upon this subject there does not exist and there cannot exist, any difference of opinion among those who are unbiased and who believe in real national security and defense.

Sure Foundation.

"The policy recommended to you and adopted by you squarely placed the nation upon the sure foundation of national forces. If that policy is made effective by legislation, there will be secured to this country for the first time a real, stable foundation for the military part of its national defense. If, however, instead thereof, a policy is adopted, based upon the state troops as the main reliance of this country for its military arm, not only has no advance been made, but the deplorable and inexcusable situation in which we have so long been, but an effective block has been placed across the path toward a proper settlement. The adoption of such a policy would serve to delude the people into believing that the subject had been settled, and therefore required no further consideration upon their part. It would, therefore, in my judgment, be infinitely worse than an entire failure of all legislative enactment upon the subject. The latter would at least leave it open for future settlement.

"I, of course, am not advised as to the statements of intention made by Mr. Hay to you in the conversations held with you, prior to your message to congress at the opening of the present session. I have always felt, and have so expressed myself to you, that the situation in the congress was such that unless you personally exercised the power of your leadership you would not obtain any worthy results in this matter.

Will Not Press Policy.

"Mr. Hay nas now made open declaration of his intention. He announces that he does not intend to press for the enactment of the military policy advocated in your message. With respect to the regular army, he does not purpose giving us the organization asked for and imperatively necessary if the Federal volunteers (so-called continental army) are to be properly trained; he purposes adding a few thousand men to the enlisted strength of the army in its present, organization, the adding of a few regiments of field artillery to the existing organizations of the regular army, the entire abandonment of the idea of a Federal force of national volunteers and the passing of a bill granting direct Federal pay to the enlisted men and officers of the state troops.

"In my judgment the effect of the enactment of Mr. Hay's program would be to set back the whole cause of legitimate, honest national defense in an entirely unjustifiable and inexcusable way. It would be, in my judgment, a betrayal of the trust of the people in this regard. It would be illusory and apparently without any reality or substance.

Little Interest in Congress.

"There is, unfortunately, very little knowledge and very little intense personal interest in any of the members of the house concerning military affairs. Apart from the power that always resides in every chairman of committee, Mr. Hay has the additional power of dealing with a subject concerning which the rest of the house has no knowledge, and about which it has never concerned itself. In this particular instance, his proposal of settling this matter by voting money to the enlisted men and officers of the state troops appeals to the direct personal political interests of the members.

"In these circumstances, it seems to me to be perfectly clear that, unless you interpose your position as leader of the country on this great subject, the result will be the lamentable one which I have just described.

"It seems to me equally imperative that this interposition should be immediate. If this proposed program of Mr. Hay is accepted by the committee and by public opinion, and by the house, as a real solution of this vital matter, any position subsequently taken, would be negligible, so far as substantial results are concerned.

"I cannot, therefore, too strongly urge upon you my view of the imperative necessity of your seeking an occasion at the earliest possible moment to declare yourself with respect to the matter, and in doing so, to make it clear beyond peradventure that nothing except national forces, raised by the nation and subject to its exclusive authority, responsibility and control, is any real settlement of this issue.

Sincerely yours,

"LINDLEY M. GARRISON."

PRESIDENT DETERMINED TO KEEP UNITED STATES OUT OF EUROPEAN WAR

keep or attempt to keep our own judgments cool, but the rest of the world is hot and it may be that any time without our co-operation and without our ability to stop it the flame may extend to us. And therefore I am glad that the United States has been put in a position to mobilize its financial resources and to get into the position which it must at last get into, whether it wants to or not.

"If only we can keep this great nation at peace there is an infinite prospect of happy prosperity before the United States."

The president spoke of the Federal reserve law, saying:

"When you reflect what might have happened if our banking system had at the outset of this war been the clumsy and antiquated thing that it was three years ago, you will realize that not only might we not have escaped disaster, but that disaster might have been so prolonged that it would have been impossible for the United States to occupy the position she now occupies."

Scientific Tariff Board Needed.

The president told of the necessity of a scientific tariff board and he said he thought the nation would get it.

"I want to say," he continued, "that before the whole face of affairs was changed in the economics of the world by the war, I was not in favor of a tariff board, because the purpose of it then was apparently to keep alive an unprofitable controversy. I am not interested in the doctrines of protection; I am not interested in the doctrine of free trade. I have been a college professor and know why I am not, because there is nothing in either doctrine. The only thing that is interesting is the facts of commerce and industry and the only thing that it is right to deduce from the facts is something that has nothing properly to do with party politics at all."

The president expressed the confident hope that legislation creating a merchant marine would be passed by congress as soon as possible.

R. G. Rhett, former mayor of Charleston, S. C., today was elected president of the chamber of commerce of the United States. All other officers were re-elected.

AUSTRIA ALSO GIVES NOTICE

was only to protect them from dangers threatening them from hostile ships converted into auxiliary cruisers, and to serve exclusively for defense.

To Be Used for Attack.

"Experiences gained in the present war show that a considerable number of British merchantmen used the guns installed aboard against hostile warships, and not solely with the intention to escape legitimate exercise of the prize right, but also to attack and destroy enemy warships.

"As is evident from the memorandum which the imperial German government today communicated to neutral states, instructions have been found aboard British steamers which prove that the British government itself incited its merchantmen to illegal acts and this in complete contradiction to assurances which it communicated to the state department at Washington. Its allies, particularly France and Italy, followed the example of Great Britain during the course of hostilities."

Lose Character of Non-Combatant.

"Without wishing to enter into an examination of the surprising claim advanced by the British government, according to which liners armed by that government retain their inoffensive character, while merchantmen armed by the enemy are regardable by the British naval forces as auxiliary cruisers, the Austro-Hungarian government limits itself to establishing that every merchantman provided for any purpose whatever with cannon loses through this fact alone the character of a non-combatant ship.

"Under these conditions the order has been given to the Austro-Hungarian naval forces to treat such ships as combatants—an order which, however, will be in force only from Feb. 29, 1916.

"This delay is granted in the interests of neutral powers, in order that they may be placed in a position to warn their nationals of the danger to which they will expose themselves if they entrust their persons or property to armed merchantmen of states at war with Austria-Hungary and also to notify those of their nationals who may already be aboard ships of the above mentioned character.

"The ministry of foreign affairs has the honor to request the embassy (or legation) to bring the above telegraphically to the attention of its government."

Mobile, Ala., Feb. 11.—Operators and miners of the Central competitive bituminous coal fields in joint conference here to arrange a new wage scale today continued consideration of the demands relating to increases in wages.

The sub-committees may be named before the conference adjourns for the week.

BRITISH METHOD OF WARFARE EXPOSED

German Paper Says Announcement Regarding Merchantmen Does It.

Berlin, Feb. 11, via London.—The Germania, commenting on the German government's announcement that it intends to treat armed merchantmen as warships, declares that it places England in a pillory before the world and continues:

"The manner in which England has been unmasked by the publication of the German memorandum is more striking than anything else hitherto made known. The British method of warfare has been exposed as dissimulating, as treacherous to her enemies and to neutrals."

The Germania asserts the course decided upon by Germany represents her inescapable duty, which must lead to a sharpening of naval warfare. Responsibility for new developments, it contends, will rest on the British government alone.

RESIGNS AFTER SEVENTEEN YEARS' SERVICE IN THE DULUTH SCHOOLS

Scott A. Foster, principal of the Denfeld high school and a prominent member of the teaching staff in the city's public schools, will present his resignation to the board of education at tonight's meeting.

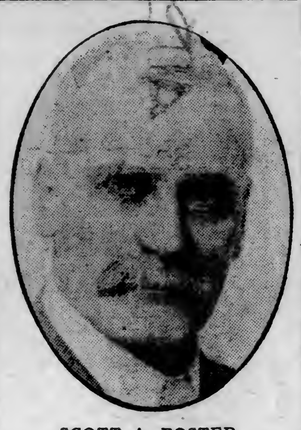

A sealed communication to the board was filed with C. A. Bronson, clerk, yesterday, by Mr. Foster and the principal later made the announcement that he intended resigning to devote his entire time to business. The resignation will take effect at the close of the school year.

Mr. Foster has been connected with Duluth schools since 1899, having first been an instructor in Central high school. He served in that capacity until 1904, when he was promoted to the position of principal of the Irving school.

At the latter school, under his leadership, the nucleus for the present Denfeld high school was formed. In 1908 the Duluth industrial high school was started at the Irving building, and in 1914 it was transferred to the new R. E. Denfeld high building.

Shortly after the completion of the Denfeld building, Mr. Foster was appointed principal of the high school, and of the Ely grade school which adjoins it.

Before coming to Duluth Mr. Foster was for a time county superintendent of schools in Wabasha county, Minn.

Compulsory Military Instruction in Land Grant Schools Not Opposed.

People Believe Drilling and General Training Will Prove Beneficial.

Bismarck, N. D., Feb. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The proposed Federal legislation to make military instruction compulsory in all educational institutions having land grants is not likely to be opposed in North Dakota. There are seven educational institutions with land grants but only two of them have military departments.

At the agricultural college in Fargo military instruction is featured and the commandant is a regular army officer. Three and four well drilled companies are the result. At the normal-industrial at Ellendale there is military instruction. Prior to the Spanish-American war the state university conducted military courses but at that time the equipment was sold in by the government and it has not since been resumed.

Neither of the three normals nor the school of science nor school of forestry have ever had military instruction.

People Favor Military Instruction.

Regardless of their views on the general subject of preparedness many people in the state would like to see military instruction at the state educational institutions. They take the ground that the drill and general training is highly beneficial to the student and makes him a better man physically as well as giving him greatly desired lessons in discipline.

In the event of war, there are many who believe military instruction in these institutions would solve the problem of furnishing officers. The military men of the state are greatly interested and would like to see the Federal government offer permanent military appointments to men who stand high in the state military schools. The youth of the state would gladly take military courses if furnished by the institutions with proper credits as in other courses.

Neighbors arrived soon and extinguished the flames.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Road building, drainage, construction of highway bridges and a score of similar topics were discussed by speakers today at the annual convention of the Minnesota Surveyors' and Engineers' society. The convention opened with a brief session yesterday, and will close tomorrow with the election of officers.

DAIRYING GROWS IN NORTH DAKOTA

State Will Soon Be in Same Class as Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Bismarck, N. D., Feb. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—"In ten years North Dakota will stand in the same class as Wisconsin and Minnesota as a dairying state," was the statement made this afternoon by a delegate who had attended the state dairy convention at Jamestown this week. "We are taking a chapter from the history of the dairymen of those two states," he continued, "and the advancement made in the industry during the last five-year period in this state is remarkable.

"For a score of years I have been a dairy advocate, sometimes almost alone in my section of the state and against the enthusiasm of the wheat farmers who could see nothing else than grain growing. The successes in the dairy business of this state in the past five years have been so marked and so state-wide in character, that the people no longer regard the industry as uncertain. They are beginning to realize it is a means of assuring a fixed and certain income and that by skillful management great profits can be made.

"The big wheat crop last year led many dairymen to fear a slump in their favorite industry, but so well grounded has dairying become in this state that the remarkable grain crop doesn't seem to have caused a break in the lines. North Dakota is gradually acquiring some high class dairy stock."

KNIGHT MAY YET BE BROUGHT BACK

Alleged Fargo Absconder Again in Toils in Louisville, Ky.

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is expected that A. M. Knight, alias Fred G. Thomas, will soon be brought to Fargo to answer to charges of embezzlement of funds of the Eagles' lodge several years ago.

Knight was apprehended a little over a year ago in Louisville, Ky., where he was going under the name of Thomas. He was released on bond and skipped out and was only rearrested a little over a month ago in the east and returned to Louisville to answer charges of absconding with funds from the Louisville Casualty office of the National Life Insurance company of Chicago. These charges were dismissed and Sheriff John Ross and State's Attorney A. W. Fowler of Fargo are now in the Kentucky city ready to bring Knight, or Thomas, back to this city to answer to the charges prefered against him here.

Knight has a wife and child living here and it is probable that bigamy charges will also be preferred against him as he was married after taking up his home in Louisville after skipping out from Fargo.

While here Knight was a leading church worker and is known to a large number of people.

The local girls have lost the last two games played, and in no talk with some of them it has been learned that they intend to let no such catastrophe befall them in the future. They assert their failure to win in the last two games played was due to insufficient practice. Of late they have been on the floor three and four nights out of the week.

Fargo, N. D.—The Meinecke Building company of this city was the successful bidder in the contract for the construction of the New Dakota hotel at Bismarck. Its bid for the construction work amounted to $39,000. Work on the new structure will start in early spring and it is expected that the building will be ready for occupancy about Dec. 1.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Competition in the patriotic contest, in which a beautiful American silk flag is to be given to the one-room school which prepares the best patriotic program during the month of February, is keen. Much enthusiasm has developed over the contest.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed With Sulphur It Darkens Gray Hair So Naturally Nobody Can Tell.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's treatment, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft luster and appearance of abundance which is so attractive; besides, prevents dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair—Advertisement.

A CHILD DOESN'T LAUGH AND PLAY IF CONSTIPATED

Look, Mother! Is Tongue Coated, Breath Feverish and Stomach Sour?

"California Syrup of Figs" Can't Harm Tender Stomach, Liver, Bowels.

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish; stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has the grippe or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is ofttimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."—Advertisement.

PARAGRAPHIC COMMENT OF THE WORLD OF SPORTS

BY BRUCE.

Buck Herzog of Cincinnati is the only playing manager in the National league. Maybe playing with the Cincinnati team should not count as real playing, however.

Jess Willard has about twenty-five pounds to take off before meeting Moran. Lots of persons would take a leg off for $47,500.

* * *

Hank O'Day is known as a fearless man. Not so much because he umpired in the early days of the game, but rather he has predicted that Cincinnati will finish in the first division this season.

* * *

Willie Hoppe says billiard playing has advanced 30 per cent during the last three years. This is a delicate way of paying a compliment to himself. After observing the results of the majority of billiard games in which Hoppe takes part, one is compelled to believe that while Hoppe may not be advancing, the others are retiring to the rear.

Bill Brennan, the umpire, is working at the New Orleans race track this winter. Possibly gathering more material for his confessions.

Roger Bresnahan is on the war path because he has been deposed as manager of the Cubs. This merely goes to show the strangeness of human nature.

TORONTO MAN IS SKATE CHAMPION

Harry Cody, Second Finisher, Wins on Points at Saranac.

Saranac Lake, N. Y., Feb. 11.—The international outdoor amateur skating championship was won yesterday by Harry Cody of Toronto, with a score of 70 points, although he did not finish better than second in any of the races, and that in the half mile. He took the title from Anton O'Sickey of Cleveland, who recorded 60 points.

Ed Horton of Saranac Lake, who holds the amateur record in the 220 hurdles, won that event and retained the title. Charles Jewtraw of Lake Placid, won the junior championship. Arthur Staff of Chicago, was awarded a special medal for leading in the greatest number of laps in the three-mile race.

PURGE THEIR ATHLETICS

"Moral" Wave Sweeping Colleges in East and West.

Chicago and Northwestern Follow Minnesota's Lead; Yale's New Rules.

Chicago, Feb. 11.—Representatives of the University of Chicago and Northwestern university yesterday expressed themselves in favor of the honor system adopted by the University of Minnesota for the enforcement of the amateur rule in football and other college sports, and urged that the plan be adopted by every member of the "Big Nine."

Dean A. W. Small of the University of Chicago said:

"When the student body of every university in the conference adopts the honor system in athletics, and really means what it says, the problem of enforcing the rules of amateurism will be solved.

"Minnesota has set a good example, which I trust may be followed by the other members of the conference."

Prof W. Y. Pooley of Northwestern university said:

"The adoption of the honor system in athletics by all the members of the conference would allow us to go back to the scholarship basis and insure the enforcement of the amateur rule. It is a new idea, and I hope Minnesota means just what it says, and that the pledge will be adopted by the other members of the conference."

Yale Cleaning Up Too.

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 11.—The executive committee of the Yale athletic committee yesterday decided that the five prominent athletes who withdrew from intercollegiate competition last fall for violating the summer baseball rule cannot represent Yale in sports during the present college year. This action bars Capt. Milburn of the baseball team; Harry Legore, the football and baseball star, and William Easton, Spencer Pumpelly and Robert Rhett, members of the varsity nine.

A statement by the committee says the action was taken only after the consideration of all the facts in the case, and consultations with officials of the university, and with representatives of other universities.

Although the five players violated the rule unintentionally, the committee says, it sees no way to overlook the explicit character of the rule. The decision does not impair the amateur standing in athletics of the men involved.

The five athletes played baseball at Quogue, N. Y., last summer and received free board for a short time. When they discovered that this was in violation of the Yale rules, they paid their board for the remainder of the summer and received no pecuniary reward.

While the executive committee would not amplify its statement, the opinion is general among prominent undergraduates that the athletes will be eligible next college year. If this interpretation is correct, Legore will be able to play football in the fall.

The action will necessitate the resignation of Capt. Milburn of the baseball team, and it is probable that his successor will be Roland V. Vaughn of Haverhill, Mass., an outfielder and former Exeter star.

Indiana Interested.

Bloomington, Ill., Feb. 11.—Prof C. J. Sembower, chairman of the athletic board of control of Indiana university, was greatly interested when told of the adoption of the honor system in athletics by the University of Minnesota.

"The move is a good one," he said. "I feel that it really is up to the boys in the colleges to see that the amateur rule is obeyed. It has been impossible for the conference committee to enforce the rule in the past. I am glad to hear of Minnesota's action."

WILLARD-MORAN FIGHT REFEREE

Charley White of New York Selected By Toss of Coin.

New York, Feb. 11.—Charley White of this city was yesterday selected to referee the ten-round bout between Jess Willard and Frank Moran, March 8.

The choice was made by the toss of a coin after the managers of the two heavyweights had eliminated the names of all the proposed referees except White and Jack Skelly.

White has a record as referee extending over many years. He officiated as the third man in the ring at a number of championship battles in various battles during the Horton law boxing period. He was also alternate referee for Tex Rickard, the promoter of the coming contest, at Reno, Nev., when Jack Johnson won the heavyweight title from Jim Jeffries, July 4, 1910.

Willard notified his manager by telegraph that he would leave Chicago tonight, arriving here Saturday to begin training. He is reported to weigh 276 pounds at this time, and will have twenty-four days in which to get into condition.

Moran left last night for Saratoga, where he will train for ten days, returning at the end of that period to finish conditioning in this city.

Charley White Wins.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 11.—Charley White of Chicago outpointed Harvey Thorpe of Kansas City in a ten-round no-decision fight here last night. Thorpe won only one round, the sixth, in which he crossed five rights to White's jaw and had the Chicago boy in distress. Throughout the other nine rounds White kept his opponent on the run. The boys made 135 pounds at 6 o'clock.

Cuban's First Defeat.

New York, Feb. 11.—Oscar Cajes won his adjournment game with Jose R. Capablanca in the Rice memorial chess masters' tournament yesterday after twelve moves, making a total of 66 from the beginning of the contest. It was the Cuban champion's first defeat in the twenty-seven games he has played in the tournament which will end this afternoon.

CARR'S LOOKS THROW SCARE INTO KETONEN'S FOLLOWERS

Strong Minneapolis Pole Arrives in Duluth and Appears to Be Ready for a Real Battle—Henry Ordeman Predicts Carr Will Win Within an Hour.

BY BRUCE.

Wrestling dope last night executed a sensational flip flop. Joe Carr, the Minneapolis iron man, arrived in convoy of Henry Ordeman, and those who got a peep at the sturdy Mill City lad and noted his condition, hedged somewhat in their opinion of the outcome of the battle down for tonight between Carr, the challenger, and Waino Ketonen, world's middleweight champion, which will take place in the big Auditorium arena.

Carr appears to be in grand shape. If he goes on the mat tonight and wrestles up to his appearance, Waino Ketonen is going to have the fight of his life to keep from being pinned by the strong boy from down state.

On the day of the contest there seems to be an evenly divided opinion as to the outcome of this widely discussed bout. It is admitted that Carr is much the stronger of the two boys. Those favoring Ketonen are counting on the remarkable science of the little Finn and his wide knowledge of leverage to register a victory over the exceptional strength and hardihood of Carpinski.

Will Rush Battle.

Both Carr and Ordeman last night indicated the plan of battle Carr would pursue in his efforts to beat Ketonen. "Joe will pin Ketonen twice before the end of an hour," said the big Norsk, speaking for Carr. "Joe will start right to work when the men are called from their corners. We expect Joe to be on top most of the time and he will give Ketonen no rest. We know the Finn is dangerous, but Joe is going to keep him awfully busy on the defensive. Watch Joe and you will agree with me that he is not only the strongest middleweight of them all, but also the greatest."

Ketonen Is Reticent.

Little in the way of information comes from the lips of Waino Ketonen. The little Finn said his piece yesterday, and insofar as commenting upon what tactics he expects to pursue, the Duluth boy had little to give out. "I will wait and see what Carr starts," is about the sum and substance of the information the Finn has to impart.

Ketonen is known to be in grand condition. He has been training here in Duluth for nearly two weeks and is right for the crucial test of his sensational mat career. As for Carr, he looks great and both he and Ordeman declare the Minneapolis boy is going to give the fans a real surprise.

If the bout of tonight lives up to the dope, it will prove one of the greatest that has ever been staged here. On their past records there is little to choose between the boys. Carr registered one victory over Ketonen, but since that event the Finn has beaten everything in the land. The dope gives no odds in the matter of choice.

Henry Ordeman, a recognized judge of wrestlers, believes Carr will beat Ketonen after a tough battle. Other Minneapolitans stake along with big Henry. Here Ketonen has a large following. All agree, however, that the bout should prove a hard fight, no matter which man wins.

ST. PAUL DEFEATS DULUTH AT HOCKEY BY 8 TO 4 SCORE

Apostles Display Clever Team Work and Strong Combination Play, Excelling the Local Players in This Regard—Duluth Strong in Individual Play—Locals Show Up Well in Second Half.

In a fast and interesting game from first to last, the strong St. Paul Athletic club hockey septet defeated the Duluth Amateur league all-star aggregation at the curling club rink last evening by the score of 8 to 4.

The showing of the amateurs was such as to surprise even the stanch followers of the local league. While St. Paul excelled in many details of play, the greatest superiority being in team work, stick handling and passing, the green team thrown into the game by Duluth played a flashy game and at times more than held its own against the seven that is leading the American Hockey association race.

Duluth's best showing came in the second half. At the call of time for the first period of play the score was 3 to 0 in favor of the visitors and it looked to some as if the locals would be blanked. Instead of weakening in the second half against the more experienced play of the Apostle veterans, the kids of the amateur league came back in strong and determined manner and at times brought cheers from their followers by giving better than they received.

Arnie Olson Stars.

Arnie Olson was a star on both defense and offense for the Duluth septet. The little veteran checked many of the rushes of the visitors, stopped many shots at goal and in addition to his yeoman labor in this detail of play, was a bear on offense.

Little Sullivan of Two Harbors shone on the offense, on many occasions rushing the puck into foreign territory unassisted.

The duke of Wellington was one of the stellar lights for the visitors. Wellington scored the first goal in less than a minute of play. Taking the rubber down the ice and rushing it nearly the entire length of the rink, he shot a neat goal. Goheen also scored the second goal unassisted, making a pretty rush from the Duluth territory and then slipping the puck neatly past Mohan. Wellington, always in the vicinity of the goal when his services seemed most needed, scored the final goal of the first half by receiving a pass from behind the wicket and neatly shooting it in.

Duluth Comes Back.

In the second half the amateur stars showed a stronger and more determined brand of play. Perhaps some of the stage fright had worn off, but the fact remains that Duluth showed improved team work and continually rushed the puck into the opposing territory.

Gust Olson brought a cheer from the Duluth rooters by shooting a rebound in for Duluth's first goal shortly after two minutes had been checked off in the second half. The ubiquitous Wellington came back and shot a neat goal from the side ice for the second counter. Then Henderson and Mohan made a pretty rush down the ice. Just in front of the Duluth goal Henderson shot the rubber over to Mohan and he registered a goal on a pretty left shot. Bastien of Duluth got the next score at the end of fifteen minutes from out in front, the shot being made from far down the ice and shooting by the guard of Bonney.

Mohan made another rush into Duluth territory and shot the next goal without any assistance from his teammates. Gust Olson made a pretty rush into St. Paul territory. After eluding several players Alder shot the puck to Olson and he whanged the rubber past Bonney.

Henderson shot the next two St. Paul goals, the first on a rebound from the net and the second in conjunction with some pretty work by Will Adams, the speedy point.

Just before the call of time Bob Alder made a rush from midice and shot the final goal of the game, bringing a cheer from the crowd by his clever work.

The game was cleanly played, there being few penalties enforced. It was fast and scientific hockey and the greatest goal keepers in the country. The Pittsburgh offer may mean that Bonney will not be with St. Paul in its two final games of the season. The absence of this boy would weaken the Saints considerably, as his defense has been remarkable all through the present season.

Following is the lineup and summary:

St. Paul (8)		Duluth (4)
Bonney	g	Mahan
Adams	p	Stahl
Goheen	cp	Alder
Henderson	r	Sullivan
Mohan	c	A. Olson

NORTON'S OPTION RIGHT SUSTAINED

Court Says He Holds Valid Claim on St. Paul Club.

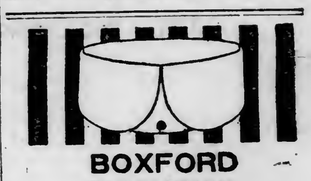

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 11.—The option on the St. Paul club of the American association, obtained March 6, 1915, by John W. Norton, local capitalist, was declared valid in a decision by Judge G. M. Orr in the district court here late yesterday, ending a three weeks' trial of the suit brought by Mrs. George Lennon, wife of the former president of the club, to have the option set aside.

Mrs. Lennon, part owner of the club, maintained her husband had acted without her authority in granting the option, but the court held that Mr. Lennon had acted legally under a proxy given by Mrs. Lennon a short time before the option deal was completed.

Appeal to the state supreme court would be made by counsel for Mrs. George Lennon, it was announced today, from the decision yesterday of District Judge Orr in holding valid an option on the St. Paul American association club obtained by John W. Norton, local realty dealer, nearly a year ago.

The decision, in effect, declares Mr. Norton the legal owner of the Saints, as it is understood he has acquired virtually all the stock of the organization, after operating the club under the option during the 1915 season.

Mrs. Lennon, wife of the former president of the club, was a stockholder and sought to have the option set aside on the grounds that she was not

DULUTH ATHLETES TO PLAY SUPERIOR

Basket Ball Crews of Central Schools Will Clash Across Bay.

All is in readiness in both the Superior Central and Duluth Central high school camps for the big annual basket ball clash between the representative teams of these two schools. The game will be played this evening in the gymnasium of the Superior school and a large crowd is expected to turn out.

The teams are evenly matched, but the Superiorites have the advantage, as they are playing on their own floor. Coach Blake has made a wonderful improvement in the team work and general all-around playing of the men since the beginning of the season and he declares that they will give the chesty Superiorites a great battle. The unexpected defeat which the local Centralites administered to the Cathedral team has won them considerable fame and they will go into the game this evening with more confidence than they have felt at any time this season.

Reports from the Superior school, however, show that the men across the bay are confident that they will be returned the winners. They have practically the same team which represented them last year and they recently held Virginia to a 23-to-13 score.

There is a great feeling of rivalry between the two schools and a big crowd is expected to turn out. Local rooters remember the last basket ball game with Superior Central, when they were showered with eggs before they could reach the car line. This feature is expected to be lacking this year, however, for athletic relations between the two schools are at stake pending the manner in which Duluth rooters are treated tonight.

Both coaches have announced their lineups for the game this evening and they will be as follows:

Dul. Central—		—Sup. Central.
Mason	f	(captain) Bradley
Karon	f	Duff
Cogins (captain)	c	Nelson
Rosenberg	g	Fowler
Shaw	g	Lynch, Kelley

SECOND SET OF GAMES POSTPONED

Central Hockey Teams Will Play Interclass Contests Saturday.

The second set of the Central high school interclass hockey games, due to have been played yesterday, were postponed until tomorrow and will be played at the rink at Twenty-fifth avenue east and Fourth street. The seniors will meet the sophomores and the juniors will clash with the freshmen.

The school title now lies between the sophs and the seniors. The sophomores have a number of stars on their septet and they have perfected wonderful team work. The senior aggregation is also a strong one and the meeting between these two teams should prove a lively affair.

MOLL SLATED FOR SUPERIOR

Rumored Former St. Boniface Magnate Will Pilot Red Sox.

Another Story Says Superior Will Refuse to Pay Into Treasury.

Finnegan established quite a reputation for being on again and off again, and now it appears that Charles Moll, in connection with acquiring the managership of the Superior baseball team, is emulating the example of the Irishman.

According to the information that comes today from across the bay, Moll is to be the manager of the Superior Northern league team of 1916. It is said that the business men over there have practically agreed on Moll and that today or within the next few days terms will be agreed on between the former St. Boniface magnate and those representing the business interests of Superior.

By a devious route comes the added information that Superior will positively refuse to pay into the coffers of the Northern league the $1,500 that the league claims is owed by the Superior club.

May Cause Trouble.

Just what attitude the league will adopt toward the Superior business men, should they refuse to come through with the jack, is purely conjecture. Superior is needed and so is the money. It may resolve itself into a question as to which is needed the most.

Harry Blume is anxious that the Northern league magnates get to work on the schedule. Until it is definitely known whether the Superior brethren will come into the fold, it is rather nonsensical to start arranging playing dates. Until Superior makes up its mind, one way or the other, there will be a condition of marking time upon the part of the league.

Should Moll be placed in the saddle over yonder, and should there be no burr under said saddle, it is believed that the league will quickly get down to business and frame the playing sheet for 1916.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

When the Doctor Laughs

The doctor who laughs is a crime and a godsend. His good humor is poisonous to some natures; uplifting to others. It all depends upon the occasion. There is a place for everything. Take ourself, for instance. If we feebly attempt to inject a smile now and then some of our readers bitterly resent the undignified character of our remarks, and others don't—those who don't, write us, but those who do, write the editor, alas!

A physician in practice should reserve his laughter for appropriate occasions. If a patient consults him about some trouble which seems trivial or imaginary, let him preserve a serious mien and examine that patient so thoroughly that nothing can escape his searching eyes, ears and hands. Then, if the trouble proves unfounded, let him laugh with the patient. That is where the doctor's laugh is good medicine. But if the doctor sits in his swivel chair and just divines the nature of the complaint, and then attempts to laugh it away, that laughter is poison and the doctor is a good one to keep away from.

Diagnosis by divination is altogether too popular with some practitioners. The competent physician properly places great value upon a careful history and the patient's verbal description of his trouble, but he never neglects to corroborate or disprove any tentative conclusions he may have reached, and of course that means a careful examination. No one knows better than the skilled physician himself the utter perfidy of subjective symptoms, uncontrolled by objective tests. As we have repeatedly observed in this column, there are some ninety-odd different conditions which, in the patient's complaint, are "stomach trouble," the great majority of them being caused by troubles in no way related with the stomach.

Laughing at the patient without first winning the patient's confidence is a ruinous habit.

Laughing with the patient after having proved the fears unfounded is excellent medicine.

The quack never laughs—until the victim has departed.

The doctor who laughs means well. Let him be careful how he employs such a powerful remedy.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Took an Old Woman's Advice Now Wishes She Hadn't.

Some time ago I had an ulcerated tooth. I was on my way to the dentist to have it extracted when a friend told me it would be dangerous to have it pulled before the swelling subsided. So I went home and poulticed it. I now have a horrible scar, and it won't close completely, either.

Answer—A lot of people have taken foolish advice, and suffered for their weakness. Immediate extraction or drainage of the abscess is the only safe treatment for an ulcerated tooth. Poulticing invites external perforation.

Obstructed Tear Duct.

What is a good eye wash for a child whose eye runs when outdoors?

Answer—Use no eye-wash. Have the child examined by the doctor. The tear duct draining tears into the nasal passage may be obstructed or inflamed.

New York, Feb. 11.—Election of a president to succeed Robert D. Wrenn, selection of the place for holding the national lawn tennis championship for the coming season, and a discussion of the amateur question are the chief matters before the annual meeting of the United States National Lawn Tennis association here today. Mr. Wrenn is retiring from the presidency and George T. Adee of New York has been nominated his successor.

Jamestown Light Offer.

Jamestown, N. D., Feb. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Proposal for the establishment of a municipal lighting system here submitted to the city council failed of approval, but will be acted upon at an adjourned meeting. It is contended that the rates at present charged by the private concern controlling the local situation are too high.

WHAT CAUSES COLDS?

This question is asked every day. A cold is really a fever, not always caused by the weather but often due to disordered blood or lack of important food-elements. In changing seasons fat-foods are essential because they distribute heat by enriching the blood and so render the system better able to withstand the varying elements. This is the important reason why Scott's Emulsion should always be taken for colds, and it does more—builds strength to prevent sickness.

Scott's Emulsion contains Nature's rare strength-building fats, so skillfully blended that the blood profits from every drop. It is free from harmful drugs or alcohol. Sold at drug stores —always get the genuine.

JUMP FROM BED IN MORNING AND DRINK HOT WATER

Open sluices of system each morning and wash away the poisonous, stagnant matter, says authority.

A glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, drank each morning before breakfast, keeps us looking and feeling fit.

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of peope who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatism; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store, which will cost but little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

JAIL FOR LIQUOR LAW VIOLATORS

Restaurant Proprietor Gets Eighty-Five Day Sentence.

Straight jail sentences will be the rule for violators of Duluth's liquor ordinance, judging from Municipal Judge W. H. Smallwood's action in two cases yesterday.

George A. Sackas, proprietor of a restaurant at 121 West First street, was sentenced to eighty-five days at the county jail and John Tony, his waiter, was given thirty days.

Tony supplied beer to Lieutenant of Detectives Gustav Lahti and Operator Ralph Lutz when they finished ordering a meal in the Sackas restaurant. Sackas was charged with running an unlicensed drinking place and Tony with selling liquor illegally.

"Rooming houses have not been as careful about observance of the liquor law as they might be," said Chief R. D. McKercher, "and we are going to put a stop to it."

SHRINERS WOULD FORCE THE SALE

Bring Court Proceedings to Compel City to Execute Armory Deed.

Court proceedings involving the sale of the old armory building were instituted late yesterday in district court when John Jenswold, as attorney for the Aad Temple Building association, holding corporation for the Duluth Shriners, filed notice that on Saturday next, or as soon thereafter as counsel could be conveniently heard, he would move the court for an order directing the proper city officials to execute a contract and deed transferring to the Shriners the old armory building and site.

Saturday is Lincoln's birthday and it is probable that the hearing will go over until Monday. The issue involved in the case is whether the referendum petition filed by voters is valid or not. Postmaster W. E. McEwen is leading the fight against the sale of the armory property.

PEARLS FISHED OUT OF GERMAN RIVERS

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Berlin, Jan. 20.—It is not generally known, but Germany has a not inconsiderable pearl industry, and in the last 100 years many thousands of the gems have been fished up out of the water sof the various German rivers.

Bavaria has been the most productive portion of the empire. A total of 156,880 pearls, it is estimated, were found there between 1814 and 1857, and the annual aggregate has only decreased as the waters of Bavarian rivers have been spoiled by various industrial projects.

The most productive river has always been the Elster in Saxony, which for centuries has been rented to one family by the state. The year-in, year-out average has shown that from three to four pearls can be obtained from every 100 mussels fished up, and that one out of every eighteen pearls is of special value.

About 500 pearls of value have been taken from the Elster by the family in question in the last decade, the summer of 1915 being the most productive, with forty-seven good examples.

SCARCITY OF RUBBER ELASTIC IN AUSTRIA

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Vienna, Jan. 20.—The scarcity of rubber elastic has caused all the garter factories in Austria-Hungary to close down, as well as most of those in Germany. Elastic garters and suspenders are no longer to be had, except where, here and there, a dealer has some stock left on his shelves. Elastic strings which could be bought before the war at the rate of $3 for 200 pounds, now cost from $18 to $24 for the same quantity and are hard to get even at those prices. Thread has gone up from 70 cents to $2 and dyestuffs have also doubled in price.

James Hamilton Makes Sad Mistake and Draws Long Jail Term.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Trying to sell a game warden a buck deer proved disastrous for James Hamilton who lives in the Lake Kabetogama country, as Game Warden Huderle to whom the illegal tender was made, promptly arrested Hamilton, brought him here before Judge Carey who this morning fined him $50 and costs. Open Woodenfrog Case.

John Woodenfrog, the Nett Lake Indian sent to the county jail some time ago in default of a fine for illegal fishing, was brought back here today and will have another hearing this afternoon before Judge Carey as new evidence said to be in his favor has been discovered and it is possible he may be released.

Charged with selling fur, valued at $125, which he had been given by Edward Erickson of this city, Harry Goldberg, formerly of Virginia, was brought here from Minneapolis yesterday by J. W. McDonald, deputy sheriff. Goldberg was to have a coat made from the fur for Mrs. Erickson, according to Mr. Erickson. The complainant claims Goldberg sold the fur at Chisholm and appropriated the money.

Goldberg contends he was owed some money for work by Mrs. Erickson. Goldberg had a hearing in municipal court this afternoon before Judge James P. Carey and was bound over in $500 bonds. He is now employed by a Minneapolis furrier.

PAIR BREAK THINGS IN NASHWAUK JAIL

Drunken Lumberjacks Fined $1,000 and Sent to Jail in Default.

Nashwauk, Minn., Feb. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Although the Indian lid is on here it apparently "leaked" a few days ago judging by a difficulty in which a couple of drunken men got that landed them in jail where they broke up things and drew the heaviest fine ever imposed here.

Aaron Antana and Nester Tertilla, two strangers drifted into town from Latvala's camps where they have been working and got drunk.

They were arrested and lodged in jail when they proceeded to smash everything in the lock-up. The pair were brought before Judge Donovan Tuesday and were fined $1,000 each and also the costs to repair the damage done. Being unable to pay their fines they were taken to Grand Rapids Thursday by Chief of Police White. At their trial they vouched the information that they secured the liquor from a new found friend who steered them to a house on Deering avenue.

HEAVY SNOW CLOSES THREE LUMBER CAMPS

Alger-Smith Company Finds It Impossible to Carry on Work.

Knife River, Minn., Feb. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hampered by deep snow three camps operated by the Alger-Smith company have closed. Seldom are the camps closed this early, as they generally run until April 1 or later. Much snow has fallen, it being reported four feet in depth and over. The men will, in some instances, be given work at other camps, but the majority are going to the city.

These camps were among the largest operated by this firm and their closing will, in a measure, curtail the season's output.

EVELETHIANS WORK FOR NICHOLAS ROAD

Eveleth, Minn., Feb. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Several local men have interested themselves in a proposed road west from the Virginia mine which would connect with the Voss road and reach several settlers who now have no way of reaching Eveleth without making a long trip.

The proposed road would lead west from the Virginia mine to the Voss road and would be easily constructed. There is already a road extending past the Virginia mine and it would be only necessary to extend it to the Voss road.

The matter was brought before the Commercial club Monday night and a committee consisting of Charles Jesmore, G. A. Whitman and G. H. Harvey was appointed to work for the road. The proposed road would be entirely within Nichols township and it will be necessary to get favorable action from the town board to have it opened up.

YES, S. S. S. IS PURELY VEGETABLE: NATURE'S SAFE BLOOD TREATMENT

Known for 50 Years as the Best Remedy for Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Skin Diseases.

Scientists have discovered that the forest and field are abundantly supplied with vegetation of various kinds, that furnish the ingredients for making a remedy, for practically every ill and ailment of mankind. Medicines made from roots, herbs and barks which Nature has placed at the disposal of man, are better than strong mineral mixtures and concoctions. Mineral medicines work dangerously on the delicate parts of the system, especially the stomach and bowels, by eating out the lining membrane, producing chronic dyspepsia and often entirely ruining the health.

S. S. S. is guaranteed to be a purely vegetable remedy. It is made entirely of gentle-acting, healing, purifying roots, herbs and barks, possessing properties that build up all parts of the system, in addition to removing all impurities and poisons from the blood. S. S. S. is a safe treatment for Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Contagious Blood Poison and all disorders of the blood. It cleanses the entire system and it's permanent. Get S. S. S. at any drug store. S. S. S. is a standard remedy recognized everywhere as the greatest blood antidote ever discovered. If yours is a peculiar case, write to Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Georgia.

SNOW

The milder brand of weather is continuing for the time at least, and last night quite a covering of snow fell. The cloudy conditions of today do not give the fine general feeling that prevailed yesterday, but it is probably far better than a resumption of the old sub-zero temperature, even with the sun shining.

A year ago today was cloudy and cold. The sun rose this morning at 7:20 and will set this evening at 5:26, giving ten hours and six minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Light snow or rain continued over nearly all Northern districts during the last twenty-four hours. Dubuque, Iowa, reported sleet this morning. The temperature has moderated somewhat over Central and Northwestern districts, and has fallen over the Far West, extreme Eastern Canada and New England states. The lowest reported temperature was 20 deg. below zero at various places in Saskatchewan."

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.

These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids.

It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Most headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "loggy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. At 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

WELTER IS AGAIN HEAD

Moorhead Man Chosen President of Red River Association.

Dean Woods Addresses Farm Crops Show Now on at Crookston.

Crookston, Minn., Feb. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the meeting of the Red River Valley Development association held here in connection with the Farm Crops show, Leslie Welter of Moorhead was re-elected president. Other officers elected were: First vice president, C. J. Selvig, Crookston; second vice president, N. P. Swift; third vice president, J. B. Hay, Thief River Falls; treasurer, K. J. P. Sillebee, Warren.

"I have been present at a good many judging demonstrations of livestock," said Prof. H. R. Smth of St. Paul this morning at the farm crops show, "but I have never seen four as fine representatives of beef types as you have on this stage," and he pointed to four Pacific International Livestock show winners from the Walter Hill farm at Northcote, valued at over $50,000.

Prof. William Dietrich presided and following the demonstration by Prof. Smith, Mr. Dietrich discussed "Profits in Swine."

H. J. Hughes of Minneapolis, Prof. Smith and Dean A. F. Woods spoke this afternoon.

Dean Woods Speaks.

Discussing "The Relation of Livestock to Life on the Farm," Dean A. F. Woods of the department of agriculture, University of Minnesota, said, in part:

"Agriculture may be viewed from the standpoint of a manufacturing industry. The raw products are the elements of fertility in the soil, the carbon of the air, water, sunlight, and heat. These elements are combined through the farm manufacturing processes into sugar, starch, protein, fat, and fiber in their myriad forms. Each year the farm value alone of the products thus produced is approximately $10,000,000,000.

"Cattle, hogs, sheep, and poultry are the most profitable agents in farm manufacturing, both from the value of the products and the conservation of the raw materials. Profitable farming on a permanent basis must therefore be built upon livestock. The fertility balance can be maintained on good agricultural lands by an equivalent of one cow to five acres. As there is a difference in machines in their working efficiency and economy, so also is there a difference in cows and other livestock. Some are efficient and profitable and some are not. There are large opportunities and possibilities for a man who knows how to tell efficiency from inefficiency and how to use them to the best advantage. There is probably no business that requires a knowledge of so many subjects as agriculture. If it is scientifically organized and managed, it should be the most attractive business in the world.

Demands Close Touch With Soil.

"Of all men, the farmer is the closest to the great creative power. His calling demands the closest touch with soil and sunshine, and with plant and animal life, transforming and creating them that the naked may be clothed and the hungry fed. What an education a boy or girl misses when not brought up on a farm. No school or experience in after life can make up for it. It has furnished the men and women who have cherished the ideals of freedom, justice, and brotherhood and who have led in every forward march of civilization. They have not all stayed on the farm. Some are leaders in the crowded markets of the world, captains of industry, financiers, teachers, preachers, scientists, statesmen. The nation of today is maintained and lead by these men and women.

"There are two great movements in progress. One is in the direction of commercialized farming. The end of that movement is the ownership of land in large tracts, to be farmed by tenants under skilled supervision. The farm will then become a factory with the men and women more or less mechanical workers. We may obtain as much corn and wheat and beef and perhaps more, but we will lose men and women and have in their place, operatives and peasants with a dominating landlord class. This movement must not be allowed to dominate American agriculture. The other movement contends that the farm must be made more efficient and more attractive but it must remain the property and the home of the men and women who work it. To accomplish this we must add to the educating influence of life in the open country, schools in each community that are as good as any schools in the land.

Stop Drawing on Land.

"We have come to believe here in the Northwest, that our soils are inexhaustible but already we detect the symptoms of decreasing fertility. Unless we stop drawing on the land without putting anything back, the next generation of farmers will have to struggle with the problem of commercial fertilizers. The ideal type of farming, for making citizens as well as crops, and one which will maintain itself, is diversified farming with livestock, from which the products sold carry away the smallest amount of soil fertility. Grain, hay, butter, milk, beef, poultry and eggs are the principal products of such a farm. With skilled management the production of our farms can be easily doubled without a large increase in cost, but this will require an investment of more brains and more money. A large part of this investment must be in more and better livestock. Thus only can we develop and maintain that type of farming which has come to be the American ideal. Thus only can we produce the food and the men that our country needs."

IF YOU WORRY, READ THIS

Worry never brought any good to anybody. But, you say, "I don't worry because I want to, I worry because I can't help it." Or, "I worry because I have so much to worry about."

We all have our troubles and worry, of course, makes matters worse. The patient generally recognizes this fact without being influenced in any way by it.

The doctor who could meet this nervous condition and cure it would be the most popular medical man alive. But he can not do it because the form of nervous exhaustion known as neurasthenia, of which worry is a characteristic symptom, must be cured by the patient himself. That is why you should write today for the book "Diseases of the Nervous System" and read the chapter on "Neurasthenia." So many people have read it and written back, "This hits my case exactly, I am giving the treatment a trial and being benefited," that the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. has had a lot of these books printed and will send you a copy free on request. Ask for a diet book also if your stomach is off.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a non-alcoholic tonic, particularly suited for nervous, neurasthenic people. Your druggist sells them or they will be mailed postpaid on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50.

FREIGHT CARS HARD TO OBTAIN

Embargo in East Still Halts Traffic Movement in West.

Generally speaking, the embargo on freight shipments to Eastern ocean terminal points remains in effect, with the consequence that freight cars are extremely scarce at this point. Duluth roads have experienced but little relief in the car shortage situation. Shippers are still demanding cars, with but few cars available. There are still thousands of Western line cars loaded on Eastern terminal tracks. The scarcity of ocean-going bottoms to relieve the congestion at salt water ports is one of the reasons for the inability of Western roads to get clearage on cars.

It is reported that oil fields have been discovered in the Vacuifa mountains of Bolivia.

A Foe to Tuberculosis

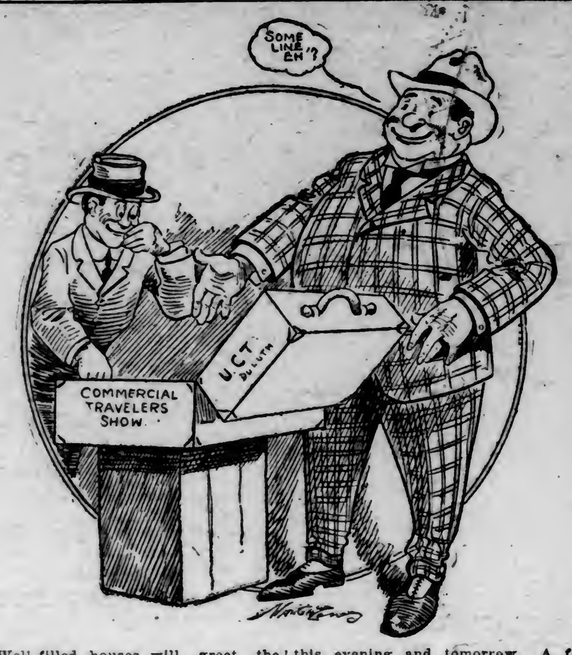

The Journal of the American Medical Association (August 9, 1913), reviewing an article on "The Influence of Calcium Salts on Constitution and Health," said: "They (the authors) report numbers of concrete instances in which patients gained in vitality and energy after taking calcium."

Doctors agree that in tuberculosis lowered vitality and lost energy must be overcome.

One of the constituents of Eckman's Alterative is calcium (lime), in such combination with other valuable ingredients as to be easily assimilated by the average person. To this, in part, is due its success in the treatment of tuberculosis—a service which even some ethical practitioners have acknowledged to their patients. We make no wholesale claims for it, but since it contains no opiates, narcotics or habit-forming drugs, a trial is safe. From your druggist or direct.

The proceeds will be used for the U. C. T. convention here in 1917.

CONTROVERSY MORE BITTER

Postmaster Accused of Using Government Clerks to Check Petition.

Asserts That Work Was Done After Regular Post-office Hours.

The controversy over the armory referendum petition is becoming bitter.

It was asserted today that Postmaster McEwen is using government clerks in checking the petition.

When questioned by a Herald representative this morning, Postmaster McEwen admitted that government clerks were checking the petitions, but declared that they were doing the work voluntarily after office hours, and not on government time.

On Wednesday Postmaster McEwen asked City Clerk Borgen for the referendum petition filed with the latter last Friday by State Senator Richard Jones. The city clerk declared that it is not within his power to allow the petition out of his office, but agreed to make a copy of the names thrown out for the postmaster. This was done and the copy sent to Mr. McEwen. A check was made by two of the government clerks at the postoffice and because these men are expert readers of names and addresses, they managed to make out some of those that were not legible to the deputy city clerks. As a result, about six names were placed on the eligible list, according to the city clerk.

Those making the charges against Postmaster McEwen declare that they will take the matter before Postmaster General Burleson at Washington, with a request that orders be sent requesting the local men to stop using government employes in a municipal fight.

Borgen's Reply.

City Clerk Borgen this morning declared that the postmaster has made false statements in interviews in connection with the referendum petition since it was filed last Friday.

"In the first place," said City Clerk Borgen, "I want it understood that I have no interest in the matter, one way or another, and that I am simply carrying out directions given my department.

"When Postmaster McEwen stated that no word was received about the insufficiency of the petition until Monday, he made a false statement, as I telephoned Senator Jones on Sunday afternoon and notified him of the result of our check. According to the charter, all I am supposed to do is to notify the council of the sufficiency or insufficiency of a petition, but I went out of my way and wrote a letter to Mr. Jones at 4:15 o'clock Saturday and, in addition, telephoned him on Sunday. I have had nothing to do with Mr. McEwen, because the petition was filed by Mr. Jones.

"In an interview, Postmaster McEwen said that he furnished me with a special postoffice directory and that I declared nine of ten names on the petition were legal, as a result of a later check. This is absolutely untrue, as he has never furnished me or my department with a directory, nor have I ever made such a statement.

"Mr. McEwen states also in interviews that we threw out those names not found registered, because the men had moved since the last election. This is not true, as my clerks went through the directory and made a careful investigation of every doubtful name, before it was declared illegal. These transfers were all marked 'O. K.' and the signers given the benefit of the doubt, the state law declaring them illegal unless the voter has lived in the new district at least thirty days."

Men's Club of Endion Church Will Observe the Day.

Judge Ensign and Others Will Speak—Musical Features.

Lincoln's birthday, which occurs tomorrow, will not go unobserved in Duluth. While there will be no general celebration of the occasion, the Endion Men's club will have a program which will fittingly commemorate the birth anniversary of the great emancipator.

This meeting will be held at Endion Methodist church, Nineteenth avenue east and First street, and will be opened with a dinner. Following the banquet, an address of welcome will be delivered by Rev. Hardy A. Ingham and then Judge W. A. Smallwood, veteran of the Civil war, will make a response. Robert Drummond will sing and District Judge J. D. Ensign will give a review of Lincoln's life. Judge Ensign met Lincoln and talked with him.

Other Numbers on Program.

"Lincoln and Popular Government" will be the subject of an address that will be delivered by Elmer F. Blu. Miss Magner will give a cello solo, and the meeting will come to a close when Rabbi Maurice Lefkovits will speak on "Standing Alone."

Patriotic music will be featured throughout the evening. The program is in charge of F. A. Cokefair, W. G. Zimmerman and J. H Cook.

Tomorrow, being a holiday, there will be only two carrier deliveries of mail in the business section and but one in the residence portion. The general delivery, stamp and registry sections will be open from 8 a. m. to 12 m.

CONTINUES FIGHT ON INDIAN AGENTS

Chipperdale Would Have Brainerd Petition in Congressional Record.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, Feb. 11.—In support of his allegations that special agents of the Indian bureau were outraging the rights of the people of Minnesota in prosecuting their search for illicit liquor in the Indian country, Representative Chipperfield of Illinois today attempted to have a petition from citizens of Brainerd inserted in the Congressional Record. The petition asserts that the agents of the Indian bureau made their searches in a manner that was not warranted by law.

Mr. Chipperfield has also received a letter from R. R. Hurlburt of Laporte, Minn., former agent of the Minnesota & International railroad, who stated that he lost his place because of his refusal to allow revenue agents to search his station.

DULUTH'S HIGH SAVINGS BANK FIGURES PROVE THAT IT HAS LEARNED THE SECRET OF THRIFT

Number of Depositors More Than Doubled in Five Years.

Duluth Can Challenge Comparison With Any Other Community.

Duluth is learning the lesson of thrift.

Duluth is learning how to save.

More accurately, Duluth HAS LEARNED the lesson of thrift and HAS LEARNED how to save.

Duluth is a thrifty town. Her people are a thrifty people.

Not even the people of France, long known as the thriftiest people on earth, surpass them in the proportion of savings bank depositors to population. Duluth is a thrifty community that has learned to save for a rainy day.

On Jan. 1, 1916, more than 36 per cent of its population had deposits in savings banks—to be exact, 36.3 per cent.

Five years before the proportion of savers was but 17.7 per cent.

In 1915 the proportion of savings bank depositors to the whole population of the United States was but a little more than 11 per cent—less than one-third the proportion in Duluth.

In 1915 there were 11,285,755 savings bank depositors in the whole United States. If as large a proportion of the whole country were depositors as in Duluth, there would have been 36,300,000 depositors instead of 11,285,755.

France is the thriftiest country in world. Its national finances are founded on a rock, and withstand with ease the greatest shocks of catastrophe and calamity, wholly because of the thrift of its people—of small savers.

Thirty-four and six-tenths per cent of the people of France are savings bank depositors; while 36.3 per cent of the people of Duluth have deposits in savings banks.

Doubled in Five Years.

The proportion of savings depositors in Duluth, as well as the number of depositors, has more than doubled in five years.

Within that period the postal savings bank, which some bankers used to fear would offer destructive competition with private banks, has been established. While its depositors have been growing to a total of 1,379 and its deposits to a total of $225,694, the saving depositors in private banks have been increased from 14,174 to 31,300, and their deposits from $3,384,665.71 to $5,832,049.77.

The average deposit in 1911 was $238.80, and on Jan. 25, 1916, it was $185.37—the reduction showing simply that there are more beginners, whose savings are just beginning to grow.

Duluth could safely challenge comparison in this respect with any other community in the land.

These savings deposits are foundations.

Foundations for business enterprises of the future.

Foundations for homes.

Foundations of security against the rainy days of sickness, unemployment and old age.

The figures on which these totals were compiled, with one exception, were furnished by the banks. One of the smaller banks, while furnishing the number of its savings depositors on Jan. 25, 1911, and Jan. 25, 1916, was unable to supply the total of its saving deposits on these dates. In order to complete the table, it was estimated that the deposits in this bank were equal to the average of the individual deposits in the other banks on the respective dates. This is approximate, of course, but the difference between the estimated and actual figures would be very slight, and would not affect the totals materially, nor the results at all.

Duluth's Savings Banks.

The first facilities for savings deposits in Duluth were supplied Feb. 25, 1901, when the First National bank opened its savings department. This was followed shortly by the Duluth Savings bank, which has since been broadened into the Northern National bank. There are now ten banks with savings departments besides the postal savings bank, which was opened Sept. 15, 1911. Four of the banks have been started, or have opened savings departments, since 1911. The ten banks which offer facilities for savings are as follows: National banks—First National, American Exchange National, Northern National, City National; state banks—Western State, Citizens' State, Central State, Duluth State, St. Louis County, East End State.

The figures given above do not include certificates of deposit, which method of saving many still use; nor do they include the smaller deposits of the school children.

That the showing would be greatly increased if certificates of deposit were included, is indicated by the statement of one prominent local bank that its deposits of this class are $600,000 more than its savings deposits.

Growth Was Cultivated.

To a considerable extent, this growth in savings depositors and deposits has been deliberately cultivated.

One of the local banks began a campaign several years ago aimed to make more intimate the relationship between the community and its banks. Three bright school teachers were trained and then sent out on a mission of popular education in thrift and banking methods, making a house-to-house canvass.

They found suspicion of banks and awe of banks to be the two chief stumbling blocks. It was their job to do away with these obstacles.

Suspicion of banks was dissipated by arguments and facts. The amazingly small amount of losses in savings banks—so small are they that it is virtually accurate to say that losses are unheard of—were shown by statistics. The rigid laws regulating the conduct of banks and the careful examinations made regularly by national and state officials were explained nd illustrated.

Awe of banks—the mistaken idea that banks are places only for big deposits and big business, and that small depositors are not welcomed—was dissipated in a similar manner. It was explained that the bank is a servant of the community; that it aims to serve the poor as well as the rich, the small depositor as well as the large; that its officials, from the highest to the lowest, are at all times ready and willing to answer questions and to help the humblest with advice and counsel and bank service.

Campaign a Success.

This campaign—which was conducted not specifically for the one bank that directed it, but for all banks, and from which all banks doubtless benefited—was a great success, and a valuable education to the public.

Incidentally, The Herald has conducted a thrift campaign for a number of years, and may possibly be permitted to claim some share of the credit for this amazing development of thrift tendencies in this city.

At any rate, the growth of savings bank figures in Duluth in the past five years has been at an astonishingly rapid rate. Money that had long been hoarded in out-of-the-way places through fear of banks has come out of hiding and has gone to swell the savings bank figures. People—servant girls, laborers and others—who had never let a penny of theirs see the inside of a bank in former years have learned to deposit their savings regularly, and once started the magic of compound interest at 3 per cent—2½ per cent in the case of the postal bank—has kept them at it.

School Savings Deposits.

One of the most interesting developments in recent years has been the school savings movement.

There is a savings fund in every public and parochial school in Duluth now, and on Jan. 25, 1916, the day these figures were gathered, there were 7,452 pupil depositors with a total of $73,873.46 on deposit.

Perhaps, too, there is no more important angle of the thrift movement than this. It is teaching children thrift and self-denial. It is teaching them banking methods. It is giving them training in business that will be of enormous value to them in later years. It is fixing habits that will be profitable to them all through life. It is laying a foundation that will make thrift still more common in Duluth in the coming generations—though as the figures show, the present generation is taking to it very readily.

The value of the habits of self-denial, economy, thoughtfulness, thrift and business system that are being inculcated by the school savings bank is beyond calculation. A booklet issued by a local bank which is co-operating heartily with this work tells some interesting stories. One boy, for instance, with a paper route, when he graduates from high school will have enough saved to give him a course in Armour Institute. Another boy while in school saved enough to pay for a business college course. Still another boy's savings, in a time of sickness, paid the taxes and saved the family home.

Duluth has learned the secret of thrift, and its savings bank figures prove it to an extent that challenges comparison with any other community in the land.

DULUTH CAPTAIN'S REMARKABLE FEAT

Capt. William Chamberlain of Duluth performed a navigation feat last season while in command of the steamer Frank H. Peavy which attracted the attention and commendation of other sailor men, but which escaped publicity until Harvey C. Beeson, publisher of the well-known marine directory of that name, discovered it and mentioned it in his "Winter Moorings." Capt. Chamberlain said nothing about it, and, even when it became public property, dodged discussion of it. "Winter Moorings" gives the following concerning it:

"Guiding a rudderless ship may sound like an impossible feat, but Capt. W. Chamberlain of the steamer Frank H. Peavey brought the steamer across from Point Edward, on the Canada side, to Port Huron after he discovered that her rudder was missing. It was by alternate backing and going ahead that he managed to swing the boat into her mooring place at Port Huron.

"There are numerous happenings every season that go to show that there are many very capable navigators in command of lake vessels."

TYPOS WILL VOTE ON DULUTH IDEA

On March 15 next organized printers of the United States, her insular possessions, Canada and Mexico, will vote on amendments which have been proposed by Duluth Tpographical union, No. 136, to the constitution of the International Typographical union, which has its headquarters in Indianapolis.

The amendments on which the printers will give an expression provide that instead of the books of the international secretary-treasurer being audited twice a year by experts employed by the international president, the receipts and expenditures of the organization will be audited under the supervision of three members of local unions.

DANGER SPOT FOUND.

Place Where Steamer Rees Struck Last Season More Clearly Marked.

The hydrographic department, in its notices to mariners, announces that an examination of the locality at the entrance to Key Harbor, Georgian bay, where the steamer W. D. Rees is reported to have struck last season, has revealed the fact that the vessel stranded on the spot marked 20 feet on the chart close to Black Spar Buoy No. 15. A least depth of 17½ feet was found over the rock at the present stage, which is 1½ feet below the datum of the chart.

Spar Buoy No. 15 was found northwestward of its proper location and was moved to the charted position immediately southward of the danger.

SHIPMASTERS HOSTS AT DELIGHTFUL PARTY

The party given last evening at Foresters' hall by Twin Ports lodge, No. 12, Ship Masters' association, was largely attended and the evening very delightfully spent. Cards were played during the early part of the evening, following which there was dancing until midnight. Quite an elaborate supper was served at 11 o'clock, in charge of R. E. McFarlane, commissioner of lake carriers here.

The committee in charge consisted of Captains Martin Glenn, chairman; D. T. Sullivan, Albert Swanson, Walter Lloyd, William Chamberlain and R. E. McFarlane.

WOULD VENTILATE ALL SCHOOL ROOMS

Wisconsin Board of Health Issues Instructions to Teachers.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 11.—As one means of introducing hygienic practices and to lessen if possible the contagious diseases of childhood, the state board of health in a circular issued today recommended that school authorities make a hard and fast rule that every window in the schoolroom shall be widely opened following dismissal of classes and that it be kept open as long as practicable. It is also recommended that school buildings be freely aired each morning before assembling of classes and during the recess period.

Attention is directed to the fact that the temperature of a schoolroom should never exceed 68 or 70 degrees and that with a proper degree of moisture in the air this temperature will be found very comfortable, will make for mental alertness and be of distinct advantage to the physical well-being of the occupants.

Unless absolutely impracticable, schoolroom windows should be kept open during occupancy of the room, the year round. During the winter months the open window may be screened with muslin. This will admit sufficient pure air, will "break a draft," and will keep the room at a temperature more conducive to health. Under such conditions there would be vastly less infectious illness chargeable to the schoolroom.

Two Aitkin Weddings.

Aitkin, Minn., Feb. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Thera Liming, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Liming, and Christian Behrens of Wells, Minn., were married at the home of the bride's parents, Feb. 3, Rev. U. S. Villars officiating. The young people will make their home on a farm north of Aitkin.

On Feb. 5, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Perkins, their daughter, Miss Ethel Viola Perkins, and Arthur Gabrielson were married by Rev. U. S. Villars. About twenty relatives and friends were present, and a wedding dinner was served. Both young people are well known here and will make their home on a ranch in Montana.

BADGER INSURANCE CONCERNS ACCUSED

Madison, Wis., Feb. 11.—Insurance Commissioner M. J. Clary announces that complaint has been filed against the Lumbermen's Mutual Insurance company by the Kaiser Lumber company of Eau Claire and the Turtle Lake Lumber company of Winchester, Vilas county, alleging discrimination in the insurance business.

The complaint is based on dividends paid on premiums.

It says a payment of 25 per cent is made on all other classes of business and only 10 per cent is allowed in the lumberman's business.

WALSH COUNTY BANKS REFLECT GOOD TIMES

Grafton, N. D., Feb. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bank deposits in Walsh county aggregate $3,947,126.23.

The total resources of the twenty-one banks in the county are $4,215,987.76, which aggregate about $200 for every man, woman and child in the county.

The enrollment in the other schools of the city is as follows: Ellis school, 293; Wilmarth school, 256; Beaser avenue school, 328; Bay City school, 79; Lake Shore school, 71, and high school grades, 299.

TEACHERS TO PRESENT CASE

Will Urge Board to Adopt Automatic Wage Increase Plan.

Effort Will Be Made to Rush the Morgan Park School.

Directors of the board of education will have a busy session at the Central high school tonight, when they hold their February meeting.

Teachers' salary schedule for 1916-1917, plans for the new Morgan Park school at the steel plant, equipment for the new Lincoln Junior high, disposition of a recent bond issue, and action on fire insurance for school buildings are among the things to be considered.

It is expected that a delegation from the Duluth Teachers' association will meet with the board to urge upon directors the adoption of the automatic wage increase plan and the raising of salary minimums and maximums for the various grades of instructors.

Interesting developments are expected in connection with the campaign teachers are making for higher salaries, in view of the fact that some have made indirect charges against Supt. R. E. Denfeld, alleging that he is dictator to too great an extent.

Back the Superintendent.

Members of the board are believed to be solidly behind the superintendent, however. Under the present plan, principles of the various school buildings, together with Supt. Denfeld, make recommendations regarding the individual teachers, and these reports are considered carefully by the board of education's committee on schools.

Although the school committee has not quite completed the salary revision plan, Mrs. T. J. Davis, chairman of the committee, is expected to have an interesting report on the question.

W. B. Getchell, chairman of the committee on maintenance of buildings and grounds, is expected to recommend that directors do all they can to hurry work on the Morgan Park school and that they advertise at once for bids on construction work.

NEW WAR LOAN TO BE ISSUED BY RUSSIA

Petrograd, Feb. 11, via London.—Newspapers of this city report that the government has decided to issue in the near future a new war loan of 2,000,000,000 roubles at 5 per cent at the same conditions as the preceding one.

Under normal exchange conditions prevalent in American money market, 2,000,000,000 roubles would be approximately $1,000,000,000. The preceding Russian loan issued last November was for 1,000,000,000 roubles. It was sold at 95, pays 5½ per cent and runs for ten years.

SCHOOL CHILDREN STUDY LIFE OF LINCOLN

Every school child knows that tomorrow is Abraham Lincoln's birthday, and although special exercises in commemoration of the great emancipator have not been held in the schools, a study of his life has been made a part of the lessons during the last two or three days.

"We have not made a practice of dropping school work in order to tell the children about Lincoln," said Supt. R. E. Denfeld, "but the principals and teachers have made an effort to elaborate upon his life, his characteristics and his teachings in the course of the day's routine."

In the grades, poems and stories about Lincoln's early life, telling of his rail-splitting days and his studies before the log fire, have been read, while in the high schools boys and girls are paying attention to his accomplishments in later life, and the lessons which have helped in governing the United States since his administration.

PROMISED RELIEF FROM HIGH WATER

Joint High Commission Hears Plaints of Those Affected.

Warroad, Minn., Feb. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Paul Marschalk, Hans Selvog, Peter Berkman and A. M. Landby have returned from Winnipeg, where they attended the meeting of the joint waterways commission. Every interest effected by the water levee of the Lake of the Woods was represented, and the matter was threshed out for four days.

The local interests were represented by Paul Marschalk and Attorney Berkman. Halvor Steenerson was unable to be present on account of pressing business in Washington. The commission will meet in Washington some time in April when briefs submitted by the different attorneys in the case will be received and a definite level for the Lake of the Woods will be determined.

After the meeting A. M. Landby interviewed members of the commission regarding relief for the coming season. He set forth the fact that on account of the unusual amount of snow this season the ground would have all it could take care of without the lake interfering. He was assured that as the water power interests were not using the Keewatin power, the lake would be lowered at least for this season.

BRAINERD MAN DIES; DEERWOOD MAN HURT

Brainerd, Minn., Feb. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Suffering from a tobacco heart, James B. Gardener, aged 65, a lampman employed by the Northern Pacific railway dropped dead in the yards.

Henry Henrickson, section foreman at Deerwood, an employe of the Northern Pacific railway, 25 years old, had his leg broken this morning when ties rolled on him at Deerwood.

EARLY HISTORY OF ST. BERNARD.

Kansas City Star: The following extract from an old English paper shows that as early as the Eighteenth century the monks in the Hospice of St. Bernard had dogs in their monastery.

"In March, 1786, the convent of Sion, near the borders of Switzerland, was attacked by twenty-four villains, demanded the treasure thereof. The monks replied that their rents were ill-paid and at present they had but little stock, but they would show them where it was. Accordingly the robbers were shown upstairs where it was said to be, when opening the door where the bloodhounds were and giving them the word they instantly fell upon the villains and tore some of them to pieces. The others attempting to fly, were pursued and taken accordingly. These dogs are kept therefore for the preservation of the convent, and to find dead bodies in the snow; for many perish in attempting to cross the Alps whose bodies are found by these dogs and receive decent interment'

"While there are probably misstatements in this quotation, still it shows beyond all doubt that St. Bernard is of ancient date, for it is obvious that they were descended from the bloodhounds of the above. What happened at the hospice kennels between this time and the first of the following century we do not know, for the monks keep no kennel records. That many changes were made in the external appearance of the dogs is but natural to suppose, when we think that their work changed from locating dead bodies to rescuing live persons."

Gold and silver mines that have been worked for more than three centuries still form the principal resources of the Mexican state of San Luis Potosi.

One pound of good bread is as nutritive as two and a half pounds of potatoes.

DO YOU HENRY-JAMES?

Here Is an Indoor, Rainy Day Recreation That Is Compared to Golf.

Kansas City Star: Golf and Henry James are a good deal alike, the main difference being that you golf out of doors while you Henry-James in the house. The out-of-doors game consists in whacking a ball and then trying to find it. You Henry-James on the same principle by starting out with one of his sentences and seeing where it will land you. In golf you some times find the ball. In Henry-James you are never quite sure whether you have found it or not.

In the July Atlantic there is a Henry-James game worthy the skill of the most expert player. This particular Henry-James game is entitled "Mr. and Mrs. James T. Fields," but there isn't much in it about Mr. and Mrs. James T. Fields—a fact that will not surprise a good Henry-James player. To play the game you take your stand with Mr. James at the beginning of the course and he tosses you this—which you are supposed to catch:

If at such a time as this a man of my generation finds himself on occasion revert to our ancient peace in some soreness of confusion between envy and pity, I know well how best to clear up the matter for myself at least and to recover a workable relation with the blessing in eclipse.

Point one, of course, is for you to get this—which really is an easy one—before he sends you the next one, for not even the best players can hold two at once. And the next one follows fast:

To the Boston constellation then almost exclusively belonged the higher complacency, as one may surely call it, of being able to measure with some closeness the good purpose to which they glittered.

This looks easy at first, because you instantly recognize Boston, but when you try to figure out, with some closeness, who it was that glittered you are using up time you ought to be devoting to watching this one coming at you and to deciding how you are going to stop it:

We knew in those days little of collectors: the name of the class, however, already much impressed us, and in that long and narrow drawing room of odd dimensions—unfortunately somewhat sacrificed, I frankly confess, as American drawing rooms are apt to be, to its main aperture or command of outward resonance—one learned for the first time how vivid a collection might be.

Here is where you need a cool head. If you lose command of your outward resonance at this point you are in a worse fix than a drawing room, no matter how odd its dimensions or its relation to its aperture. But if you can't hold it, drop it, for here comes another—Mr. James is getting into fast form now:

The register of his two American visits was piously, though without the least solemnity, kept in Charles street; which assisted, however, at Dickens' second visit to the states and a comparatively profane contemporaneity.

Now you understand why you couldn't stand around fooling with that one about the aperture in the drawing room. But wait, you are not yet through with the house in Charles street:

I liked to think of the house, I couldn't do without thinking of it, as the great man's safest harborage through the tremendous gale of those even more leave-taking appearances, as fate was to appoint, than we then understood; and this was a fact about it, to my taste, which made all sorts of other, much more prolonged and reiterated, facts comparatively subordinate and flat.

If you can follow the ball in that, you stand a chance to get in the finals. Here is the qualifying test:

Her admirable gift, that artistic sensibility in her which rivaled the rare personal, that sense for the finest kind of truthful rendering, the sober and tender note, the temperately touched, whether in the ironic or the pathetic, would have deserved some more pointed commemoration than I judge her beautiful little quantum of achievement, her free and high, yet all so generously subdued character, a sort of elegance of humility or fine flame of modesty, with her remarkably distinguished outward stamp, to have called forth before the premature and overdarkened close of her young course of production.

Stop that one, and you can Henry-James in the best circles, which is to say you can go round and round with him. That's the game.

AARON BURR'S BACKER.

Blennerhassett, a Man of Wealth, Who Came From Ireland.

Columbus Dispatch: Fourteen miles below the mouth of the Muskingum, in the Ohio river, lies an island comprising about 200 acres, which forms a part of Wood county, W. Va., and is known as Blennerhassett island.

Nearly a hundred years ago it was the scene of one of the most dramatic events ever presented in the West. To that island Harmon Blennerhassett, son of a wealthy and noble family of Ireland, brought his equally cultivated and aristocratic young wife in 1797, lured by descriptions of the beauty and wealth of the Western America, to establish their home.

Fascinated by Aaron Burr.

Aaron Burr, bent on the establishment of a sovereign government somewhere in the West, with himself at the head of it, met the Blennerhassetts on a Western tour and drew them into his scheme. When the government discovered the plot Blennerhassett was arrested with Burr, his princely home on the Ohio river was wrecked and despoiled, and the real estate attached by a creditor of Burr, who held notes that Blennerhassett had indorsed.

In spite of this, Blennerhassett stood by Burr even in his disgrace, and it was not until he found that Burr, having got from him all his property, or caused him to lose it in one way or another, was willing to cast him aside, that his eyes were opened to the fact that he had been duped. Blennerhassett never recouped his fortunes. The wreck and ruin of his life and estate were complete and permanent.

Both Were Acquitted.

In the trial for treason both Burr and Blennerhassett were acquitted, but were later haled before the state court of Ohio at Chillicothe to answer to a charge of violation of the laws of this state. Those charges never came to trial.

Blennerhassett was born shortly after the middle of the Eighteenth century. He died in poverty on the Island of Guernsey in 1821. His widow, returning broken-hearted to the United States, secured the introduction of a bill in congress giving her $10,000 damages for the destruction of the Blennerhassett home by the militia of Virginia on the occasion of the discovery of the Burr plot. Henry Clay championed her claim, but while it was pending she died.

The Blennerhassetts had three sons. The eldest became dissipated and died in a New Orleans debauch, the second was an imbecile and died in New York about 1864 and the other was killed while serving as a soldier in the Confederate army.

LAZY MAN'S LAND.

William Aspenwall Bradley in Harper's Magazine: "You ask a Kentucky mountaineer a question which he doesn't quite grasp, and he says, "How?" A Tennessecan, in like case, exclaims, "Which?" There are other differences between the two. The former, for example, may be lazy, but he has at least the grace to try to conceal his shame, while the latter openly "brags on" it.

"You-uns have came to lazy man's land," drawled a soft voice that afternoon in Black Water. The speaker was unshaven and unshorn, and his black eyes laughed out at us with impudence and easy good humor from a wilderness of curly black beard and tangled elflocks beneath a tattered hat. "Yes, you-uns have sure come to lazy man's land," fluted the mellow voice once more, and it was easy to believe him that somnolent afternoon, when all the little sun-flooded valley lay drenched in golden dream, and the air, drowsy with the dull drone of bees, hung heavy with the heat.

Next morning, however, when we awoke in our room in the hotel at Sneedville, at 4:30, roused by the clangor of the great bell that hung in the hotel yard, we felt there must be a mistake somewhere. "Surely this can't be 'lazy man's land' where folks get up at such an hour!"

We were still more impressed and confounded when we got down and found that breakfast was already over. But when we had finished our own breakfast, and gone out into the street, there was practically the entire male population sprawled about the courthouse steps across the way or seated on chairs along the sidewalk, while over every fence bobbed a feminine sunbonnet. Not in the whole town did we see a single person who seemed to have anything to do, and yet there was not one who had not risen at 4 in the morning to do it.

SEE HOW YOUR YARD WILL LOOK.

Countryside Magazine. Perhaps the greatest need of a man or woman who is going to lay out a piece of ground is perspective. Some people are blessed with this talent; for these the picturing of the finished grounds is easy, and the chance of successfully planning and planting is better than for those who have not this gift. For the latter, however, there are a number of ways to secure, through outside means, a reasonably accurate vision of the finished work, forestalling many errors.

One good way to get a fair view of what is to happen is to select the trees and shrubs you think you will want, all of them. Then let each be represented by a bit of cardboard or paper, clipped to an approximate circle. Take green for the evergreen, blue for the deciduous trees, yellow for the shrubs, for instance.

From a good catalogue get an idea of how large a spread on the ground each tree or plant will take in seven years from planting, and proportion your cardboard dummies that way. For example, a good lilac may be expected to grow to a diameter of five feet in ordinary fertile ground within seven years. If your plan is on a scale of a quarter inch of paper space for each foot of actual ground area, the yellow circle representing the lilac would be about an inch and a quarter in diameter. You might write the name on it, also, and a figure to represent the height—say eight, for it will reach about that height in feet.

Now, these little disks can be moved around, just as an artist arranges the details of a picture before he begins to draw.

MISTAKEN IDENTITY.

Washington Star: A man with a really mother-in-law came back from the shore last week with a mother-in-law story.

He said a woman fell off the pier into the sea one morning, and a fat man began to rave and roar:

"My wife! Oh, save my dear wife! A reward of $20 to the man who will save my wife from a watery grave!"

A fisherman leaped in and saved the woman. Then he modestly demanded the promised $20 from the fat man. But the fat man bit his lip and said:

"I'm sorry, my dear fellow, but there has been some mistake. You see, it wasn't my wife you saved, after all. It was my mother-in-law. I mixed the two ladies up in the confusion of the moment."

The fisherman took out his purse.

"That's just my luck," he said. "How much do I owe you?"

WOULD PAVE ALL OF FIFTY-NINTH

Complaint Made That Petition Does Not Include Enough Territory.

The present form of petition for the paving of Fifty-ninth avenue is said to be objectionable to many of the property owners. The petition asks for a paving of concrete 18 feet on each side of the street between Main and Elinor streets, leaving a width of 42 feet for a parkway down the center. The objection is principally to the section of the street to be paved.

It is contended by many of the owners that the street should be paved from the D., M. & N. railroad tracks to the bay. Some time ago the suggestion that the street be paved its entire length was met with hearty responses on the part of the owners and residents. When the petition appeared it embraced only the most thickly settled portion. It is claimed by owners of property who are interested in having the improvement made that enough signers can be procured to have the entire work done if the petition is changed so as to embrace the whole street. Many owners are withholding their signatures until the petition can be so changed.

"I own property above Elinor street and will gladly sign the petition," said W. B. Getchell this morning. "If the petition goes through in its present form, the part above Elinor street will never get the improvement. Under the present form of the petition, only the cream of the residence district where the signers are the most likely to be procured is included. These signers could carry the order to improve the entire length of the street if the petition was so changed."

MARKET AND LIBRARY.

Proctor Business Men Seek Two New New Improvements.

A public library as well as a market for farmers will be the object which members of the Proctor Business Men's association propose to work for in the near future. Committees were appointed at the meeting of the organization last night.

A large number of farmers from Midway, Adolph and Munger go to Proctor with their produce as well as trading, and the business men say that a shelter for the farmers' teams is a necessity. A market site centrally located in the village will be sought. The committee in charge of selecting such a site is headed by William Harrison.

The business men will endeavor to get a library for the village. A committee consisting of R. K. Welch, E. M. McEwen, F. S. Spurbeck, P. McCabe and E. Dudley was appointed to have charge of the proposition.

WILL DISCUSS LIGHTING.

Lamps on Proctor Road and Club Banquet and Other Subjects.

Members of the West Duluth Commercial club will discuss street lighting at the meeting this evening. The communication received a week ago from Commissioner Leonidas Merritt relative to lights on the Proctor road will be discussed. A communication was also received since the last meeting from the Duluth Edison company asking the co-operation of citizens and members of the club in reporting lights out of order.

It is probable that at the meeting this evening the club will discuss the annual banquet to be held by the club in April. Preparations for the affair will be made within a short time.

Skiing Is Popular.

Skis were in big demand at hardware stores this morning.

The sport has suddenly revived and a skiing party was given this afternoon by Mrs. W. A. Pond, 1219 North Fifty-seventh avenue west. Twenty women were in the party. The hillside east of Central avenue was used and after spending two hours enjoying the sport members of the party were entertained at Mrs. Pond's home.

VAIN SEARCH FOR BURGLAR.

Officers Waste an Hour Looking for Prowlers at Irving School.

The report that a burglar was entering the Irving school building last night gave Lieutenant Frank Schulte and Patrolman Victor Isaacson an hour's work. The alarm was given by young boys near the school, who said they had seen a man entering the building.

The officers attempted to enter through the doors, but found them all locked. Finally they were able to force a window and Patrolman Isaacson boosted the lieutenant through. A thorough search failed to reveal the intruder. Nothing was reported missing by the teachers this morning.

STUDENTS WILL STAGE VAUDEVILLE SHOW

The sophomore class of the Robert E. Denfeld high school will entertain this evening with a vaudeville program at the school auditorium. Rehearsals for the show have been held daily for several weeks and a dress rehearsal was held in the auditorium last night. Songs, orchestra numbers, short sketches and other features will be on the program. About fifty young people are taking part.

With the Curlers.

A 13-end game between Charles Iltis and T. F. Olsen featured the play last night at the West Curling club. With six points down in the tenth end the latter tied the score in the twelfth end and laid the winning rock in the thirteenth. The score was 11 to 12.

Joe McDonald won from F. H. Wade in the Bagley event by a score of 11 to 9. No games are scheduled for tonight owing to a number of the rinks being entered in the city bonspiel. Band music for skating will feature the activities for the rink tonight.

Sewing Session Postponed.

There will be no sewing school held at the West Duluth public library tomorrow afternoon. The library building will be closed all day because of Lincoln's birthday being a holiday. The school is conducted Saturday afternoons under the direction of members of the West Duluth W. C. T. U.

MAY BE ASKED TO SPECIFY

McAlpine Jury May Be Required to Tell Basis of Conclusions.

Taking of Testimony Likely to Be Finished Next Monday.

Whether the jury sitting in the McAlpine death mystery case, now being tried before Judge Dancer in district court, wherein Mrs. Sarah K. McAlpine is pressing a claim for $24,000 accident insurance against the London Guaranty & Accident company on a policy held by the late John McAlpine, will be asked to disclose, by a special finding, the theory on which they will decide the case, has not yet been determined. This question, it is understood, will be considered by attorney Monday when, it is expected, the taking of testimony will be concluded.

Decision at Former Trial.

At a former trial, that in which the Fidelity & Casualty company was defendant, and a $50,000 insurance policy was involved, the jury returned a verdict for the defendant, but did not let the court or public know by what process of reasoning it reached its conclusion. As in the case now on trial, a double defense was urged, one that Mr. McAlpine came to his death by his own hand and the other that he died from a wound inflicted by the beneficiary or some member of her household. When the question went to the jury it was simply a query as to whether Mrs. McAlpine was entitled to recover or not. The jury found that she was not.

Judge Cant, who granted a new trial in the former case on the ground that an error of law had been committed by the court in applying a certain rule of law with respect to the admission of evidence, held in his memorandum that on second trial jurors might be asked to answer specific questions indicating the particular theory on which they decided the case. Some way should be found, Judge Cant held, to require the jury to unite on one or more defenses urged in the event that the verdict is for the defendant.

Many Experiments Made.

Experiments tending to show the effect of revolver shots as to smudge, perforation marks when fired at pieces of white paper at varying distances, and tests which were conducted at the McAlpine home with reference to whether or not shots fired in the basement of the house could be heard on the second story of the dwelling were testified to by R. D. McKercher, chief of police, this morning. A. G. Fiskett, captain of police, also took the witness stand and testified to the fact that he had assisted the chief in making the experiments and tests. The two witnesses were called by the plaintiff in rebuttal.

It is not yet known whether Dale McAlpine, stepson of the dead lumberman and son of the plaintiff, Mrs. McAlpine, by a former marriage, will be called to the stand for his testimony on the former trial will be read. The young man was present at several sessions earlier in the trial but was called to Minneapolis yesterday where he is attending the state university and is taking examinations. It is possible that he may testify in the case Monday.

ALEXANDRIA

"Alexander the Great, like an erratic meteor, flashed across the drowse of civilization-weary Egypt; and, perhaps as a memorial of his deification in the land of the Pharaohs, he left behind him the beginnings of a vigorous Greek city, Alexandria, destined to be the gateway for a flow of Western rejuvenation to the worn valley, and today, with Constantinople and a few other places, one of the greatest prizes for the contesting army millions in the East," begins a bulletin just prepared by the National Geographic society. "Alexander built his city in 332 B. C., upon the ruins of an Egyptian town, Rhacotis. After more than 2,000 years, Alexandria has become the life of Egypt, its largest port, one of the busiest ports on the Mediterranean, and an important world-city.

Two Parts to the City.

"The modern city is divided into two parts, one of which, inhabited by Mohammedans, is a listless tangle of Oriental, narrow, crooked streets and uninviting buildings, while, the other, the European quarter, is solidly built and possesses many of the essential conveniences of the American or European metropolis. It occupies a ridge of land between the Mediterranean and Lake Mareotis. The Rosetta mouth of the Nile lies more than thirty miles to the east. Cairo, the interior metropolis, lies 129 miles by rail to the southeast, and the Suez canal is more than 140 miles to the east. The city is linked by a network of railway and telegraph lines to the other towns of Egypt, and is in telephonic connection with Cairo.

Counting House of the Valley.

"Alexandria is the counting house and the commission office of the Nile valley. The British chamber of commerce has its headquarters there, and there, too, are located the head offices of many of the largest commercial organizations doing business in the Near East. The value of the city's trade, in normal times, is about $240,000,000 a year. The western harbor, designed for a modern, first-rank commerce, is visited annually by 3,000 vessels. The chief articles of export are grain, cotton, beans, sugar and rice, and the business is largely in the hands of Europeans, of whom there are 50,000 in the total population of 400,000. The city is connected by cable lines with Cyprus, Malta, Crete and Port Said. One of the interesting phases of Alexandria's commerce is that it sends 80,000,000 eggs each year to London, where these products retail as fancy fresh eggs. This large yearly turnover gives Egypt an intimate relationship with the Englishman's breakfast table.

A City of Right Angles.

"Dinocrates of Rhodes, architect and friend to the famous Macedonian, laid out Alexandria. He planned the city as an affair of right angles and sharp corners, including the whole in a parallelogram quadrisected by two main thoroughfares. This regularity of city-plan that Dinocrates developed was the beginning of the school of gridiron city-building, of the impersonal, strictly business city only now waning in popularity.

"The exotic Grecian city was a battleground from the start. The East and the West met and fought out their differences to a finish there. Greek learning and Greek philosophy found refuge in Alexandria, and there antagonized, and finally blended with, the philosophies of the East. Christianity and Paganism fought some of their most bitter battles there; and the Jews, the Christians, the Pantheists, and the philosophers fomented many bloody riots, in which the fickle, violent, foot-hungry Alexandrian mob raged in unforgetable religious tumults. In one such limit, the surpassingly beautiful pagan priestess, Hypatia, was torn to pieces to glut a brutish populace.

The Famous Library.

"The famous Alexandrian library was the bridge between the culture of classic Greeks and the cultural needs of early Christian and Mohammedan Europe. Much of its treasures filtered through to the Moors and to the Christians through the scholarship of Rome. The library was destroyed in the warflood, which followed the rise of the religion from the desert; and the burning of the great book-treasury has been keenly deplored by scholars of each generation succeeding.

"In the latter years of the Eighteenth century, the city was held by the French. It had sunk to the status of a small village under centuries of Mohammedan misrule, having a population of less than 4,000. Under Mohemet Ali, the wise and cunning Albanian, it regained much of its prosperity. English control of the city's, as well as Egypt's welfare, dates from 1882, since which date a new city has been developed, and one that bears a greater degree of relationship to the West than to the East."

A TALE OF THE WALRUS.

Captain Says He Saw Them Packed Together Like Giant Sardines.

New York World: The steamer Corwin, Capt. J. R. Healy, recently arrived at Seattle from Nome, Alaska, bringing 1,353 walrus, by far the biggest catch on record, according to Capt. Healy and Oscar Annevik, the chief hunter.

"I never saw so many walrus in my life," said Capt. Healy. "On a single cake of ice we saw more of them than we could count, though we estimated them at twenty-five hundred. They were packed together like giant sardines."

The boat carried twenty-five native hunters, armed with rifles of the heaviest caliber. The men approached the ice floes in a gasoline launch while the steamer stood by.

A walrus must be hit in the head. The hide of the body is so tough that it will stop any bullet. A number of old bulls were killed this summer in whose hides were found old-fashioned lead bullets and heads of native harpoons, probably imbedded there for decades.

If not instantly killed the walrus flops off the ice and sinks in the sea. They are stupid beasts. They blink tranquilly at the approaching hunters and do not move until the rifles begin to crack. Then the puppies bark, the cows bellow and the bulls utter coughing roars, such as one might imagine a giant would utter if kicked in the stomach. They flop and tumble into the water, churning the sea into a foam, and make a big commotion. A big bull walrus weighs four tons.

The walrus being dead, the steamer comes alongside the ice and the carcasses are hoisted aboard and stripped of tusks, hides, whiskers and blubber.

The Corwin brought down 338 barrels of walrus oil, worth 31 cents a gallon, or $5,070, and four tons of ivory tusks, about $4,000 worth as ivory is worth 35 cents to 60 cents a pound.

The whiskers are used in China as toothpicks, and the Corwin brought enough to make a valuation of $500.

The hides, of which there were 1,352, will go to tanneries in London to be made finally into trunks, valises and other leather things. The hides ought to net $38,700. That makes a total of $49,270 for the season, May 1 to date.

THREE FOWLS FOR A HORSE.

Montreal Star: One remount now celebrated throughout the dominion was bought for $170 or $180 by the government from a man who admitted that he had bought it for $70.

"How much did that man pay for it?" inquired the commissioner.

"He traded two drakes and a duck for it."

The commissioner sat up in astonishment, leaned over the railing toward the witness and asked sternly:

"Do you mean to say that the government had palmed off on it a horse that had been bought for three ducks?"

"No, your honor," replied the unruffled horse trader, "I didn't say that. I said two drakes and a duck."

WHEAT UP ON EXPORT CALL

Market Turns Strong With Good Buying on Foreign Account.

Flaxseed Gains Moderately on Active Buying By Crushers—Offers Light.

Duluth Board of Trade, Feb. 11.—The market was firm at the close with evening up trades by operators over the two days' holiday.

May wheat closed ⅝c up and July 1¼c up.

May durum closed 1¾c up and July 1¾c up.

Oats closed ¼c off at 45½c for on the track; rye 1@2c off at 93@96c, and barley unchanged at from 65c to 72c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ½c up at 46½c bid.

At St. Louis, May wheat closed at $1.23⅝ and July at $1.18.

At Kansas City, May wheat closed at $1.18¾ bid and July at $1.14⅝.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.23¾ asked and calls at $1.29⅜.

Active bidding by exporters contributed to a strong wheat market today. After its break of over 10c during the last couple of weeks, some of the big operators are showing a disposition to take the long side for a turn at least.

In the meantime disappointing Argentine and Australian shipments, owing to high freights, are forcing foreigners to again turn to this country and Canada as the only available sources of supply on a large scale for the time being. Interest was taken in durum today on the report that the Greek government is in the market for 1,500,000 bu, and that a large proportion of that amount has been picked up during the last couple of days. Another bullish factor was an advance of 1d in Liverpool in consequence of the comparatively light stocks being carried. Interest was intensified in the ocean freight situation by reason of a further advance announced today, bringing the impost on wheat from New York to Liverpool up to a basis of 46c a bu. This compares with a normal freight rate of around 4c before the war started.

Substantial buying by Patten and some of the leading operators was reported at Chicago today and that attracted a considerable following. It was reported that the public is getting into the market, and as the weak accounts have been largely cleaned up in consequence of the extended break, its technical position is regarded as much stronger.

With the improvement in the railway handling situation, receipts in the Northwest are now showing signs of picking up. Duluth wheat inspections today were 49 cars compared with 35 last year. Minneapolis had 311 cars against 494 a year ago, and Winnipeg 305 cars compared with 131 last year.

May wheat opened ⅝c up at $1.27¼, advanced to $1.28, and then eased off ⅝c at the noon-hour. July opened 1⅜c up at $1.26½, advanced to $1.27, and then broke ⅝c.

May durum opened ½c up at $1.22, advanced 2½c more, and later eased off 1c.

Flax Turns Strong.

After the late shakeout in the flax market, its situation is now regarded as technically strong by experts, and an upturn is predicted. After some hesitancy around the opening a further upturn came early today with the appearance of good inquiry from crushers. Higher cables were a contributing factor. Buenos Aires closed 1½c up at $1.44¾, and London 2½c up at $2.86. The close was weak and the day's advances were lost.

May flax opened ⅛c up at $2.33, and closed ¼c up at $2.33. July opened ⅛c up at $2.34, and closed ½c off at $2.33.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed 1¼c up at $2.12½ asked.

MARKET GOSSIP.

C. E. Lewis wired from New York: "I think wheat, corn and oats a purchase on every break of 1 to 2c now for some time to come, but there will be no runaway market for some time, so take profits on the sharp advances."

Argentine shipments: Wheat, 866,000 bu; last week, 1,032,000 bu; last year, 1,472,000 bu; corn, 1,868,000 bu; last week, 3,052,000 bu; last year, 2,797,000 bu; oats, 824,000 bu; last week, 1,060,000 bu; last year, 2,050,000 bu.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Market was very firm with fewer Plate and Manitoba offers and firm American freights. Millers' demand were more urgent. Spot market very firm in all grades and higher with scarcity. Parcels and cargo markets were firm, winters and Manitobas 6d higher. Plates 4½d to 6d higher and the advance paid. Argentine shipments are considered very disappointing and Australia is contributing lightly when the demand is considered. Freights everywhere are very firm with America advancing."

Argentine visible supply: Wheat, 4,416,000 bu; last year, 4,048,000 bu; last year, 3,496,000 bu; corn, 4,692,000 bu; last week, 5,041,000 bu; last year, 5,457,000 bu.

At Minneapolis cash wheat premiums were unchanged with the demand good. Blue stem No. 1 northern sold at 1½c to 6½c over May and velvet chaff No. 1 northern at 1c to 2c over May. No. 1 northern sold there at from $1.29¾ to $1.31¼, and No. 2 northern at from $1.23 to $1.28¼. Wheat stocks in Minneapolis elevators decreased 205,000 bu in the week.

Modern Miller says: "Only northern sections of the winter wheat belt have snow protection. Damage reports are coming from Texas and Southern Illinois. In some sections where the ice covering is removed there is apprehension that the crop is injured. In Nebraska and Kansas the crop is wintering well."

Russell's News, New York, said: "Some authorities expected the Greek government to take about 1,500,000 bu of macaroni wheat before tomorrow afternoon. There was scattered buying of futures this morning credited to English account. A government inquiry for two cargoes of wheat is reported in the market.

"Well-informed interests stated that part of the Greek government order for macaroni wheat had been filled, although it was not thought that the entire amount, rumored at 50,000 tons, had been accepted. The purchases, it is understood, are for the March requirements, the February requirements having been filled by the previous purchases made earlier in the month."

A further advance was reported in ocean rates this morning at New York, with 23d or 46c per bu plus primage paid to Liverpool and 24d paid to Manchester.

A decision has just been reported from London of very great importance in connection with wheat shipments or contracts for export outstanding at the opening of the war. James Carruthers & Co. had an Antwerp contract which was not filled and the questions involved were left to arbitration. On the arbitration the case was decided against them, but on appeal to the law courts it was decided that hostilities prevented shipments, practically on impossibility of freights; therefore the question of exchange was not involved. The defendants paid the costs in the case. As a decision about shipments to neutral countries, this is expected to form an important precedent in the matter of unsettled cases.

Tomorrow being the anniversary of Lincoln's birthday, there will be no sessions of the Duluth or the other American grain markets.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Scores Decided Advance on Dispatches From Liverpool.

Chicago, Feb. 11.—Wheat scored a decided advance in price today as a result of Liverpool dispatches that shipments from Argentina and Australia were disappointingly small. Demand from British millers was said to have become more urgent. Offerings here proved light until the upturn brought about liberal profit-taking by holders. The opening, which ranged from ¾@⅞c to 2⅛@2¼c higher, with May at $1.28⅝ to $1.30 and July at $1.21⅝ to $1.22¼, was followed by a slight reaction.

Word that some new export business had been done led to a fresh upturn but the influence proved to be only transient. Evening of trades so as to prepare for the double holiday ahead resulted in the day's advance being largely wiped out. The close was unsettled ¼ to ⅝c net higher with May at $1.28@1.28⅛ and July at $1.21¼.

Bullish crop reports from Argentina gave strength to corn. It was said Argentina could not supply Europe half as much as in 1915 and that the difference would have to be obtained in the United States. After opening ½@⅝c to ⅞@1c higher, the market continued to ascend.

Subsequently prospects of large receipts Monday caused a sag. The close was weak at ¼c under yesterday's finish.

Oats developed firmness with other grain. Sellers were scarce.

Provisions hardened a little owing to the bulge in grain. The effect, however, failed to last.

That would mean one share of Calumet & Arizona stock for three and one-half shares of Superior & Pittsburgh stock.

The Superior & Pittsburgh corporation will now be dissolved and its operations conducted by the Calumet & Arizona Mining company, which has held a majority interest in its stock for some time. This action was taken with a view to avoiding duplication of expenses and taxes as has resulted up to the present.

WEAKNESS IN STOCKS

Steel and Similar Issues Show Marked Heaviness and Decline.

Rails Have Advance But Fail to Hold—Closing Irregular.

New York, Feb. 11.—Irregular price changes ruled at the opening of today's moderately active market, some of the war issues, coppers and New York Central making variable gains, while United States Steel, Crucible Steel, American Smelting, Mexican Petroleum and a few specialties were lower by fractions to over a point. Trading was of a tentative and professional character, the coming holidays causing further lack of outside interest. Secondary prices eliminated most initial advances, except in the metal group where Utah, at the new high price of 84½, led another upward swing.

Coppers continued to lead, Butte & Superior as well as Chino and some lesser issues of the same class in the stock market, today scoring new records with Utah, American Zinc was strongest of kindred shares, gaining 4⅛ at 75. Oils also denoted renewed inquiry with some recovery in Mexican Petroleum. Among war and allied shares, Crucible Steel, Colorado Fuel and American Car were under pressure, but American Can, International Nickel, Fertilizers and United Fruit were firm to strong. United States Steel also recovered its early loss but held back later. At midday fresh heaviness developed. Bonds were irregular.

The list showed a more decided tendency to yield in the afternoon, losing half their advance, while Steel and similar issues were heavy. Prices hardened again, however, on a marked advance in rails with New Haven and Reading the principal features.

Rails failed to hold, falling back on light offerings, while other leaders, including Steel, showed greater heaviness. The close was irregular.

SUCCESSFUL ATTACK MADE BY THE FRENCH

Berlin Admits Enemy Takes Positions on 200-Yard Front.

Assault Made After Violent Artillery Bombardment in Champagne.

Germans Occupy Edges of Crater Made By Explosion.

Berlin, Feb. 12, via London, 2:47 p. m. —After a violent artillery bombardment on the greater part of the Champagne front French infantry made an attack yesterday afternoon. The German war office announced today that the French penetrated German positions near Massiges over a front of about two hundred yards.

The statement follows:

"Western front: After a most violent bombardment on a great part of our front in the Champagne the French toward evening made an attack to the east of the Maisons de Champagne farm, which is northeast of Massiges. They penetrated our positions over a section of not quite two hundred yards. On Combres hill we occupied the edges of a crater made by the explosion of a French mine in front of our trenches.

"Eastern front: At several points on the front we repulsed advances by Russian patrols and other small detachments.

"Balkan front: The situation is unchanged."

French Statement.

Paris, Feb. 12, via London, 3:40 p. m. —Further fighting in Champagne, the French war office announces this afternoon, has resulted in French forces securing possession of certain trenches occupied by the Germans.

TO CALL MELLEN IN BRANDEIS INQUIRY

Will Be Asked to Testify on Statements of Barron.

Washington, Feb. 12.—Charles S. Mellen, former president of the New Haven railroad, will be asked by the judiciary subcommittee of the senate to appear next week in connection with its inquiry into the nomination of Louis D. Brandeis to the supreme court.

The committee decided to ask Mr. Mellen to testify after they had examined testimony offered by C. W. Barron of Boston, who declared that Mr. Brandeis had once been "hired to aid in wrecking the New Haven railroad."

GIRL ENDED LIFE IN WOODS

Marion Lambert Took Poison After Interview With Young Student.

Witness Says Boy Pressed Bottle to Lips of Girl.

Chicago, Feb. 12.—Denial was made today by Will H. Orpet, student at the University of Wisconsin, that he saw Marion Lambert take the poison which ended her life in the woods near her home in Lake Forest where her half frozen body was found Thursday morning.

"If I had only looked back, do you think I would have let her lie there?" he said, pointing to the dark woods where the body was found, as he reached Lake Forest today in the custody of detectives and State's Attorney R. J. Dady of Lake county.

Part of the mystery which surrounded the tragic death of Miss Lambert, an 18-year-old pupil of the Deerfield township high school, was solved when it was discovered that she died of poison and that she had not been attacked. Orpet, after long questioning, admitted that he had met the girl in the woods and that he had then told her that he intended to marry another.

Orpet is to be subjected to further questioning. It was planned to take him to the woods where the body was found and to have him retrace the

POISON PUT IN THE SOUP

Employe of Club Responsible for Illness at Archbishop's Banquet.

Done By Man of Disordered Mind Who Has Disappeared.

Chicago, Feb. 12.—Belief that the hundred guests made ill at the banquet to Archbishop Mundelein at the University club Thursday night were the victims of a deliberate attempt to poison was announced today by the manager of the club.

According to his statement a considerable amount of active poison was placed in the soup served at the banquet by an employe in the club kitchen.

The man was described to the police as a fanatic whose mentality possibly was disordered. The name of the suspected person was not divulged by Harry J. Doherty, manager of the club, who said that an analysis of the soup had disclosed the presence of mineral poison. According to his statement the suspected man did not return to his rooms after the banquet and search of his apartments by the police disclosed a carefully equipped laboratory, and several vials of poison, one of which corresponded to the analysis of the poison found by analysis of the soup.

Archbishop Mundelein was not affected though many of the prelates and distinguished guests at his table suffered severely.

EIGHTEEN BODIES TAKEN FROM MINE

Six Men Still Entombed By Explosion at Ernest, Pa.

Indiana, Pa., Feb. 12.—Rescuers worked in relays throughout the night in an effort to penetrate the workings of the Jefferson & Clearfield Coal & Iron company's mine at Ernest, where an explosion occurred yesterday. Eighteen bodies have been recovered but according to officials of the company at least six men are still entombed.

Because of the condition of the mine rescue work progressed slowly. A number of rescuers were overcome by gas, the condition of one, James McGuire, being so serious that it was necessary to bring him to a local hospital. The government mine rescue car from the Pittsburgh station in charge of H. M. Wolflin arrived here early today.

Soon after the arrival of the rescue car a report spread that three men were still alive in the mine and efforts were redoubled to reach the section where they were believed to be imprisoned, but resulted in bringing to light another man who had been killed. The workings ahead of the rescue crews were found to be filled with afterdamp, and all hope of further rescue was abandoned, although the crews continued their work.

CANADIANS RUSH TROOPS TO BORDER TO RESIST INVASION OF GERMANS FROM THE U. S. SIDE

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Feb. 12.—Despite the strict censorship which has been imposed by the Canadian authorities on the dispatch or publication of news of a military nature, information from reliable sources was received here today of hurried precautions taken at Niagara Falls, Ont., yesterday to resist a threatened "invasion by German forces" from the American side.

A force of soldiers, estimated at 500 men, and three machine gun squads were rushed there from St. Catharines and placed on guard at the great power plants and the international bridges. The men slept under arms last night. The report was current that the "army" of Germans was on the way to the Canadian city from Buffalo. There apparently was no foundation for the war scare.

NOTHING TO DO BUT STRIKE

Laborers on Government Railroad in Alaska Demand More Wages.

Official Says Idleness of Men All Winter Is Real Cause.

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 12.—A general strike of laborers employed on the construction of the government railroad between Anchorage and the Matanuska coal fields in Alaska has been called, according to the latest advices received here from Seward, the Alaska headquarters of the Alaska engineering commission. Dispatches filed at Seward Wednesday said a mass meeting at Anchorage, the principal construction camp, of 1,500 laborers organized a Federal labor union with an enrolled membership of 600 and immediately issued the strike call. The men demanded an increase in the wages of common laborers to 50 cents an hour. The minimum provided in the wage scale issued by the government was 35 cents an hour and men on track-laying gangs were receiving 37½ cents an hour.

The section of the road upon which construction was halted by the strike is the fifty-mile branch extending from Anchorage to the Matanuska coal fields. Approximately thirty-four miles of this line have been completed.

Outlet for Energies.

Washington, Feb. 12.—The strike on the Alaskan railway was attributed today by Chairman W. C. Edes of the Alaskan engineering commission to the pentup energies of the 1,500 men who have spent the winter idling in ice-locked Anchorage, rather than to dissatisfaction with wage conditions. Not more than fifty men, he said, had been kept at work during the winter and the strike is believed to have been caused by idle workmen.

Lieut. Commander Mears at Anchorage reported today that all work has been stopped. No disorder was reported.

It was said here no attempt would be made to resume work on the road until the president has signed the urgent deficiency bill carrying an appropriation of $2,000,000 for the commission, which is now practically without funds.

The $3,000,000 already appropriated has been spent, most of it in the purchase of the Alaska Northern railroad.

Ends Life By Jumping.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 12.—Joseph F. Blanche, 35, a bricklayer, committed suicide today by plunging from the fourth story of a local hotel head first to the pavement, being instantly killed. He is said to have been a victim of tuberculosis.

Rehearing Asked.

Washington, Feb. 12.—Railroad representatives today asked the interstate commerce commission for a rehearing of the export grain rate increase case. Their petition declared the commission's recent decision that the increases were not warranted was not justly drawn on the evidence presented.

SIX PERSONS ARE HELD BY THE POLICE

One Confesses and Implicates Others With Him in Deal.

Two Trunks Full of U. S. Revenue Stamps Are Recovered.

Gang May Have Robbed Branch of Bank of Montreal.

Chicago, Feb. 12.—Confession to the robbery of the internal revenue office at St. Paul, Jan. 6, when stamps aggregating $650,000 and $3,000 in money were stolen from the old Federal building there, was obtained today from one of the three men arrested with their wives here last night. Peter Drautzburg, an operative of the Federal secret service, announced the confession but would not say from which of the prisoners it was obtained.

"One of the men has told everything he knows and has implicated others than himself," said Drautzburg. "Two more arrests are expected."

It was reported that John J. Zeck, a motorman, was the man who made the admissions. The other prisoners are Mrs. Zeck, Edward Leonard and his wife, Julia; Michael Flanigan, a saloon keeper, and his wife, Catherine. Leonard is Zeck's brother-in-law. They were taken into custody last evening and spent the night in downtown hotels under surveillance of secret service men. Today they were questioned separately for about two hours and the announcement of the confession followed.

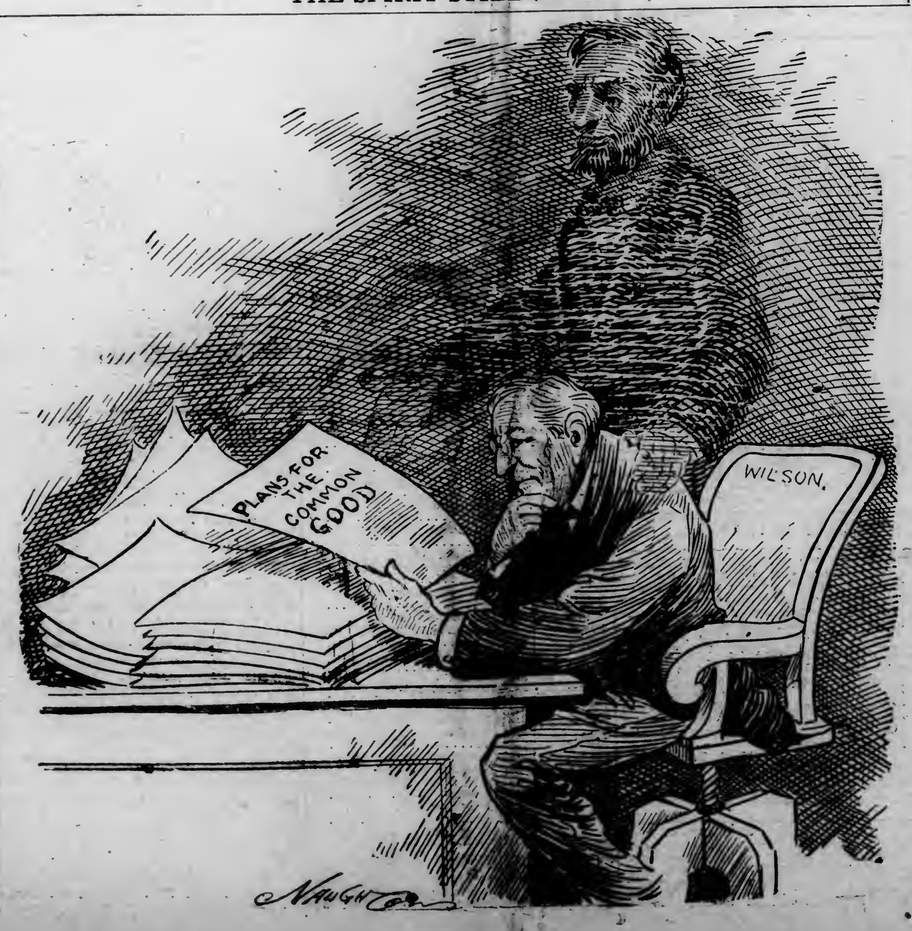

Case Practically Complete.

"The case is practically complete," said Michael L. Igoe, assistant United States district attorney.

SMITH CONFIDENT THAT HE WILL BE FREED OF WRONG

Convinced That When Transactions Are Fully Disclosed, Public Will View Them in Different Light.

Says Resignation Is Presented to Relieve Those Connected With Treasurer's Office From Embarrassment.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—State Treasurer Walter J. Smith today tendered his resignation to Governor J. A. A. Burnquist. The resignation immediately was accepted by the governor and Arthur C. Gooding of Rochester, Minn., was appointed as treasurer to succeed Smith.

Mr. Gooding was born in Rochester, June 20, 1871. His father, Alphonso Gooding, a native of New York, came to Minnesota in 1858 and about fifty years ago was treasurer of Olmsted county. Mr. Gooding graduated from the Rochester high school in 1888 and also studied at Oberlin. He entered the Union National bank at Rochester as a messenger in November, 1888. He later became bookkeeper and assistant cashier, and in 1899 was made cashier.

Elected President of Bank.

He was elected president of the First National bank of Rochester on Sept. 1, 1908, and has held that position since.

Mr. Gooding is also secretary and treasurer of the Rochester Telephone company, president of the Rochester Milling company and secretary of the Masonic Temple association. He served a number of years as school commissioner at large and clerk of the board of education. He has been a member of the library board since 1904 and is now a member of the executive council of the Minnesota Bankers' association. He is a Republican, a member of all of the Masonic bodies and also of Osman temple. He was married at Rochester in 1895 to Miss Frances Day Faitout. He is affiliated with the Episcopal church.

Was Not a Candidate.

According to Governor Burnquist, Mr. Gooding was not a candidate for the position, and it is not known whether he will be a candidate during the coming election. He comes from a congressional district that has no state officer at the present time.

Smith's resignation was submitted to Governor Burnquist by a friend of the former treasurer.

Letter of Resignation.

The text of the letter of resignation follows:

"Hon. J. A. A. Burnquist, governor state Minnesota: Dear Sir—The character of the charges and complaint, for the present, bearing so heavily against me in the public press, together with a sense of obligation and duty I feel toward the people of this state, who have honored me in the past with their confidence, prompt me to feel that under existing conditions the public interest and the welfare of the state administration will be best served by my resignation from the office of state treasurer. In taking this step, I am actuated:

"First, by a desire to relieve from embarrassment those who have to do with the state treasurer's office, and with whom heretofore I have been associated in the discharge of public duties, and

"Secondly, by my wish to relieve

CLAIM TO HAVE SUNK CRUISER

Germans Report Torpedoing British Warship Arabis Off Dogger Bank.

English Press Bureau Denies Loss of Cruiser Reported.

London, Feb. 12.—A Berlin official statement received here claims that a British cruiser has been sunk by a German torpedo boat craft and another British cruiser torpedoed. The British official press bureau denies this.

The German statement was to the effect that the German torpedo craft met British cruisers off the Dogger banks on Thursday night and sank the new cruiser Arabis and torpedoed a second cruiser.

In giving out the German message for publication, the press bureau appended the following:

"The British admiralty states that the cruisers above mentioned were four mine-sweeping vessels, three of which have returned safely."

German Statement.

The text of the German statement follows:

"On the night of the 10th and 11th, during an advance of our torpedo boats, our boats met on the Dogger bank, some 120 sea miles east of the English coast, several English cruisers, which at once fled. Our boats pursued them and sank the new cruiser Arabis, and obtained a hit with a torpedo on a second cruiser. Our torpedo boats rescued the commander of the Arabis, with two other officers and twenty-one men. Our forces suffered damage, but no losses."

The British cruiser Arabis is not listed in the current naval publications. This is explained by the fact that the names of the new boats of the British navy have not been given out by the admiralty because of war conditions.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

The Champagne region in France, where comparative quiet has prevailed recently while sanguinary battles have been in progress in the Artois and south of the Somme, has again been the scene of bitter fighting, of which the French have had the advantage.

Following a violent bombardment by French artillery along a great part of the Champagne front, the French launched an infantry attack on the German lines to the northeast of Massiges, penetrating the German positions over a front of approximately 200 yards. The allied gain is admitted in today's official bulletins from Berlin.

On Combres hill the French exploded a mine crater in front of the German trenches. German troops occupied the edges of the crater according to Berlin.

From South Russia and Galicia come announcement that the Russian offensive there is assuming considerable proportions but without striking results having been so far achieved. Otherwise comparative calm prevails in the widespread war area.

In preparations for eventualities around Saloniki, the allies are strengthening their positions and extending their lines. The French have advanced across the Vardar northwest of the city, encamping on the right bank of the river.

In Albania the Austrians are reported marching on Durazzo with a force not larger than 30,000 men, much of the Austrian army having been left in the regions already traversed for guard purposes.

According to word from Durazzo, the disarming of the Montenegrins has not been completed, and some of the Montenegrin forces are still offering stiff resistance.

Apparently the Russians are preparing to push still further their aggressive operations along the Bessarabian front, where they have been menacing the Austrian lines in Bukowina. Important troop movements in Bessarabia are indicated by Bucharest advices.

A royal decree has been issued in Rome prohibiting the importation of German and Austrian goods, their transportation through Italy or their export from Italian ports. Italy, which has never declared war on Germany, thus formally records the prohibition of commercial relations with her.

M'ALPINE CASE TO CLOSE

Final Summing Up By Attorneys Is Expected Next Tuesday.

Taking of testimony in the McAlpine insurance case, now being heard before District Judge Dancer and a jury, will probably be concluded Monday and on Tuesday will probably be given over to attorneys who will sum up the case for the jury.

Dale McAlpine, son of Mrs. Sarah K. McAlpine, will probably not take the stand as a witness. He was excused by attorneys for his mother, and his testimony on the former trial was read.

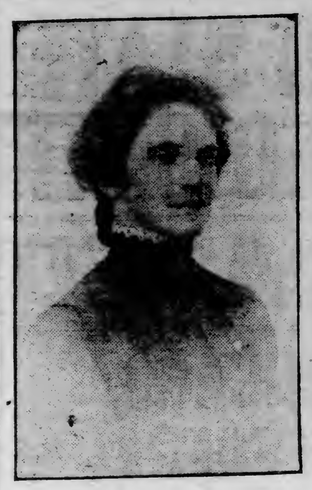

Dr. Moore, dean of the medical department of the state university, who conducted experiments on cadavers to determine the effect of gunshot wounds on the human head, testified that it was his opinion that Mr. McAlpine could not have been shot with the gun which was found near his body, which was partly loaded with Smith & Wesson U. M. C. .38-caliber special cartridges, except at a long range. The high power of penetration, he asserted, would have driven the bullet with considerably more force than was evidenced by an examination of Mr. McAlpine's head after the shooting.

Mrs. McAlpine today denied a statement in the News Tribune this morning to the effect that creditors of John McAlpine will receive none of the $24,000 insurance if she secures judgment. "I do not know who inspired this statement," said Mrs. McAlpine, "but the fact is that I am discharging my husband's obligations as rapidly as I can and shall continue to do so."

The present petition for the paving of Grand avenue, which asks for the improvement from Main to Elinor street, will be withdrawn according to C. M. Brooks, chairman of the committee. Requests that the petition be rewritten to include the thoroughfare from Main street to Highland, which would bring the improvement to a point a half block below the D. M. & N. railroad crossing, has caused the petition to be withdrawn, said Mr. Brooks.

The club selected Mr. Zauft and Mr. Barnes as its delegates to attend the annual convention of the St. Louis County club, which will be held at Virginia on Feb. 25.

Investigations made yesterday by R. H. who has had many years' experience in treating by natural methods, without drugs or surgeon's knife.

The Electric Magnetic Treatment has restored health and strength to those who have given up hope of ever walking, seeing, hearing or enjoying health again. He asserts without fear of contradiction that the great majority of cripples will yield to his advanced method of treatment, and a large number heretofore pronounced incurable can be cured to stay cured and others greatly relieved. The percentage of hopelessly incurable cases is exceedingly small. This is also true of deformities. Of course there are some who are beyond help, but all over this country there are thousands who are lame, wearing braces, stays and other contrivances, walking with canes, crutches, or limping through life, who could be made as others are by Dr. Mitchell's Electric Magnetic Treatment.

CITY BANKS CLOSE FOR DAY MERRIMENT RESULTS

Just two minutes before 10 o'clock this morning a man walked into the First National bank building.

Apparently he was in a hurry. He walked up to the bank door, read a sign and stopped. Then he laughed.

Two minutes later two other men came up, read the sign and also stopped. They, too, laughed. Then all three laughed.

The crowd grew, each addition to the odd assembly bringing forth a volley of laughts and cheers. Some left, but the crowd was never diminished during the whole morning. The same thing happened at the other banks in the downtown district.

Those in the crowd had a great time as long as they remained in front of the door, because they were constantly being repaid for their wait by the appearance of a very much-hurried person, who would rush up to the door in a manner suggesting an everyday occurrence, read the sign and then stop. The crowd would laugh; he would laugh and then they would all laugh over again just for good measure.

One or two women came up, read the sign, but hurriedly walked away—one might say angrily—all because the men ventured to laugh. But the crowd continued until 12 o'clock.

What was it all about?

Today is Lincoln's birthday, a legal holiday, and all the banks were closed. But many Duluthians had forgotten all about it and came down to the banks just the same.

HEROIC STATUE TO ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Memorial at Chicago Purchased By Dime Contributions.

Chicago, Feb. 12.—Unveiling of a heroic statue of Abraham Lincoln marked the celebration of Lincoln's birthday in Chicago. The statue which has been placed on a sunken lawn at the stock yards exchange is the work of Paul Fjelde, a Norwegian sculptor, and was purchased by dime contributions from virtually all employes at the Chicago Union Stock Yards.

The usual celebrations by school children and patriotic societies were held.

Observed at Springfield.

Senators Lawrence Y. Sherman and James Hamilton Lewis and Bishop William A. Quayle of St. Paul were to be the chief speakers at the public meeting and at the banquet tonight.

RECLAIMING MEN AND LAND AT COUNTY WORK FARM BEING DONE WITHOUT COST WHEN ENHANCED VALUE OF LAND IS CONSIDERED

OUT on the Pike Lake road, six miles west from the courthouse as the crow flies, a remarkable reclamation project is in the making. Scarcely two years ago, St. Louis county purchased a 1,000-acre tract there. It was then a desolate wilderness of brush and forest just as nature and the timberman of an earlier day had left it. Since then it has steadily undergone a transformation and today finds it the camp home of a thriving colony of misdemeanants who are demonstrating to the world at large that not only can they reclaim themselves but can also reclaim the land upon which they are placed.

St. Louis county's work farm has passed the second year of its existence. As the institution has generally been regarded as more or less of an experiment, its remarkably successful progress has been watched with great satisfaction, particularly among those who are interested in the subject of the outdoor treatment of criminal offenders. In this connection, the second annual report of Supt. Fred Ward is very interesting, for it shows that not only has the institution accomplished much in making men out of society's driftwood, but it has also demonstrated that in the final analysis the effort is not costing the taxpayers a penny.

How It Is Self-Sustaining.

When the assertion that the work farm is a self-sustaining organization is made, the value of improvements made by the men and the enhanced value to the land should be taken into account, according to Mr. Ward, and if this is done, the statement will stand as correct. The net cost of maintenance as shown on the books of the work farm office was $24,429.56 during 1915. This, it is claimed, should be reduced by credit for the following improvements:

Building roads	$ 75.00
Clearing land, 12 acres at $50 an acre	600.00
Clearing land, 64 acres at $35 an acre	2,240.00
Clearing land, 71 acres at $25 an acre	1,775.00
Clearing land, 44 acres at $20 an acre	880.00
Fencing	100.00
Drainage	100.00
Value of improvements to buildings	5,427.83
	$11,197.83

This reduces the actual net cost of maintenance to $13,271.73. If the increased valuation of the land owned by the county were to be taken into consideration, the $13,231.73 would be offset, which would make it appear that the farm had paid its own way. Most of the acreage was purchased at $25 an acre. It is believed that it could be sold for a considerably higher figure at this time owing to the improvements which have been made.

Ward's Report.

Supt. Ward's report, which has been submitted to the county work farm commission, is as follows:

"To the board of county work farm commissioners, Duluth, Minn.:

"The same general plans approved by your board for 1914, and fully explained in the 1914 report, have been followed during 1915, and the results are gratifying.

"We have endeavored to care for the men the way workingmen should be cared for if you expect a good day's work from them.

"The discipline has been good. We have had only 3.23 per cent of escapes and many of these have been returned.

"The co-operation of the men, officers and friends on the outside has been very helpful. As superintendent I wish to express my appreciation of the efforts of the men committed here in helping up make good with the institution.

"The success of an institution of this kind depends very largely upon the relationship of the men sent here and the officer he deals with day by day. Too much credit cannot be given officers of the institution for their interest in the welfare of the men, their loyalty to the institution and their very efficient service.

"We wish to express our thanks to the county and city officers and to the many other friends on the outside who have helped us so much during the last year.

"In behalf of the officers and for myself, personally, I wish to express to your honorable board our appreciation of the encouragement you have always given us in our work.

Farm Unit System.

"The farm unit system is working out well. During the year we have furnished relief to 109 families of married men serving time here, or an average of $11.45 to a family. It is the duty of the city, county, state or Federal government to care for the dependent families of men who have had their liberty taken from them. The relief furnished should be earned by the men serving time.

"During 1915 we have paroled 606 men. The parole law of this institution works well because it enables us to reward the good man for efficient and honest service rendered.

"We have endeavored during the year to furnish the men with as much wholesome amusement as possible. We have had numerous entertainments for which we wish to thank our friends who were willing to give of their time and talent for our enjoyment.

"Some of the business concerns of Duluth gave us considerable baseball material which our baseball team greatly appreciated.

"We also received numerous books, magazines and phonographic records which were enjoyed by the men and officers.

"We have conducted religious services practically every Sunday during the year. The Central Baptist and other Duluth churches, the Y. M. C. A. and other religious organizations have been very generous in helping us in this work.

"During the year 1915 we finished two outside contract jobs that were started in 1914 and completed ten other jobs. At one time last summer we had six outside contract jobs running at the same time. One was twenty-five miles east of Duluth, near Palmers; one ten miles north of Duluth, at the Jean Duluth farm; two at Pike Lake, six miles west of here; one thirty-three miles north on the Miller trunk road, and one eighteen miles south, at Nopeming sanatorium. The net earnings on these jobs was $2,339.52.

"During 1915 we helped eighty-eight men secure jobs of a permanent nature and furnished 498 men with temporary employment, paying them $3,350.23. This temporary employment enables the man without money or clothes to get back onto his feet and get a new start. This expense does not come out of the taxpayers' pockets, as these outside contract jobs pay their way.

"I sincerely hope that before long something can be done towards establishing a farm for women. They deserve an even break with the men. A 40-acre farm with a good-sized greenhouse and where small fruit and poultry could be raised, and with a small dairy, would be a good investment. Respectfully submitted,

"FRED WARD."

Statistics which supplement the report of the superintendent are interesting. The first men received at the farm were committed on Jan. 8, 1914, and from that date up to and including Dec. 3, 1915, the total number of admissions at the farm was 2,296. Of this number, 1,576 were taken to the institution during the year 1915.

"Of the 1,576 men committed during 1915, 1,255 were single men, 266 married men and 55 widowers. Their average age was 39 years and the average sentence was 28 days. The daily average population by months at the institution was as follows:

The municipal court of this city furnished most of the men for the institution, according to Mr. Ward's statistics. The report shows that of the 1,576 men committed, 1,461 were sent from the Duluth municipal court alone. The district court of this city sentenced 40; range district court, 11; municipal court at Eveleth, 4; municipal court at Chisholm, 5; municipal court at Hibbing, 12; municipal court at Tower, 2; justice court at Aurora, 2; justice court at Buhl, 7; justice court at Biwabik, 4; justice court at Gilbert, 4; justice court at Proctor, 1; justice court at Mountain Iron, 1; justice court at Winton, 2; juvenile court of Duluth, 1.

"Men from all walks of life and occupations ranging from the common laborer to the skilled tradesman and the learned physician are to be found among the list of misdemeanants who served time at the farm during the year.

Twice a year the books of the work farm commission are audited. William Busselman, public accountant of this city, who has been engaged by the work farm commission to do this work, has submitted a comprehensive statement of the accounts of the farm, which has been filed with the commission. Mr. Busselman finds that the books were kept in good shape and in accordance with a system which he installed at the farm when it began to do business. The audit covered by the accountant in his latest reports is for the year 1915.

Farm's Finances.

The report shows a number of interesting facts with reference to the financial end of the institution. Mr. Busselman finds that the cost of maintenance for 1915 was $24,429.56, not taking into consideration the value of improvements to buildings, which he figures at $5,427.83, making the net cost of maintenance for the year $19,001.73. The cost of maintenance since the institution was opened in November of 1913 aggregates $34,032.17.

The statement of the accountant lists as assets buildings which have been erected at the farm and which are valued at $17,100. These were built with free labor, and in figuring the cost only building material and expenses other than labor are taken into consideration. The buildings and their values are listed as follows: Main camp, $7,050; Farm "A," $5,300; Farm "C," $300; superintendent's residence, $1,700; assistant superintendent's residence, $2,100; sawmill, $650. Equipment at the main camp, Farm "A" and the sawmill is estimated to be worth $8,756.39.

A condensed summary of the income and expense statement from Jan. 1, 1915, to Jan. 1, 1916, as taken from the report of the accountant, is as follows:

FEW FILE ON FINAL DAY

Candidates for Presidential Electors and Delegates Before People.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The last day for filing arrived for presidential electors and delegates with but few to come in at the last minute. Nineteen have filed for delegate-at-large on the Republican ticket, eight for delegate-at-large on the Democratic ticket, and in the Eighth district four have filed for the Republican choice as district delegates and three on the Democratic ticket.

One of the surprises is the filing of O. J. Larson of Duluth for delegate-at-large, as he was in the conference in Duluth a few days ago, which chose Chester A. Congdon for that place. It is understood, however, that Mr. Congdon will not file.

On the Democratic side, John Christie, address unknown, has filed for district delegate with Wilson as his choice for president.

The Republican candidates for delegates are as follows:

Delegates at large—Frederick C. Stevens, Adolph O. Eberhart, James Manahan, Andrew A. D. Rahn, Jacob F. Jacobson, Samuel R. Van Sant, C. W. Armstrong, W. A. Briggs, L. E. Dunn, Vincent Mulvihill, O. LARGER VESSELS FOR NAVAL MILITIA

Washington, Feb. 12.—Larger naval vessels were assigned to naval militia organizations of several states today by Secretary Daniels. The battleship Kentucky, now in Mexican waters, was assigned to New York, the battleship Kearsarge to Massachusetts and the historic battleship Oregon to California. The cruiser Chicago, now the Massachusetts ship, was assigned to Pennsylvania and the cruiser Marblehead, now being used by California, was given to Oregon.

Four torpedo boat destroyers of the first division of the reserve torpedo flotilla were assigned as follows:

The Reid to Texas, the Flusser to Louisiana; the Lamson to South Carolina and the Preston to Florida with station at Key West.

These assignments are the first move in the navy department's plan to have reserve battleships manned principally by naval reserve men with the Atlantic fleet and Pacific fleet during the summer maneuvers.

STRIKING MINERS RETURN TO WORK

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 12.—Private advices received at Phoenix, Ariz., says a special to The Herald, state that 1,000 employes of the Detroit Copper company called out yesterday as a protest against the discharge of two union miners, returned to work today. ADDITIONAL SPORTS

SWEDISH-AMERICAN GAMES BEING PLANNED

New York, Feb. 12.—Ernie Hjertberg, the Swedish national Olympic games trainer, said today that while no arrangements had been completed for an international track meet between Swedish and American athletes next summer, he was hopeful that such a series might be scheduled.

In order to make such a trip a success, Hjertberg said, the Swedish team would have to compete in other sections of the country and he is hopeful that Boston, Chicago, Minneapolis and possibly a Pacific coast athletic club will also add their invitations to that of the New York A. C.

Stockholm, Feb. 12, via London.—The receipt of an invitation from the New York Athletic club addressed to the Swedish Athletic association, to send representative athletes to compete in sports at New York, Boston, Pittsburgh and Chicago has aroused keen interest here. A local resident, who is interested in athletics, has placed 15,000 Swedish crowns (a Swedish crown is worth about 27 cents) at the disposal of the association in case it accepts the invitation. The decision on this point has not yet been reached.

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 12.—E. C. Seaton of Chicago, secretary-treasurer of the National Amateur Baseball federation, resigned his office, and Ralston Goss of Indianapolis surrendered membership in the organization at the annual meeting here today. GUARD NEEDS MORE MEMBERS

Duluth Militia Officers Will Make Campaign for Men.

Fifty Enlistments Will Fill Up Duluth Battalion to Quota.

Next week will be "militia week," and during that period a campaign will be made among the eligible young men of the city to join the National Guard, and thus individually do something in the program of preparedness which is holding the attention of the nation at this time.

Duluth has three militia companies, one recently organized, and the chief officers of the Third regiment reside here. Besides that, Duluth is the home of the Minnesota naval militia, and one of the leading cities on the lakes in that movement. In short, it is, in a small sense, a military center, so far as citizen soldiers and naval men are concerned.

The Duluth officers of the National Guard feel that the city is amply large enough to maintain a battalion—three companies—of militia, and, wishing to take advantage of the present interest in preparedness, these officers are attempting at this time to stir up enough local interest to fill up the three companies to their full footing and keep them filled up.

Need Fifty Men.

Only about fifty men are needed to complete the quota of the battalion ou, vacancies have to be provided for from time to time, as members leave the city to work in other places, and their connection is thus ended. Seventy-three enlisted men and three officers are required to each company.

"We must have more interest in the National Guard if we would avoid compulsory service," said Capt W. O. Flodin, commander of Company C, today. "I am sure that we all wish to avoid it, for it is traditional with this nation that we volunteer for such things. But it seems to me to be certain that unless there is enough enthusiasm shown and enough support offered the National Guard, congress will have to take some drastic action.

"It is up to young men who are eligible for such service to enlist, and it is just as much up to employers to permit such enlistment and to permit the absence of employes at encampment once a year, or they will find themselves confronted with more serious inconvenience."

Among the employers who have voiced themselves in favor of enlistment is Bentley P. Neff, manager of the Glass Block store. Said he concerning the object of militia week:

Employer Indorses Plan.

"Yes, indeed, I am in favor of the militia, and I hope to see the young men of Duluth tender their services to this most worthy cause. It has been my privilege to serve in both the cavalry and infantry branches of the army, and I am convinced that the lessons I learned and instructions received while in the service have proven of the greatest possible benefit to me physically and mentally.

"Such training, in my opinion, is splendid for any young man. It teaches initiative, self-reliance, respect for authority, and inspires confidence and patriotism. In addition, it develops the physical, and gives a feeling of being able to handle one's self in times of emergency, which is very comforting.

"No one desires war, but recent events show how quickly trouble can materialize, and if the worst comes to the worst, then let us be prepared.

"The lack of young men in the service is due perhaps to some extent to a natural hesitancy on the part of families to recognize the necessity of such action, or encourage anything that has the appearance of fighting; but it should be considered that it is more sorrowful to send untrained men against unbeatable odds, than to allow them the opportunities of government service in time of peace.

Build By Co-operation.

"In my opinion, if everyone would be willing to do their share, and perhaps sacrifice a little at this time, an army and navy would soon be established which would certainly warrant peace here, inasmuch as it could properly protect our interests, and other nations, being aware of this condition, would consequently act accordingly.

"But coming back to our local situation, let us encourage our local militia all we can. Our corporation is pleased to make arrangements to let milliitiamen off for annual encampments, and I am sure business concerns generally feel the same way.

"Nowhere in the country will you find companies better officered or better associates in the ranks than right here in our own Duluth companies, both army and navy, and where can you find an armory that offers more facilities in the way of civic and social activities than that of the splendid new building which has added so much to the beauty and charm of this city?"

SYMPATHY DIES; HE WANTS REVENGE

Fred Kenney Robbed By Man He Sought to Help.

It was the same old story of the Good Samaritan, told with much picturesque language and many expletives, that Fred Kenney related to the police this morning.

"I've been robbed of between $10 and $20—and a brand new mackinaw," he said, "and I want to send the guy that did it to jail for life."

Police Capt. A. G. Fiskett, although a true policeman, said that he would hardly like to see the alleged robber go to jail for life, but he admitted that he would like to have a few minutes' conversation with him, at least.

Fred went on to say that he obtained a room at the Liberty hotel, West Michigan street, the other night, and that he took with him a "friend" he had met in a nearby saloon.

The "friend" disappeared during the night, and the money and mackinaw went with him.

An Old Story of 50 Years Ago

True and Full of Human Interest Everybody Should Read It.

THE life story (here told only in brief form) of the Rev. Father John O'Brien, who came to Lowell, Mass., in 1848, to take charge of St. Patrick's Parish, is a record of loving self-sacrifice and service to humanity.

For such a spirit there is always work, never any time for self, always time for service to others. Duties pressed one upon another, and only his earnestness and noble spirit enabled him to bear up under the great responsibility he left.

Father John Rode Over the Hills and Mountains of Virginia in All Kinds of Weather.

Father John, as he was affectionately known to his people, was born in Ireland, ordained to the priesthood there in 1828, and came to America in 1841 to take charge of a large missionary field in Martinsburg, West Virginia. For seven years Father John traversed the hills and mountains, through rain and shine, heat and cold, visiting the sick and afflicted, cheering and encouraging the unfortunate.

In 1848 Father John came to Lowell, Mass., to take up his labors in St. Patrick's Parish, which in those early days included many miles of the thinly settled territory round about. Under his direction and by his splendid energy, schools and a hospital were established. It was at his suggestion and through his energetic work that the rebuilding of St. Patrick's Church was begun and completed. As he had done in Virginia, so in the more rigorous New England climate, Father John exposed himself to all kinds of weather in his work for his people.

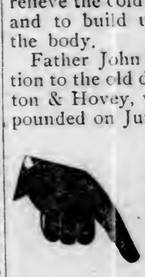

Father John comes to Lowell, Mass., in 1848

Soon after the dedication of St. Patrick's Church, in 1854, Father John's cares and burdens began to wear him down. His years of devotion to duty had left him weak and feeble. He was attacked with a serious cold, which developed into a stubborn cough and affliction of the lungs, which caused the greatest alarm for his health. Medical skill seemed unable to stay the disease for a time until his doctor gave him a prescription to relieve the cold and lung affliction and to build up and strengthen the body.

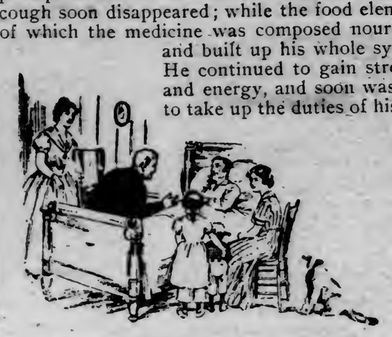

Father John Went About His Work in All Kinds of Weather.

Father John sent the prescription to the old drug store of Carleton & Hovey, where it was compounded on June 9, 1855. He began taking the medicine and showed prompt improvement. The soothing, healing elements of which the medicine was composed gave prompt relief to the throat irritation and the cough soon disappeared; while the food elements of which the medicine was composed nourished and built up his whole system. He continued to gain strength and energy, and soon was able to take up the duties of his parish with his old-time vigor, and his wonderful recovery was the one thing talked of, for he was loved and admired by all, regardless of race, creed or class.

Through Exposure Father John Falls Ill

Father John Visits the Sick and Afflicted in His Parish

In the homes of his parishioners Father John's visits were again enjoyed, and there he would tell how he had been restored to health and strength, how the medicine he had taken had made him as strong and rugged as ever, had built up his entire system and given him new life and energy. When he visited the sick and ailing he recommended the medicine that had done him so much good.

Father John Resumed his Visits to his Parishioners.

The prescription was on file in Prescription Book IX., at the old drug store of Carleton & Hovey.

Those whom the clergyman advised to take it always came to the drug store and asked for "Father John's" medicine and so it was named by the people, and advertised, all with the approval of Father John, because he knew of its power to do good from his own experience. He desired that all who were ailing might test its value.

By this word-of-mouth recommendation starting more than fifty years ago, Father John's Medicine, as it soon came to be called, became a family remedy in countless homes.

The old prescription book, its pages tattered and worn through years of usage, is still carefully preserved, and the page which shows the greatest wear is that upon which the original prescription was written more than fifty years ago.

The Old Prescription Book

Because they saw the results which the medicine gave, many doctors have prescribed and recommended Father John's Medicine, and it is today in use in many institutions, hospitals and children's homes from one end of the country to the other.

The Old Apothecary Shop Established in 1827.

The faith of the people in this valuable prescription grew stronger from year to year because of the character of the results which it gave, a faith that was further strengthened because Father John's Medicine is endorsed by hospitals, by the clergy and institutions wherever it is used, and by thousands who know its value by actual trial.

"We are pleased to endorse Father John's Medicine, knowing of its merit and history."—Signed

Father John's Medicine Endorsed by Many Institutions and Children's Homes.

These endorsements have been given voluntarily and are used with the full knowledge and consent of the authors. We have many others, the names of which we shall be pleased to furnish upon application.

Nothing can be added to these strong endorsements—praise given because of their knowledge and faith in its merit, and an earnest desire to have others benefit by its wonderful power.

You have read of its history and fifty years of success, during which time it has proved a great blessing to mankind. Permit us now to tell you of its value.

It is an old-fashioned family remedy—not a patent medicine, but the prescription of the learned doctor who was consulted when the case of the late Rev. Father O'Brien did not yield to the customary treatment. It is free from alcohol, opium, morphine, cocaine or poisonous drugs in any form which are found in many of the patent medicines; it contains no alcohol or other stimulants. It is a Food Medicine, pure and wholesome. It is invaluable as a tonic and body-builder and restores weak and run-down systems to health and strength. It nourishes the system and makes flesh.

Father John's Medicine is used and Endorsed by Thousands of Mothers

Right here we want to warn you against the danger in taking patent medicines which rely wholly on stimulating or nerve-deadening drugs for their effect. They weaken the system and leave you exposed to disease, cause nervous prostration and a craving for drugs; thousands of victims of the drug habit had the desire created by taking some patent medicines and many so-called "cough syrups" and "balsams." It is almost an impossibility to find a single preparation that does not contain poisonous drugs.

Father John's Medicine is a safe medicine for all the family; for the children as well as older people, because it does not contain alcohol or dangerous drugs in any form. In the treatment of colds, coughs, throat and lungs, and as a tonic and body builder it has had more than fifty years of success.

Many Doctors Prescribe Father John's Medicine

"THE ISLE OF SALES" DELIGHTS BIG AUDIENCE AT THE LYCEUM THEATER

Duluth Show, Written and Staged By Duluthians, Has Many Clever and Attractive Features; Under Auspices of Commercial Travelers.

For those who want some real entertainment out of a home talent show, and who are blase enough to demand only the unusual, it is suggested that they drop in the Lyceum theater this evening and witness the performance of the "Isle of Sales," which is being staged under the auspices of Zenith council, No. 40, United Commercial Travelers. It played to a full house last evening and the performance will be repeated tonight.

True it is that it is an amateur production. It was distinctly a Duluth show, written by Duluth people and produced so as to delight the most discerning Duluthians. For years it has been the custom of the local council of the "knights of the grip" to put on an annual minstrel show. The black-face entertainment gave way this year, however, to a cleverly arranged musical comedy, which proved to be a convenient vehicle for a merry mix of music and dance.

There is a sort of plot running through the play, but it is of the musical comedy order and doesn't count except for cues to the singing and dancing features. The story centers around a traveling man who fell asleep in his room at a hotel and dreamed of a trip to the "Isle of Sales," a cannibal isle.

Matt Hughes took the part of the traveling salesman and his lines were laugh getters. W. J. Ryan, in the role of an Irish mate, scored not only one of the comedy hits of the evening, but demonstrated that he was also somewhat of a dancer. To Mr. Ryan, most of the credit for the dancing numbers on the program is given. He trained the bevy of chorus girls in their dancing numbers and had supervision of the other terpsichorean features.

Several Song Hits.

There were several song hits during the play. Ollie Dignus sang two solo numbers with the grace and ease of a professional and was given a good hand. He also appeared in a pleasing duet with Miss Edna May Drier, who was one of the soloists who scored a hit. Miss Borghil E. Dahl, who is well known in Duluth amateur theatricals, was also at her best last evening and delighted her audience with her selections. Then there were Warwick Martin, Paul Anderson and Walter C. Robinson, whose solo numbers were very creditable.

Miss M. Newell was favored with many encores in her song "I Want a Man For Each Month of the Year," and if judged by the amount of applause which was accorded her she scored one of the big hits of the show. She and her chorus of twelve young men in evening togs who seemed to understand to some extent at least the poetry of motion, were called back several times.

Little Miss Forrester, who gave a novelty dance entitled "The Birth of a Chicken," made many admirers and this was no less true of Ray Trask and his Misses Fern Newstrand and Adelaide Roos, who staged a trio dancing number. This was followed by a soiree of modern dances gracefully done by Miss Marjorie Willard and Mitchell Norski, Mr. Farrell and Miss Lunt, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Ryan. Mr. Ryan appeared in two later dancing numbers assisted by the Misses Fern Newstrand and Grace Bergstrom.

Others who took part in the play were Miss Clara Mehlum, who played the Queen of the Isle of Sales; Walter Jaap, Mabel Jerstad and Carl Johnson. The dancing Grecian nymphs are: Miss Jorstad, Katherine Connelly, Hazel Hammer, Isabel Mendenhall, Pearl Jorstad, Helen Ausland, Dona Clark, Marion Fleishman, Marjorie Willard, and the personnel of the pony chorus is: Adelaid Roos, Mable Jerstad, Marie Cyr, Grace Bergstrom, Madeline Roos, Rose Moritz, Fern Newstrand, Ruby Newstrand, Beatrice King, Frances Hesse, Eva Roy, Sylva Troudon, George Taufman, Wallace Malcolm, Elmer Dahl, William Sjosellius, Joe Coutre, Fisk Ray, Charles Kreamer, H. Newman, W. Tifer, A. O. Arsenean, A. Tifer, Frank McInnes.

George O'Sullivan wrote the play and lyrics of all of the music except the songs "I Cannot Forget," written by Harry Earnshaw, and "My Little Coleen," which was composed by D. J. Michaud. Charles Helmer and Mr. Michaud arranged the music and Mr. Helmer led the orchestra.

To produce "The Isle of Sales," involved lots of hard work, but it was really worth while.

The committee in charge of the play this year is George M. Peterson, Tom Chalmers and J. D. Satfler, and they are entitled to a large measure of the credit for its success.

HUSBAND GIVEN THE "LIMIT."

Thorwald Nygard Sent to Work Farm for Drawing Knife.

After nailing up the front and back doors to prevent interference, Thorwald Nygard, 39, living at 4620 Jay street, Lakeside, drew a long knife last night and started for his wife, saying: "The blood'll run in this house tonight."

Mrs. Nygard's screams attracted the attention of Patrolman Nels Setterquist, who had brought the husband home but a few minutes before and released him on a promise that he would behave.

Nygard, who is a shoemaker, was subdued after a battle in the snow, and brought to headquarters.

Judge W. H. Smallwood sentenced him to eighty-five days in the county jail this morning in municipal court. It was the most severe sentence that could be imposed.

K. C. REHEARSALS DAILY.

Will Stage Minstrel and Vaudeville Show to Boost Building Fund.

Rehearsals are in progress every evening for the minstrel and vaudeville show to be given Monday and Tuesday, Feb. 21 and 22, at the Cathedral auditorium under the auspices of Duluth council, Knights of Columbus. The production is being given for the benefit of the home building fund, and the entire membership of the council is working strenuously to make this affair a decided success. Ten acts, comprising fifty people, have been recruited from the various Catholic parishes of the city, and the cast includes some of the best amateur talent in Duluth. Special emphasis is being laid on the musical features of the show, this being under the direction of George Getsey, who has just returned from an extended vaudeville tour and who is exceptionally talented in this direction.

CAUGHT AFTER LONG CHASE

A. B. Monette Is in Cell After 6,000-Mile Flight Lasting Six Years.

Alleged Forger Is Nabbed in Duluth Where Pursuit Began.

A 6,000-mile chase, which lasted six and one-half years, ended a few blocks from the starting point last night, when five detectives cornered Arthur B. Monette, 35, at 25 Second avenue west.

Late in 1909, Monette cashed a score of bad checks, police allege, and fled from Duluth just ahead of officers of the law. He secured more than $300 in this city alone, it was said, and a chase was taken up which led through Minnesota, the Dakotas, Montana, Idaho and on into Washington.

Then the scent grew cold, and Monette went up into Canada to go to work, so that he could care for a daughter, who is living in Wisconsin. From time to time Duluth police received rumors about him. He bobbed up in various Western states and last was heard from in New York.

"Let him go," said Former Chief C. H. Troyer, "he'll come back some day and then we'll get him."

True to the prophecy, Monette crept into the city yesterday, thinking that he could look around a little bit and get out before he was caught.

Within a few hours, however, the "tip" went forth at headquarters that Monette was back and Lieutenant Gustav Lahti detailed the entire detective force to look for him. They found him in the small hotel, where he had engaged a room.

The old warrant, signed by Former Judge W. L. Windom and Former Clerk of Court John G. Ross, was dug up and served. In it Frank E. Blodgett alleged that Monette, on Oct. 9, 1909, had forged the name "S. M. Iverson" to a check drawn on the First National bank for $18.75.

"That's what I call tough," was Monette's only comment. He said he had walked eighty-four miles through the Pigeon River country in order to reach Duluth.

After talking with Chief R. D. McKercher, Monetto agreed that he was "in bad," and that there would be no use in fighting the case.

He was taken to the county jail this morning and will be arraigned under a secret indictment believed to contain seven counts, returned against him in 1909.

VISIT HEADQUARTERS

SEES OLD PLAYMATE

"Pet" is just an ordinary black-and-white dog, which was sent away from his home several days ago because he was too rough with the children.

Two of his former playmates, Misses Alice and Susan Pastoret, 1408 East Third street, braved half a dozen policemen at headquarters today just so they could talk to "Pet," who now is known as "Pat," and came away with something suspiciously like tears in their eyes.

"Please may I see my dog?" asked a very feminine voice of Capt. A. G. Fiskett shortly after 11 o'clock.

"Your dog?" replied the captain," why of course, Miss. There he is, right out there."

Both girls started for the jailer's room and a minute later had their arms around "Pat's" neck, while he fairly trembled with joy at seeing his old friends.

"Dear old Pet," said one, "have you missed us very much?"

Pet wagged his tail and gave a little bark more eloquent than words.

A few minutes afterward, when the girls started for the door, Pat insisted upon following, and Jailer L. A. Root had to hold him until the door slammed shut behind them.

The dog was brought to headquarters last Tuesday, and police liked him so well that he now is the official mascot of the force.

BUYERS GO EAST.

George A. Gray Company Corps Invade New York and Chicago Markets.

Mr. Elear, manager of the linen department, was called to his home at Florence, Wis., some time ago by the death of his father, and will go to New York direct from their.

Miss Williams, manager of the millinery department, also left during the week to attend the Chicago fashion show and will meet Miss Stark, the head trimmer of the millinery department, in that market some time next week.

Mr. Gray, president of the company, expects to join the buyers in New York at an early date.

The outlook for spring business in Duluth is such that the "Gray" stocks will be planned to embrace the most select spring assortments ever brought to the store.

SISTERS OF ST. BENEDICT NEVER TURN ANY PATIENT AWAY BECAUSE OF POVERTY; RESULT IS THEY OWE $103,000

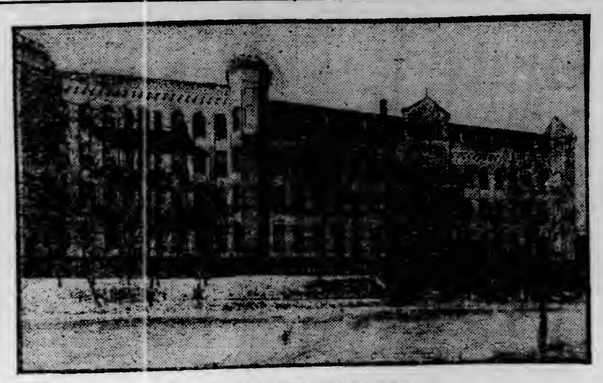

In the twenty-eight years that the sisters of St. Benedict have been ministering to the ills of the people of Duluth and surrounding country, they have accumulated an indebtedness of $103,000. It is in the form of a mortgage, and they are most eager to have it effaced. For this reason they have inaugurated a city-wide campaign, in which thirty-five committees will be employed to reach the desired end.

The Benedictine sisters opened their first hospital here Feb. 22, 1888. The building was at Twentieth avenue west and was designed for hospital purposes by Rev. Alexius Edelbrook, O. S. B., and was leased to the sisters. With this beginning, eight sisters were assigned as nurses with Sister Alexia Kerst, as superior, in charge. Since then hundreds of sisters have devoted their lives to the work.

St. Mary's hospital now has fifty-five nurses in training. The hospital, which stands at the corner of Fifth avenue east and Third street, occupies a quarter of a block and is four stories in height. The investment represents $250,000. The interest on the indebtedness runs about $6,900 a year.

Charity Work.

"We have labored hard in our efforts to give Duluthians and people from surrounding country a hospital of which they could all feel proud," said

ST. MARY'S HOSPITAL.

MRS. WHITNEY WALL,
Chairman of Women's Committee.

Sister Superior Anastasia this morning. "In doing this we have been forced into indebtedness that amounts to $103,000. There is hardly a day that we do not have to accept charitable patients, men and women who have no money and most of whom are never able to pay. We have to bear the burden of this expense. And we are willing to do so. No matter who the patient might be, we cannot refuse them admittance. It is a rule of our order and of our religion to help everyone and this we do. Our charity expense averages better than $5,000 a year. Then, again, there are many people who could pay us, who don't.

"Just for example during the five years, running from January, 1910, until January, 1915, we had outstanding accounts amounting to $37,034.42. Of this amount we were able to collect only $12,363.79. During that same period our charities amounted to $21,793.74.

We have an average of between $4,000 and $5,000 a year of bad debts that we never get. On all of our bills we are never able to collect more than 35 per cent, the remainder representing a dead loss, which we have to bear."

Is Fully Equipped.

St. Mary's hospital is one of the best appointed in the entire Northwest. It occupies an eminence commanding a magnificent view of Lake Superior. It is within convenient distance of the physicians and patients and is yet sufficiently removed from the noisy part of the business district. It is a four-story, solid brick building and is well ventilated and lighted, having large spacious corridors. It is in every appointment a thoroughly up-to-date hospital, having all modern improvements. It contains two fine operating rooms, a thoroughly equipped pathological and bacteriological laboratory, a pharmacy and a static and X-ray department.

Besides many pretty private rooms, the hospital contains fifteen wards and has accommodations for 200 patients. All reputable physicians are admitted. St. Mary's hospital prides itself for having cared in Duluth for the first case of appendicitis, which was handled by Dr. W. H. Magie in 1891, and the first case of gastro enterotomy in 1896. During the Hinckley fire and the typhoid fever epidemic in 1896-1897 this hospital proved a real God-send.

Active workers in the cathedral parish have been enlisted to labor in a campaign to raise at least $50,000. This campaign, which will open on Feb. 24, will have thirty-five committees composed of men and of women.

C. J. Sheffield, Spalding hotel, is now framing the various committees, and will have the lists ready in the near future. Rev. Hugh Floyd, rector of Sacred Heart cathedral, will have charge of all of the committees. Rt. Rev. James McGolrick, Roman Catholic bishop of Duluth, is taking an active interest in the work. Mrs. Whitney Wall, active member of the cathedral parish, will have charge of the women's committees. Each committee will have six members, including the chairman. H. S. Macgregor of the City National bank is treasurer of the campaign. Tomorrow afternoon all of the workers will hold a meeting in the sun parlor of the Spalding to complete arrangements for the canvass.

CROOK CAPTURED

local secret service, kept the door of his office locked against all except government officials.

Certain papers found on the person of one of the prisoners, suggested connection with the robbery of the New Westminster branch of the Bank of Montreal.

The arrests and the recovery of two trunks full of revenue stamps were said by Michael L. Igoe of the United States district attorney's office here to be the most important made by Federal agents in years. Mr. Igoe will arraign the prisoners before a commissioner and said that bonds of $100,000 would be demanded in each case.

The prisoners, who live in Chicago, are: Michael J. Flannigan, saloon keeper and wife; Edward Lofard, alleged ex-convict and wife; John J. Zeck and wife.

The St. Paul robbery engaged the attention of secret service men, revenue agents, private and municipal detectives of a number of cities. Frank W. Summer, chief of the secret service bureau at St. Paul, was in direct charge, assisted by Capt. Thomas I. Porter and Peter Drautsberg of the Chicago bureau; S. A. Connell, chief of the St. Louis bureau; William Houghton and Hiram Rich of the New York bureau and revenue agents.

Stamps Negotiable.

The stamps were negotiable, and every wheel in the government machinery was set going for their recovery. Clerks will count the amount recovered, but it is believed that the two trunks contained most of the booty. The stamps ranged in denominations from 1 cent to $100.

The alleged solution of the case came when several of the secret service men came to the conclusion that the robbery suggested the Canadian bank looting. In this connection it was recalled that Flannigan was arrested on a charge of passing money thought to have come from the bank. He cleared himself of the charge, but not of the suspicions of detectives working on the case. Work began with the shadowing of his house and saloon at Kedie street and Archer avenue.

Two trunks, said to have been those recovered, were brought to the house by Leonard. He was followed and it was learned that prior to the robbery he and Mrs. Leonard rented a house at 804 Sixth street south, Minneapolis. The booty, it is alleged, was brought from St. Paul in an automobile which had been traced to this house.

Mrs. Leonard and Mrs. Zeck are said to be sisters and the Zecks owe their arrest to the fact that 6-year-old Evelyn Zeck was visiting "Aunty" Leonard when the Leonards were arrested. The child took them to her home where the arrests were made.

GIRL ENDED LIFE IN WOODS

steps he took beside the young woman and at the spot where the body lay through the night until found by her father in the dawn.

Saw Bottle Pressed to Lips.

Before this ordeal, he was to be confronted by William James, a deaf mute teamster, who in a written statement, said he saw Miss Lambert and a young man, known to him, in the woods on Wednesday and that he saw the man press a bottle to the young woman's lips.

Orpet and Miss Lambert were said by friends of the young woman to have been frequently in each other's company for several years.

There was delay in finding James, the teamster, who said he saw the two in the woods and Orpet was taken to the woods and, accompanied by the officers, walked over the route which he said he and Marion Lambert followed last Wednesday.

At one point the party descended into a little ravine and at another Orpet stopped and told the officers that it was there he had a sharp quarrel with the girl when he told her of his engagement to another. At the three trees beneath which the girl's body was found the party halted and searched diligently for the bottle which had held the poison.

Orpet joined in the search which was fruitless, and the theory was advanced that the poison had been carried in a paper or in a capsule.

Knew of Death.

William H. Orpet, a junior at the University of Wisconsin, early today confessed to detectives at Madison, Wis., knowledge of the death by poison of Marion Frances Lambert, Lake Forest high school girl, whose body was found in a wooded section of Lake Forest on Thursday. Orpet, in custody of detectives, is en route to Lake Forest, where he will testify at the coroner's inquest into the death of the girl.

According to the statement of officers, Orpet said he met Miss Lambert in the woods near the Sacred Heart academy Wednesday morning by appointment. He said she pleaded with him for two hours to renew his friendship with her. He said he declined. Then, according to the officers, Orpet said he left her and as he did she swallowed the poison, which caused her death.

Orpet did not admit that he actually saw the girl die. He confessed, however, that he wrote her a letter, making the appointment, declined to continue as her friend and later wrote another letter to be delivered at her home in Lake Forest after the finding of her body. It was pointed out by detectives that the second letter might have been written to establish an alibi, the purpose of which was to indicate that he had not left Madison on the night preceding the girl's death.

the public anxiety and to restore public confidence in the administration of the financial affairs of the state, by placing it in your power to return immediately to the office of state treasurer, some person against whom the voice of censure and criticism has not been directed. My physical condition at the present hour, and for many days past, precludes the possibility, even if it were expedient and proper, to discuss the transactions complained of in my administration of the state's finances, further than to express to you an abiding conviction, that when these transactions, at the proper time, are fully disclosed in the light of their surrounding environment and circumstances, they will receive, through a sense of public justice, an infinitely different conception from that so far accorded them. With feelings of regret deeper than words can express for the untoward circumstances which render my present action the only appropriate and proper course to pursue, I hereby tender to you my resignation of the office of state treasurer of the state of Minnesota, the same to take effect immediately.

"Yours most respectfully,
"GALTER J. SMITH."

George Lafond, confidential clerk to Mr. Smith, placed the resignation in the hands of Governor Burnquist.

Statement By Smith.

With the resignation was a statement which, it is understood, is to be followed by another statement, possibly late today. Mr. Lafond persistently denied that Mr. Smith had made a confession of any sort, but there were rumors to the contrary.

The resignation came, it is believed, as a result of a long conference last night at the Minneapolis sanatorium where Mr. Smith is under treatment. Mr. Lafond, Mrs. Smith and Fred B. Meyers of Duluth went to that institution together and were there for several hours.

Mr. Lafond, after presenting the resignation to the governor, admitted that Mr. Smith had authorized a statement, and shortly thereafter this afternoon it was made public by the governor.

Mr. Smith says that his resignation is tendered in the interest of the public welfare, to relieve those associated with the state treasurer's office from further embarrassment and to restore public confidence.

Mr. Smith says that his physical condition is such as to preclude his entering into the detail of the financial transactions which have been made the basis of indictments against him. But he said that when he is physically and mentally able to speak for himself that the public will appreciate the surrounding environments and place an infinitely different construction on the final tranactions which have taken place.

He said his resignation was offered with feelings of regret.

It is understood that Mr. Smith authorized this statement, which was virtually the same as his letter of resignation and signed it as he did the resignation itself, but it is not believed that he dictated it himself. His physical condition is said by the physicians in attendance on him to be such as to preclude the possibility of his making any very coherent declaration at this time.

Smith's Physical Condition.

There is no disagreement as to the physical condition of Mr. Smith. When Dr. Brodie of the office of the Ramsey county physician examined Mr. Smith he confirmed the statement by the attending physician that Mr. Smith is in no condition to move.

It is planned to move him to St. Paul Monday or Tuesday, providing his condition improves.

Friends predict that there will be a statement from him within a short time outlining his position and setting forth the story which he will tell the court when his case is called. They say that there is much in the position of the resigned treasurer to create a justifiable sympathy, even if Mr. Smith is guilty as charged by Pickit.

Thomas L. Kane of St. Paul now is said to have been retained as counsel for Mr. Smith and Minneapolis attorneys also have been consulted. Today Victor L. Power, mayor of Hibbing, an old friend of Mr. Smith's, called at the sanatorium to consult with Mr. Smith.

Smith Still in Sanatorium.

Armed with bench warrants summoning Smith to appear before the Ramsey county district court and plead to three indictments charging him with grand larceny, Deputy Sheriffs James Fenstermacher and Frank Baer of St. Paul arrived yesterday afternoon at the sanatorium.

With them was Dr. W. D. Brodie of St. Paul, a deputy county physician, delegated by Sheriff John Wagener to examine Mr. Smith and decide whether he is able to be removed from the sanatorium. Dr. J. M. Fox, attending Mr. Smith, declared that Mr. Smith was weak and highly nervous but that if necessary he could be moved.

After a careful examination of Mr. Smith, Dr. Brodie announced that he was in no condition to be taken to St. Paul at present.

The deputy sheriffs were present when the examination was made. Fenstermacher said Smith appeared to be very despondent. Baer said that when he is taken to St. Paul it is likely to be to the St. Paul city hospital. The deputies, according to their orders, were to remain at the sanatorium, relieving the detectives who have been on watch there. Mr. Smith is in their custody.

Remark Aroused Anxiety.

A remark that Smith dropped while being examined as to his physical condition by Dr. Brodie led the county officials to use extraordinary precautions in guarding him while he remains at the sanatorium.

"I don't care whether I die or not," Smith said while Dr. Brodie was examining him.

Deputy Sheriff Fenstermacher said this remark did not sound good to him. "I would feel much better if we had Smith under our direct care in St. Paul," Fenstermacher said. "In his peculiar mental condition, Smith might take a notion to jump through one of the windows."

The state treasurer is confined in a room on the second floor of the Gatlin institute.

Dr. Brodie, however, said it would not be best to move Smith now because of his weakened condition. He will be kept at the Gatlin, until his condition improves sufficiently to bring him to St. Paul.

The affirmative speakers were: Dominick Centanino, Lily Gilbertson and Ellen Johnson; the negative: Blanche Fredrickson, Viola Sinclair and Mabel Thorpe.

The debate was decided in favor of the negative. The second question debated was: "Resolved, That Military Training Should Be Established In All the High Schools of the Country, and That It Should Be Made Obligatory for All Boys Who Are Physically Fit to Take It." The speakers for the affirmative were Mildred Miller and Lillian Lundberg; negative, Elizabeth Widell and Margaret Elder. The debate was decided in favor of the affirmative. The third debate was: "Resolved, That Women Should Follow Their Own Inclination in the Matter of Fashions Rather Than the Modes Set Day By Such Fashion Centers as Paris, New York and Berlin."

The affirmative speakers were Dorothy Patton and Dora Halverson; the negative, Ruth O'Brien and Elena Salminen. The debate was decided in favor of the affirmative.

Friday morning during the chapel period exercises were held in honor of Abraham Lincoln. The chorus sang "Our Country's Flag," after which Rev. Mr. Gebauer, pastor of the First Unitarian church, delivered an address on "The Soul of Lincoln." C. E. Wallace, head of the history department, also gave an address on "Lincoln, the Man."

RESIDENTS OF AFTON NOW RESTING EASIER

Ice Gorge Gives Way and Fear of Flood Becomes Remote.

Janesville, Wis., Feb. 12.—After ten days of worry as to whether their homes would be flooded and the mill dam on Bass creek washed away by high water, the residents of Afton, a village some nine miles south of Janesville are now resting easier, the ice jam in the Rock river at the town line bridge having broken, allowing the water which backed up on Bass creek which runs through the village, to escape. While it will be several days before electric current is resumed the real danger is past unless a second ice jam forms which is doubtful. Meanwhile the Rockford interurban is still seriously handicapped and compelled to transfer passengers, through a string of passenger cars, from one through car to a second, over a distance of some 300 odd feet where the water is too deep for the cars to run under power and the extra cars are stationed as a transfer point. The ice gorge above the city at what is called the Narrows, is also gradually disappearing although the river itself is still very high and basements in the business district are still flooded.

ATTEMPT TO BLOW UP U. S. PLANT AT NIAGARA

Factory at Falls Has Large Contract for Chemicals for Allies.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Feb. 12.—No arrests have yet been made in connection with the attempt to blow up the plant of the Castner Electrolytic Alkali company here last night. The explosion was in a building still under construction and no one was injured. The police found several sticks of dynamite concealed under one of the concrete walls. The company, it is said, had large contracts with the allies for certain chemicals used in the war zone. There is no labor trouble at the plant and the police are working on the theory that the explosion was the work of foreign agents.

United States secret service men, who have been in this vicinity for several days are co-operating with the local authorities.

No extra guards were placed at the plant today and no additional precautions taken to guard the large power plants here and the international bridges.

GERMAN SHIP TRIES TO SNEAK OUT TO SEA

Asuncion Stops Only When Fired on By Brazilian Cruiser.

Rio Janeiro, Feb. 12.—The German steamship Asuncion, interned at Para, requested permission to approach a wharf to take water aboard. Under cover of the fog she turned about and headed towards the sea. The Brazilian cruiser Republica and the auxiliary Teffe fired blank shots and as the Asuncion did not stop they fired on her with projectiles. The German steamship then stopped and returned to the harbor. The captain later stated that he had no intention of escaping. The local authorities have opened an investigation.

The German steamship Asuncion, constructed at Hamburg in 1895, is of 4,663 gross tons and is 375 feet long and 46 feet beam. She is owned by the Hamburg American Steamship company of Hamburg and had been reported as remaining voluntarily at Para. It is to be presumed that she was fired on under the belief that she was attempting to leave the port without proper clearance documents.

The president left here late last night, accompanied by Mrs. Wilson. Their return is set for tomorrow night or Monday morning.

"BOMB" LARGELY FAKE.

Little Explosive in Affair Placed Before Italian Consul's Home.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 12.—That the bomb, exploded last Sunday morning in an East side apartment building in front of the door of Ariminio Conte, Italian consular agent, was placed there for the purpose of scaring Mr. Conte is the conclusion reached by the police department.

The police took this stand after receiving the report of a chemist who tested the unexploded bomb found at an entrance to the building. The missile did not contain enough explosive to seriously injure any one.

Mrs. Theresa Lookaround of the government school was out to meet Mrs. Trott at the Northwestern station.

A SPOONFUL OF SALTS RELIEVES ACHING KIDNEYS

We Eat Too Much Meat, Which Clogs Kidneys, Says Noted Authority.

If Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers, Stop All Meat for a While.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink—Advertisement.

AT LEAST THREE LIVING DULUTHIANS MET AND TALKED WITH PRESIDENT LINCOLN

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Watt Heard the Lincoln-Douglas Debate and Rode Forty Miles on Train With Great Emancipator—Judge Ensign Also Interviewed Him.

The number of persons who knew Abraham Lincoln is growing smaller yearly, but Duluth is fortunate enough to have at least three who were acquainted with the Great Emancipator. These are Judge J. D. Ensign and T. J. Watt. The former will be one of the chief speakers at the Lincoln's birthday dinner to be given at the Endion M. E. church next Saturday evening. The latter lives at 5415 Otsego street, Lakeside. Mr. Watt and his wife, who also knew Mr. Lincoln, have lived at the Head of the Lakes thirty-two years.

In a letter to The Herald Mr. Watt writes interestingly of Mr. Lincoln as he knew him before the Civil war. His letter follows:

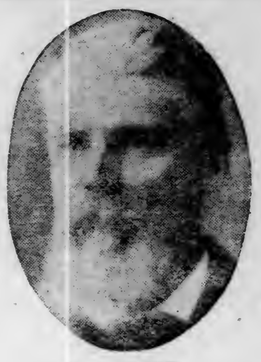

"In your paper of Feb. 8, I notice an item to the effect that Judge J. D. Ensign of Duluth was the only Duluthian now living who had the distinction of interviewing Abraham Lincoln. When I read it I told my wife I thought we (as she was with me) could go the judge one better—all honor to the judge and thank the Lord he had the privilege to interview that great and good man.

Heard Lincoln in Debate.

"Well do I remember that October morning in 1858, when we, with 1,500 others, left Galena, Ill., for Freeport in sixteen coaches, with two engines, in one of the worst rains I had seen for some time, to hear the great debate between Stephen A. Douglas and Abraham Lincoln, with bands playing and flags flying while cheer after cheer rent the air.

"It cleared up before we reached Freeport. The sun came out warm and clear—just for the occasion.

"It was a great day for Freeport.

T. J. WATT.

MRS. T. J. WATT.

Everybody turned out from far and near. Work of all kinds was suspended for the day.

Rode With Him on Train.

"The next day my wife and I took the train from Galena to visit in the southern part of the state. When we arrived at Freeport, Lincoln and his party were there and took the train with us. Lincoln took the seat just ahead of us, and for the next forty miles you can imagine the time we had with Lincoln. He was full and running over with enthusiasm like a boy just out of school. When we left he shook hands and bade us good-by, saying as he left, 'you will hear from me again.'

"We not only knew Lincoln personally, but I voted for him both times—I will say right here I am one of the oldest Republicans in the United States."

Judge Ensign, the venerable jurist of the district bar, was with Abraham Lincoln the day before his inauguration, and he will recall many interesting reminiscences that have never appeared in print.

E. J. Spink of Duluth never met Lincoln or talked with him, but he heard him speak at Madison Square Garden during his campaign for re-election.

HIGH SCHOOL ACTIVITIES

New Semester Is Well Begun—Social Activities Develop—Zenith Sale Going Well—Science Club and Athletic Association Work.

Central high school has become well settled following the changes incident to the closing of the old and the opening of the new semesters, and the pupils have entered the long grind that concludes with the closing of school in June. Yesterday closed the second week of the new semester and the school has returned to the old routine. Most of the new classes have become well organized and balanced and there remain few changes to be made.

The semester honor roll, announced by Principal Young last week, showed that 110 students had been especially efficient in their work during the first semester, 70 of them being on the "A" list, with marks of 90 or above in at least four studies, and 40 on the "B" list with marks of 90 or above in at least three studies. The number is not especially large, but it comes up to the average. The students got a bad start last fall, according to averages published, but they soon picked up and made a good finish.

Few Changes Made.

Outside of the reorganization of the classes few marked changes have been made in the school with the beginning of the second semester. A few minor changes took place in the personnel of the faculty, Miss Lydia Woodbridge of the German department having resigned, and changes because of this being made in the German and history departments. Socially the school was very quiet during the latter part of the first semester, this being due to the attention the students were paying to their studies. The school has again taken on a lively aspect and important social events and other activities will come thick and fast from now until the conclusion of school.

The second and final credit sale of Zenith slips was held last week by the members of the Zenith board, the results having been very satisfactory.

According to Editor Garon, 1,100 slips have already been disposed of in the school alone, breaking all previous records. The aim of the board is to dispose of 1,500 annuals, a number which no other board ever attempted to publish. The board has yet to canvass the business men and the alumni, and when this is done, it is thought that the number will easily have been reached. The members of the board feel that the large number of slips that have been sold to date is due to the credit system, to which the students have responded well. This system enables them to get a Zenith slip on a promise that they will pay for it when the collections are made.

The first joint meeting of the chemistry and physics divisions of the school's Science club was held Monday afternoon in the auditorium. The feature of the meeting was an address by W. S. Adams of the Barrett Manufacturing company of Chicago, his subject being "Coal Tar and Its Products." Mr. Adams interestingly explained the manufacture of this article and the processes by which the by-products are extracted and the uses to which they are put. His talk was interesting and instructive to the girls of the school as well as the boys, explaining several products that were used in many departments of the manual training building. A large attendance was present and the students showed much appreciation.

The Science club, organized late in the first semester by several chemistry and physics enthusiasts, has become one of the most important organizations in the school. It has been divided into two divisions to interest the chemistry and physics students. Both departments have an especially large membership. The meetings are held alternately and a joint meeting is held every month. The programs at all of the meetings invariably prove of exceeding interest. Both organizations are planning on trips to factories and other important places of commercial and scientific interest in the two Head of the Lakes cities. They plan to be especially active during the second semester.

The semi-annual election of officers of the school athletic association was held following the close of school Tuesday. Skull Hrutford, star athlete of the school, was selected president; Clarence Thomas, vice president; George Lawson, secretary; Ben Rasmussen, treasurer; "Mahogany" Tresise, mascot, and Ned McNulty and Tresise, sergeants-at-arms. The officers of this organization are elected to serve one semester and those chosen last week will hold offices throughout the remainder of the year.

A meeting of the athletic board of control will be held in the near future. Among other things, a student-manager will be chosen at this meeting. Coach Blake, Leonard Young, E. P. Gibson and W. H. Benson, in addition to the officers of the athletic association, comprise the membership of the board.

The Spectator and Zenith boards held their first joint social affair last evening. The members of the two boards met shortly after 6 o'clock at the school building last evening, managed to squeeze all of their numbers into a big sleigh and proceeded to the Lakewood Chateau. Their appetites were well whetted by the brisk ride and "eats" in generous proportions awaited them at the chateau. The affair was certainly a jolly success. Edwin Pearson, Elsa Zachow and Margaret Jeffery had charge of the arrangements. The boys arrauged for the sleigh, while the girls had charge of the "eats."

The members of the freshman class held their regular meeting following the close of school Monday. Following the resignation of William Abbott of the freshman "hop" committee, Hickman Powell was chosen freshman representative. No other business of special importance was taken up at the meeting.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Bright's Disease

Bright's disease is most frequently observed in persons at or beyond middle age. Toward 40, the blood pressure begins to rise, the individual begins to take life too luxuriously instead of sticking to the industrious and abstemious habits of earlier years.

WILLIAM BRADY M.D.

Backache is practically never experienced by individuals developing Bright's disease. The early symptoms are in no sense local, but of a general character.

Digestive disturbances, headache, cough and asthmatic symptoms, loss of weight, loss of strength, nervousness and restless sleep, shortness of breath, vague joint pains of fleeting character—such symptoms, or any of them, coming on around middle age and persisting without apparent cause should suggest a careful examination by the doctor and a chemical and microscopical urine test.

By the way, in many cases of Bright's disease a diagnosis is impossible without a microscopical examination, in conjunction with the physical examination of the patient.

In some cases, the earlier symptoms are failure of eyesight, due to changes in the retina, which a competent oculist would recognize in an examination of the eyes, dizziness or mental disturbance.

In some cases palpitation, bronchitis and general anemia are the earlier signs.

Two common misapprehensions about Bright's disease (chronic nephritis) deserve correction. First, the mere presence or absence of albumin in the urine signifies very little or nothing in itself, but only tends to confirm an opinion founded on physical examination of the patient. Second, persons with Bright's disease may and usually do live in comparative comfort for many years, perhaps ten to fifteen years on the average, and much longer if they live as the doctor teaches them to live.

Be it an early, mild nephritis, or a well established nephritis (nephro means kidney, itis means inflammation), this is certain: No particular medicine or combination of medicines can possibly help Mr. Jones just because Mr. Smith happened to feel better after taking it. In fact medicine is only of secondary importance in the treatment, and is administered rather to affect the heart, arteries or blood, not to make the kidneys do what they can't do when diseased.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Stomach Ache.

Is there any simple, harmless home remedy you can suggest to give a child for simple stomach ache?

Answer—If you mean the discomfort a child feels as a result of eating adulterated penny candy and impure ice cream and other improper foods, a tablespoonful of any pure mineral oil may be given. It is odorless, tasteless, and free from the binding effect of castor oil.

Strange Remedy for Night Sweats.

Will you kindly explain why a pan of water set under a bed stops night sweats? Several neighbors are great believers in it, and when I tried it myself it proved a cure, declares Mrs. Z. F.

Answer—Coincidence is the foundation upon which many a "cure" rests.

SITE FOR CITY HALL IS SOLD

County Board Ratifies Sale of Plot on Courthouse Grounds.

City's Interest in Work Farm Accepted as First Payment.

County commissioners at an adjourned session of the February meeting of the county board yesterday afternoon formally ratified the sale of a plot 220 by 300 feet between First and Second streets just west of Fourth avenue west to the city of Duluth for a municipal building site. The plot is now a portion of the courthouse grounds, but the county will part with it for $209,374.68, agreed upon as a purchase price.

The city of Duluth, which will build a city hall on the site, has transferred its interest in the joint work farm project to St. Louis county for $30,000, and this has been accepted by the county as first payment on the site. The city will pay interest at the rate of 4 per cent on deferred payments.

When the matter of ratifying the sale came before the board for discussion, County Commissioner Kauppi of the Fifth district at first objected unless the deeds conveying the property contained a restriction as to what sort of buildings it might annex or erect there. Mr. Kauppi said that he had understood that there was serious talk of building a machine shop and garage on the city hall site and that he desired to register an objection to having such nuisance in close proximity to the courthouse. Other commissioners, however, prevailed upon Commissioner Kauppi to withdraw his objection, the consensus of opinion among the board members being that public sentiment would prevent any such action by the city.

ARREST REVEALS HEIR TO ESTATE OF $400,000

Chicago, Feb. 12.—Keith Edward Dalrymple's flashy clothing landed him as a suspicious character in the police station yesterday. There he learned that he was heir to $400,000 and that the police of the country had been seeking him for four years to tell him so.

Nothing of a damaging character was discovered about the young man by the police, but an old circular seeking him was found.

Young Dalrymple, who is 23 years old, ran away from his home at Siloam Springs, Ark., in 1903. His father prospered in the oil business and moved to Port Alleghany, Pa., where he died, four years ago. The runaway was the heir.

INDORSE BILL FOR U. S. AID

Would Provide Federal Support for Vocational and Agricultural Work.

School Board Accepts Six Resignations; Seven Appointments Announced.

Directors of Duluth's board of education, at their monthly meeting last night, went on record in favor of the Schmidt-Hughes bill, now before congress, which would provide Federal aid for vocational, industrial and agricultural education.

This vote will be forwarded to C. G. Schulz, state superintendent of public instruction, and used in a meeting to be held in Minneapolis, when state educators will attempt to get an expression from a majority of the schools.

"The country must make a start in this direction some time," said H. J. Grannis, director, before the vote was taken. "It is too big a proposition to be handled by the states alone, and I believe there is no question as to the value of the proposed legislation."

Six teachers' resignations were accepted by the board and seven appointments were announced. Miss Clara S. Clapp and Miss Gertrude Caspar asked to be allowed to resign because of illness, and S. A. Foster, principal of the R. E. Denfeld high school, requested that he be allowed to resign in order to devote all his time to personal enterprises. Resignations of Miss Laura A. Johnson of the Salter school, Miss Jule E. Martin of the Adams school and Miss Gracia Loehl of the Lakeside school were accepted.

The new instructors are Lester E. Dickinson, Central high; Rosa Arenson, Munger; Edla Melby, Salter; Maude McCormick, Stowe; Edith Griggs, Washburn; Nettie I. Mills, Washington, and Berdine Belknap at the Lincoln.

Leave of absence for the remainder of the school year was granted to Miss Lydia Woodbridge and Miss Irene Wetzler. Miss Woodbridge will finish a course at the University of Wisconsin.

Miss Ida Broman was employed as clerk at the Lincoln Junior high school, and Miss Margaret Rutherford will fill a similar position at the Monroe and Bryant schools.

B. A. Leopard, recently appointed principal of both the Bryant and Monroe schools upon the resignation of Miss Katherine A. King, Bryant principal, was given a salary increase to $120 a month. The salary of Miss Florence B. Parker, special teacher of defectives, was raised to $85 a month.

MOB DESTROYS GERMAN HOTEL AT CALGARY

Calgary, Alta., Feb. 12.—A mob of soldiers last night raided the Riverside hotel here, which is owned by John Kaiser, a German. One man was wounded in the fight which followed.

The hotel, a two-story brick and frame structure, was wrecked, and the furniture was pitched out into the snow, where it was broken to bits. The bar was raided and the stock passed around among the rioters, at least half of whom were civilians. The police were powerless to cope with the mob.

Lieut.-Col. Armstrong, commanding the Fifty-sixth battalion, one of the popular officers of the garrison, begged the men to desist. A few came to his aid, but he was swept aside.

The mob threatend to attack Kronn's rathskeller and Kolb's restaurant, but strong pickets had been thrown about these places, and they were saved.

TODAY IN HISTORY.

Abraham Lincoln born, 1809.

Born in Hardin county, Kentucky, of poor parents, his entire schooling combined would not exceed one year; read and reread a few great books; split rails as an Illinois pioneer; unsuccessful legislative candidate, 1832; failed in store business, paying off debt his fleeing partner left to him; postmaster New Salem, Ill., 1833-1836; elected to legislature, 1834; re-elected 1836 on an equal suffrage platform; admitted to the bar, 1837; elected to congress, 1846; unsuccessful candidate for United States senate against Douglas, 1858; elected president 1860 and 1864; signed emancipation proclamation Sept. 22, 1862; assassinated April 14, 1865, and died next morning.

READING (available in Duluth public library)—Abraham Lincoln: a History, by John Hay and J. G. Nicolay, war-time secretaries to Lincoln (admirable as a biography, historically the book is marred by partisanship); James Ford Rhodes's History of the United States from the Compromise of 1850 (the definitive history of the inception, progress and conclusion of the Civil war); Carl Schurz's Abraham Lincoln (noteworthy among American biographical essays); Ida M. Tarbell's Life of Lincoln (one of the best anecdotal lives).

LINCOLN.

This is Lincoln's birthday. On this day in 1809, in a humble Kentucky cabin, was born the man who from lowliness was to rise to the sublimest heights reached by mortal man—a height never achieved by any king of them all, and approached only by a few others who died for men, some of them so obscure that their glory only is to be revealed at the final accounting.

That makes a good deal of an occasion of it. Just how closely, in our modern observance of this day, are we approaching to a realization of the significance of this occasion?

To put it as mildly as it conceivably can be put, it is not very close. Certainly it could be closer—most assuredly it SHOULD be closer.

The day is more than a mere anniversary of the birth of a great American who typifies so much that is fine and noble and splendid in American history.

It is a day when, if on any day, the American people should drink anew at the fountain of pure patriotism from which the glories of their history have been drawn.

It is a day when every citizen should renew his firm resolve to stand by the colors of his Americanism, when every citizen should determine to let no wind of passion or panic sway him from the strong mooring ground of his patriotic faith, when every citizen should take heart and strength from the immortal words at Gettysburg, and remember that

> It is for us here to be dedicated to the great task remaining before us; that we here highly resolve that the dead shall not have died in vain; that the nation shall, under God, have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people, and for the people, shall not perish from the earth.

It must be that those St. Paul robbers who were caught in Chicago failed to propitiate the Crooks' trust in their home town.

SWEET PEAS.

It is none too soon to select a location for the sweet peas.—Toledo Blade.

A timely reminder.

Though winter has not yet shown any sign of relaxing its grip, and will not for several weeks, still February passes, March is soon to come, and in April you can plant sweet peas—which can go into the ground earliest of all the seeds, except the annual poppies which some people plant on the snow for early bloom.

Human ingenuity never created a braver show than the modern sweet pea—and nobody ever found a place where sweet peas grow more luxuriantly than hereabouts.

If you have no other bloom in your yard, you should by all means have sweet peas; and now is the time to begin planning.

Pick out your location, if you haven't one picked already. Figure the length of your trench—ten feet will give you cut flowers for many weeks, fifty feet will give you a show worth going miles to see. Having determined that, buy your seeds accordingly. Get good seeds and pay the price for them. Buy separate colors, and buy only the Spencer type, which has been developed to a wonderful state of form and color, with great beautiful blossoms three and four to each stem a foot or more long. You will plant not many more than one to the inch of row, and when well started if they are thinned out to two or more inches apart they will be the better for it.

The sweet pea trench is worth giving study to. The ideal trench is a foot and a half or two feet deep, filled with a rich mixture of loam and well rotted manure, with some hardwood ashes worked in. The seeds should go in as soon as the ground can be worked in April. White-seeded varieties may rot in cold, wet ground, so their planting may be postponed awhile, and if when they go in they are surrounded with a little sand, its warmth will bring them on almost as fast as the others.

In places where a prolonged period of summer heat and drouth is to be feared the trenching method is used. The trench is left open to a depth of six inches, the seeds are planted in its bottom, and as the plants grow the earth is filled in around them till it is level with the surface. This is not necessary in Duluth, however, and an inch and a half is plenty deep enough here. If it gets dry during the summer, let the hose run into the trench for several hours, enough to give it a thorough soaking, and the blossoms will respond gratefully. Mulching with grass clippings to keep the moisture in is also helpful. "Sprinkling" that wets down about a quarter of an inch is worse than useless. When bloom starts, keep the flowers picked, as any plant allowed to go to seed will stop blooming, its business of the season being thereby concluded.

It is, as the Toledo paper kindly reminds us, none too soon to select a location for the sweet peas. It is certainly none too soon to buy your seeds. And whatever you do, be sure to have sweet peas this year, even if you have only the tiniest space to grow them in.

More snow! Now we'll have to hunt around to find some place to put it.

CULTURE.

A great fury of self-questioning has swept over this country in recent years, and many idols have tumbled before it.

The American people have questioned the reality of the freedom they had boasted; they have questioned with strong acid the virtue of the political tenets they had been taught to venerate; they have questioned with a muck-rake the examples of sordid success that youth used to be summoned to admire and emulate.

And now even our sacrosanct culture is being questioned!

Randolph Bourne in the New Republic has blamed our sham culture—properly enough, doubtless—to Matthew Arnold, and has denounced the said Arnold as a corruptor of our youth and our women. "He has outlined for us," says this iconoclast, "a tempting and attractive road, all set with art shrines. If we worshiped enough of these with proper fervor we shall achieve the happy end of culture." And that makes mimics and hypocrites of us.

Even the Atlantic Monthly has given harborage to this ribald spirit. Certain writers therein having utterly condemned the popular taste and accused it of ruining our literature, the Atlantic has let Henry Sydnor Harrison flay these critics and declare—and prove, too—that the popular taste is excellent, that those who hold true art to be caviar to the vulgar are snobs, and that the greatness of a novel is better tested by the wideness of its appeal than by the verdict of the self-elected few who arrogate to themselves artistic dictatorship.

What is culture?

According to the best disciples of what we in this country have been asked to call culture, it is the appreciation of what is best in art.

But what IS "best?" Is it what Matthew Arnold or some disciple of his tells us is best? That is the way it has been. We were bidden to believe what we were told, and to bow down and worship shrines before which culture had lighted its candles to point the way.

That leads, of course, to feeling compelled to worship Wagner or Walter Pater or Browning or Monet; to feeling compelled to say we worship even though we secretly detest. And of course that's either rank idolatry or rank slavery.

That a work of art is said to be "best" doesn't settle it. At the most it only raises a presumption in its favor. Somebody said so, but that needn't shackle our judgment. Nobody is bound to like it. Certainly nobody should pretend to like it unless he does. To pretend is to be a hypocrite, and there is no worse sin in art.

Be yourself, in art as in all other phases of being. Refuse to wear anybody's chains, no matter whether Matthew Arnold or anybody else forged them.

This doesn't mean surging over to ragtime or the movies—though if you like rag-time and the movies don't let anybody stop you. Only don't go to the extreme of accepting rag-time as all of your music or movies as a substitute for drama. Don't, in your praiseworthy revolt from highbrowism, be a lowbrow. But you are under no more obligation to take your art from your grandfather or your neighbor's grandfather than you are to take your politics. Whatever you are, be honest in it. If you don't like a poem, a book, a painting or a symphony, admit it freely—there are others like you. If you don't like it, find out why; if the fault is yours, correct it: if, after honest effort, you conclude that the fault lies in the work of art, then reject it. Don't profess to bow down before it because somebody else does. Not even because everybody else does. Don't guide your preferences by what somebody says or writes, but by knowledge.

The Century has a story about a very "cultured" neighborhood into which a man moved who had grown rich in railroading. Vastly to the indignation of his neighbors, he built across his front lawn an ideal stretch of railroad; but when the neighbors complained, and said it jarred on the culture of the community, he removed it and looked into their culture. By way of looking into it he brought in a collection of great paintings with an unknown artist, representing them to be his, and he introduced a world-famous pianist under the name of Smith. Then when he heard his cultured neighbors learnedly point out the atrocity of the great pianist's technique and the feebleness and general inanity of paintings by Botticelli, Michael Angelo, Rembrandt and Van Dyck, the railroad man issued a candid estimate of the culture of his neighborhood and restored his model railroad, which the great musician who helped in this exposure declared to be the only real piece of art in the neighborhood.

Don't be fooled by the patter of that snobocracy of art which is the dry, juiceless fruit of Arnold's dictum. Don't be afraid to say "I don't like it." Don't be afraid to like a thing because it is "popular." There is nothing more paltry and shallow than the judgment that something that is popular must necessarily be bad art. But do analyze your tastes, test them, educate them, and fit yourself to judge all things for yourself. In that way freedom lies, and a living, growing art unshackled to a dead past.

For once the war profits have it all over the war prophets for effectiveness.

THE HUMANIZED DEMOCRACY.

The war has given rise to uneasy and rather vague speculations on the relative efficiency of autocracy and democracy.

The tremendous efficiency of Germany, which is an autocracy of the highest type, is of course the occasion of this speculation.

One might think, from a superficial study of this discussion, that somehow the issue is between the efficiency of autocracy and the freedom of democracy; that no people can have efficiency unless they have autocracy to bring it, and that there is something irreconciliable in democracy and efficiency.

That is monstrously untrue. Even if it were true, far better inefficiency and freedom than the highest efficiency and slavery.

But France, a democracy, is itself a marvel of efficiency in emergency. True, it has had higher ideals than war-making, and so it has not prepared itself for war-making as Germany has. But, caught unprepared, the French people have risen nobly and efficiently to meet the crisis. If they had not, the war would have been ended about the time the Germans met their first—and so far their only—great defeat at the Marne.

But an efficient democracy is possible, and it is the ideal toward which the world is struggling.

The answer to the problem is not a choice made between the efficiency of autocracy and the freedom of democracy, for autocracy is not always efficient—witness Russia and Austria, for Austria without German leadership would have been nowhere—and democracy is not always inefficient—witness France.

The true answer is a merging of the efficiency of which autocracy has made the model, and the freedom of which democracy sets the pace.

The answer is a oneness of people and government. A disciplined and enlightened people, coupled with an efficient government that is truly by and for the people, is the humanized democracy which should be the goal of every people. Such a democracy can and will do for its people—or, better, enable its people to do for themselves—all that Germany has traded to her people for their freedom, and more.

The only valid excuse for not giving Duluth the regatta would be that, after seeing their own crews row, Duluth people could learn nothing new about the art by watching a bunch of outsiders.

THINGS LINCOLN MISSED.

We have never found anything in the biography of Lincoln to the effect that at the age of twenty-two he succeeded in coloring a meerchaum pipe.—Toledo Blade.

Nor that he became a wizard with a billiard cue.

Nor that he established a new record for cigarette consumption, staining his fingers a fine mahogany in the operation.

Nor that he became the idol of society and a leader of fashion.

Nor that he distinguished himself by the lateness of his hours, the eagerness of his consumption of highballs, or the rapidity of his pace.

Ten of the groundhog days already gone.

Religious Tolerance.

El Paso, Tex., Times: Dr. Clayton, pastor of the Unitarian congregation of this city, in his sermon Sunday, in urging more religious tolerance by getting the other man's viewpoint, quotes Herbert Spencer's saying, "We too often forget there is a 'soul' of truth in things erroneous." That is sound philosophy to the thought that was being stressed in Dr. Clayton's sermon. The ego in man is a dominant characteristic. The urge to rightness for himself is unceasing. It must needs be that way in the struggle for personal animal persistence. Animals other than the human are guided by divinely planted instinct to seek their proper environment. Man is endowed with reason, and is therefore a reasoning animal. No man who performs any act, but believes that it is right for him at that particular moment to do that very thing from the egoistic viewpoint. His act may be wrong as viewed by others, but from his own viewpoint it is right for him at that moment of time, however great the risk he assumes from the penalty that society may impose. His subconsciousness under the guidance of wrong reasoning impels him to the course he pursues. Hence the force of Bobbie Burns' lines:

> Then gently scan your brother man,
> Still gentler, sister woman;
> Though they may gang a kennin wrang,
> To step aside is human.

Rippling Rhymes

By Walt Mason

Unappreciated.

The young man labors hard at home, and writes a story or a pome, and, hoping to receive long green, he sends it to a magazine, or maybe to some daily sheet, which wants hot stuff that's keen and sweet. Then back it comes, by early mail, and how that writer makes his wail! The editors are all combined to bar that great and fertile mind! Or else they didn't read his stuff, but calmly set it down as guff, and shipped it back with his own stamps—what wonder tears are in his lamps? I used to talk that way myself, when viewing bundles on the shelf of tales and other gems of thought, which editors returned as rot. But, friend, the editors were right! The editors are mostly white, and if they see in man or dame a symptom of the genius flame, they do not douse the glowing spark with bitter sneer or cold remark, but try to fan it to a blaze, and nourish it with smile and praise. (These metaphors, of course, are mixed, but when I've time Ill have them fixed.) The editors, all o'er this sphere, are looking, looking, year by year, to find the writers who can write, and finding one brings keen delight. So, if you cannot sell your junk, it is because the junk is punk.

Lincoln, the Man of the People

When the Norn-Mother saw the whirlwind hour,
Greatening and darkening as it hurried on,
She bent the strenuous heavens and came down
To make a man to meet the mortal need.
She took the tried clay of the common rood—
Clay warm yet with the genial heat of earth.
Dashed through it all a strain of prophecy;
Then mixed in laughter with the serious stuff,
It was a stuff to wear for centuries,
A man that matched the mountains, and compelled
The stars to look our way and honor us.

The color of the ground was in him, the red earth;
The tang and odor of the primal things—
The rectitude and patience of the rocks;
The gladness of the wind that shakes the corn;
The courage of the bird that dares the sea;
The justice of the rain that love all leaves;
The pity of the snow that hides all scars;
The loving kindness of the wayside well;
The tolerance and equity of light
That gives as freely to the shrinking weed
As to the great oak flaring to the wind—
To the grave's low hill as to the Matterhorn
That shoulders out the sky.

And so he came.
From prairie cabin up to Capitol.
One fair ideal led our chieftian on.
Forever more he burned to do his deed.
With the fine stroke and gesture of a king.
He built the rail-pile as he built the state,
Pouring his splendid strength through every blow,
The conscience of him testing every stroke
To make his deed the measure of a man.

So came the captain with the mighty heart;
And when the step of earthquake shook the house,
Wrenching the rafters from their ancient hold,
He held the ridgepole up, and spiked again
The rafters of the home. He held his place—
Held the long purpose like a growing tree—
Held on through blame and faltered not at praise.
And when he fell in whirlwind, he went down
As when a kingly cedar, green with boughs,
Goes down with a great shout upon the hills
And leaves a lonesome place against the sky.

—Edwin Markham.

THE EYES OF LINCOLN.

By Walt Mason

Sad eyes, that were patient and tender, sad eyes, that were steadfast and true, and warm with the unchanging splendor of courage no ills could subdue! Eyes dark with the dread of the morrow, and woe for the day that was gone, the sleepless companions of sorrow, the watchers that witnessed the dawn. Eyes tired from the clamor and goading, and dim from the stress of the years, and hollowed by pain and foreboding, and strained by repression of tears. Sad eyes that were wearied and blighted, by visions of sieges and wars, now watch o'er a country united from the luminous slopes of the stars!

LINCOLN'S LETTER TO A MOTHER.

Dear Madam: I have been shown in the files of the War Department a statement of the Adjutant General of Massachusetts that you are the mother of five sons who have died gloriously on the field of battle. I feel how weak and fruitless must be any words of mine which should attempt to beguile you from a loss so overwhelming. But I cannot refrain from tendering to you the consolation that may be found in the thanks of the Republic they died to save. I pray that our Heavenly Father may assuage the anguish of your bereavement, and leave you only the cherished memory of the loved and lost, and the solemn pride that must be yours to have laid so costly a sacrifice upon the altar of freedom.

Yours, very sincerely and respectfully,

ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

To Mrs. Bixby, Boston. Mass.

Thomas F. Marshall

By Savonard.

Washington, Feb. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Hon. R. P. Kennedy, formerly lieutenant governor of Ohio and member of congress from the Bellefontaine district, once known as "King Bob," whose fiery politics made the perfervid eloquence of "Fire-Alarm" Foraker cold and tame, is now a retired statesman who spends his leisure time writing articles for the newspapers. Like all old men Mr. Kennedy loves to revert to the past and recently he had a chapter on the famous Thomas F. Marshall of Kentucky, perhaps the greatest American orator since Patrick Henry. When a student at Yale college, Kennedy heard Marshall, when far gone in liquor, deliver a lecture in behalf of temperance, which tradition says was the supremest effort in that behalf ever made in our country, and with this view Mr. Kennedy is agreed.

Marshall was the nephew of Chief Justice Marshall and was born in Kentucky in 1801. In his youth he read law under the tuition of his great kinsman, and had he not been so erratic in temperament and so perverse in conduct he might have ranked with lawyers like Pinkney, Wirt, Black and Carpenter. His fame rests on tradition. None of his marvelous orations survive, so far as I know, except his eulogy of Henry Clay, a classic. In politics Marshall was unstable as he was in everything else. Sometimes he supported one party, sometimes the other. Now he was for Clay, and now against him.

In this connection an anecdote is pertinent. Robert J. Breckinridge, the eminent clergymen, uncle of the vice president and father of the late William C. P. Breckinridge, when a young man was an associate of Marshall's. Years after they met at Lexington and Marshall accosted him thus:

"Well, Bob, it was a sorry day for us when we ran that tilt against 'Harry of the West' (Henry Clay). It drove you to the pulpit and me to the bottle, but I'll be damned if I haven't stuck closer to my vocation than you have to yours!"

Breckinridge was an anti-slavery Democrat and led the emancipationists in favor of the "open clause" of the Kentucky state Constitution of 1850. He had two sons in the Confederate army and one in the Federal army. His grandson was until this week assistant secretary of war. He was a very great man, the full equal of Mr. Clay himself in all that makes the leader except in that quality, which his famous nephew, the vice president, had in abundance and which for lack of a better name we call "magnetism." Clergyman that he was, he was also a politician, the founder of the Republican party of Kentucky during the war, and the temporary chairman of the convention that renominated Lincoln in 1864.

Tom Marshall likewise was an anti-slavery man and edited a paper in Kentucky advocating emancipation, but when New England butted in with its impertinent, meddling, vicious anti-slavery society, run by such lunatics as William Lloyd Garrison and such blatherskites as Wendell Phillips, Marshall and tens of thousands of the ablest and purest men of the South, opposed to slavery—Henry A. Wise was one and Zebulon B. Vance was another—relaxed their efforts and the slavery agitation became a sectional question that was bound to fetch on a bloody war.

One of the most instructive and amusing books you ever read is the "Diary of John Quincy Adams." Marshall was a member of the Twenty-seventh congress and he and the "Old Man Eloquent" locked horns. Adams was miserly of compliment, but he confesses that he was astounded by the wonderful eloquence of the gifted Kentuckian. He fell into gossip and relates that when Marshall was in the midst of a lofty period he interrupted to say:

"I suppose they would hang me if I went to Kentucky?"

Scarcely halting in his eloquent burst, Marshall interjected:

"Quite likely!"

And proceeded with his speech. It is one of the few evidences in his great book to show that our sixth president had a sense of humor, for it is manifest that he enjoyed Marshall's interjection.

Many years ago I heard men in Kentucky, capable of judging such matters, say that Marshall's lecture on Napoleon Bonaparte was the most wonderful specimen of eloquence they ever heard, both as an oration and as a literary masterpiece. One night in Philadelphia he delivered it before a brilliant audience of ladies and gentlemen, and being very drunk, he began with an interpolation in which he surmised that the Corsican demigod was a direct lineal descendant of Julius Caesar, but his language will scarce bear print in this polite age. However, no one left the hall, and in a moment he had that vast and intelligent audience completely under his spell.

Washington Barre wrote a volume, "Life and Speeches of Thomas F. Marshall." I never saw it, though I personally knew the author and frequently heard him speak of it. The late Justice Harlan of the supreme bench had a copy, but when he searched his library to loan it to me it could not be found. No copy is in the Congressional Library, and it is doubtful if one is in existence. Harlan prized the book highly and greatly regretted its loss.

Many years ago there was an island in the Ohio river at Louisville, called Corn Island, now entirely vanished. It was a beautiful spot, and ofttimes political meetings were held there. Marshall appeared there a beautiful moonlight night when May was surrendering to June. There was a garden of flowers and the air was laden with their perfume. There was in that community a powerful stump speaker named Pilcher. So formidable was he that he actually drove the redoubtable Ben Hardin off the stump. For coarse, sledge-hammer invective, he never had his match.

On this occasion the Democrats had Pilcher present to answer Marshall and he mounted the stand and took a seat while Marshall was speaking. My father, a Democrat, was present, and he said that Marshall's peroration surpassed anything he ever heard. It was a description of the scene and a tribute to Kentucky that filled the audience of both sexes with irresistible emotion. And when the orator, who was also a consummate actor, was at the pinnacle of his climax, he turned round, and with a look of horror and in a tone of dread, exclaimed:

"But, O God, there's Pilcher!"

My father said he never before had an adequate conception of the presence of the serpent in Eden. Pilcher did not speak that night, but quietly departed.

* * *

On one occasion Marshall, just aroused from a drunken sleep, was hurried to the platform to make a political speech. He was very dull, halting and stumbling through the exordium. Suddenly he demanded a drink of water. "We have no water," was the answer, "but here is a pitcher of milk." The milk was more than half whisky, and when Marshall had taken a copious draft of it he exclaimed, "Heavens, what a cow!"

Then he proceeded to deliver a speech that carried his audience to the very pinnacle of enthusiasm.

In 1861, before Bull Run, a party of young Kentuckians on their way to the South awakened Marshall one night and demanded a speech. He spoke like this:

"Well, boys, you are going to fight for Southern rights, and if I were forty years younger I'd be with you. You fear the war will be over before you get there. Not a bit of it. There will be plenty of fighting. You think a Yankee won't fight. So he won't if you call him a damned liar; but you interfere with that Yankee's profits on a catch of mackerel, or a bushel of shoepegs—that is what you are going to do—you do that, and he'll give you hell. Good-by, boys. May glory wait on your steps."

The Happy Warrior.

Wordsworth's "Character of the Happy Warrior" has been named as the favorite poem of Woodrow Wilson. If the announcement calls renewed attention to a noble piece of English verse it will not have been made in vain. Rightly the poet calls him a "happy warrior" who, seen or unseen of men, goes forth to battle for the right; who owes

To virtue every triumph that he knows;
Who, if he rise to station of command,
Rises by open means, and there will stand
On honorable terms, or else retire,
And in himself possess his own desire.

* * *

Who, whether praise of him must walk the earth
Forever, and to noble deeds give birth,
Or he must fall, to sleep without his fame,
And leave a dead, unprofitable name,
Finds comfort in himself and in his cause;
And, while the mortal mist is gathering, draws
His breath in confidence of Heaven's applause.

Let the last article in the warrior's creed, for the moment, engage our attention. Surely at this point he is in advance of multitudes of his fellowmen. To how many it seems unwelcome postponement to wait for the applause of heaven! They plead before a nearer court and crave an immediate verdict. The applause of earth is good enough for them. Perhaps not one in ten of us is really willing to discount the hasty judgments of today in favor of those coming by and by.

In the presence of immediate, temporal advantage men excuse a wide variety of shifty tricks. When the prize is glittering enough, the end can be made to justify the means. Sacrifices to the great god, Success, are made with no niggard hands, and without too careful a counting of the cost. The one inexcusable failure is failure to gain the prize—and to get away with it.

The love of success is common to all men, but the definitions of it vary widely. Some think of it in terms of present acquisition, by fair means or foul, of all possible earthly good. Others take the longer view, inject a moral quality into their conception of it and extend its full realization out beyond that dividing line that men call death. This is to overrule the decisions of all lower courts and to carry the case up to the supreme tribunal. It is to apprehend the vision of the great Christian seer who wrote, "And I saw the dead, both small and great, standing before God."

The happy warrior is happy in the knowledge that he is in for a square deal; that the universe, in the long run, plays fair with him and with every man. He knows that right, whatever its seeming defeats, will ultimately triumph. He learns to differentiate between reputation and character, a distinction long ago pointed out by Tom Paine when he said: "Reputation is what men and women think of us; character is what God and the angels know of us." Happy he, indeed, who, as earth is receding, is conscious that he has kept faith with his ideals and passes out "in confidence of heaven's applause."

Away, haunt thou not me,
Thou vain Philosophy!
Little hast thou bestead,
Save to perplex the head,
And leave the spirit dead.

Unto thy broken cisterns wherefore go,
While from the secret treasure-depths below,
Fed by the skiey shower,
And clouds that sink and rest on hill tops high,
Wisdom at once, and Power,
Are welling, bubbling forth, unseen, incessantly?
Why labor at the dull mechanic oar,
When the fresh breeze is blowing,
And the strong current flowing,
Right onward to the Eternal Shore?

From The Herald of this date, 1896.

The executive committee of the board of education and the committee appointed by the common council are meeting this afternoon to arrange a definite plan of tender of a site for the new normal school. The normal school board has signified a willingness to accept a site as soon as it is tendered. Three sites have been offered, and the conference is to decide which will be chosen. One is at Lakeside, one known as the Lincoln Park site, and one offered by the Motor Line Improvement company. East Lawn, at Fourth street and Eighteenth avenue east, is regarded as a most desirable location, but as a preliminary to securing it, the sum of $10,000 must be raised to pay off existing encumbrances.

W. O. Smith has returned from Georgia and is very favorably impressed with that country.

The pumphouse of the gas and water company's Lakeside pumping station was almost completely gutted by fire last night. It is supposed spontaneous combustion in a quantity of oil waste caused the fire. The loss is estimated at $600.

Henry Nienstadt returned today from Saginaw, Mich.

C. W. Hackett was in Duluth yesterday on a visit to his daughter, Mrs. Marshall De Motte.

The new village hall at Proctorknott was dedicated last night, many guests being present from Duluth and the Mesaba range. A dance was given by the Cottage Hill club, and A. J. Fillatrault acted as prompter. Preceding the dance speeches were made by President Gallagher, Councilman Patterson and City Attorney Van R. Brown.

R. J. Fenton, formerly a hardware merchant of West Duluth, now living at Stillwater, is in the city on business.

The firm of Hoyt & Barnes has purchased the fire insurance business of George J. Mallory at West Duluth.

Judge Nelson at St. Paul today approved the sale of the West Duluth Light and Water company's plant to William R. Merriam, who bid $256,000 on behalf of the bond holders.

Eugene G. Hby of Minneapolis, former United States district attorney, is in the city.

Substitutes Never Toot!

NOBODY forges a pauper's name. Worthless things aren't counterfeited. When a man writes a phony check, it's because he can't make good over his own signature. But the check is still bad, because it is still his. All widely advertised goods are widely imitated. But substitutes are always like their makers—unable to make good on their own account.

If they represented value, they could be sold without misrepresentation. The original article is sure to be better, or it wouldn't be copied. There's no need to try anything which can't be sold on its own merits. The manufacturer has already judged for you and found it wanting. If he could make "as good," he'd make a noise about it. Substitutes never toot.

When a Balkan State Comes in Handy

ANTHONY BARR McGRATH, who operated the novel concession thereabouts, kept us aware that there was a handful of back-yard states freckling the southeast of Europe. And then, too, the comic operas used to inform us of their existence. But until recently few Americans took the Balkans seriously. In fact, it wouldn't have strained our credulity to read that an enterprising investor had picked up one or two of 'em to set his son up in the king business.

Now, of course, the street car conductor and the delicatessen clerk can reel off reams of information concerning Servia, Montenegro, Roumania and Bulgaria.

The great war is teaching us lots of things and some fundamentals. One of the lessons is that a little fellow comes in mightily useful in an emergency, as the big empires are realizing, to their cost. Nations and individuals both find themselves in situations where a humble friend can render priceless service. Nobody can have the good will of too many people. You never can tell when you'll need a little Balkan state of your own.

The Laugh-Eaters

A "FOOL" scientist says that it's possible to build a machine which will upset gravity; but don't let the notion upset yours. It isn't safe to laugh at cranks nowadays. In the twentieth century you can never be certain when you will have to eat the laugh.

Of course, it sounds ridiculous to predict forces capable of pitching battleships into the "Milky Way"—but so did Franklin's "loony" stunt with a key and a kite and Watt's "insane" drool about teakettle steam and Wilbur Wright's "preposterous" views on aero jitneys, not to mention Marconi's "Munchausenous" proposition to make a pole in Nova Scotia chat with a stick in Ireland. Granting that it is far fetched, remember that progress invariably multiplies chances to progress further. The achievement is half way through with the idea. Once the possibility gets into enough minds, the cumulative efforts of students and inventors eventually put it into motion. History proves it.

Northcliffe

ENGLAND doesn't understand him, but he understands England—and after all that's more important.

Comprehensible men never do anything unusual—they think in ruts, like majorities, and so never change them.

Your average Englishman comes into the world outfitted with a carefully chosen set of prejudices—he's a direct descendant of Mrs. Lot, who wasn't lost at all, but wandered off to become mother of a folk always looking over its shoulder.

Northcliffe simply looked the other way and there was Gladys P. Opportunity standing right at his elbow with all the ideas she'd been trying to market up and down Fleet Street since she lost Dr. Johnson's customage.

"Oh, ho," said the then Alfred Harmsworth, "what a nice lay out!"

And off he marched with her whole stock in trade.

He began with "Answers," a publication devoted to the thrilling pastime of guessing how many stitches a tailor takes to a frock coat, or the number of feathers in a wren's tail, and offered astounding prizes to the intellectuals providing the correct solution.

You see he knew human nature—nothing is so profitable as a scheme to prove folks as clever as they believe themselves.

Then he started a newspaper, based upon the radical notion of informing England what happened today, instead of yesterday.

The Daily Mail reached a million and earned lots of 'em.

From time to time, he added other recruits to his periodical regiment, and settled down to the job of being National Alarm Clock.

He got 'em up, too! New times began in King Georgeland, and after a while he picked up the old Times—the Holy of Holies—the Magna Charta of Precedent, and equipped the Jove of Journalism with a brand new arsenal of personally designed thunders.

It wasn't at all orthodox—no one had ever done it before. The Times was an institution—a museum of British viewpoints. Northcliffe, however, was not a collector, but a corrector, and so a lot of nice, comfy London drays went ambling off to the dump-pile, bearing all the "how-we-used-to-do-its"—a staff of stately old fossils, who had devoted their lives to the petrifaction of public opinion, went to work for other newspaper historical societies, and in their places sat a group of ruthless young vandals, who didn't think "The Landing of the Normans" sufficiently thrilling for current date lines.

They all shook their heads and walked around to examine the foundations of the empire, but despite their gloomiest hopes the country went on Albioning at the old stand.

Over here, we are accustomed to read the opinions of the occasional paper which Northcliffe doesn't yet own.

But you don't hear what the people say, and people buy newspapers to get opinions, not express them.

Northcliffe intensely admires us and has a plagued sight more accurate conception of affairs in the United States than lots of folks undertaking to estimate conditions from Washington.

But, for that matter, so does he understand who's what in China, and his uncanny knowledge of Germany's affairs has long puzzled every one who doesn't know of his astounding and world-flung secret service.

Every evening, despite the Steel Walls of the North, the day's Berlin papers are on his desk.

Three weeks before the announcement of Russia's unexpected and spectacular advance, he was calmly explaining the extraordinary measures that had been taken to move the Tsar's forces.

Six years ago in Paris, he predicted to the writer one of several prices his country had since paid for her disregard of German "efficiency."

He doesn't fluster—there's nothing strident or hectic about Northcliffe. There are no exclamation points to his vehemence—but, he gets his way.

In the general confusion that seems to be prevailing just now, it's hard to estimate who's right and who's wrong, still, I'll lay odds that he is some right.

And if he has misjudged the needs of the hour, depend upon it, he's blundering magnificently.

Big journalists always do. It's in their nature to go the limit.

That's why they so frequently turn public opinion topsy-turvy. And once in a while they convince so many that the wrong way may come up topside, and goes down in history as the right way.

They indict him of ambitions. He has them. That's why he fights so hard.

They accuse him of creating sensations to make circulation. He does. That's why men run newspapers—to get enough circulation to create sensation and thereby get more circulation, to keep on startling a greater number to a realization of their obligations and necessities.

But remember that neither in England nor America do crowds continue to follow the false prophet—and Northcliffe still has the crowds.

CHICAGO EXPECTS MANY VISITORS

Republican Convention and Automobile Derby to Be Held in June.

With the Republican national convention opening June 7 and the second annual Chicago automobile derby scheduled for Saturday of that week, June 10, David F. Reid, president of the Chicago Speedway association, wishing to give the race thrill-seekers an even run for their hotel reservations with the presidential slatemakers, has made arrangements to establish a hotel information bureau at Speedway headquarters, where out of town spectators may obtain up-to-the-minute information on hotel accommodations and make room reservations by mail or telegraph.

The bureau will probably be opened when the tickets are first placed on sale. The hotels have agreed to cooperate with the speedway management and each day will make a report on how many rooms are available during the week of Chicago's double major attractions.

President Reid is confident that this year's motor derby will attract spectators from all over the county and that the attendance from out of town will be greater than last season, when the race had its inception and lacked the prestige that it now holds by virtue of the record breaking time in 1915. Every mail brings in letters of inquiry concerning the race, although it is more than four months away. For example, an enthusiast yesterday wrote that he was planning to chaperon a party of twenty-four from Virginia, to witness the June 10 contest and made reservations for four boxes.

Not only has the distance and purse of the 1916 race been reduced, but the speedway directors have cut the admission prices as well. No gate admission will be charged for this year's event, whereas in 1915 it cost $2 to get inside the grounds and an additional expediture was necessary if one wished to have a seat in the grandstand or bleachers. The following scale of prices have been decided upon for the June 10 contest: Box seats, including admission, $7, $8 and $10; grand stand seats, including admission, $3.50, $4 and $5; bleachers, $1.50 and 1; paddock, $2 and $1; parking spaces, $5 and $10.

This represents a cut of approximately 50 per cent from the admission prices that prevailed last year, when the choicest box chairs sold for $25 and the best grand stand seat cost, $7. The cheapest bleacher seats in 1915 represented a total outlay of $3 and $2 was charged for general admission.

INDUSTRIES KEPT GOING BY AUTOS

Much Metal and Lumber Used in Car Construction.

"Two of the first three industries of the United States are largely dependent upon the automobile industry, which is officially fourth in rank," says H. S. Daniels.

"I refer to the metal and lumber trades. Of the former hundreds of thousands of tons were used in 1915 motor cars, while an enormous quantity of hardwood was consumed in building car bodies. Then consider the relation of the great leather, rubber, glass, paint and cloth trades to automobile building. Recent statistics show the following totals entering into the construction of last year's motor car output:

"Seven hundred and sixty thousand tons of fabricated steel; 8,460,000 board feet of manufactured wood; 67,232 leather hides; 3,280,000 square yards of imitation leather; 11,405,250 yards of top material and linings; 489,356 yards of burlap—and so on through the long list of materials entering into the modern automobile.

"Just think for a moment of the vast number of people interested in the production of a Kissel Kar. Workers in steel and lumber, employing millions of men, are but examples. Men of the jungles, the forests, the highways, the mills, the foundries—all are favorably affected through the wonderful sale of automobiles. Literally millions of men in 1915 participated, directly or indirectly, in the $691,778,950 which the automobile output brought in the retail market.

"To realize what all this means to business in general, it is but necessary to stop and ponder that this vast army of men to whom the rise of the motor car industry has meant so much, are in turn important consumers of every necessity, and many of the luxuries, of life. You occasionally meet a man who professes to believe that the demand for motor cars has hurt other lines of business. He is not a thinker."

WILL CONFER ON CONCRETE WORK

John Wilson Will Attend National Meeting in Chicago.

John Wilson, former city engineer of Duluth, will attend the national conference on concrete road building, which takes place at the Auditorium hotel, Chicago, from Tuesday to Friday of next week. This will be the most important national gathering on the subject ever arranged, and in addition to Mr. Wilson, who is a member of the advisory committee of the conference, it will call together most of the other distinguished road building authorities of the country.

While in Chicago Mr. Wilson will attend the Chicago cement show, which opens on a mammoth scale in the Coliseum and first regiment armory today. The show will close on the evening of Feb. 19. With the exception of the national automobile show, the Chicago cement show will be the largest industrial exhibition ever held in that city.

There will be 283 separate exhibits, it is announced by Manager Robert F. Hall, and these will range from examples of artistic cement sculpture to huge machinery, which may be studied in full operation. The big cement show is a reflection of the tremendously prosperous condition of the whole cement industry, due not only to satisfactory business conditions, but to the never pausing increase in the use of the material for every sort of constructive purpose.

The cause of good roads will be amply represented at the show by special exhibits showing progress on the famous Dixie highway, linking north and south. The opening day, Lincoln's birthday anniversary, will bring about the focusing of attention on the Lincoln highway, which will ultimately be a perfect boulevard from ocean to ocean.

RUSH PRODUCTION TO MEET DEMANDS

Auto Shows Make Many Sales; Record Year Is Promised.

With the successful 1916 New York and Chicago shows over, officials of the various automobile companies have turned to their factories to hasten production of cars in order to meet the demand. Both the New York and Chicago shows broke all records for attendance and sales, to say nothing of prospects, so that 1916 promises to be the most successful year in the history of the industry. This is the first year that there has not been a general policy of storing cars by the manufacturers and dealers for the spring rush, but with the all year touring types and the self starter, which has allowed for general winter use of motor cars, the winter sales have been so great that the factories have been unable to keep up the demand.

After his return from the Chicago show last week, Commercial Manager Lee Anderson of the Hupp Motor Car corporation, made a canvass of the Hupmobile situation since the start of the company's fiscal year from July 1, last.

"During the seven months from July 1 to Jan. 31 the Hupp corporation has shown an increase of 65 per cent over the preceding year," said Mr. Anderson. "For January alone the 1916 shipments were 62 per cent greater than January, 1915. These figures are for shipments and not production, and would have been much greater had the shortage in freight cars not occurred. During some days of January it was impossible to get more than four or five freight cars, suitable for automobile shipments, in the entire city of Detroit."

MUST ELIMINATE MANY INVENTIONS

Car Designer and Publisher Compared By Reo Official.

"Designing automobiles is a good deal like publishing newspapers," says Richard H. Scott, vice president and general manager of the Reo Motor Car company.

"Of course I don't know much about publishing newspapers, but somewhere I have read that the secret of successful publishing is not what the editor puts into the paper but what he leaves out.

"There is an awful lot of news matter made every day that is not published by the most successful papers—not worth publishing.

"Similarly there are countless ideas and inventions for improvement of automobiles which, if they were all applied, would soon put the strongest concern out of business.

"They tell me publishers age rapidly under the strain of trying to decide 'which is and which isn't'—what news to print and what to throw into the waste basket.

"I think we run them a pretty close second in our efforts to keep things out of Reo cars that should not go in."

AUTO LAWS SHOULD BE STANDARDIZED

Engineers' Society Offers Natural and Simple Solution.

Every automoblie owner who has occasion to drive his car from one city to another realizes the importance of the movement that has been started to standardize the various laws and ordinances governing the operation of motor vehicles throughout the country. There is a wide and embarrassing divergency in a number of the municipal ordinances regulating safety devices or other equipment. This is particularly true in the case of dimmers designed to eliminate the glare from automobile headlights.

Realizing the need for a uniform regulation covering the elimination of the headlight glare, the Society of Auto-

Dodge Brothers have built and delivered thirty-eight million dollars worth of cars in the past thirteen months.

The car has now reached the stage where its sales are almost automatically increased.

By this we mean that one sale is almost certain to result in one or two other sales.

The simple truth about how the car stands with the public is hard to put into words because it sounds like boasting.

It is a common occurence with dealers, everywhere, to have a man walk in and drive out without wasting time asking questions.

The fact is that the average owner is not merely satisfied, but almost extravagantly enthusiastic.

You must have noticed that the first thing said about the car, in ordinary conversation, is almost always a direct reference to its quality.

People have arrived at the conclusion that the Dodge Brothers give the manufacture of the car an unusual degree of personal attention; and that the car is right, down to the smallest detail.

There is a widespread feeling that they take an intense personal pride in perfecting the product that bears their name.

Both of these conclusions are correct.

As we have said before, the Dodge Brothers are the actual, active superintendents, engineers, managers and owners of this business.

Before they began to build their own car they had built the parts for more than half a million other cars.

All of this experience, and all that followed it—coupled with intense pride in their own product and love of the work itself—keeps up a continuous process of improvement.

They have concentrated on one car, and one car only, in a determination to make it as good as a car can be made.

For every part and every process that enters into it they have personally established a standard.

The work done and the materials used in each part, and each process, in every car, must conform to that standard.

The factories now cover 60 acres of floor space—and are still growing—but there is no department so remote that it does not feel the influence of the Dodge Brothers personal direction.

This intense watchfulness accounts, of course, for the remarkable things you hear about the performance of the car.

In its first year it has acquired a wonderful hold on the good opinion of the American people—and it has not developed a single fault worth talking about.

That it will steadily grow better under the Dodge Brothers' generalship goes without saying.

It will be well worth your while to examine this car at the Show mibile Engineers has for some time given this matter consideration and recently made a recommendation which offers a natural and simple remedy without necessitating any sweeping changes in the thousands of cars now owned by private motorists. By properly focusing the electric bulb and bending the lamp supporters in such a way as to direct the light rays correctly, it is said that the average headlights, as supplied on the better grades of cars, can be rendered practically non-glaring. The S. A. E. recommendation provides that "The headlights should be so arranged that no portion of the reflected beam of light, when measured seventy-five feet or more ahead of the lamps, shall be over forty-two inches above the level surface on which the vehicle stands. Such headlights shall also give sufficient side illumination to indicate any person, vehicle or substantial object ten feet to the side of said motor vehicle at a point ten feet ahead of the lamps."

An inquiry recently made by The Horseless Age, the automobile trade magazine, of all of the states and many of the large cities of the country discloses the fact that at the present time few cities and only half a dozen states have any legislation prohibiting the use of dazzling or glaring headlights unless dimmed. The state regulating the use of dazzling headlights are California, District of Columbia, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey and Michigan.

RACE STARS GATHER IN LOS ANGELES

Will Compete in Ascot and Corona Events on West Coast.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 12.—Racing stars are gathering in Los Angeles for the big Ascot and Corona auto events Feb. 22 and March 17, respectively.

Teddy Tetzluff, Eddie Pullen, Barney Oldfield, Jim Parsons, George Hill, Dave Lewis and other top liners are on the ground and Toft, Alley, O'Donnell, Rickenbacker and probably Resta will arrive in a few days.

Since the improvements at the Corona track it is expected that the track record of eighty-seven miles an hour, made in 1914, will be eclipsed by at least ten miles an hour. The field promises to be the classiest ever seen on a Southern California course, not barring the Vanderbilt classic a few years ago at Santa Monica.

NIGHT MOTION PHOTOS NOW TAKEN

Traveling Power Plant Made Out of Mitchell Motor Car.

Night motion photography in the most inaccessible places, those places where artificial light has heretofore been unknown, has been made possible by means of an independent, traveling power plant, the fruit of the fertile brain of Romaine Fielding, erstwhile Lubin star and now feature director of the Lubin Arizona company, with headquarters in Phoenix, Ariz.

That this portable plant made out of one of Fielding's big Mitchell motor cars, will be found invaluable for field work where it is impracticable to run wires for miles in order to get night photography, is the belief of Mr. Fielding. Not only that, but he has completed arrangements to transport his entire company and a host of "properties" to Northern Arizona, where this fall he expects to stage pictures in the Grand Canyon, and by means of the light from his portable plant, to delve into the depths of the caverns of the great crevice and to utilize for his purpose the dark recesses, caves and trails. It will be the first time where the canyon has actually been employed as a stage for the pictured drama.

The outfit, besides providing equipment for running wires, is also equipped with a powerful twelve-inch navy searchlight of the projector type. This is mounted on the seat beside the driver, and may be operated either while the car is moving or standing still. The capacity of the searchlight is 4,500,000 candle power and when in operation requires 25 per cent of the full power of the engine.

DULUTH SHOW WINDOW IN NATIONAL COMPETITION

WINDOW DISPLAY AT MUTUAL AUTO COMPANY'S BUILDING.

E. J. Filiatrault, president of the Mutual Auto company, announced this morning that the novel window display shown in the accompanying photograph has been entered in the national window contest now being conducted by the Rice Leaders of the World, an advertising organization of the most popular manufacturers in the country.

This window was arranged last week and will be on display throughout automobile show week, Mr. Filiatrault announced today. It occupies the east window of the company's building at 300 East Superior street.

Photographs of the window display and a detailed statement of its features have been mailed to the Rice Leaders of the World, entering it in the national contest for the best window display in America.

ELECTRICS NO LONGER TOWN CAR

Rough Roads and Hills Conquered By Late Stock Model.

In a recent talk, A. J. Robillard of the R. & R. garage, Detroit electric car dealers in this territory, said the belief still clung to by some people that the electric car is primarily a town car has been conclusively refuted by the recent performances of Detroit Electrics.

"Only the other day," he said, "H. H. Dennis of Toledo, drove a stock model Detroit Electric over storm-roughened winter roads from Detroit to Toledo—a distance of seventy-eight miles—on one battery charge. In many places where the road was unusually bad Mr. Dennis drove the car through the bordering corn fields.

"But a short time before Mr. Dennis' trip, another stock model Detroit Electric climbed Mount Lookout in Colorado. Starting from Denver it climbed to the summit and returned—a distance of forty-six miles up steep mountain trails without the slightest difficulty."

MAXWELL WILL BE IN SPEEDWAY EVENTS

New Type of Car Will Taper Gracefully to "Fish-Tail" Rear.

Motor speedway events of 1916 will again include the familiar campaign in the hands of Barney Oldfield, Eddie Rickenbacher and others. The famous team of sable flyers will be present, however, in an entirely new color scheme and with a body design greatly changed as the result of scientific experiment in wind resistance.

White and red are the new colors which the cars will wear in the races of 1916. The cars will be narrower, the crews will ride lower and each car will taper gracefully to a "fish-tail" rear end.

ROADSTERS MEET NEEDS OF FAMILY

Oldsmobile Model Virtually Has Capacity of Touring Car.

Among other innovations 1916 has brought out some unique ideas in roadster construction, among them new designs in what are popularly termed "family" roadsters. These have seating arrangements designed primarily to meet the requirements of the small family. One such car is the Oldsmobile roadster which has virtually the capacity of a touring car, five passengers being seated comfortably in emergencies.

The front seat is designed to carry three passengers and the car has an overflow capacity of two passengers, having an extra large luggage compartment covered by a pair of hinged doors, which, when opened up, transform the rear section into two well upholstered seats which are quite commodious and far from being in the least uncomfortable.

The top, of course, can either be let down or the rear curtain rolled up out of the way, so that the rear passengers are not isolated.

That a design of this kind has greatly popularized the roadster is evident from the big increase in roadster sales which the manufacturers of the Oldsmobile have experienced this season.

HUCK RAISING CAPITAL.

Albert Bigelow Paine, in the St. Nicholas: "The adventures of Sam Clemens and his comrades would fill several books of the size of 'Tom Sawyer.' Many of them are of course forgotten now, but those still remembered show that Mark Twain had plenty of real material.

"It was not easy to get money in those days, and the boys were often without it. Once 'Huck' Blankenship had the skin of a coon he had captured, and offered to sell it to raise capital. At Selm's store on Wild Cat Corner the coonskin would bring 10 cents. But this was not enough. The boys thought of a plan to make it bring more. Selm's back window was open, and the place where he kept his pelts was pretty handy. Huck went around to the front door and sold the skin for 10 cents to Selms, who tossed it back on the pile. Then Huck came back and, after waiting a reasonable time, crawled in the open window, got the coonskin and sold it to Selms again. The boys did this several times that afternoon, and the capital of the band grew. But at last John Pierce, Selm's clerk, said:

"'Look here, Mr. Selms, there's something wrong about this. That boy has been selling us coonskins all the afternoon.'

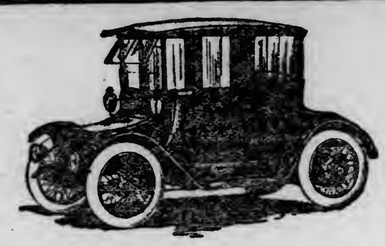

"Selms went back to his pile of pelts. There were several skeepskins, but only one coonskin—the one he had that moment bought.

"Selms himself, in after years, used to tell this story as a great joke."

Inspection of the old walls of the palace of the Louvre disclosed that reinforced concrete was known and used in Paris in the sixteenth century.

There is no reference in very ancient literature to a cold in the head. The Greeks and Romans seem to have been the first people to suffer from it.

—absolute silence in operation

The motive power of the Detroit Electric is a perfectly fluid, continuous stream of electricity. There are no explosions, no intervals between impulses, no over-powerful engine pounding away at 2000 revolutions per minute, nothing to jar and tire you, nothing to batter the mechanism and pile up heavy bills for repair, replacement, and adjustment. You'll be surprised at the distance you can ride in a Detroit Electric without the slightest fatigue. And it is the preferable automobile because of its cleanliness and freedom from the fumes and odors common to gas cars. On any day you say we'll be glad to arrange a demonstration for you.

The FINE CAR and its Future

The future of the expensive motor car is the same as the future of any other fine thing. Persons of taste, able to afford the best, will never be satisfied with anything less than the best. Such families, who can afford the fine things of life, are never satisfied with any compromise. There is a satisfaction in owning an exclusive, aristocratic vehicle of the finest quality and in the best taste.

Human nature has always been the same and will not change in the future. The desire to own something better in a motor car, something more distinguished, something more remarkable, is unquestioned.

The matter of price has nothing to do with the future of the Fine Motor Car. The circle of those who are financially able to enjoy the ultra-luxurious motor car is growing larger, and this circle will always demand the best. The fact that the Locomobile is and must always be an expensive motor car is merely a measure of its merit, inasmuch as the price of any car is, or ought to be, merely a function of its cost.

Though it be expensive, the Locomobile is a great satisfaction. Because of this satisfaction, and because the Locomobile policy of limited production is and always will be strictly adhered to, its future is perfectly assured, like that of the fine home, the fine yacht, and other fine things of life.

The increase in the demand for the Locomobile can mean but one thing—a finer appreciation of the merits of the Car. The Locomobile is built with extreme conscientiousness. The production is limited to Four Cars a Day, and much individual time and attention is given to each Locomobile. There will always be a demand for a car conceived and executed in this spirit.

Car Sales in Minnesota.

By JULIUS A. SCHMAHL.
Secretary of State of Minnesota.

For the last thirteen months there has not been a single day—Sundays but not holidays excepted—on which two or more automobile licenses have not been issued by the automobile bureau of the secretary of state's office. This means that despite the cold and snow of winter automobile dealers in Minnesota have been disposing of two or more machines each day.

The growth of the sale and use of the autocar in Minnesota is in keeping with that in other states and if the latest figures are correct, Minnesota is about the tenth state in the Union in the number of automobiles within its boundaries. This position was attained two or three years ago, and has not varied since.

At present there are in this state about 94,000 automobiles registered by nearly as many owners. In addition, the state department has registered more than 400 dealers and it is fair to presume that they have in stock two or three machines, placing the total number of vehicles of all kinds in the state at present about 95,000. A year ago I made the prediction that by the end of 1915 Minnesota would have approximately 100,000 vehicles propelled by power of all kinds, within its confines. My prediction has not fallen far short of the mark and I have been assured by dealers that if they could have obtained the cars they ordered my prognostication would not only have been verified but would have been exceeded.

Au Revoir.

"Be with us next year," is the parting message of the dealers at the automobile show.

So popular and successful is the show this year that these exhibits are now an institution in Duluth, say officers of the local association.

See you next year, boys.

Don't forget the work of the auto thieves last summer and fall.

They will start again in the spring and automobile owners are urged to watch their machines.

Notify the police immediately after the theft. Don't wait.

Herald Booth Popular.

The Herald information bureau at the show has been one of the hits of the week.

Hundreds of visitors at the show made inquiries at the booth and the management was greatly assisted in handling the crowds. In addition, more than 300 persons from the range, surrounding territory, the Twin Cities and the East, all out-of-town visitors, registered in the "guest book" during the week.

MILITARY INSTRUCTION.

University of Michigan Plans to Install New Training Course.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 12.—Provision for the institution of a non-compulsory system of military training at the University of Michigan, was made by the board of regents at a meeting here Tuesday.

A chair to be known as the department of military science will be created with an officer of the United States army in charge of all instruction.

The action of the board of regents was set forth in resolutions which recommended that such "a course of study be supplemented by practical work of training which shall include tactical walks and summer camps. It is not contemplated that the military training and instruction so provided shall include the formation of a uniformed corps, except in the summer camps."

Frost on Mars.

Flagstaff, Ariz., Feb. 12.—What appears to be the first spring frost on Mars for this season, has just been detected by the astronomers of the Lowell observatory. The north cap itself is in active state of melting, a circular rift, having appeared half way through it, which is widening and which is connected with the border of radial tributary rifts.

DORT

The 1916 Dort Is Here

Duluth has waited a long time for the Dort and now, for the first time, it is here.

Duluth would have had the Dort last year but the factory output was disposed of so quickly that there were not enough cars to go around. Now the production has been increased tenfold and prompt deliveries are assured.

The Dort is not an ordinary car. It is an honestly exceptional car—so acclaimed by engineering experts, dealers and motorists alike. This year, as last, it was the sensation at all the shows. At New York, Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit, Kansas City and elsewhere the Dort dominated its price class—not only that, but in Texas, Oklahoma, Utah and every other section where it has been marketed during the past year it has broken all motor records for popularity and satisfaction.

Dort sturdiness and superiority is immediately evident to any motorist who studies the specifications and examines the car.

It has all the advantages of the light car, with all the good qualities of the big car. Every part of the Dort down to the most obscure detail is built for power, sturdiness, dependability and accessibility.

The Dort high-speed, long stroke motor is a marvel of power and flexibility. The Westinghouse two-unit starting and lighting system—the Connecticut ignition—the Jaycox irreversible steering—the 50-inch cantilever springs in the rear, are only a few examples of Dort thoroughness.

No big-car feature has been overlooked in the matter of comfort, refinements and beauty.

The body is roomy and perfectly appointed; the lines of the car are clean and handsome. In fact no motor car on the market today has made such rapid strides in favor of the buying public—and no motor car offers so much for the money.

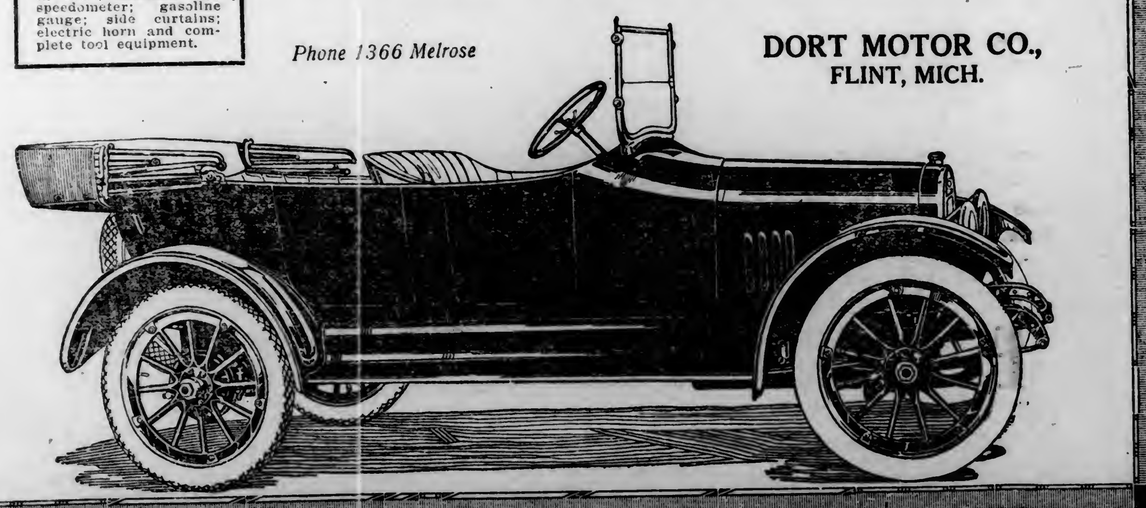

The Dort will surprise you. See it. Ride in it—drive it. Make it a point to KNOW the Dort before you buy a car.

County Commissioner Little Objects to Road Fund Apportionment.

Declares Money Has Been Wasted on Miller Trunk Road.

Asserts His District Has Been Slighted Without His Consultation.

That enough money has been spent on the Miller Trunk road within the last twenty years to pave that highway from Duluth to the ranges, and that the thoroughfare is in worse condition today than it was a decade ago, are the charges which T. H. Little, county commissioner from the Second district, made at a county board session yesterday afternoon.

"What has become of the $50,000 to $75,000 that is being spent annually on this road?" demanded Commissioner Little. "Where has all this money gone? Surely the present condition of the road does not reveal the mystery. The road is in worse condition today than it was ten years ago and since the road was built twenty years ago enough money has been spent upon it to pave it with concrete all the way from Duluth to the ranges."

Says It Was "Framed."

Commissioner Little raised a dissenting voice against the division of the county road funds. He declared that he had been left out and that he had no voice in how much money he should receive. That had been decided in advance, he said, and the first he knew of it was when he found a typewritten resolution which had been placed before him at the board meeting.

Mr. Little complained that the roads in the Second commissioner district were slighted.

"Why is it" he asked, "that while there is available for the improvement of the Miller Trunk road, (State highway, No. 1) between $50,000 and $75,000 annually, the Vermilion road, otherwise designated as State highway, No. 4, the other main trunk thoroughfare between Duluth and the iron ranges, receives little or nothing? During the last two years only $10,000 has been spent on this road and this year the board has allowed but $15,000."

Mr. Little also called attention to the fact that but $5,000 had been allowed by the board for the improvement of the North Shore boulevard, which, he declared, was a shame.

Nearly Full Sum Apportioned.

Apportionment of $603,800 of the $615,000 road fund levy for 1916 took place yesterday afternoon. The sum of $11,200 was not apportioned from the fund but was left for emergency uses. The money apportioned is not appropriated. It is necessary for the board to appropriate the money when payments on each road are authorized and the division of the funds yesterday was merely an arbitrary one and merely for convenience sake.

The Sixth district which sought $150,000 received $100,000, which is an increase of 10 per cent over last year. The apportionment was as follows:

Engineering department	$ 22,000
State highway No. 1	55,000
State highway No. 2	5,000
State highway No. 3	5,000
State highway No. 4	15,000
State rural highways	5,000
Aitkin highway	3,800
First district roads (Fraser)	13,000
Second district roads (Little)	40,000
Third district roads (Swanstrom)	18,000
Fourth district roads (McMahan)	85,000
Fifth district roads (Kauppi)	100,000
Sixth district roads (Pentilla)	100,000
Seventh district roads (O'Neil)	120,000

The $55,000 for the Miller trunk road will be spent under the supervision of the following commissioners: Fourth district, $10,000; Fifth district, $20,000; Sixth district, $15,000, and Seventh district, $10,000.

* * *

Road appropriations were made to cover expenditures in the following districts:

By the Third and Fifth district commissioners—Proctor, $2,000; Getchell, $1,100; Thompson, $700; New Duluth and Fond du Lac, $1,200; short line pike, $1,700. Total, $6,700.

Fourth—White Iron lake, $1,500; Ely and Tower, $3,000. Total, $4,500.

Fifth—Nevalinen, $800.

Sixth—Tower and Embarrass, $200; Bassett, $200; Morrison, $150; Vermilion, $200 and Pike river, $200. Total, $950.

Third—Haines, $500; Hutchinson, $500 and Decker, $500. Total, $1,500.

On its bid of $3,880, the Art Metal Construction company of Jamestown, N. Y., was awarded the contract to furnish six steel filing cases for use in the office of the county auditor and in the probate court.

Bids will be opened March 3 on: Two and three-quarter miles of the Yoki road, two miles of the Wood road, three miles of the Heino road, one and one-half miles of the Laina-Anderson connection, two miles of the Laine road, and new bridge across the Floodwood river on the Parantala road.

LAYMEN PLAN TO VISIT CLOQUET

First of "Echo Conventions" Will Be Held on Feb. 20.

The first of the "echo conventions," planned by the Laymen's Central Continuation for cities and towns in the Duluth district, will take place at Cloquet a week from tomorrow. Other dates will be set for other places in the surrounding country, and a number of applications have been received by Secretary Frank Downing, who is the executive official of the committee. Among those applying are Aitkin and Carlton, which will be the first places served after Cloquet, but there will be arranged in the meantime meetings for other places, which will follow rapidly.

At Cloquet, the general plan which will be followed at each of the cities to be served consists of work by a delegation of laymen from Duluth. They will preach in the various churches of the city in the morning, and in the afternoon will hold a mass meeting for men.

West Duluth will be visited officially by one of these delegations on Feb. 27, at which time the pulpits of the evangelical churches of that part of the city will be occupied by laymen in the morning, and on the evening of the next day a banquet will be given, at which the mass meeting idea will be carried out.

Arrangements are being made for a vigorous "every member canvass" of the different churches which joined in the recent laymen's convention, this to be held on March 5. The canvass will be either financial or fellowship in character, according to the desires of the congregations involved. In the meantime committees to look after this canvass are being formed, and the central committee is bolstering up committees which were inactive and having appointed committees of this kind where none have existed before.

FAVORS MILITARY WORK IN SCHOOLS

Maj. Teare Addresses Lester Park Club on Training Plan.

Military training in schools will develop the physical fitness of the boys of the country, declared Maj. C. C. Teare of Duluth, formerly of the United States army, in an address before the members of the Lester Park Improvement club in the Lester school last evening.

The speaker outlined a program to be followed under this plan, including physical and medical inspections periodically, setting-up exercises, compulsory gymnasium work, horse-back riding, special mental training, squad, company and battalion drill and the manual of arms. Schools having drill would be given a Federal allowance each year, according to the major's plan.

Following Maj. Teare's address, a public discussion was held on the armory referendum petition and on the proposed schoolhouse and library in that end of the city. John Jenswold, Jr., president of the club, presided during the evening.

The next meeting of the club will be held Wednesday evening, March 8.

ASSEMBLY TO KEEP UP FIGHT

McEwen Discusses His Position in Opposing Armory Sale.

The fight to prevent the sale of the old armory will be continued by union labor, according to a resolution passed last night by the Duluth Trades assembly.

William E. McEwen gave an address in which he outlined his position in opposing the sale of the building to the Shriners. He also deplored the fact that undue bitterness had been engendered by the fight. He said that he had no personal motive in carrying on the opposition, but that he wished to save the building for all of the people instead of turning it over to a few.

His idea was to have the structure converted into a great forum and civic center. Reading rooms, public baths and a gymnasium, he said, would prove of incalculable benefit to the public at large.

One of the chief functions of the building, he declared, might be for the benefit of homeless and migratory laborers who pass continually through this city. This haven of refuge would tend to keep the men from the saloons. These wanderers, he said, are now compelled to seek shelter at the railway stations, the police station and other similar places.

The Aad Temple Building association and some of the city officials, he said, had shown undue haste in attempting to put the deal over. He said the people had a right to express their opinion on the matter.

He estimated that 50 per cent of the signatures to the referendum petitions held invalid would eventually be found to conform with the city attorney's "remarkable" ruling.

After the address the members of the assembly pledged themselves to circulate more petitions for more names and to carry on the contest for a referendum.

Teeth Made White and Glistening in a Jiffy

(Woman's Sphere.)

By a new and perfectly harmless process, anyone having yellow, black or other stains or spots on the teeth, can remove the unsightly discolorations completely in just a few minutes. It is only necessary to brush the teeth with refined avatol, which of course any druggist can supply. This seems to penetrate and dissolve the films or "plaques" with which all teeth are coated and which are bound to become discolored in time. This information will be best appreciated by fastidious persons who, in spite of the most persistent brushing, have learned that the usual dentifrices have little effect on those tenacious fatty films.

This simple substance has also been found a positive destructive of the many kinds of germs which live in the mouth, including the "amoeba" which scientists announced not long ago as the cause of pyorrhea. Many who have already profited by its use in this direction are willing to affirm that a tube of refined avatol is worth its weight in gold. —Advertisement.

QUARTET IN FIERCE FIGHT

Four Men Locked in Room Try to Kill Each Other.

Battle in St. Louis Ends Only With Physical Exhaustion.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 12.—Locked in a room on the sixth floor of a popular downtown hotel here last night, four men fought with knives, dentists' instruments, and revolvers until all were too badly wounded to continue. The battle was the sequel to business differences between two dentists.

When the police and hotel guests broke into the room they found Dr. A. F. Johnson, a local dentist, unconscious with two bullet wounds in the groin, Dr. Charles W. Kennerly of San Antonio, Texas, with blood pouring from a knife wound in his arm, and panting for breath, another man who had registered as W. E. Arnold of Mobile, Ala., unconscious on the bed with his throat cut from ear to ear, and Charles Lody, an assistant to Dr. Johnson, cut, bruised and dazed.

Late last night Dr. Johnson was in the operating room of the city hospital in a critical condition; Dr. Kennerly and his friend, Arnold, were prisoner patients at the hospital and Lody was being thanked by friends and relatives of Dr. Johnson for saving the latter's life.

At midnight "Arnold" said he was Walter A. Diffenbach of San Antonio, Tex. Dr. Kennerly said Dr. Johnson owed him $25,000 and that a quarrel over the debt preceded the battle. He denied using a revolver.

Dr. Johnson was president of the Plow Candy company of St. Louis, a large manufacturing corporation which failed about two years ago.

In Dr. Johnson's pocket a revolver with no cartridges discharged was found, and on the floor was another pistol with several shells discharged.

Cause Explained.

An affidavit found in Dr. Charles W. Kennerly's pocket early today explained the cause of the fight with pistols, knives and dental instruments in a room in a local hotel last night in which Dr. Kennerly of San Antonio, Tex., Dr. A. F. Johnson of St. Louis, Walter A. Diffenbach of San Antonio and Charles Lody, St. Louis, were injured. Johnson and Kennerly were formerly college classmates, former business partners and are lodge brothers.

In the affidavit Dr. Kennerly told, the story of a life ruined both financially and physically and accused his former associate in the dental business of failure to pay a $2,500 debt and of withholding other funds which Dr. Kennerly claimed were due him. The affidavit asked that Dr. Johnson be expelled from the Masonic order because of the alleged wrongs to Dr. Kennerly.

Dr. Johnson was at the city hospital today hovering between life and death, his face and body slashed and a wound through both hips and the groin made by a single steel jacketed bullet. Dr. Kennerly, who was cut about the face and on both arms, was a prisoner at the hospital, a police charge against him awaiting the outcome of Johnson's injuries.

Two other participants in the fight also were prisoners today, Walter A. Diffenbach of Granite City, Ill., at the hospital with a throat cut almost from ear to ear, and Charles Lody at police headquarters.

Woodland's First Vaudeville Show Is Unqualified Success

Laughter, applause, and more laughter from a crowd that literally packed the auditorium of the E. R. Cobb school building testified last night to the unqualified success of the Woodland Neighborhood club's first vaudeville and minstrel show. Musical numbers were predominant, but there was enough variety to the affair to keep it from growing monotonous. At the close of the program those present danced until midnight. Punch was served by Misses Jennie Lafond and Katherine Fitzgerald. A four-piece orchestra furnished the music.

From start to finish the various performances showed the result of the untiring and competent efforts of Mrs. E. E. Fuller, Mrs. R. I. Davis and Mrs. C. F. Colman, who drilled the performers. Local hits were numerous and were thoroughly appreciated by the audience, which included nearly all of those to whom reference was made.

Following an opening overture, a pantomime, "Diamond Cut Diamond," was given by Mrs. G. A. Pearce and Messrs. R. I. Davis and D. E. Giffin. It represented a man in a theater seriously annoyed by the presence in front of him of a woman wearing a big hat which she refused to move. After much tribulation, the usher showed the man to a seat in front of the lady, but before occupying the new place, the man donned his overcoat and hat, and in a short time had convinced the woman of the selfishness of her course.

A cornet duet that won unstinted applause was rendered by Messrs. C. R. Stal and E. T. Hughes, and was followed by a series of live pictures representing "Harrison Fisher girls in real life." The posing was exceptionally well done, and was warmly applauded. One of the most effective pictures was that of Betsy Ross sewing on the first American flag. During the posing, solos were sung by Mrs. Fuller and Mrs. Davis, and Arthur Pearson played on the violin. The posing was done by Misses Blessner, Sherman, White, McDonald, McCann and Goggins and Mesdames Robinson and Ryan.

Two of the biggest hits of the evening were scored by V. D. Prudhomme in monologue acts, the first as a German comedian and the second as a darky. The change of character and costume were made with remarkable rapidity, and the lines were delivered with a skill and knack that "got" the crowd from the very start.

Negro Minstrels.

The program closed with "One-Half Hour in Dixie," a revival of the old-fashioned negro minstrel style of entertainment. It was here that the local hits were used most, and the only rule apparently observed was that nobody was to be spared. The pending questions of better fire protection for Woodland and the paving of Woodland avenue got due attention, an end man being "reminded" of the former by a statement that great fears were entertained for W. B. Roe—not on account of mere illness, but fears that extended "beyond the grave."

Specialties during the minstrels were a stunt with clappers, by A. J. Longtin; a quartet, "Way Down Yonder," Messrs. Forbes, Yaeger, Davis and Giffin; song, "Sweet Kentucky Lady," followed by several topical verses, by Mr. Giffin; song, "Don't You Hear Me Callin', Caroline?" by Messrs. Wilson and Davis, Mr. Wilson being dressed in feminine costume, and the Levee song by Mr. Forbes and chorus, with guitar accompaniment.

Following were the members of the minstrel "troupe:" Interlocutor, G. A. Pearce; bones, B. W. Forbes and A. J. Longtin; tambo, C. R. Magney and D. E. Giffin; chorus, W. D. Wilson, C. I. Davis, T. D. Ireland, Edward Yaeger and R. L. Faucett. Miss Romona Tunell presided at the piano. B. T. Martin was stage manager and property man.

CAPTAINS CHOSEN FOR TRACK TEAMS

With the selection of captains for the class track teams, work is being begun in earnest for the big annual Central high school interclass track meet, to be held this year on March 1.

The two upper classes are the only ones to have selected their leaders, but the lower classmen will get together next week and the captains will then assemble their men for preliminary training. George Lindsay was chosen captain of the senior team, while Robert Berkleman was named to lead the junior aggregation.

The interclass track meet is one of the big events on the winter program of sports at Central and it is expected that there will be a large number of candidates out for the several teams. The indoor work enables the men to "loosen up" for the outdoor work to come later in the spring and helps inestimably in putting the men in the best shape. It is possible that several indoor dual track meets will be arranged with other schools and organizations at the Head of the Lakes as soon as the interclass meet is over.

AMUSEMENTS

Tomorrow afternoon and night will be the last showing of Durborough's war pictures at the Orpheum-Strand theater. These pictures have been shown to thousands during the last seven days, and have been acknowledged on all sides as realistic and authentic.

Durborough's pictures were taken with von Hindenburg's, von Beseler's and von Mackensen's armies at the front, and in the great Russian drive that carried the German armies to Warsaw.

The Chicago Tribune says after viewing the pictures at the La Salle theater: "There are war pictures and war pictures, but the blue ribbon goes to Durborough."

The Milwaukee Free Press said: "The greatest war pictures ever shown in Milwaukee—they have amazed Milwaukee."

At the Zelda.

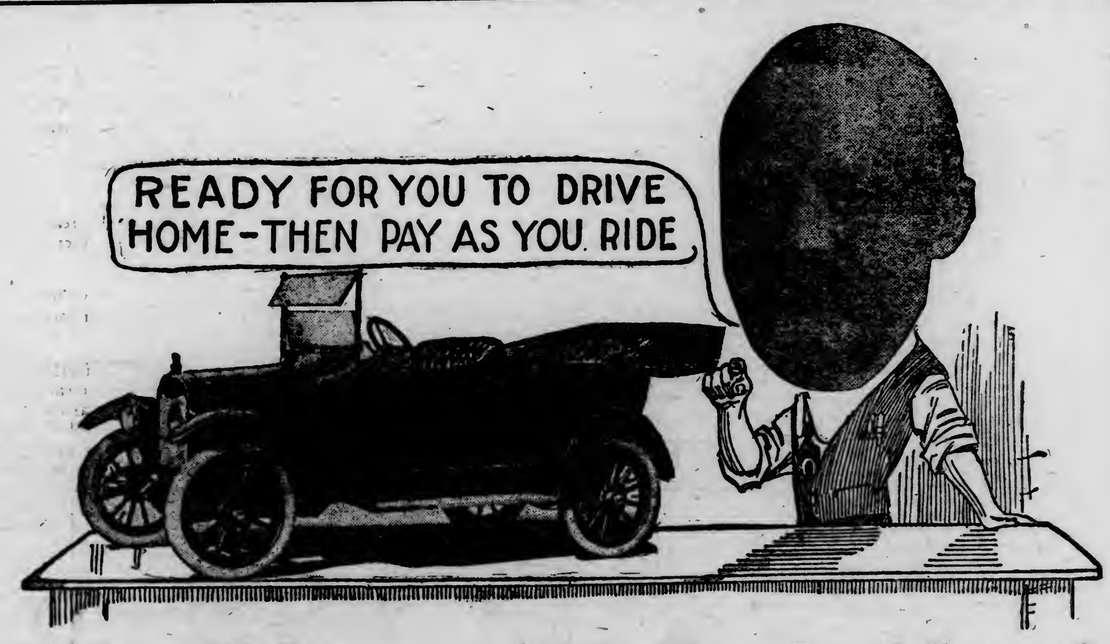

Edmund Breese, the noted dramatic star, will be seen here at the Zelda theater for three days, commencing today, in the stellar role of "The Lure of Heart's Desire," a five-part metro wonder play, produced by the Popular Plays and Players. It is a photoplay based upon an original manuscript written by Aaron Hoffman and Francis J. Grandon. Mr. Grandon also directed the production. The story is an unusual one, and abounds with intense and gripping situations. Part of the action is laid in the Alaskan wastes along the Yukon and the remainder in New York city, among members of New York society and the gay White-Way throng.

FOLLOWING THE SPORT GRIND THROUGH THE VALLEY OF GOSSIP

Duluth's Showing Against St. Paul Hockey Team Was a Distinct Boost for the Game—Local Bowlers to Attend I. B. A. Tourney—Willard's Chance Lies in Moran Contest—Bennie Kauff May Fall Down.

BY BRUCE.

DULUTH amateur hockey was given a kiss of sweet approbation on its alabaster brow through the performance of Thursday evening. Some opinioned ardently to the way of a large sized St. Paul victory. The doubting Thomas gang refused to believe that the home rink amateurs could live and breathe in the same company with the visitors. That our "hum" boys could go in and make a regular game of it, speaks very well for the class of hockey that is being gradually built up around the home hearth.

If the amateur league is doing business next season, some have conceived it an excellent idea to have a head coach in charge of the instruction department. Dad Gawley has worked wonders this season with the St. Paul septet. It is believed that a veteran and experienced puck instructor would teach a lot of hockey to the boys at home here.

In regard to the puck pastime, various rumors flutter around like a cluster of bats in a noisome room. One rumor has it that "big league" hockey will return to our midst; whilst another flimsy whispered hint hath it that the amateur will keep right on simon puring and that if any expansion is made, it will include the amateurs.

More discussion has been expended on the amateur league than any other sport organization that had flourished hereabouts. The league's initial season under cover of a real rink can be said to have been fairly successful. The league, insofar as it's affiliation with the curling club is concerned, is a purely experimental proposition. It is generally believed that if it survives the present season in good health and spirits, that it will be a huge success next year.

What About This?

HENRY ORDEMAN, honest Norsk and at one time one of the best of the American wrestlers, comes out from behind the fence and boldly states that he would be sorry to hear of Frank Gotch being matched with Joe Stecher. One can only imagine how seriously Henery regards the Dodge, Neb., mat marvel, when it is said that he fairly worships Frank Gotch.

Yea, Henery, there will be others following in the wake of your reflections. We, for one, will be extremely loath to hear it burgeoned forth that Gotch is, like the well known pitcher, going to take another trip to the well.

Duluth Showing Strong.

AT least four bowling teams will represent Duluth in the I. B. A. tourney that is to be held in Minneapolis during the coming week. The Fitzgerald and Winchester, Elcoras, Zeniths and Stagg teams are going and there may be others that will make the alley pilgrimage.

During the last few years Duluth has leaped blithely to the front as a place where the pin game thrives. This season is by far the greatest in the history of the game. There are a lot of live boosters here—and, what's very much to the point, they have a multitude of high class bowlers to boost.

Beware of the Treacherous Trip.

SOMEWHERE in the Bible—we can't recall the page—it doth say regarding that pride travels on several steps previous to the big flop on one's countenance or one's large red ear. Be that as it may, warning should be extracted from this by one Bennie Kauff, erstwhile Federal league star and present time National league prospect.

Since the last bubble caused by the sinking of the Fed ship, the Kauff person has been incessantly chattering of what he is going to do in the big show. Some unkind persons prophesy to the direful end that he will be a shine. These meanly inclined ones argue that playing in real select baseball circles and the bushes are quite two distinct propositions.

Should Benjamin prove a shine, then murky reflections will be cast at the dead organization.

Willard and Moran.

AGAINST Frank Moran Jess Willard will have the opportunity or showing whether he is the kind of a champion that reigned previous to the cut-in of Tommy Burns. True Jack Johnson was a great fighter in every sense of the word; but Burns and Marvin Hart, pseudo champions, lacked class when compared with Sullivan, Corbett and the great and mighty Jeff.

The public really has little line on Willard. He beat Johnson, but before accomplishing this feat was made to look bad upon several occasions. Joe Cox, Tom McMahan and others have made Jess appear anything but a champion.

Those who have seen the big fellow declare he has improved to a wonderful degree. The contest against the red headed fighter from Pittsburgh will afford the plainsman the large opened-faced opportunity to prove to the American public that he is one of the representative heavyweight champions of all time.

That's quite a large task to impose upon a man, especially in the circumscribed space of ten rounds—but, maybe, after all, Jess is quite equal to the task. He's sure big enough.

As for Moran, he appears to be the best of the lot. It would not be the strangest occurrence in the world if this fellow sprang a rude surprise.

Beell versus Joe Stecher.

FROM Marshfield, Wis., there emanates a rumbling noise. Freddy Beell is behind the report. They do say that the squat little Wisconsin farmer has started training in all seriousness and is determined to have a crack at Joe Stecher.

Do you know that there are legions of followers of the wrestling game who would speculate long and deeply on just what Stecher would do to Beell, yes, or what the little Dutchman would do to Stecher.

Beell is so fast, so clever, so strong and knows so much about the game, that he might make the Nebraskan travel. Then, too, if Fred should couple that headlock of his on Stecher's head and start twisting that long and thin neck back something might occur.

All this is mere conjecture, in a sense, but Beell is a wrestler of such infinite possibilities that you have a right to speculate widely as to what might happen to any man, large or small, who caught the sturdy farmer in fine shape.

MINNEAPOLIS BOXER IS AFTER MATCH IN DULUTH

LABE SAFRO.

Safro is a Minneapolis welterweight fighter who was here the past week looking for matches. There is some talk of matching the Minneapolitan against Kid Billings. The Safro person, while not especially clever, packs a real kick in his right hand and is liable to knock any of them kicking.

FIGHTS MAY BE HELD IN THE AUDITORIUM

Duluth Athletic Club's Future Fistic Activities May Be Staged in Big First Street Building.

Future boxing contests of the Duluth Athletic club may be staged in the Auditorium. Negotiations are now under way for securing the big First street building for the club shows.

Work is being done on the next card of the club, which will be held either the latter part of the present month or on the second or third of March.

Some time ago Ed Whalen, president of the club, announced that an effort would be made to secure Tommy Gibbons and Jeff Smith. If this card is secured an effort will be made to accommodate a large crowd. If the bout is secured and it is decided to hold it in the Auditorium, circus seats will be erected.

Labe Safro, the Minneapolis welterweight, may be used either here or in Superior against Kid Billings.

Up until today the main card had not been definitely decided upon. Matchmaker Abrams is working on the card and expected to make a definite announcement within the next few days.

Jimmy Azine of Minneapolis, a real fighter and a game and willing little chap, may be used on the next card. Azine has a host of local followers who would like to see the thick-set boy in action. Azine always gives the fans quite a treat for their seat holdings.

BASEBALL

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 11.—The capital stock of the St. Louis American League Baseball company, is increased from $80,000 to $400,000, according to a notice filed with the recorder of deeds here today. The stock of the Dodier Realty & Investment company, owners of the local American league park, at the same time was increased from $125,000 to $300,000.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 12.—Three members of the Pittsburgh Federals were yesterday sold to the Indianapolis American association team. They are: Pitcher Clinton Rogge and Outfielders Albert Wickland and James Kelly. The consideration was $3,000 and the cancellation of the Indianapolis club's suit against the local team which was brought following the jumping of Pitcher Sanford Burk from that team last season.

Philadelphia, Feb. 12.—"Chief" Bender, one of the star pitchers of the Philadelphia Americans when they were world's champions, will reappear in major league company in the uniform of the Philadelphia National league. He agreed on terms for a one-year contract yesterday at a conference with Pat Moran, manager of the National league title holders.

Bender joined the Athletics in 1903 and jumped to the Federal league last season after Manager Mack had asked waivers on him. Baltimore released the Indian pitcher in the middle of the season after he had lost sixteen and won four games.

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 12.—"Roxy" Roach, shortstop, who started last year with the Toronto club of the International league, and later jumped to the Buffalo Federals, has been secured by the Louisville American association club.

KETONEN AND CARR FAIL TO GAIN FALL IN FOUR HOURS

Duluth Boy and Mill City Pole Wrestle Until Wee Hours of Morning Without Being Able to Gain Decisive Victory—Chief of Police on Point of Stopping Contest When Referee McCullum Calls Bout Draw.

BY BRUCE.

Waino Ketonen and Joe Carpinski started wrestling last Friday and finished their contest early today. The longest match in the history of the West, and one of the longest in the annals of the American mat, came to an end at 1:43 o'clock this morning. Chief of Police McKercher called Promoter Frank La Joy to the box office and was on the point of ordering the bout stopped, when Referee Harry McCullum took matters into his own hands and brought the long contest to an end.

Neither of the wrestlers wanted to quit. Carr asked Referee McCullum whether there was a time limit set on the match. The official replied in the negative.

"I'll wrestle here until tomorrow morning," declared the little Finn upon hearing these words.

"You'll find me right after you," came back Carr.

After that the two dog-tired athletes lowered their heads once more and began the monotonous work of bulling around the ring.

For two hours the contest of last Friday and today was one of the greatest ever wrestled here. Ketonen was too fast and too elusive for the wonderfully strong Carr to fasten any deadly holds on. On the other hand the terrific strength of the iron Pole was such that he broke several of the pet holds of the great little Finn.

Ketonen was behind the greater portion of the time and assumed the offensive much more often than Carr. But great credit must be given the Minneapolis boy, for he is a great and game wrestler and gave Ketonen the greatest battle of his long career.

Carr Starts Fast.

Carr started in to make short work of Ketonen. Twice Joe nearly pulled his favorite hammerlock. Each time little Waino corkscrewed out of a bad hold in a clever manner. Several times the little Finn had Carr on the verge of a fall, but in each instance the bull-like strength of Carr served to break the hold.

At times both boys roughed it. When Carr started some of the rough house proceedings, Ketonen came right back at him and for several minutes the two adversaries pulled some of the Donnybrook code stuff.

Carr found a vastly different boy in front of him than he encountered two years ago. The Mill City Pole encountered a finished wrestler and one who broke every hold that was attempted. The boys were so even that there was very little to choose, yet in all fairness it may be stated that on points the little Finn had the better of the going.

Completely Exhausted.

After the three-hour period the boys were so utterly exhausted that neither could accomplish much in the way of real wrestling. Both men were dried up. Carr's mouth was as black as your hat and the lips and throat of the little Finn burned with the fever of long and terrific exertion.

When the match was called Carr stepped to the ropes and attempted to address the crowd. His throat was so parched that his words scarcely carried beyond the first rows. Ketonen declared he was so dry and burned up that he could not exert any strength after three hours had been wrestled.

Ketonen last Friday weighed just 153 pounds. He was not weighed this morning. Carr never got on a pair of scales. His weight was given out at 162 pounds, but to the majority of spectators it appeared that the disparity in weight must have been at least twelve pounds.

One man was so powerful that his opponent could not pin him, while the other was so scientific and fast that he eluded all counting grips.

In his dressing room, while lying on the rubbing board, Carr declared Ketonen the greatest legitimate middleweight in the world.

"I expected Ketonen to come in at 160 pounds," said Carr. "If that fellow only weighs 153 pounds, then he is a marvel. It was my weight that saved me, I will admit that. He is the greatest kid I have ever met. There is no real middleweight in the world that can defeat him. I guess it was my weight that saved me."

Ketonen, always taciturn, was equally ready to give Carr credit for his work.

"He's the strongest fellow I ever wrestled," said the Finn. "Lots of my holds wouldn't work. I wasn't so tired at the finish, but I was so dried up that I felt as if I was on fire."

Zorbas and Petkoff.

Louie Zorbas and Pete Petkoff pulled a corking 25-minutes exhibition as a prelude to the big match of the evening. Both boys showed speed and science, and the match had the big crowd by the ears. Neither boy had a decided advantage. The strength of Petkoff was offset by the speed of the little Greek.

Olaf Johnson and Bill Nivers went twenty minutes to a draw in the curtain raiser of the evening.

In bringing the big match to a close, Referee Harry McCullum put the matter squarely up to the fans.

"These boys are both game to the core and willing to wrestle on," said he. "In my opinion they are both so utterly exhausted that neither can gain a fall. Also, in my opinion, it will only be a humane act to stop the contest. It is up to you."

The majority of the big crowd present had remained to the end, missing East end and West end cars, and yet by an overwhelming viva voce vote, declared for a draw.

Thus ended a contest that embraced some great wrestling, some remarkably clever work, and yet toward the end became a dull and monotonous affair, through no fault of the contestants, who were absolutely spent by their great efforts.

One thing was proved by the contest of last Friday and this Saturday, and that was that Waino Ketonen is one of the gamest of them all. No one can call the little fellow yellow after last night.

O'LEARY WINS BUT LACKS KAYO PUNCH

Outpoints Lustig at Minneapolis; Indiana Blocks Saylor-Hasmer Match.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 12.—Johnny O'Leary of Seattle, Canadian lightweight champion, easily outpointed Johnny Lustig of New York in a 10-round bout here last night. In the preliminaries Chick Hayes, Indianapolis, shaded Roy Moore, Minneapolis, and Johnny Tillman, Minneapolis, and Willie Schaefer, Chicago, fought to a draw, both being 10-round contests.

In the main bout O'Leary pounded Lustig all over the ring, but lacked the punch to put him out.

Blocks Fight Arrangements.

Chicago, Feb. 12.—The fight between Milburn Saylor and Ever Hasmer, scheduled for East Chicago, Ind., last night, was called off after several hundred had prepared to board a special train for that town.

Word from Prosecuting Attorney J. A. Patterson of Lake county, Indiana, was the cause.

Prosecutor Patterson's message said there was no objection to boxing events there when arranged by local promoters, but there was decided objection to prize fights being staged by Chicago promoters.

Morris Kayos Pelkey.

Tulsa, Okla., Feb. 12.—Carl Morris of Sapulpa, Okla., knocked out Arthur Pelkey of Canada in the fifth round last night of their scheduled 15-round bout here. Pelkey was floored twice in the fifth round before he was knocked out. The men are heavyweights.

Langford Knocks Out Wills.

New Orleans, La., Feb. 12.—Sam Langford knocked out Harry Wills in the nineteenth round of a scheduled 20-round bout at a local arena last night. Until the knockout blow neither fighter seemed to have the advantage.

Stopped in Three Rounds.

New York, Feb. 12.—Andre Anderson of Chicago stopped Bob Devore of Kansas City in the third round of a 10-round match here last night. Anderson weighed 210 pounds and Devore 180.

Jess Has a Cold.

Chicago, Feb. 12.—Jess Willard, it is said, will defer his departure for New York for two or three days more, until he has eliminated the cold from which he has been suffering for several days. It is said there is nothing about his illness to threaten postponement of his match with Moran.

TENNIS PLAYERS ELECT.

Meeting of U. S. Association Held; No Davis Cup Challenge.

New York, Feb. 12.—Seventy-five delegates representing 296 clubs, answered the roll call of the thirty-fifth annual meeting of the United States National Lawn Tennis association, when Robert D. Wrenn called the session to order here yesterday. The most important problem to be solved is that of establishing rules of conduct for an amateur. The executive committee had previously met to discuss the amateur rule.

The officers elected included: President, George T. Adre, New York; vice president, A. L. Hoskins, Philadelphia; secretary, Edwin F. Torrey, Clinton, N. Y.; treasurer, Richard Stevens, Hoboken; elected delegates to serve two years, W. C. Burton, Northwestern, Minneapolis.

Mr. Wrenn reported for the Davis cup committee, that because of the European war, no challenge would be sent abroad.

Edwin F. Torrey, the secretary reported 185 championships and tournaments were sanctioned in 1915.

MAJOR LEAGUE BOWLERS HANG UP HIGH SCORES

Present Week's Pin Rolling Shows Bowlers in Great Form; Oak Halls Hold League Lead and Elcoras Have High Pin Average; Many Teams Turn in High Team Marks.

Another week of Major league bowling has passed and the Oak Hall team remains at the head of the league race. The Oak Halls hold a five-game lead over the Elcora five, with the Sharkcrafts one game behind the cigar men.

During the week the Big Duluth team hung up the high three-game score, getting a mark of 2,813. The same team pulled down the one-game mark with a performance of 991 pins.

So far during the season the teams of the league have knocked down 9,349 more pins in fifty-one games than the count of last year registered for the same number of contests.

Berini of the Oak Halls held his individual average during the week and still leads in this department of play. In forty-eight games this boy has knocked down 9,526 pins for an average of 198 and a fraction pins per game.

Stiegler gained a point during the week, moving up to within four points of the leader.

During the week there were twenty-one scores over the 200 mark. Also in ten out of eighteen games teams got over the 900 mark. This shows the quality of play of the Major league pin spillers.

Fritz Stiegler of the Big Duluths was the real star of the week's play, copping the high three-game total score with a mark of 631 and also getting fifteen strikes, the highest number scored by any bowlers. Schultz of the same team made the high one-game score by registering a mark of 235. In the matter of team average the Elcora team leads the league with an average of 932 pins for fifty-one games.

Next week the Oak Halls and Winchester & Fitzgeralds meet. The Sharkcrafts and the Elcoras also meet, and the Big Duluths take on the Empress team.

WESTERN MAN TO PROMOTE BIG FIGHT

TEX RICKARD.

Tex Rickard is the man who is going to promote the Willard-Moran heavyweight contest. Rickard is the same individual who promoted the Jeffries-Johnson fight and he also had a hand in the promotion of the Nelson-Gans contest. Rickard is a Western man who has gambled with fate and chance upon many occasions and is known as a fellow of infinite nerve.

ONE RECORD GOES.

Hundred-Yard Hurdle Mark Beaten—Howard Drew Ties Own Time.

New York, Feb. 12.—Joseph J. Loomis of the Chicago A. A. shattered his record of 11 1-5 seconds for a 100-yard hurdle race made last year, by covering the distance here last night at the annual indoor games of Fordham college in 11 seconds.

Howard Drew, the University of Southern California sprinter, equaled his own record in a 90-yard dash made in April 1914, and also the 105-yard figure made by N. H. Hargraves of Yale in the Oxford-Cambridge meeting in 1901. Drew was timed at 10 2-5 seconds for the 105 yard dash. He did the 90 yards in 9 1-5 seconds.

REGATTA COURSE CHANGED.

Intercollegiate Rowing Meet May Be Switched From Poughkeepsie.

New York, Feb. 12.—The Intercollegiate regatta, which has been held for many years on the Hudson river at Poughkeepsie, probably will be rowed this year on Cayuga Lake, at Ithaca, N. Y., it was announced here yesterday after a meeting of the stewards of the Intercollegiate Rowing association. The tentative date fixed was June 24, and it was proposed that the race be over a course three and one-quarter miles instead of four miles, as at Poughkeepsie.

The chief reason for the proposed change was said to be the refusal of the New York Central Railroad company to run an observation train for spectators either on June 30 or July 1.

ST. PAUL PLAYERS LEAD MINNEAPOLIS TOURNEY

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 12.—Out-of-town bowlers featured in today's play at the International Bowling association tournament. Single and double events during the day and five-men events tonight were on the program. A number of Chicago teams will compete tonight.

When play started today E. Gustafson of St. Paul, with a score of 606, led the singles; A. Thomas and A. Cook, St. Paul, with 1,136, topped the doubles, and the Matake, St. Paul, headed the fives with 2,658.

SUPERIOR IS DEFEATED

Duluth Central Wins Fast Basket Ball Game on Strange Floor.

Fine Team Work of Central Is Responsible for Victory.

Playing in brilliant form and showing remarkable teamwork, the Duluth Central high school basket ball quint last evening unexpectedly, but completely overwhelmed the Superior high school five in the gymnasium of the latter school by a score of 35 to 22. Despite the somewhat one-sidedness of the score the contest was exceptionally fast, clean and hard fought and afforded a big crowd lots of excitement. The local Central athletes gloriously upheld the name which they won when they defeated the crack Cathedral team last week.

Superior presented a lineup which was changed very little from the one that represented them last year. Playing on their own floor and having the advantage in dope of previous scores, the Purple and White men were generally expected to come out on top. The Duluthians, however, got the jump on their opponents at the start and maintained it all the way through.

Duluth Shows Superiority.

The first ten minutes of play was exceedingly fast with Duluth holding a small advantage. The Superiorites were fighting hard, but the team work and accurate basket shooting of their opponents proved their gradual undoing. Toward the close of the first half Duluth opened up with a brilliant offense, caging baskets from all angles and the Superiorites were swept off their feet. The first half concluded 22 to 12 with the Red and White men on the long end.

Superior fought hard to even up things in the final frame, but with a good lead the Duluthians were content to play a defensive game. In this half Duluth made thirteen points to their opponents' 10, making the final total 35 to 22.

With the exception of Karon at forward, the Central quint as it now stands is the same combination which made up the crack "Gym" team of last year and their wonderful team work is attributed in a large measure to this fact.

Fine Team Work.

In the game last night the team played as one and no particular man stood out as a lone star. Capt. Gogins caged five brilliant baskets and was a bear both on offense and defense. Mason and Karon put up a scrappy offense. Rosenberg and Shaw presented a defense which was the surprise of the evening. This diminutive but speedy pair of guards pulled off some of the most wonderful defensive work which has ever been seen on the Superior floor. The gymnasium is small and it is possible to shoot baskets from almost all parts of it. Had the game been on a regulation floor, the Duluth guards would undoubtedly have held the Superiorites to a much smaller score. Capt. Bradley was the lone star of the Superior team.

The local aggregation travels to Hibbing next Friday and on the following Friday plays a return game on the range with the crack Virginia quint. Superior Central plays a return game here on March 17, the last game of the season.

Superior Seconds Win.

As a preliminary to the Superior seconds took a hard fought game from the Duluth seconds by the score of 27 to 15. The lineups and summaries of the big game:

Duluth Central.		Superior Central.
Mason	f	Capt. Bradley
Karon	f	Duff
Gogins, capt.	c	Nelson
Rosenberg	g	McKinnon
Shaw	g	Fowler

Summary: Field goals—Mason, 4; Karon, 4; Gogins, 5; Rosenberg, 1; Shaw, 2; Bradley, 4; Duff, 3; McKinnon, 3; free throws—Mason, 3; Bradley, 2; referees, Fenton and Conley.

TEX RICKARD A REAL GAME MAN OF WEST

Boxing Promoter Has Displayed Real Nerve in Offering Big Money for Big Bouts.

Some of the gamest men that ever walked in shoe leather belong to the class of sports who promote boxing. Dan A. Stuart, who pulled off the fight between Jim Corbett and Bob Fitzsimmons at Carson City, Nev., was the pioneer in handling modern Queensbury contests, and to him a worthy successor appeared when Tex Rickard bounded into the limelight with a $30,000 purse for Battling Nelson and Joe Gans at Goldfield, Nev., in 1906.

Rickard is coming back after years of inactivity in the promoting line, and if he can carry out his plan he will stage a ten-round contest between Jess Willard and Frank Moran in New York city next March. A glad hand should be extended this man, who is a credit to the game.

Stages Gans-Nelson Fight.

No such a shock was ever handed the sporting world as the announcement of Rickard ten years ago that he would pull off the championship fight between Battling Nelson and Joe Gans for the lightweight championship in the little town of Goldfield, Nev. Tex was roasted on all sides, but he went through with the job and that his judgment was right was proved by the fact that the contest drew over $69,000. Rickard quit a big winner and gained the reputation of being the greatest promoter in the history of the American prize ring.

Rickard's second play that required the nerve and honesty of a real gambler came in 1910 when he pulled off the fight between Jim Jeffries and Jack Johnson for the world's heavyweight championship at Reno, Nev. This match attracted people from all over the world.

Pea Jeffries $117,000.

It was fought in the hot sun on the Fourth of July and Johnson won on a knockout in the fifteenth round. Tex had promised the fighters a king's ransom for their share and they got all that was coming to them. Jeffries received $117,000. Johnson got $120,000. The total gate receipts were $270,775. No better evidence is needed that Tex is the king of promoters than these two fights. He is in a class by himself and will make them all hustle when he gets back in the harness.

DULUTH TEAM BEATS POOR OLD SUPERIOR

Y. M. C. A. Indoor Baseball Nine Defeats Former Northern League Stars By the Score of 12 to 1.

Superior secured what it believed to be an invincible indoor baseball team last evening and came over here to play the Duluth Y. M. C. A. nine. The Duluth team won by the decisive score of 12 to 1.

Henry Summers pitched for the Duluth team and he was invincible. The sluggers of the Superior team could do little with his shoots and were made to appear foolish. On the strength of the showing against Superior, it is certain that the Y. M. C. A., has the strongest team that has been organized here in years.

In the Superior lineup were a number of former Northern league players, but they were outclassed by the home team.

The Y. M. C. A. team will meet the Fitwell nine next Friday evening on the association floor.

The lineup:

Y. M. C. A.		Superior.
A. J. Butchart	catcher	M. McGraw
H. Summers	pitcher	Kid Harris
Richter	1st	Sam Menecie
F. Schaeffer	2d	Gallagher

CAPABLANCA WINS CHESS MASTERS' MATCH

New York, Feb. 12.—Joseph R. Capablanca easily won first prize in the Rice Memorial chess masters' tournament which ended here yesterday, with a score of 14 points won to 2 lost.

David Janowski of Paris took second prize by defeating A. Kupchik, New York state champion yesterday. Janowski's total score was 11 to 6.

Oscar Chajes of New York, who entered the supplementary tournament in last place, followed up his excellent play of Thursday when he scored the only defeat against Capablanca, by winning from Boris Kostic of Serbia. The victories earned Chajes third place, his final score being 10½ to 6½.

Kostic and Kupchik tied for fourth place with scores of 10 to 6.

GOTCH READY FOR STECHER

Klank Says Champion Will Come Back and Tackle Dodge Demon.

(By George S. Robbins.)

"What about Gotch? Is he preparing for Stecher?"

The writer has been asked this question so frequently lately that he feels it necessary to give the mat fans something tangible on the question. There is little doubt that the world's champion will come back and defend his title, provided Mahmout fails to appear in America, and the Humboldt farmer is convinced he can round into good condition.

Some periodical knockers on the mat game who don't know a bar arm hold from a half nelson are uttering a lot of nonsensical clatter about Stecher being framed up for a big "killing with Gotch" in another title battle.

Dyspeptics whose enjoyment of athletics has never passed the domino stage, who have never felt the thrill that comes from trained gladiators clashing for the world's honors in the roped arena, cannot appreciate the anticipation of thousands of enthusiasts of the mat game looking forward to a title tilt between Gotch and Stecher.

Gotch Willing to Wrestle.

Gotch was recently asked point blank whether he would meet Stecher in a finish contest for the world's title. The answer of the champion was evasive, but he finally admitted he would probably come out and meet the Nebraskan if there was a strong public demand for such a match.

Then the champion signed for an extended tour with the Sells-Floto circus to meet all comers in fifteen-minute bouts. The offer of $1,250 a week was the incentive that caused Gotch to begin training at Santa Monica, Cal.

"What would you do if Joe Stecher appeared as one of your opponents on your tour of America?" the world's title-holder was asked.

"I would wrestle him," was the reply from Gotch.

Will Welcome All Comers.

The champion proceeded to explain that he would train faithfully for his short bouts, that he believed no man in the world could pin him in fifteen minutes and that he would welcome any opponent.

"The more distinguished my opponents happen to be, the better it will be for the circus," said Gotch. "If there is a man in the world who can beat me in fifteen minutes after a period of training he is welcome to all the credit he can get."

Emil Klank, perhaps closer to the world's champion than any other man in the world, says he is sure Gotch will come back and wrestle in a title match if Stecher keeps on winning and is able to draw the purse the Humboldt man will demand.

"When I was over to Humboldt recently I was kicking around in Gotch's garage and happened to bump into a pair of wrestling tights," said Klank. "You may draw your own conclusions.

Old Longing Coming Back.

"Some time ago it was announced that Gotch had retired for keeps; that he had thrown his mat togs away, and that the call of the roped arena never again would appeal to him. I guess Frank was in earnest, too, but the old longing for the game is coming back, and the sight of dollars—perhaps harder to get them in his prime—is again appealing to the world's champion. Gotch knows that in Stecher he probably will face the greatest wrestler he ever has met, but if convinced he can come back strong I guess there is nothing that can hold him if there is the proper demand for the match, and I have no doubt about that."

Those who contend Stecher has no chance with Gotch, and that the match is simply another "killing," are the ones who are ignorant of the mat game.

Stecher Is Worthy Contender.

Stecher is undoubtedly stronger than Gotch in two particulars. He has a stronger grip in his legs for the scissors hold, and also seems to possess greater strength in the grip of his hands.

Gotch, who is training in California, his this to say about himself: "I have no unusual gripping power in my hands, but I have the stamina to hang on once I get a hold."

Therein lies Gotch's greatest power—also the principal danger for Stecher in a finish encounter with the world's champion. If Gotch ever gets a hammerlock or a toe hold or a scissors on his opponent it will probably spell disaster for Stecher in that bout.

DULUTHIANS BEAT ASHLAND QUINT

Cathedrals Conquer in Fastest and Scrappiest Game of Season.

Ashland, Wis., Feb. 12. — Duluth Cathedrals last night won from Northland college, 17 to 13, in the fastest, closest, scrappiest basket ball game ever played here. The teams were evenly matched, and it was nip and tuck from start to finish. The game was full of thrills and sensational shots. The score in the first half was 9 to 8 in favor of Duluth. The second half was a terrific fight, and the score was tied, 13 to 13, when time was called. Five minutes' additional were allotted to play off the tie. Neither side caged a ball in the first four minutes. Farrah went out in the last minute, and McDonnell was substituted. Ed Quinn scored the winning basket in a sensational shot from the middle of the floor. McDonnell caged another; the two baskets being caged in the last three quarters of a minute of play. The final score was 13 to 17.

The lineups of the teams follow:

Cathedral—	Pos.	Northland—
Lee	c	Hanson
Fitzpatrick	f	Ross
Quinn	f	Genne
Cole	g	Gale
Farrah, McDonnell	g	Thanmun

Lee and Cole starred for Duluth and Ross and Genne showed up best for the Northlands. Coach Daugherty and Farrah debarked at Iron River for lunch. They missed the passenger train, but caught the late freight and reached here just as the game begun.

Close Finish in Shoot.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 12.—Sam Foster of Mason City, Iowa, shot a perfect score in the Great Western handicap, the feature event of Kansas City's mid-winter shooting tournament, which closed yesterday. Foster's victory was not easily gained, however, for J. T. Roth of Kansas City was also tied with Foster when each had tumbled thirty White Fliers in a row. In the shoot-off, Roth missed one of five, and lost the match.

KNOCK AN OPPONENT OUT; THEN HE'LL NEVER BEAT YOU

Ring History Shows That a Fighter Seldom Comes Back and Whips the Man That Applied the Soporific Punch to Him—Stanley Ketchel Was One Exception.

New York, Feb. 12.—Rarely in prize ring history has a fighter secured revenge for a knockout at the hands of another battler. No matter how superior he may be in all around ring skill, the other man always seems to have something "on" him.

Some months ago Frank Moran scored a technical knockout over Jim Coffey. The latter seemed to be the superior fighter, yet Moran battered Coffey into such shape in the early part of the fight that the referee stopped the milling.

Coffey thought that victory of Moran's was a fluke; so did thousands of other persons. Coffey yearned for another chance at Moran. He got it, and in the second meeting Moran duplicated his first trick—he scored a knockout over the Dublin Irishman.

Terry McGovern and Young Corbett furnish another example. On Thanksgiving day of 1901 the wonderful Terry, then at the very crest of his remarkable career, met the almost unknown Young Corbett. The sporting world was electrified when the news was flashed out that Corbett had knocked out McGovern in the second round.

"Accident, accident," was the general verdict. McGovern thought so, too. So he took on Corbett again in 1903 and Corbett knocked out McGovern in the eleventh round.

Les Darcy, the Australian middleweight, knocked out the great Eddie McGoorty in the summer of 1915. Everyone thought it an accident. Darcy gave McGoorty a chance to vindicate himself a few months later, with the result that Darcy knocked out McGoorty again.

George Chip, then an unknown, met Frank Klaus—and knocked him out. Klaus begged for another chance. Chip accommodated him and again scored a knockout victory over Klaus. Al McCoy later knocked out Chip. It was a fluke, but in a second meeting Chip could not revenge himself by a K. O., although he beat McCoy badly.

It seems to be the unwritten law of the prize ring that when a man has been knocked out once by another that other can beat him in their subsequent meeting. The history of pugilism is filled with such instances and the wise fighters of today are those who do not ask for a second chance against the man who sent them to dreamland in the first meeting.

However, Stanley Ketchel was a striking exception to the rule. In 1908 Billy Papke knocked him out in the twelfth round of their fight. In 1909 Papke and Ketchel met again and Ketchel upset tradition by knocking out Papke in the eleventh round, thus regaining the middleweight championship, which he held until the time of his death.

To Allow Middies to Resign.

Washington, Feb. 12.—All of the eighty-two midshipmen at Annapolis who were recommended for dismissal because they failed on their mid-session examination, will be permitted to resign, instead of having the blot of expulsion from the service against their record. After approving the academic board's recommendation that the midshipmen be dismissed, Secretary Daniels wrote to Capt. Eberle, superintendent of the naval academy, authorizing him to accept resignations.

UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA

Duluth Club Poses for Picture to Appear in the Gopher—Dale McAlpine Putting Finishing Touches on Sophomore Vaudeville—Leo McNally Finds Profitable Industry.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Duluth club of the University of Minnesota met in front of the library building on Thursday and posed for a picture, which is to appear in the Gopher, the junior annual, in the spring. On account of the cold and the difficulty of arranging a satisfactory time, only about thirty of the seventy-five Duluth students appeared, but the group was sufficiently large to assure a fair representation of Duluth in the annual publication. A banquet is again being planned which will draw out the entire Duluth delegation and will pave the way for some active work in Duluth in the interest of the university by students who have found it entirely worth while.

Dale McAlpine is putting the finishing touches on the sophomore vaudeville. It has been postponed to Feb. 25 and Mr. McAlpine has taken advantage of the postponement to arrange for some additional features. His own play is being rehearsed and seems to have the necessary "punch." Final tryouts for the chorus have been set for this week and many aspirants for musical fame have signified their intention of submitting their vocal efforts to the harsh judgment of the chairman.

Never in the history of the campus has such a hot political fight been waged as is now in progress for the office of editor-in-chief of the 1918 Gopher. There are six men in the field, each confident of victory and each pestering the innocent student with reasons and promises for the best Gopher ever. Some inexperienced politicians have already promised many more offices than the Gopher has to offer and stand in danger of considerable confusion if victory comes their way. Others, with greater wisdom, have reserved their promises. The election is scheduled for Friday, Feb. 18.

Leo McNally of Duluth has hit upon a novel way to supporting himself while at the university. He has bought an old run-down tailor shop near the campus which has had no business for years; has scrubbed and polished the floors and walls until it appears to be an entirely new establishment; has installed a competent tailor and a presser and is now doing a rushing business in pressing and repairing. He has made a great success so far, has come upon one of the real needs of the students and, having seen it first, is turning his discovery to profit.

Upon its return from its recent visit to Duluth, the Garrick club had nothing but praise for the reception accorded them by Duluthians. They were well satisfied with the success of their production and have already decided to make the Duluth trip an annual affair. Several Duluth alumni of the university were so pleased with the club's work that they joined in sending a check for $125 to Prof. Northrop, which is to go to the fund for a new clubhouse, and with the check came an urgent invitation to visit Duluth often.

John Masefield, the famous English poet, has been in Minneapolis for several days and has offered many university students an opportunity to hear him. His absorbing sincerity has impressed everyone; his reading of his own poetry is so intensely interesting that all who hear him forget that he is reading and feel that the beautiful arrangement of words and thought is flowing spontaneously from his lips.

The Vanity Fair debut has been planned for Feb. 18. At that time the Gopher is to entertain at a carnival dance at which the eight winners of the Vanity Fair contest for the most beautiful girls in school will be announced. Out of the twenty-two nominees the students who purchase checks for a later delivery of the Gopher will be permitted to select eight each, the first eight being honored as the campus belles.

The student government of the university has been especially active lately as a result of cribbing charges, coming from the recent examination period. The students have insisted upon the honor system in writing examinations, wherein the instructor leaves the room after assigning the question and the students take care of their own conduct. For two years this system has been successful and those who support it are much encouraged by the fact that many fewer cases of cribbing have been brought up than were tried last year. Several students have been given failures in their courses and a few have been expelled from school. In the law college, the law council decided to recommend the expulsion of the two men who have worked their way to the Minnesota-Wisconsin football game on a fraudulent pass. The faculty acted upon the recommendation and suspended the men until they had reimbursed the railroad companies.

A meeting of the Alumni association of the university was called for Friday evening in response to a statement from the younger alumni that the association was inactive and needed complete reorganization. The old blood, however, dominated the meeting, due partly to the fact that insufficient notice was circulated, and the old order of things was sustained and justified. The new constitution, which called for greater activity and allowed an opportunity to accomplish something in the way of interesting new men in the university, and seemed to point to an increased activity among the grads, was thoroughly beaten.

Ten university students have been selected to attend the annual Y. M. C. A. convention at Faribault for Friday, Saturday and Sunday of next week. Dale McAlpine, Harold Coe and Charles Gustafson, all of Duluth, are to form a part of the delegation. The men are to be entertained in Faribault homes and are sent for the purpose of becoming acquainted with the latest methods of social and religious service in colleges. Already the university Y. M. C. A. has men conducting classes amounting to several hundred foreigners, who are eager to learn our language.

DULUTH'S HIGH SAVINGS BANK FIGURES PROVE THAT IT HAS LEARNED THE SECRET OF THRIFT

Number of Depositors Has More Than Doubled in Five Years. Duluth Can Challenge Comparison With Any Other Community.

Duluth is learning the lesson of thrift.

Duluth is learning how to save.

More accurately, Duluth has learned the lesson of thrift and has learned how to save.

Duluth is a thrifty town. Her people are a thrifty people.

Not even the people of France, long known as the thriftiest people on earth, surpass them in the proportion of savings bank depositors to population. Duluth is a thrifty community that has learned to save for a rainy day.

On Jan. 1, 1916, more than 36 per cent of its population had deposits in savings banks—to be exact, 36.3 per cent.

Five years before the proportion of savers was but 17.7 per cent.

In 1915 the proportion of savings bank depositors to the whole population of the United States was but a little more than 11 per cent—less than one-third the proportion in Duluth.

In 1915 there were 11,285,755 savings bank depositors in the whole United States. If as large a proportion of the whole country were depositors as in Duluth, there would have been 36,300,000 depositors instead of 11,285,755.

France is the thriftiest country in the world. Its national finances are founded on a rock, and withstand with ease the greatest shocks of catastrophe and calamity, wholly because of the thrift of its people—of small savers.

Thirty-four and six-tenths per cent of the people of France are savings bank depositors; while 36.3 per cent of the people of Duluth have deposits in savings banks.

Doubled in Five Years.

The proportion of savings depositors in Duluth, as well as the number of depositors, has more than doubled in five years.

Within that period the postal savings bank, which some bankers used to fear would offer destructive competition with private banks, has been established. While its depositors have been growing to a total of 1,379 and its deposits to a total of $225,694, the saving depositors in private banks have been increased from 14,174 to 31,300, and their deposits from $3,384,665.71 to $5,832,049.77.

The average deposit in 1911 was $238.80, and on Jan. 25, 1916, it was $185.37—the reduction showing simply that there are more beginners, whose savings are just beginning to grow.

Duluth could safely challenge comparison in this respect with any other community in the land.

These savings deposits are foundations.

Foundations for business enterprises of the future.

Foundations for homes.

Foundations of security against the rainy days of sickness, unemployment and old age.

The figures on which these totals were compiled, with one exception, were furnished by the banks. One of the smaller banks, while furnishing the number of its savings depositors on Jan. 25, 1911, and Jan. 25, 1916, was unable to supply the total of its saving deposits on these dates. In order to complete the table, it was estimated that the deposits in this bank were equal to the average of the individual deposits in the other banks on the respective dates. This is approximate, of course, but the difference between the estimated and actual figures would be very slight, and would not affect the totals materially, nor the results at all.

Duluth's Savings Banks.

The first facilities for savings deposits in Duluth were supplied Feb. 25, 1901, when the First National bank opened its savings department. This was followed shortly by the Duluth Savings bank, which has since been broadened into the Northern National bank. There are now ten banks with savings departments besides the postal savings bank, which was opened Sept. 15, 1911. Four of the banks have been started, or have opened savings departments, since 1911. The ten banks which offer facilities for savings are as follows: National banks—First National, American Exchange National, Northern National, City National; state banks—Western State, Citizens' State, Central State, Duluth State, St. Louis County, East End State.

The figures given above do not include certificates of deposit, which method of saving many still use; nor do they include the smaller deposits of the school children.

That the showing would be greatly increased if certificates of deposit were included, is indicated by the statement of one prominent local bank that its deposits of this class are $600,000 more than its savings deposits.

Growth Was Cultivated.

To a considerable extent, this growth in savings depositors and deposits has been deliberately cultivated.

One of the local banks began a campaign several years ago aimed to make more intimate the relationship between the community and its banks. Three bright school teachers were trained and then sent out on a mission of popular education in thrift and banking methods, making a house-to-house canvass.

They found suspicion of banks and awe of banks to be the two chief stumbling blocks. It was their job to do away with these obstacles.

Suspicion of banks was dissipated by arguments and facts. The amazingly small amount of losses in savings banks—so small are they that it is virtually accurate to say that losses are unheard of—were shown by statistics. The rigid laws regulating the conduct of banks and the careful examinations made regularly by national and state officials were explained nd illustrated.

HOW THE SAVING HABIT HAS GROWN IN DULUTH IN FIVE YEARS

	Jan. 25, 1911	Jan. 25, 1916
Savings deposits in ten national and state banks	$3,384,665.71	$5,832,049.77
Deposits in postal savings bank		225,694.00
Total	$3,384,665.71	$6,057,743.77
Depositors in national and state banks	14,174	31,300
Depositors in postal savings bank		1,379
Total	14,174	32,679
Percentage of savings depositors to population	17.7	36.3
Average deposit	$238.80	$185.37

Awe of banks—the mistaken idea that banks are places only for big deposits and big business, and that small depositors are not welcomed—was dissipated in a similar manner. It was explained that the bank is a servant of the community; that it aims to serve the poor as well as the rich, the small depositor as well as the large; that its officials, from the highest to the lowest, are at all times ready and willing to answer questions and to help the humblest with advice and counsel and bank service.

Campaign a Success.

This campaign—which was conducted not specifically for the one bank that directed it, but for all banks, and from which all banks doubtless benefited—was a great success, and a valuable education to the public.

Incidentally, The Herald has conducted a thrift campaign for a number of years, and may possibly be permitted to claim some share of the credit for this amazing development of thrift tendencies in this city.

At any rate, the growth of savings bank figures in Duluth in the past five years has been at an astonishingly rapid rate. Money that had long been hoarded in out-of-the-way places through fear of banks has come out of hiding and has gone to swell the savings bank figures. People—servant girls, laborers and others—who had never let a penny of theirs see the inside of a bank in former years have learned to deposit their savings regularly, and once started the magic of compound interest at 3 per cent—2½ per cent in the case of the postal bank—has kept them at it.

School Savings Deposits.

One of the most interesting developments in recent years has been the school savings movement.

There is a savings fund in every public and parochial school in Duluth, now, and on Jan. 25, 1916, the day these figures were gathered, there were 7,452 pupil depositors with a total of $73,873.46 on deposit.

Perhaps, too, there is no more important angle of the thrift movement than this. It is teaching children thrift and self-denial. It is teaching them banking methods. It is giving them training in business that will be of enormous value to them in later years. It is fixing habits that will be profitable to them all through life. It is laying a foundation that will make thrift still more common in Duluth in the coming generations—though as the figures show, the present generation is taking to it very readily.

The value of the habits of self-denial, economy, thoughtfulness, thrift and business system that are being inculcated by the school savings bank is beyond calculation. A booklet issued by a local bank which is co-operating heartily with this work tells some interesting stories. One boy, for instance, with a paper route, when he graduates from high school will have enough saved to give him a course in Armour institute. Another boy while in school saved enough to pay for a business college course. Still another boy's savings, in a time of sickness, paid the taxes and saved the family home.

Duluth has learned the secret of thrift, and its savings bank figures prove it to an extent that challenges comparison with any other community in the land.

Efficient Housekeeping

Time Enough to Eat

FROM time immemorial Sunday's meals have won lasting praise. Food cooked and served on this day really seems better than that eaten on any other day. This must be the result of choosing food carefully, having plenty of time for the cooking process and for eating the day's meals.

What Americans need most is more time to appreciate their bountiful food supply. Food served in a rush and eaten by the clock is not enjoyable.

For Sunday morning breakfast one likes fresh fruit; grape-fruit fills the longing admirably, if it is nicely prepared. The fruit should be cut in half the night before and the pulp removed, and mixed with powdered sugar. The next morning, this is chilled and served in the grape fruit shell for an appetizer. This should be eaten fifteen or twenty minutes before breakfast is served and it is warranted to make any one breakfast hungry, for it is both tonic and stimulating.

On Sunday morning there should be steamed barley or creamed hominy. Such cereals taste no more like the ready prepared breakfast foods of commerce or the hastily cooked rolled oats of week-day mornings than jerked, salt beef tastes like broiled porterhouse steak. And having a keen appetite, you want quantities of buttered toast with poached eggs and broiled bacon to give zest. With the two-hour church service in mind, you help yourself generously to creamed potatoes and hot biscuit and syrup to fill in the corners. All this might be served on Monday morning, but without time to enjoy the meal it would not taste so fine.

Soup is like our morning fruit, it starts the appetite into action and makes the stomach clamor for food. The ten minutes that elapse between the time the clear chicken soup is eaten and the baked white fish with rich tomato sauce and fluffed creamed potatoes is served seems like an hour. You daily over the roast lamb, escalloped cauliflower and little June peas like a school boy playing hooky. It seems so strange to have plenty of time to let the hard sauce work its way into the steaming fruit pudding, and when the nuts and sweets are finally brought in, you realize you are tired enough to take a nap because, for once in an entire week, you have had time enough to eat.

The Littlest Gold-Fish Gets His Wish

IN A HANDSOME, painted fish bowl of quite the very newest style, there once lived four pretty goldfishes. They were not just plain, ordinary goldfishes—dear me, no! They were gorgeous big goldfishes, with long frilly tails and great splashes of brilliant color on their bodies.

And they knew how handsome and admired they were too! As they swam around in the fish bowl, making graceful circles as they went, they said to each other, "How lucky these people who own us are! Without us this corner of the room would be dark and gloomy. But our bright, flashing bodies make it look cheerful and pleasant." All of which was perfectly true.

But after a while they grew tired of singing their own praises. It is tiresome to say over and over again that one is the most wonderful and beautiful creature in the world (especially if no one disputes the fact, and the goldfish all agreed) and they began wishing for things.

"I do wish," said the biggest, frilliest goldfish, "that we had a castle in our bowl. It's all very well to have a new style bowl, and I must say that I admire the painted flowers on the sides. But I want a rock castle in the bottom of the bowl—one just like we had at the store—and I shall not be happy till I have it."

The two middle-sized goldfishes opened their mouths to say a great big "Yes!" and they added, "We will not be happy either till we have a castle in the bottom of our bowl."

"Oh, dear," sighed the little tiny goldfish, "why make such a fuss about castles? Castles are nothing but stones and there are plenty of stones in the bowl now. Why not wish for sunshine? If only we could be in the sunshine we could be happy."

"Sunshine," scoffed the biggest goldfish. "That's a silly wish."

"Sunshine!" taunted the middle-sized goldfishes. "Who cares about sunshine?"

So the littlest goldfish kept very

Immediately, those moping goldfish began to feel better.

still and the three other goldfishes moped and fretted and nobody had one bit of happiness.

Finally, one day, the lady who owned the goldfishes looked at them thoughtfully. "There seems to be something the matter with these goldfishes," she said. "I don't believe this corner agrees with them. I think I will try them by the dining room window where the sun shines all the day." So she put them in the sunshine.

And would you believe it? Immediately those moping goldfish began to feel better. Even the biggest one, who usually disdained to speak to the little one, said pleasantly, "I think after all your wish was better than mine. Sunshine is lots more fun than castles!" And they all four lived happily ever after—in the sunshine.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

Is Poverty a Disgrace?

"Is poverty a disgrace?" asks a correspondent, enclosing with the simple and direct question a clipping from a newspaper which tells a story of independence and pride in old age which was really pathetic.

An old man of 70 was brought into court to show reason why he should not be sent to the almshouse. He was feeble and unable to work, and had lived in an abandoned shed until the interference of kindly intentioned people had driven him to seek shelter in a rooming house, where it was claimed he had since lived without proper heat and nourishment.

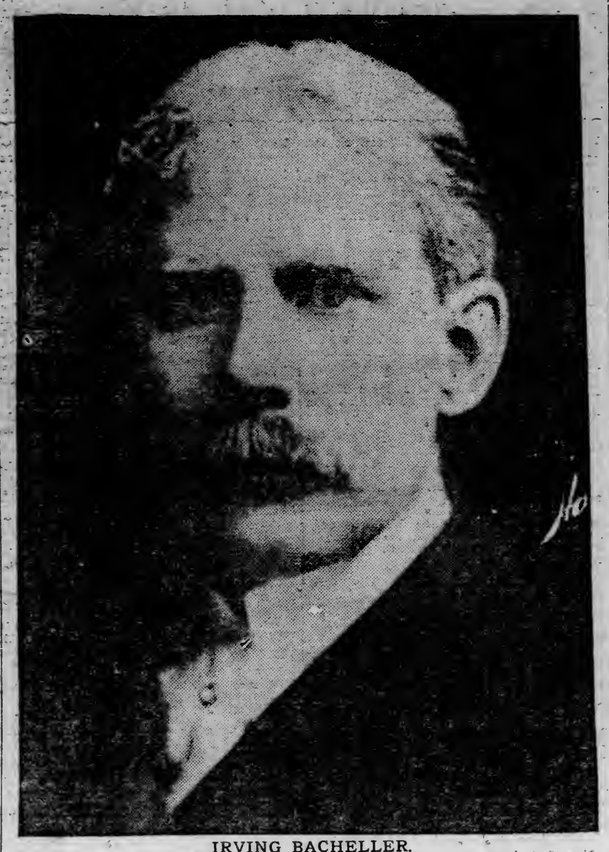

In court when asked if he had anything to say he declared that there was no call for his arrest. He stated that he had worked at carpentering all his life, but had been out of work for several weeks. He was found guilty of being a vagrant and protested at being deprived of his liberty, claiming he had broken no law and that it was against his self-respect to be sent away as he had a place to sleep and enough food to subsist upon.

I believe that there are certain degrees of poverty that are no disgrace. However, I cannot help but admire the spirit of a man who insists upon providing for himself as long as he can, and the same applies to a woman. That is as long as economies, little and big, which seem to offer an explanation of how ends shall be met, can be made. These are unlimited to the proud soul who had rather die than ask alms. So for this proud man I naturally have sympathy and respect.

Such a man may appear foolish and vain—glorious to many because of his preference for his self-respect even though it encompassed his death through starvation, but it is a better zeal than that which waits upon another to open all the doors and secure all the comforts of living.

Personally no ideas I have about poverty could influence me to starve and freeze rather than make my condition known. I would avail myself of the assistance that was forthcoming rather than suffer unto death for circumstances that I could not change, but I should make all the effort that was in me and I would get along on the scantest of portions before I would finally give in and admit defeat.

Will Deliver Lecture Here in Collegiate Alumnae Course

IRVING BACHELLER.

Irving Bacheller, who will appear before the Duluth public next Wednesday night at the First Methodist church, has been lecturing many years, and apparently the people have not tired of him, for he is as much in demand as ever.

One of the essential points about Mr. Bacheller's lectures is that the lessons they teach, are wholesome and kindly. Mr. Bacheller is a critic of the times; in a way reminding one of certain truths which should be kept as guides. The way in which he presents these truths, or makes them real, is through telling, as in his books, of the fortunes and histories of some of the characters he has created, and the manner of telling is delightful.

He preaches happiness, the "within" sort of quiet happiness; sane living, without mad chasing after the gaudy, momentary and destructive pleasures of society, and makes an appeal for simple, rational living.

Mr. Bacheller's lecture deals with the people of the North country who have figured so extensively in his books. Dr. Lyman Abbott says of it: "The wittiest I have ever heard; witty in idea and structure, not in the ornamentation of stories." Seth Low, former mayor of New York, says: "It was one of the best lectures I have heard for a great many years. It was not only full of fun, but it was full of poetry and of a sound philosophy."

SIDE TALKS

By RUTH CAMERON

That Obstacle

A little friend of mine had worked very hard for a prize in a competition—and failed.

She was very down-hearted.

"Do you know what the trouble with your essay was?" I asked.

"He" (the professor) "said my idea was good, but that the essay wasn't well constructed."

"In other words, that you were very fortunate not to get the prize?"

"What do you mean?"

If She Had Won She Wouldn't Have Tried to Improve.

"That if there had been no other essay in the competition good enough to take the prize away from you, you wouldn't have realized that you were weak in your construction and wouldn't have tried to improve yourself as you will now."

"Do you really think there is any use in trying?"

"Shame on you!" said I. And then I told her about Robert Brinsley Sheridan.

The first time Robert Sheridan spoke in public he was a complete failure.

Instead of saying that his audience was unsympathetic, or that he hadn't had time to prepare his speech, or that he guessed he didn't want to be an orator after all, he gritted his teeth and said:

"It is in me, and by heavens it shall come out."

And Then He Began to Push That Obstacle Out of the Way.

And then he went to work to push away the obstacle that was keeping back that power he felt within him.

Who has not felt the power to accomplish things of one sort or another stirring within him? And who has not felt defeated and balked at the meager things he has actually accomplished?

If one could only get that power out! But, alas! there seems to be some obstacle blocking the way.

Of course there is, that's part of the conditions of human life; but there need be nothing discouraging in that.

Say with Sheridan, "It is in me, and by heavens it shall come out," and then hurl yourself at that obstacle—whether it be laziness, procrastination, slipshod work, too much love of comfort, impatience of immediate returns, vanity, lack of proper address, imperfect grooming, or what not—and push it out of the way. Or better still, by patient, hard work, by eternal vigilance, break the obstacle to bits and let the power through.

Discouragements Should Be Spurs.

Discouragements will come, and what may seem for the moment utter defeats. They cannot be defeats, unless you permit them to be so. If you take from them whatever lesson they contain and a grimmer determination to win out ultimately they are only stepping stones on the way to success. "It isn't the fact that you're down that counts. It's only the way you take it."

Perhaps you may be wondering, in case you don't happen to remember, whether Sheridan made good his boast. I saved that for my snapper a-purpose. Sheridan became one of the greatest orators of all times. When he spoke at the impeachment of Warren Hastings, people paid as high as fifty guineas to hear him. And that money meant more then than it does now.

The next time temporary failure balks you, suppose you think of Robert Sheridan, and instead of wondering if it is worth while to keep on trying, set your teeth and say with him, "It is in me, and by heavens it shall come out."

Time Is Turned Backward Fifty Years and Styles of 1866 Are Shown at Y. W. C. A. Golden Jubilee Pageant

—Photos by Gallagher.

There was no need of saying "Backward, turn backward, O Time, in Thy flight" at the Y. W. C. A. building last evening, for Time had turned backward half a century. The Federation of clubs of the Young Women's Christian association portrayed the history of that organization from its beginning in 1866, when Duluth consisted of about 1,000 inhabitants, who lived along what is now Superior street, and when sales of fish, furs and land were the chief business transactions, to the present day with its flourishing Y. W. C. A. building in the heart of a prosperous city and its influence extending to all parts of it.

Balloon sleeves brushed against skin-tight ones, perfectly plain skirts rustled against ruffled ones and bonnets the size of one's hand nodded to the fearful architecture of the Merry Widow period, for attics and trunks had been called upon and clothes of the last five decades were requisitioned for the procession of the years that showed the march of the Y. W. C. A. from 1866 to 1916.

From 1866 to 1916.

Miss Mary Forseman, as a girl of 1366, and Miss Lenette Haubner, as a girl of 1916, represented the dates that spell the golden jubilee of the association. In the "Procession of Years," "Silver Threads Among the Gold," "Sweet Alice," "Home, Sweet Home," "Flow Gently, Sweet Afton" and other airs of yester years former the complement to the gowns that varied from the picturesque to the laughable, according to the time that had passed since they were in the style.

In the prologue, given by the Zenith club, Miss Forsman, who represented a girl of 1866, told how help was needed by women "treading with unaccustomed feet the public highway," and during her recital of the needs of women who work, there passed before her women "without Christian homes," garment workers and a governess.

The time of the first scene, "The Beginnings," was 1867; the place, a private house in a New England city. This was given by the A Gami Kitchi Gami club and portrayed in pantomime the organization of a Young Woman's Christian association one year after the association was launched in Boston. The room in which this branch was formed was furnished with an old-fashioned table, on which was an album; and hair-cloth chairs, gay with "tidies." One tidy was a marvel of crochet work and hospitality with its words "Take a" and the picture of a chair.

Procession of the Years.

Scene 2 was "The Procession of the Years," in which the decades 1866-1876, 1876-1886, 1886-1896 and 1906-1916 were represented by characteristic costumes. This was given by the G. I. T., N. G. U., O Gee Gee and Franklin clubs.

The third scene, "The Present Day," given by the L. U. B. A. club, showed the varying life of the Y. W. C. A. as shown by different groups of girls.

The girl of 1866 wore the graduation gown of Mrs. W. C. Agnew, who finished at the "Mount Holyoke Female seminary," as it was then called, in 1870. This gown was made by a fashionable dressmaker of Philadelphia, and its simple, dignified style gives it distinction that is lacking in many gowns of later periods. It is of cream alpaca, trimmed with hand-made ruffles of that material edged with cream satin. The ruffles outline the overskirt and finish the ends of the short sash, the low neck and the long sleeves. The gown is still in as perfect condition as when Mrs. Agnew, who was from Mercersburg, Pa., and thirty-five other young women were graduated from Mount Holyoke, which was a college in all but name. This educational institution was regarded as something of an experiment and was called a "seminary" for many years before the title of "college" was conferred upon it, although even in its seminary days the four years' course was identical with that of its neighbor, Amherst, many of whose professors lectured to the Mount Holyoke students.

Frock of Seventy Years Ago.

The gown worn by Miss Dagmar Peterson antedates the organization of the Y. W. C. A. This was the wedding gown of Mrs. Gideon Ives, the mother of Mrs. H. H. Phelps, who, as the youngest daughter, inherited this quaint frock of seventy years ago. The bride's family were pioneers of Wisconsin, living at Fort Atkinson, and the pale green silk, that is faded to a tan, but is without a break, was bought in Milwaukee. Every stitch was put in by hand, and the small tucks down the front of the bodice are proof of the patience and accuracy of the dressmaker. The gown is lined with linen and faced with linen and is trimmed with very narrow braid. Mrs. Ives spent the last two years of her life in Duluth with Mrs. Phelps.

With this gown was worn a gray bonnet, which Mrs. Elizabeth Wohlforth wore when she played "Mrs. Merriweather" with Effie Ellsler in "Doris." This bonnet and a blue one, which was also lent for the play last night, were made to order for Mrs. Wohlforth, to be in accord with the period of the play, the late '50s and early '60s. Another bonnet which was lent by Mrs. Wohlforth was worn by a member of her family more than 100 years ago.

The black velvet suit and green velvet hat, which were worn by Miss Edith Kruger, who stands at the extreme right of the "Procession of the Years," represented the decade between 1906 and 1916, although it looks as much out of date as the costumes of the preceding generations. The suit and hat are more closely connected with Y. W. C. A. history than any of the others, as they were worn to the 1906 national Y. W. C. A. convention by Mrs. C. H. Merritt, who was the delegate from Duluth. This convention was held in Chicago and Mrs. Finley J. Shepherd, who was then Miss Helen Gould, entertained the delegates.

Fifty New Workers for Suffrage Enrolled in County Organization

The Minnesota Woman's Suffrage association was increased yesterday by fifty members, who were among the seventy-one persons who attended the suffrage luncheon given in the Glass Block tea rooms. The luncheon was given to launch the St. Louis County Suffrage association, a part of the state organization, for which Mrs. Harold Crassweller was appointed the temporary chairman. Within a few days the nominating committee will report, and the time of meetings will be decided. Mrs. Maria McMahon, the state suffrage organizer, was the principal speaker, and short talks were made by Rev. George Brewer of the First Presbyterian church, Rev. Hardy A. Ingham Endion M. E. church, and Dr. Maurice Lefkovits of Temple Emanuel. The collection for the Iowa suffrage campaign amounted to $32.

Mrs. W. W. Lawrence, president of the Duluth Woman's Suffrage association, introduced as the first speaker Rev. Mr. Brewer, who said in part:

Suffrage Not a Fad.

"Woman suffrage is not a fad, though there may be some faddists connected with it. It is a fact of development. The world is changing, society is changing, the needs of society are changing and the demands upon the government are changing. A government that has a large relation with life should have a representative government and it is not a representative government when one-half, and I think by far the better half, is deprived of suffrage.

"I am used to the stock argument that woman's place is in the home, and I believe it. It used to be that persons were home-fed, home-clothed and largely home-educated. Now the children are fed and clothed by factories, educated by the public and make the streets their playgrounds. Therefore, our mothers and sisters should have a voice in the laws that regulate the home.

"My last reason for being a suffragist is because of the people who are opposed to it, those interested in the liquor trade, white slave promoters and the people who are against labor reforms. When the Pennsylvania campaign was on I received an anti-suffrage letter signed by many prominent women. The letter looked too good to be true and I investigated. I found that those women, innocently enough, no doubt, had been influenced by their husbands who had something to gain by the defeat of suffrage, and who had told them some of their reasons but had concealed others."

Rev. Ingham, the next speaker, gave the justice of the demand and the inalienable right of free citizenship as the primary reasons for woman suffrage. "Discrimination is a menace to any government that permits it," he said. "The right of sufficient representation is an argument that cannot be reduced. The demand for equal suffrage is the result of the modern method of education, for wherever this method prevails the question of woman suffrage is coming to the front. Contrary to the argument, man is not superior to woman in mentality; in ethics, in the sense of justice and in the control of the passions man is inferior to woman, and it is these sentiments that control life. Man is superior only in business sagacity and he is superior in this respect because of his years of preparation. Women show the same quality when she is engaged in business. I trust you will not lose your enthusiasm," he said, "but your enthusiasm will not win the battle."

Isias the First Suffragist.

In introducing Rabbi Lefkovits, Mrs. Lawrence said Isias was the first suffragist, as he reprimanded the women who concerned themselves with the comforts of life rather than with the welfare of Israel. Dr. Lefkovits said he had wondered where he got his enthusiasm for woman suffrage, but Mrs. Lawrence had explained it, as he was a descendant of Isias.

"Suffrage is a matter of simple justice," he said. "If the women alone had suffrage, would not the men demand it? Scripture, history, nature and philosophy are in your favor. The state is for the greatest happiness of the largest number of people. Families are the units of the state, and if woman is supreme in the home, she must have rights in the state. History goes back many thousands of years, and for 98 per cent of that time, woman had the ascendency; the maternal form of government prevailed and descent was through the mother.

"I believe that in five years at the utmost, Minnesota will be a suffrage state," he said in conclusion.

Mrs. McMahon, who was the last speaker, said in part:

"We women love our country as much as the men do; women are in industrial life, they pay their taxes as promptly as men do, and women are doing the same work as men for less money. Four states have the eight-hour law for women and those are suffrage states."

Demonstration Follows Reform.

Mrs. McMahon told of the rejoicing among a group of hotel laundry workers when the eight-hour law was passed in California. Some expressed their delight by dancing, others cried and two fainted. She told of the contrast between the treaatment of women and men strikers in New York; no attention was paid to the women but when a much smaller number of men appealed to the mayor he told them he was in office to attend to such matters.

"I sometimes wonder how women can dare to say they haven't the power to cope with such problems. We want to help the men, we want to work side by side with the good men."

Children's Home Directors Discuss Child Welfare Work

The directors of the Children's Home society, who held their monthly meeting yesterday at the home, compiled a letter of information on its child welfare work, copies of which will be sent to those who are active in the demonstrations for Baby week and to the ministers who will address their congregations on this subject Baby Sunday, March 5. Regarding the writing of the letter, Mrs. G. Herbert Jones, president of the Children's Home society, said:

"This will be done in order that fathers and mothers, struggling with adversity, can know there is a place where up-to-date, scientific care can be accorded their children during a visitation of serious trouble and when that trouble is overcome they can re-establish their children in their own home. In Hibbing a flag is to be placed on every home sheltering a child. If the Children's Home had a flag for every child sheltered, every shingle on its roof would bear a flag."

The Children's Home co-operates with the county poor commissioners, Humane society, Juvenile and other courts, police station, health department, municipal lodging house, Associated Charities, visiting and philanthropic committees of church, Bethel home, physicians, school nurses and visiting nurse.

At the meeting yesterday bills aggregating $1,069 were approved for payment.

Duluth Orchestra Is Built According to Symphony Rules

To those who have not given the matter special thought, it is perhaps not known that the Duluth orchestra, insofar as its instrumentation is concerned, is constructed in strict accordance with the rules set down by the several large symphony orchestras in this country.

Heretofore in assembling a body of musicians for orchestral work it has been the practice to take in all available musicians who were willing to become members regardless of the instruments they played, with the result that the orchestra was badly out of tonal balance and the parts of many compositions had to be transposed from one instrument to another, thus depriving the composition of the effect desired by the composer. A common, ordinary derby hat is frequently used over the bell of certain brass instruments to conceal their tonal identity, as for instance a valve trombone playing a bassoon part or a cornet with bell muffled substituting for a French horn. While in some instances this gives fairly satisfactory results in the general harmony with the other instruments of the orchestra playing simultaneously, the effect is utterly lost in a brief solo part which is intended to convey some special significance.

Construction of Orchestra.

In formulating the plans for the Duluth orchestra, Director Bradbury, after scanning the financial situation, determined upon the number of pieces to be employed and then to distribute the instrumentation according to the size of the orchestra. Since the foundation of good orchestration is skillful writing for the strings, this department was considered first, and Mr. Bradbury built his orchestra upon a foundation of seven first violins, six second violins, three violas, three cellos and three basses, the proportions of each section being in accordance with modern practice. Next comes the wood-winds, consisting of one piccolo, two flutes, two clarinets, one oboe and one bassoon. Were it decided to increase the wood-wind section an additional oboe and bassoon would be provided. Some compositions call for an English horn, which is not, however, as its name seems to imply, an instrument of brass, but of wood, being in fact an alto oboe. As this instrument is used so infrequently it is usually doubled upon by the oboe player, Mr. Chabr of the local orchestra being very proficient on both instruments. A good illustration of the use of the English horn is in the third movement of the "William Tell" overture, which the Duluth orchestra rendered so splendidly on the occasion of the first concert.

Composition of Brass Section.

The third section of the orchestra consists of the brass choir, and in the Duluth orchestra will be found two French horns (sometimes classed with the wood-wind section due to the mellowness of the tone of this instrument); two trumpets (not cornets), three trombones and one bass tuba when required, which like the English horn is also infrequently used in orchestral work.

The fourth section is made up of the tympani or kettle drums, bass drum, snare drum, bell, triangle, xylophone, tambourine and castanets. The tympani are the only instruments of percussion that can be tuned to sound certain notes, and two are generally employed although modern composers often write for three and sometimes four, all tuned at different keys.

From the foregoing it will be seen that the Duluth orchestra is not a make-shift organization as special musicians have been employed to supply such instrumentation as was not available locally, and their presence is distinctly noticeable in the many unusual harmonic effects which the orchestra is now able to produce.

The Duluth orchestra was organized for the purpose of not only giving employment to the local musicians but for the development of a keener appreciation of better music in Duluth and should the citizens show a willingness to support the orchestra even to the extent of covering expenses it will prove an incentive to the Duluth Orchestral association to provide a larger and more improved orchestra next year and future years beyond that.

Fourth Twilight Concert.

The fourth twilight concert of the series by the orchestra will be given at the new armory tomorrow afternoon when a program made up of the compositions by Scandinavian composers will be given. The famous "Peer Gynt" suite, which has not been heard in Duluth since it was given by the orchestra last year, will again be given and with the improved orchestration its beauties will be brought out to the fullest extent.

Mrs. J. F. Finkelson will be the soloist and at Mr. Bradbury's request will again play Ole Bull's exquisite melody to his setting for violin, of the charming Norwegian poem, "Saeterjenten's Sondag."

The Svea Glee club, which is always enthusiastically received, will be heard in several selections taken from the folk lore of the North country and the unusual harmony of these numbers as rendered by the club, will no doubt be greatly enjoyed.

Extra street car service will be provided on all lines from the armory, and a special car will also be run from Superior at 4 o'clock direct to the armory, returning after the concert.

Garden Flower Society.

The Duluth Garden Flower society will hold its official meeting at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon at Dr. Mary McCoy's office, 13 West Superior street. There will be a talk on "Hardy Borders."

Twentieth Century Club.

Miss Jessie Case of the art department of Central high school will speak on "Egyptian Design and Symbolism" to the members of the art history class of the Twentieth Century club, at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon in the library clubrooms, and will illustrate her talk with designs which she has made for the occasion.

Among the designs that will be explained are the lotus flower and papyrus, the tomb and temple decorations and the most important symbols that were used by the Egyptians, such as the cobra, winged disc, vulture, cow, cat and palm tree.

Mrs. J. H. Crowley, the chairman of the department of education and home, will be in charge of the psychology program which will be given at 2:30 o'clock, Friday afternoon, in the library clubroom. Mrs. R. Spiegel will be the principal speaker.

The beginners' class in "Theosophy Simplified" will meet Monday night at 8 o'clock. The Wednesday afternoon study class in "Ancient Wisdom," open to those interested in Theosophy, will meet at 3 o'clock. The Sunday morning advanced study class in "Ancient Wisdom" will meet at 10:45 o'clock.

Fabbrini Will Be Heard in Recital Here

Miss Mabel Fulton has arranged for a piano recital which will be given here March 3 by Giuseppe Fabbrini of Minneapolis. Mr. Fabbrini has given two recitals here under the auspices of Miss Fulton, his last one having been two years ago this month.

Dr. Edmond Kraus and Mr. Fabbrini gave a series of three historical programs in costume this winter in Minneapolis. The Minneapolis Journal said of one of the programs:

"For the program of the romantic era in music the stage was artistically set. In costumes and light effects nothing was spared to give illusion of the period which marked the dawn of modern music."

In the program which was given Feb. 3 in Minneapolis, Mr. Fabbrini played an "Arabesque" of his own composition. Six years ago, when he was giving a recital in Cairo, he was interrupted by the arrival of a camel train of pilgrims from Mecca. The weird music of the pilgrims' band is the main theme of this composition. This number was on the last program the pianist gave in Duluth.

Daughters of Liberty, D. A. R.

Miss Anna Upham will speak on "Totem Poles in Alaska, in Reference to Family History" at the meeting which the Daughters of Liberty chapter, D. A. R., will hold at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. I. Prince, 2101 East First street. Miss Upham has traveled in Alaska and is well versed in the lore of totem poles, that often, but not always, depict the histories of families.

Evening Drama Class.

"Spanish Drama" will be the subject of the regular meeting of the Evening Drama class to be held at the club room of the library at 8 o'clock, Tuesday night. The Matinee Musicale board of directors met Wednesday to discuss plans regarding the concert to be given here by the New York Symphony orchestra. This orchestra, conducted by Walter Damrosch, is to appear at the new armory March 28, under management of the Matinee Musicale.

The following announcement has been made regarding cantata rehearsals: "It is necessary for all who have registered to sing in the Matinee Musicale cantata, which will be given March 21, to attend every rehearsal at the Y. W. C. A. Work will begin promptly at 1:45 o'clock and close at 2:45 o'clock on Tuesday afternoons, giving ample opportunity to attend the Study class and the regular programs. EDISON REPRESENTATIVE IS CRITICIZED IN REPORT

New York, Feb. 12.—Miller Reese Hutchinson, representative of the Edison Storage Battery company, was severely criticized by Lieut. J. C. Fisher, judge advocate, in summing up before the naval court of inquiry which has been investigating the disaster to the United States submarine E-2 on Jan. 15, in which five men lost their lives.

Lieut. Fisher exonerated Lieut. Charles M. Cooke, commander of the submarine, and members of the crew, who, he said, were merely acting as agents in carrying out a test of the batteries. He condemned Mr. Hutchinson for going ahead with the test "when he knew of the possibility of trouble."

The court will send its findings to Secretary Daniels.

COMMENT ON PLAYS AND PLAYERS — WHAT THE PRESS AGENTS PROMISE

"MADAME X" FILM COMING TO LYCEUM

Famous Play With Dorothy Donnelly Will Show for Next Week.

The Lyceum theater management has arranged for a week's presentation of Henry Savage's famous play, "Madame X," in photoplay form with the original cast, including Dorothy Donnelly in the title role.

The story is of a young woman, weak rather than evil, who is led from her husband by an unscrupulous man. Later she returns and with true contrition begs to be forgiven, but her husband, misunderstanding her motives, drives her away, but afterward repents and seeks her, but in vain. She drifts to the gutters and although a wreck and addicted to ether, her love for her son is her redeeming trait.

Returning to Paris in the hope of getting a glimpse of her son, who was 4 years old when she deserted her home, but who is now 24, she falls in with three rascals who, discovering her history, undertake to use it to blackmail her husband. But rather than have her shame become known to her son, who thinks she died long ago, she kills the rascal who is chiefly responsible.

She is brought to trial. She refuses to tell her name or to say anything in her defense. Her son, who has just been admitted to the bar, is appointed by the court to defend her. She enlists his sympathy, and he makes one of the most pathetic pleas in the world, and the court agrees with the audience that she ought to be acquitted, and so rules.

In the course of the trial her husband, who sits with the judge, discovers her identity, and, after the verdict is rendered, the son divines that she is his mother. Then follows the climax of the pathos, and the play ends with the death of Madame X, who expires supremely happy that she has embraced her son.

The performance will be continuous from 1 to 11 p. m. each day.

UNUSUAL OFFERING AT NEW GRAND

Doree's Beaux and Belles Head Strong Vaudeville Show.

The management of the popular New Grand continues to give its patrons good entertainment in combination vaudeville and photoplay programs. The present bill shows the careful selection of a wealth of talent with a big girl act headlining, and all the rest of the acts running a close race for second honors. A better blended show would be hard to arrange.

Doree's Beaux and Belles is a vaudeville medley with four girls and three men to furnish the music and songs, the whole being built along musical lines. There are any number of popular musical numbers, catchy songs and classy instrumental medleys offered singly and ensemble in a charming and thoroughly enjoyable manner. Some of the latest society dances are offered and the whole is set off with magnificent scenery and electrical effects.

Another feature of more than passing interest is dainty Agnes Kayne, eccentric singing comedienne. Miss Kayne is the clever combination of singer and comedienne with a fund of personality and a wealth of versatility, something that in all comprises a rare find.

Walton and Vivian have an offering of merit consisting of comedy singing, talking and imitations. This two are considered one of the most efficient duos of their kind.

Campbell and McDonald present a singing and dancing novelty with a special scenic set for each number. Scotch and Irish songs and dances are featured and make most enjoyable entertainment.

"The Book Agent's Romance," a two-reel subject featuring G. M. Anderson, topliner the photoplays and is a comedy-drama of the upper class. The Canimated Nooz Pictorial, a cartoon comedy; "Winning the Widow," a comedy, and the Selig-Tribune News are among the other film subjects.

On Monday the new bill is headed by Gertrude Lee Folsom and company in her latest comedy playlet, "The Gold Cure," and Milt Wood, offering songs, dances and stories. The Fur Kasting Kays, comedy aerialists, and the Three Lilliputs, the smallest sisters in the world, offering a singing and dancing novelty, are among other vaudeville offerings.

"By Love Redeemed," a three-reel story interpreted by a star cast, heads the photoplays. Two clever comedies make up the remainder of the program. Tuesday and Wednesday as usual one of the Stingaree stories will be added to the bill.

TRIANGLE STARS AT REX.

Lola May Will Be Seen in Interesting Screen Production.

Director Ince of the Triangle company maintains that photoplays, or rather that Triangle photoplays, all aim to stimulate thought as well as emotion. The spectator may go out from witnessing a great battle scene on the screen, with its thrilling climax, in a great state of emotional excitation. But such states of feeling soon wear off and are forgotten. The play, unless it provides something that the mind can retain, is likely to be forgotten, too. And a play forgotten is a dead play. But the vivid unfolding of a complex human problem that touches the spectator's own experience will leave him not only profoundly moved but thinking earnestly, and he will remember.

"The Price of Power," featuring Orrin Johnson, is a thrilling example of Mr. Ince's ideals. It is said to be a remarkable play, but while tragic, it is so lightened with touches of humor that any too intensely tragic feature is made endurable and the whole effect is touching and appealing. Orrin Johnson plays with versatility three different roles representing the same man under different circumstances and at different times in his career.

"He Did and He Didn't" portrays the adventures of Fatty Arbuckle and Mabel Normand and, like all Keystone-Triangles, is full of action while offering an abundance of amusement. There is something about Roscoe Arbuckle and Mabel Normand that is a continual source of merriment to both young and old in whatever play they appear. And their adventures as newly-weds are full of glee, that clears away the tragedy of Orrin Johnson's realism in "The Price of Power" on tomorrow's program at the Rex.

Lola May endeared herself to nearly every man, woman and child in Duluth, and her portrayal of the supposed "Affinity" in the Triangle play, "The Green Swamp," coming to the Rex Thursday, Friday and Saturday, will be a delightful bit of work that will further the interest theater-going folks take in Miss May's work. There are several novel scenes introduced in "The Green Swamp," this story of a woman's jealousy. There is a grand masked ball where hundreds of men and women fox trot and two-step in latest society style.

WILLIAM E. SHAY AT LYRIC.

"The Ruling Passion" Will Depict Life in the East.

Herbert Brennon, who directed "The Ruling Passion," a William Fox production produced in the West Indies, has the honor of never making an "ordinary" picture. Everything that Director Brennon undertakes is on a big scale and at present he is working on the $1,000,000 Kellerman picture, which will be released during the coming month.

William E. Shay, the popular and versatile screen actor, is co-starred with beautiful Claire Whitney in "The Ruling Passion" and is immensely popular in Duluth, and in fact throughout the country, because of his excellent portrayals of the leading male roles of such successes as "Kreutzer Sonata," "The Clemenceau Case," "Sin" and other big hits of the screen. Mr. Shay, himself, says that he has never had a play that afforded him greater opportunities for his talents than the life of the oriental harem with its fatal love and the incense of the warm East as depicted in "The Ruling Passion" at the Lyric Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Blanch Sweet, the dainty little blonde leading woman of the Lasky-Paramount company, coming to the Lyric Wednesday and Thursday in "The Ragamuffin," says she would rather be a ragamuffin than the finest princess that ever sat on a throne. She truly looked her words while engaged in making "The Ragamuffin." Her feet, clad in old broken shoes, swung back and forth and she looked for all the world like a fresh little Arab, dirty, but happy and saucy.

Friday and Saturday will bring to the Lyric another of Mark Twain's lovable and human stories, "Pudd'nhead Wilson." The first Mark Twain story, "The Prince and the Pauper," proved such a success that the Lasky people have decided to picturize a number of Twain's best stories, including "Huckleberry Finn," "Tom Sawyer" and "The Jumping Frog."

"BIRD OF PARADISE" BOOKED.

Play of Hawaii Will Be Presented at Lyceum for Week.

"The Bird of Paradise," that interesting drama of Americans and modern Hawaii, will be seen at the Lyceum for one week, commencing Feb. 28. The play is by Richard Walton Tully, author of "Omar, the Tentmaker," and the production is under the personal supervision of that western theatrical "wizard" of stagecraft, Oliver Morosco. There is a love story in the play—the love story of Paul Wilson, a young American physician, and Luana, the beautiful "child of Pele," the sacred volcano, whom all good Kanakas worship wherever the ancient Gods are not forgotten.

Though the main trend of the drama is serious, it is interspersed with so much of that which may be described as "human humor," or humor that is typically American, that the audience weeps one moment and in the next is convulsed with laughter. Mr. Tully describes in this play the American abroad, both trader and missionary, and tells with accurate vividness that first comes the missionary and then the Yankee trader. It also teaches the story told so often, that the brown and white race should not intermarry.

Miss Carlotta Monterey, a young native Californian, will be the new Luana, and hearsay has it that she is as clever, if not cleverer, than those who have played the part before. Among others in the cast are: Hooper L. Atchley, as Paul Wilson; Richard Gordon, as Dean, the beach-comber; Roberta Arnold, as Diana; Robert Morris, as Capt. Hatch; George P. Webster, as the missionary, and a score of others, including five native Hawaiian singers and players, whose quaint music lends a native charm to the play. The scenic effects are artistic, showing as they do a tropical electrical rain storm and the eruption of Mount Kilauea, Hawaii's most terrible volcano.

DOROTHY DONNELLY IN THE PHOTOPLAY "MADAME X" AT THE LYCEUM ALL NEXT WEEK.

At the Sunbeam.

Manager Ralph Parker of the New Sunbeam theater has booked one of the strongest attractions of the whole season for Sunday. This will be an elaborate six-reel production of "A Fool's Paradise," presented by Chrystine Mayo, Paula Shay and Joseph Burke and a remarkably capable cast of assistants.

"A Fool's Paradise" is one of the "Forbidden Fruit" series, and is one of the strongest of the series. Like the preceding films, "A Fool's Paradise" treats a live topic taken from every-day life and offers it in the most entertaining form possible. Each of the "Forbidden Fruit" numbers is a story complete in itself although all of them treat a vital theme along the "forbidden fruit" line.

Another of this same series of photoplays will be presented at the Sunbeam Friday and Saturday. This will be "Concealed Truth," a powerful realistic drama in five parts written and directed by Ivan Abraham. Miss Gertrude Robinson, the charming movie star, supported by James Cooley, Carrey Lee and a Broadway star cast, will present the play.

Manager Parker is now in Minneapolis and is booking some strong feature plays. Special features will be presented Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, and will be announced later.

SHORT TALKS WITH SCREEN-STRUCK GIRLS

By Beatriz Michelena.

Every girl who has had aspirations to become a motion picture star, has probably some time come upon an advertisement that reads after this fashion:

"Be a motion picture performer and earn from $50 to $500 weekly. No experience necessary. Full particulars by mail."

Beatriz Michelena

Maybe she has answered it in a burst of enthusiasm, and then in due time found it to be the bait of some so-called school of motion picture acting. She doubtless received an elaborate prospectus, breathing in naive confidence the secrets to the golden El Dorado of the motion picture profession. Things were painted in a brilliant hue, well intended to whet her appetite for a course of instruction, incidentally offered at a moderate tuition fee. And who is to blame for her gullibility? Were not instances, almost without number, cited of women who had succeeded in pictures just as the prospectus promised she would succeed? Undeniably the entire matter had a tone of plausibility. That is the prospectus man's business.

If she took the course, however, she has by now profited largely in experience, if not in the art of motion picture acting. She can tell you better than I how empty were the sweet promise of that prospectus. They erected for her a magnificent palace of dream; but it is shattered now and her pocketbook has suffered, too. Worse still, unless she be a girl of unusual metal, she is broken in spirit. If she had expected less, she might have accomplished more. But she expected too much and the bitter disappointment of it has wrung out the ambition that she once had. That is one reason why the fake school of motion picture acting is such a crime.

However, like many other forms of crime, it continues to flourish. Nearly every city has its fake schools now. It is merely a case of a lot of scoundrels, more or less shrewd in their villainy, trying to capitalize the motion picture craze that has swept the country, and especially the craze, found in some quarters, to become a motion picture actor or actress. Please, my "screen-struck" friends, beware of these prospectuses and their rosy promises. They can bring you nothing but disappointments.

NEW YORK STAGE LETTER

"The Fear Market," By Famous Novelist, Deals With Well-Known New York Characters—Rose Stahl's New Vehicle Is Failure.

(By Dixie Hines).

New York, Feb. 12.—Two new plays have been added to the list this week, and one which was new when the season began. "Town Topics" was presented in elaborate fashion at the Century earlier in the season, and after the failure of the Wayburn enterprise was taken over by the Shuberts, and with a large cast and a large comedienne, opened at the Winter Garden.

Now—

"The Fear Market" was the play to which New York looked forward. It was first called—and more properly—"Blackmail," and is the work of Amelie Rives, also known as Princess Troubetskoy. She is a well known novelist and in book form it might have succeeded better. It is a play for New York, and the characters are but thinly disguised. It concerns the editor of a weekly society journal who lives upon blackmail, and his associate is a judge who reads the proofs and keeps him within the law. The episodes are so real that one was constrained to call the stage characters by the names by which all New York knows them, from the little "colonel" to the gray-haired "judge." Except for the theme, which is scandal and blackmail, there would be little to interest New York except the very excellent acting of all concerned. At it is, the strong scene in the play, when the editor, seeking blackmail victims, drags into his net his own daughter, leaves one somewhat dissatisfied that more was not made of the theme, which was boldly if somewhat provincially treated. However, it is sure to have a certain rage, and Edmund Breese, De Witt Jennings and Lucille Watson will repay any one who loves good acting.

* * *

It has been many years since Rose Stahl burst forth as an infinitable comedienne in "The Chorus Lady," and it will be many years before she again has a vehicle suitable to her talents, if we judge by the three last plays written for her, and among the worst of the lot is "Moonlight Mary," by George V. Hobart, which Miss Stahl tried to revivify at the Fulton theater last week. She talked along as usual, but the slang was apropos of nothing at all. The audience strove to become interested, but their task was quite as hard as was that of Miss Stahl, and it was rather a gloomy affair. It was divided into two parts, both familiar. One was saving little sister, which Miss Stahl does annually, and the other was slang slinging ad lib. The story is weak at the joints and save for a few exceptionally good character "bits" there was nothing to commend it. Poor Rose, shall she be permitted to wither for want of a bit of nourishment.

* * *

This week we have only Elsie Ferguson to look forward to. She presents at the New Amsterdam theater "Margaret Schiller," by Hall Caine, a play which is said to possess much merit. She has an excellent supporting company, including Norman Trevor and young Gareth Hughes, the latter a young Welsh actor who electrified New York earlier in the season by his brilliant acting in "Moloch" at the same playhouse.

Stage Chat.

Rupert Harvey, now playing the leading part in "The Weavers," has been selected to play the reporter in the newspaper play, "Copy," to be done in New York next month.

* * *

The next play scheduled by the modern stage is "Rosmersholm," one of Imsen's strongest dramas. Emanuel Reicher and his daughter, Hedwig Reicher, are both to be seen in this play.

* * *

Hellen Evily and all the members of "The Melody of Youth" company have returned to New York for repairs. The Brandon Tynan play is to be revised and prepared for a New York christening within a fortnight.

* * *

B. Iden Payne will appear in a leading part in Strindberg's "Easter" at the Galety theater, New York, early in February. The Stage Society of New York is sponsoring this play under the direction of Madam Strindberg.

* * *

Kirah Markham, with the aid and assistance of Rupert Harvey and Erskine Sanford, will next week be seen in New York in a strong newspaper play called "Copy," which is to be done under the auspices of the Twelfth Night club.

* * *

Lillian Kingsbury, creator of vaudeville repertory, will place a new one-act playlet in rehearsal this week for her Western repertoire. She is now presenting "The Coward," which is to be alternated with "The Greatest of These."

* * *

Paul Ker will go a-starring next month in a new play under the management of Robert Hunter. Mr. Ker has carried several comedies to success since he became an American comedian, which dates from his appearance in "The Million" four years since.

* * *

Rosamond Carpentier is just that peeved with the playwrights for not writing emotional parts for petite little girls that she threatens to turn the drama down cold and go into the movies. Here is a great chance for a great American playwright.

* * *

John P. Campbell, director of the Irish theater of America has been commissioned by the Veritas Photoplay company to design a set of art posters for their first educational film, which is to be released shortly. Mr. Campbell also plays an important role in this drama.

* * *

New York has enjoyed many successful revivals this season, but none more so than Sheridan's "The Critic" by Iden Payne, and "The Little Minister" with Maude Adams. A peculiar coincidence is that Dallas Anderson played Mr. Dangle in "The Critic" and is now playing Gavin Dishart with Miss Adams.

* * *

Wallis Clark, who deserted the dramatic stage for the motion picture several months ago, makes the announcement that not only will he be seen in a number of special dramatic productions in New York this spring, but he will further increase his activities by making several productions of his own.

* * *

"The Princess Pat," which has two charming prima donnas in Ferne Rogers and Eleanor Painter, will be heard as far west as San Francisco this year. Ferne Rogers, who has recovered from her attack of grip, and the surprise of her sudden marriage, is headed towards the Golden West with her golden voice.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

Rehearsals were begun recently for "Heart o' the Heather," the new play by Glen McDonough, in which George McFarlane will be starred by Joseph Brooks. Raymond Hubbell has composed special incidental and entr'acte music, and Mr. McFarlane will sing a number of songs written for him.

* * *

The new firm of Corey, Williams & Ritter will produce within a month John Galsworthy's drama, entitled "Justice." This will be the first performance of this play in America, and it is said to be the most stirring of Galsworthy's efforts. The piece was first produced in Manchester, England, by the Horniman Players under the direction of Iden Payne. About the same time the play was produced in London at the Duke of York's theater by the late Charles Frohman under Granville Barker's direction. It is said that prison reform usually followed the production in England. Iden Payne will direct the New York production, and John Barrymore, who has been working in the motion picture field for some time, will return to the spoken drama, having been assigned the principal part in "Justice."

* * *

Joseph Brooks will re-enter the New York producing field with a revival of a remarkable old English play, "The Idlers," by C. Haddon Chambers. The company will include Phyllis Neilson Terry, Marie Tempest, Jeanne Eagles, Cynthia Brook, Charles Cherry, Bruce McRae H. Graham Browne and Hubert Druce. Fred G. Latham will direct the staging of the production, which will be tried out in Toronto on March 13.

"The Idlers" was first produced in London on Feb. 26, 1891. It was seen in New York one year later.

Elanore Gates' one-act farce, "Swat the Fly," will have its first stage presentation in Shanghai, China, where it will be adapted and played by Chinese girls.

* * *

Oliver Morosco is considering the production of a new play by James Montgomery, entitled "Irene O'Dare."

* * *

"The Will o' the Wisp," a new comedy, will be produced in Wilmington, Del., April 8, with Alice Brady in the leading role. Miss Brady is at present playing a motion-picture engagement in North Carolina.

* * *

A. H. Woods will produce a new play by Charles Sumner, entitled "Watch My Wife," described as a farce in three acts. The premier of the piece will take place out of New York in March.

Grace George and her company entertained recently upon entering the sixth month of their run at the playhouse. Shaw's "Major Barbara," the last production, is one of the real Broadway successes.

Sir George Alexander, the English actor-manager, is coming to New York in the early spring to appear in his new comedy, called "The Basker," under the direction of Walter Hast. Mr. Hast arrived from London last week and will at once begin preparations for Sir George's engagement.

Early in the season it was reported that Sir George was to present here Sir Arthur Pinero's latest drama, "The Big Drum." This plan has been abandoned, it is said, because of the indifference which the London public has shown toward the play.

* * *

William Travers, husband of the late Blanche Walsh, will revive the playlet, "Spoils of War," in which Miss Walsh made a successful vaudeville tour several years ago. Mr. Travers will appear in the playlet, which has been booked to open at Brooklyn on the fourteenth.

* * *

Lyn Harding has been engaged to play the title role in Sir Herbert Tree's production of "Henry VIII," which will be given in March. In the meantime Harding will appear in Arthur Hopkins' "The Happy Ending."

* * *

It is said that the "Robinson Crusoe, Jr.," which is being rehearsed now, with Al Jolson in the leading role, is built along the same lines of the piece which Klaw and Erlanger once contemplated for Bert Williams.

* * *

Lou Tellegen will shortly appear in a new play, entitled "King of Nowhere," under direction of the Garrick Producing company. J. Du Rocher is the author of the play, which is said to be a story of the Henry VIII period.

* * *

* * *

Willard Mack's new play, "King, Queen, Jack," will not be produced until next season. A. H. Woods intended to star Irene Fenwick in the piece late this season, but it was decided to hold it over until the beginning of next season. It will receive its first public hearing on Aug. 15 in Atlantic City.

* * *

James K. Hackett has added Henrietta Crosman to his cast of characters for his Shakespearean season with Viola Allen. Miss Crosman will play Mistress Page in "The Merry Wives of Windsor," which follows "Macbeth" at the Criterion theater.

EDUCATORS OF NATION-WIDE FAME ON PROGRAM OF NORTHERN MINNESOTA EDUCATIONAL ASSOCIATION

The official program of the Northeastern Minnesota Educational association, which will hold its annual session at the Central high school Feb. 17, 18 and 19, has been completed. An exceptionally strong program has been prepared, consisting of a large number of speakers of national reputation and exceptionally high grade musical numbers, which promise to make this session especially attractive to all who attend. For the opening number on Thursday evening there will be two strong attractions, the Bostonia Sextet club and Dr. Jay William Hudson for an address.

The Bostonia Sextet club is one of the most noted organizations of its kind in the country. It has toured the United States repeatedly, appearing in almost every state in the Union and in all of the Canadian provinces. It is under the direction of C. L. Staats, clarinet virtuoso.

Mr. Staats has surrounded himself with artists of high rank, making the organization unexcelled from an artistic standpoint, while its programs are both novel and interesting, consisting, as they do, of solos for clarinet, violin and cello, numbers for strings alone as well as brilliant selections for the entire club. A soprano soloist will assist the club, rendering an aria and also a song, with clarinet obligato by Staats.

Dudson to Lecture.

Dr. Jay William Hudson is professor of philosophy at the University of Missouri. The press comments on Dr. Hudson are very flattering. The topic of Dr. Hudson for Thursday evening is "American Ideals in Education."

The complete program for Thursday evening is as follows:

Friday's Program.

The next general session will begin at 8:30 Friday morning. The combined Duluth graded school orchestras, E. L. Hodson, assistant supervisor of music, director, will give a musical program for about one-half hour. A musical selection will then be given by the Duluth Normal Girls' Glee club, which will be followed by a reading by Miss M. Magdalene Feyereisen of Gilbert, following which the Cloquet Faculty Ladies' quartet will give two selections.

The speakers for the morning session are Prof. Willis Mason West, who will take as his topic, "Shall We Teach History as Literature or Science?"; R. Watson Cooper, president of Upper Iowa university, who will speak on "Literature and Life," and Dr. Jay William Hudson, whose topic is, "The War and World Reconstruction."

Prof. West is a veteran Minnesota educator, having served as superintendent of schools of Duluth for three years when it was but a village, as superintendent of the Faribault schools for seven years, and head of the department of history at the University of Minnesota for twenty years.

The second speaker for the morning session, President R. Watson Cooper, is an inspirational teacher and lecturer on English literature. He was head of the English department at the Wesleyan academy in Massachusetts for eight years and professor of English literature at Hamline university for ten years. Since 1909 he has been president of Upper Iowa University. He is secretary of the American Association of Colleges, is a frequent contributer to periodicals and is in much demand as a lecturer on literary subjects. His lecture, "Literature and Life," is recognized as one of his best lectures.

The topic of Dr. Hudson for the Friday morning session is "War and World Reconstruction." Dr. Hudson is especially fitted to speak on that subject for the reason that for the college year of 1914-15 he was granted a year's leave of absence in order to devote his entire time to the cause of international peace, as director of the education department of the Massachusetts Peace society and as special lecturer of the American School Peace league. The Washington Star says of him:

"He sees America's opportunity and duty to teach the world a new diplomacy and internationalism based on justice."

Departmental Sessions.

Friday afternoon is given over to the department programs, of which there are seventeen, divided into two groups—group A meets at 1:45 and group B at 3:30.

The Friday evening session is a general session. A musical program will be given by the Scottish Rite quartet and one selection by the high school string quartet. The musical program is as follows:

Scottish Rite quartet—A. F. M. Custance, director; first tenor, Don E. Cole; second tenor, A. R. Burquist; baritone, D. W. Hiestand; bass, D. G. Gearhart.

"Pilgrims' Chorus" .....Wagner

Tenor solo—"My Dream of You" ..... Rodney
Don E. Cole.

Selection .....
Duluth Central high school string quartet.

"The Two Grenadiers" .....Schuman

Duet—"Good-by, Sweet Day"..Vannah
A. R. Burquist and D. W. Hiestand.

"Kingdom Coming" ..... Arranged

The musical program will be followed by an address by Dr. M. V. O'Shea, who has chosen as his topic, "The Trend of the Teens." Dr. O'Shea is the head of the department of education, University of Wisconsin. He has lectured extensively on educational and related matters in America, England and Scotland.

Following the Friday evening program, the Duluth Teachers' association will give an informal reception at the Masonic temple, opposite the high school building.

The Saturday morning session begins at 8:30 with a musical program by the Duluth high school orchestra.

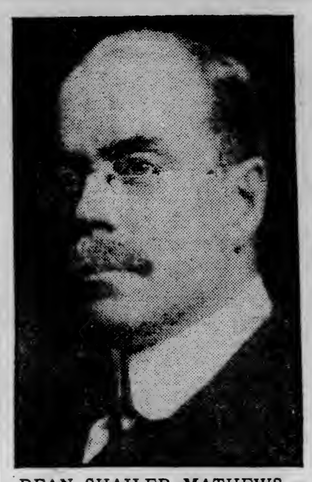

Four Noted Speakers.

There will be four speakers for this session. Dr. Lotus D. Coffman will speak on "Scientific Methods Applied to Educational Problems," Dr. Shailer Mathews on "Education for Social Service," Dr. Nathaniel Butler on "Place and Function of Liberal Education," and Dr. M. V. O'Shea, "Everyday Traits of Human Nature."

Dr. Coffman is the new dean of the department of education of the University of Minnesota. Dr. Shailer Mathews is dean of the divinity school, Chicago university. He is known by educators everywhere as an eminent editor, author, lecturer and philosopher. Dr. Nathaniel Butler is professor of education, University of Chicago. Dr. Butler is also a man of broad experience as an educator. Dr. M. V. O'Shea will close the convention programs.

The Northeastern Minnesota Educational association is not an exclusive organization for teachers only, since all persons interested in education are cordially invited to become members.

Since there will be about 500 seats more than what usually accommodates association members, all interested in education can take advantage of this opportunity of listening to the attractions of the convention.

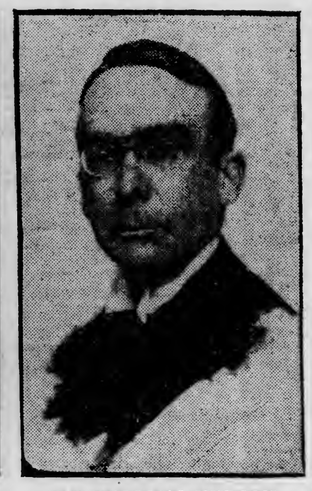

DEAN SHAILER MATHEWS, Chicago University Divinity School.

PROF. NATHANIEL BUTLER, Department of Education, University of Minnesota.

PETER OLESEN, President Northeastern Minnesota Educational Association.

You have taken the old time prescription—goose oil and turpentine that I always used, and mixed them up with your new medicines—menthol, lanoline, amber oil, eucalyptus oil and mustard and now call it

GOOS-OLENE

My old prescription was good—but with the new Goos-olene, by rubbing over the throat and chest and covering with a hot cloth, you quickly relieve the inflammation of the internal parts. You are also breathing the fumes of the Eucalyptus Oil (the great germ destroyer) which has a soothing effect on the membrane of the nose and throat. Goos-olene is so handy to use—just squeeze out of the tube enough each time—the rest keeps strong and pure in the sealed tube until needed.

BABY GOOS-OLENE

Is made for the congestions and colds of the little ones. By leaving out the mustard it relieves without any smarting or burning—made especially for the delicate skin of the baby or young children. Always use Baby Goos-olene for the younger, and Goos-olene (which is stronger) for the older and adults. At all drug stores in 25c and 50c tubes. —Advertisement.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Feb. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—"The club this year has made a profit of $1,521.43 in actual cash, has obtained for the city $10,000 in publicity, and fully that much in betterments and promotion of co-operative feeling in the city," said Secretary Fred T. Lincoln of the Commercial club at the annual meeting Thursday night. Then Mr. Lincoln read his report, a clear, concise and easily comprehended summarization of the club activities during the first nine months of the regime of its first fully paid secretary, which showed how it was possible for the organization to clear over $20,000 on an intake of but $5,000. It was a paper that bristled with truths and that was a revelation to the members of the club.

At the recent meeting of the board of directors a unanimous motion was passed congratulating Secretary Fred T. Lincoln and his work and recommending that the club ask him to accept another year's contract when his present one expires on May this year.

During the past year the membership of the club has increased from 200 to 325. The club has received but $5,156 in dues and fees, is out of debt and possesses as tangible assets furnishing in the clubrooms worth easily $1,500.

Market Days Success.

Some of the more important measures advocated by the club during the past year and carried to a successful conclusion are the market days.

Nearly 100 meetings were held by the club during the first year, of which thirty-six were executive, thirty-three special committees and the remainder regular meetings.

On of the points commented on by the attitude of the Commercial club towards the farmer.

Farmers' market days, of which several were held last year, at which over 500 nearby farmers, dairymen and growers of farm products brought in their wares for sale; a community picnic attended by 2,000, club lunches, and the work of the drainage committee were important matters handled during the past year that will be handled in the same way during the next. Trade extension matters will come in for a great deal of attention next season, as will the development of closer ties between the farmers and the city establishments.

ACHES AND PAINS

Don't neglect a pain anywhere, but find out what causes it and conquer the cause. A pain in the kidney region may put you on your back tomorrow. Don't blame the weather for swollen feet, it may be an advanced warning of Bright's disease. A pain in the stomach may be the first symptom of appendicitis. A creak in a joint may be the forerunner of rheumatism. Chronic headaches more than likely warn you of serious stomach trouble. OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

FAIR

It does not matter that the snowfall is gentle and unobtrusive, it is unwelcome just the same. The fact that the sun is trying to break through holds out encouragement; and further hope is held out by the prediction that tomorrow will be fair.

A year ago today was springlike. The sun rose this morning at 7:18 and will set this evening at 5:27, giving ten hours and nine minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The temperature has risen decidedly over Kentucky and Tennessee, while to the westward of the Mississippi valley the weather has turned colder in nearly all districts, the greatest drop occurring over the western portions of Wyoming and Montana. The lowest reported temperature was 28 degs. below at Swift Current, Sask. The highest reported temperature Friday was 81 degs. at Tampa, Fla. During the last twenty-four hours snow or rain fell over most of the Central and Northern states."

Stops Tobacco Habit in One Day

Sanitarium Publishes Free Book Showing How Tobacco Habit Can Be Banished in From One to Five Days at Home.

The Elders Sanitarium, located at 662 Main St., St. Joseph, Mo., has published a free book showing the deadly effect of the tobacco habit, and how it can be banished in from one to five days at home.

Men who have used tobacco for more than fifty years have tried this method and say it is entirely successful, and in addition to banishing the desire for tobacco has improved their health wonderfully. This method banishes the desire for tobacco, no matter whether it is smoking, chewing, cigarettes, or snuff dipping.

As this book is being distributed free, anyone wanting a copy should send their name and address at once.

VIRGINIA EXPECTS SOME CRACK RIDERS

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Henry Hall, 1916 ski champion of the United States, will be among the riders at the tournament here Sunday, Feb. 27, at the ski grounds under the auspices of the Virginia Ski club.

The leading riders of the country will be here. A number of crack riders, who were at the meet at Chippewa Falls, Wis., this week, wired Secretary M. H. Smith that they intended to compete here.

Secretary Aksel Holter of Ashland of the National Ski association will attend.

Some Crack Riders.

Jennings Reilley, brother of the famous Barney, is another Coleraine entrant. He rides in the amateur class. Fred Hansen, Arthur Blair, H. Stevens and R. Goodrich are among the other Coleraine entrants. Ole Manseth, father of skiing in St. Louis county, will also appear at the Virginia meet. His home is at Coleraine.

Lars Haugan of Chippewa Falls, and Anders Haugen, 1914 champion, will be among the riders here. Ragnar Omtvedt, for years champion of Norway, who has been riding in this country for three years, will be an entrant at the Virginia tournament. Whether Barney Reilley, the Celtic rider, will appear here, is not known.

Axel Hendrickson, former Virginian, who performs double-somersaults on skis, will perform here. Sigurd Bergeson, formerly of Virginia, now a Duluth Ski club rider, will contest for honors. He won the 1915 amateur championship at the Head of the Lakes.

MAKE READY FOR BIG YEAR

Ashland Expects Immense Shipment of Ore Next Season.

Work on Dock Extensions Slow; Timely Completion Expected.

Ashland, Wis., Feb. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The work of extending the Chicago & Northwestern ore docks at Ashland is progressing rather slowly but the extensions will be completed so that there will be little if any delay in using the new extensions when navigation opens next spring. The two docks are being extended clear out to the harbor line, about 200 and 300 feet respectively. They would have been extended out several hundred feet further, is permission could have been obtained from the war department at Washington. Hearings were held at Ashland on the company's request, but permission was refused.

Officials of the Northwestern road gave as a reason for the extension, that the company proposes to haul into Ashland from the Gogebic iron range next season, a record breaking volume of ore. There was no time to build a third dock from the shore, in time to handle the 1916 business, so extending the docks out into the bay, as the quickest method, was decided upon.

Ashland handled 5,146,773 gross tons of iron ore over its three docks last season, passing Escanaba for the first time in nearly twenty years, shipping more than twice as much as Marquette and over 1,000,000 tons more than Escanaba. The shipments next summer will be limited only by the amount that can be taken out of the mines, and handled over the docks.

The delays in the present work are caused by the difficulty of removing the cribs at the end of the old docks, in twenty feet of water, and removing the rock, timbers and ice, before the foundations of the new extensions can be laid. The daily tides, too in which the water sometimes rises two feet in a few minutes lifting the ice or covering it with water, cuts a little figure in the work, but the contractors, Barnett & Record of Duluth are well satisfied with their progress.

Work on the Gogebic range is being pushed, and when navigation opens, there will be some big stock piles on which to begin. Railroad men say that the unusual amount of snow on the iron range, always more than at Ashland, is interfering with mining operations somewhat, at some places, drifts in cuts filled with twenty feet of snow having to be cleared.

GAVE HIS EVIDENCE TO COUNTY ATTORNEY

F. B. Myers of Duluth returned today from St. Paul, where he held a conference with the county attorney of Ramsey county, R. D. O'Brien, relative to the Virginia tournament. Whether Barney Reilley, the Celtic rider, will appear here, is not known.

Mr. Myers declared he had little of interest to give out that had not already been threshed over. All of the information he possessed was given to the county attorney. Mr. Myers will probably be called on to act as a witness in the case and he said he did not think he should discuss it publicly at this time, for that reason.

STOCK MARKETS CLOSE FOR DAY

This being the anniversary of Lincoln's birthday, all American grain and stock markets were closed today.

Duluth grain men were interested in watching the courses of the outside markets as forecasting the movement of prices here next Monday.

The Winnipeg wheat market was strong as a result of active export inquiry and higher cables, spot wheat at Liverpool closing ½@1d up and grain on passage 4½d up. May wheat at Winnipeg closed ⅝c up at $1.27 and July ½c up at $1.26⅛. May oats closed unchanged at 46½c and May flax 1c up at $2.13½.

CITY DEMURS IN ARMORY ACTION

In the office of the district court clerk yesterday afternoon, City Attorney John E. Samuelson filed a demurrer to the action recently instituted by the Aad Temple Building association against the city of Duluth, to compel the municipality to execute a contract and deed for the sale of the old armory building and site. The demurrer sets forth that the action instituted by the Shriners does not state a cause of action and asks that it be non-suited.

John Jenswold, Jr., appears as attorney for the association and it is probable that the case will not come on for argument until the latter part of next week. Today is a legal holiday and Mr. Jenswold will be out of the city the first part of next week.

BUTTE COPPER OUTPUT CUT DOWN BY THE EXTREME COLD

Ore in Transit From Mines to the Smelters Froze Solidly.

Great Activity at Properties in the Eastern Butte District.

Butte, Mont., Feb. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The extreme cold weather that has held the Butte district in its grasp during a part of the past thirty days has hampered the mining operations of the Anaconda Copper Mining company to such an extent that its production will be from 10 to 20 per cent less than had been anticipated for that time. The trouble is at the smelting plants at Anaconda and Great Falls.

Over a year ago the company installed thawing rooms at the smelters for the purpose of thawing out the ores that were frozen in transit. In ordinary winter weather the capacity of these thawing rooms is ample to care for the emergencies.

At the new ore bins at the Butte mines, steam heat was installed so that as soon as the ore was hoisted and dumped into these bins, it was kept from freezing until ready to load into the ore cars. The change of motive power on the Butte, Anaconda & Pacific road from steam to electricity was counted on to furnish much greater speed for the transportation of the ores to the Washoe smelter.

Ore Froze Solidly.

But in spite of all these improvements, it was found that with the thermometer ranging from 20 to 30 degrees below zero, the ores in transit froze solidly before arriving at the smelter. All told eight shifts have been lost so far during the protracted cold spell caused by the mines getting out more ore than the smelters could handle.

The loss of four days out of thirty meant a big reduction in output. The temperature at the big stack on the hill at Great Falls reduction works was reported at 40 below zero, and this meant delays and difficulties in handling the ores after their arrival there.

It is understood that the company is planning to enlarge the thawing rooms. The ore cars are run directly into them, but the capacity is far too small with weather like this.

Stopped By Injunction.

After securing possession of the famous Porphyry Dyke property in the district near the head of Monitor Gulch, the Anaconda company finds itself enjoined from operating the Columbia mill at its property near Rimini on the ground that it would contaminate the waters of Monitor Gulch which furnish the water supply to the city of Helena. Judge R. Lee Word granted the temporary injunction. The restraining order sets forth that the defendant company is prohibited from muddying, fouling, polluting or discoloring the waters of Ten Mile creek and enjoins the company from crushing ore from its numerous claims in and adjacent to Monitor Gulch.

In prohibiting the company from operating the mill the order adds: "Unless tailings therefrom are either removed from the watersheds or permanently impounded and prevented from being deposited in or washed where the waters of Ten Mile creek are diverted into the water plant of the city of Helena."

The Anaconda company has been planning to start gigantic operations at this property and has purchased large amounts of machinery adapted for handling these ores. Plans to overcome the possibility of contaminating the Helena water supply will now be devised.

The Anaconda In Chile.

The invasion of the South American field by the Anaconda company is attracting much attention from not only the company stockholders but with the thousands of employes of the company in Montana. When Vice President Thaver was in Butte with President Ryan and Vice President Kelley last month it was planned that he should make the trip to the new properties in Chile with Reno Sales, the chief geologist of the company. William Braden, who brought the attention of the Anaconda directors to the possibilities of the Portrerillos property, and Dr. Ricketts, who is the head of the metallurgical department of the Inspiration company.

The report from their investigations will be awaited with interest as it will have a strong bearing on the future of the Anaconda company. From one of those who had the confidence of Mr. Braden, it is understood that he claimed over a year ago that this property would prove to be of greater value and have larger ore bodies and higher grade ore than the Braden or any other South American copper properties.

With the Ryan interests and those connected with him in control of Anaconda, Inspiration, Greene Cananea and now of the new Chilean properties of the Andes Copper company, they will be in a dominating position that will not be threatened by the Guggenheim consolidation that was recently effected.

The flotation process that has been installed at the Washoe smelter is said to be well adapted to the ores of the new Chilean property, and when Dr. Braden was here he made a special study of that and spent many days at the Washoe smelter planning the best process and most up-to-date plant for the property at Potrerillos.

Eastern Butte District.

The Eastern Butte district is still attracting more than usual attention from the mining men and companies. Practically every mining property from the top of the Great Divide east of Butte to the Anaconda hill is either in operation, in the course of development or is being experimented with.

The Butte Duluth property has not been put in operation yet, although Oscar Rohn, general manager of the East Butte Mining company, states that experiments are going forward steadily to determine what method of handling the ores is best and how the electrolytic plant can be used to the most advantage.

The Bullwhacker property, which adjoins the East Butte and Butte Duluth, is again shipping ore. This time it is to the Tacoma smelter, where a good rate has been secured. The men who have the Bullwhacker under lease with an option on the control, have at last found a process they believe will enable them to handle the Bullwhacker ores by the leaching process to advantage. They are not prepared to give out details yet, but they believe they have found out the difficulties and the way to overcome them by making some needed changes in the old leaching plant.

Colusa-Leonard.

Large stockholders of the Colusa-Leonard Extension company are attempting to get the owners of some of the adjoining properties to aid in bringing the entire holdings into shape for operating purposes. They have assurances, it is understood, that if this can be done the needed financial assistance can be secured to develop the property. The Colusa-Leonard owns a part interest in a number of claims and fractions of claims situated directly east of the Leonard mine of the Anaconda company. It owns a two-thirds interest in the Golden Hematite claim, and the other third is the property of Arthur Corry. The company owns seven-ninths of the Little McQueen claim adjoining. It owns one-half of the Undine claim which adjoins, and it owns two-thirds of the Snow Bird.

The developments at the Tropic mine of the Anaconda company are very favorable and this is most encouraging to the Colusa-Leonard Extension owners.

Propositions looking to the development of the Butte Main Range have been made to heavy stockholders of that company. The development work being carried on further north at the Butte & London, the Rainbow and the Butte & Great Falls is fast bringing those properties into prominence also.

At the Butte & London the shaft is now down close to the 1,400-foot level, and the indications of nearing a good vein of ore are increasing.

Barnes-King.

The Barnes-King Development company has added another property to its list. It has secured an option on the Woodrow Wilson claims, known as the Parker-Brownlow group, in the Rimini district close to Helena. The property has never been developed and has only a 26-foot prospect hole on it, but the company has a year in which to make its investigations and carry on the development.

With the equipment and organization of the Barnes-King company and ample resources, it is expected that this property will be put into the producing class within a short time. Supt. McGee is greatly pleased with the results of the investigations and believes the development there of a very valuable producing mining property is a matter of a short time.

The Barnes-King company made the best showing during the month of January of any month in the history of the company. Production at both the North Moccasin and Piegan-Gloster properties was increased and the grade of ore is holding out splendidly.

It is estimated that the gross returns for the month will exceed $60,000 and that profits will be about $40,000, or 10 cents a share on the capital stock of the company. The first dividend ever paid by the company will go out March 1 to stockholders of record on Feb. 15 and will amount to 7½ cents a share. While this is a quarterly dividend, it represents less than the earnings of one month.

At the Shannon mine conditions continue most flattering. The ore that is being taken out is fully up to the average of that already on the dump and as soon as the new tramway is installed to the Piegan mill the Shannon will begin to add materially to the output of the company.

Boston & Montana.

The next six weeks promise some important developments in the affairs of the Boston & Montana Development company. The crosscutting to the Idanaha and Park veins is nearing completion and indications of high mineralization are becoming more and more marked. The country rock is improving and the flow of water has been steadily increasing, indicating the presence of vein area ahead.

The company has ordered a large amount of new machinery, including an Ingersoll-Rand air compressor of increased capacity over the old one, and will be in shape to operate to advantage as soon as the veins are cut.

LARGEST TONNAGE IN ITS HISTORY

Butte & Superior's Production in January Surpassed Previous Months.

Butte, Mont., Feb. 12.—The Butte & Superior company mined the largest tonnage of ore in January in its history. The payroll for the month was by far the largest the company has ever had in a single month. However, the grade of ore ran lower than in November and December with the result that the amount of zinc in concentrates was slightly lower. The figures as given out by the company were as follows:

Tons of ore mined and milled, 54,000, as against 50,500 tons in December.

Tons of concentrates from the ore, 14,800, as against 15,000 in December.

Pounds of zinc in concentrates, 15,700,000, as against over 16,000,000 in the previous month.

The payrolls for the month were approximately $240,000, as against less than $200,000 in December. The number of men at present on the payroll of the company is 1,850.

Speaking of the month's showing, General Manager Bruce said:

"We are using a large number of extra men at present time on the sinking of the new shafts and the construction work going on. Every man who can be used to advantage has been put on with the idea of rushing the new shafts to completion in record-breaking time.

"During January we practically lost but one shift over what we had expected. That was due to the accident near the end of the month that caused a shutdown for repairs."

The lower grade of ore was due to the desire to hasten production and push it to the limit. When the new shafts are complete the Butte & Superior will be in a position to take out large quantities of ore that surround the Black Rock shaft, but cannot be mined with the shaft in operation as at present.

AT THE CHIEF CONSOLIDATED

Leasers Will Soon Be Shipping Gold Ore Encountered Recently.

Eureka, Utah, Feb. 12.—Within the next few weeks a sensationally rich shipment of gold ore will be sent out by one of the leasers at the Chief Consolidated mine, and while it will not bring as much money as some of the rich shipments from the Mammoth mine the lot of ore will be worth several thousand dollars.

This rich gold ore was encountered in a block of leased ground but a few days before the lease expired, but the officials of the mine did not hesitate in renewing the lease and thereby gave the leaser an opportunity of reaping the benefits of the strike which he had made. The deposit has never been a large one and it may take some little time to complete the shipment.

PRODUCTION DECREASED

Lake Copper Mines Show 25 Per Cent Decline in Output.

Heavy Snowfall Hinders Shipments and Adds to the Costs.

Houghton, Mich., Feb. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—A little rock has been moved this week from all of the mines that had sent hardly any for the ten days previous, but the weather indications gave promise the middle of the week of being better. There is a falling off of about 6,500,000 pounds, over 25 per cent, in January from the production of the month before, and this was at the mines that do not own their own railroads. Naturally the costs have risen and even the mines having their railroads will have some extra expense, as so much shoveling has had to be done and a great deal of snow has had to be hauled away. The diminution in the tonnage for the present month will equal, and if the storms have not now ceased, will exceed that of January. The production for the year up to the present time is not ahead of that for the corresponding period of 1915, in spite of the exasperating fact that the copper that was to have been produced has all been sold.

Winona has increased the pay of its employes so that it is now on a par with the other companies of the district that have given more money. The parts of the new pattern of an agitator for the Slater process, devised so that the process can be run continuously instead of by batches has pretty nearly arrived and they will be quickly set up and the machine put into operation.

Allouez has done slightly better than the other mines north of the Calumet & Hecla in getting its rock to the mill.

Superior.

Superior's management has not any intention of closing down and it is not even-discharging any men. A few men were laid off temporarily on account of the storms causing a scarcity of cars. It is, moreover, very difficult to get the cars from the Houghton-Hancock bridge down to the Centennial-Allouez mill, about eight miles. It is sinking below the twenty-fourth level at No. 1 shaft, and is drifting down along the levels in the usual manner. Although the ground at the bottom, as the new levels are being opened, have not been as good as those above, although the mineralization has not persisted towards No. 2, and although neither lode, the Superior lode, nor the west vein has any great length of mineralization along its strike, there are several years of reserves ahead, and there is no reason why the copper may not come back as good as ever and indeed far richer than before.

South Lake.

South Lake has an unusually rich disclosure in the lode, about 225 feet of heavy copper, a grade that is very uncommon here for any great length, and it is still appearing in both faces of the drifts. North lode No. 3 has just been crossed from the shaft and the grade of the rock was high, much better than when passed through on the third level. The level where the work is being done now is the next level below, the fourth. The crosscut will be driven on to the Nos. 2 and 1 lodes. The fifth level crosscut should soon arrive at No. 3 lode. The steel though somewhat delayed by the stormy weather is arriving and the Worden-Allen crew is making good progress in the erection of the rock-house.

Franklin.

Franklin will probably enter the Kearsarge lode in about a month or six weeks, as it has driven the crosscut from the Pewabic or Quincy lode, on which the shaft is located, over 4,200 feet at the rate of over 200 feet a month. For January it had three-quarters of the tonnage for December, which was the highest tonnage of any of the mines that do not own their own railroads. No rock for a week up to the 7th was hoisted, but the rock was binned in the long chute bins, and no men were laid off. As soon as the weather permits, this mine, which has a normal tonnage of over 1,000 tons daily, will begin to increase it slowly, but steadily.

Mass.

Mass has lost considerably through the storms, but it is in excellent condition physically and financially, having over 200,000 of surplus assets, cash, copper, bills receivable and supplies, the cash item being about $90,000, and the copper on hand being valued at about the same figure. Secretary-Treasurer W. A. Bancroft, who has the supervision of the mine for the Boston office and who keeps in very close touch with the work at the mine, has been making one of his tri-yearly trips of inspection to the mine.

White Pine Extension.

White Pine Extension has discovered some very rich ground on the southwest end of its property and has begun drilling again, after it had completed the work originally planned, so as to ascertain the extent of this exceedingly rich area. The cores from this tract, both those from the sandstone and shale are as rich if not richer than any it has been the writer's privilege to examine. The shaft-rockhouse frame which is of wood is all ready to be erected and will be sixty feet high. The base will be two rows of steel I beams resting on concrete piers. There is about sixteen feet of quicksand and play above the ledge which render the placing of the base quite a difficult task. The work at the shaft is awaiting a generator delayed by the great demand for this kind of machinery, as about everything here is operated by motors.

Other Explorations.

The four sections between the White Pine Extension and the Nonesuch mine to the east are owned by S. L. Smith, J. R. Stanton and T. F. Cole, who have also taken options on the southern half of sections 5, 4 and 3, lying immediately to the north. Here the formations are turned over, or in other words have reversed their dip for some distance, it being to the north instead of to the south as elsewhere, and then further on they have been turned back again. The drills, six in number, that were taken in when the work was started here are now being operated on the area of these four sections and three half sections. It is known now, therefore, that the formations which were not encountered in a part of this area will be met with to the north.

The Chicago interests headed by Nathan Leopold, and the Smith-Close interests, who together have options on a stretch of four miles southwest of the White Pine Extension, are waiting for weather conditions to improve so that two camps can be built for the drill men and three drills which have been brought in can be started in their exploration of the formations at this tract. The curve to the southwest, that began on the Extension, continues through this area following the course of the streams, which run along the lines of the least resistance, the broken and faulted ground.

New Baltic.

New Baltic has about three feet of core carrying coarse shot copper in great abundance at the depth of about 200 feet in its No. 2 hole that was drilled vertically. This was the first or hanging-wall part of a lode that has been entered for about seven feet and which is most likely the same lode passed through with considerable copper in the first hole and should be, according to the present estimates of the dip of the formations, the New Arcadian lode. The dip will not be known until No. 8 conglomerate is cut into at the depth of from 570 to 690 feet. The writer has seen this part of the core and it is remarkably rich.

New Arcadian.

New Arcadian received some coal Feb. 7 and resumed the most of its mining operations which had to be shut down, except the sinking of the shaft for about a week, as owing to the storms, coal that had been shipped from yards only a few miles away Jan. 19 had not arrived. The cutting of the loading station at the 1,250-foot level will be completed today and the crosscut to the lode will be begun Monday. It is expected that the lode will be met with about the middle of March. At the "hill" shaft, located 1,800 feet south of the first shaft, the crosscut is about one-half way to the Arcadian lode for data for determining the location of the New Arcadian lode and it seems now that there is hardly any doubt that the lode crossed near the shaft is the right one.

The meeting of the stockholders held in Houghton Feb. 9 approved the proposal of the directors of the New Baltic that the New Arcadian should sell to it the southwestern quarter of section 9 for 14,000 shares of the New Baltic and $40,000 cash. There were votes and proxies for 110,000 shares out of 150,000, the largest representation ever made at any meeting in the history of the old or new company, and all were in favor of the proposal. Only 90,000, three-fifths of the stock, was required by the Michigan law. President R. H. Shields has received many letters from stockholders congratulating him on the way in which the affairs of the two companies are being handled. He returned from Boston in time for the meeting.

Tamarack.

Tamarack has begun to sink at No. 3 or North Tamarack shaft from the twenty-third to the twenty-fourth level on its auxiliary shaft, which starts at the eighteenth level. The vertical depth of the twenty-third level is 5,341 feet. The two first Leyner-Ingersoll drills ever used at this shaft have been put to work on the twentieth level south, the longest of all the drifts on the auxiliary shaft, it being 2,209 feet long, all in very good ground and having less than 300 feet to go to arrive at No. 5.

Keweenaw.

Keweenaw has just arrived at the thirteenth level with its shaft and is now cutting the loading station there. It has now a length of about 1,800 feet of good ground at its sixth level on the foot wall side and the ground is all good with the exception of a very short distance under the Eagle River, where the formations are somewhat disturbed. The eighth level has about 650 feet opened and the rock averages very good. The tenth level will soon be over to the foot wall side in this good ground. The seventh level on the hanging wall side, the only level on this side where drifts are being driven, is developing fair rock. The adit, whose entrance is 3,200 feet from the outcrop of the lode and which has been driven from the north, is now open to the old workings, the 225 feet between the two ends having been cut through. The last cut will now be squared out and the further end completely drained out, some obstruction removed, and then the old workings will be explored. The drifts from the Phoenix shaft will now be extended under the adit, the menacing danger of the water in the tunnel having been removed.

Copper Range.

Copper Range exceeded in January its tonnage over that of December, the increase having been made at the Champion. The condition of the three mines is about the same as for some time, and the Champion and Baltic continue to give the wonderful yield, due to closer selection of the rock underground that has been made for over a year. The feature this year will be the gain that will be made by the additional copper that will accrue from the regrinding of all the tailings. As far as is known the construction costs bid fair to be light, there having been planned no expense of any great size.

Houghton.

Houghton Copper has been for a few days in poorer ground in the winze from the tenth to the twelfth level, but the showing in this winze has been quite remarkable as for the distance of 150 feet so far covered, all but about 50 feet passed through when the lode had rolled above the winze, has been in very good grades of the metal, which is a most encouraging indication for a profitable mineralization for the ground below in this lode, the Superior, in which the winze is descending. The ground on the sixth level to the south near the Superior line and to the north, where some work is being done, is only fair.

SHAFT IS NOW NEAR FIVE HUNDRED FEET

Good Progress Made in Sinking at Butte & Great Falls.

Butte, Mont., Feb. 12.—The shaft at the Butte & Great Falls is now down to a depth of 470 feet and by the end of February Manager Green expects to have the sump below the 500-foot level and the station on the 500-foot level completed and everything in readiness for the crosscutting.

It is estimated that the crosscut can be run at the rate of 200 feet per month and as there is about 400 feet of crosscutting to be done to reach the big vein it is probable that will be reached by May 1.

According to the plans of the company they hope to be shipping ore by June 1. The new electric pump for the 500-foot station has been ordered and will be here for installation by the time the station is ready on that level.

An aerial tramway to be operated by gravity from the collar of the shaft down to the ore bins that will be installed close to the Great Northern is nearing completion and there will be no delay in getting the mine into operation after the ore body has been reached and opened up.

The showing made from the churn drill sampling is most satisfactory and the indications are very flattering for the company to enter the producing lists within the next four months.

SMELTER OUTPUT 20,000,000 POUNDS

Douglas, Ariz., Feb. 12.—The combined output of copper at the Copper Queen and Calumet & Arizona smelters in Douglas amounted to approximately 20,000,000 pounds during the first month of the present year. This is an increase of about half a million pounds, credited to the Copper Queen.

There was no unusual circumstance during the month at either of the plants and the big storm did not seriously interfere with operation, though it brought discomfort to many of the men for several days, those whose duties called them from under the shelter of the buildings and sheds.

The output of the Copper Queen smelter reached 12,000,000, an increase over the output for December of half a million. This total includes the ores of the Copper Queen mines, the concentrates from the Moctezuma Copper company at Nacozari, Mex., and all custom ores received from every source.

The output of the Calumet & Arizona for January was about what it was for December, approximately 8,000,000 pounds. This output also includes the custom ores received from those properties which have their ores smelted by this plant, the Shattuck mine being the principal source of the custom ore.

MILWAUKEE MEN OPPOSE OFFER

Butte, Mont., Feb. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Butte stockholders of the Pilot-Butte Mining company are in favor of taking advantage of an offer alleged to have been made by the Anaconda company to sell the Pilot mine to that company, and have agreed on a price, but several large stockholders residing in Milwaukee are opposed to it because the price offered is $500,000 less than the Milwaukee men want for the property. The Pilot is in litigation with the Anaconda company over the principal vein upon which the Pilot had counted, and local shareholders can see nothing ahead but a waste of resources for years to come.

TRADE REVIEW

New York, Feb. 12.—Bradstreet's says:

"Another busy week, busier perhaps than ever before at this season, is indicated by reports to Bradstreet's Journal this week. Speaking in general sense, industry is sold up for months to come, scarcity of material is patent, demand is apparently insatiable, regardless of prices, and the country is confronted by an extraordinary situation.

"On the other hand, the situation in general is marked by certain drawbacks. Complaints about high prices in many lines affecting profits are growing more numerous, steel mills are confronted with the problem of how to satisfy home consumers at much lower prices than foreign business commands. Labor is restive, the year to date having been marked by many strikes, while the outlook as regards grievances of coal miners and Western railway employes is clouded, and demand for pig iron suggests more or less inertia, which causes conservatism among buyers, who seem prone to look for price concessions.

BIG LEDGE DEVELOPMENT CO.

At a meeting of the stockholders held Wednesday, February the 9th, at the company's office in the Sellwood Building, Duluth, Minn., they authorized by unanimous vote the change in the name and capitalization of the company.

As soon as the necessary formalities are gone through the name of the company will be BIG LEDGE COPPER COMPANY, five dollars par value shares. We are advised that all stockholders will be notified at the proper time for the exchange of their stock for the new stock, share for share. There are about six hundred stockholders in the company.

Considering the rapid development of this company's mines and the fact that they will, in a very short time, be regular shippers of high-grade ore, we are advising the purchase of this stock at market prices, believing that it will advance steadily on the merits of its properties.

CARMAN STOCKHOLDERS

You have until March the 9th to exchange your stock into the MARIA MINING COMPANY'S stock share for share upon payment of ten cents a share for the exchange.

The new company is capitalized for five hundred thousand dollars, while the Carman had a capitalization of seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars. The new company commences business with plenty of money in its treasury to put the Maria Mining Company upon a shipping basis in the very near future.

Officers and Directors of the old company have at last put this property in a position to demonstrate its richness and prove to the stockholders that their patience has been well rewarded.

Conditions in Sonora, Mexico, will soon permit all the mines in the Arizpe District to resume operations. We predict a rapid advance in the price of the Maria Mining Company. Watch it and see if we are correct.

REAL ESTATE NEWS

INQUIRY AND SALES GROW

Real Estate Operations Assume Brisker Air as Spring Approaches.

Important Transactions Take Place During Last Week.

Operations in real estate circles showed a material broadening out during the week. Good inquiry appeared for all classes of property and progress was reported in negotiations in connection with some large prospective deals.

A feature of the week was the sale by the New Duluth Land company of all the residential properties included in its townsite, extending from east of Commonwealth avenue, to the Alliance Real Estate company and McBean, Nesbitt & Co. Several hundred lots were included in the transaction, which involved a large consideration. The New Duluth Land company retains all its business properties and industrial sites, the latter including some valuable locations fronting on the river.

It is the intention of the purchasers to inaugurate extended selling campaigns as soon as the spring opens. Both of these offices have made substantial successes in promotions during the past two years, and they are sanguine of scoring still heavier in their new venture. The Alliance Real Estate company came through successfully in its venture at Exeter Farms, and McBean, Nesbitt & Co., cleaned up in their Crosley Park promotion, brought out late last fall.

The sale by the West Duluth Land company to the Hugo Manufacturing company of a three-acre manufacturing site at Forty-ninth avenue west and Halifax street, was another interesting event of the week. The transaction was closed up through the Field-Frey company. The purchaser has arranged to proceed shortly with the erection of a two-story factory on the site, the first unit of which will involve an outlay of $30,000.

The Richardson, Day & Cheadle company sold a high-class residential site at Eighteenth avenue east and Seventh street to J. W. Smith at a consideration of $1,500. It is understood that it will be built upon this spring. That office also sold a lot on Fifth avenue west to the Northern Hardware company at $350, and to P. Strong, a five-acre tract on the Pike Lake road.

* * *

It is announced by the Richardson, Day & Cheadle company that its Norton's Fairmont Park addition sale will be opened on Feb. 29. Application has been made for the extension of the water and gas mains along Grand avenue and also for the running of laterals from Grand avenue up several of the avenues in the addition as far as the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific railway tracks. It is expected that work on these water and gas extensions will have been started by the date of the opening sale. Good advance inquiry is reported to have been received for lots in the addition. Some of the prospective purchasers propose to build houses for lease or sale to workers at the steel plant. It is announced that the lots will be sold on easy terms of payments, 10 per cent cash and 2 per cent monthly installments. Through a special arrangement each abstract of title furnished will have the lot designated definitely marked upon it.

The Hoopes-Kohagen company sold a fifty-foot lot at Michigan street and Twenty-fifth avenue west, to Carl Symon at a consideration of $3,300. The buyer is arranging to erect a flat building upon the property. That office also sold two lots on Minnesota Point and a four-acre tract at Rice Lake.

* * *

A. W. Taussig & Co. sold to W. H. Foreman, a house and lot at Bristol street and Sixty-seventh avenue west at $3,800, and to R. L. Clemens. A house and lot at Twenty-seventh avenue west and Sixth street at $3,000. A Central Acres lot was also sold to H. E. Peterson.

The N. J. Upham company sold for W. H. Burroughs to P. Schroeder, a house and lot on Thirteenth avenue east at $3,700. Two building lots in Waverly Park were also sold.

* * *

The Gary Land company sold a block of ten lots to an outside syndicate which proposes to build upon them this season. Other Gary sales were also effected to individual buyers.

NATIONAL BUILDING IS EXPECTED TO SHOW 49 PER CENT INCREASE

National building statistics for January when finally available probably will show a gain in estimated value of at least 49 per cent over January, 1915, according to The Journal of Commerce. The demand for building materials as reported in eighteen of the most important cities in the country in January is in excess of the 1915 January movement.

The tonnage of these materials moving on railroads was 31.5 per cent over that reported for January of last year up to and including the 25th.

The specific instances most directly influencing the New York market are indicated by movements of cement. The cement shipments moving to New York city in the third quarter of 1915 showed a 9 per cent increase over the shipments in the quarter preceding out of the Lehigh district alone. In the fourth quarter this gain jumped to 102.9 per cent. The difference in barrels was 33,000,000, as against 16,000,000 in the third quarter.

In the first quarter of last year there was a decrease in production of 14 per cent. In the second quarter there was a shortage of 5.9 per cent. In the third quarter there was a gain of 7.6 per cent and in the fourth quarter there was a jump in volume to 51.6 per cent. In the fourth quarter of 1914 about 114,000,000 barrels were produced and in the same quarter in 1915 the volume jumped to 173,000,000. The total for the year 1914 was 692,000,000, as against 656,000,000 barrels in 1915.

Common brick is another commodity that reflects the improvement in prospective building. From Jan. 1 to Jan. 28, 1914, there had been sold in the New York market 8,400,000 common brick from the wholesale Hudson River market. In the same period this year 20,650,000 common brick had been sold. One year ago the price was $5.75 to $6.25 per 1,000. During January of this year the price has been $8.50 to $9.50, with one point at $10 per 1,000. One year ago the plan filings of the four weeks in January totaled 526 new buildings, costing $11,616,184.

This year January shows 979 new buildings projected, at a cost of $9,665,421. There is here shown a great improvement in volume and a falling off in estimated value. The gain in value last year was accredited to two $1,000,000 operations for Manhattan. The remarkable gain in volume, however, shows how widespread the present building movement is.

LOSSES OF MILLIONS DUE TO CARELESSNESS

Last year $4,722,925 worth of property was destroyed by fire in Minnesota, according to the report of the state fire marshal, Robert W. Hargadine.

He contends that reports and investigations in his department show that three-fourths of this enormous loss is attributable to carelessness. He therefore asks the co-operation of officers of civic, commercial and other organizations towards educating the public up to the idea of being careful regarding fires. He points out that with its limited resources, his department cannot fight careless conditions single-handed.

MANY HOUSES ARE PLANNED

Large Business and Residence Projects Will Soon Be Announced.

Contract Let for Stack Brothers' Building to Cost $50,000.

Architects are engaged upon plans for several houses in the newer residential districts. Some projects involving extensions of industrial plants are also expected to be announced shortly, and the erection of some more business buildings in the West end and West Duluth are in view. Taken on the whole, the building trade interests are lookinf forward to the coming season being the most satisfactory in years.

The feature of the week was the letting of contracts for the Stack Brothers building at Superior street and Twenty-first avenue west. The general contract was awarded to George H. Lounsberry & Co., and the Thomson & Williams company obtained the contract for the tile and marble work. The foundation for the building is now in, and work upon the superstructure will be started at once. It will be 60x140 feet, two stories in height, but the foundation is sufficient to carry a three-story structure. It will be richly finished, with halls and corridors of tile and marble and the entrance and stairway of marble. The structure is estimated to cost $50,000. Holstead & Sullivan are the architects.

Kelly & Williams, architects, are engaged upon plans for the first unit of the new factory of the Hugo Manufacturing company to be built at Forty-ninth avenue west and Halifax street, at an estimated cost of $30,000. They will be ready to go out to contractors for figures shortly.

* * *

The hardware contract for the new G. H. Spencer home at Congdon park has been awarded to the Kelley Hardware company. F. W. Perkins is the architect.

* * *

The plans for the boys' Y. M. C. A. building at Lake avenue and Second street are expected to be ready to go out for figures in about ten days from the office of F. G. German, architect.

* * *

Work on the Gowan-Lenning-Brown company's warehouse on Lake avenue south is progressing rapidly and it is expected to be ready for occupancy by March 15. The entire entrance hall and stairway is being finished in marble by the Thomson & Williams company.

* * *

Despite the unfavorable weather, the excavation of the foundations for the Bloom & Co. and the Hugh McLearn buildings on First street, and the Pearson hotel on Superior street west, the contracts for which were let recently, is progressing.

* * *

Plans for a large apartment building at Fargo, N. D., and for an addition to the hospital for the insane at St. Peter, Minn., have been filed to be figured upon by contractors at the Duluth Builders' exchange.

John R. Nelson is building a $4,000 home on Woodland avenue, between Twentieth and Twenty-first avenues east, and A. L. Arntson has taken out a permit for a home on East Eighth street, between Tenth and Eleventh avenues east, to cost $4,000.

* * *

The Thomson & Williams company reports many inquiries and good sales of Cabot's insulating quilt to be used in many homes and buildings now in course of erection in the city.

* * *

Building permits for the week follow:

To Hannah Ness, addition to dwelling on the east side of One Hundred and Second avenue west, between McGonagle and Gary streets...	$ 75

DULUTH LEADS IN BUILDING INCREASE

The American contractors resume of building statistics from 110 large cities from January compared with the same month last year shows gains in sixty-five cities. Following are figures from Minnesota cities and Superior:

	Jan. '16	Jan. '15	Per Cent Gain	Per Cent Loss
Duluth	$113,733	$90,155	26	..

REMOVAL OF ICE AND SNOW COSTLY

City Spent $6,287 During the Month of January.

During January the city spent a total of $6,287.53 for the removal of snow and ice and the sanding of sidewalks, according to the monthly report of the works division, completed yesterday by O. B. Thayer, chief accountant of the department.

Of this sum, $5,603.84 was spent for the removal of ice and snow and $684.69 for sanding sidewalks. Nearly 200 men were kept busy for two weeks during the heavy snow storms, while a smaller crew was employed throughout the month.

There was an excess of $359.42 in expenses over the revenues of the month, the surplus in the general account being $33,391.16.

WON'T DROP "PARK" IN NAME OF SCHOOL

The board of education has had as much trouble naming the school building to be erected at the steel plant model city this summer as a young couple naming their first-born.

A month ago, upon motion of Mrs. T. J. Davis, chairman of the school committee, it was named "the Morgan school."

"Drop the 'park' part," she said. "That will make it shorter and easier."

"Who are you naming it after?" queried Director W. B. Getchell, chairman of the buildings and grounds committee, last night, when he heard read a formal motion to make the name "Morgan school."

"Mr. Morgan," said Mrs. Davis with a smile.

"The late J. P. Morgan or J. P. Morgan, Jr.?" again asked Mr. Getchell.

"The late Mr. Morgan," replied Mrs. Davis.

"I move that it be named the Morgan Park school," said Director H. J. Grannis.

The motion was carried, Mrs. Davis voting no with emphasis.

Directors agreed to hold a special meeting Feb. 26 at 1 p. m., when bids for the construction of the building are to be opened. Clyde M. Kelley of the firm of Kelley & Williams, architects, presented finished plans last night, and the building committee was authorized to advertise for bids.

Work will be rushed to complete the building by Sept. 15, or as soon thereafter as possible.

GETTING BACK TO NORMAL

Increase in Building Material Prices Was to Be Expected.

Though advancing markets have been the rule in building materials during the last few months, it is pointed out by Duluth architects that prices are just getting back to normal with some lines still selling at substantially below their basis of two or three years ago.

Common brick for example, is still quoted at just the same price as last season at around $8 per thousand, and lumber quotations are still below where they were two years ago.

Plate and window glass was selling almost below the cost of production for a time last season owing to an over-supply in the hands of dealers brought about through the demoralization following the outbreak of the European war, according to a Duluth building materials supply house. Within the last six months however, the glass trade has gotten back upon a stable basis, quotations having been advanced to about where they stood two years ago.

In the opinion of local dealers, building materials quotations are as low now as they are likely to be for some years. It is predicted that the rebuilding of the towns and cities laid waste in the countries affected by the European war will lead to a general scarcity and high prices for many materials. It is in consequence regarded as certain that building work undertaken during the present season is likely to be at lower cost, insofar as materials go, than on projects proceeded with later on.

The advice of Duluth architects and contractors to persons contemplating the erection of homes therefore is to go ahead now while costs are at practically a normal basis.

TWO HUNDRED HAVE MEASLES

Epidemic Greatly Cuts Down Attendance at Public Schools.

Extra Nurse Authorized; Health Officials Work Overtime.

Two hundred cases of measles among school children have been reported from the Jefferson, Jackson and Munger public schools, Dr. J. H. Andres, school physician, reported to the board of education last night.

"We are having a great deal of trouble with measles," he said. "The disease is spreading over the city, and in order to prevent a further spread, we are excluding all children from families affected."

Supt. R. E. Denfeld said that Dr. Andres and the staff of visiting nurses had been working overtime recently in their efforts to check the spread of the disease, which was making serious inroads into the school attendance.

A few minutes later, upon motion of Mrs. T. J. Davis, chairman of the committee on schools, a resolution was adopted empowering the committee to employ an extra nurse during the present epidemic, and to employ a special nurse at any time during an epidemic or emergency in the future.

PLANS TO GIVE DULUTH BREADTH AS WELL AS LENGTH CREATE MUCH INTEREST AMONG THE OWNERS OF HILLSIDE PROPERTY

ROUTE OF PROPOSED ARTERIAL HIGHWAY.

Wide areas of property within easy reach of the central business districts of the city, at present practically inaccessible, will be made available for home building, if plans for the laying out of a system of arterial highways, which it is hoped will ultimately be routes for street railway lines, as proposed by the Duluth Real Estate exchange is carried through.

The desirability of giving Duluth breadth as well as length and throwing open for city development the large stretches of level tracts just over the hillside has always been fully appreciated by business men, but the cost involved, owing to the difficult topography of the city's environments in that direction, has up to the present interposed a bar.

N. J. Upham is credited with formulating a plan that was indorsed by the members of the real estate exchange, and is now before the city commissioners for consideration. It is regarded as entirely feasible.

A project involving the laying of street car tracks up Mesaba avenue to Seventh street would, it is estimated, bring in a present non-productive area within a few blocks of the central business district, sufficient in extent to house a large population. The route of the proposed trackage is as follows: Starting at Third avenue west and Second street, turn west on Second street to Fourth avenue west; thence along it to Third street; thence west on Third street to Mesaba avenue, then up Mesaba avenue to Fourth street, where the Fourth street line would be connected with, making it a through line instead of a stub, as at present. The route would then continue along Mesaba avenue to Lake avenue and Seventh street. From there extensions could be laid east and west on Seventh street, and on up Mesaba avenue to connect with the Swan Lake and Rice Lake roads.

It is pointed out that in this plan, it would be necessary to reduce the grade at the intersection of Third street and Mesaba avenue, and to acquire some private property at Fourth street and Mesaba avenue, also to Lake avenue below Seventh street, and to rearrange the roadway at Cascade square.

Cost Would Be $70,000.

Engineers who have gone over this route estimate that the gradient at any point would not exceed that on Third avenue west between First and Second streets. The cost of reducing grades and acquiring properties at the points mentioned is placed at $70,000.

That properties within the radius of this proposed street car extension would be enormously increased in value is conceded, taking the record set by realties along the Ninth street car line extension as an example. Values of properties along that route have doubled and trebled within the comparatively short period since the opening of the line, and it is thought that experience would be repeated in the cases of any other arterial car line projects carried through.

It is suggested by members of the real estate exchange that the cost of opening the proposed Mesaba avenue line be assessed against properties within the area that would be directly benefited. Experts consider that such assessment would not exceed $10 and $15 a lot, and in view of the increment in values certain to follow, it is felt that such an assessment could not be considered burdensome by property holders.

In the way of arterial railways, two other projects are mooted by Mr. Upham. One is an extension of the Ninth street car line from its present terminus. It is suggested that it might be run along Ninth street to Tenth avenue east; thence on Tenth avenue east to Eleventh avenue, and then after condemning about three hundred feet of property, the line would strike the Boulevard at the Farrell road. This would make another through line to the top of the hill.

The extension of the present Piedmont avenue line is another project that it is thought would confer a great benefit to the West end. The Piedmont line now stops at Tenth street and Piedmont avenue, it having been found impossible to go higher there on account of the grade. It is figured out that by changing the route to go through the Brookdale division and taking over some private property the West end hillside would be made easily accessible.

In connection with the Ninth street arterial line attention is drawn by Richardson, Day & Cheadle to the fact that the plan of their Chambers division was changed and that it was opened six years ago at the request of city officials in order that a feasible route for a street car extension might be afforded through it.

A MODERN HOME WITH ORIGINAL TREATMENT OF EXTERIOR

This is an excellent type of small family house in plan as well as in exterior treatment. The question of the materials to be used for the exterior of a house is dependent upon the local materials at hand and on the surroundings. Perfect harmony with the setting gives the impression of the house having grown out of the soil. Judicious planting of shrubs and the proper placing of the house among the trees contributes greatly to this end. The sun porch is connected by French windows to the large and open living room, making a cool and inviting interior arrangement. Three bedrooms and bath on second floor. In this type of plan every room has good cross ventilation by having windows on both sides of the rooms. Cost $4,000 complete.

BREAD SOLD FROM COAST TO COAST

Scandinavian Bakery Has Wide Demand for Its Products.

Markets of New York on the East and San Francisco on the west are reached by products of the Scandinavian bakery, 2205-7 West First street. The company has been selling to markets outside of Minnesota for several years, and recently its products have reached the markets of the farthest corners of the United States.

E. Bjerlin, proprietor of the Scandinavian Bakery, is one of the pioneers in the industry in this city. He opened one of the first bakeries in the West end, locating on Garfield avenue in 1884. Nine years ago he had constructed the present handsome quarters of the concern.

The Scandinavian bakery was one of the first concerns in the city to adopt the new method of wrapping and sanitary handling of its food products. Its "Mama" bread, which is its present leader, is now being sold in wax wrapping paper and reaches not only the markets of Duluth, but also those of the surrounding country.

Another of its leaders is the Swedish rye bread, which is popular with the Scandinavian people. For several years the concern had been reaching the outside markets with its toasts and hard tack, which has become one of the leading staples handled throughout the country.

The concern is now giving work to about twenty-five employes steadily. Enlargements of the present bakery are being considered seriously by the owner.

SCHOOLS WILL HELP PAVING

Board of Education Won't Take Advantage of Court's Decision.

Test Petition Presented But School Officials Refuse to Sign.

The 1916 paving schedule of the public works division will not be held up by refusal of the board of education to pay assessments on school property.

In order to test the board's attitude on this question, Commissioner Farrell, through George Jensen of the West End Commercial club, yesterday presented a petition asking for the improvement of West First street, between Twentieth and Thirtieth avenues west, with a request that it be signed by the board.

Although they refused to sign the petition, arguing that they did not know whether a recent district court decision gave them a right to do so, or not, directors intimated that they they would be willing to pay assessments for paving past any school building.

When the district court, in a test case, held recently that the school board would not have to pave assessments unless they desired, Commissioner Farrell said unfavorable action on the part of the board would knock out all pavements to be laid past schools.

Dr. L. Q. Greeley precipitated a warm discussion, after Clerk C. A. Bronson read the petition, when he made a motion that the board sign it. The paving in question would pass the Monroe school.

Getchell Objects.

"There is no reason on earth why we should take such action," declared Director W. B. Getchell. "It is the last thing that we should do. We don't know whether we have a right to sign the petition or not."

"I agree with you," said Director H. J. Grannis. "It would be binding ourselves morally to pay our share of the assessments, when we don't know whether we have the right."

"Three paving jobs are up now," continued Director Getchell. "We have signed petitions for work past the Bryant and Denfeld schools, but this is a different matter."

"There is no use of borrowing trouble," said Director J. R. McGiffert, acting president in the absence of F. A. Brewer.

"I favor paying for it, but I don't believe in signing a petition," added Director Getchell.

"If the board is against this improvement," Mr. Jensen said, "it will be extremely difficult to install pavements past any school. We have presented this petition merely to test the board's attitude and Commissioner Farrell is waiting for an expression from this body."

The petition was tabled.

"Have a Heart!"

TEACHER GIVEN LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Edward F. Geiger, director of manual training and domestic science work in city schools, last night petitioned directors of the board of education for a year's leave of absence.

He has been a prominent member of the city schools faculty for a number of years and the manual training department, under his direction, has been improved until it ranks with any in the Northwest. He gave no intimation as to the reason for his request. The leave was granted.

William Noyes of the teachers' college, Columbia university, is being considered as Mr. Geiger's successor, at a salary of $2,600 a year. Mr. Noyes is prominent throughout the country for his work along these lines. Mrs. T. J. Davis, chairman of the board's school committee, said.

Mr. Noyes has had thirteen years' experience in the wood and metal shops of the teachers' college and five years' work in public schools, having been at Columbus, Ga., and Montclair, N. J. He also was head of social settlement work for the Ethical Culture society of Chicago.

OUTLOOK FOR TRAFFIC GOOD

Officials Here for Banquet Are Extremely Optimistic.

George H. MacRae, general passenger agent of the Omaha system; C. L. Hill, general traveling agent of the Soo Line, and A. J. Dickinson, assistant general passenger agent of the Great Northern railway, are here today to be present at the banquet to be tendered the general passenger agents of all lines entering Duluth by the Duluth Passenger and Ticket Mens' association.

"We look for a great year of passenger business," said Mr. MacRae "Every indication points to it. We have no complaint regarding the business we are doing right now. Snow is holding up train service and we are apprehensive of what is yet to come during the next month. It is very expensive to buck this snow, you know.

"Business conditions always affect passenger travel. Right now we find conditions very favorable indeed, consequently passenger travel seems very good. While the war in Europe continues the see-our-country-first" idea should receive a very practical application."

C. C. Hill of the Soo line was equally as optimistic as Mr. MacRae concerning the general outlook for Western passenger business.

"When you find good passenger business you will generally find good conditions throughout the business world," said he. "The railroad business is generally a sign of the times. We surely have no complaint to make on the volume of passenger business we are doing. The California and Florida business has been great. It looks as if the Western lines are going to carry a lot of persons this summer."

A. J. Dickinson, assistant general passenger agent of the Great Northern, declared Western railroads should do a large volume of business during the present year.

"Crops will have a large effect on travel," said he. "If the crop prospect is good, we look for a very great year. Right now passenger business is very good."

The banquet of this evening will be the most pretentious effort of the Duluth passenger men. A passenger representative of every road entering Duluth is expected to be present. A number of short talks will be given by the visiting passenger men. The banquet will be held in the grill room of the Spalding.

CITY WILL BUY RIGHT-OF-WAY

When the city laid out a boulevard a year ago adjoining the Oneota cemetery it trespassed on private property.

As a result the commissioners, at a special meeting yesterday afternoon, accepted the offer of B. N. Wheeler, trustee for the Wheeler estate, to sell blocks 1, 2, 3, 4, 7, 8 and 9, in section A, Oneota cemetery, the property used by the city in making the boulevard extension for a total of $300. This amounts to about $12.50 a lot, the price charged for adjoining property sold recently to the cemetery officials, according to a communication received by the city clerk.

A resolution accepting the offer was introduced by Mayor Prince, who also presented an ordinance appropriating the money from the park fund.

Park Manager Cleveland laid out the boulevard after he had obtained permission from officers of the cemetery association, not knowing that the city was trespassing on private property at the time. He was of the opinion that the cemetery owned the land, according to a report he made to Mayor Prince.

When Mr. Wheeler sold thirty-two lots to the cemetery board recently the discovery was made that the city had acquired seven of the lots in laying out the boulevard extension.

WILL SPEND $30,000 SPRINKLING STREETS

Ordinances appropriating $20,000 for sprinkling Duluth streets and alleys during 1916 and $10,420 for oiling streets and boulevards next summer were introduced by Commissioner Farrell at the special meeting of the city council yesterday afternoon.

Although the meeting was called for the purpose of authorizing the transfer of the city's share in the work farm to the county and for the formal signing of the contract in connection with the purchase of the city hall site, the new measures were given their first reading, while several ordinances were advanced by City Clerk Borgen. Mayor Prince introduced the resolution accepting the offer of the county, agreeing to the sale price of approximately $208,000 for the site, and Commissioner Voss introduced the ordinance disposing of the city's share in the work farm for $33,500.

The ordinances making the following appropriations were passed by the commissioners: $6,400 for motor truck; $3,100, east iron curb boxes and water fittings; $3,000, gas and water valves; $194, diaphram pump, and $144, Underwood typewriter.

The ordinances making the appropriations for water sprinkling and oiling of streets will come up for second reading next Monday afternoon. In addition, Commissioner Farrell will introduce a resolution awarding the contract to the Standard Oil company for furnishing the city with approximately 200,000 gallons of road oil on its offer of 5.21 cents a gallon.

FRIENDLY SUIT TO RECOVER LOTS

A friendly suit has been brought against the board of education by Anna Smith, Sarah A. Smith and William G. Smith to recover possession of lots comprising the site of the old Harriett Beecher Stowe school in New Duluth.

C. Francis Colman, chairman of the finance committee, was served with a summons and complaint recently, and the notice was turned over to the board at last night's meeting in Central high school building.

The land was given for "school purposes only," directors explained, and since the erection of the new Stowe building, the old site, including lots 14-15-16, block 8, Smith's addition to New Duluth, could not be classified in that way.

"I do not believe the action will be contested," said Director H. J. Grannis.

WALTER J. SMITH PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO THREE CHARGES OF GRAND LARCENY

PLANS HAVE BEEN MADE FOR BONDS

His Mental and Physical Condition Still Considered Bad.

Pickit Enters Plea of Not Guilty to Forgery Charges.

Gooding Arrives to Assume Duties of the State Treasurer.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Walter J. Smith, who came down from the Mesaba range only six years ago and became treasurer of the state of Minnesota, this afternoon pleaded "not guilty" in Ramsey county district court to three indictments charging him with larceny of state school funds.

Mr. Smith did not journey to St. Paul to face the indictments because he was well enough to do so, but rather because it was thought that with this first ordeal over with, his mental and physical recovery might be expedited.

Last night was a restless night for him, it was said.

Shortly after 1 p. m. today an automobile drew up in front of the sanatorium, and a few minutes later Mr. Smith came out, supported on the arm of Col. G. F. Cardoff, manager of the sanatorium and personal friend of many years' standing. Behind these two walked R. J. Clarke, Ramsey deputy sheriff, and Dr. J. M. Fox, his attending physician.

Arranged in Advance.

The four entered the machine and

SECRETARY OF WAR NOT YET SELECTED

President Has Not Decided on Successor to Lindley M. Garrison.

Washington, Feb. 14.—President Wilson reached no decision on whom to appoint secretary of war while he was on his week-end trip down the Potomac and a successor to Former Secretary Garrison may not be announced for several days.

With his return today from a week-end trip on the Mayflower, President Wilson was ready to begin a series of conferences with congressional leaders over the appointment of a secretary of war, national defense plans and other pending legislation.

The president had engagements today to see congressional delegations with candidates for secretary of war and others who were to suggest men for the assistant secretaryship. It is generally expected, however, that the new secretary will name his own assistant.

The Mayflower with President and Mrs. Wilson aboard arrived at the navy yard at 6 a. m. today. They did not leave the yacht for the White House until shortly before 8 o'clock.

The president's yacht had a rough voyage home during which no one left the cabins and it was said some of the members of the party were seasick.

ROCHESTER BANKER APPOINTED TREASURER TO SUCCEED SMITH

ARTHUR C. GOODING.

WOULD OUST CANDIDATES

Suit to Remove Eleven Cummins Candidates From Ballot.

Charge Made That They Did Not File in Good Faith.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Proceedings were initiated in the state supreme court today to oust from the presidential preference primary ballot ten Cummins candidates for delegates-at-large and one Tenth congressional district Cummins candidate.

H. J. West, St. Paul, attorney, describing himself as a "voter," initiated the action, but it is understood that I. A. Caswell, clerk of the supreme court and manager of the Cummins campaign in Minnesota, is the actual instigator.

The petition to the court recites that these ten candidates for delegate-at-large and the one candidate for delegate from the Tenth district did not file in good faith. Further the

AUSTRIA'S WARNING REACHES WASHINGTON

Washington, Feb. 14.—Austria's formal notification of her intention to sink without warning armed merchant ships after March 1 was received today by the state department. It is substantially the same as that received from Germany.

Secretary Lansing said no decision had been reached on the attitude of the United States. He had read the German memorandum carefully, he said, and found it agreed with the published description contained in recent news dispatches from Berlin.

AVIATORS DROP BOMBS ON THE FAMOUS CITY OF MILAN, ITALY; SIX KILLED; SEVERAL INJURED

DAMAGE TO BUILDINGS IS NOT HEAVY

Several Aeroplanes Take Part in Raid at 9 in the Forenoon.

Anti-Aircraft Guns Open Heavy Attack and Raiders Disappear.

London, Feb. 14.—A Reuter dispatch from Milan says six persons were killed and several injured by bombs dropped from aeroplanes which appeared over the city this morning.

The dispatch says several aeroplanes took part in the raid, which was made at 9 a. m. Anti-aircraft guns opened a heavy fusillade and the aeroplanes disappeared after dropping bombs. The material damage was small. The casualties were all among civilians.

Milan is in Northern Italy, south of the Swiss border and seventy miles west of the Austrian line. There have been a number of aeroplane raids during the war over Venice, Ancona and other points along the east coast, such as the one reported yesterday which caused the death of fifteen persons, but aerial attacks heretofore have not been made on points as far in the interior as Milan. Milan is the second largest city of Italy, with a population of about 500,000. It has some of the finest churches of Europe, including the celebrated Cathedral Mariae Nascenti. Its galleries contain many valuable works of art.

PRESIDENT CONSENTS TO USE OF HIS NAME FOR RENOMINATION

Writes Letter to Secretary of State of Ohio to That Effect.

First Time He Has Consented Formally to Be a Candidate.

Makes It Plain He Is Unwilling to Enter Any Contest.

Washington, Feb. 14.—President Wilson today formally gave his consent that his name be used as a candidate for renomination.

In a letter to the secretary of state of Ohio, the president stated that he was unwilling to enter a contest for the nomination, but was ready to permit the use of his name in the coming primary in order that the Democrats of Ohio might make known their preference.

The president made known his position in order to comply with the Ohio primary law, which requires candidates

LOSS OF THE AMIRAL CHARNER CONFIRMED BY PARIS MINISTRY

Raft Bearing One Live Sailor and Fourteen Bodies From Ship Picked Up at Sea.

Ten Men Lost From Arethusa, New Cruiser Built in 1914, Commanded By Admiral Tyrwhitt.

London, Feb. 14, 4:19 p. m.—The British cruiser Arethusa struck a mine today off the east coast of England, according to a statement issued by the British official press bureau. It is feared, the statement adds, the vessel will be a total wreck. About ten men were lost in the sinking of the cruiser.

The text of the official statement says:

"His majesty's ship Arethusa, Commodore Reginald Y. Tyrwhitt, has struck a mine off the east coast. It is feared she will become a total wreck. About ten men were lost."

The Arethusa was a light cruiser displacing 3,600 tons. She was 410 feet long, 39 feet beam and had a mean draft of 14 feet. The vessel was built at Chatham in 1913-14.

The cruiser was armed with two 6-inch guns fore and aft and six 4-inch guns on the broadside. She also was equipped with four 21-inch torpedo tubes.

LOSS OF AMIRAL CHARNER CONFIRMED.

Paris, Feb. 14, 2:01 p. m.—Reports of the loss of the French cruiser Amiral Charner, which was reported to have been sunk by a submarine, which was patrolling the Syrian coast were confirmed.

According to information received at the French ministry of marine a raft bearing one live sailor and the bodies of fourteen of his companions had been picked up off the coast of Syria.

The rescued man said the Amiral Charner was sunk on the morning of Feb. 8. He declared there was no time to use the lifeboats.

An official statement given out by the French ministry of marine yesterday said that no news had been received from the cruiser Admiral Charner since Feb 8, when, according to a German telegram a submarine had sunk "a French warship." ....

The Admiral Charner, under normal conditions, carried a crew of 370. She was 347 feet long, 46 feet beam and displaced 4,260 tons. She was armed with two 7.4-inch guns in turrets forward and aft, six 5-inch guns, four 9-pounders, four 3-pounders, six 1-pounders and four torpedo tubes. She was laid down in 1889.

HADLEY TO WITHDRAW FROM MISSOURI RACE

Former Governor Will Give Up Aspirations for Senate, Is Report.

Kansas City, Feb. 14.—Two important Republican meetings here today caused a gathering from every county of the state.

First of the meetings was the business session of the association of young Republicans. Following this was to be a meeting of the Republican Editorial association and tonight the annual Lincoln dinner of the young Republicans is to be held.

Authoritative but unofficial confirmation of reports that Herbert S. Hadley would withdraw from the race for the nomination for United States senator was given early in the day by friends who had received letters from the former governor saying his health would not permit him to make the campaign.

Strikers Return to Work.

Boston, Feb. 14.—Twelve hundred of the 1,500 garment workers here who were on strike last week, returned to work today. Strike leaders said their demands had been granted.

LINDBERGH IS READY TO ACT

Will Ask Repeal of Indian Treaty Lid If People So Desire.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, Feb. 14.—In a letter to John A. Hoffbauer of Brainerd, Representative Charles A. Lindbergh indicates that he will introduce a bill for the repeal of the Chippewa treaty of 1855 if the people of his district say they want it.

"I do not know that congress would act," Mr. Lindbergh says, "but if it appears that a majority of the people in the district affected lying within the Sixth congressional district favor the repeal of the 1855 treaty, I consider it my duty to present a bill to

MOTHER OF DEAD GIRL ASKS YOUNG STUDENT'S RELEASE

Appeals to States Attorney in Behalf of William Orpet.

Father Also Joins in Request; Have Doubt of Guilt.

Chicago, Feb. 14.—The mother of Marian Lambert, the Lake Forest high school girl found dead in the woods near the suburb last Thursday, has appealed to State's Attorney Ralph Dady of Lake county to release William H. Orpet, the University of Wisconsin junior held at Waukegan on a charge of murder. Frank Lambert, father of the girl, assented to the plea of his wife. The Lamberts told the state's attorney they had doubt of the guilt of young Orpet and they had no desire to be vindictive toward the young man.

State's Attorney Dady was willing to admit today that unless he can prove that Orpet gave his former sweetheart poison he cannot convict the student of murder. Although the nature of the poison which caused the girl's death has been determined by a partial analysis of the stomach, the officers are at a loss to account for the container. Sheriff Griffin said his

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

Activity on the major war fronts is confined mainly to Northern France, the intensity of the battling being most pronounced in the Artois district, where the Germans claim to have made notable gains recently.

In the Balkans the entente forces are reported extending their positions around Saloniki, concentrating troops as far forward as the Bulgarian frontier. In Albania the situation continues mixed. Bulgarian troops are said to have advanced in the south as far as Fieri, sixteen miles from Avlona, while an Austrian column recently was reported at Tirana, about twenty miles west of Durazzo.

The Italians have been in force at Avlona and seem to have also a considerable body of troops opposing the Austrians in the Durazzo sector.

Reports from Athens credit the Turkish government with the intention strongly to reinforce its armies in Mesopotamia, where the British on the Tigris are struggling to push their way to Kut-el-Amara and the relief of their beleaguered little army there. Turks in formidable numbers, it is said, are being sent to the Mesopotamian war theater, some from the Dardanelles and some from Thrace.

Recent Turkish official accounts have indicated no important change in the situation near Kut, but the latest one contained a report that "insurgents" probably irregular Arabs were active along the British lines of communication.

Military observers in Petrograd and elsewhere have pointed out that there were possibilities of the Russian operations in the Caucasus and in Persia being linked up eventually with those of the British along the Tigris. Whether this possibility or other reasons have caused the increase in Turkish attention to the Mesopotamian field has not developed.

All single men of military age in Great Britain, who have not been exempted under the military service act were called to the colors by an official proclamation issued today.

It is unofficially stated that the next British vote of credit, soon to be introduced in parliament, will be for £250,000,000, making the total war credits £1,912,000,000.

men searched every section of the woods where the body was found and had visited every drug store in Madison and in towns along the lake shore from Waukegan to Evanston. Pictures of Orpet were shown, but no evidence was found that he had purchased poison.

Romance Traced in Letters.

In the sixty letters which passed between the girl and Orpet—thirty-five written by him and twenty-five by her—the romance of the two has been traced from its inception to the time of the tragedy. The missives show, the officers say, that alarm was felt about the girl's condition as early as last September, but the crisis passed and their fears were allayed until recently.

Word received from De Kalb, where Miss Celestia Youker, fiancee of Orpet, lies ill with valvular heart trouble, was to the effect that the young woman is somewhat better and was inquiring why she had not heard from Orpet. Miss Youker, a teacher in the normal school at De Kalb, has not been informed of the plight of the student.

The inquest on the body of Miss Lambert, it is expected, will be resumed on Wednesday. By that time it is believed the analysis of the organs will have been completed.

for delegates to the party conventions to make known their first and second choices before Feb. 25, and also requires that the candidates for delegates have the consent of their choices to make use of their names.

The president was formally notified of the requirements of the law last week and today he wrote Charles Q. Hildebrant, secretary of state of Ohio, as follows:

"I am inclosing to you a letter, the occasion of which I dare say will be quite obvious. Friends in Ohio have called my attention to section 4854 of the General Code of Ohio as amended in 1914 with regard to primary elections and have requested that I indicate my willingness to have my name used.

"I accordingly take the liberty of sending you the inclosed letter as formal permission under the statute."

To Permit Use of Name.

The letter the president inclosed was as follows:

"While I am entirely unwilling to enter into any contest for the presidential nomination of the Democratic party, I am willing to permit the use of my name that the Democrats in Ohio may make known their preference in regard to that nomination.

"In order, therefore, to satisfy the technical requirements of the statutes of the state of Ohio, I hereby consent to the use of my name as a candidate for the presidency by any candidate who seeks to be elected a delegate to the national Democratic convention, which is to assemble in June next."

This was the first time the president has consented formally to have his name used in connection with the nomination. His name has been placed on primary ballots in several states, however, through the activities of friends.

The president takes the position that the voters will have to determine whether he will make the race for the presidency in 1916 as the Democratic candidate. In a letter written to A. Mitchell Palmer, then a representative from Pennsylvania, before his inauguration, Mr. Wilson made it plain that he would only be a candidate again if the Democratic voters desired it.

Political advisers and friends of the president have taken for granted for months that he would be the nominee of his party and have made their plans accordingly. The national Democratic committee has prepared all the campaign material with the idea that he would be the party candidate.

The formal announcement today is expected by Democratic leaders to clarify the political situation throughout the country. Supporters of the president, they said today, now would be able to work for him more openly.

MUNITIONS PLANT AT SCHENECTADY BURNED

Schenectady, N. Y., Feb. 14.—The munitions plant of the General Electric company was wrecked by a fire today. The blaze was finally extinguished by the company's private fire department and no report was made to city police or fire authorities. Officials of the company withheld all information regarding the fire.

The employes of the munitions plant were sent home. It was reported that the roof of the building had fallen in and that the walls had been declared unsafe.

The plant has been closely guarded for some time and no one was allowed to approach it today.

The burned building was a small one-story structure of concrete. Formerly it was used as an overall factory, but was purchased by the General Electric company a few months ago and made into a plant for the manufacture of shell casings.

The fire broke out before daybreak but was fought quietly between the company's firemen and nothing was known of it publicly until after the men employed in the building reported.

WILSON HIT BY CUMMINS

Administration Attacked By Iowa Senator in Speech at St. Paul.

Scores the Mexican Policy and Denounces the Tariff Law.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 14.—Over 500 Minnesota Republicans attended the annual dinner of the Lincoln Republican club Saturday night. Primarily the homage was for Abraham Lincoln. Secondarily the aim was to promote the candidacy of Senator Albert B. Cummins of Iowa for the presidential nomination. Senator Cummins was the chief speaker of the evening. While fitting words were spoken for "the great emancipator," the burden of the senator's speech was politics. He characterized the Democratic tariff law as "the completest compound of ignorance and indifference ever composed by a legislative body." He ridiculed the law revising the banking system as "a most dangerous experiment, creating a board clothed with more authority than ever before was conferred upon an administrative body; an authority which is full of menace."

Hits at President.

Hitting President Wilson's attitude concerning Panama canal tolls, Senator Cummins said: "When the administration gave away the advantage of the United States in the Panama canal, it not only committeed a crime against American shipping, but forfeited the respect of all men who believe in the faithful fulfillment of a promise."

The senator remarked that were he to say what he really thought of the president's Mexican policy his words would be denied admission to the mails. But he failed to present any Mexican policy of his own.

"No real, red-blooded American ever will turn to the page which records the conduct of this administration toward Mexico without blushing with shame and burning with indignation," he said.

"We have written too much, argued too elaborately, reasoned too nicely and have been too often lost in a perfect fog of words," he said later, discussing the attitude of the United States toward the belligerents. "Our diplomatic communications have lacked that fine, clear note which could be heard and understood around the world."

Senator Cummins really caught the guests with the proper chord when he launched into his preparedness views with the keynote:

"I believe this country ought to be so prepared that it will be, humanly speaking, impossible for a hostile foe to ever plant itself upon the shores of America."

Grateful to Friends.

Senator Cummins opened his remarks by saying "Whatever the outcome of this controversy, I never shall cease to be grateful to the best friends a man ever had—my friends of Minnesota."

The speaker classed Washington and Lincoln as the only two Americans whose birthday anniversaries are observed by all of the people. He hoped "that the republic will vindicate Lincoln's earnest, peaceful vision, and that the party whose foundations he helped to lay will prove itself worthy of its exalted origin."

Asks Wilson's Retirement.

In an indictment of the whole Democratic regime, the speaker said:

"The miserable failure of the present administration in managing our domestic affairs and its shameful weakness in dealing with our foreign relations have so angered the people of the country that it has become not only the imperative duty but the deepest desire of all good citizens to drive it out of power, and reinstate as speedily as the laws of the land will permit, a government that will restore the confidence and rekindle the pride which every patriot ought to feel in the strength and justice of his nation. It is almost unthinkable that the overwhelming majority opposed to the administration will allow their disagreement upon some things to permit a continuance of the Democratic plague which is now ravaging the American republic. The one paramount duty before us is the retirement of Woodrow Wilson and his followers in the house and senate. When we win, as we will, some of us may not get all we want; but we are bound to get something better than we have now, for the mind cannot conceive anything worse."

Tariff Law Criticised.

"This tariff law has no redeeming features except the income tax, and that I may say in passing was of Republican origin, but its crowning folly and unspeakable injustice lie in the palpable and indefensible discrimination against the farmers of the country," he said, dissecting the tariff. "It gives the manufacturers of the East some protection, inadequate, it is true, and therefore ineffective; but it remorselessly exposes the agricultural producers in the great West to the unrestrained invasion of the whole world. It has failed at every point and has failed under the condemnation of every intelligent man.

"It must be swept away, and in its stead there must be substituted a fair, reasonable and adequate tariff for the protection of American industries, a tariff which will enable home producers to hold their own markets in decent prosperity against all comers."

Indian Fighter Dies.

Williston, N. D., Feb. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Daniel Gableman, who, as a member of Colonel Reno's command, narrowly escaped the fate of Custer's army in the famous Indian massacre in 1876, died at his home here of Bright's disease. Gableman located in Williston in 1875, and has been here ever since. He was a member of the force of troops that captured Sitting Bull, the Sioux chief.

affidavits of some of the candidates are attacked as insufficient.

Hearing on Wednesday.

Justice Holt issued an order directing Julius A. Schmahl, secretary of state, to show cause why the names should not be omitted from the ballot. Hearing was set for Wednesday morning.

Those candidates for delegate-at-large charged with lack of good faith are C. W. Armstrong, W. H. Briggs, L. E. Dunn, Bernard Engelstadt, D. C. Locke, C. O. Lundquist, Vincent Mulvihille, D. E. Myrop and L. H. Traub, all of Minneapolis, and H. W. Gilland of St. Paul. The Tenth district candidate so charged is Charles G. Woehler. It is understood that a number of these men have given statements to Mr. West acknowledging that they did not act in good faith.

May Be Estabrook Scheme.

While no open charges have been made, it is known that Mr. Caswell regards the filing of these men as an attempt to so enlarge the field of Cummins candidates for delegate-at-large as to make possible the selection of Estabrook men for delegates. As the ballot now stands there are nineteen candidates for delegate-at-large in the Cummins column and but four in the Estabrook column. If the action instigated today is entire successful, the list of Cummins candidates would be reduced to nine.

WALTER J. SMITH PLEADS NOT GUILTY

started for St. Paul. The proceedings there all had been arranged in advance. Sunday afternoon Mrs. Smith, George Lafond, Mr. Smith's confidential clerk, and Thomas R. Kane, his attorney, consulted with Mr. Smith at the sanatorium. They told Mr. Smith that arrangements had been made to give bonds in any reasonable amount.

When the machine reached the Ramsey county courthouse, the party planned to go directly to the office of Sheriff Wagener and at 2 p. m. to the courtroom.

No advance announcement of the appearance of Mr. Smith had been made, and there were few who knew of the intention to make appearance this afternoon.

Three Larceny Charges.

The first indictment charges Smith with larceny of $4,000 derived from a forged St. Louis county school district warrant, and the second with larceny of $6,000 derived from a Pope and Stevens counties consolidated school district warrant, and the third with the larceny of $18,000 obtained through the forgery of an Aitkin county school district warrant.

The court proceedings were to be made as short as possible. Arrangements were to be made for bail pending the appearance of Mr. Smith when his physical and mental condition will permit.

Efforts have been under way for several days to obtain bail for Mr. Smith, but it is understood that these efforts did not meet a very spontaneous response.

To Return to Sanatorium.

It was planned that Mr. Smith would return to the sanatorium as soon as the bail matter had been finally disposed of.

Within the next few days, Mr. Smith's friends say, he will make a full statement. They believe that he soon will be in a position to speak for himself.

"Mr. Smith will plead not guilty," said Mr. Cardoff before the party left for St. Paul. "He is in no condition to talk or go through any strain, but he is anxious to have the appearance over with. He has been worried for fear he would be called out to appear against Pickit, but of course that has been out of the question. That he has worried over the matter shows the condition he still is in."

He said the decision to make the plea today was reached at a Sunday conference at the sanatorium.

Pickit Arraigned.

Robert C. Pickit, clerk to the investment board, who made a confession implicating Mr. Smith, was arraigned in the Ramsey county district court today. Although he has confessed to the authorities he entered a plea of not guilty and his case was set for Feb. 21. The court fixed bail at $5,000 and Pickit returned to his cell.

A. C. Gooding of Rochester, named by Governor J. A. A. Burnquist to succeed Mr. Smith as state treasurer, arrived today to assume his duties.

congress for its consideration and to ask it to act.

Believes in Majority Rule.

"The state has a county option law, which establishes its existing policy. I am a firm believer in temperance; I also believe in a majority rule. Notwithstanding my determination to work for temperance, I have never been in sympathy with the general scheme of the Indian lid performance. It has seemed to me that after sixty years of failure to invoke the treaty and after the purpose of its existence had passed, except in a very limited area, for the Indian department to come in and administer the treaty where there are no Indians is ridiculous.

"I think the state generally would concede that you should have the same privilege as exercised by the rest of the state and that the dignity of the state would be better observed by governing itself in all the territory where the Indians are not directly affected.

"I will not act upon this matter until I learn through systematic method what the people of the district desire in the affected district. In all the time since the problem was put in motion by the Indian department, not more than ten persons, before this year, have asked me to make a move in congress. I think more than a thousand have asked me not to."

PRINCIPLES VINDICATED

First Year of Federal Reserve Bank Act Proves Its Worth.

Six Amendments to Measure Are to Be Asked of Congress.

Washington, Feb. 14.—Six amendments to the Federal reserve act were recommended to congress today in the report of the Federal reserve board for the first full year of operation of the new banking system.

"A year's experience in the operation of the Federal reserve act," says the report, "has confirmed the board in its profound conviction that the act has been one of the most beneficial pieces of legislation ever adopted by congress. Not only have its fundamental principles been fully vindicated but in most details the working of the measure has been successful."

The amendments recommended would:

Permit national bansk to subscribe and hold stock in banks organized for the special purpose of doing a banking business in foreign countries.

Permit, with the approval of the board, the issue of Federal reserve notes to Federal reserve banks either against the deposit of commercial paper or gold, provided that the gold so deposited shall count as part of the required reserve of the bank.

Extend the acceptance system to the domestic trade so far as it relates to documentary acceptances secured by shipping documents or warehouse receipts, covering readily marketable commodities or against the pledge of goods actually sold.

For Branch Offices.

Permit national banks to establish branch offices within the city or county in which they are located.

Permit advances to member banks against the member banks' secured promissory notes or against the deposit or pledge of United States government bonds.

Authorize a wide discretion in the making of farm loans by national banks so that a Federal reserve bank might make proper loans of this kind within a radius of 100 miles of its place of business whether in its district or another district.

"It is believed" says the report, "that the enactment of these amendments will, besides enlarging the usefulness of the national banks, result in greatly strengthening the operation of the Federal reserve act, and more completely realize the purposes of its framers."

The board announces that it does not consider that it can direct the business operations of Federal reserve banks in respect to foreign loans, but that its function is to oversee these banks. A plea is made in the report for the entrance into the system of more state banks and trust companies.

Foreign Borrowing.

In speaking of foreign borrowing in the United States the board points out that it has received many inquiries on this subject and has given them careful attention. It has reached the conclusion, it says, supported by competent legal advice, "that the purpose for which goods are sold or exported, or the use to which such goods are ultimately put," does not fall within its province or jurisdiction.

"If," the report adds, "the transactions which have given rise to such sales or shipments are of a true commercial nature, if the basis upon which they rest is such as to comply with the requirements of the Federal reserve act, and if the maturity of the loan falls within the limitation of the law, then the paper growing out of them, no matter by whom or for what drawn, may at will be discounted by Federal reserve banks, and must be regarded as falling within the legitimate sphere of their operations. The Federal reserve act makes no provision for collateral bond or stock loans or for the purchase of foreign governments' obligations by reserve institutions. Neither such obligations, therefore, nor loans to member banks based therein, are eligible as investments for Federal reserve banks.

International Relationships.

"The operation of the reserve system is a matter of business to be conducted in accordance with the terms of the reserve act and the regulations of the board. It is not the province of the board to deal with problems involving international relationships of the United States, either for the purpose of restricting of extending exportations in one direction or another. The eligibility of paper for reserve banks is determined by considerations which are as valid under one set of international relationships as another; the function of passing upon and dealing in such paper under these regulations belongs to the several reserve banks. The board, however, believes that the financing of the county's export trade is at the present time one of the most important financial problems with which the nation has to deal; and it is of the opinion that Federal reserve banks cannot, even if they would, avoid the responsibility of assisting in this process of financing what legitimately and properly devolves upon them."

The board expresses regret that in some states suits have been instituted to test the validity of the provisions of the reserve act by which it may grant certain fiduciary powers to national banks, announces its intention to have its counsel intervene in these cases and says that every effort will be made to have the question settled by the supreme court at an early date. It is pointed out that only thirty-two state banks have been admitted to the system and eight-four others have come in by conversion into national banks.

Reserve Requirements.

"It is regrettable," continues the report, "that in not a few states reserve requirements for state banks and trust companies have been materially lowered by legislative enactment since the adoption of the Federal reserve act. The only justification for the reduction of the reserve requirements for national banks is the fact that the national banks are members of the Federal reserve system and that the Federal reserve banks hold part of the consolidated reserve of the national banks and are therefore in position to come immediately with all of their resources to the support of national banks in case of necessity or emergency."

On the other hand it is stated, state banks have reduced their reserve requirements without the support of the reserve system. "This," says the report, "is an element of danger in our banking system, because the weakening of the reserves of the state banks and trust companies makes them more vulnerable in times of emergency and it is conceivable that a situation might arise in the affairs of such state banks and trust companies where they might have to call upon the credit structure of the national banks and the Federal reserve system for support when they would not be entitled to it because they had not contributed to the strength of the Federal reserve system by taking membership in it. The board is giving serious thought to this question and to the action that may be taken to guard against the consequences of this situation."

This part of the report is concluded with an expression of opinion that the credit resources of the country would be greatly enlarged and strengthened with corresponding benefit to business and the people if state banks and trust companies were to enter the system.

Easy Money Market.

The report declares that a condition of remarkable ease was the outstanding feature of the country's money market during the year. It says that the nation's export trade has reached high-water mark, that manufacturing in nearly all lines is active and that it has been the part of wisdom for reserve banks to conserve their resources "and hold themselves in readiness to meet any unexpected developments in the situation." An increase of almost a billion dollars in the combined loans of national banks in the year and an increase of deposits of nearly two billion dollars are pointed to as pertinent in considering the situation.

"These facts," he report says, "would seem to indicate that it is prudent to be prepared for a time when the reserve resources of the country will be subjected to a severe test and when the leadership and operations of the Federal reserve banks will become correspondingly more influential."

The discount policy of the board during the past year is declared to have been the proper one under the existing circumstances but it is pointed out that as time goes on there will be a disposition to make these rates as nearly equal in all parts of the country as is possible. The reserve banks have not been greatly encouraged to indulge in such commercial banking operations as the law permits, open market operations as the act terms them, the board says, because thereby the danger of inflation might have been increased and money rates further depressed. More active participation in such transactions by reserve banks may be expected in the future.

The board, the report announces, is considering the establishment of branch agencies of reserve banks in other cities other than those where such banks are located and for the present does not expect to approve the establishment of branch reserve banks. The clearing operations of the banks, it says, have proved a success but too few of the banks have taken advantage of this function.

BOUGHT GOODS OF THE ENEMY

Prominent British Firm Heavily Fined for Violation of Act.

London, Feb. 14.—At the Old Bailey today William Gardiner Rigden was fined £500, William Fownes Rigden was sentenced to twelve months' imprisonment and Stanley Fownes Rigden to four months' imprisonment on their withdrawal of their former defense and pleading guilty to the charge of obtaining goods from Germany through their New York branch and trading in such goods, in contravention of the trading with the enemy act. The three men are partners of Fownes Bros. & Co., glove manufacturers.

The prosecution alleged that between the end of September and the end of December, 1914, the accused had obtained goods worth $30,000 from Saxony through the New York branch, for which payment was to be made after the war.

When the defendants withdrew their plea of not guilty, the judge remarked that the trial must necessarily have resulted in their conviction. He pointed out the gravity of the charge, stating that trading with an enemy of Great Britain at the present time must be dealt with severely.

The sentence in the case of William Gardiner Rigden was light because he is of advanced age and took only a small part in the business. The other sentences do not entail hard labor.

THE "ENDLESS CHAIN" DANGER OF CATARRH

S. S. S. the Proper Safeguard

Catarrh is the offspring of "colds." It is a "cold" in its chronic form. The air is filled with bacteria, which is taken into the mouth and nose through the process of breathing. When the body is in a healthy condition no harm results. But with our modern methods of indoor living and sedentary occupations, the mucous membranes are usually not able to "throw-off" the harmful bacteria, making catarrh a very common ailment. These germs breed and multiply, causing inflammation, the blood rushes to the membranes to fight off the bacilli. When the blood is in a vigorous condition its "defensive" efforts are successful. Otherwise the cold "hangs-on"—turns into catarrh. Catarrh is a chronic inflammation of the mucous membranes. Mucous membranes are the lining on all the internal cavities of the body. Get that—ALL cavities! There is the "endless chain" element of danger. If allowed to run on catarrh will affect not only the nose, but the throat and ear, making you liable to deafness, pulmonary and other troubles. Local applications are useless. The only correct way to treat this dread disease is to purify the blood. The surest way to purify the blood is to take S. S. S., which has been the standard blood medicine for fifty years. S. S. S. is a purely vegetable compound. It will not injure the most delicate stomach. You can get S. S. S. at every reputable drug store. BEST MILK IN AMERICA

That Is What Duluth's New Ordinance Is Expected to Give.

Strict Provisions to Insure Clean and Healthful Milk.

Duluth's new milk ordinance, the final draft of which will be completed this week and which will go before the council, within the next fifteen days, is designed to give this city the best milk and cream in America.

Dr. E. W. Fahey, director of public health, who prepared the measure, said that it contains the best provisions of similar ordinances in New York, Rochester, Chicago, Milwaukee and other large cities in the East. He will prepare copies of the measure this week, so that it can be referred to the city legal department and Commissioner Silberstein, head of the safety division, who will introduce it before the council.

The distinctive features of the new ordinance are the provision ordering all milk and cream, under one-gallon quantities, to be sold in bottles; the grading of all milk and cream, so that the dairymen may charge according to values and grades, as is done in the sale of eggs; the sealing of cans shipped by outside dairymen to Duluth, protecting the milk brought into the city; better regulations covering the sanitary conditions of the cows, barns, sheds, workmen, delivery wagons and anything connected with the dairy industry; the establishing of standards for milk and cream prepared for the market, and the governing of the entire industry by means of licenses to be issued to dairymen and vendors.

Present Ordinance Inadequate.

Ever since he took office last April, Health Director Fahey has found the present milk ordinance inadequate, and at the suggestion of Commissioner Silberstein recently began the preparation of a new measure. If the ordinance is passed, with but a few changes, it is the opinion of Dr. Fahey that this city will have the best and purest milk in the county.

DR. E. W. FAHEY,
Director of Public Health.

The principal provisions of the milk code follow:

"Persons selling milk must obtain license from the health department.

"The name of the person and his license must be on all vehicles.

"Every vehicle must be covered and protected from the sun, dust and dirt.

"The health department has the power to inspect all dairies and take any samples of milk and cream deemed necessary.

"The health department should score dairies, as authorized by the department of agriculture of the Federal government.

"If a cow fails to pass the tuberculin test, its milk must not be sold for a year and it should be tagged during the interim

"All cattle must be tested before being added to a herd.

"Dairy barns must be on high ground, with floors preferably of cement, well lighted and ventilated, the interior walls and ceiling whitewashed at least twice a year.

"Every dairy retailing shall have a milk house, clean and sanitary, with cement floors, at least twenty feet from a stable. There should be hot and cold water, with screens during the summer months.

"Milk should not be stored in stables, dark rooms or places where there are bad odors and rubbish accumulated.

"All utensils must be free from rust and washed and sterilized after each milking.

"All milking must be done with dry hands and the cows kept clean.

"All vessels must be kept in sanitary condition, the containers to hold nothing else but milk, while health officials are empowered to condemn and seize insanitary vessels.

Label Skimmed Milk.

"Skimmed milk must be labeled.

"Milk coming into Duluth must be in sealed cans and bear the name and address of the shipper.

"Milk and cream can be sold only in bottles, except in one-gallon quantities or more for hotels, restaurants, etc., when the milk must come in large containers, sealed at the dairies and not to be retailed again, but consumed on the premises, after the seal is broken.

"Standard milk must not contain more than 88 per cent of water, nor less than 12 per cent of solids, nor less than 3:5 per cent of butter fat. (The maximum bacteria count has not yet been determined.)

"Cream must contain not less than 20 per cent of butter fat. (Bacteria count not determined.)

"All unwholesome and adulterated milk can be confiscated by health officials.

"No bottled milk shall be left by the delivery man in places, where there are contagious diseases. He must pour the milk out in receptacles outside of the building and must not enter a house or building that is quarantined or known to contain persons with contagious diseases.

"The health department must be notified if a dairy employe is ill.

"Employes must be free from any disease and wear clean aprons and suits while at work.

Milk Is Graded.

"The name and grade of the milk and cream must be printed in black ink on the cap of the bottle.

"Milk shall be graded in four classes, A-raw, A-pasteurized, B-raw, B-pasteurized.

"Milk containing more bacteria than prescribed in these grades, after three counts, shall be excluded from sale in the city.

"A-raw milk must come from cows tested at least once during the previous year, contain not more than 100,000 bacteria per cubic centimeter, while the cream must not contain more than 300,000 bacteria, while the dairy must have a score of at least 75 per cent and the milk must be delivered within twenty-four hours after milking.

"A-pasteurized milk must not contain more than 300,000 bacteria before pasteurizing or more than 50,000 after pasteurizing, or the cream more than 200,000 and must be delivered within thirty-six hours from milking.

"B-raw milk must not contain more than 200,000 bacteria, the cream more than 500,000 and must be delivered within twenty-four hours.

"B-pasteurized milk must not contain more than 500,000 bacteria before pasteurization, nor more than 100,000 after, the cream more than 300,000 and must be delivered within thirty-six hours.

"Pasteurized milk must be heated to 145 degrees, Fahrenheit, and cooled to 50 degs., the containers closed immediately and the milk must not be pasteurized a second time.

"Pasteurizing plants must be at least 100 feet from a hog pen, manure pile or any source of possible contamination. The water used must be approved by the health department, the floors of cement or concrete, with proper light, ventilation and screenings in the building.

"Ice cream must not be sold if produced under insanitary conditions, and if it contains more than 150,000 bacteria per cubic centimeter."

MORE NAMES ON PETITION

Required Number Expected By 5 P. M. Tuesday, Says McEwen.

Whether or Not Election Will Be Called Is Up to Court.

Some time tomorrow afternoon 400 additional names to the armory referendum petition will be filed with the city clerk.

This announcement was made today by Postmaster McEwen, one of the leaders in the fight against the sale of the old armory to the Shriners, who said that more petitions are out and that the referendum would be made legal with the required number of names, which will be added before the ten-day limit expires at 5 o'clock tomorrow. The original petition, filed Friday, Feb. 4, was found to be nearly 400 names short, following an official check made by the city clerk, and new petitions were placed into circulation early last week. Since then twenty of the names were located properly and passed as satisfactory and City Clerk Bergen places the shortage at approximately 350 names. A total of 1,322 names is needed to make the petition legal, according to provisions of the charter.

"A number of the petitions are out," Postmaster McEwen said this morning, "and the required number will be added before our time expires at 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon."

City officials are today awaiting with the interest the decision of Judge Dancer in connection with the suit instituted by John Jenswold, Jr., in behalf of the Shriners. Both briefs were filed last week and the arguments were made early Saturday afternoon.

In case the court decides that the petition is illegal, because it failed to contain the necessary number of names after the expiration of the thirty days from the passage of the original ordinance, the contract for the sale of the armory to the Shriners will be signed, it was announced today. Otherwise, the commissioners will have to go through with the referendum and call a special election.

LEGAL POINT IS RAISED

Attorneys Argue on Right to Add to Referendum Petition.

Appearing before Judge Dancer in district court Saturday afternoon, John Jenswold, Jr., as attorney for the Aad Temple Building association, and City Attorney J. E. Samuelson, submitted arguments and briefs in connection with the hearing on the order directing the city commissioners to show cause why they should execute a contract and deed to the Shriners for the old armory building, the sale of which was authorized by an ordinance recently.

The only question of importance before the court is whether the referendum petitioners, having filed a petition which was found to be insufficient as to the number of names, have a right, after thirty days have elapsed since the passage of the ordinance, to secure and file additional signatures. In cases of recall and initiative, the charter grants an extension of ten days' time, but contains no express provisions for the filing of amended petitions in the case of the referendum.

Attorney Jenswold contended that the courts could not read into the charter that which had been left out and that it was never intended that 10 per cent of the voters could resort to any such dilatory tactics, and that if such was the law, the machinery of the city government might easily be unduly hampered and embarrassed.

City Attorney Samuelson argued that the same general provisions as to the sufficiency of the petition and the right to file an amended petition were implied in the charter provision with respect to the referendum.

ENFORCED CLAIM WITH A SHOVEL

Coal Company Teamster Wanted Certain Horses Badly Enough to Fight.

King Richard III, who called right out in public for "A horse! A horse! My kingdom for a horse!" had nothing on John Gilleson, a teamster employed by the Pittsburgh Coal company.

Gilleson has not exactly made himself famous as yet, but he acquired a reputation as the best coal shovel handler on the water front when he started arguing over the possession of a team of horses Feb. 10.

Gilleson swung the shovel and the business end of it hit Adam Jurewicz, 604 Twenty-fourth avenue west, who had been driving the team Gilleson said he wanted. At least that is the police version of the affair.

Jurewicz, in court today, told Judge Cutting that the shovel had injured his feelings, to say nothing of his head, and he was anxious that Gilleson pay the penalty.

The court continued the hearing until Monday, so that other witnesses might testify. The quarrel leading up to the alleged assault started when both men tried to drive a team of horses away from the coal company's Garfield avenue barns.

LAWYER SUES FOR SERVICE RENDERED

Chauncey E. Richardson Plaintiff Against Alaska Consolidated Mining Co.

For legal services rendered on behalf of the Alaska Consolidated Mining & Smelting company between February, 1912, and May, 1914, in appearing before the United States land department and securing patents for mineral claims in Alaska, Chauncey E. Richardson, Washington, D. C., attorney, today started suit in district court to recover $29,900, which is claimed to be due him. The suit is filed against the company, with George H. Crosby and A. E. McManus of this city as co-defendants.

Attorney Richardson asserts that his services were reasonably worth $30,000, and that all the compensation he has received has been $100. John Jenswold, Jr., of this city appears in the action as attorney for the plaintiff.

FUGITIVE ARRAIGNED.

Arthur B. Monette Pleads Not Guilty to Two Forgery Counts.

Arthur B. Monette, fugitive from justice since 1909, was arraigned this morning in district court before Judge Fesler on two counts charging him with forgery. Monette pleaded not guilty and informed the court that he had no money with which to engage counsel. Judge Fesler appointed R. J. Fisher as his attorney.

The indictments against him were returned in 1910. He escaped from the city in 1909 before the officers could apprehend him, and did not come back until last week, when he was arrested for the offense.

MORE ROOM FOR PLAIN CLOTHES MEN

Rooms Are Being Remodeled and Enlarged at Police Station.

Carpenters started remodeling the Bertillon room and detectives' quarters at the police station today in order to make more room for Lieut. Gustav Lahti and the corps of plain clothes men.

An entrance to the detectives' room will open directly into the Bertillon room under the new arrangement, so that the entire staff can be shut off from the corridors and communicate with each other more easily.

At the time of the recent shakeup among "higher-ups" in the department, the detective staff was increased by one man. Growth of the rogues' gallery and Bertillon data also has made it necessary to rearrange the rooms.

There now are about 25,000 faces and finger prints on file in the department, which is under the supervision of Lieutenant Lahti and Assistant Superintendent Robert Donaldson.

SUPERINTENDENTS WILL CONFER HERE

County School Officials From Northeastern Minnesota Coming This Week

County school superintendents from St. Louis, Lake, Carlton, Koochiching, Pine, Aitkin, Itasca and Kanabec counties will attend a conference which will be held under the auspices of the state department of education, Wednesday, at the Duluth Normal school. The meeting is one of a series of conferences planned by the department throughout the state.

The conferences are called by State Superintendent Schulz in compliance with the request expressed by superintendents at the last Minnesota Educational association meeting. Each superintendent is expected to attend prepared to take part in the discussion and to present conditions as they exist in the home county, relating to certain topics which have been proposed. These topics refer mostly to policies of advancement in relation to the rural schools.

Under the law, a superintendent attending the conference is entitled to charge his expenses to the county.

POLITICS IN THE NORTH STAR STATE

Comment on Candidates, Near-Candidates and Those Willing to Be Candidates for Public Office; Flotsam and Jetsam on the Surging Sea of Politics.

Well, the first political race in this presidential year is on—that for the honor of being delegates to the national conventions which will choose standard bearers for the November election. In the two principal parties any campaign will be, likely, by means of personal canvass; and it will not be long, for the primary takes place one month from today.

There may be exceptions, of course, but quietness will be the rule. Any differences voiced will be wholly personal, for according to the filings, all the Republicans—that is all but a very few—are slated for Senator Cummins of Iowa for the presidential nomination; and all the Democrats, without exception, are for President Wilson. There is a split in the Prohibition party, Eugene Foss of Massachusetts and William Sulzer of New York state, being candidates for the presidential nomination, and delegateship candidates filed in favor of each in this state.

There is a possibility of the so-called anti-Lynch men in the Democratic party trying to make trouble. They have filed a full list of candidates for delegates at large, in opposition to the men indorsed at the St. Paul conference a week ago last Thursday, and also some candidacies for delegates from the various districts, but not a full list.

Uncertainty Among Republicans.

It is in the Republican ranks that the uncertainty exists. In the Democratic party, no matter who are elected delegates, they are pledged to President Wilson, with no alternative suggested. Not so among the Republicans. While most of them have filed for Cummins, and a few for Estabrook, they are, for the most part, simply using a name, for that is necessary to get on the ballot. A large percentage of those who are trying to become delegates will, if elected, vote for Cummins two or maybe three times, because they are pledged to do so under the law, and then will look about for a soft place to land; or, perhaps, they will do their looking before hand, and after complying with the terms of their election, jump, without ceremony or hesitancy, to the man they think most likely to sweep the convention.

Anybody who doubts that Andy Rahn, for instance, has any other thought in mind than to lightly leap into the Roosevelt bandwagon as soon as he has complied with the conditions of his election—if he gets elected—has not considered the matter. Mr. Rahn's leap will be light for the reason that he will already have one foot on the step. And there are others—not all for Roosevelt, in their hearts, of course, for some want to see Root nominated.

All is not serene among the Republicans of the Eighth district. The gathering at the St. Louis hotel the other day disturbed the concert of the powers, as they used to say in Europe before the great war broke out. There are those who charge that the personnel of that gathering was "hand-picked," and the fact that one prominent Republican and Cummins man, who had been conceded indorsement as district delegate up to that day, was shunted off, lends color to the charge.

Chester A. Congdon, Republican of Republicans, one of the first prominent men in the state to declare himself out and out for Senator Cummins for the presidency, and whose name was used throughout the nation by leaders of the Iowa senator's cause in furthering the latter's candidacy, had been considered certain of indorsement as district delegate. He had been talked of as delegate at large but had discouraged it, preferring to go to Chicago as representative of the Eighth district, and up to last Thursday few, if any, had entertained a doubt of his being accorded the honor. He was the choice of the Progressive element, which was completely ditched by the hand-picked conference.

Change of Plans.

Prior to that, active work had been done and insistent demand made that Mille Bunnell, publisher of the Duluth News Tribune, be given the honor of being made a delegate at large. Suddenly last week, and without warning to most Republicans, the Bunnell plan was changed. Whether or not too much discouragement had been met with in the quest for the "at large" job, is not known, but it is supposed that such was the development. At any rate, the conference which was held at the St. Louis hotel was called. Only a few were invited. Thirty-three attended, several of that number being invited at almost the last minute. Without loss of time in discussion, Mr. Bunnell was indorsed by those present—without a dissenting voice—as district delegate. Mr. Congdon was generously indorsed for delegate at large, which he did not want.

It is interesting to note that Mr. Congdon did not file for delegate at large or for anything else; which shows about how much he valued the indorsement of the invitation conference. He did not file for district delegate simply because, it is believed, he does not wish to appear to be a disturbing element.

* * *

At that St. Louis hotel meeting, O. J. Larson questioned the advisability of indorsing Senator "Dan" Gunn of Grand Rapids for district delegate on the ground that Mr. Gunn was a "standpatter" four years ago and nobody seemed able to show that he is anything else now; and, Mr. Larson said, it did not seem much like an effort to encourage reunion of the party to wholly ignore the Progressive element in the choosing of the delegates. But Mr. Gunn had already taken the precaution to file as a candidate for district delegate, so he was indorsed.

Another interesting note: Mr. Larson filed on Friday for delegate at large.

Rumor has it that James Mulcahy and Melvin C. Sundby, who have also filed for district delegates, as Cummins supporters, may get a vote large enough to surprise even themselves, as a protest against the so-called "star chamber" nomination on Thursday.

Messrs. Mulcahy and Sundby are both employed by the Duluth Telephone company. The former lives at 301 West Fifth street, and the latter at 2326½ West Fifth street. Mr. Sundby is out of the city, but Mr. Mulcahy declared to The Herald that they represent no organization and their filing was in no way a protest against the St. Louis hotel meeting.

"We simply favor Senator Cummins," said Mr. Mulcahy, "and took this way of supporting him."

"What about Roosevelt?" is the great question these days among all classes and parties, but especially among Republicans. There is no doubt of the ex-president occupying more of the public eye than any other possibility for the Republican nomination. Will his star brighten or dim as convention time grows near? Only time can tell.

But no doubt is felt that President Wilson's triumph in his recent tour bids fair to make the Republicans readjust their plans. Some believe it will result to the disadvantage of the colonel, while others believe that he is now, more than ever, the only hope of the Republican party in the coming campaign.

In state politics, the chief event of the past week was the not wholly unexpected announcement by Congressman Lindbergh that he will withdraw from the governorship race. As was said in this review recently, Mr. Lindbergh and Governor Burnquist stand alike for many important issues, and in a conference held last week, Mr. Lindbergh satisfied himself that the governor will work for many of the things he has been advocating. In keeping with his former declaration that his candidacy was not to satisfy personal ambition, but on principle, Mr. Lindbergh said that, finding the governor's views coinciding with his own, he would pull out of the race in the Burnquist favor.

That leaves only Samuel G. Iverson a contender for the nomination against the governor, and nobody will be surprised if his withdrawal should be announced soon. Julius Schmahl is yet to be heard from, but it is believed that Mr. Lindbergh's withdrawal will have a decided effect upon his plans, and that Mr. Schmahl will seek to succeed himself as secretary of state.

But the ambitious ones in the Sixth district are not comfortable. What about the congressional situation there? Mr. Lindbergh has promised a statement of his position, to be issued soon from Washington. Until then, those who have entered the congressional lists in the Sixth district, will be on the anxious seat. It is presumed that Mr. Lindbergh will again be a candidate for the Republican nomination for congress; but nobody can say so with certainty, for there is no figuring the devious paths and methods of the Sixth district congressman. Ordinary rules do not apply to him. It was understood that he had agreed to back C. B. Buckman of Little Falls for congress, when he entered the governorship race; so what about that? J. J. Opsahl of Bemidji has filed for the place and Harold Knudson is also a candidate. Others have been expected to enter, but the new development will change all plans. It will probably mean that P. H. McGarry will remain in the state senate if Mr. Lindbergh files again; but just now everything is chaos in that district.

The chances are that, aside from the developments caused by the Lindbergh withdrawal, there will be little stir in state politics until the presidential primaries are out of the way.

* * *

Tom W. Gordon in Browns Valley Tribune: That the Ed Smith gang are still determined to rule or ruin the Republican party in this state has been demonstrated many times in the past few months, during which period they have successively advocated the nomination of Root, the substitution of Northrop for Cummins, the support of Roosevelt (nauseating as such a dose must have been to them), the nomination of McCall and the evasion of the primary law.

But nothing that they have done in the campaign compares in bare-faced effrontery, shameless knavery and indecent impudence with their attempt to steal from Senator Cummins the Minnesota delegation to the national convention.

To accomplish this, the candidates of the gang have stultified themselves, and really have committed perjury, for, in an attempt to comply with the requirements of the primary law, they have solemnly declared upon oath that they are in favor of the nomination of Senator Cummins.

In addition, and in an effort to gain advantage over honest opponents, three of the candidates for delegates at large have misstated their places of residence—three who live in Ramsey county have selected convenient outside districts from which to run. One claims residence in this district, another in Hennepin and another in Mankato.

Finally, they have deliberately torn open the old party wounds, which the Progressives have done so much to heal and they have made future attempts at reconciliation very dubious, for the Progressives must now rally their forces and do all in their power to defeat the gang's plan to sacrifice the honor of the party upon the altar of selfishness.

Such a family! Oh, well, it's none of our independent business.

Ada Herald: The Democratic conference at St. Paul last week did not produce the fireworks that the Twin City newspapers led the people to believe would be a prominent feature of the meeting. With little exception there was no friction. The indorsement of Dan Lawler as a delegate at large will undoubtedly leave a bad taste in the mouths of many, but the conference was solidly for the backing up of President Wilson, and that seems to be the real issue this year. The selection of a national committee man is of secondary importance to the people at large in Minnesota. What they want is the president to continue his good work in keeping the nation at peace with all the world and the unanimous and vigorous indorsement of President Wilson by the Democrats last week will help a whole lot in this direction as far as Minnesota is concerned.

The encore for President Wilson is becoming more general as time goes on. No wonder the Republicans are figuring hard.

Chaska Herald: It would be mighty poor policy to name both the governor and lieutenant governor from the big cities. It is generally conceded that Burnquist will capture the nomination for governor; then why not center on C. H. McKenzie for lieutenant governor? The tail would wag the dog in this instance.

An indorsement from Editor Du Toit is worth while.

LEAP YEAR DANCE

RAILROADING IS DIFFICULT

W. W. Walker Says Snowfall in Michigan Heaviest Ever Known.

That the snowfall during the last forty days in Upper Michigan has been heavier by far than that of any previous year known to the oldest inhabitants is the assertion of W. W. Walker, vice president and general manager of the Duluth South Shore & Atlantic Railway company, who has returned to the city after a trip over the line.

The snow, according to Mr. Walker, has caused no end of trouble to railroaders in the Upper Peninsula country. The precipitation in some places has been 103 inches and the railroads have had unusually difficult problems in keeping their lines open, he said.

"To keep our lines open we have employed 1,100 men with shovels in addition to using rotary plows, four of them to a 100-mile stretch. At Calumet, the snow was piled and packed over the walks and streets, while in the open country the drifts have covered the 12-foot snow fences that we have dug out and placed atop the drifts to prevent further advance of the snow driven by the wind."

Mr. Walker declared that the snow hit traffic at a time when mine operators wanted to move from 25 to 40 per cent more copper than they did this time a year ago.

G. R. Huntington, general manager of the Soo line, declared Saturday that it cost $4,500 a day to combat the snow along 500 miles of line in Western North Dakota and Eastern Montana, where the snow has been four feet deep on the level and with drifts of 8 to 11 feet. Many of the water tanks along the line were frozen solid, he said, and for a time it was necessary to haul water for miles to maintain engines in service.

ESCAPED DEATH BY A NARROW MARGIN

Nearly 500 Grains of Arsenic in Soup at Archbishop's Banquet.

Chicago, Feb. 14.—Analysis of the poisoned soup which made 100 or more guests violently ill at a banquet given Archbishop Mundelein here last Thursday night at the University club, was completed by Dr. Frederick O. Tonney yesterday.

The analysis showed that the guests who partook of the soup, missed death by a narrow margin. The poison used was white oxide of arsenic. Dr. Tonney said that his estimate showed that the portions served each guest contained 1½ grains of the drug.

His calculations showed that the entire kettle of soup contained 480 grains. This development was regarded significant by detectives working on the case. In the amateur laboratory of John Crones, the missing assistant chief at the club, an ounce bottle said to have contained arsenic, but which was empty, was found. An ounce of the drug contains 480 grains. Crones disappeared on the night of the banquet and has not been located.

Unusual precautions were taken by the police to guard the archbishop at a big reception tendered him last night. Thirty detectives watched closely for persons having the appearance of cranks.

GIVES SIMONDS FIRST PLACE

EMIL S. GUSTAFSON.

Emil S. Gustafson, junior member of the well-known hardware firm at 18 North Nineteenth Ave. West, in an interview given yesterday, is quoted as follows: "In my opinion the carpenter who does not buy the best saw he can get does an injustice to himself. The saw that cuts faster, smoother and easier and stays sharp longer than any other saw in my opinion is the Simonds Saw. The Simonds recently discovered process of tempering, which gives the steel in their saws greater resistance to wear than that in other saws made by steel tempered by the old process, is partly the reason for Simonds superiority, but there are other points too numerous to mention here, where Simonds Saws excel."

Since 1832—for 84 years—Simonds has been making steel products, but Simonds Saws are sold on merit, not on tradition. Simonds Saws have always borne the same guarantee: "You can't own a Simonds Saw and be dissatisfied."

MEN FROM ALL PARTS OF NORTHWEST DISCUSS WOMEN IN VICES AND VIRTUES CONTEST

Flirting, Unfaithfulness, Immorality, Gossiping and Untidiness Are Selected as Woman's Chief Faults; Devotion to Home and Family, Efficiency in the Household Management and Neatness Her Best Virtues.

In the Vices and Virtues contest conducted by The Herald, the persistent slams of the women against the opposite sex have apparently begun to bear fruit, and the men are beginning to speak up with as much courage as possible following the fusillade of the feminine artillery. Today The Herald received a long list of letters from men from Duluth and all parts of the Northwest. The contest will close tomorrow.

The men have not been bitter in their attacks, and their criticisms in many cases have been suggestive rather than mere fault finding. Flirting, unfaithfulness to husband or sweetheart, lack of neatness and cleanliness, and gossiping are among the leading vices of wome as seen by today's writers. Devotion to household duties, love of children and efficiency in household management are considered woman's most important virtues. Some of the letters follow:

"2. Untidiness and laziness would drive a man to craziness.
"3. A woman should not live beyond her means and become ill-tempered when she cannot secure what she wishes.
"4. A woman should use both common sense and cents for good purposes.
"5. A woman should not spread the news about her neighbor's troubles and home affairs, but mind her housework and leave the rest to The Herald reporters.
"6. A woman should not be seen in public chewing gum and forgetting her manners.
"7. Unfaithful to a good husband and children by attracting the attention too often of other women's husbands.
"8. A woman should not associate with men and women of an immoral character.

"10. She should not forget her religious duties and her respect for her aged parents."
"1. A woman is a good housekeeper when she can cook and do plain sewing.
"2. A woman is tidy when she is neat while preparing the food.

CHANCE VISIT SAVES TWO LIVES

Mrs. Morris Steiner and Baby Discovered Almost Overcome By Gas.

A chance visit to her daughter's home Saturday by a grandmother saved two lives.

Mrs. Morris Steiner of 215 Ninth avenue east and her infant daughter owe their lives to the fact that the grandmother arrived at an opportune time, for she broke into their bedroom and found them both overcome by coal gas.

Mrs. Steiner's mother, upon arriving at the Steiner home, went into the house and to the door of the sleeping apartment. The door was fastened on the inside, and repeated knocking brought forth no other response than a choking cry from the baby.

Surmising that something must be wrong, the woman pushed on the door with all her strength and the casing splintered, freeing the bolt. Although almost overcome by coal gas, she managed to open a window.

Police Surgeon Harry Klein was called and after working over Mrs. Steiner for some time managed to restore her to consciousness. She was violently ill and for hours, the physician said, she was in a critical condition. The infant recovered more quickly.

Both were reported out of danger today.

Ship Struck by Lightning.

New York, Feb. 14.—The British steamship Dunclutha, which arrived from Manchester, England, reported that she was struck by lightning during a storm on Jan. 19. The bolt shattered the foretopmast and the officers at first thought the ship had struck a mine.

Health for Sick Women

For Forty Years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Has Been Woman's Most Reliable Medicine —Here is More Proof.

To women who are suffering from some form of woman's special ills, and have a constant fear of breaking down, the three following letters ought to bring hope:—

North Crandon, Wis.—"When I was 16 years old I got married and at 18 years I gave birth to twins and it left me with very poor health. I could not walk across the floor without having to sit down to rest and it was hard for me to keep about and do my work. I went to a doctor and he told me I had a displacement and ulcers, and would have to have an operation. This frightened me so much that I did not know what to do. Having heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I thought I would give it a trial and it made me as well as ever. I cannot say enough in favor of the Pinkham remedies."—Mrs. Mayme Asbach, North Crandon, Wis.

Testimony from Oklahoma.

Lawton, Okla.—"When I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I seemed to be good for nothing. I tired easily and had headaches much of the time and was irregular. I took it again before my little child was born and it did me a wonderful amount of good at that time. I never fail to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to ailing women because it has done so much for me."—Mrs. A. L. McCasland, 509 Have St., Lawton, Okla.

From a Grateful Massachusetts Woman.

Roxbury, Mass.—"I was suffering from inflammation and was examined by a physician who found that my trouble was caused by a displacement. My symptoms were bearing down pains, backache, and sluggish liver. I tried several kinds of medicine; then I was asked to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has cured me and I am pleased to be in my usual good health by using it and highly recommend it."—Mrs. B. M. Osgood, 1 Haynes Park, Roxbury, Mass.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

DICLOSES PATHETIC HOME CONDITIONS

"You don't know what it is to lose a friend until your mother is gone."

"Hm, how do I know? I never knew my mother."

"Well, I ain't got no father."

"My father comes home drunk nearly every night."

Such remarks as the foregoing can be heard occasionally during the penny lunches served at the Irving school. Between fifty and sixty children take advantage of the luncheons during the five school days of the week.

Many pathetic bits of conversation are overheard by the women serving. The above remarks were heard by one of the women Friday while the tots were discussing their home life.

Most of the children who are taking their lunches at the penny lunch parlors are those who are sadly in need of the nourishing food. Some are the children of widows or widowers who during the day time are entirely taken up and are unable to prepare a noon lunch at their home for the children. Others are from large families which are struggling for existence and are often unable to furnish the nourishing food necessary to keep the body up to the normal standard.

The noon luncheons are being served under the auspices of the Housewives' league. The penny paid by the children does not begin to pay for the food consumed. During one lunch between eight and ten loaves of bread are consumed. It takes about three pounds of butter, more than five gallons of milk, nearly the same quantity of cocoa, two great cans of soup and broth, as well as several pounds of crackers to serve one of the meals. The bill of fare varies every day.

Women from various organizations of the city take turns in assisting in serving the luncheons. The luncheons are prepared by Mrs. Joseph Doe.

WORLDLY TO BE PUNISHED

Modern Christians Are Scored for Seeking "Vain" Pleasure.

Hell Exists as Surely as Heaven, Declares Rev. Eugene Nelson.

"The modern Christian wants to ride into heaven on the elevator of worldliness, admission to which is the church membership in good standing," said Rev. Eugene Nelson, pastor of the Bethany Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, Sixty-fifth avenue west and Polk street, in speaking on the subject of "Hell" last night. The pastor said that the popular method of getting into heaven now was through the theaters, dance halls and card parties, which the Bible termed as the wide road to "hell."

Hell Belief Now Unpopular.

The pastor said that hell was a term frequently used in the Bible but seldom heard from the pulpits of today. He said that its popular use now was confined to swearing and cursing. The popular god of today, he said, was not a god of hell and does not punish. He said he agreed with the pastor who recently said that the references to hell and damnation were not apt to bring soul peace and heart bliss. Mention of hell, he said, was apt to bring strife within one's soul and among relations and business associates, he said.

"The modern and popular way to heaven leads through the theaters, dance halls and card parties. The Bible way to heaven leads through sacrifice, self-denial and the prayer-meeting. The popular way to heaven is the Bible way to hell. God is unchangeable. He is the same yesterday, today and forever. God is love and mercy, but also justice. On Calvary He revealed His love; on Sinai, His justice. A God who is all love but without justice is only an imaginary God. It is a rubber god that you can twist and throw to please your fancy. Make up your mind there is a hell, and believe in God though 'every man be a liar.'

"If there is no hell, there can be no heaven, for both rest on the same foundation, God's word. The proof of hell is as strong as that of heaven, and the threatenings as strong as the promises. Take away one and the other is gone.

Universalism Deplored.

"Universalism is the Pullman sleeper on the road to hell. It tells us that all alike will get to heaven once; Paul and Nero, Jesus and Herod, Martin Luther and John Tetzel, murderers and their victims, hypocrites and saints, shall all stand on the same side of the throne of God. Believe it and you will never miss your mark—hell.

"Yes, there is a hell. Woe unto me if I do not preach the gospel a part of which is, 'He that believeth not shall be damned.' How may one escape? Don't worry about that. If you turn to God and become a 'Christian' just in order to escape hell, I am afraid you might get there. 'Love shall drive you to repentance,' says Paul. Love to Christ and not fear of hell. 'Fear is not love.'"

PEOPLE SEEKING WORLDLY HAPPINESS

Harsh Preaching Is Not Popular, Declares Rev. Mr. Sievers.

"Congregations hire their ministers in much the same manner that a person purchases a pair of shoes," said Rev. Walthier Sievers, pastor of St. Stephen's Lutheran church, Fifty-eighth avenue west and Nicollet street, in his sermon yesterday on "Happiness."

"Congregations have the custom of giving a candidate for the pulpit a trial," said Mr. Sievers. "If the candidate is found to be of the 'pinching' kind, they do not want him and try another. This they do until one is found who is not harsh in preaching the gospel. The people of today are seeking worldly happiness.

"Many seek their happiness in wealth. Wealth almost invariably makes the people who have it stingy and stinginess is about as gloomy a misery as you can find here below. It seems as though the old Romans knew the Bible, for they gave the close-fisted wealthy man the attribute, miser. And the Bible says: 'For the love of money is the root of all evil.'

"Some seek happiness in fame. This form of happiness lasts only as long as the kindness of human tongues, and daily experience teaches us that the human tongue of praise might change by night into the tongue of slander.

"Many seek happiness in the sinful pleasures of the world. But if there is happiness in indulging in the hell-begotten modern pleasures of the evil world, or better, underworld, then you might say it is safe to skate on Spirit lake in October.

"True happiness is to see Jesus only, to be guided by Him, to live a life of Jesus—like usefulness. There is true joy in conquering your spiritual foes."

TEN EYCK IS SNOWBOUND

Public Demonstration for Bringing National Regatta Here Delayed.

James Ten Eyck, coach of the Duluth Boat club, is snowbound somewhere in the Western mountains, and will not be in Duluth for a week or ten days after the date originally counted upon. It was expected Ten Eyck would be here Feb. 10. Now it is hardly believed he will arrive in Duluth before next week.

No meeting or public rally will be held to arouse public sentiment here in favor of securing the national regatta for Duluth, until Mr. Ten Eyck arrives, according to the statement made today by J. D. Mahoney, president of the Duluth Boat club.

According to President Mahoney of the boat club, three of the six national regatta committeemen who have the deciding where the national regatta will be held, are in favor of Duluth. With half the committeement avowedly in favor of taking the big club championship rowing events west, it seems reasonably certain that Duluth stands an excellent chance of landing the 1916 national association regatta.

Julius H. Barnes is heartily in favor of holding the regatta here. Should the regatta be brought here, it was announced today that additional grandstands would be constructed and a new shellhouse built for the housing of the boats of the visiting oarsmen.

Wallace Quimby, club captain and one of the active workers in arousing public sentiment to back Duluth's effort to secure the regatta, has been confined to a hospital as the result of illness. It is expected that he will be out today and that he will join in the campaign that is being made by the boat club officials.

The bonspiel draws from many of the surrounding towns and some very strong rinks are said to have entered. Reedal of Phillips is expected to have his strong rink there.

THIEF RIVER SEPTET BOOKED FOR SEASON

Thief River Falls, Minn., Feb. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—A six-game playing schedule for the remainder of the season has been mapped out for the Northwestern hockey champions, the Thief River team. The games will start next Friday when they meet Warroad here. Crookston will be played at Crookston the following Sunday, a special excursion being run from here to accommodate the fans. Then the team will take a road trip, playing Roseau at Roseau Feb. 22 and Warroad at Warroad the following day. On their return, Roseau will come here for a two-game series on March 3 and 5.

The members of the team are rapidly rounding into shape after their hard fight for the title at the St. Paul outdoor sports carnival. Capt. Devenny, who had his knee smashed with a puck, is already off the crutches, and Hagen, who had twenty-one stitches taken in a cut over his eye, is about prepared to handle a stick once more. All of the other members of the team are in good shape and are practicing assiduously. They have been the recipients of much attention since their return from St. Paul with the huge carnival trophy.

THREE I FIGHTS FOR ROCK ISLAND

Moline, Ill., Feb. 14.—Plans to continue the fight to retain Rock Island—awarded by the national board of arbitration to the Central association—were outlined today at a conference called by A. R. Tearney, president of the Three I league. He met representatives of the Moline, Davenport and Rock Islans Three I clubs.

It appeared certain that the territorial fight would be carried into the civil courts if the national commission, in session this week in New York, did not reverse the ruling of the national board of arbitration.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 14.—The realty firm of Henry R. Weisels has been conducting negotiations for the purchase of the St. Louis Nationals by a local syndicate, it was announced today. Only $25,000 separates the present owners of the club from the would-be purchasers.

BIGGEST TELEPHONE NUMBER IN DULUTH

NOW IS "FIVE-HUNDRED-DOUBLE-O"

"Fifty thousand" signifying the minimum sum, that will be raised for St. Mary's hospital, will be the number of both telephones to be installed at the headquarters of the committee. This was decided at a meeting held yesterday at the Sun parlor of the Spalding hotel at which were representatives from all the Catholic parishes of the city, non Catholic organizations and Jewish bodies. About 150 were present ,and took part in the discussion of the program for raising the funds. It was the most enthusiastic meeting of the campaign to date.

Meeting will be held semi-weekly-Wednesday evenings at 8 o'clock and Sunday afternoons at 3 o'clock.

Rev. Hugh Floyd presided over the meeting yesterday. Bishop James McGolrick was unable to attend the meeting, but sent the assurance that he was heartily in favor of the work.

A school of instruction for the solicitation of funds was organized under the direction of the campaign manager.

St. Mary's hospital, which was erected in Duluth by the Sisters of St. Benedict in 1888, has never in its history turned any patient away because of poverty. This fact accounts largely for the debt of $103,000 that has been incurred within the last few years. The total amount invested in building amounts to $250,000 and the interest on the indebtedness amounts to about $6,900 per year.

CITY WILL BE THOROUGHLY PROTECTED

SAYS McKERCHER

DURING NIGHT OF THE POLICEMEN'S BALL

Burglars, "yeggs" or other crooks who plan to "turn a trick" tomorrow night because it is the night of the policemen's annual ball, will be disappointed.

It will be just as hard for you to "swat" your worst enemy and get away with it on that night as on any other, for Chief R. D. McKercher and Capt. A. G. Fiskett today completed plans for thoroughly policing the city while most of the regular bluecoats are "tripping the light fantastic toe."

"A long list of special men will be placed on duty at the usual time Tuesday night," said Capt. A. G. Fiskett, "and the most troublesome districts will be covered by regulars who will have to miss the dance.

"From the way it has been planned, about fifty patrolmen will attend the dance," said the captain, "and the other thirty will be on duty. With the specials, they will be able to keep order as well as on any other night."

"We have planned so that every man who possibly can will be at the dance," said Chief McKercher.

The bluecoats were busy today winding up arrangements for the big "hop," which is their twenty-seventh annual affair. It will be given at the new National Guard Armory, and the London road entrance will be used by guests. It will be the largest dance ever given by the department, and fully 4,000 persons are expected to attend. The proceeds go to the Police Relief association fund.

A chicken-dinner will be served in the smaller assembly room on the third floor for those who tire of dancing, it was announced today by Sergeant John Englert, of the committee on arrangements.

WOMAN—fickle in her caprice and fashions—is as much of a donna mobile as she is when she is walking. For the woman of this year—as anyone with two good eyes and a visual memory for the horrors of the past can realize—does not walk as the woman of last year, or even as the women of ten years ago.

Two years ago, it was the hobble walk—that curious pedal yearning in which woman, as usual, was attempting to get beyond her limitations—and this year, on the authority of the keenest prophets, she is to walk the Russian ballet walk.

Just what the ballet will do to the walk of woman the coming winter months will reveal. Whether she will sway, or whether she will swing more dishingly than ever, canot be hazarded, but in Duluth at least—if she sways or swings—it will be due not so much to a Russian ballet influence as to a lack of rubber heels.

Valentines Range From Comics to Boxes of Candy and Flowers

Mail bags and delivery wagons all over the country were crowded today with valentines that varied from comics to boxes of American Beauties and orchids, with the intermediate stages of lace-edged messages of love, postcards, that hide their declarations of affection in envelopes and, best of all, boxes of candy.

Candy and flowers are recognized as the most desirable gifts for Feb. 14, but "valentine" in the abstract must mean a lacey creation in which hearts pierced by arrows, cupids, flowers and letters sealed with red hearts surround a declaration of burning love. Maybe you keep your valentines and maybe you don't, but to the manufacturers the valentine output is not incidental to the few weeks or months preceding St. Valentine's day. American concerns supply the domestic markets and export great quantities, a large New York house employs a large force throughout the year, and before the war Germany sent to the United States many cards and novelties

Simple Valentine.

"One of the simplest valentines consists of cards with various celluloid ornaments attached thereto. These ornaments are cut out by hand with a punch and a maul. A simple riveting machine attaches the ornaments to the cards. The small brass rivets are carried in a cup at the top of the machine and then fed down into a channel by a notched wheel. At each operation of the machine an escapement at the bottom of the channel releases a rivet and lets it drop down under the riveting hammer.

"The only machine work done on the novelty valentines, made up with silk and satin puffs and bows of ribbon, which must be applied by hand to the cards, is the printing of the colored design and the blocking out of the cards. The puffs and shirred borders of the many designs are made with remarkable rapidity and neatness. The puff is made from a semi-circle of silk, the edges gathered as they are being pressed into the glue by drawing and puckering them with the fingernail. Two pieces of cardboard, cut to the desired curve and covered with colored silk lapped over the cardboard and glued to the under side, form the borders. The silk is also gathered as the edges are glued down, and the border pieces are then glued over the edges of the puff. Many intricate designs are thus very simply made.

Expert designers are kept continually at work trying to fashion new designs that will find favor among the patrons of the pleasant and fun-making amusement of sending messages by Cupid's valentines."

Biggest Attendance and Best Program of Orchestra Season

The orchestra attendance is growing as the work of the musicians improves.

The first Sunday the attendance was about 2,200; the second, 1,700; the third, 1,800, and yesterday 2,300, proving that Duluthians are beginning to appreciate that the city has an orchestra and that it is well worth hearing.

The program yesterday was the best of the series so far—both from a viewpoint of program building and from the point of the audience's very great enthusiasm. It should augur well for increasing attendance from now on, if Mr. Bradbury succeeds in keeping up to his newest standard.

The stirring Swedish coronation march by Svendson proved a pleasing contrast to the delicately done Norwegian dances and old Swedish folk songs, which are so nationally characteristic of Grieg's works.

The Svea Glee club gave Kerling's "Herre" with exceptionally good effect and was enthusiastically recalled, giving the "Sextet" from Lucia as an encore. The "Evening in the Mountains" of Grieg's, decidedly reminiscent of the beginning of the third act in "Tristan," gave the oboe player, Joseph Chabr, an opportunity for some beautiful tone work. A brief French horn solo was also well handled by Charles Tryner.

Mrs. Finkelson chose wisely when she used the simple melodic Barnlandsang. "Saeterjenten's Sontag," by Ole Bull, for her numbers, as they seemed exceptionally in keeping with the rest of the program, and gave her an opportunity for some truly beautiful legato work, which brought forth unstinted applause. She responded with Drdla's "Souvenir."

The closing number, "Peer Gynt" suite of Grieg's, everyone was more than ready to enjoy from a sense of long familiarity with it, and, while the third movement, "Anitra's Dance," doesn't pretend to great seriousness, it was most charmingly done, the delicacy of the violins being especially satisfying. All in all, the program appealed unquestionably and should prove a good basis for larger audiences from now on.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

The Marriage Contract

Two wrongs never made anything right, and I am not upholding any such theory, though previous knowledge of [illegible] occasionally makes us take up the cudgels in defense of someone who appears to be the original defender, when in reality they are not.

I hate to hear an absent party raked over the coals for his sins, while the one deserving real censure is pitied and sympathized with. The one was maligned as a black sheep and the woman in the case extolled to the skies for her sweet disposition and the wretchedness of her existence. All the time this sweet and womanly creature was altogether to blame for her own unhappiness and very large responsible for the sins of the other person.

The two persons to whom I refer are husband and wife. She is a very miserable specimen of her sex. She is shallow and selfish, and the husband has been as miserable as a lonely man can possibly be. But how can he be happy when he is not living as a good man ought to live or as he would like to live and did try to strive to live for years? He has sort of a makeshift happiness. Sometimes he is very well content with matters as they are and then I think it turns to bitterness and he curses the day he was born.

The man I refer to was a good man. When he was young he married a girl fair of face, but that was all there was to her. He married for a home. He was cheated of everything—love, affection, human interest and every single happiness he had sought to gain. Yet he accepted everything as they were for a time, believing that happiness would ultimately eventuate.

But when years found him further removed from the goal of domestic bliss, he did what many men and not a few women would do and have done. He sought the sympathy and affection he craved and which all human beings crave, elsewhere, and found it.

Now his proud, indifferent wife weeps and beats her breast and asks is there any woman more miserable and abused? Any woman who endures worse torture who has led an exemplary life? And I would like to tell her that she has failed of sympathy and affection and devotion to one of the best chaps in the world, had she but known it.

February's Red Letter Day

IF YOU will look at the calendar for this month, you will see that the 12th and the 22nd are red-letter days, and one feels patriotic just to remember that Lincoln and Washington are to be remembered with special dinners. But why is not the 14th day of February marked in red? It is Cupid's day, and this year, being leap year, is more important than usual. If, almanac and calendar makers are prosy and unsentimental, lads, lasses and managing mothers are not; they will have invitations written and sent out for a heart party without delay.

Young folks are always ready for parties, and appreciate any sort of decoration and entertainment. Strings of paper hearts across doorways and running up to the chandelier are suggestive of the day. Bows and arrows, cupids and true lover's knots cut from crepe paper and pasted on cardboard, may be made in abundance and are effective on the table and about the rooms.

Pink and white have always been considered the colors for Valentine parties, and the delicate, pretty table decorations and favors should be in this combination. Novelties may be hunted up for other holidays, but only hearts and flowers and tokens of love and friendship are permissible today.

The little dinner or light refreshment may be of the plainest, if gracefully served. The lights are really more important than the food. Plenty of soft, shaded light helps talk amazingly. If one is entertained while eating, one is subtly conscious of changes in the courses, appreciative of fine flavors and good food, but too engrossed to criticize. Another thing, plate, crystal and china stand good light, and give back gleam for gleam as nothing else does. Let your light shine on the tables or table, but shade it, so it will not age your guests' complexions or glare in any one's eyes, and your little affair will be a grand success.

And have fresh air, especially when gas is the illumination; one gas-burner uses as much oxygen as four persons; a dinner without fresh air is "a loveless feast and a funeral for your food."

"A fig for the bill of fare! Show me your bill of company," said Dean Swift, and many a friendly heart would echo this, if it but dared, yet a hint to the wise is sufficient.

Moonshine pie, lady locks, toasted marshmallows, sweet wafers, heart-shaped, fancy cakes, pink and white bon-bons, sweet pickles, of course, and a heap of sandwiches with chocolate topped with whipped cream are the sort of foods love thrives on.

Remember what Peter Pinder said:

"There is a knack in doing many a thing
Which labor cannot to perfection bring;
Therefore, however great in your own eyes,
Do not hints from other folks despise."

A cream meringue and a cup of tea served amid loves, hearts and cupids with this "knack" is quite sufficient to bring satisfactory results, if the house and hostess are in holiday array, and the right spirit is present.

Foods For Infants Will Be Displayed Baby Week

Articles of food that form ideal meals for children from 6 months to 5 years of age will be shown in cases at the baby welfare exhibit which will be held at the Masonic temple during baby week, March 6 to 11. Another exhibit that has been arranged for recently will be that of the public library, which will explain how to get cards and will show the best books for mothers, and will probably include books suitable for children. The charts showing the decrease in infant mortality will be made up from Duluth figures. All the exhibits will be held in the ballroom. The lectures and scoring will be held upstairs.

Lectures for Mothers.

Every night there will be a lecture of interest to mothers and the Matinee Musicale has been asked to provide a musical program for Thursday night, March 9.

There will be a rest room for mothers and a nursery provided with cribs for the babies. Miss Olive Kreitter will be in charge of the nursery, and it is hoped to have nurses in attendance at many of the booths to confer with the mothers.

Many Kinds of Celebrations.

All kinds of celebrations are being planned throughout the country for baby week, which was suggested by the General Federation of Women's clubs. The large cities are making big preparations, but the small cities are not falling behind in the matter of conserving the health of children. Such a demand for child welfare material has been made on the University of Wisconsin that the supply has been exhausted. In Milwaukee, flags have been distributed to every house in which there is a child.

A New Way to Play With Paper Dolls

"Oh, dear!" sighed Mary Jane dolefully, "I can't play with my dolls after all!"

"Why not?" asked mother, who happened to be going through the room just as Mary Jane spoke, "I'm sure you have plenty of dolls to play with."

"Oh, yes," I have dolls enough," answered Mary Jane, "but I have no dollhouse to put them in. It's stupid to try to play doll without a dollhouse."

Mother stepped up to the table where the dolls were spread out in rows and looked them over. "Never did I see so many paper dolls in one little girl's house," she remarked pleasantly. "You have a doll of every kind, I do believe!"

"Yes, I have," said Mary Jane, interested, in spite of her resolve not to play with the dolls. "I have babies and boys and girls, and grown folks of all kinds. But I wish I had a house to put them in! It's no fun just to lay dolls out on a table and look at them—you know that, mother! I do wish you could buy me a paper doll house.

Mother made no answer. She stood looking at the dolls for a full minute and then she began to smile. "Why, of course," she said, "Why didn't I think of that before?"

"Then you will get me a paper doll house?" asked Mary Jane eagerly.

"No, but I'll do something better," said mother; "I'll show you how to make one."

Mary Jane, in a very dubious frame of mind, watched her mother take her scissors out of her work basket, go to the writing desk and sort out three sheets of rather stiff letter paper and then sit down at the table ready for work.

Mother cut the paper into narrow strips about an eighth of an inch wide.

"What in the world!" exclaimed Mary Jane, as she saw the pile of queer paper strips grew under her mother's scissors. "I can never make a dollhouse of those little bits of paper!"

"No?" laughed mother, continuing her cutting. "Wait and see!"

When the three sheets of paper were entirely cut into strips, mother laid the scissors back in her basket and picked up a heap of the narrow strips she had cut.

"Now," she said, "what kind of a house shall we make first? A bungalow?" And right before Mary Jane's eyes, mother made on the table a plan of a bungalow—using the paper strips to mark the walls of the rooms. Openings made the doors, and windows were marked by double pieces of the paper.

"Oh, I see what you mean!" exclaimed Mary Jane. "You design the house as you build! That's more fun than a ready-made house!" And she, too, picked up a pile of the paper strips and began building. She made a house, a hotel, a school and a gymnasium—all out on the dining table; then she put the dolls in the house and began her play.

Remembering Names

"Memory is the treasurer of the mind."—Cicero.

"I can always remember faces perfectly, but I simply can't recall names."

"If I could only remember one-half the interesting things I read and hear!"

How often one hears people make complaints of that nature! And how seldom one finds anyone who does anything beyond complaining. The vast majority of us put up with woefully inefficient "treasurers of the mind" all our lives, because we are convinced that all memories are fundamentally good or bad, just as some men are large and others small.

The System Used By a College Professor.

This is not true. The memory can be trained to do its work. There are many systems, but the simplest I ever heard of is that used by a famous college professor.

To fix the names of all the people he meets in the course of a day in his mind, for all time, he uses the brief period of wakefulness that intervenes between the time of getting into bed and falling asleep. He recalls the names one by one and repeats them several times. Then, when the name is definitely placed, he conjures the face that accompanies it. The next morning, as he dresses, he reviews his lesson of the night before. In the course of the year he meets many people—his classes number up to 500, and he lectures as well—but he seldom or never forgets either a name or a face.

This Is How He Remembers What He Reads.

The professor's method of committing to memory the substance of the worthwhile things read or heard is perhaps less novel, but it surely is not commonly practiced. Let us assume that you have read an article on Mexico. Sit down and write, as briefly as possible, a resume of the article. Condense the outstanding facts to the smallest possible compass.

The mere act of putting your mind to the task of getting at the crux of what you have read, plus the impression on the memory made by the act of writing it down and then rereading it, accomplishes the desired end, unless you have a genuinely poor memory. Few people have that, although they may try to so excuse themselves.

"I Remember Your Face But I Have Forgotten Your Name."

To confess to a person that you remember his face, but that his name has escaped you, does not tend to make you popular with the nameless one. Everyone likes to be remembered, and such a confession is usually accepted as an attempt to evade the whole and even more embarrassing truth, which is that we have forgotten both face and name, and are loath to admit it. The person who is widely popular is the person whose acquaintance with names as well as faces is above the average.

The advantage of remembering at least a respectable percentage of what we read or hear is even more easily apprehended. For as a philosopher of a later vintage than Cicero says:

"It isn't what you learn, but what you remember that makes you wise."

Nemo No 554 WONDERLIFT

Every woman worthy of the name wants to be well and look young as long as she can.

On those rare days when you haven't a single ache or pain, you look and feel years younger than you do on the many days when you have that nervous, dragged-down, worn-out feeling.

How much would you be willing to spend to be rid of those backaches, headaches and the other aches that line your face and make life a burden? Would $5.00 seem too much?

The Self-Help Nemo Wonderlift Corset, at $5.00, can help you to make every day of your life one of your "well days." Do you ask how? Simply by the way it supports the internal organs. Every organ held in its natural place. No pressure on nerves or blood-vessels. Complete hygienic and comfortable support without any bandages that wrinkle and slip out of place.

Are you thin? Many thin women think they have nothing to support. They have exactly the same internal organs as their stout sisters, and are in even greater need of support, because their organs are nearer the surface and more easily affected.

The Nemo Wonderlift Corset is made for extremely slender women with prominent hip-bones and concave abdomen, as well as for large women with quantities of flesh, and women of medium build whose flesh is evenly distributed. Choose from these four distinct models:

No. 554—for short stout figures
No. 555—for taller stout figures
No. 556—for slender to medium figures
No. 557—for slim figures with prominent hip bones

Then go to your nearest dealer and ask to be fitted to the Nemo Wonderlift Corset that is suited to your particular type. If he hasn't it, go to some one else, and keep on until you DO get it.

STATE-WIDE ORGANIZATION

Italian Societies Will Federate for Political and Social Purposes.

Delegates Will Meet in Duluth Next Sunday and Monday.

Next Sunday and Monday, a meeting of delegates from almost all of the Italian societies in Minnesota will be held in Duluth to form a federation of such orders, for mutual benefit, in a political and social sense.

About forty delegates will be present from the Twin Cities, the ranges and Duluth, and it is expected that they will get through the business incident to the organization in about two days. On Sunday night they will be entertained by the Christopher Columbus society at a banquet to be given at the Holland hotel, and on Monday evening there will be a dance in their honor.

The meeting has been called by and is in charge of the following committee appointed by the Christopher Columbus lodge about a year ago, with this object in view:

A. Castigliano, chairman; Mario Bacchiarivi, secretary; V. P. Maimella, Joseph Di Marco, Joseph Bianchi, Feliz Jannetta and Enrico Casola.

War Delays Movement.

The movement for such an organization was started at a meeting held in connection with the celebration of Columbus day, Oct. 20, 1913, in St. Paul. Mr. Castigliano, Italian consul, making the suggestion. It was revived at a similar meeting the following year in St. Paul, and it was planned at that time to bring the matter up for action at the Columbus day celebration to be held at Duluth in 1915, but that celebration was abandoned because of the European war. For that reason the Christopher Columbus society took hold of the movement, with the result given.

The idea of such an organization is that it will better represent the interests of Italians in the state than by individual action by the various societies. It will be social as well as political, but will have a strong political trend, for Italians, it is declared, propose to assert themselves in the state in a political way.

One declared this morning that in St. Louis county, for instance, Italians are heavy taxpayers but there is not a county office filled by one of that race, while other nationalities are represented on a nationality basis.

TEN MILLION FOR BIG RIVER IMPROVEMENTS

Committee Agrees on That Amount for Mississippi and Missouri.

Washington, Feb. 14.—Improvements for the Mississippi and Missouri rivers, as agreed upon by the house rivers and harbors committee, including completion of projects already under way and maintenance of those completed, aggregate a total cost of $10,000,000. This sum has been included in the $45,000,000 river and harbor bill about to be reported to the house. The bill proposes $6,720,000 for the Mississippi; $600,000 for the southwest pass at New Orleans in addition to the $100,000 regularly appropriated in the sundry civil bill for the south pass.

For the Missouri river $1,500,000 has been agreed upon for continuing improvements from Kansas City to the Mississippi; $50,000 from Kansas City to Sioux City, and $125,000 from Sioux City to Fort Benton, and $75,000 for St. Joseph. The last item is dependent on a similar amount to be subscribed locally.

For the Ohio river $5,000,000 is included for locks and dams, and upwards of $500,000 is proposed for open channel work.

For the Hudson river generally an item of $640,000 has been included. A proposal for a separate item of $700,000 for deepening the channel to the New York navy yard has been urged by President Wilson and probably will be included.

NEW GRAND—Vaudeville and photoplay.
REX—Orrin Johnson in "The Price of Power," photoplay.
LYRIC—William E. Shay and Claire Whitney in "The Ruling Passion," photoplay.

"MADAME X" POPULAR.

Lyceum Management Will Invite Clergymen and Teachers.

"Madame X," as a photoplay is just as magnetic and appealing as when played on the speaking stage, if the expression of Lyceum audiences yesterday when the famous drama of thrills and tense dramatic situations was presented for the first time here, is good evidence.

The plot of "Madame X" is too well known to need a lengthy outline. There are two moral lessons—that of the ambitious husband too much tied down by business to attend to his household duties, and that of the impulsive wife who fails to see in the activities of her husband an undercurrent of devotion.

Dorothy Donnelly, who created the role of Madame X in the stage production is again seen in the same role on the screen. Her versatility and ready grasp of the varying phases of character as embodied in Madame X stamp her as an actress of skill and cleverness.

Because of the moral lessons in the play, Manager James Morrisey announced last night that he would invite members of the Duluth clergy and several instructors in the local schools to see the play.

The film will be shown at the Lyceum every day this week from 1 p. m. to 11 p. m.

Theater Gossip.

Capacity houses greeted the wonderful photoplay drama, "The Lure of Heart's Desire," at each performance yesterday at the Zelda theater. "The Lure of Heart's Desire" is a five-part Metro wonderplay, in which the well known dramatic star, Edmund Breeze, is seen in the stellar role.

EDMUND BREEZE AT THE ZELDA

This gripping photodrama was produced by the Popular Plays and Players company and is one of the greatest features ever produced by this corporation. To make this film thoroughly realistic, part of the scenery was taken in Alaska along the Yukon and part on Broadway New York.

Mr. Breeze, who will be remembered by motion picture goers for his excellent work in "The Shooting of Dan McGrew" and "The Song of the Wage Slave," is at his best in this feature.

He is supported by an unusually strong cast, which includes Jeanette Horton, Arthur Hoops, Evelyn Brent and other well known stage and screen stars.

"The Lure of Heart's Desire" will show at the Zelda today and tomorrow.

Seldom has there been a play that so arouses hate for the man who wields the rod of power—and sympathy for him in his trouble, as is shown in "The Price of Power," featuring Orrin Johnson, which opened a four-day engagement at the Rex yesterday.

ORRIN JOHNSON AT THE REX.

Orrin Johnson plays with versatility three different roles, representing the same man under different conditions. Gladys Brockwell is realistic in her characterization of the factory girl who wins the ambitious young mechanic by her forward appearance and physical charms. Vera Lewis makes the character of the shallow, frivolous, natured sweetheart a personality to be despised.

Mack Sennett sets out to make a new and thrilling "stunt" in every Keystone-Triangle. In "He Did and He Didn't" with popular Roscoe Arbuckle and Mable Normand, the "stunt" is that the merry Roscoe's eyes turn green, when the first sensations of jealousy darken his happy moon face.

The New Grand presents a new show today. Milt Wood, comedian dancer and singer, offers his original travesty on life in general and pilots his audiences through a performance that has them in a continuous uproar during his allotted time, it is said.

NEW SHOW AT THE GRAND.

Gertrude Lee-Folsom and her associate players present a clever comedy, "The Gold Cure," which is a combination of bright and witty dialogue and situations which abound in human nature.

Comedy and sensational aerialists are the Four Kasting Kays, who offer a series of thrilling and daring feats which they accomplish with ease.

Thre Three Lilliputs, the three smallest sisters on the stage, are one of vaudeville's most extraordinary specialties. They sing and dance and indulge in clever repartee.

"By Love Redeemed," a three-reel subject interpreted by an all-star cast, heads the photoplay program. It tells the story of the wonderful cure of a young girl made criminal by an injury to her head.

"The Getaway," a comedy, and "The Sheriff's Trap," a drama, are among the other photoplays. Tomorrow and Wednesday one of the Stingaree stories will be added to the program.

William E. Shay and beautiful Claire Whitney made a hit yesterday with their work in "The Ruling Passion," a William Fox feature which opened a three-day engagement at the Lyric. But not all the credit rests with Mr. Shay and Miss Whitney. Herbert Brennon, who produced "Neptune's Daughter," with Annette Kellerman, and who is now directing a "million-dollar" feature in Jamaica with Miss Kellerman as the star, directed "The Ruling Passion" amid the tropic splendors of the West Indies. The story in brief tells of the meeting between Prince Ranjit Singhi and Claire, a London girl, whose only legacy from her mother, whose life had been an unclean one, is the admonition to keep in the straight path. The prince, very rich and very wicked, has a peculiar influence over women. His heart is captured by the beautiful European girl and he determines to win her. Therein lies the tragedy of this stirring play.

"RULING PASSION" AT LYRIC.

The gait of a horse, a dog and that of men are all analyzed and recorded by the new Pathe extra fast camera, which takes pictures at the rate of 100 a second, and when thrown on the screen, the slowness of movement causes every movement to be followed with studious attention. The second of this series is at the Lyric today.

Bishop Morrison preached an able sermon on "God and the Soul." Canon MacLean gave a brief instruction on prayer. The service lasted just one hour and forty-five minutes. COMMITTEE WILL WORK IN HARMONY

Members of House Military Body Assure President of Desire.

Washington, Feb. 14.—President Wilson today received a letter from Chairman Hay of the house military committee assuring him of the desire of the committee to work in harmony with him in perfecting the plans for national defense.

The letter was sent in compliance with a resolution adopted by the committee thanking the president for his confidence expressed in his published correspondence with Former Secretary Garrison.

The letter follows:

"I have been instructed by the committee on military affairs of the house of representatives to convey to you the very great appreciation which the committee feels for the confidence which you have shown in its good faith and patriotism and to assure you of its desire to work in harmony with you in perfecting a plan which would be of the greatest benefit to the country."

SEES PEACE LESSON ON BATTLEFIELDS

Judge Cutting Returns After Trip Through the South.

A glimpse of the effects of war leaves a stronger impression than any possible argument against war, according to Judge F. H. Cutting of Duluth's municipal court, who, with Mrs. Cutting, returned Saturday from a Southern trip.

"I would like to take the man who sneers at peace talk on a trip to Chattanooga, Tenn.," said the judge, "and show him the national cemetery there, where 12,000 soldiers who died in the Civil war are buried."

Mr. and Mrs. Cutting stopped at Chattanooga, Lookout Mountain, Chickamauga and other points of historical interest on their way to Florida and Cuba, where most of their time was spent.

From Florida they went to Havana, and from there to the Isle of Pines. The trip occupied several weeks.

It was the first official vacation Judge Cutting has enjoyed in more than two years.

Upon resuming the duties of his office today he took charge of the criminal division, while Judge W. H. Smallwood presided in the civil division.

Novel Jackrabbit Hunt.

The numbers are so great that one farmer reports that they have all but eaten up one oat strawstrack. It is feared that unless something is done they will be a menace to crops next season.

Of course, you can buy cheaper teas, but "SALADA" is undoubtedly the most economical and what appears to be 'cheap' in price will prove to be extravagant in use. The fresh young leaves of "Salada" will yield you generous value for your money. B 115

TODAY IN HISTORY.

Oregon Admitted to Statehood, 1859.

Following explorations by Spanish and English in the sixteenth century and later, in 1788-1789 fur traders staked out the first American claim. The Lewis and Clark expedition came overland in 1805. John Jacob Astor established Astoria trading post, 1811. Immigration began, 1832. The hot Northwest boundary dispute was settled in 1846, after much talk of "Fifty-four forty or fight." American settlers formed a territorial government, 1843, and Oregon became a United States territory in 1848. Came into the Union as a free state.

READING (available in Duluth public library)—Johnson, Short History of Oregon (an outline, but good); S. A. Clarke, Pioneer Days of Oregon History (more extensive, and reliable); Washington Irving, Astoria (written in Irving's inimitable style, thought not too closely wedded to facts and geography).

THE LOCAL NATIONAL GUARD.

The local companies of the National Guard are engaged in a campaign to fill their ranks up to the maximum strength.

They ought to have no great trouble doing that.

Indeed, if the young men of Duluth rise to the opportunity as they should, the trouble will be not to find the half hundred men needed to bring the existing companies up to full strength, but to find a place for the overflow—which would involve forming a new company or two.

The state militia—National Guard—has fallen into a low estate in some states. It has reached a high estate in Minnesota. In this state it is well manned, well officered, well supported by the state. And in no part of the state is its efficiency higher than it is in Duluth under Colonel Resche and Lieutenant-Colonel Eva.

The Duluth militia has a fine new armory, one of the best in the Northwest. Its facilities not only fit it splendidly for a training place, but for the social uses that help to make service in the National Guard highly attractive. It is virtually a club for the Guard members.

For the young man who wishes to fit himself to serve his country in time of need, there is no better school, short of the regular army, than the National Guard. The training, conducted under the inspection of regular army officers, is excellent. For those who take interest and apply themselves and stick to it there is every chance of promotion.

Moreover, unless present signs all fail, the National Guard will soon come into its own as the nation's chief reliance, after the regular army, for defense. The Herald from the beginning has contended that the continental army plan proposed by Former Secretary of War Garrison would not do, but that congress should take steps to bring the National Guard up to the national requirements. That something of the kind will be done at this session now seems very likely. If so, it means a great future for the Guard.

Training in the National Guard can be had without interfering in the slightest degree with one's regular occupation, save for the annual brief period in camp which is a wholesome outing, the only defect in which is that it is not long enough. One night a week any young man can spare for drill.

Company A, the newly organized company, is already full. The other companies lack a few each of the full complement of men. The object of the present campaign is to bring these two companies up to the maximum. If the response is so large that it is necessary to form another company, no harm will be done, but much good.

Believing in no elaborate military equipment, utterly opposed to a large standing army and such excesses as compulsory universal service, The Herald believes that the National Guard should be made the nation's great reserve force, and it has no hesitancy whatever in urging young men to respond to this call by joining the local National Guard companies.

Most any old nation can get into the headlines now just by talk about peace.

THE FIRST JEW ON THE SUPREME BENCH.

If the nomination of Louis D. Brandeis of Massachusetts to be an associate justice of the supreme court of the United States is confirmed,—and there is very little doubt, despite all the fervor of the opposition, most of it greatly to his credit, that he will be,—he will be the first Jew to sit as a member of the highest court of the land.

He will not, however, as the Nashville Banner reminds us, be the first Jew to be offered such a place.

President Franklin Pierce offered an associate justiceship to Judah B. Benjamin of Louisiana, a Jew, but the offer was rejected. The salary then was small, Mr. Benjamin was a poor man, and more active politics, as well as the greater remuneration of a large private practice, had greater attraction for him. He served in the United States senate from 1853 until he resigned February 4, 1861, to become attorney general for the Confederacy. He was later successively acting secretary of war, secretary of war and secretary of state. The Encyclopedia of American Biography says that he was "the brains of the Confederacy." After the war he removed to England, and became a member of the London bar, being appointed queen's counsel for Lancaster. He died in Paris May 8, 1884.

The Jewish people have contributed many brilliant lawyers in all countries, and one Jew, Lord Reading (Sir Rufus Isaacs), is now lord chief justice of England.

Well, did you get any "comic" ones?

A THOUGHT TO GET HOLD OF AND CLING TO.

J. Ogden Armour of Chicago recently said:

> America is rapidly rising to an unprecedented prosperity. It will be boomlike, say, for three years, and should not be affected by a termination of the European war within that time. America is destined to lead the world, commercially and financially, in fifteen years. The war is simply hastening that manifest destiny. For an American to fear the aftermath of the war seems to me foolish.

Mr. Armour is not a party man talking for party effect. We haven't the faintest idea what party he affiliates with, though we could guess. He is simply a business man, engaged in business on a large scale that gives him—indeed, that requires of him—a broad view of world conditions, and he is telling what he sees.

Moreover, there are many others who are talking the same way, and only a few who are talking any other way. If a census of those who are discrediting the present and future of American prosperity could be taken, it would be discovered that they are ninety-nine per cent partisans bigotedly refusing to believe that prosperity can exist with their party out of power, and one per cent confirmed grouches and blue-visioned pessimists who never can see good in anything.

Analyze what Mr. Armour said. Dissect it phrase by phrase. Note that he says that "America is rising RAPIDLY to an unprecedented prosperity." Not crawling, but rising; not rising slowly, but rising rapidly. Not to an ordinary prosperity, but to "UNPRECEDENTED prosperity." That is, to such prosperity as this country, for all its great "boom times" of the past, never has experienced before.

"Boomlike," he says, it will be for three years. Lest that term should create a picture of collapse after a boom, note what he says immediately after: "America is destined to lead the world, commercially and financially, in fifteen years." He sees no feverish, spasmodic boom presently bursting into pieces, but boomlike conditions attending a steady and substantial growth that will bring this country into the world's leadership within fifteen years.

The testimony of Mr. Armour is supported by that of most of the strongest and ablest captains of finance and industry. The reality of it, in terms of men employed and industrial output and ready sales and prompt payments and good wages and rising dividends, is so plain on every side as to be inescapable.

Cheer up! The best is yet to come!

The second and twelfth are gone, the fourteenth soon will be gone and there still will be the twenty-second and twenty-ninth to come. This sure is one giddy month.

COOLING ON THE TARIFF COMMISSION.

The New York Press, a Republican newspaper, taking note of the fact that war-created conditions have led President Wilson to urge the creation of a tariff commission, has this to say:

> Maybe, we say, this country will need a tariff commission some day. But what it will need the instant the war ends will be tariff battlements, indestructible and invincible, in every port of the United States.

We have been looking for this, and those who join us in looking will see more of it as time goes on.

Republicans and Bull Moosers have been crying for a tariff commission ever since they lost their chance to create a real tariff commission and did not take it.

All through the process of the Democratic revision of the tariff, they clamored for a tariff commission; but what they meant was something—anything—to stop the downward revision of the tariff.

What Republicans chiefly want in a tariff commission is something that, once a nice, fat, juicy, luscious protective tariff is in force, will keep it from interference for as long a time as possible.

Now that President Wilson urges a tariff commission to take over the work of investigating tariff and trade conditions and recommending tariff laws to fit them, there will be a sharp dwindling of Republican and Bull Moose enthusiasm for a tariff commission.

But fortunately for the president, the strength of the tariff commission idea does not lie with the Republicans. It lies with the vast body of American business men concerned in commerce and manufactures, who are nauseated beyond expression by the ghastly record of political tariff manipulation, and would like to see an end put to it forever.

And still it is likely that if constituents refused to accept "pork," congressmen would be less eager to deal in the article.

Socialistic Preparedness.

Victor Berger in the Milwaukee Leader.

We propose that the public school system be made a part of "preparedness" in the following manner:

Every citizen should devote one year—between 19 and 20—to the service of his nation. The citizen—male or female—may stay at home during the time, and receive for the service such pay as will be fixed by congressional legislation. This education must be in charge of the nation and the nation pay for it.

And we propose to make the public school system the center of our country's defense. For that purpose a workshop should be added to every school district. Every young man and young woman should be educated in handling modern tools on wood and iron. They should learn how to operate machinery and understand the makeup of an automobile, an aeroplane or a machine gun. One year of service would be sufficient to teach them all of that and a good deal more.

This education should consider the needs and advantages of the respective districts. Everybody, however, should learn how to plant a tree, construct a road or build a bridge. And everybody should also be taught how to defend himself and practice at the target during that time. Girls should learn how to give aid and comfort to the sick and wounded.

No able-bodied man or woman should be exempt from this national duty on account of money or class privilege. The details of that education could be easily worked out as the experience would require.

Such a year or national service will be a welcome interruption of the task of the factory worker, or the clerk in city offices and stores—it will teach him many new things and make a more useful citizen of him. It will be a most excellent "top-off" to the education of a young farmer. It will have an immensely democratizing influence upon the college boy, besides giving him advantages that he could not get from books.

Moreover, this preparedness will absolutely guard the national independence until such time as we shall have complete disarmament and world's peace by international agreement, and it will be useless for aggression. It will protect the working class against further subjugation and enslavement at home until all class distinctions are abolished.

This preparedness will not only effectively protect the American people against attacks from without, but also against the foes of democracy from within. It will forever abolish the abuse of public military forces and of hired private thugs.

And last, but not least, this will be a "preparedness" by the entire nation, militant and "prepared," not by a capitalist class or by insidious clerical forces arming quietly all kinds of "knights."

In short, we refuse to be carried away by any hysteria caused by this world war. We Socialists are as much opposed to militarism now as we ever were. But the Socialist party is not for peace at any price. War may be hell, but there are some things in this world worse than "hell." Real Socialists are willing to fight these things.

Wilson Reverses Form

The New Republic: The president can certainly look back upon his recent exploits with utmost complacency. The shooting has been good and he has slain many a fat bird without any extravagant expenditure of ammunition. For the first time since he assumed the responsibility for military preparedness he has succeeded in converting it into a political asset rather than a liability. He has uttered a stirring appeal to the patriotism of his fellow countrymen; he has made them feel that the safety and perpetuity of the country were really compromised by unpreparedness; and just in proportion as he aroused this patriotic feeling he has increased his personal prestige as the incarnation of the national impulse.

By so doing he has strengthened his own hand in his negotiations with the German government. He has much imparred the title which Mr. Roosevelt was claiming as the only undefiled and complete exemplar of the newer nationalism. He has made it increasingly difficult for ordinary pacifist Democrats and militarist Republicans to oppose him.

Best of all he has put in a courageous bid for radical support. Three years ago he yielded to the opposition within his own party aroused by the proposed appointment of Louis D. Brandeis as a member of his cabinet. Today he deliberately incurs the same opposition by naming Mr. Brandeis as justice of the supreme court. Nothing could indicate more unmistakably that he is seeking to win back the leadership which he compromised by his resolution to keep the Democracy together at any cost and to govern by means of a partisan majority.

Instead of allowing the issues and controversies to be defined for him by his opponents or by the pinch of circumstances, he has forged ahead of his difficulties and is setting a killing pace for his enemies. Such a reversal of form is utterly unexpected, and introduces a new and still more incalculable force into a political situation already composed to an unprecedented extent of insurgent, obscure and disconcerting elements.

The Limitation of Fish.

Boston Transcript: Sapleigh—"I believe, you know, I shall try a fish diet for my brain."

Miss Keen—"Don't be absurd, Mr. Sapleigh. Fish may stimulate brains, it cannot create them."

A Dreadful Revenge.

Detroit Free Press: "A month ago she said she'd never forgive him. And now I hear she has married him."

"Yes, carried her revenge to the bitter end."

Rippling Rhymes

By Walt Mason

Money to Loan.

Oh. "Money to Loan" is a common sign; it everywhere greets these eyes of mine. In twenty stairways, in this small town, the cheerful legend is hanging down. There's money to loan to the merchant prince when bad collections have made him wince. There's money to loan to the farmer bold, who owns wide acres of fertile mold. There's money to loan to most any skate who has abundance of real estate, or hogs or cattle, or bonds or stocks, to be security for the rocks. But not a plunk, or a dollar's ghost, to lend to people who need it most! Go up those stairs, where the "Loan" sign is, oh, busted pilgrim with pallid phiz, and ask the gent you will find up there, to lend you a buck to relieve despair. You will hit the walk, when he throws you down, so hard you'll rattle the drowsy town. There's money to loan if you're cutting ice, there's money to loan if you have the price. but not a rouble or yen or buck if peradventure you're out of luck.

Fatty Lewis and the High Brows

From the Kansas City Star.

"Well, I see where Culture went down for the count the other day in Grand Rapids, Mich," Fatty Lewis remarked as he folded up the newspaper he had been reading.

"Who knocked him out?" Hurrah Smith inquired.

"The paper don't give her name," Lewis replied, "but I imagine it was somebody who didn't know a Sistine Madonna from Psyche at the well. Seems they were having an art exhibit up there. One of the pictures was entitled the 'Blue Pool.' It was the pet of the high brows and was due for the blue ribbon. International artists had described its fine points; people who hadn't set in anything but a box at the opera for so many years that they didn't remember or not if one could see from the balcony had longed to add the 'Blue Pool' to their collection of enlarged photographs of their ancesors. Social climbers who had been trying to break in the big league for years gazed at the picture, sighed, rumpled up their hair and threw fits over the technique of the pool. Along about the time when the real things and the imitations had run out of descriptive adjectives in saying nice things about the picture in bounced a motherly looking old lady. The story didn't say so, but I imagine she knew more about what to give the baby for the croup, darning stockings so there wouldn't be a lump in the toes and telling real country butter by tasting it than she did about art. Outside of dusting off the 'Eat, Drink and Be Merry' motto and straightening up the 'What's Home Without a Mother' I don't suppose she had much to do with pictures, but she didn't get both feet firmly inside the gallery before she spied the 'Blue Pool.'

"'What's the matter with that picture?' she exclaimed. 'It gives me a headache. Turn it upside down.'

"Evidently she was used to being obeyed and whoever she spoke to followed directions. It was discovered that the 'Blue Pool' had been hanging upside down for three weeks, and the only reason it hadn't leaked was because the water was only painted on it. Black blotches became rocks and tiny white specks were seen to be pretty little ships. With the picture in its proper position even Mr. Motorman and Mr. Conductor could appreciate it, although Mrs. Furniture Manufacturer, Mr. School Desk and others who had accumulated enough money to be quoted in the daily papers and couldn't see an eight-passenger limousine without a lorgnette probably had a perfect rotten evening when they learned that the 'Blue Pool' merely was what its name would indicate.

"But you don't have to travel all the way to Michigan to see cultured people," Lewis continued. "I've seen 'em right here at home. I'm not knocking them, understand. Culture probably is a great thing if properly put on so as it don't show. I'll also plead not guilty to ever having seen the 'Blue Pool,' and maybe I wouldn't know whether or not it was upside down. But you can bet the bank roll if I didn't like it I wouldn't say I did just to keep someone else from thinking I didn't belong.

"Some of these days I'm going to organize a society for the suppression of fourflushers. And the first guys I'm going to try and induce to join the organization will be a lot of boiler makers who almost knock the callouses off their hands every time a classic dancer interprets spring. There are two or three uncultured ways of interpreting spring. Sometimes you feel like you want to go fishing and other times you can see and smell the blossoms on the fruit trees. I've got a pretty fair imagination, but it won't stretch far enough to let me kid myself that some dame with a bridal veil costume, doing a picture machine version of the Sailor's Hornpipe, hopping around climbing an imaginary rope is spring. Furthermore, I've got the courage of my convictions and don't applaud because I'm afraid the guy in the next seat will discover that I'm a low brow.

"I'm also getting tired of these Isben guys hanging around the bank as if they expected their skates were going to come off. I am going to shove one of them way out in the middle of the pond some day and make 'em show me some real skating."

"They say that travel produces culture," Hurrah remarked.

"It does," Fatty Lewis admitted, "I learned one time on a trip between here and Chicago that Salisbury Steak was dining car slang for hamburger, and went clear to San Francisco to discover that Weiner Schnitzel a la Holstein was a veal cutlet. I probably could have made the discoveries right here at home if it wasn't for the awe which so many of us have for a waiter.

"I'm sure glad I got straightened out on old Weiner Schnitz," Lewis continued. "That item had been my 'dark life' ever since the time I discovered that there were restaurants which served other things than chile and all kinds of sandwiches. It seemed to me that every time I drifted into a place where they were careless encugh to have table cloths and linen napkins I'd pick up a score card and see where Weiner Schnitzel was among the entries. I was afraid to ask the waiter what it was and yet always had a hunch to order one and see what would happen. The bank roll never was healthy enough to permit of a second order in case I made a bad guess, and my appetite was too good to go without eating. I never dug up courage enough to go through with the order.

"But when you're traveling it seems like your nerve is better. Guys who at home are so stingy that they'll jump over a gate to save the hinges start swinging into 'high' before the train gets out of the yard limits. By the time they're four or five hundred miles away from home they get so reckless that they'll slip the barber a dime tip. That's the kind of a sport I am.

"When I reached Frisco the first restaurant I entered had Weiner Schnitzel a la Holstein on the menu, and, forgetting all my home town timidity, I ordered one. Great gobs of joy! It was a veal cutlet Ever since then I've been immune from fear on bills of fare. They can't bluff me any more, regardless of the French or Italian for corn beef and cabbage. Some day I hope to get my nerve up to the point where I'll investigate the check and see if I received all the merchandise with which I've been charged."

"Well, how do you prove that people are really cultured?" Smith inquired.

"It's not always necessary to prove it," Lewis replied. "Some of them will admit it."

Settling Troubles Out of Court.

World's Work: One of the most helpful government activities is the Federal trade commission's work in settling cases under the Clayton act out of court, quickly and cheaply. For example, one manufacturing corporation used advertising to disparage the goods of a competitor in an improper way. A complaint was made to the commission which called the matter to the advertiser's attention. He immediately stopped the unfair advertising. The result was obtained quickly, without great expense, and without publicly charging in court the advertiser with all the crimes in the calendar for an unfair practice which may have originated in ignorance and which he was willing to stop.

Our National Duty.

Henry J. Fletcher in the Atlantic: We must begin to treat American citizenship as a boon, to be conferred only upon those fit to receive it, capable of appreciating it, and willing to assume the sacred obligations that attend it. Hitherto we have degraded it and rendered it contemptible by bestowing it upon multitudes who had no conception of its meaning; and we have made it seem cheap and worthless by hesitating to afford protection to those entitled to claim its shelter. Having bestowed it as a precious thing upon the deserving, instead of timorously and penuriously shirking its national obligations, and counting the cost of making good its promises, we must make it respectable in the eyes of the whole world.

Political Straws in the Minnesota Breezes

Campaign Subjects Discussed by Minnesota Editors.

The Plans for the Barbecue.

Mankato Review: The question as to whether the bull moose or the elephant should be slaughtered for the love feast to be held in Chicago June 7 has been diplomatically settled. The G. O. P. beast is to be sacrificed, but the moose is to don its skin, tusks, trunk, et al, so that those accustomed to carry water for the elephant will never know the difference.

About It's Being Under a Democratic Administration.

Red Wing Eagle: According to official market reviews, the freight tonnage through the Minnesota transfer during 1915 increased 13.9 per cent as compared with the tonnage handled in 1914. This being under a Democratic administration, both national and state, what are our Republican friends kicking about, anyhow?

Why Hurry a Useless Task?

Gully Advance: If the G. O. P. don't hurry, the Democrats will have their candidate for president nominated and elected before the former can find their all-around favorite son, who, above all things, must be strong and wise enough to please the most fastidious. It will be rather difficult for such a man to be found in the United States and it is going to take long and valuable time to locate him. Surely, they will have to hurry to get there on time for the Chicago convention.

As to the Cummins Boom.

Deerwood Enterprise: "He is our neighbor" is the slogan that Cummins' supporters are using in boosting their candidate. Well, now there are neighbors and neighbors, and if that's the main requisite for White House honors then we need not go way down into Ioway for candidates; we have "neighbors" right at home.

An Iverson Viewpoint.

Roeseau Region: The old gang that was eliminated in the Republican primaries of two years ago is lining up behind the candidacy of Burnquist for governor. Burnquist himself is all right, but the bulk of his friends are not. These boys who have been on the outside for two long years are anxious to get back on the inside and they hope to scale the fence over Burnquist's broad back. Up in this part of the state we want a man whom we know and who knows us, and Samuel G. Iverson is that man.

But Can the Old Guard Be Induced to Do This?

Faribault Pilot: The Republicans of the rural districts of Minnesota should see to it that the Twin Cities do not name the candidates for both governor and lieutenant governor. It is now generally conceded that Governor Burnquist will be the Republican nominee for governor. This being conceded, the candidate for lieutenant governor should be taken from the rural districts.

Greatest Prosperity Ever.

St. Cloud Times: Republican editors who have been prophesying hard times as always following a Democratic administration, and would defeat that party in the coming election, are confronted with what trade journals term the most wonderful era of prosperous times ever known—North, South, East and West. If good times will bring success, then surely Woodrow Wilson's election is a foregone event.

North Dakota Notions

Various Views Expressed by Newspapers of That State.

Enjoyed!

Valley City Times-Record: Oh, la grippe! What absences from the office have been enjoyed in thy name.

These Friendly Rivalries.

Langdon Courier-Democrat: Under note of Jan. 28, from Helena, Mont., a dispatch states that seven persons are reported to have perished in the worst cold spell in the history of that state. The thermometer reading that morning registered 63 deg. below zero, and ten towns in that immediate section of the state of Montana had wired to Helena for relief from a coal famine. This would appear as if Hannah, N. D., had lost its chilly notoriety of being the coldest spot in the whole United States. And we understand that the honor was a self-sought one in the first place!

Nor Some Who Aren't.

Minot Optic-Reporter: It's not much trouble to induce a drunk who wants to organize a quartet to sing a solo.

Is This From Observation, or Experience?

Fargo Courier-News: A woman is never wholly contented. Even though she may regard her children as perfect, she can always imagine improvements in their father.

Remember That "Third Cup of Coffee."

Montpeller Magnet: That one plank should not be binding on Mr. Wilson, who did not enunciate it, if Col. Roosevelt was not bound by his own voluntary declaration as to a third term.

Is There Anything Further to Be Said?

Adams Standard: Nope, money isn't everything in this world—for instance, there's coal.

"Though Lost to Sight," Etc.

Devils Lake Journal: It has not been so very long since it ceased appearing quite frequently in the newspapers, but if this silence is maintained much longer there is fear that people will forget the name of the governor of North Dakota.

Congress and the North Pole.

Grand Forks Herald: The discovery of the North Pole is a matter for the consideration of expert scientists, and not for a lawmaking body, most of whose members are laymen who have no special reason for knowing the difference between the North Pole and a bean pole. Whatever action was thought proper to take has already been taken by congress on the testimony of experts. There is no change in the situation.

Peace in War Time.

It may be on a quiet mountain top,
Or some shy valley folded in the hills
You take your path, and often you will stop
To hear the quiet music of the rills,
The piping of the winds in branches green,
The murmuring of widely lifted spray
As the long boughs swing,
And hear the twittering
Of drowsy birds as the great sun is seen
Climbing the steep horizon to the day

The lovely moon trailing her silver dress
By quiet waters, each living star
Moving apart in holy quietness,
Sphere over golden sphere drifting afar,
These you can see, and the unquiet zone
Rolling in snow along the edge of sight.
The world is very fair, and I am free
To see its beauty, and to be
In solitude, and quite forget, and quite Lose out of memory all I have known
Of everything but this,
And have some peace at last,
And have some peace.

—James Stephens in Collier's Weekly.

Why He Worried.

Baltimore American: "Jaggers must be a devoted husband. He told me his wife met with an accident and that he was worried sick for fear she should attempt to be active with her injury too soon."

"What was her injury?"

"She dislocated her jaw."

The Sheep and the Goats

Editorial in the Chicago Tribune.

The late Clarence King used to say that vulgarity is bounded on the east by the Waldorf-Astoria, on the west by the Congress hotel, and on the south by Palm Beach. What Mr. King thought about vulgarity still holds, especially in reference to Palm Beach. The photographs tell us. We see weak-faced and uninteresting men held in leash apparently by aristocratic Russian wolf hounds or tyrannical Pomeranians at work attempting to keep alive in sleek women what little remains of the mother instinct.

As a resort for half intelligent victims of great wealth there is something to be said for Palm Beach. It keeps them busy and amused. If they drink too many cocktails they probably die sooner without seriously injuring the nation. But unfortunately it arrogates to itself, along with many other places of similar nature, the function of testing out the pretensions of social aspirants. It picks out those qualified to belong to the American aristocracy. It accepts and adopts without question any offscourings of European aristocracy which happen to be around looking for a livelihood. It is more critical of dogs than of men. A lady of New York understands this. Instead of giving luncheons to her uninteresting friends, she gives them to Ruby, her Pomeranian. Two men wait on Ruby every noon at the Beach club. It is a case of "love my dog, love me."

As a testing ground for American aristocracy, whatever method is employed, whether success with dogs or conspicuous aversion to clothes, this place and others are not successful. M. Jean H. E. St. Cyr got by them, married two wealthy widows, and sees himself now on the social pinnacle, dangling his feet carelessly over the edge.

Palm Beach and the other places slipped up in their job. They showed they could not separate the sheep from the boats. Out of a newsboy comes a distinguished gentleman.

Whatever feelings the social set may have about it, we are not inclined to join the pursuit of M. St. Cyr. He showed energy and activity. Besides this, he is fulfilling an American ideal. Even the humble of this country may rise to high position. And he has also the distinction of being one of the first really successful native-born fortune hunters. Previously we have had to import our fortune hunters from Europe, just as we imported comic operas from Paris, London and Vienna. He had, it is true, a spurious label, "Made in France," and his assistant was quite as fraudulently marked "Made in Germany." But he gave satisfactory service and proved that the domestic article was just as good.

Why not call the attention of congress to this infant industry? It needs protection. It would be better for us to spend our heiresses' money in Newport than in Monte Carlo.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quinlin, the Sunshine Man.

Cast not away the nut for the bitterness of the rind.—St. Bonaventura.

The love of the human race is increased by their individual differences, and the unity of the creature, made perfect by each having something to bestow and to receive, bound to the rest by a thousand various necessities and various gratitudes; humility in each rejoicing to admire in his fellow that which he finds not in himself, and each being in some respect the complement of his race.—Ruskin.

Economy is not parsimony; it is separable in theory from it; and in fact it may, or it may not, be a part of economy according to circumstances. Expense, and great expense, may be an essential part of true economy, if parsimony were considered as one of the kinds of that virtue; there is, however, another and a higher economy. Economy is a distributive virtue, and consists not in saving, but in selection. Parsimony requires no providence, no sagacity, no powers of combination, no comprehension, no judgment. Mere instinct, and that not an instinct of the noblest kind, may produce this false economy in perfection. The other economy has larger views. It demands a discriminating judgment and a firm sagacious mind—Burke.

The man who wrapped his talent in a napkin did not turn his money to a wicked end he did not even waste the money itself; but he wasted the proper use of it; he threw away the opportunity to make some profit out of it for man's good and God's glory, and therefore he was condemned, out of his own mouth, as a wicked servant and an enemy of his lord.

"WOULD TO GOD WE HAD ANOTHER JONAH TODAY"

The Editor of The Herald:

Please allow me to say a few words, with others, on this question of preparedness. It should be well considered by the greatest and best minds of our country—men who would first lay the matter before God in humble prayer for His guidance and advice as did David (1 Chronicles xiv, 10); for scripture shows us in many places where God used war, famines and pestilence to punish wicked nations, and He is the same God yesterday, today and forever. He does not need a great army or navy either to protect or punish a nation, as will be seen in the case of Gideon (Judges vii, 7), where He refused 32,000 and put the great number of Midianites to flight with only 300 men. He also crumbled the great walls of Jericho with a few rams' horns in the hands of seven men in seven days. But God was with them (Joshua vi), showing how He uses the weak things to confound the mighty.

God uses different methods to punish a nation besides war, as is seen in the case of David (1 Chronicles xxi, 12), where God offers him his choice of famine, sword or pestilence.

This government, to my knowledge, for the last sixty years has been receiving unrighteous money to build up and defend this country. It has sold millions of widows, orphans and men for the price of saloon license money, and of late years has added to its treasures the 5-and-10-cent shows to entrap our little children of today. Six days not being enough, the Lord's day is added to it to keep our churches empty. They would also have our children taught dancing and militarism in our schools instead of giving them the Bible to read that they may learn something about God and His holy will, and learn not to war and kill each other.

Would to God that we had another Jonah today, traveling around our country delivering the same message to the people as he delivered to Nineveh.

FINDS OBJECTIONS TO MR. UPHAM'S PROPOSAL

To the Editor of The Herald:

I noticed in Tuesday's Herald that Mr. Upham, speaking for the Duluth Real Estate exchange, advocated opening up, at the taxpayers' expense, an easier route from Third avenue east to the hill top.

While this may be desirable to real estate men and owners of lands now up in the air in that locality I cannot see how it is going to benefit the city to the extent of taxation for an improvement, which is, according to my mind, purely a transportation problem.

We admit that Duluth followed the lines of least resistance in her growth, as all other cities do, and in so doing has extended along the lake and river, which enable her to take advantage of our splendid lake and rail shipping facilities.

If any one thinks the time has come for Duluth to begin to spread herself in another direction, I would suggest that they take a street car at Lakeside and go to the end of the line at West Duluth, and on this trip note the vacant lots which he sees "for sale," and then consider if it would not be as advisable to use up a little more of this available space before any further extension.

When the right time comes for further expansion Duluth will expand, and the problem of transportation to the point where the natural growth centers will take care of itself and the cost of same will rest where it should —with the transportation companies.

SOME CORRESPONDENCE ABOUT A NIGHT SCHOOL

To the Editor of The Herald:

Last December a certain person in this city applied to the superintendent of schools for a position to teach in the night schools. He stated in his application that he had experience and that he was conversant with the Scandinavian languages as well as the English.

This morning, Feb. 11, he received the following reply to his application:

"Duluth Public Schools, Feb. 10, 1916

"Mr. ....., Duluth, Minn. Dear Sir:

Your letter of Dec. 22 just came to light—relative to your application for a position as teacher in our night schools. Our faculty has been well provided for, as far as this year goes. If you wish to be considered next fall, kindly take up the matter with me at that time. Night schools open about Oct. 1 each fall.

Yours truly....."

And here is the answer:

"....., Esq., Duluth, Minn. Dear Sir:

Your kind favor of yesterday received, and I hasten to reply to same. I am truly thankful that my humble communication of last December "came to light." It would have been exceedingly distressing to me and embarrasing to future superintendents and assistants had it persisted to hide from view for another century.

"The suggestion that I may apply for next fall, while appreciated, cannot, I fear, be acted upon. It is too remote. I may by that time be learning a new language myself: I may be a performer on Erin's favorite instrument in more congenial climes, or I may be doing duty in the coal bunkers, in either of which event I could not accept a position to teach the hoi polloi of Duluth.

"As for yourself: You also may be doing something else by that time—you may be so far away from Duluth that an application from me would not reach you. You may have become president of the United States, with greater duties and graver responsibilities.

"You see, I am a true American with decidedly democratic ideas, and, as such, I believe in the possibility of any native born to be elevated to the highest position in the land, with the exception of one who will persist in sweeping dust against the wind.

"Yours very truly ....."

OUR NEGLECTED SIDEWALKS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Our public safety commissioner is taking the right course by compelling citizens of Duluth to clean their sidewalks from snow and ice, and if there is any question about the legality of the course adopted by that department, the necessary steps should be taken by the proper officials to make it lawful.

The streets and avenues in Duluth are sorely neglected, and it is astonishing to notice the lack of civic pride in the average Duluth citizen.

It does not seem right that the pedestrian should be compelled to walk on the car tracks on Fourth street, exposing himself to the danger of an accident because of the neglect of a few individuals.

The city of Duluth itself, the county of St. Louis and even our board of education are setting very poor examples. The sidewalks on all four sides of Portland square have had no attention since the snow storm, except the city plow as it passed along that way. Why do we pay wages to the caretaker of the park? Does his duty not include shoveling snow when necessary?

Until yesterday nothing was done by the county of St. Louis or its employes to remove the snow, about two feet deep, on Sixth avenue east from Second to Third street, adjoining the county jail property. Who is at fault?

The city snow plow is the only attempt at removing snow and ice on three sides of the Endion school—north, west and south, and it is now in such bad condition that it is actually dangerous. The property immediately east of this school is owned by private parties and they are to be congratulated on the neat appearance of their sidewalk. Who is at fault for neglecting sidewalks around public school property?

Perhaps, by closer co-operation between the police department and other officials of the city, county and public schools, these public institutions would be able to set a better example to the average citizen, and the careless property owner and tenant compelled to do his duty. Yours truly.

"S."

Germany's takin' 3,000,000 prisoners is purty much like havin' 3,000,000 relatives on your hands, 'cept you don't have t' take 'em t' th' the-ater," said Lafe Bud t'day. No man is greater than his wife. He's only better advertised.

It's a Wee Deoch and Doris.

There's a good old Scottish custom
That has stood the test o' time—
It's a custom that's been carried out
In every land and clime.
When brother Scots foregather,
It's usually the thing,
Just before they say "Guid nicht,"
They fill their cups and sing:

Chorus.

"Just a wee Deoch an' Doris,
Just a wee drap, that's it;
Just a wee Deoch and Doris
Before we gang awa'.
There's a wee wifie waitin'
In a wee but an' ben.
If ye can say, 'It's a braw bricht munelicht nicht,' Ye're a' richt, ye ken."

I like a man that is a man—
A man that's straight and fair;
The sort o' man that will and can
In a' things do his share.
I like a man, a jolly man,
The sort o' man, you know,
The chap that slaps your back and says,
"Noo, Jock, before ye go ——"
Chorus.

I'll invite ye a' some ither nicht
To come and bring your wives,
And I'll guarantee you'll hae
The grandest nicht in a' your lives.
We'll ha'e the bagpipes skirlin',
We'll mak' the rafters ring.
An' when you're tired and sleepy
We'll wake you up an' sing:
Chorus.

Young Charlotte.

Young Charlotte lived on a mountain side,
In a wild and lonely spot;
There were no dwellings for three miles wide,
Except her father's cot.
And yet, on many a winter night,
Young swains were gathered there;
Her father kept a social board
And she was very fair.

One New Year's eve, as the sun went down,
Far looked her wistful eye
Out from the frosty window pane
As the merry sleighs dashed by.
At the village, fifteen miles away,
Was to be a ball, that night;
And though the air was piercing cold,
Her heart was warm and light.

How brightly beamed her laughing eye,
As a well known voice she heard;
And dashing up to the cottage door,
Her lover's sleigh appeared.
"Oh, daughter, dear," her mother cried,
"This blanket round you fold,
For 'tis a dreadful night abroad—
You will get your death of cold."

"Oh nay, oh nay!" Young Charlotte cried,
As she laughed like a gypsy queen.
"To ride in blankets muffled up
I never would be seen.
My silken cloak is quite enough—
You know 'tis lined throughout;
And there is my silken scarf to twine
My head and neck about."

Her bonnet and her gloves were on;
She jumped into the sleigh,
And swift they sped down the mountain side,
And o'er the hills away.
With muffled beat, so silently,
Five miles at length were passed,
When Charles, with few and shivering words,
The silence broke at last:

"Such a dreadful night I never saw;
My reins I scarce can hold."
Young Charlotte faintly then replied,
"I am extremely cold."
He cracked his whip; he urged his steed
Much faster than before,
And thus five other dreary miles
In silence were passed o'er.

Spoke Charles: "How fast the freezing ice
Is gathering on my brow!"
And Charlotte, still more faintly, said,
"I'm growing warmer now."
Thus on they rode through the frosty air
And the glittering, cold starlight,
Until at last the village lamps
And the ball room came in sight.

They reached the door, and Charles sprang ont
And held his hand to her.
"Why sit you like a monument
That hath no power to stir?"
He called her once—he called her twice—
She answered not a word.
He asked her for a hand again,
But still she never stirred.

He took her hand in his. 'Twas cold
And hard as any stone.
He tore the mantle from her face,
And a cold stare o'er it shone.
Then quickly to the lighted hall
Her lifeless form he bore.
Young Charlotte's eyes were closed for aye,
Her voice was heard no more.

"For Her!"

Hearts filled with Huot's candy.

WEST END

BIG CROWD AT REVIVAL

Nearly 1,800 Attend Union Service at Swedish Mission Church.

Rev. Hardy A. Ingham Preaches on "Equity in God's Judgments.

A record breaking crowd attended the union mass revival meeting held last night at the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street. It was estimated that nearly 1,800 people were present at the services.

"Equity of God's Judgment" was the subject on which Rev. Hardy A. Ingham, pastor of the Endion Methodist church, preached. Special music was a feature of the service. The combined choir of nearly 100 voices under the direction of Mrs. J. J. Daniels furnished the musical program.

Rev. Mr. Ingham said that there were few question of world-wide importance. The far greater number of political questions were of local interest. The question of soul saving, he said, was different. That question affected every human being, and while every person gave great thought to civic problems, little thought was being given to the great question of life, he said.

"There have been certain periods of life to which we have looked with interest and gladness. The coming of Christ as the Savior of men was looked for with joyful anticipation; but we look forward to the time of His coming to judge the world with great anxiety.

"We do not know when that coming will be, but we have His word that He will come to judge the world in righteousness.

"Two things at least are necessary on the part of the Judge if that judgment is to be in equity. First is His omniscience. He must know men. Not only know the individual act, but the motive prompting it. The second necessity is the truth of God. He must be true to His knowledge and His word.

"Actions are weighed. If we study the law of justice as God sees it we must soon reach the conclusion that we, as responsible beings, will be held accountable for our lives in so far at least as are permitted to control them. Our actions are of the gravest consideration because they point to the motive behind the action. That goes to the bottom of the matter. 'Keep thy heart with all diligence for out of it are the issues of life.' Actions will be weighed not according to our desires, or public sentiment, or conscience, but according to the divine law. 'Judgment will I lay to the line and righteousness to the plummet.'

"The great question is who shall stand in that day. Only those who have accepted the way, the truth, the life. Whose names are written in the book of life. 'Is your name written theme?'"

The meetings are to be continued this evening and tomorrow evening. It is expected that the union service will be discontinued after tomorrow night. The seven congregations taking part in the services are the Swedish Mission, Swedish Baptist, Swedish M. E., Second Presbyterian, Central Baptist, Grace M. E. and First Norwegian-Danish M. E. churches.

Six cottage meetings have been planned for tomorrow afternoon in connection with the revival services. These will be held at the homes of Mrs. Hinchliff, 1817 Piedmont avenue; E. G. Ek, 2620 West Fourth street; J. Currie, 2719 West Helm street; Joseph Hanson, 2309 West Eighth street; Mrs. Benjamin Lowe, 2301 West Fifth street, and Mrs. Young, 1925 West Third street.

WILL DISCUSS ROAD TO TOP OF THE HILL

Members of the Fifth Ward Improvement club will hold a special meeting tomorrow night at the home of W. L. Pierce, 820 West Fourth street. The proposed outlet for a highway over the hill in a westerly direction will be the subject to be discussed by the members.

Residents of the western section of the Fifth ward want a highway which will give a gradual rise over the hill and which will reach the boulevard just above the Central park. A route where the grade will not be over 5 per cent can be secured, say the members. All residents interested in the proposition are invited to attend the meeting.

Swedish M. E. Notes.

Plans for an entertainment to be held on Feb. 21 will be made at the meeting of the Epworth League Society of the First Swedish M. E. chuch, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, Friday evening. On the date of the entertainment the principal feature will be a lecture on "Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde," by Rev. C. H. Sundstrom of Minneapolis.

The confirmation class will meet in the church Thursday evening at 7 o'clock.

Midweek services will be conducted by Rev. C. W. R. Wermine at 8 o'clock Thursday evening.

Ireland For Preparedness.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 14.—Peace at any price advocates were criticized and national preparedness was termed a religious as well as a patriotic duty by Archbishop John Ireland at the cathedral here Saturday in an eloquent funeral oration over the body of Col. Josiah R. King, said by Minnesota historians to be the first man to answer the call of President Lincoln for 75,000 volunteers in 1861 to put down the rebellion.

Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twentytwo per cent., or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirtyseven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium, or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse, but you must see that it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Castoria causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.

Dr. A. F. Peeler, of St. Louis, Mo., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria in many cases and have always found it an efficient and speedy remedy."

Dr. Frederick D. Rogers, of Chicago, Ill., says: I have found Fletcher's Castoria very useful in the treatment of children's complaints.

Dr. William C. Bloomer, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: In my practice I am glad to recommend your Castoria, knowing it is perfectly harmless and always satisfactory.

Dr. E. Down, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria in my practice for many years with great satisfaction to myself and benefit to my patients."

Dr. Edward Parrish, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria in my own household with good results, and have advised several patients to use it for its mild laxative effect and freedom from harm."

Dr. J. B. Elliott, of New York City, says: "Having during the past six years prescribed your Castoria for infantile stomach disorders, I most heartily commend its use. The formula contains nothing deleterious to the most delicate of children."

Dr. C. G. Sprague, of Omaha, Neb., says: "Your Castoria is an ideal medicine for children, and I frequently prescribe it. While I do not advocate the indiscriminate use of proprietary medicines, yet Castoria is an exception for conditions which arise in the care of children."

Dr. J. A. Parker, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Your Castoria holds the esteem of the medical profession in a manner held by no other proprietary preparation. It is a sure and reliable medicine for infants and children. In fact, it is the universal household remedy for infantile ailments."

Dr. H. F. Merrill, of Augusta, Me., says: "Castoria is one of the very finest and most remarkable remedies for infants and children. In my opinion your Castoria has saved thousands from an early grave. I can furnish hundreds of testimonials from this locality as to its efficiency and merits."

MUST RETURN TO STUDIES

Children Under 16, Who Have Not Finished Grades, May Not Work.

Employers Would Have No Defense If Children Were Injured.

School children between 14 and 16 years of age who have not finished the eighth grade and who have been given employment certificates, in order that they may work, must return to school.

Thomas J. Beatty, truant officer, has begun checking over the employment lists and nearly a score of children who have been helping to support their family by working during the day and going to night school, will be required to return to their regular classes.

In reply to a letter from Supt. R. E. Denfeld recently, W. F. Houk, commissioner of labor, said: "According to the ruling of the attorney general the employment certificates you have been issuing to children who attend night school are illegal.

"If any of those children were injured seriously while employed, the employer would have no defense whatsoever and would not be covered by his insurance policy, as all policies now are made out to cover cases only that arise under the workmen's compensation act. Furthermore, the damages that could be obtained in cases of illegal employment of children are unlimited.

"It is our opinion," Mr. Houk continued in his letter, "that when employers realize this fact they will not care to employ the children. In the past they have done so, believing they were protected fully by the certificate. It is only fair to them that they be told the risks they run in cases of this kind.

"When the legislature eliminated the poverty clause from the child labor law as a reason for issuing certificates, it knew well what it was doing."

In a circular letter, sent to superintendents of schools throughout the state, the labor commissioner gives the following excerpt from Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith's ruling on the point in question: "I am of the opinion that no employment certificate could be issued by any of the officers authorized to issue the same in cases where the child has not completed the studies taught in the common schools of the district in which he resides. It is my opinion also that a certificate issued under conditions other than those specified would be illegal and would afford the employer no protection whatever."

In order to further enforce the labor laws, Truant Officer Beatty will remind employers of the feature of the law which provides that certificates must be returned to the issuing official when employment terminates.

It was said Mr. Ford intends soon to carry out his intention to devote millions of dollars to an educational campaign against war and preparedness, which he declared to be the first step toward actual war.

None of the details of the plan could be obtained except that Mr. Ford had been considering the plan for some time and that "all the people of the country would be reached by it."

SUNDAY SERMONS IN DULUTH PULPITS

NATION MUST BE PREPARED

Nothing Incompatible With Christian Ideal in Defending National Integrity.

Pastor Hoffman Advocates Training of Citizenship Along Sane Lines.

"The gospel stands for justice, for national integrity, for world humanity. There is nothing incompatible with the Christian ideal in a military preparedness which will safeguard every human interest of our nation. We protest against a huge standing army. We plead for such training of citizenship as will give authority and weight to the American position on international questions. Sanity in thought, firmness for right, unflinching loyalty to the nation—these are demanded as never before."

So declared Dr. John W. Hoffman, pastor of the First M. E. church, yesterday morning, in his sermon on "The Sword of Christ." Taking for his text Matt. x. 34, Dr. Hoffman said among other things:

"The verses of this passage are strange ones for the Master to use. One can scarcely believe they come from Him who said, 'Resist not evil,' 'God so loved the world,' 'Put up thy sword, Peter.' They are seemingly out of harmony with the prophetic portrait of the Christ as the Prince of Peace.

"Strange as they may appear, they are in perfect keeping with the final aim of the gospel of Jesus. The glorious goal of the gospel is a reconstructed social life and a perfect man. Nothing less than this satisfies the ambition of our Lord. Every moral disease must be healed, every social injustice abolished; every ramshackle philosophy as well as every dilapidated institution must be destroyed and give place to the kingdom of God.

"To rid the body of poison the physician may use drugs, hygiene or surgery. The cleansing of human life from sin and injustice may require moral surgery. It will certainly mean a battle royal—war without quarter. Peace is impossible for the gospel unless sin makes an unconditional surrender. The personal life must become healthy.

"The gospel cannot be content with any practices that are unjust and unclean. If persuasive measures fail, we must employ force. The money changers must be driven out of the temple. The community ideal must be retained in all its integrity. It is only stupid prejudice or mistaken views of Jesus which reduce Him to an affable gentleman without indignation or virility."

LINCOLN GREAT MORAL CHARACTER

Abraham Lincoln, the man, would be considered truly great, if not associated with the splendors of the presidency or any other office, declared Rev. A. L. Richardson, pastor of the Lester Park M. E. church, last night. In part, he said:

"In 1860, Lincoln was elected president. He came to rule over a divided nation. Treason had raised its horrid head. The South said: 'We will not have this man to rule over us.'

"It is impossible to us of this generation to understand the gravity of the dangers passed through in those days. Dangers from the foe at home and the foes abroad. The Confederacy was confident, and European nations were ready to welcome them as the founders of a new nation.

"Having called to mind these great days and these principles, let us look at the man. And by the blessing of God let us learn lessons from the great character whom friend and foe alike unite to revere and love on account of the intrinsic goodness of his life.

"How simple are the lives of the truly great. How truly it appears to those reduced by time, that goodness and greatness are not separated as the unthinking might suppose.

"It would be to relate well-known history of his character. He did what he did because he was what he was. Here he stands. Strip away all the splendor that surrounds the great office to which he was called, and let him stand before you a barefooted, unlettered boy and what do you see? You see a gentle, loving-hearted, loyal soul. Let him stand before you with his rough hands all calloused by the toil of the railsplitter. What do you see? A man—a gentleman with the understanding and dignity of a free manhood in his heart.

"Thus today his life reminds us afresh of the life of the Master whom so truly he served. When we speak the ineffable name of Jesus, wisdom and goodness stand revealed. And so do we think when the name of our great President is spoken. At the name of Christ every knee shall bow. In memory of Lincoln every heart shall dedicate itself to a new devotedness to the cause of human right and freedom."

RULES ARE INADEQUATE

Not Always Applicable, Says Pastor in Sermon on "Moral Discrimination."

Moral Side of Man Often Similar to Musical and Aesthetic.

Rules are inadequate for a man in a changing age, Rev. R. Edward Sayles, pastor of the First Baptist church, told an audience yesterday morning in his sermon on "Moral Discrimination."

Standard rules, he declared, were not always applicable, and the individual has a well-balanced sense of moral discrimination.

"Israel was a slave to petty rules in Jesus' day. Spain was a nation of uniformity; she is also decadent. Growing and changing life has needs and problems which can only be met by principles such as those of Jesus and by an awakened and developed sense of moral discrimination.

"Human nature has capacity for such discrimination. This is a large element in human worthfulness. Human life works from within, outwards. The individual has competency in all things moral and spiritual.

"For a democracy where great moral issues are decided by the citizenship at the voting booth, it is important that moral discrimination be developed within the citizenship.

"This latent power must be encouraged and developed in our boys and girls and young people. Superiors may choose for them now. Some day they must decide for themselves. This moral discrimination is a life-long problem. They must discriminate regarding habits, friends, amusements, theaters, occupations.

"This moral side of a man is often similar to the musical and aesthetic. The child's musical capacity is developed by studying and playing productions of the masters. The aesthetic capacity is developed by studying and copying the works of the masters. Moral capacity is developed by study of creations and lives of our moral masters—the prophets and Jesus.

"These need to be studied open mindedly and obediently. Their principles need the application of the modern man's brain."

BIBLE GUIDE TO ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Woodland M. E. Pastor Preaches on Great President's Inspiration.

Abraham Lincoln's indebtedness to the Bible formed a large part of the theme of Rev. R. E. Miller's sermon yesterday morning at the Woodland M. E. church. The pastor referred to the frequency with which Lincoln quoted from the Scriptures, and declared that the war president's power to carry the nation through that crisis was due in large part to his study of the Bible. Mr. Miller said in part:

"Abraham Lincoln's honesty, faithfulness to duty, industry and determination all were noble qualities, bue deeper than these, we find that he studied well this greatest of all books, the Bible. It was his reading of this book that helped him to do all that he did. He was ambitious, even as Caesar was ambitious. His studies, both in his boyhood and youth and during manhood, were due to his ambition. Later he became ambitious to go to congress, and he succeeded in realizing that. It was his ambition to become president that led him into the debates with Douglas, and it was as a result of those debates that he became a candidate for the presidency.

"Economic forces were dividing the nation at that time, for the South depended more on slave labor than did the North. Then there was the question of taxation, for the South maintained that it was being unfairly taxed. It was this question of taxation that finally brought about the secession. Such acts had been threatened before, at one time by the whole of New England. But it remained for the South to carry out the threat.

"Lincoln saw the danger and error in this, though there were many in the North as well as the South who held to the doctrine of state's rights. But before the seceders could come back into the Union, Fort Sumter was fired upon and the war was really started. Then Lincoln's leadership became more and more striking, and the wisdom and other high qualities he showed then have led us to esteem him even more than we do George Washington; for though the latter is known as the father of our country, we realize now that we did not have a really united government until the close of the Civil war."

Hill's Cousin Buried.

Newburg, N. D., Feb. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—James J. Hill of Newburg, second cousin of James J. Rill of St. Paul, was buried here Sunday. Hill, for three terms a member of the state legislature, died last Thursday at Great Falls, Mont., of cancer. He had resided in this district many years.

FOR BRONCHITIS, PAINFUL COUGH, WHOOPING COUGH AND COLDS

Cheapest Remedy Made at Home—128 Teaspoonsful for 50 Cents.

When in need of a remedy for the treatment of Bronchial Affections, such as Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Stubborn Coughs, Colds or Hoarseness, don't simply ask the druggist for a "Cough Medicine" but get the best. Tell him to give you Schiffmann's New Concentrated Expectorant, instead of being induced into buying something else purely on the strength of some testimonials or the exaggerated claims of the manufacturer. The same "Money Back" guarantee goes with every bottle of this remedy sold by Lyceum Pharmacy as does with Dr. Schiffmann's famous Asthmador and your money will be refunded, if it does not give perfect satisfaction; in fact even more, if it is not found the best remedy ever used for these affections. In buying this new remedy, besides securing the guarantee these druggists give, it will likewise be found the most economical to use, for the reason that one bottle (50 cents' worth) makes a full pint (128 teaspoonsful) of the most excellent cough medicine, after being mixed at home with one pint of granulated sugar and one-half pint of water. One bottle will probably, therefore, be sufficient for a whole family's supply the entire winter, while the same quantity of the old, ordinary, ready-made kinds of medicine would cost between $2 and $3. It is prepared from strictly harmless plants, contains absolutely no chloroform, opium, morphine or any other narcotic or injurious drugs as do most cough remedies, and it can therefore be given to children with perfect safety. It is pleasant to take and children are fond of it. Absolutely no risk whatever is run in buying this remedy under the above positive guarantee. R. J. Schiffmann, Prop., St. Paul, Minn.

SUBMERGING INDIVIDUALITY

Dr. Ryan at St. Paul's Deprecates Waiting for Popular Action.

Cites Case of Barak as Illustrating What Glory Can Be Missed.

The average man waits until the crowd decides how to act before he makes up his mind, or until the majority is with him—he wants company to encourage him, Dr. A. W. Ryan, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, told his congregation Sunday morning. His theme was "Barak and Deborah."

"Abraham Lincoln's life was a striking example of individual personality," Dr. Ryan said. "He did his duty as revealed to him in his personal relationship to God, without waiting for the co-operation or support of the country."

In beginning his sermon, Dr. Ryan said:

"Israel had been under bondage for her sins. The prophetess, Deborah, saw the psychological moment for an effort for fredom. She called Barak to lead an army against the people of Jabin, king of Canaan, but Barak saw the difficulties and would not undertake the venture unless she accompanied him—a fit symbol of the world turning to religion when all else fails. Barak lost the chance to gain great honor by not going forth to do his duty alone. He took divided honors with a woman; two women, for that matter.

Lacking in Faith.

"We want company to encourage us, and wait until the crowd shall decide how to act, or the majority is with us. We have not the faith to go alone with the assurance that God is with those who do his work. People of ordinary means linger for the rich to bear the financial burdens, a vast mistake, for we all should desire to share the recompense when it comes and none is for those who have not helped.

"We stay out of the church because of someone we do not like, or whose acts we cannot justify. Or, we hesitate because we wish someone of greater courage to take up the charity cause and we come in a poor second. What a waste of personality and of real honor.

"We might look at personality as character in action, what our character has amounted to, because it has gone into action and become a power. God has always a larger conception of the personality we may have than we are able to realize for ourselves. So God measures us not by some other man, not by what someone else does or does not do, but by His Son, Jesus Christ. The call of duty, wide and high, is but the realization of what God divines in us, as really belonging to our personality. Call in someone else and the honors are divided."

CO-OPERATION BEST POLICY

Prosperity Must Be General to Be Most Effective, Says Pastor.

Nations Bankrupted By War Cannot Be Good Customers.

That both nations and individuals should regulate their activities with an idea in view as to the effect they will have upon other nations and individuals was the leading thought in the sermon preached by Dr. George R. Gebauer yesterday morning at the First Unitarian church. He said in part:

"The weal and woe of one nation stands in close touch with the prosperity and happiness of the others. If today we as a nation really are enjoying prosperity in business on account of the distress of Europe, we may be quite certain that such prosperity is built upon the sands. When the war at last will be over, when the various nations will face bankruptcy, when gaunt poverty will stalk across Europe, where will be our prosperity? Or do you believe that nations stand outside the economic law to which the individual is subject? Or do you believe that business must be good when and wherever people are in want of things? If this were really so, then business would naturally be best where there was the most want. But this is not so. The store that would do business must be in a community where there is not only demand for its ware, but where there is money to buy it. If the majority of people in Duluth were to lose their possessions, then business would practically come to a standstill in spite of all want.

The Same With Nations.

"Now the same with nations. A bankrupt nation is a nation that can not meet its obligations, because its citizens have no money and consequently can not buy of other nations. Not many automobiles will go over from here to Russia after the war and not many other things more needed than cars. Indeed even indirectly we shall feel the waste of wealth this war has brought about. Europe will not be able to buy much from South America, and consequently South America, whose entire prosperity rests upon European capital which, in part at least, after the war will have to be withdrawn, will have but little money to invest in our manufacture and produce. Besides, the war has taught the nations the great lesson that a nation is only so far truly independent as it is not dependent upon the produce of other lands. A nation that for its foodstuffs must go to other nations, which at any time may place an embargo upon its produce, is so far dependent upon that other nation and, in case of war, at its mercy. Hence the nations after the war will endeavor to make as much as possible what they need at home and live on home produce.

"Thus it is easy to see, that the peace, the well-being and happiness of one nation is closely connected with that of the others. Our industries in the past have flourished, not because the European people were so utterly poor, but because they were getting to be so rich. And, of course, no more foolish procedure can be imagined than when one nation deliberately plans to bring about the downfall of another; it simply means that such a nation endeavors to lessen its own prosperity. And about just as foolish it is, when any neutral nation, for the sake of immediate gain, helps to prolong a war which in its consequences must in the end harm it. The present war is killing the geese which laid the golden eggs for all the nations.

"Now as is the life of nations interwoven, so is that of the community. You and I have a real interest in the prosperity of every industry and house of trade in Duluth. Our individual prosperity is bound up with the prosperity of others. And in this light, too, it is easy to see that the individual who makes the best of himself by that becomes a helper of others. And again the man who neglects his opportunities in life insofar robs his fellowmen of the benefit his own effort should give them. Human lives, in other words, are inter-responsible and so-called personal liberty involves great duties. We are mutually debtors and creditors of one another. We cannot harm ourselves without also harming every one in the community present and future. Irresponsible personal liberty belongs to the region of wild asses. The more I truly prize my personal liberty, the more I must feel that I am a responsible being. Personal liberty means to unfortunately not a few that they can do with their lives as they please as long as they do not directly interfere with other lives. They will surround their existence with a little fence and declare: 'This is my holding, here I may do as it suits me. This is my body and my intellect and I may use it or abuse as I see fit. This is my lot in the garden of life and I may let the weeds grow in it or let the pigs run about in it; it concerns no one but me.'

False Philosophy.

"How obvious the falsity of such a philosophy. That body and that brain of yours belong in part to me and to all your friends and neighbors. You may have a perfect right to drink what you please, but if your drinking injures your usefulness and effectiveness as man and citizen, you simply abuse your personal freedom and fail to give to others what you owe to them. You owe a sound body and sound mind and soul to your family and to the community and country. If you destroy your mental and moral self by overindulgence you cannot fulfil the duties of a citizen. Again, supposing you are a man of wealth, may you do as you please with it? Not by any means. Your wealth is to a large degree common wealth. It should serve the common weal. Certainly no one would consider a man a moral character who would invest all his wealth in fireworks and shoot them off on his birthday just for the fun of it. Neither would you hold him to be a true citizen, who would convert his property into gold bullion, hire a vessel, run it far out into the lake and there dump his wealth. If a man did so, he would do a greater crime and wrong to the community than the fellow who would rob some wealthy parasite and establish with the money useful industries. To the moral man money as everything else means moral opportunity. The spendthrift injures others as much and often more than the thief. There is, in fact, not a single thing in all your life but it concerns others. Your work and your soort, your marrying or your single blessedness concerns us all. Truly we are members one of another and each member in its freedom must be aware of its great responsibility to others."

EMANCIPATION IS STILL NEEDED

New Moral, Political and Spiritual Consciousness Urged By Pastor.

The elimination of certain flaws in American life today is just as necessary for the good of the nation as was the emancipation of the negro race in the time of Lincoln, according to Rev. Hardy A. Ingham, pastor of the Endion M. E. church. Teaching of American ideals and laws to the foreigner coming to the United States and raising the political and moral standards of life are among the prime essentials of the day, he said. His sermon in part follows:

"The greatness of a man is measured by the deeds which give expression to the qualities of his life. Yet the soul is always greater than any expression of quality it is able to give. Perhaps this is one reason why great men are seldom appreciated by their contemporaries. Secretary of War Stanton approached the true estimate of Mr. Lincoln's greatness when just before his passing he said of him: 'Now he belongs to the ages,' and a few moments after his going he declared: 'There lies the greatest ruler of men.' However, the passing years have added to his glory, as they have tested the value of his deeds.

"We have today just as many and great emancipation needs as in the sixties. First there are certain forms of political emancipation which are needed before the 'common good' will be ours. Second there is much of personal emancipation needed. Racial emancipation has been technically accomplished and will be actually so with the realization of personal emancipation. The uneducated, both white and black, need the training of mind and the lifting of moral standards. The foreigner is also to be taught American principles and ideals. He must also be emancipated from superstitions inherited from his own land and from false conceptions of American principles. However, I believe hyphenated Americanism has been over-emphasized.

"We also need an emancipation that will usher in a new moral and spiritual consciousness."

COMMANDMENTS STILL IN FORCE

Ten "God Forbids" Did Not End With Christ, Says Pastor White.

Last night at the Seventh Day Adventist church, Tenth avenue east and Sixth street, Pastor Stemple White spoke to a large audience on the subject, "Paul's Ten 'God Forbids' vs. Antinomianism." He said in part:

"Antinomianism is that doctrine which confuses the moral and ceremonial law, and abrogates both at Calvary. In spite of the fact that the transgression of God's immutable law nailed Jesus to the cross as our substitute, in whose body the scarred cost marks of redemption will declare throughout all eternity the perfection of the ten commandments, this lawless theology is fairly honey-combing Twentieth century Protestanism, regardless of the printed authoritative denominational utterances that the ten commandments are binding on all in all ages. John Wesley was a most able opponent of Antinomianism, and Abraham Lincoln often said that when he found a church that was keeping the ten commandments he would join that church.

"Paul instructed the Galatian churches not to serve the ceremonial law of Moses, since those shadowy rites perished by limitation at the cross, but he declared in the Roman epistle that he himself served the law of God, and that the purpose of the atonement was, that righteousness of the law might be fulfilled in the individual believer. So Christ is the end, or object, of the law for righteousness to the believer, but not to the unbeliever. Peter declared that some wrest these statements of Paul to their own destruction, and the wine of Antinomianism has robbed many a man of his sense and reason.

"Carnality opposes God's law, and antinomianism is not much in love with the Bible Sabbath, the sign of Christ's power as creator, redeemer and sanctifier because it is the very seal of his law.

"If ministers were as true to the word of God today as Paul was in his day, the whole counsel of God would be declared, and nothing profitable would be kept back. In place of a compromising federation of a union of churches on a political basis, there would be more real gospel preaching and an individual walking in the light, and a complete coming out of Babylon into the unity of the faith of the remnant commandment-keeping church of Jesus Christ."

"Have a Heart!"

TELLS STORY OF LINCOLN

Judge Ensign Discusses Meeting With Martyred President.

Men's Club of Endion Church Gives Patriotic Program.

Judge J. D. Ensign, who had met and talked with Abraham Lincoln, in an address before the Men's club of the Endion M. E. church last Saturday evening told the story he heard the martyred president tell about a new suit of clothes the latter was wearing shortly after the famous ride from Harrisburg to Baltimore.

In a reminiscent mood, the local jurist told of having been invited to the inauguration of President Lincoln by Senator Benjamin F. Wade, accompanying the latter's son from Jefferson, Ohio, to Washington. It was while they were in the senator's room at the hotel on Pennsylvania avenue that they saw Lincoln crossing the street on his way to call on Mr. Wade.

"Senator Wade and I were standing at our windows looking out on Pennsylvania avenue, when he pointed to a man crossing the street. 'Know that man?' asked Senator Wade. 'I do not; it looks like Mr. Lincoln.' And so it was, and he was on his way to call on the senator.

"Mr. Lincoln was ushered in and I was preparing to take my leave, but the senator urged me to stay, and it was in this way that I got to meet and hear talk the man I believe to have been the greatest president in the history of our country.

"These two gentlemen were warm friends. Their talk was about their days in congress together, and I do not recall many of the facts as I did not know the men about whom they conversed. I do remember that Mr. Lincoln paid a glowing tribute to Joshua R. Giddings and inquired about him.

"As Mr. Lincoln was about to leave he got up and asked Senator Wade if he observed he was wearing a new suit of clothes.

"'I do not like to put on new clothes,' said Mr. Lincoln. 'When I do I always want to go out in the rain first. Now my wife, when she puts on a new dress, she wants a pretty bright day, so she can wear it out and show it off. I much prefer the suit I wore from Harrisburg through Baltimore, on my way here—except the Scotch hat.' This was the disguise his friends urged Lincoln to wear—fearing assassination."

Civil war veterans were honored guests at the Lincoln day banquet, which preceded the program of addresses. The women of the church served the dinner, after which Dr. Hardy A. Ingham, pastor of the Endion church, welcomed the visitors in behalf of the Men's club. J. K. Lewis, president of the club, acted as toastmaster during the evening.

Addresses were delivered by Judge Smallwood and J. H. Baker, representing Culver and Gorman posts, respectively; Elmer Blu, who spoke on "Lincoln and Popular Government," and Dr. Maurice Lefkovits of Temple Emanuel, who spoke on "Standing Alone." Robert Drummond sang several numbers, accompanied by Mrs. Arthur N. Collins, and Miss Gladys Magner rendered cello solos.

AUTO SHOW NOW HISTORY

Duluth's Second Exhibit Attracted 26,000 Spectators to Armory.

Estimate That Exhibitors Sold 200 Machines During the Week.

Horns tooted, sirens blew and the orchestra played, while Duluthians applauded as the lights at the new armory went out, bringing to a close the show that attracted approximately 26,000 persons during the week.

The show was a success throughout, the attendance far exceeding the expectations of the dealers, while the sale of cars direct to the buyers established the local show as one of the best retail exhibits in the country. About 200 machines, it is estimated, were sold during the week.

About seventy-five factory representatives were here during show week, assisting the local dealers in "putting across" the talking points of their respective cars. Most of them left yesterday for their factories, while the few remaining will be in Duluth two or three days longer for the purpose of advising their agents relative to the selling campaigns planned for this year.

W. F. Daly, manager of the show, announced that the dealers are already looking ahead to next year's show, which will exceed the one of last week. Next year, he said, pleasure cars will be placed on the main floor and in the basement, while the accessories will be on display in the balcony, permitting the exhibition of about forty more machines.

The motor ice races planned for last week, but postponed because of the condition of the ice and snow, will be staged sometime this week, it was announced Saturday evening.

CONNOR CASE UP IN DISTRICT COURT

Whether an alien who enters the United States without passing an examination conducted by immigration inspectors can be held a prisoner pending hearing on a charge of deportation when no deportable offense is named in the warrant of arrest, is the question which is before District Judge Dancer this afternoon in habeas corpus proceedings brought on behalf of Mike Connor, held as a United States prisoner at the county jail.

Connor, a deserter from the Canadian army, came to the United States in February, 1915. He eluded the immigration inspectors and when they discovered the fact they arrested him for being unlawfully in the United States. His attorney, W. W. Barron of Grand Rapids, claims that his detention is unlawful and seeks his release. United States District Attorney Jaques is appearing on behalf of the government at the hearing.

OSSEO STATE BANK TO PAY 50 PER CENT

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Notice of payment of 50 per cent of the claims against the Osseo State bank, which was closed July 10, 1915, following discovery of shortages totaling more than $50,000, was filed in the Hennepin county district court today by Albert H. Turrittin, state superintendent of banks. The superintendent refused to allow a claim of $10,000 to a guaranty company for its protection of the bank. He held the depositors who actually lost cash should be paid first.

Joseph B. Thompson, cashier, who pleaded guilty to taking the funds, is serving time in the state penitentiary on three sentences, which have a total maximum of forty years.

NOTED JURIST IS DULUTH VISITOR

Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, United States Federal judge of Chicago, is in Duluth today. Judge Landis, who fined the Standard Oil company $29,000,000 and has handled some of the largest cases in the history of the United States judiciary, called at the Duluth Federal court offices during the day to pay his respects to Judge Page Morris, who is absent from the city.

Judge Landis is holding court in Superior and expects to return to Chicago late today or early tomorrow.

Had it not been that the baseball war was settled by arbitration, it would have devolved upon Judge Landis to render a decision in the suit brought by the Federal league for the dissolution of the forces of organized baseball.

FAST TIME ON NEW YORK-DULUTH MESSAGES

E. F. Kelley, manager of the Duluth office of the Western Union, has returned from Minneapolis, where he was attending the annual meeting of the Western Union's district managers in Minnesota, Wisconsin, and the two Dakotas. Mr. Kelley said today that about seventy-five of the managers were present and some interesting facts and suggestions as to service developed during the discussion.

Among other things, Mr. Kelley said, it was shown that Duluth and the Twin Cities are getting remarkable fast telegraph service from all points, a message filed in New York for Duluth, for instance, reaching the Duluth office two minutes afterwards, there being a direct wire from Gotham to this point.

"The Down Town Church."

Dr. H. G. Beeman, pastor of the First Baptist church of St. Paul, will speak on "The Downtown Church" at the Duluth Baptist union rally to be held this evening at 6:30 o'clock at the First Baptist church, Ninth avenue east and First street. A banquet will be served. A musical and literary program will follow.

Dr. Beeman was a guest today of Rev. Herbert Ford of the West Duluth Baptist church. He arrived in the city this morning and will leave for his home on a late train tonight.

DEFENSE PROBLEMS IN CENTER OF STAGE

Washington, Feb. 14.—National preparedness problems again held the center of the stage in congressional committee activity today.

Having concluded its hearings on military defense questions, Chairman Chamberlain and his associates on the senate military committee today began framing a bill on the subject. They were to incorporate in the measure a plan of federalization of the national guard to create a reserve defense force.

Chairman Hay and members of the house committee resumed today work of redrafting the house defense bill to eliminate the continental army feature and place in its stead the plan for federalizing troops.

The house naval committee today began an exhaustive inquiry into submarine warfare and the alleged shortcomings of American submarines.

Abandonment of the coast defense type of submarine was recommended by Admiral Grant. Limitations of cruising radius, unseaworthiness and other limitations made it advisable, he said, in future to build only submersibles of the 1,000-ton fleet submarine type of which three have been authorized and none is yet complete.

"They are too small to be of any adequate service," he said.

BULGARIA IS SAID TO HAVE ASKED FOR PEACE

London, Feb. 14.—The Exchange agency received the following dispatch yesterday from Athens:

"It is confirmed in Entente circles that Bulgaria has made overtures for a separate peace to the Entente powers."

STUDENT BOUGHT DRUGS FOR GIRL

Madison, Wis., Feb. 14.—William H. Orpet, university student, who is held for the murder of Marian Lambert, bought an ounce of drug to be used in connection with the condition he believed Miss Lambert to be in from Charles W. Hassinger, a student, an extra drug clerk in a local pharmacy last August through William Zick, his former roommate.

Hassinger admitted this to a detective, and Victor S. Barnett, a local reporter, today at his home in Milton Junction, where he was interviewed. He repeated this statement at the Madison police station later.

Last Tuesday before Orpet went to Lake Forest to meet the girl who was found dead in the woods the next morning, he purchased a bottle of medicine from Hassinger. The drug clerk denies that he sold the student any poison at this time, but detectives are working on the case and declare they believe he did. They say that Hassinger's admission that he sold the drug to Orpet is ground for believing possibly another drug was sold the second time.

Orpet disclosed Hassinger's connection with the case Sunday and word was immediately telephoned to the Burns operative here.

TO COMPEL COUNTY TO PAY ITS SHARE

Madison, Wis., Feb. 14.—Attorney General Owen today announced he would immediately begin action against the county board of Columbia county to compel it to make an appropriation of $12,000 as its share toward the building of a bridge across the Wisconsin river at Prairie du Sac.

Under the law enacted such appropriations are compulsory. The bridge is to cost $72,000. Other localities interested in the bridge have made appropriations.

MIKE GIBBONS MATCHED TO BOX HUSKY JEFF SMITH

St. Paul Phantom to Engage in First Contest Under His $30,000 Contract; It Looks as If Frank Gotch Is Coming Back for a Stecher Match; Tom Jones Talking Again.

BY BRUCE.

MIKE GIBBONS and Jeff Smith are to mingle in a St. Paul ring on the large and open-faced evening of March 17. This contest is supposed, one might say alleged, to be the first highly localized and superlatively expensive appearance of the Phantom under the new contract he recently signed with the Capitol City Athletic club, under the terms of which Mike is to receive $30,000 for making three fights before the boxing organization of his own home town.

Unless the Les Darcey person is permitted to come to the United States, some conservative citizens who look upon things financial without the least sign of emotion or frenzy even of a mild sort, are speculating as to how the St. Paul club can come through with a pleasant looking ledger after paying the $30,000 in the case over to the smiling Mr Gibbons.

Should the rising and impetuous young Australian blacksmith take ship for the well known U. S. A., and engage in hostilities with Mr. Gibbons in the town that exhibits fervor and rare enthusiasm whenever the name of the Phantom is mentioned, there is the alluring prospect that the house would amount to the dizzy figure of $50,000. Under those circumstances the Capitol City club would be a velvet winner and would own the eminent distinction of putting something over on a boxer, a distinction that is at the present time possessed by few boxing organizations in the country.

But should the Australian government's military authorities remain obdurate and all that sort of thing—and they have a habit of doing just that—it looks to the calm ring philosopher up the tree that the St. Paul organization has bitten off a morsel of ring food that will require some effort to masticate.

Friend of the People.

TOM EDWARD JONES comes flamboyantly to the front and registers a severe and most emphatic protest against the charging of excessive prices for the Willard-Moran fight. Listen, persons, don't get the inkling or the impression or the hunch that Thomas is the sincere friend of the public; Tom has secured a flat guarantee for the services of Willard and it makes little difference to him how high the house receipts mount. Tex Rickard is the "I should worry" guy. He holds the bag, if a bleary deficit sneaks into the picture. Tom Jones looks fine yelling for low prices; yes he does. If he was working on percentage he would be covering large sheets of paper with urgent and fervent requests that the admission prices be steep and thoroughly in accord with the magnitude and importance of the match.

Lots and lots of arguments hover closely around the point of whose ox is being gored.

Hope Springs Eternal.

THE merry gink who penned the glowing words concerning the fact that hope springs eternal in the human breast, was brief and to the point. It does. Michah. Frank Gotch, the one athletic person most of us believed eminently sane and sensible, is going to return to the wrestling game.

Frank is to start in Los Angeles, a section of the country that before the passage of legal measure supposed to foster culture and a kindly brother feeling, was the stamping ground of the red-necked and hamfisted bruiser, and from there will doubtless radiate toward the thickly populated eastern section with a number of matches.

It all, naturally, will lead up to a contest with Joe Stecher. Gotch retired from the mat for the reason that there were no real opponents left, and another reason, because he is equipped and concretely reinforced with a large and healthy looking bank roll. Why the Humboldt farmer should return to the mat, is a mystery to a lot of keen followers of athletics in general and wrestling in particular.

Jeff quit the ring when there was but one man to fight him. That man was Jack Johnson. Jeff waited until idleness and dissipation had robbed him of the pugilistic luster of his earlier years ,then came back and made a fiasco out of a battle that was played up in more glowing fashion than any oher pugilisic contest in the history of the world.

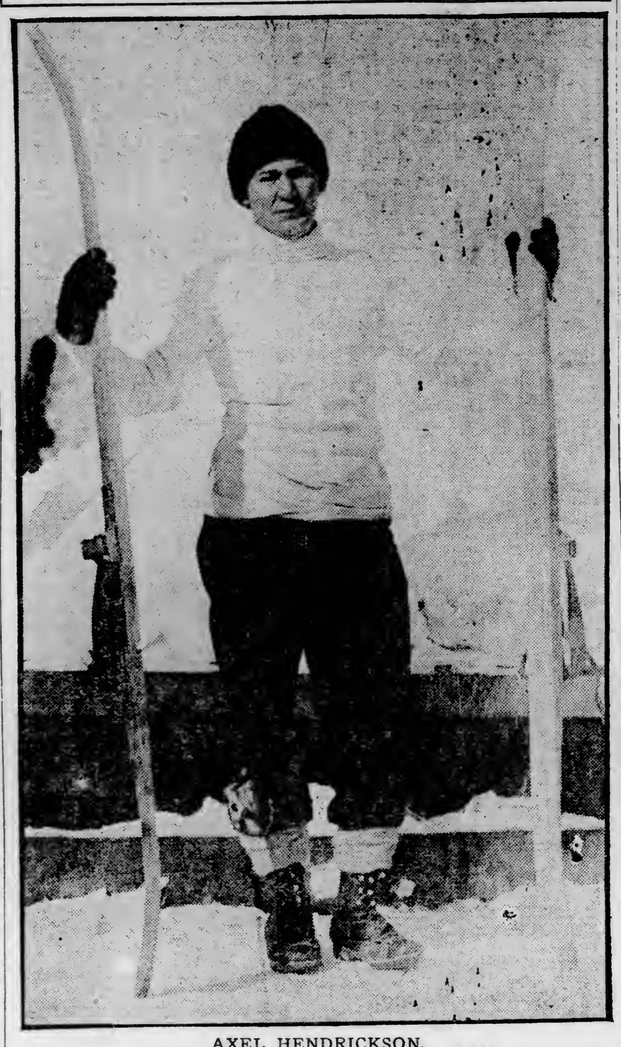

If Frank Albert Gotch and this Joe Stecher person meet, as the indications point, take it from us that the interest in the contest will be tremendous and the gate receipts something especially unpleasant for the envious gent to cogitate upon.

Whether it is greed for money, for Gotch is truly a thrifty soul, that is luring him back to the wrestling pad, or an emphatic belief that he is the master of the freak of Dodge, Neb., is possibly a question to which only Gotch himself knows the true and rightful answer.

Every man in the world tenaciously clings to the belief, often ornerous, that he is as good as in the days that have excessively yored. This fatuous belief is one of the glaring fallacies of the history of champion athletes. Gotch once told us he knew he was not as good as he was several years ago. That was the day Beell and Yokel wrestled here. The Humboldt farmer surely is not any better today. But, this hope eternal stuff, maybe is eternaling something awful, for we are beholding the preparation of Gotch, and lo and behold, presently we will most likely see him led forth to battle.

It will be a crime, a shame, an event to be sincerely regretted, if Gotch, a shadow of his former self, meets and is beaten by Stecher. Most of us prefer to remember Gotch as the invincible and unconquerable. But, alas, it begins to appear that Gotch is really going out for one more big contest.

Crack Riders Will Compete on Chester Hill Next Sunday—Club Committees Will Endeavor to Interest Business Men and Create New Spirit of Enthusiasm—Entries Already Received.

A tournament will be held by the Duluth Ski club on the Chester park hill next Sunday afternoon. Definite and positive announcement to this effect was made today after the return of several of the club's officers from the range, where a canvass was made of the possibility of securing some of the crack riders for the local tournament.

Two have already sent in their names. Erelling Landvich of Stoughton, Mich., and Gilbert Hagene of Mount Horeb, Wis., are the first riders to send their entries in. Peter Wright, secretary of the club, announced today that David Lind, the one-armed rider, and Sigurd Bergeson, who won the amateur championship at last year's Duluth tournament, would also compete.

Big Tournament Expected.

The work of clearing roads to the grounds and hauling some of the snow from the club seats and parkway, will be begun tomorrow. The officers of the club plan to make it possible to drive automobiles onto the grounds.

With the promise of the best riders in the Northwest already secured, the officers of the Duluth Ski club will make a canvass of local business men and merchants during the present week in an effort to make the 1917 tournament of the club a great and unqualified success.

All conditions were carefully investigated before a decision was arrived at regarding the tournament of this season. It was finally decided that work and a vast amount of labor would be needed to make the tourney a success. Various committees have been appointed and it is stated that the club is going into the work of promoting the tournament of next Sunday determined to make it a real success.

VIRGINIA TEAM TO PLAY HERE

Crack Range Quint to Meet Duluth Basket Ball Team.

Virginia's crack basket ball team, which has already won the range championship and has not lost a game this season, will meet the Duluth quintet on the new armory floor next Saturday evening. The local team will be strengthened during the present week by the acquisition of several strong players. Vic Holman of Superior will play with the local quintet agafnst the rangers.

A number of college players are in the lineup of the range team. Several Wisconsin stars have made the Virginia aggregation one of the best in the entire Northwest.

Practice sessions will be held every evening this week in an endeavor to strengthen the local five. Manager Lawrence Duby declared today that he would have a strong team in the field and he believed that the contest with the rangers will produce some very fast basket ball.

The game on Saturday will be the first big basket ball game to be held on the new armory floor, one of the finest and largest floor spaces in the West.

luth won the trophy last year, defeating George La Batt's strong Minneapolis rink for the famous Merriam medal.

Bob Dunbar may bring a rink up from St. Paul to play for the title. Sam Hastings is playing third in Dunbar's rink this season, so if the man rated as the greatest curler in the world comes here, it can be set down as a certainty that he will have a very strong rink.

A number of Twin City rinks will play for the trophy. Both Duluth and West Duluth will be well represented.

Finals in the Head of the Lakes curling spiel, preliminary play in which began Friday evening and continued all day Saturday, were reached so late Saturday evening that it was decided to play the final games some time next week.

OMTVEDT LEADS IN TAME SKI TOURNEY

No Records Even Approached in Gary, Ill., Jumps.

Chicago, Feb. 14.—Ragnar Omtvedt of Chicago yesterday was awarded first prize in the professional division at the annual ski tournament of the Norge Ski club of Chicago at Gary, Ill. Omtvedt scored 285 points. Henry Hall of Steamboat Springs, Colo., was second with 278 1-3 points.

Although the weather was ideal for the meet, no records were even approached. Damp snow, with a take-off banked too high were said to be the chief reasons for the poor showing. Henry Hall made the longest jump, 131 feet, with Omtvedt second with a mark of 128 feet. The American record is 169 feet, held by Omtvedt, who also is the former European champion.

All of the skiers were disqualified in the long standing jump, the rules for which provide that a skier to win a mark must take the jump without falling. They all fell.

The entries and the points made by each were:

Ragnar Omtvedt, Chicago, 285; Henry Hall, Steamboat Springs, Colo., 278 1-3; Fred Bruun, Chicago, 256; Lars Haugen, Chippewa Falls, 210; Anders Haugen, Milwaukee, 198; Thorlief Knudsen, Milwaukee, 196; Karl Hall, Steamboat Springs, Colo., 196; Barney Reilly, Blair, Wis., 189 2-3; Sigurd Overbye, Hudson, Wis., 174; Ole Bjerke, Chicago, 172.

Sigurd Overbye was injured when he fell on his second jump, and was unable to continue. His injuries were not regarded as serious.

In the amateur division, Krist Juules of Chicago won first; Gilbert Hagene of Mount Horeb, Wis., second, and Andrew Olson of Iola, Wis., third. The longest jump by an amateur was 122 feet, by Einarnsen of Chicago.

DULUTH GETS 1917 TOURNEY

International Bowling Association Votes This City as Next Year's Host.

Local Representatives on Directorate Left for Duluth to Decide.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 14.—Duluth was voted the 1917 tournament of the International Bowling association at the annual business meeting of the association here yesterday. The date of the tournament will be fixed later by the board of directors, and the meet will be handled by the Head of the Lakes Bowling association of Duluth. All officers were re-elected as follows:

President, H. B. Patterson, Minneapolis; first vice president, C. B. Gibson, Winnipeg; second vice president, F. B. Mample, St. Paul; third vice president, D. A. Luby, Chicago; secretary, T. J. Ronewald, St. Paul; and treasurer, W. A. Ryberg, Minneapolis.

President Patterson, addressing the business session, said the bowling situation had a promising outlook. Mr. Mample, second vice president, said the expenses were greater than the receipts in last year's tournament, but that this year the reverse was the situation.

Must Raise Cash.

The resolution to hold next year's meeting at Duluth, providing the necessary financial backing and support was given, was introduced by the board of directors, and adopted by the meeting 25 to 17.

It was decided that, instead of giving certificates, medals would be given hereafter to any one rolling a perfect score on a certified alley.

Directors were elected from various cities, but the Duluth representatives were not chosen, the meeting deciding to leave that for decision by the Duluth club, in order that the men who would be the greatest boosters for the 1917 tournament might be selected.

A boosters' committee of four also was elected by the convention. It includes J. F. Ford, Fort Dodge, Iowa; M. P. Kroening, Milwaukee; H. S. Montgomery, Grand Forks, and J. Lorinzin, Dubuque.

Today's Playing.

Nine shifts were on today's schedule of play with out-of-town entries again figuring prominently.

With a score of 625, W. J. Holmberg of Willmar, Minn., led the singles when play started; F. Thoma and R. Rolfe of Chicago, with 1,174, were in first place in the doubles and Chicago teams held the first three positions in the five-man events, the Jose Gomez quintet leading with 2,830.

BIG FEATHER IN LOCAL BOWLERS' CAP

Securing of I. B. A. Tourney for Duluth Means Decided Boost for the Alley Game.

Duluth bowlers are jubilant today over the securing of the 1917 meeting of the I. B. A. for Duluth. This will prove a big boost for the alley game here, it is pointed out, and is also a great feather in the cap of the Northern Bowling association of Duluth, which has made a great success of the tourneys staged here during the last few years.

It is certain that there will be at least one new bowling alley here before the start of next season. Negotiations are under way for the securing of an eight-alley hall on First avenue west and First street. There is also a rumor that a new ten-alley room will be put in on Superior street.

For the last few seasons Duluth has been forging to the front as a live center of bowling. The securing of the I. B. A. national meet is a just recognition of the place taken by this town.

The awarding of next year's I. B. A. tourney to Duluth means that between 1,500 and 2,000 outside bowlers will be brought here. Teams from all parts of the country will come. The tourney will last for ten days or two weeks.

SUPERIOR COMING IN

City Across the Bay Will Enter 1916 Northern League Race.

Superior will be back in the Northern league at the start of the 1916 Northern league baseball season. Definite announcement to this effect was made today. Along with the announcement came another one, which declared that Superior would squeeze into the league without settling the $1,500 indebtedness that has been a question of grave contention for some time back.

Whether Charles Moll, former president of the W.-I. league and also last year manager of the St. Boniface team, will be manager and stockholder of the Superior club, is a matter that has not been settled as yet. There will be a meeting of Superior business men during the week, when it is expected that the matter will be settled definitely, one way or the other.

Should Moll be secured as manager of the Superior team, he will bring nearly all of the players now under contract to the St. Boniface club.

LABE SAFRO AND BILLINGS

These Boxers May Figure on Next Card of Duluth Athletic Club.

Kid Billings and Labe Safro may meet in the semi-windup of the next fight to be held on this side of the bay. While the announcement of the makeup of the next card is not ready as yet, it is said that some good bouts are being arranged.

Safro wants to meet the best Head of the Lakes welterweight, and Kid Billings has announced his readiness to meet the slashing Minneapolis Hebrew boxer.

The Minneapolis boy carries a terrific wallop in his right mitt. It is believed Billings would have the edge in cleverness, but when it came to punching power, Labe would have the call.

As Jeff Smith is to fight Mike Gibbons in St. Paul, an effort may be made to bring the Eastern boxer here soon after his bout with the Phantom in St. Paul.

Negotiations are being held in an effort to secure the Auditorium for the next bout of the club. It is also stated that in the event of a big card being lined up, an effort will be made to secure the use of the new armory. The armory will seat a huge number of persons, and the local boxing promoters feel that they could bring a big card here if some large hall could be secured.

There is some talk of Joe Welling and Freddy Welsh being the principals of the next card. It is expected that the principals of the next bout will be known within the next few days.

WESTERN LEAGUE MEETS

Annual Gathering for Schedule-Making at Lincoln, Neb.

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 14.—Officials and club owners of the Western League of Baseball Clubs met here today to draft a schedule for the 1916 season and discuss business of the organization. The meeting was the first under direction of the new president, Frank Zehrung of Lincoln.

Talk of a 154-game schedule was heard at the preliminary conferences. Some deals for players were also discussed.

Offer to Fred Welsh.

New Orleans, La., Feb. 14.—Dominick Tortorich, a local boxing promoter, announced last night that he had offered Freddie Welsh $10,000 guarantee and $500 training expenses to meet the winner of the Dundee-Mandot match, to be held in New Orleans on March 4, for the lightweight championship.

American-Swedish Football Clash.

Stockholm, via London, Feb. 14.—The Swedish Football association has invited the American Football association to play a match in Sweden next summer. If this is impossible, a Swedish football team will go to the United States, accompanied by an athletic team.

FARMER CHOPS SHEEP FROM FROZEN GROUND

Grant City, Mo., Feb. 14.—J. V. Willhite, a farmer near here, spent the greater part of the morning chopping his sheep from the icy ground to which they had been frozen during Saturday night's sleet.

Saturday night when Willhite found it impossible to drive the sheep back to their pens, he took a load of straw bedding to the sheep and left them in the open for the night.

In the morning he found some of the sheep standing and some lying, but all frozen to the ground. After he had chopped them from the ice the sheep seemed none the worse for the experience.

Badger Railroad Fined.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 14.—False billing of lumber transported by the Laona & Northern Railway company, owned by the lumber company in which Former Lieut.-Gov. W. D. Connor is largely interested, led to the imposition of a fine of $6,000 by Judge Geiger in United States district court. A plea of nolo contendere was entered in relation to the first two counts of one indictment and the same as to another and the carrier was fined $1,000 on each of the remaining six counts. One indictment against the Connor Land & Lumber company was nolled.

Bad News For Buttermilk Fans

WILLIAM BRADY M.D

Every new "cure" has its early day of wonder-working, then a day of doubt, finally a day of desuetude. Now comes the desuetude of the Bulgarian bacillus, the sour milk cure. It appears that the lactic acid germ, the old age specific of Metchnikoff, has its untoward effects.

When you drink buttermilk, soured milk or any of the Bulgarian bacillus cultures, you are aiding and abetting the formation of lactic acid in the intestinal canal. Now, just for the sake of argument, let's say you are anemic, cachectic from some chronic disease, or emaciated. In such case you would probably be already more or less poisoned by "acidosis," which means the accumulation of carbonic acid gas and other acid combinations in the blood and tissues. To feed on an acid-producing substance of the nature of buttermilk or Bulgarian bacillus cultures would obviously be adding fuel to the fire, take it from Dr. Orvall Smiley, who has studied the matter carefully and knows whereof he speaks.

Dr. Smiley has observed a number of patients suffering from symptoms of aggravated acidosis, due to the taking of Bulgarian bacillus preparations on their own initiative. Among the symptoms he enumerates in reporting his observations are increased blood pressure, sweating, increased nervous irritability.

Here are some of the conditions in which the authority cited believes Bulgarian bacillus, or other acid-producing medication, is objectionable: Tuberculosis, cancer, diabetes (though some physicians insist that Bulgarian bacillus cultures often do good in diabetes), excessive acidity of stomach (not that caused by fermentation of food), any form of toxemia, gastric ulcer. Bulgarian bacillus preparations should not be given to the very old, the very weak or emaciated. Nor to persons who may soon have to take an anesthetic.

It is apparent that the wonderful old age specific is a two-edged sword, like many other good therapeutic agents, and that it is capable of doing serious harm when indiscriminately employed.

Well, so is any active remedy, for that matter.

Yes, even sunlight. Or castor oil.

We don't like to spread bad news.

In fact, we are usually cheering.

But the truth must be told.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

A Case in Point.

I am advised that the drinking of buttermilk is harmful for a person with chronic rheumatism. Is that correct?

Answer—Read the above. Incidentally, you had better find out what is the matter before you decide on the treatment. Id est, what is "rheumatism" in your case?

Don't Darken the Room.

Are darkened rooms better than bright or very light rooms for persons who are hypochondriacal?

Answer—No. Have the room well lighted.

Hygiene or Underclothing.

What kind of underwear do you recommend to prevtnt rheumatism or colds?

Answer—Light in weight, knitted porous, and mostly wool. But it won't prevent disease any more than other kinds of underclothing.

WELL KNOWN AUTHOR OF BOYS' BOOKS DEAD

John T. Trowbridge, Born in 1827, Passes Away at Arlington, Mass.

Arlington, Mass., Feb. 14.—John Townsend Trowbridge, poet and author of stories for boys, died Saturday night of bronchitis, which developed from a severe cold contracted a few weeks ago.

John Townsend Trowbridge was one of the last survivors of the group of authors who made Boston a famous literary center in the first three decades of the last half of the nineteenth century. Although his chief success came from the writing of books for boys, he also published several novels and volumes of poetry.

Mr. Trowbridge's parents, New England people, were among the pioneer settlers of Western New York, and it was in a log cabin in the little hamlet of Ogden, Monroe county, that he was born in 1827. Although brought up on a backwoods farm, young Trowbridge early discovered the possibilities of supplementing the meager education of his district school by obtaining books from a public library in a nearby town. After a term at a classical school at Lockport, N. Y., he went to Illinois for a year, teaching school in winter and farming in summer. He returned to Lockport and taught for a while, but deciding to devote himself to writing, went to New York city at the age of 19. For a time he met with little encouragement. A year later he went to Bosto nand soon became well known as an author of stories and sketches under the pen name of "Paul Creyton."

His first book, "Father Brighthopes," was published in 1853, and his first genuine success was "Neighbor Jackwood," a novel of New England life, which appeared in 1855. For some time he edited "Our Young Folks," which numbered among its contributors Dickens, Whittier, Mayne Reid, Mrs. Stowe and Miss Alcott.

Perhaps the best known of Mr. Trowbridge's verse is the humorous poem, "Darius Green and His Flying Machine," written in 1870. When, forty years later, he first saw an aeroplane in action, he remarked:

"I never dreamed when I wrote that poem that such a thing as a flying machine was even a possibility in my lifetime."

Among his books for boys the most popular were "Cudjo's Cave" and "The Three Scouts."

For half a century Mr. Trowbridge made his home on an attractive estate bordering Spy Pond, in Arlington, a suburb of Boston. He maintained his physical vigor in his old age and was fond of walking, bicycling and working in his garden.

GOPHER TOBACCO INDUSTRY GROWING

Output Promises Soon to Rank With That of Wisconsin.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The tobacco-growing industry in Minnesota has reached such proportions that in a comparatively short time the output will rank with the yearly production in Wisconsin, the value of which passes the $6,000,000 mark, according to experts of the agricultural college of the University of Minnesota, who have issued a special bulletin regarding the industry.

According to the bulletin, the industry is the outgrowth of various experimentations with "homestead" tobacco which farmers for many years have cultivated for personal use.

Legislature Gives Aid.

The legislature of 1909, upon the strength of evidence submitted in favor of tobacco growing, appropriated $4,000 for the biennium, to be used by the department of agriculture at the university in carrying on an investigation of the industry. The appropriation has been renewed by each succeeding legislature.

Production of the tobacco plant, the bulletin says, at present is confined to the southeastern part of the state. The brand raised is recognized as "filler and binder" grade. From the farms engaged in the industry the profits have averaged $165.88 an acre as the gross income.

The growth of the industry which until the last few years was not looked upon seriously by farmers of the state, was 20 per cent larger in 1912 than in 1911, and a similar increase was shown in 1913.

PROMPTLY ACQUITTED OF STEALING HORSES

Linton, N. D., Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. J. Krieger of Detroit, Mich., returned to this county to face a charge of horse stealing, was found not guilty in district court, the jury being out only a few minutes.

Krieger explained that he had a disagreement with his employer, not being able to bring about a satisfactory settlement for his services, had taken a team of horses to the home of a neighbor, making arrangements with the latter to hold the horses as a means of enforcing a settlement.

ALARMING PNEUMONIA DEATH RATE IS WARNING AGAINST NEGLECT OF COLDS

More Than Half the Number of Cases Result Fatally.

Figures that have just been compiled by experts show that almost half the number of pneumonia cases end in death. This is the pneumonia season, and neglect of colds is in most cases the origin of the disease. When you take "cough balsams" or "syrups" containing deadly drugs that weaken the body, you are inviting pneumonia. Without these drugs, Father John's Medicine treats colds and prevents pneumonia. It is composed of pure food elements which nourish and build up the body, giving strength to ward off the disease. It is not a patent medicine, but a physician's prescription: 50 years in use. Because of its gentle laxative effect Father John's Medicine drives the impurities out of the system and enables each organ to do its work.

It is in the getting-well stage, after a cold or the grip, that the greatest danger lies. At this time, in order to regain the strength you have lost you need a wholesome pure food medicine such as Father John's Medicine, the nourishing elements of which are easily taken up by the system. When you ask for Father John's Medicine be sure you get what you call for.

YES—IT IS POSSIBLE TO STOP RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism is a tormenting and stubborn malady. In some cases it yields to treatment which is without avail in other cases.

The darting pains, lame muscles or stiffened joints only disappear by gradually expelling the uric acid, and so many thousands have been relieved by the blood-enriching oil-food in Scott's Emulsion that you should give it a faithful trial. Scott's Emulsion acts as a powerful blood purifier by increasing the red corpuscles and it strengthens the organs to carry off the acids which cause the trouble.

Try Scott's Emulsion. It cannot harm. It has helped thousands and may be exactly what you need. No Alcohol.

DANGER!

Since the recent heavy fall of snow certain kinds of accidents that might not happen under ordinary conditions are likely to be caused by the condition of the streets. While the Department of Public Works and this company has removed thousands of cubic yards of snow from the streets in the past few weeks it will be impossible to move it all and we would warn drivers of automobiles and other vehicles against the great danger of turning to the left to get around a street car when there is not room to pass the street car on the right by reason of the snow. Any driver who is tempted to do this should "think of safety first" and remain behind the street car until there is room to pass it upon the right.

The streets at and near the crosswalks are covered with ice and snow and it often slopes toward the street car track. Persons waiting for street cars or walking in the track ahead of street cars should be very careful to avoid slipping upon the track ahead of a car. We are constantly cautioning our motormen to use great care to avoid accidents and we would now respectfully request that drivers of vehicles, pedestrians and our patrons when about to board cars should also use care, thereby co-operating with us to prevent accidents.

LA FOLLETTE HAS IT EASY

Cummins Not Expected to Be Candidate in North Dakota.

Only Esterbrook of New York Is Opposed to Badger Man.

Grand Forks, N. D., Feb. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The failure of the Cummins forces to take the initiative in the North Dakota presidential preference election campaign, with only fifteen days remaining in which to file the necessary petitions, makes it look as though United States Senator La Follette of Wisconsin will be unopposed for the North Dakota indorsement except by Esterbrook of New York.

The La Follette people have opened headquarters at Fargo, in charge of H. N. Tucker, secretary of the North Dakota Progressive Republican league, who declared nothing will be overlooked that will add to the assurance that this state will go for the Wisconsin man.

Since the recent visit to the state by Messrs. Clark and Rawson, Cummins men of Des Moines, Iowa, when they were called shortly after the announcement by R. A. Nestos, Cummins' manager in the state, that he would not conduct a fight against La Follette, nothing has been heard from the Cummins forces, but it is generally accepted that they have decided to do nothing.

Petitions in Circulation.

Petitions for the nomination of presidential electors and delegate candidates brought forth recently by the Republican state central committee are in circulation in all sections of the state. These petitions are being circulated by state and precinct committeemen.

All of the men nominated by the committee have accepted and announced their intention of conducting the race, though a vacancy still exists on the delegate ticket through the fact that the man nominatd by the committee from the Mandan judicial district has long since been dead.

Some changes are being made in the list of candidates nominated by the Progressive Republican league, but the nature of these has not yet been made public.

It is expected that Governor Hanna, who sailed from Copenhagen Feb. 8, will be home the latter part of this week.

Hanna's return will be marked with new developments in the senatorial race, the nature of which still is uncertain.

CHILD GETS SICK, CROSS, FEVERISH IF CONSTIPATED

Look at tongue! Then give fruit laxative for stomach, liver, bowels.

"California Syrup of Figs" can't harm children and they love it.

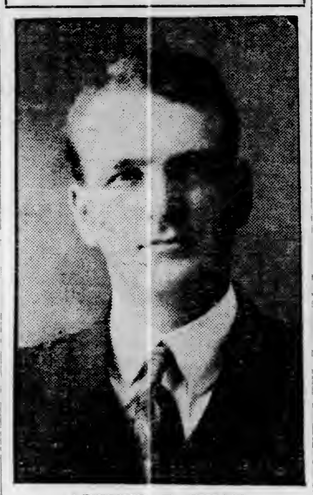

Mother! Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign the little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleansing at once.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, remember, a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Nothing equals "California Syrup of Figs" for children's ills; give a teaspoonful, and in a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system, and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless, delicious "fruit laxative," and it never fails to effect good "inside" cleansing. Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on the bottle.

Keep it handy in your home. A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then see that it is made by the California Fig Syrup Company."—Advertisement.

NO RULE FIXING STORAGE CHARGES

North Dakota Railroad Commission Not to Act in Matter Now.

Bismarck, N. D., Feb. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—No rule will be promulgated by the state railroad commission to establish any fixed charge for the storing and handling of grain on the part of warehouse men in North Dakota, the commission announces as the result of the conference held last week at Fargo, when the whole proposition was considered.

Absence of any definite or formal complaint of conditions that would tend to make it advisable for the commission to take over the power of fixing a set charge for storage, is given in the official report of the proceedings and decision as the basis for the refusal to take a hand in the situation.

DULUTHIAN HEIR OF "HERMIT OF AU TRAIN"

Woman Who Lived Many Years Alone, Dies in Upper Peninsula.

Marquette, Mich., Feb. 14.—Sevren Avery, formerly of Marquette, now reported living in Duluth, is the heir to all the property left by Miss Emma Nelson, known as "Swede Emma" and the "Hermit of Au Train," who lived alone in a little cabin on the shores of Lake Au Train, Alger county, for thirty-two years, existing chiefly by hunting and trapping. She died recently, aged 82.

Little is actually known of the facts about the life of Miss Nelson and although she has had many friends, she never permitted herself to talk of the past with any of them, and the bits of her life's history that are known tend only to add to the air of interest and mystery which surrounded her life.

Was Graduate Nurse.

Those who had managed to become well acquainted with her found out that she was a graduated trained nurse in Sweden before she came to this country. She was an expert mid-wife and practiced that profession for many years after she came to this section. Those who knew her say that her brilliancy of brain was proof that she was well educated. The mystery of her life, which none of her friends have ever been able to solve, was the reason why she left civilization over thirty years ago to take up her life of solitude on her Au Train homestead, at a time when the country was totally undeveloped and of the wildest nature. She was a woman of strong and determined character, never complaining of her lot and never seeking help from anyone.

During the last few years this strange woman had sold several parcels of her homestead to Marquette people who have built summer camps on the land. Through these business dealings many local people became acquainted, in a vague way, with her and many have tried in vain to induce her to tell them the history of her life.

ECZEMA ON FACE FOR FIVE YEARS

In Ugly, Inflamed, Red Blotches. Could Not Rest with Itching and Burning. Completely

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"My daughter was troubled for five years with eczema on her face. It would break out in ugly inflamed red blotches all over her face so badly she could not rest with the itching and burning. There were ugly scales left on her face all the time from scratching and she was worse in the daytime as the heat irritated it.

"Finally we tried Cuticura Soap and found it was good, and afterward we learned of the Cuticura Ointment. Before I used one box of Cuticura Ointment there was a decided change, and we used nearly three boxes of Ointment together with the Cuticura Soap and she was completely healed." (Signed) R. N. Bowen, Eldon, Iowa, Sept. 21, 1915.

SOIL FERTILITY IS LARGE LOSER

Shipment of Milling By-Products From North Dakota Costly.

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The loss to North Dakota in soil fertility through the by-products of milling which are shipped out of the state and of which very little finds its way back to the state, is shown in a bulletin of tests made by Dr. E. F. Ladd, head of the chemical department of the North Dakota experiment station.

The tests have covered a period from 1907 to 1914, inclusive.

These tests have brought out the facts that if North Dakota produces for the market 100,000,000 bushels of wheat a year, there is annually lost to the state through loss of the by-products of screenings, bran and shorts vast amounts of the important ingredients of the soil's fertility. It is shown that with a market crop of the above size there is lost 238,400,000 pounds or 119,-700 tons of screenings, 769,600,000 pounds or 381,300 tons of bran and 909,-000,000 pounds or 454,560 tons of shorts, for which it is claimed the farmer receives practically nothing through the present system of grading and marketing of wheat.

Should Be Retained.

"All this fertilizing material should be retained in the state and returned to the land," Prof. Ladd says. "The state can only become great agriculturally and continue its development by promoting such a system as will enable the return of at least a considerable share of this fertility and the marketing of products in the form of beef, pork, mutton, butter, flour and the finished bread products. To insure this end means the development of the manufacturing agricultural industries to the fullest possible utilization of all these products on the farm, in the dairy, in the mill and in the bakeries, and these industries should be encouraged, fostered and developed by the state through every reasonable means so as to insure continued prosperity to all our people and to the future generations."

ALLEGED FORGER IS NOW UNDER ARREST

International Falls, Minn., Feb. 15.—Victor Reynolds of Williams, Beltrami county, was arrested here by Sheriff White and Deputy Van Ettan on complaint from Bemidji. Deputy Sheriff Thompson of Bemidji arrived here and took the prisoner to the Beltrami county seat.

Reynolds spent a few days at Bemidji and, it is said, flooded the town with bogus checks. As soon as the fact developed a search was started for the young man. The sheriff's office here was notified to be on the lookout for him. His description was not furnished but the alert officers soon had him in custody. The arrest was made as he stepped out of the Iltis drug store, after he had cashed a check, but which was guaranteed by the indorsement of a leading professional man of this city.

MILLER LOOKS FOR ROW WITH JAPANESE

Writes Hibbing Man Uncle Sam Will Be Slow in Matter.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative Clarence B. Miller evidently believes that there is more truth than fiction in the story that some day Japan may attack the United States.

Carl Thiel, local photographer and life-long friend of the Duluth man, recently sent to the congressman a copy of the Continental News, a publication printed in Berlin, which had translated the address of a prominent Japanese statesman, made before hundreds of his countrymen in Tokio, that the American army was a joke and that Japan, in the event of war, would have little difficulty in defeating America.

The information sent to the congressman brought forth the following letter: "Replying to yours of the 4th, I beg to state I was pleased indeed to receive the paper which you sent. I have read the article over with interest. You can rest assured that the German authorities are in possession of accurate information on this important subject.

"Everybody in the world will know Japan's plans toward the United States long before we will know them, apparently. I found it rather discouraging trying to make the American people open their eyes. But a government like ours is the best in the world, although it is the most unwieldy and most difficult to handle."

TWO PIGGERS ARE GIVEN NINETY DAYS

Pair From Buyck Convicted of Selling Liquor Without License.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Popolas and Walter Broskowski of the town of Buyck, will spend the next ninety days as guests of Sheriff Meining at Duluth, having been given straight county jail sentences by Judge Carey in municipal court today without the privilege of paying a fine. They were brought here by Deputy Sheriffs O'Dea and Mollan on the charge of running a blind pig in Buyck. Some of their "goods," in the shape of a barrel of whisky, was also brought along as "evidence."

It was also charged the pair were implicated in the theft of supplies from sleds carrying supplies to forest rangers and to the camps of the Duluth & Rainy Lake company, but because of lack of evidence this charge was not pressed.

ARMY BEATS NAVY.

Duluth Militia Quint Defeats Duluth Naval Five.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—It was the army vs. the navy at the armory on Saturday evening, and the "landlubbers" came out victorious, defeating the naval militia basket ball team of Duluth 31 to 22.

It was a contest nip and tuck with only two points separating the two teams until the last five minutes of play, when Hibbing forged into the lead to a victory.

The visitors were crippled by the loss of Monahan and their star Conley, but at that put up a game exhibition, especially Curry at center and Paul at left forward, who starred.

Capt. Barker was the scoring machine of the militia team, making twenty-one of the thirty-one points. Capt. "Grundy" netted the cage for seven field baskets and seven fouls, and played a general good game. Schirmer, Friday, Burkman and Munter all played good games, while Schirmer's long distance shooting was a bit of the prettiest work of the evening.

Burkman also caged two long shots that bordered on the sensational.

The game was marked by much erratic passing on the part of both teams with an inclination to play individual instead of combinaton play.

Referee McMillan was marked by the usual good work of the Hibbing physical instructor and he kept the two teams playing a fast clean game.

TO BE IN CAMPAIGN.

Hibbing Socialists to Participate in Village Election.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Local Socialists plan to take an active part in the municipal election next month.

Our campaign will be free of personalities, not agitative and any side issue."

HIBBING CHILD HAS CLOSE CALL

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—An exciting runaway that nearly resulted fatally to a little girl coming out of the Bijou theater created excitement Sunday afternoon.

A single horse drawing a cutter became frightened at a street car and started a dash down the street. At the corner of Center and Third avenue the animal took to the sidewalk, in the meantime throwing its occupants, a young woman and man whose names could not be learned into a snowbank. People coming out of the Bijou theater scattered in all directions, while a little girl was picked out of the way of the runaway horse in the nick of time by Patrolman Stevens, who attempted to stop the runaway but was unsuccessful.

The cutter swerving from side to side crashed into the large display window of the hardware store owned by G. L. Thouin on Third avenue, breaking the glass into a hundred pieces. The animal continued on its way, finally being caught near the Missabe depot.

OLD-TIME COLD CURE—DRINK TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.—Advertisement.

CONTRIBUTE GOOD SUM FOR HOME

Swedish Lutherans Subscribe $750 at Night Service.

Contributions amounting to $750 were subscribed to the Bethany home recently established here by the Minnesota conference, at the evening services in the Swedish Lutheran church, Sixth avenue east and Third street. Rev. Carl Swan, pastor of the church, was well pleased with the generous response to the request for funds.

Rev. A. T. Ekblad of Superior and Dr. J. A. Krantz of West Duluth were the outside speakers. Each discussed the work of the home and the unceasing labor on the part of the conference to make it a success. The amounts contributed amounted to from a few cents to $50.

Other churches in the city will take up the work.

"MOUTH BREATHERS" ARE ON THE INCREASE

Madison, Wis., Feb. 14.—In one Wisconsin county whose rural schools were surveyed by a deputy state health officer, 17 per cent of the pupils were "mouth breathers," showing presence of adenoids which obstruct the nasal passage. Reports show that about 10 per cent of all children have adenoids to some extent and while they may decrease and possibly disappear by the 14th year that during their existence they may cause deafness, impair efficiency, or mar health, stature or character for life.

New Thief River Concern.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Feb. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Announcement is made by the commercial club that arrangements had been completed with the Peterson-Biddick company of Wadena for the location of a cold storage and wholesale produce plant here. The firm will start their business in the spring, and will make a specialty of handling carload shipments of Pennington county products to large markets. Thief River Falls is a logical shipping point for this class of produce and has long felt the need of such a plant.

Jump from Bed in Morning and Drink Hot Water

Tells why everyone should drink hot water each morning before breakfast.

Why is man and woman, half the time, feeling nervous, despondent, worried; some days headachy, dull and unstrung; some days really incapacitated by illness.

If we all would practice inside-bathing, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of thousands of half-sick, anaemic-looking souls with pasty, muddy complexions we should see crowds of happy, healthy, rosy-cheeked people everywhere. The reason is that the human system does not rid itself each day of all the waste which it accumulates under our present mode of living. For every ounce of food and drink taken into the system nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out, else it ferments and forms ptomaine-like poisons which are absorbed into the blood.

Just as necessary as it is to clean the ashes from the furnace each day, before the fire will burn bright and hot, so we must each morning clear the inside organs of the previous day's accumulation of indigestible waste and body toxins. Men and women, whether sick or well, are advised to drink each morning, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of washing out of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the indigestible material, waste, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Millions of people who had their turn at constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, nervous days and sleepless nights have become real cranks about the morning inside-bath. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will not cost much at the drug store, but is sufficient to demonstrate to anyone, its cleansing, sweetening and freshening effect upon the system.—Advertisement.

DISPENSARY IS OPENED

Methodists Will Give Medical Service Daily Except Sunday.

Talk of Hospital to Be Built Later Is Revived.

The dispensary will be open every day, excepting Sunday, with Mrs. Georgina Dodge, trained nurse, in charge, while physicians will be in attendance from noon until 1:30 p. m. Dr. A. C. Taylor is at the head of the dispensary and he has appointed the following physicians to assist him in the work:

Medicine—Dr. A. C. Taylor, chief; Dr. L. W. Barry and Dr. F. A. Grawn.

Surgery—Dr. A. N. Collins, chief; Dr. M. A. Nicholson and Dr. Frank Splcer.

Children's department — Dr. A. G. Schulze, chief.

Gynecology — Dr. A. L. McDonald, chief.

Eye, ear and throat department—Dr. D. L. Tilderquist, chief.

It is the plan of the officials to charge a fee of 10 cents for each patient treated in the dispensary, while drugs will be furnished by several local druggists at cost.

Dr. John W. Hoffman, pastor of the First M. E. church, this morning announced that the opening of the dispensary has revived talk of erecting a Methodist hospital. No plans have been made, he said, but the movement was suggested by Dr. Taylor at a meeting of the Methodist social service committee last Tuesday evening, when the latter urged the members to think seriously of the hospital plan that has been "in the air" for more than ten years.

RICE MAY BECOME METHODIST BISHOP

Former Duluth Pastor Believed Slated for Higher Honors.

That Dr. Merton S. Rice, formerly pastor of the First Methodist church of Duluth, is likely to become a bishop when the Methodist convention meets in Saratoga Springs, N. Y., next May, is the story that is printed in a Detroit, Mich., paper. Dr. Rice is, at present, pastor of the North Woodward Avenue Methodist church of Detroit, going from Duluth to that charge. He was pastor in Duluth for years, and was probably one of the most popular preachers whom this city has ever possessed. He is said to be fully as popular in Detroit.

Dr. Rice is regarded as a pulpit orator of the highest type, and has acquired a reputation in that regard which has become nation-wide. A short time before he accepted the Detroit charge Dr. Rice refused the pastorate of the leading Methodist church of New York city.

Many Duluthians will be pleased if Dr. Rice is given a bishopric, the highest office the denomination affords, in recognition of his ability and popularity.

THIEF RIVER CREAMERY MAKES GOOD REPORT

Thief River Falls, Minn., Feb. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—That the Thief River Falls Co-operative Creamery association increased its business at the rate of $500 weekly during 1915 was one of the pithy statements in Secretary Henry Hansen's report made Saturday. The affairs of the association are in excellent shape and over 200 members attended the meeting. There was a balance on hand in the treasury Jan. 1 of $1,053.05. The officers elected were: C. Chisholm, president; Henry Hanson, secretary; Halvor Lofstad, treasurer; A. J. Loftness, vice president; R. L. Mussey, director.

THIEF RIVER WOMEN'S CLUB ELECTION

Thief River Falls, Minn., Feb. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the meeting of the Women's club in the public library parlors Saturday afternoon, officers for the next year were chosen. Mrs. J. H. Turner had charge of the program and read a paper on "Child Labor."

Arrangements have been made for the program at the next meeting. Miss Harriet Hetland of Minneapolis, a talented dramatic reader and elocutionist, will read "The Passing of the Third Floor Back."

The officers of the Women's club for the ensuing term are: Mrs. L. D. Larson, president; Mrs. Emil Zeh, vice president; Mrs. H. A. Pratt, secretary; and Mrs. T. A. Way, treasurer.

A GIRL'S COMPLEXION

Very few girls get through their 'teens without eruptions or pimples showing on their faces.

These may be due to indigestion resulting from improper diet. If so they will quickly disappear when the proper food is adhered to. If they are accompanied by pallor and listlessness you must look to the condition of the blood.

Because these eruptions on the faces of school girls are so common they seldom receive the attention from parents that they require. When they indicate thin blood or anemia there is a ready remedy in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These tonic pills, free from harmful drugs, are pretty sure to help growing girls because they build up the blood at a time when the demand on it is greatest. As the blood is made rich and red, fickle appetites become normal, lassitude gives way to vigor, the cheeks and lips show the glow of health and the whole system is toned up. The nervous system is invigorated and with proper attention to diet many dangers are averted.

Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be mailed, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. The pamphlet, "Building Up the Blood," is free on request.

WHEAT AGAIN TURNS WEAK

Market Declines on Liberal Offerings and Lack of Exporters' Support.

Crushers Bid for Flaxseed Leading to Fresh Price Upturn.

May wheat closed ⅞c off and July ⅞c off.

May durum closed ⅞c off and July ⅞c off.

Oats closed ⅛c up at 45⅝c for on the track; rye unchanged at 95@96c and barley unchanged at from 65c to 72c for on the track.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ⅝c off at 45⅝c bid.

At St. Louis, May wheat closed at $1.23 and July at $1.17⅜.

At Kansas City, May wheat closed at $1.18, and July at $1.14⅜.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.24⅜ and calls at $1.27⅝.

The wheat market had a top-heavy appearance today. After a firm opening in sympathy with strength at Liverpool, prices eased off on some selling by traders. The promise is far more liberal receipts, while export inquiry outside of Manitobas was limited. Weakness was evident in most of the cash markets, especially in the Southwest. At St. Louis declines of 2@3c were recorded, and Kansas City was slightly off. Weakness was reported at Winnipeg, due to holders becoming tired on account of prices not having gone up as rapidly as some had expected. Later in the session, better export inquiry turned up for Canadian wheat and some trade was put through at the seaboard for shipment at the opening of navigation.

Cash inquiry at Duluth was fairly good on the basis of the May price for No. 1 northern. Offerings were limited. The movement of bonded wheat to this point for shipment to the seaboard is expanding, as attested in arrivals today of 112 cars. With the snow blockade in the Canadian West being gradually overcome, the movement this way is expected to make a better showing from now on.

Arrivals of domestic wheat are limited, there being just 68 cars on the tracks here for the three days. At Minneapolis there was 767 cars against 462 last year, and at Winnipeg 576 cars, compared with 456 a year ago.

World's shipments for the week were liberal amounting to 12,557,000 bu against 11,605,000 bu last year. It is predicted by experts that ocean freights are lowered, the difference will be added to the prices paid in this country.

May wheat opened ¼c up at $1.27½, declined 1½c and stood at $1.26⅝ at the noon-hour. July opened ⅝c off at $1.25½, and eased off ¼c more.

May durum opened ¼c up at $1.23½, broke to $1.22 and later firmed up ⅜c.

Flaxseed Strong.

Flaxseed was strong with good inquiry from crushers and a generally more solid tone in the market after its recent severe shakeout. Arrivals of the seed are light and offerings were limited, while expectations are for a heavy call for seed in the spring.

May flax opened unchanged at $2.33, and closed 1½c up at $2.34½. July opened unchanged at $2.33, and closed 1½c up at $2.34½.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed 2¼c up at $2.14⅜.

At Buenos Aires, flax closed ⅝c off at $1.44⅛, and London ⅞c up at $2.86⅞.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Market was firm as influenced by scarcity and advancing freights. Manitobas and winters were firmly held. Spot market was firm, 1 to 1½d up, and cargo market strong. Plates 3d higher; Manitobas 9d higher and winters 7½d higher. Liberal American shipments to United Kingdom were without influence."

* * *

A Liverpool cable said: "We believe that any decline in freights will simply be added to the price of wheat, and will not permanently lower values. The trouble with freight is not so much price as scarcity, and lowering the price will not increase the available tonnage. No doubt the government will bring wheat from Argentina as well as from Australia, but if this wheat is to be used to insure the carrying of larger stocks for protective purposes, it will have no weight on the market and still leaves the trade dependent on North America for consumptive supplies. It is admitted that only a relatively small part of the Argentine and Australian surplus is likely to be shipped by July 31, and that shipments for the present season will only about equal the world's requirements."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Develops Weakness in Absence of Export Business.

Chicago, Feb. 14.—Wheat developed weakness today in the absence of any evidence of fresh export business. Besides, large receipts, which were piled up during the double holiday, had a tendency to discourage holders. Crop damage reports from the southwest acted as an offset in part. After opening ⅜@½c lower to ⅛@¼c advance with May at $1.27⅝ to $1.28¼, and July at $1.21½ to $1.21⅞, the market underwent a material sag all around and then scored a moderate rally.

Later the export outlook was said to have somewhat improved. Bulls got a little encouragement also from the fact that the United States visible supply increase was only one-sixth as large as a year ago. The close was unsettled, ⅛c to ⅜@¾c net lower, with May at $1.27⅜ and July at $1.20¾.

Heavy arrivals pulled down the value of corn. Sellers were scarce. Opening prices, which ranged from a shade to ¼@⅜c down were followed by an additional decline. Oats gave way with corn. Bears, however, were not aggressive.

Export sales and bullish Argentine crop conditions led afterward to a slight upturn. The close was steady at ¼c net decline.

Provisions showed strength after a downturn at the start. The reason was buying on the part of houses with New York connections. Lower prices on hogs caused the early sag.

FLAX HITS EVEN KEEL

Slump Seems Checked for Time at Least—Still in Doubt.

The decline in price of flax is, at least, checked, but how long that will last is debatable. Traders in the Duluth board will not venture an opinion, although there are some who say that it looks as though the crushers have thrown out enough of the speculative interest to warrant going into the market.

The lowest point came about a week ago, and since then, with the exception of one day, there has been a gradual rise. However, there are still enough offers to sell to hold the market down, and no such upward splurge as that which happened a short time ago seems imminent. Crushers are careful buyers. Their carefulness comes in the fact that they refuse to buy when the seed shows too much ambition. It is permitted to hold down by its own weight, but on the sags in price, the crushers buy.

It may be that firmness will continue for some time, and even that a continuation of the easy rise will be continued.

ADVANCES GET CHECK

Stocks Under Pressure After Coppers Make New High Records.

Marine Preferred Weak Feature of Final Hour—Closing Heavy.

New York, Feb. 14.—Irregular price changes marked the renewal of operations today with further activity in the metal group, all the leading coppers attaining new high records. American Zinc and Mexican Petroleum, as well as Baldwin Locomotive and New York Airbrake were among the other strong and active issues. United States Steel was conspicuously heavy, losing almost a point at 84, but making up some ground later. Railroad shares were again shunted to the background with moderate concessions. Specialties, including Baldwin, declined abruptly on secondary dealings.

Coppers continued to dominate the stock market today but trading was somewhat curtailed by the storm which interrupted communication with Western points. New England was reported to be active in the further accumulation of coppers which fully held their ground while the balance of the list yielded substantially to moderate pressure. Declines of a point or more in Canadian Pacific, New York Central, Reading and Chesapeake & Ohio contributed to the heaviness of the more speculative issues. Crucible Steel, Studebaker and other shares in the war group following the unsteady course of Baldwin, and United States Steel was distinctly reactionary. Bonds were irregular.

Representative issues, including rails and Steel were under increased pressure during the mid-session and the rise on coppers and such specialties as oils received a check. Trading slackened on the decline.

Marine preferred was a weak feature of the final hour when prices in general showed the lack of fresh buying. The closing was heavy.

ABSENT-MINDED ABNER—He Has a Dream En Brochette!

By Walt McDougall

MOST ORDERS ARE REFUSED

Iron and Steel Demand Impossible to Meet in Full.

Manufacturers Are Reaping Enormous Profits; Holding Prices Down.

Unparalleled in volume and demand, is the way manufacturers describe conditions in the iron and steel industry.

It is said to be more difficult to keep business away than to book it, manufacturers estimating that two tons of steel orders are being refused to one ton booked. Producers are thought to be holding prices down, notwithstanding that some consumers are willing to pay premiums of from $10 to $25 a ton for steel for delivery over the next three months. Demand for all products is reported to be stronger for all products than at any time in the past. Domestic business, which lagged behind for some time, is now heavy enough to ensure full mill operations for months ahead and an enormous volume of foreign tonnage is in the market. The congested situation in the markets is illustrated in the statement that in some lines foreign buyers are endeavoring to obtain rolling space for deliveries as far ahead as 1917. The mills, however, are not inclined to contract so far into the future on munitions business.

Railroads Buying Heavily.

Demand from the railroads is reported to be growing remarkably, and it is believed that a large volume of that business has been booked without any public announcements. One of the Northwestern roads is reported to be figuring on 5,000 freight cars and 100 locomotives. During the last week, the United States Steel corporation is said to have sold 25,000 tons of rails.

Inquiry for locomotives is now the heaviest in years due to a realization that much of the present transportation break-down has been owing to shortage of motive power.

Profits Are Enormous.

Profits of the steel companies on the present basis of prices are said to be enormous. It is estimated that the United States Steel corporation will show profits of $60,000,000 for the current quarter. It is figured out that the new Midvale Steel & Ordnance company and its subsidiary, Cambria Steel, will earn more than $30,000,000 in the current year, a large proportion of which will come, however, from war orders.

Commenting on recent quotation developments in the market, the Iron Trade Review says:

"Several Eastern blast furnaces participated in sale of over 75,000 tons of basic to one Eastern steel concern at $19.50, delivered, for last five months of year, thus settling Eastern basic market level. Leading independent steel mills adopt recently announced advance of $2 a ton on plates, shapes and bars, while steel hoops and bands advance similarly. Semi-finished steel scarcity grows more acute at Pittsburgh and mills find regular source of supply doubtful and some curtailment of operations continues."

RELIEVES STRAIN IN THE MARKET

Settlement of Lusitania Case Expected to Have Good Effect.

New York, Feb. 14.—"The final settlement of the Lusitania case was the most important factor of the past week, as it eliminates a feature of uncertainty that has been hanging over the stock market for several months. Its complications have been a menace to the speculative community and have deterred many people from extending their commitments on account of the serious results which might have come from a break in diplomatic relations between the United States and Germany. While the market has not responded to any appreciable extent as yet on this important announcement, it will have a far reaching effect which will reflect its benefits later," comment Renskorf, Lyon & Co., New York brokers, in their weekly market review. Continuing they say:

"The copper stocks are beginning to make a good response to the increase in the price of copper metal and they should advance considerably further to be in line proportionately with the rise in the metal. The price of copper showed a marked advance last week and it has now attained a figure almost equal to the record for the metal in many years. The demand continues to increase rather than diminish as the price advances. The rise in copper metal is not due to any manipulative influences, but is based on legitimate supply and demand. The dealers in the metal are trying to hold prices down and to prevent a run-away market. There is but little doubt that the price will steadily advance until it reaches a much higher level. This enormous demand for copper is not based entirely on the war as is the case in many other metals, and it will be in even greater demand than it is at present when the war is over. Copper metal will play a most important part in the rehabilitation of Europe and this should insure a higher level for it than we have seen for several years. Conservative estimates place the earning capacity of the principal copper producing companies at three or four times the amount of dividends they are now distributing to stockholders. This means that we will have announcements from time to time in the future of increased dividends on the shares of practically all of the important copper properties. This will prevent any serious decline in these issues and should make the stock of such properties as Anaconda, Utah and Butte & Superior a reasonably safe purchase on all moderate recessions.

"The stock market last summer was advanced largely on prospects and estimates of what many of the industrial corporations were doing. Now over six months have elapsed and the market in many issues has shown a substantial decline while the earnings as a result of an unprecedented period of expansion have begun to materialize and are now a reality.

"The success of President's Wilson's campaign for preparedness will do much to produce these results in the industrial corporations. If people are conservative in their commitments and are prepared to increase their holdings whenever recessions occur, there is every reason to believe that the majority of issues will show them a considerable appreciation in value within a reasonable time."

NO ONE WANTS TO BE POSTMASTER

Position at Washington Harbor, Wis., Offered to Everyone.

Marinette, Wis., Feb. 14.—The postoffice at Washington Harbor, Door county, has been discontinued for a unique reason. Ill health prevented the postmaster, L. P. Ottoson, from performing his duties and he resigned.

Uncle Sam made every effort to get a man to replace him without success. The job was not only offered to several but advertisements were inserted in Door county papers offering the place to anyone who desired it, but without success.

The postoffice which literally went begging had to be discontinued because no one would take it. The mail patrons will be supplied by rural delivery from Detroit Harbor, but the people are parting with their postoffice ruefully because it gave them a gathering place, and as one man put it, "lent dignity" to the village.

McADOO REFUSES TO BE NAMED DELEGATE

Washington, Feb. 14.—Secretary McAdoo wrote Chester C. Platt of Batavia, N. Y., yesterday that under no circumstances would he permit the naming of himself as a delegate to the Democratic national convention in St. Louis next June. Mr. Platt had asked the secretary about his attitude. Mr. McAdoo's letter said he felt that delegates should be chosen from men who have "stood in the trenches and fought the battles of the party and have not received official positions."
